Feuding Brothers Fight; One Jailed 30 Days

LINDSAY (ENS)—The "fighting Stevensons" of Minden have completed another round of their family battle in magistrate's court here today.

Holly Stevenson whose farm is on the Bobcaygeon road, north of Minden was sentenced to 30 days on a charge of assaulting his brother Russell's wife Saturday night causing actual bodily harm.

The charge was laid by Russell Stevenson after a fight that raged through the home into which he and his wife had moved only that day after being evicted from the family home by his brothers.

On Saturday night, according to the evidence, Holly and another brother Hartley Stevenson of Toronto visited Russell. They entered the home after Russell's wife told them her husband was in bed and too ill with a scalded foot and a recent appendix operation to see them.

Russell told the court the brothers entered the home and Holly entered the bedroom threatening to kill him and brandishing a car crank.

Holly struck his brother across the shoulder with the weapon then the two fought their way to the kitchen were Hartley, blind tough he was, joined in the fray. After Russell was wrestled to the floor, Holly struck Mrs. Stevenson with the crank opening a five stitch cut on her head.

She fled the house to notify police and took their two children aged seven and five with her. The fight broke up soon after. The two intruders left the house before police arrived. After Mrs. Stevenson was given medical attention the charge was laid. Holly Stevenson, the accused, appeared in court and pleaded not guilty though he did not offer a defence other than a simple denial of the assault. When he heard Magistrate Moore beginning to hand down a thirty day sentence he said, "That's all right I'd just as soon be away from them anyway. I've got another brother to stand up for me. They'll end the thing."

Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan commented that he feared more serious trouble from the family feud in the future but the magistrate warned Holly in strong terms to stay away from his brother and family when he is released from his term.

alleyway. She told the court that she and Cromie had been sitting in the car for two or three minutes when the police arrived and arrested them.

The next thing she saw was two men, whom she could not identify in the darkness, running out of the door of the warehouse. One of them had thrown some cartons of cigarettes into Cromie's car.

The girl told Crown attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, that she had not heard the men mention anything about the warehouse during the afternoon.

STATEMENT PRODUCED

Mr. Bradshaw then produced a statement which Miss Ferguson admitted giving police officers the morning after she was arrested. She told the court that some of the things she had said in the statement were not true.

To Edward Fanjoy, defending Atkins, Miss Ferguson said that the men were fairly intoxicated that evening, especially Hogan and Atkins. She said that she had not asked Cromie why he was backing the car down the alleyway. She had thought he was just going to park there.

"Are you and Cromie quite used to parking in alleyways?" asked Mr. Fanjoy.

"I think we have before, I'm not sure," was the answer.

ATTEMPTED TO DRIVE AWAY

Detective Dennis Traynor, who in company with detective Sherman Kiliele, arrived at the scene six minutes after the burglar alarm had sounded, said that Cromie had attempted to drive away as soon as he saw the police. However, he had stopped his car when he realised the entrance to the alleyway was blocked.

The detective said he had seen Hogan putting some cartons into Cromie's car. However, Hogan and Atkins had been able to make a temporary escape. Later, police found Hogan under a truck and it had been necessary to fire a warning shot into the ground before he would give himself up. Atkins, drenched to the skin, had been found in Jackson's Park creek.

The detective said that Cromie had told him he did not know who the other two men were. However, a suitcase found in Cromie's car contained clothes which were labelled either Atkins, James Atkins or Pte. Atkins. A wallet found in the glove compartment contained Atkins' personal papers.

To Mr. Fanjoy, the detective admitted that he could not be certain that one of the men he saw near the car was Atkins. However, he was sure the other man was Hogan.

At this point the hearing was adjourned. It will continue on April 26.

Brinton-Peterboro Altering To Compete With Imports

Brinton-Peterboro Carpet Co. are in the midst of a three-year modernization program that they hope will win back a large part of the market now dominated by foreign manufacturers.

Details of this program were given Thursday night in an address to the Kinsmen Club by George E. Morden, general manager of the Brinton-Peterboro Carpet Co.

With two of the three years still to go, the Brinton-Peterboro Carpet Co. are well into their program. Already they have replaced some of the older looms and they are adding looms that will produce wider carpets.

In June a 15-foot loom, the largest of its kind in Canada, will be installed. And it will permit the company to get into a section of the domestic market previously closed to them.

At present the carpet manufacturing company employ about 325 people: 230 or so in the Peterborough mill, 54 in Lindsay, and another 40 in the office staff and sales group.

In 1953 they paid out $800,000 in wages and salaries—most of it, of course, in Peterborough; and they also paid out $18,500 in taxes.

HIT BY IMPORTS

It was the import situation as it affected Canadian carpet manufacturing that was the principal item of interest to his Kinsmen audience.

Mr. Morden conceded that foreign-made carpets are taking over an ever-increasing slice of the market. He thought something should be done about tariffs but, first of all, the industry must put their own house in order.

By "house in order" he meant modernization of plants and equipment to meet the demands of the consumer.

"In 1953 the dollar value of carpets imported into this country increased by more than 60 per cent and supplied more than half of the Canadian market," said Mr. Morden. "Needless to say, this has tremendously increased competitive pressures among the Canadian producers for the balance of the market."

"We believe that the import duties are in large measure discriminatory and should be changed. However we don't believe that we ourselves are entirely without fault and we subscribe somewhat to the view of the Celanese corporation of America who summed it up this way: 'It is not entirely unfortunate that the textile industry has had to meet competitive test earlier than other inrustries. The pressure of competition has encouraged the development of corrective processes. These processes have been under way in the textile industry for a year or so, and a large part of the adjjustment seems to have been accomplished, whereas many other industries have yet to cope with the obvious problems.' "

COMPLETE IN TWO YEARS

"This modernization program, we estimate will take us another two years," said Mr. Morden. . . "When this job is done and we are still unable to show satisfactory profits we will have an excellent case to lobby for better tariff protection."

Besires modernizing the Peterborough plant has the advantage of being near the customer. They can receive complaints about quality easier; their delivery cycle is shorter; and they don't require long-range commitments tieing up large amounts of capital.

They are also in a better position to judge what the Canadian buying public want in color and design. Six people on the design staff travel through Canada and the United States getting ideas and seeing what style trends are.

Mr. Moren gave a short history of the plant's operations in Peterborough.

The John Brinton Co. of England bought the incompleted sugar beet factory on Braidwood Ave. back in 1906. They completed and modified the building and were making carpets a year later.

In 1911 the controlling interest was bought by a Canadian group and assumed its present name. There are now no English or United State's affiliations.

Sales offices are in Montreal, Toronto, London (Ont.), and Vancouver. The principal market is the Canadian housewife who wants carpets for her home; also institutions, hotels, railway cars and other places where rugs and carpets are part of the furnishings.

Newspapers Win Merit Award

NEW YORK (CP) — Six Canadian newspapers have been awarded certificates of merit in the 13th annual safe driving campaign sponsored by the American Newspaper Publishers Association and the International Circulation Managers Association.

They are: Ottawa Le Droit, Saskatoon Star-Phoenix, Trois Rivieres Le Nouvelliste, Kingston Whig-Standard, Peterborough Examiner and Hamilton Spectator.

Man Acquitted Of Morals Charge

Victor Cavan, 62, of Peterborough, was acquitted Thursday on a charge of having carnal knowledge of a 10-year-old girl. The prosecution alleged that the offences took place in a boarding house where Cavan was lodging, between the months of January and March of this year.

Cavan, represented by Gordon Farquharson, pleaded not guilty. After hearing lengthy evidence over three separate days, Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, dismissed the case.

North Korean Comes To Geneva Talks

GENEVA (Reuters)—Gen. Nam Il, foreign minister of North Korea, arrived unexpectedly today in a Soviet "airlift" plane from East Berlin for the Geneva Far East conference. Swiss diplomatic officials were not prepared for his arrival and were not on hand to receive him.

ANCIENT PRACTICE

Cremation was the customary form of burial in nearly all ancient countries except Egypt and China.

Obituary

MICHAEL F. ENGLISH

Resident of Peterborough 40 years, Michael F. English of 16 Edgewater boulevard died suddenly this morning. He had been in failing health nearly two years.

Mr. English was born at Norwood 76 years ago, son of Edward English and Mary O'Donnell. He had lived and worked as a carpenter at Norwood and Hastings before coming to Peterborough. Some years ago he had been caretaker of St. Peter's School and the Immaculate Conception school. His wife, Marggaret Shaughnessy predeceased him.

Mr. English leaves two sons, Michael of Edmonton and Leo of Peterborough; and daughters: Mrs. Vincent Hayes (Mary,) Otonabee township; Mrs. Charles McIlwain (Margaret) Mrs, Mel Stabler (Helen) and Mrs. Gerald Dyrun (Catheline) of Peterborough; and sister, Mrs. Catherine Hickson, Peterborough. He was a member of the church or the Immaculate Conception and its Holy Name Society.

The funeral will be Monday from the Duffus funeral home, George St. to the church of the Immaculate Conception for requiem mass beginning at 9 a.m. Burial will be at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel cemetery, Hastings.

Will Change Time On Unofficial Basis

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—Daylight saving time is prohibited by provincial law in Prince Edward Island but two urban centres are going to try it on an unofficial basis.

Charlottetown city council voted 5-3 Thursday in favor of the move and Montague made a similar move with only Mayor Bruce Yeo voting against.

Daylight time will be in effect from June 20 to Sept. 15.

City recorder K. M. Martin of Charlottetown said he believed the city's move was not illegal. Standard time would still be the "legal time," he said.

City Parking Currency Rates Being Checked

The Chamber of Commerce have two projects in mind that are of interest to both local people and tourists. The projects are:

1. Setting up of a committee to study the parking problem in downtown Peterborough;

2. Getting a policy on what will be the exchange this summer on United States' currency.

Samuel J. Whitehouse, president of the Chamber of Commerce made this announcement Thursday night at a meeting of the retail section.

The chamber will set up a parking committee to work with retail merchants, industry, city and the public—all who are interested in downtown parking. When they have finished their investigation they will present their findings to city council.

On the matter of United States' currency, the chamber are trying to get a policy in operation before the influx of tourists. In previous years there has been confusion on the part of both merchants and tourists on the amount of discount that should be charged, if any.

Muskrat Catch Said Very Light

The muskrat trapping season closed Wednesday with a light catch at an average price of about $1.10. Trappers have 10 days to dispose of the last of their pelts.

Pay-off from the marshes of the Trent and Kawartha waters is not likely to weight wallets and bank accounts. The market did not attract some of the trappers who were content to give the rats a year's lease on life in the expectation that prices might be firmer in April 1955.

The season for trapping beavers ends a week hence, April 30.

6 People Flee Blazing Hotel

KITCHENER (CP)—Fire gutted the Linwood hotel early today forcing six persons to flee and causing damage tentatively estimated at between $20,000 to $25,000. Linwood is 20 miles northwest of Kitchener.

Alex Grominski, who operates the hotel, his wife and two children and his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Grominski, made their way to safety. There were no guests.

The six escaped after Louis Grominski awakened about 3:40 a.m. and smelled smoke. He took one child from the building and Mrs. Alex Grominski the other.

The fire apparently started in the dining room which was gutted.

Wing Cmdr. Mussells Named Trenton CO

MONTREAL (CP)—Wing Cmdr. C. H. Mussells, 33, of Montreal, former commander of the RCAF's airlift to Korea, has been appointed commanding officer of the RCAF's central flying school at Trenton, it was announced today.

He will be replaced as senior air staff officer at air transport command headquarters here by Wing Cmdr. G. J. J. Edwards of Ottawa and Sudbury.

Wing Cmdr. Edwards comes here from Edmonton where he commanded 435 transport squadron.

Paul Irving Mitchell

The funeral of Paul Irving Mitchell ten months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. Mitchell, 424 Rose Ave., who died Wednesday, took place this morning from the Duffus funeral home. The pall bearers were altar boys of St. John the Baptist Church: David James, Robert Jones, William Lapointe and Clement Jones. Prayers at the funeral home and St. Peter's cemetery were offered by the Rev. Dr. Grant of St. John the Baptist Church.

Movie Producer Dies

MALIBU, Calif. (AP) — Movie producer Stephen Ames, 54, died at his home Thursday. His first Hollywood productions included "The Spanish Main" in 1945 and "Sinbad the Sailor" the following year. His recent pictures were "Tycoon," "Boy With Green Hair," "Man With a Cloak" and "Wild North."

Export Demand Boosts Cattle Price

TORONTO (CP)—Broad export demand boosted prices 50 cents higher on steers and heifers in active trading, at the Ontario stockyards this week.

Nearly 400 head were shipped to the U.S. on an experimental basis, which if successful may lead to further demands here, officials report. Calves moved unevenly, with common to medium grades meeting weak prices. Hog prices, up 60 cents, were not established until near the week's close.

The cattle run of 7,674 head was added to a carryover of 200. Choice steers, all weights, $19-20; few small lots $20.75; good steers $18-19; mediums $16; good heifers $16-17; mediums $14; good cows $12-13; heifery cows $13.50; canners and cutters $8; good heavy bologna bulls $12.50-13.50; good butcher bulls $14; common light bulls $10; choice fed yearlings $18.50-19; mediums $17; good replacement cattle $17-18; few small lots matched Herefords $19.

Calves totalled 1,102 head with good to choice selling steady to last week's decline at $23-25; few tops $26; common to medium $10-22.

Hogs were 3,451 head with prices up 50 cents at $35.50 for grade A; grade B-1 $34.50; sows $25; stags $18.

Sheep and lambs totalled 344 head; few spring lambs offered $34-35; good feed-lot lambs $23.50-24; common $12-20; good light sheep $10; culls $3-7.

HELP KOREAN ORPHANS—Crews of Canadian destroyers patrolling the west coast of Korea have come to regard the welfare of orphans in that area as their particular responsibility, and crew members of the destroyer Haida shown here have temporarily adopted these orphans. The Haida, along with the destroyer Huron, makes a call at the Island of Paengnyong-do and members of the ships' companies take supplies to the homeless young Korean children. This picture was taken outside an orphanage on the island.

Announce Program For Theatre Conference

HAMILTON (CP) — Complete program for the four-day National Theatre Conference, to be held May 10, through May 13, in connection with the Dominion Drama Festival was announced today by Mrs. H. M. Fleming, local chairman of the arrangements committee.

Dr. G. P. Gilmour of McMaster University will open the conference on the morning of Tuesday, May 11. Taking part in a discussion that morning will be Robertson Davies, playwright; W. A. Brodie, CBC English instructor; Robert Christie, noted Canadian actor; Mrs. Burton James, drama advisor of the Saskatchewan Arts Board.

Lorne Green, Canadian announcer and actor, will address a noon luncheon.

J. Hutchinson Scott, of the Crest theatre, Toronto, will speak during a costume exhibition at the Art Gallery.

Apsley Sunday School Gives Easter Pageant

APSLEY (ENS)—A large congregation at Trinity United church here on Sunday witnessed the presentation of an Easter pageant, "The Secret of the Garden".

Those who took part were Bobby Hales, Kees Stegenga, Arnold Brown, Harry Ross Reynolds, Gail Reynolds, Joan McCauley, Shirley Reynolds, Joan Oitment, Mureta Montgomery, Terry Sketcher, and Murray McCormack.

Many Sunday school pupils took part in the service and provided off-stage music throughout the pageant.

The offering of the evening went in aid of the building fund for the new manse.

$40,000 Grant For Festival

STRATFORD (CP)—The Rockefeller foundation has made a conditional grant of $40,000 to the capital funds campaign of the Stratford Shakespearian Festival of Canada foundation.

The grant depends on the Stratford festival raising the additional $80,000 in its objective of $120,000 to place the foundation on a "sound financial basis," John R. Anderson of Stratford, campaign chairman, said.

The grant, payable in Canadian funds, will be made on a basis of $10,000 for each $20,000 the festival raises before June 30.

Mr. Anderson said:

"This magnificent grant, together with monetary support which we are receiving throughout Canada, should assure the financial stability and permanence of the festival."

Three plays are to be presented this summer, starting June 28, in the second annual Shakespearian festival. James Mason, British stage and film actor, will star in "Measure for Measure," and the Greek tragedy "Oedipus Rex." An all-Canadian cast will be featured in "Taming of the Shrew."

Miss Edith May Denne

Funeral services for Miss Edith May Denne, of 116 Dublin St., who died Monday in St. Joseph's Hospital, were held Thursday, at 2.00 p.m., from the late residence. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson officiated and burial was in Little Lake cemetery. Pallbearers were: Gordon Langley, J. D. Collins, Walter Howell, Dr. T. Currier, Mayor Norman Graham, and E. H. Howson. Honorary pallbearers were: F. D. Kerr, QC, Dr. G. S. Cameron, Dr. E. H. Hammond, A. T. Pink, A. Clark, R. Lough, Max Comstock, and E. A. LaBranche.

GREAT FALLS

The Canadian, or horseshoe falls, at Niagara Falls is 2,500 feet across; the American falls 1,000 feet wide.

Hanging Of Farmer Delayed To June 18

MONTREAL (CP)—The hanging of Fortunat Dubuc, 53-year-old farmer of St. Isidore de Laprairie, scheduled early today for the poisoning of his wife has been postponed until June 18 so the case could be appealed before the Supreme Court of Canada.

Dubic's lawyer, Alexandre Chevalier, won the reprieve in Ottawa by petitioning Mr. Justice Gerald Fauteux of the Supreme Court.

The Quebec Court of Appeals March 24 dismissed an appeal, ruling there had been no misdirection of the jury by the Court of Queen's Bench judge presiding at the trial.

Mrs. Dubuc died of poisoning Jan. 12, 1953. A coroner's inquest returned a verdict of natural death, but the attorey-general's office ordered the body exhumed April 10 after hearing rumors that Dubuc had killed his wife to marry a 16-year-old girl who gave birth to a child in May.

St. George's Apsley Service Colorful

APSLEY (ENS)— A colorful service was held at St. George's, Apsley, on Easter Sunday. The light of the candles highlighted the white altar hangings and furnishings.

The Rev. W. T. Boddy thanked the Ladies' Guild for making the new wine cassocks and white surplices for the choir. He also expressed the church's appreciation to the guild for the flowers which the guild had given to the glory of God and the beautification of the altar.

Miss Donna Lean, home from Teachers' College for the Easter holidays, played the organ. She accompanied the choir in the Easter carol "Good Joseph had a Garden'". The choir, in addition, sang part of Merbeck's setting of the Communion Office.

Township Voters Reject Liquor

TRENTON—By an overwhelming majority voters in Sydney township Wednesday night turned down a proposal to serve beer and wine or liquor with meals at a restaurant on No. 2 Highway between Trenton and Belleville.

Initial count showed 68 per cent voted no in the plebiscite that covered the RCAF Training Command Headquarters No. 6 Repair Depot, a large air force housing development, and Batawa and Sterling in the township.

Mrs. Sarah Rowe

Funeral services for Mrs. Sarah Rowe, who died at her home, 576 Bethune St., Monday, were held Thursday from the Comstock funeral home, at 3.00 p.m. The Rev. Ivan Morgan and the Rev. E. W. Rowland officiated. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery. Pallbearers were: Herb Lush, Ronald Payne, Everett Hales, Robert Gillespie, Harry Mathers, and Milton Clysdale.

The case against marital infidelity

It's far more common than most of us like to believe, says Dr. A. Stone, eminent marriage consultant . . . but it seldom brings lasting emotional satisfaction to either husband or wife.

In May Reader's Digest, Dr. Stone, a pioneer in the field of marriage education tells why unfaithfulness shatters personality; and what he's found is the major cause of adultery.

Be sure to read this enlightening article in May Reader's Digest. It's just one of 31 articles of lasting interest, condensed from leading magazines; plus 3 condensations of current books.

Valdmanis Flying To St. John's

Attorney-General Says More Charges Are To Be Laid

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — Dr. Alfred Valdamis was scheduled to fly today with his police escort to St. John's, Nfld., to face charges of extorting "many hundreds of thousands of dollars" from industrial firms.

The former boss of Newfoundland's complex economic development program was arrested Friday by RCMP plainclothesmen in the dead of night at his brother's home near St. Andrews, N.B. He was then brought here to await plane transportation.

The 47-year-old one-time Latvian cabinet minister was arrested on one charge of extorting $160,000 but Attorney-General Curtis said investigations are being conducted into other amounts and additional charges will be laid.

WAS ONCE PRAISED

When Valdmanis resigned Feb. 10 as chairman of the Newfoundland and Labrador Corporation, controlled by the Newfoundland government, Premier Smallwood praised him as one of the greatest men to ever set foot on the island province.

He was an unhappy figure when he walked into the airport lunch room here, an RCMP corporal on each side of him. He sat with chin cupped in hand and stared ahead, not talking to his police escort.

He was lodged in the county jail here when the flight was cancelled because of bad weather.

In Montreal, his wife, when informed of the charges, said: "I simply do not believe it."

Valdmanis said in his letter of resignation that he intended taking a post which would keep him largely on the Canadian mainland and in the United States. After that he dropped from sight—until his arrest.

Mr. Smallwood and Valdmanis for two years moulded a program of industrialization in Newfoundland that resulted in the establishment of about a dozen industries.

His brother, at whose home he was arrested, said he did not know what the arrest was all about. Police came in the house, went immediately to Valdmanis' room, gave him 20 minutes to dress and drove him to Saint John.

"He didn't tell me anything," said brother Oswald. The brothers were planning to open a fish plant near St. Andrews next month.

EXTENSIVE INJURIES were suffered early today by Albert Brooks of Millbrook, when his late model car hit a tree on Park Hill Road. Believed to have gone asleep at the wheel, Mr. Brooks was thrown against the windshield and steering-wheel and then half out of the car. In satisfactory condition in the Civic Hospital, he suffered chest injuries and a leg abrasion. Constable Arthur Beardsmore (above) investigated the accident.

Red Forces Beaten Back At Fortress

Both Red, French Reported To Have Heavy Casualties

HANOI (AP) — The French high command announced today that French Union troops defending Dien Bien Phu have established a new defence line in the northeastern corner of the Indo-China fortress area, beating back Communist Vietminh forces in a strong counter-attack.

The French quickly dug a system of trenches and erected fortifications to try to block further thrusts towards the heart of the fortress by the Vietminh from the northwest.

Both the Vietminh and the French during the counter-attack were reported to have had heavy losses.

Brig.-Gen. Christian de Castries, commanding the fortress, tried in his counter-attack to take back the third outpost in the northwest captured by the Vietminh in their furious assault Friday.

But the Vietminh threw in overwhelming numbers of troops and de Castries was forced to recall his forces to the heart of the fortress.

NEW LINE SET UP

However, said a French army spokesman, the counter-attack succeeded in that it had permitted the French to set up a new line of defence immediately south of the outpost taken by the Vietminh.

The French said two Vietminh battalions, or nearly 2,000 men, had been particularly hard hit by French tanks and artillery fire during the counter-attack and had suffered severe losses, probably running into hundreds of killed and wounded.

The French meanwhile parachuted more tons of ammunition and food into the narrow dropping zone of the fortress.

A heavy mist hung over the battered fortress today. The French hoped for clearing weather to permit new waves of bombers and fighters to blast at the enemy.

Monsoon rains this week have turned the bowl-shaped Dien Bien Phu battlefield into a swamp of red mud, hampering the planes and bogging down field armament.

The French defences still intact now cover an area less than a mile across. This is a tiny target for the planes that must parachute in all food and war supplies. The plight of the defenders is considered especially acute because all escape routes have been blocked by the encircling Vietminh.

One Bite Allowed

TORONTO (CP)—Policemen who have to arrest women were told Friday they should bear in mind that "perhaps she is entitled to at least one bite." Magistrate C. A. Thorburn dismissed a charge of assault against Cecile McElhone, 32, who bit the hand of an aresting policeman. He fined her $10 or five days for disturbing the peace.

Russia, Australia Break Relations Envoys Recalled

CANBERRA (CP)—Documents went up in flames in embassies 12,000 miles apart today as Russian diplomats here and Australians in Russia prepared to return home after Friday night's break in diplomatic relations over the Petrov case.

In Moscow, the Australian embassy staff worked at top speed to be ready to depart by Sunday night, reports from Russia said. Andrei Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister, told the Australian charge d'affaires, Brian Hill, Friday that he wanted the Australians out in "three or four days".

The Russians here, recalled by the Kremlin and not ordered out, can take their time. It is expected to be several weeks before the last Russian official has left Canberra.

The break in relations was called by Russia in a note protesting granting of asylum to Vladimir Petrov, former embassy official and secret police chief in Australia, and his wife Evokiya. The note said Petrov was a criminal who should be arrested by Australia for theft and that Mrs. Petrov had been "kidnapped" by Australian government officials.

These developments make normal diplomatic relations impossible, the note said.

REJECTED DEMAND

Australia had rejected the demand for the return of Petrov when it was made earlier, and is keeping him in a secret hiding place. Mrs. Petrov was reunited with him after a tumultuous incident in which she was taken from a plane at Darwin just as she was about to depart with Soviet agents for Moscow.

In that incident, the Soviet note charged, "Australian police used violence against the second secretary of the embassy . . . (and) subjected the Soviet diplomatic couriers to forcible search with the use of physical violence."

The two couriers had been disarmed by the Australian police at Darwin after the Russians tried to bar authorities from talking to Mrs. Petrov.

Moscow radio's announcement of the note was the first the Soviet public had been told of the Petrov case.

It came just before the opening Monday of the Geneva conference on the Far East, at which both Russia and Australia will be represented.

Gromyko read the contents of the note to Hill in Russian, and then they were translated.

The Australian diplomat immediately informed the British ambassador, Sir William Hayter, who Suggests Ottawa Should Scrap Inheritance Act

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Duplessis said Friday he is both happy and grateful that Finance Minister Abbott has invited suggestions for revision of the federal inheritance duties act and suggested Ottawa scrap the legislation completely.

Mr. Duplessis told his weekly press conference inheritance taxation is essentially a provincial matter. He said he read that Mr. Abbott had announced the federal government's intention to revise the Inheritance Duties Act and had asked for suggestions.

"The most appropriate change to be made in the federal law on succession duties is repeal of the entire act," the premier went on.

The inheritance tax field was "always recognized . . . as essentially provincial" until the federal government stepped into it in 1941.

DIFFERS ON TAX

Mr. Duplessis said Ottawa claims the inheritance tax is the only way to make sure citizens were paying federal income taxes in full.

"Such an argument is an admission by the federal government that it is finding it difficult to collect its income tax. Collecting two taxes, however, does not make it any easier."

The premier said Quebec would be "ill-advised" to recognize housing legislation adopted during the current session of Parliament "when the federal authority does not recognize even a small part of provincial rights" by allowing Quebec taxpayers to deduct in full the new provincial income tax from federal tax.

Only five per cent of the new tax, which amounts to about 15 per cent of federal income tax, is deductible.

Finance department officials in Ottawa declined to comment on Mr. Duplessis' suggestion that the Succession Duties Act be repealed.

NATO Ministers To Hold Special Session

PARIS (AP)—The foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization decided Friday to call a special session later this year to reconsider their defence setup if the European Army Treaty is not ratified during the summer, an informed source said.

The informant, who was present at the closed meeting of 14 ministers, said the proposal was made by U. S. State Secretary Dulles who warned his colleagues that NATO would be faced with a grave situation if the European Defence Community does not come into being in the near future.

With French foreign Minister Georges Bidault sitting impassively in his chair, Dulles said NATO at its meeting last December had noted the EDC was aimed at ending the rivalry between France and Germany.

DIVISIVE FORCES

If EDC is too long delayed, he said, divisive forces could set in and he added these divisive forces already were making their appearance.

Dutch Foreign Minister J. W. Beyen, addressing Bidault directly, also asserted he hoped the French

Nehru Asks Four Powers Sign Non-Aggression Pact

NEW DELHI (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru called today on the United States, Britain, Russia and Red China to enter into a pact at Geneva agreeing not to intervene directly or indirectly in Indo-China. He made his proposal in a statement before the Indian Parliament, as part of a five-point program for ending the Indo-China war.

Nehru also asked that the big powers "desist from further threats and stepping up the war," give priority at Geneva for a cease-fire, proclaim complete independence for Indo-China, and initiate direct negotiations to end the fighting.

He told the Parliament India welcomes next week's Geneva talks to seek a settlement of the Asian conflicts centring in Korea and Indo-China. His country was "interested and concerned" in Indo-China, and the Indian aim was "to create peace" there.

FEELS CONCERN

Nehru felt "concern and forebodings in references to instant and massive retaliation" which had been made since the Geneva talks were scheduled. "Misgivings had been increased" by the Vietminh stepping up the tempo of the war and the United States aiding the French-Viet Namese side.

The Indian leader's proposed four-power agreement for non-intervention would bar any kind of interference, such as furnishing troops and war material. Eventually it would be incorporated in a United Nations non-intervention treaty open to other powers.

France was not included among those requested to keep hands off Indo-China. But Nehru said the Paris government should give assurances at Geneva that she is taking steps to grant full independence to the Indo-Chinese states of Viet Nam, Laos, and Cambodia.

India has no direct part in the Geneva conference. Nehru feels, however, that he may help indirectly as a peacemaker, playing the role of a strict neutral.

Greater Need Civil Defence

WINDSOR (CP) — Existence of the hydrogen bomb and its possession by Russia make civil defence more essential than ever before, Health Minister Martin said Friday night.

In a speech prepared for delivery before the Windsor civil defence rescue services, the minister responsible for civil defence said:

"It is suggested by some people, in this country and elsewhere, that the hydrogen bomb has made civil defence obsolete. Nothing could be further from the truth. . . ."

He listed three considerations which must form the background of current civil defence planning:

1. Early warning of pending air attack becomes increasingly important day by day as Russia develops longer-range aircraft.

MUTUAL AID

2. The days of the self-sufficient local civil defence organization are over. The wider areas of damage now possible underline the necessity for mutual aid between communities large and small.

3. Development of the H-bomb does not eliminate the possibility of attack by other methods. It is still necessary to organize adequate measures to protect communities against effects of attack by any known means.

Every level of government will have to put more effort into civil defence, Mr. Martin said.

Car Crashes Into Tree Driver Injured

A Millbrook man, returning from work in Peterborough early today, suffered extensive injuries to his chest and leg when his late model car crashed into a tree at the corner of Parkhill Road and Stewart St.

About 7:45 a.m., Albert Brooks was rushed to Civic Hospital by Nisbett ambulance after residents found him half-in, half-out of his car, where it was jammed against a small tree.

Later, hospital authorities reported Brooks in "satisfactory" condition, suffering chest injuries, a leg abrasion, bleeding from the nose and mouth.

City Constable, Arthur Beardsmore, who investigated the accident, said that Brooks apparently went to sleep while returning home to Millbrook from work. The car went out of control jumped the low curb and hit the tree. A large V was knocked into the front of the car.

Inside the car Brooks was thrown forward against the windshield and steering-wheel. The windshield was shattered and the wheel bent.

Bob Johnson 276 Parkhill Road, was in his kitchen preparing to go to the lake, when he saw "a cloud of dust" moving across Stewart St. after he heard the crash.

"I was the first one out and found him laying face down on the pavement," said Mr. Johnson. "His legs were still in the car. There was a lot of smoke and I thought the car was on fire. I was afraid that if it was on fire, I couldn't get him out."

Then with the help of the Rev. William Wheeler, visiting at 657 Stewart St., Mr. Johnson and his son, Jim, carried Mr. Brooks into the Johnson home. Nisbett ambulance was called and Brooks taken to the Civic Hospital.

NATO Adopts Canada's Motion

PARIS (CP)—Members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization have pledged to keep each other informed on international "political questions of common concern."

A resolution sponsored by Canada and adopted unanimously at Friday's meeting of the NATO council appeared to be directed chiefly at the United States.

The resolution, introduced by External Affairs Minister Pearson, urged NATO members to keep each other informed "on international political developments" of concern to other members or to the NATO organization as a whole.

Dutch Foreign Minister J. W. Beyen told a press conference about the Pearson resolution:

He described it as a pledge to consult with other NATO countries "on all aspects of major problems" and to develop the 14-nation council into a means for political co-operation.

Asked if this resolution would conflict with the declared U. S. policy of "instant retaliation" against any Communist aggression, Beyen said it would not.

Pearson recently expressed opposition to any such move being undertaken by the U. S. with major weapons such as the atomic bomb without first consulting U. S. allies.

12 Persons Killed At Level Crossing

TORONTO (CP)—Level-crossing crashes killed 12 persons in Ontario in March, compared with three during the same month last year, the Ontario department of highways reported today.

Traffic fatalities last month totalled 74, as against 56 in March, 1953.

Deaths in motor vehicle accidents during the first three months of 1954 numbered 203, or 31 more than during the corresponding period of 1953.

Ex-Prime Minister Dies

BONN (Reuters)—Rudolf Beran, 66, Czech prime minister during the German occupation, has died at Leopoldov, Czechoslovakia, the West German news agency DPA reported here today. In 1947 the Czech government sentenced him to 20 years for collaborating with the Germans.

BULLETIN

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov said tonight Russia believes the most important job of the Geneva conference is to bring about an armistice in Indo-China and establish a unified Korea.

PARIS (Reuters)—The situation in Indo-China was described in official circles here today as "extremely grave" after the cabinet heard a report on the fighting. Marc Jacquet minister for the Indo-China associates states, reviewed the military situation at the cabinet meeting, which was called to discuss French policy for Geneva.

Board Rules Strike Unlawful

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario labor relations board has ruled that a strike of Niagara Falls carpenters against Smith Brothers Construction Company was unlawful under Ontario's labor code.

The board today released reasons for its decision, in which two of the five board members dissented.

Prof. J. Finkelman, board chairman, said union officials informed the construction company that, unless union rates were paid on the non-union job, pickets would be posted at all the firm's projects. As a result, construction ceased on an addition to a bank, large industrial plant, a post office and another plant.

"It is obvious there was a refusal to continue to work by employees in accordance with a common understanding," said Prof. Finkelman. "In other words, a strike took place, called and authorized by the union. Since no collective agreement was in operation and the union had not complied with the provisions of the act, the strike was unlawful."

The two labor members of the board, Russell Harvey and David Archer, disagreed. Mr. Harvey said:

"The applicant presented no evidence of a strike. The decision of the majority of the board ignores a basic right of communication."

Tests May Cause Climatic Change

TOKYO (AP) — A Japanese weather expert today said United States hydrogen bomb tests in the Pacific's Bikini area may cause "a big climatic change bringing on an unseasonable cold spell ruinous to crops."

The new Japanese blast at the American H-bomb experiments came at a meeting sponsored by the meteorological research institute of the transportation ministry.

Hidetoshi Araki, chief of the institute's forecast section, said hydrogen bomb blasts are "somewhat similar to volcanic explosions, and minute particles of dust in the stratosphere as a result of the (hydrogen) explosions may bring about a drastic drop in temperature which would cause frost damage to crops."

Araki said large volcanic explosions had damaged crops in Japan in 1883, 1902 and 1913.

Ontario Will Lose Cheap Power—Oliver

BRANTFORD (CP) — Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal leader, said Friday night he fears Ontario will lose its reputation for cheap electric power.

In speeches to Liberal groups in Brantford and Simcoe, he said 30 cents of every hydro dollar now goes for payment of interest on debt.

Mr. Oliver repeated his recent prediction that Onario's Progressive Conservative administration will call an election next fall. He added that hundreds of thousands of Ontario voters are waiting for an opportunity to register disapproval of the present government as soon as they see a good alternative.

He said recent indications of irregularities in highway construction contracts suggest "the biggest political scandal of a lifetime."

May Not Use Recordings In McCarthy Army Hearings

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Karl Mundt (Rep. S.D.) said today that the Senate investigating sub-committee may have to re-write what he called its "fuzzy" order for seizure of records on telephone calls in the McCarthy-army dispute.

With the sub-committee's national televised hearings in recess until Monday, Mundt said in an interview that there is some doubt about the legality of making public transcripts of monitored conversations without the consent of both parties.

"If this matter gets into the courts, we don't want the whole investigation to go down the drain because of a legal technicality," he declared.

The South Dakota senator is acting as sub-committee chairman during the inquiry. Senator McCarthy, the Wisconsin Republican who is the regular chairman, has stepped off the sub-committee but retains the right, as does the army side, to question witnesses.

In a stormy session, the sub-committee's four Republicans and three Democrats voted Friday to subpoena "all memoranda, all documents, all notes of monitored conversations as between parties in this controversy and all others that are relevant . . . if they are found to be material and relevant to the issues this committee is now considering."

The unanimous vote came after McCarthy threw the hearing into an uproar with a charge that the transcribing of a Nov. 7, 1953, telephone conversation he had with Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens was "completely improper . . . indecent and illegal under the laws" because he knew nothing of the action at the time.

Stevens has charged that McCarthy and his chief counsel, Roy M. Cohn, sought special treatment for a drafted former committee aide, G. David Schine. McCarthy has replied that Stevens and his aides tried to put pressure on the sub-committee into dropping its investigation of alleged Communists in the army.

Both sides have denied the others' charges, and the sub-committee probe is aimed at getting to the bottom of the maze of accusations and denials.

Queen To Visit Sweden In Sept.

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — A Swedish newspaper says today Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will visit Sweden in September.

The newspaper Aftonbladet says the Queen gave preliminary approval for the date of the visit from the royal liner Gothic now steaming from Ceylon to Aden on the homeward leg of a six-month royal tour.

However, a British embassy spokesman said, "We have no information about such a visit" and a spokesman for the royal Swedish court said he "had no information to give."

Sweden's King Gustav Adolf and Queen Louise are due in Britain from June 28 to July 1 to make the first state visit of Queen Elizabeth's reign.

Red China's Premier Arrives In Geneva

GENEVA, Switzerland (CP) — Red China's Chou En-lai arrived today for the Geneva conference and said he believed the parley "will provide possibilities for the settlement" of Asian issues.

The Peiping premier and foreign minister touched down on soil this side of the Iron Curtain for the first time since the Communists took power over China's 450,000,000 five years ago. He was greeted at the airport by North Korea's foreign minister, Nam Il.

RCAF Receives Anonymous Letter Accusing It Of Gross Negligence

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF has received a number of letters, nearly all unsigned, accusing it of everything from gross negligence to a happy-go-lucky disregard for human life.

These letters have arrived at RCAF stations since the recent collision of an air force Harvard training plane and a Trans-Canada Air Lines North Star over Moose Jaw, Sask., which killed 37 persons.

No official here will discuss what the transport department and RCAF inquiries into the crash will show, at least until the government has announced the findings.

But, by putting together the bits and pieces which have already been made public and studying Canada's flying regulations, these factors emerge:

1. The Harvard was not "buzzing" or trying to intercept the North Star. An interception would have been impossible simply because of the relative speeds of the two aircraft, plus the fact the Harvard was climbing after a take-off only six minutes previously.

2. A study of all probabilities for the cause of the collision indicates that the only plausible supposition is that the Harvard and North Star pilots did not see each other until the last split second, if even then.

HUMAN ERROR

That is not to say that either or both of the pilots are blameless. There must have been human error somewhere or the accident would not have occurred.

The RCAF does not intercept civilian aircraft except when it must identify unknown planes. Without such interceptions, there could be no aerial defence of Canada. In the Moose Jaw crash, the North Star was not an unknown.

When necessary interceptions are made, the interceptor planes, usually radar-equipped CF-100 jets, are under orders of the controller, who can "see" both the unidentified aircraft and the interceptors on radar. Harvards are too slow to be used as interceptors.

Only one interceptor approaches close enough to make identification and it is under orders to fly no closer than necessary to identify. If the interceptor cannot make identification, it must, under normal circumstances, await further orders from the controller.

Rules forbid practice interceptions on civilian aircraft under any circumstances.

Flying regulations for all aircraft both military and civilian, are laid down by the federal transport department.

On top of the transport department regulations, the RCAF has its own, and more stringent, regulations. And on top of this again, local RCAF stations may have further regulations.

NO RIGHT-OF-WAY

No plane flying in clear weather has any inherent right-of-way over another plane such as a train has right-of-way at level crossings or a motorist has right-of-way on a through highway.

Thus the North Star did not have automatic right-of-way over the Harvard, or vice versa.

But there is a general rule of the air road that the plane which has the other plane on its starboard (right) gives way.

Big 3 See Obstacles Geneva Talks

Inclusion Red China Will Be Cause For Major Debate

By MAX HARRISON

PARIS (CP)—The Big Three foreign ministers wound up four days of private strategy talks today, convinced that many obstacles will have to be hurdled before the Geneva conference gets down to its primary business of trying to bring peace to Korea and Indo-China.

State Secretary Dulles, Foreign Secretary Eden and Foreign Minister Bidault arranged a final get-together today to iron out their strategy for the Geneva meeting which opens Monday.

Following this meeting, Dulles and Bidault planned to leave for Geneva. Eden is scheduled to leave Sunday.

A long-distance clash by diplomatic note between Russia and the West over the role of Red China at the Geneva conference has made it clear that this problem in itself will be a major issue to be worked out before the conferees in Switzerland come to the specific questions for which they were convened.

Russia formalized her demand that the Communist Chinese delegation headed by Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-lai be granted the position of a great power in a Big Five meeting. The West said no.

NOW MAJOR ISSUE

Although this is described as merely a procedural problem, it has assumed the proportions of a major issue of the conference.

The Russians apparently realize Dulles is on a delicate spot because of strong U.S. feeling against any sort of recognition of China, and because of the growing feeling among other Western powers that the United States is attaching too much importance to this issue.

For this reason, it is generally believed Russia will not drop the issue simply because formal Western notes Friday rejected its Big Five proposal.

The Western stand is that China is no different than any of the other several interested countries which were invited by the Big Four to confer on Korea and Indo-China. The U.S. also insisted that the Big Four invitation make it plain that China's attendance in no way implied recognition of the Peiping regime.

WANT CEASE-FIRE

But a high French official said Friday that his government will push for agreement on an immediate cease-fire in Indo-China before the Geneva parley bogs down over whether China is an honorable big power.

This feeling is backed by the strong popular demand in France that the seven-year war against the Communist-led Vietminh rebels in Indo-China be brought to an end.

The Western powers are generally agreed on the major parts of the strategy they will employ at the Geneva conference, but few of the ground rules for starting the conference have been set at Geneva, and it is not known just how the talks will open. Also still to be worked out is the problem of which countries will take part in the portion of the conference dealing with Indo-China and whether it will precede or follow the talks on Korea.

Cancer Society Glad To Accept Penny Donation

How much does it take to make a donation to the Cancer Society? The answer a canvasser gave was just one penny.

Miss Ruth Simpson reported that last year making her rounds she approached a household that was having a tough time. The housewife wanted to help the Peterborough Cancer Society, but she felt it was impossible.

Then she remembered she had found a penny in the garden that morning. "Would you accept a penny?" she said. The canvasser did and thanked her for wanting to be a part of the society's vital work.

This year Miss Simpson came upon a similar situation. An elderly woman wanted to give something, but felt she couldn't. The canvasser realized that the woman sincerely wished she could help, asked, "If you had a penny, would you give it?"

With a smile, the elderly citizen said, "I certainly would, if you will accept a penny. I want to help."

is expected to take over responsibility for Australian affairs in the Soviet Union.

Passage on all commercial flights out of Australia is booked solid, so it is not yet known when the people connected with the Soviet embassy here can get out of the country. These include 19 staff members, 19 wives and 13 children. There also is the Sydney correspondent of the Tass news agency, Victor Antonov, and his wife, who were recalled even before the break.

Meanwhile, the staff today was busily destroying all documents they could not carry with them in their exodus from Australia. Indoor fireplaces apparently were inadequate for the task. A procession of men and women was seen carrying bags and buckets filled with papers and books to a secluded spot in the embassy garden, where a huge fire was burning.

DENIES FORCE USED

In Darwin today, K. S. Edmunds, a crown law officer, denied the Soviet note's allegation that force had been used against the Russians there.

Sgt. Gregory Ryall, who helped disarm the Russian couriers, said today: "What did they expect me to do, shake hands with an armed man who was going for his gun?" he asked.

Ryall maintained he used no more force than was necessary to restrain the Russian courier while he was being disarmed — "He was not hurt, but simply rendered powerless to resist disarming."

Ryall said he noticed one of the couriers "going for his gun. He was crouching low to the ground and I expected any moment we would be sprayed with bullets."

Find Reporters Thwarted In Indo-China

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

SINGAPORE (AP) — A "little war" rages in Indo-China etween a score of foreign correspondents covering the fighting there and Gen. Henri Navarre, the French commander-in-chief.

American writers say that although the United States pours $1,000,000,000 a year into the war they are unable to inform the American public adequately about what is going on.

The French writers say that news already released in Paris is taboo for them in Hanoi.

British correspondents complain that not a shadow of criticism of the French high command or political authority is tolerated.

All protest that there are no practical rules to follow.

Officially, the censorship was imposed to "protect military security and defend the morale of the army." But in practice, said a French correspondent, the censorship is also used to defend Navarre and the French political position.

REPORTERS THWARTED

A British correspondent said he was told directly by Navarre there was no intention to extend facilities to correspondents who write articles implying criticism of Navarre's policies.

The Briton said he replied that when the time came he would consider it his duty to write such articles, even if the censors stopped them.

Correspondents in Hanoi have no way of knowing whether or how long a cable might be delayed. One correspondent told of an urgent 40-word cable which cleared Hanoi at 9 a.m. but did not clear Saigon until 4:30 p.m. Censors take four-hour lunch periods. A correspondent at Hanoi must make five copies of each cable.

Correspondents claim that some who wrote stories the French command did not like were always in danger of being labelled "anti-French" or "leftists" and being denounced to the embassies of their respective countries.

Canadian Servicemen Replace Americans As Visiting Casanovas

LONDON (CP)—Canadian Casanovas in air force blue are sweeping British girls off their feet, says the Daily Sketch today in a feature article.

The mass-circulation tabloid says the Canadian airman serving in Britain has replaced the United States service man "as the great lover of mid-century Europe."

Amy Landreth, Sketch staff writer, reports after a visit to the RCAF's air material base at Langar, Nottinghamshire:

"The (U.S.) sergeants in Cadillacs have been the catch of the season for more than a decade of seasons. But now the girls in France, Germany and especially in Britain are chasing the Canadians instead."

One of the main reasons for the appeal of "these clean-cut types from north of the 49th parallel," she says, is that they are the best-paid servicemen in Europe.

"And, of course—and this is the thing that really counts—these Canadians are attractive men. They are polite, they are warmhearted, they are romantic."

The Sketch says the flood of service weddings at Langar this spring has made it necessary to license two station chapels to perform weddings.

Miss Landreth winds up her 3,000-word article with a composite picture of the average Canadian service husband:

"He has all the informal charm of the American, but still keeps his old-world manners. He is tolerant, home-loving and faithful.

"He continues to pay compliments long after the honeymoon. In time he can even be trained to tea-drinking."

In the case of the Moose Jaw crash, the Harvard, flying roughly north, had the North Star, flying west, on its right. In this case, the Harvard should have given way. However, both pilots in such an instance are required to keep a lookout to make sure their aircraft are not endangered.

It is unlikely that the North Star and Harvard pilots suddenly became involved in a mental tug-of-war over which should give way.

REASONABLE EXPLANATION

If the Harvard was not "buzzing" or trying to intercept the North Star, the relative speeds of the two types of aircraft makes this appear impossible, or if the Harvard did not deliberately refuse to give way to the TCA airliner, the only reasonable explanation for the accident is that neither plane saw the other.

The Harvard had taken off in clear weather on a navigation training flight. It would appear probable that the pilot was busy getting set on his proper course, looking at his instruments or a map.

It would be his duty, however, to maintain a constant lookout for other aircraft, as it is every pilot's duty.

It appears likely it would have been easier for the Harvard to see the North Star than vice versa. But at the same time, the Harvard could be seen by the North Star. The Harvard would have been only a few degrees below level vision of the North Star but probably against a background of earth rather than sky.

Graham Attends Seventy Revivals

LONDON (AP)—Billy Graham, the American evangelist, ended the eighth week of his London crusade tonight with his voice still strong after speaking to about 1,000,000 persons during more than 70 revival meetings.

Graham has four more weeks to go at Harringay Arena before winding up his religious crusade in England with a rally at Wembley Olympic Stadium May 22. Some 100,000 are expected.

After two days rest, Graham will move across the channel to France and a rally May 25 at Paris' Chaillot Palace. From then until June 16 he will tour U. S. military bases in France and Germany.

He will then tour Scandinavia, with rallies in Helsinki's Olympic Stadium June 16-17, in Stockholm's Sports Stadium June 19-20, and in Copenhagen June 21.

He will speak in Berlin's Olympic Stadium June 27.

Graham's European tour will end July 1.

Graham spoke today between the halves at a football game at Chelsea attended by about 50,000. He also had two rallies at Harringay, attended by a total of about 25,000.

Govt Asked Take Over Lake Huron Pinery

PARKHILL, Ont. (CP) — The Ausable River Conservation Authority decided Friday to ask the Ontario government to take over the Pinery under the Parks Act.

The Pinery is 4,000 acres of wooded sand dunes on the shores of Lake Huron. It is wanted as a game sanctuary, recreation and reclamation area to check sand from beaches blowing over the Thedford Marsh gardening area near this community 35 miles west of Sarnia.

The authority suggested that it pay for the forest section and that the province pay for the rest.

8 Young People Hurt In Head-On Crash

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — Eight young people were injured early today when two cars collided head-on here. Police said charges would be laid as a result of the accident.

One group, in a car driven by Jack Russow, 18, of Port Arthur, was returning from a dance. Russow and four passengers received severe cuts and minor fractures.

The other car was driven by Robert Cameron, 20, of Fort William, who suffered a broken ankle. One passenger received possible spine injuries and a second passenger had his right leg fractured.

One Dead, One Hurt In Two Accidents

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—One man was killed almost instantly and an air force officer critically injured in two district traffic accidents early today. In each the car left the road and collided with a pole or tree.

Ernest D. Fenn, 62, of London was killed when his car hit a pole on Highway 7, about four miles west of Ailsa Craig. A passenger, Harold Lawson, 25, London, was uninjured.

FO. Frank Pickles, 31, of RCAF station, Centralia, was admitted to St. Joseph's hospital in a semi-conscious condition after his car smashed into a tree about two miles south of Elginfield on Highway 4.

Hunters Ready Catch 'Three-Toed' Monster'

NEW HAMBURG, Ont. (CP)—If Caspar, the "three-toed monster," shows up here again this year, he'll find a reception committee waiting.

Hunters have nets, ropes and guns ready for the creature which was reported to have roamed the streets at times last summer.

Police chief George Thomas, who fired at Caspar and missed one July night, says he thinks it is a displaced alligator.

"This year we'll be ready for it," the chief said today in an interview. "We want to get it alive if we can."

Chinese Secret Societies Flourish

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — A sudden stab in a narrow alley . . . tattoo marks . . . ritual oaths . . . revenge in the dark . . .

These are the signs of Chinese secret societies which are again blossoming in the underworld of this outwardly-placid British colony.

Police estimate there are 400 secret societies in Singapore. The police know of at least 10,000 members.

Singapore's secret societies have their roots in ancient Chinese history and at times the ritual of the societies has been purely idealistic.

But in Singapore, in recent years, the groups have deteriorated into little more than extortion gangs, glowering over a multitude of cowering prostitutes, hawkers, coffee-stall proprietors, small traders and taxi-dancers.

Each society has a group of "strong men" who go out with guns, broken bottles, knives and bamboo sticks to punish those who do not pay protection money.

Almost 100 years ago, the forerunners of today's societies fought a gang war. Six hundred persons were killed and 300 houses burned. Secret society members swear an oath never to break confidence, and they are ready to kill those who do.

130 Delgates Expect Attend Labor Talks

TORONTO (CP) — About 130 delegates from Canadian Congress of Labor unions throughout Ontario are expected to attend the third annual fair employment practices conference of the Ontario Federation of Labor here the weekend of May 1-2.

Sponsors said delegates will spend most of the conference in "workshop" discussions centering around fair practices in the plant and in the community.

With The Boy Scouts

5th PETERBOROUGH TROOP

The scouts of All Saints' held their weekly meeting on Thursday. Inspection was the first on the list, followed by instruction by the patrol leaders. A game of "the hunter and the hunted" proved a great favorite.

At the end of the meeting the Beaver patrol was made honor patrol as they finished the evening with 112 points.

A few promotions were in order, and a number of tests were passed. Paul Cinnamon was promoted to APL of the Beaver patrol. Ken Butter took over as PL of the Seal patrol and Bob Davies was made his assistant.

Paul Cinnamon and Bob Neal passed their camp bed, salutes, and knots. Dale Cinnamon passed his flags and signs.

Glenn Stuart and Keith Riches both passed their law and promises. Stuart also passed his salute and camp bed. TL Don York passed his signalling.

Wife Of French Deputy Gives Birth To Son

PARIS (Reuters)—France's 76-year-old deputy premier, Paul Reynaud, temporarily broke up today's cabinet meeting with the announcement that his wife had given birth to a 10-pound baby son.

Reynaud's second wife, once his secretary, is 40. They were married shortly after the war. Reynaud has two ther children—a seven-year-old boy and a five-year-old girl.

"Mrs. America" To Be Crowned

ORMOND BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Forty-six husbands will see Mrs. America crowned tonight. The finalists will be in evening dresses; not a bikini has dared show a thread.

There are 42 children here, too, but all won't see the main event because some are too young.

Several mothers have three children with them, although Mrs. Jean Lindsay of Omaha, Neb., has them all beat for the total number—six. All the contestants have children except three.

CANADA'S ENTRY

Representing Canada is Mrs. Margaret Trudel of Quebec City, a 29-year-old British war bride and mother of three. She was selected by a board of judges in New York who graded entries from Canada received by mail.

Promoter Bert Nevins said, "This isn't a bathing beauty contest; it's based mainly on household accomplishments."

Tonight the contestants appear in evening gowns for the final judging, which is expected to be settled shortly before midnight.

Earlier this week it was reported that the apartment had been a focal point for meetings between Antonov and Australians.

British Say Egyptians Causing Explosions

CAIRO (AP)—A British military spokesman today accused Egyptians of using home-made bombs to commit a string of sabotage explosions in British installations in the Suez canal zone. He said these have caused slight damage but no casualties.

A widely-circulated government organ, Al Gam Hurriyah, reported "Adabiya harbor, with all its landing quays, were destroyed" in the latest of these explosions Friday night.

The prime minister underlined the importance he attached to his latest peace proposal by reading from a prepared statement. Usually he speaks off the cuff. Communist Chinese and Western diplomats crowded the galleries for the brief speech.

Nehru had called previously for an Indo-Chinese cease-fire but said his country would not take the initiative in bringing it about.

Nehru did not mention the Southeast Asian prime ministers' conference opening next week at Colombo, Ceylon. Observers believe, however, that he is planning to press at the conference for a neutral area in Asia which would try to maintain neutrality in the conflict between the Western democracies and Communists.

India More Anti-America Than At Any Time In History

By IAN FAWCETT

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—India now is more anti-America than at any time within memory.

India is angered by the recent American decision to grant arms aid to Pakistan. She is angered by Washington's persistent refusal to recognize the Communist regime in China.

The feeling here is described as anti-America rather than anti-American, as on the dividual basis Indians are just as friendly toward Americans as ever.

But they are opposed to almost every important aspect of present American foreign poli , and there is a wide feeling here that the United States rather than Russia might set off a third world war.

U.S. BETTER KNOWN

Apart from the issue of Pakistan arms aid which has brought anti-America feeling to its present peak, the reason that the average Indian is normally more hostile towards American foreign policy than he is to the Russian, according to one highly placed Indian, is that he knows more about it.

"We know what America is thinking and doing and since we don't like a lot of it we are critical," he said. "In the case of Russia we know less and therefore there is less criticism."

Despite extensive counter-propaganda here, India believes the United States practises racial discrimination.

In Delhi a few days ago I heard an American ask an Indian "Why don't I ever see any word criticizing Russia in the Indian press?" The Indian replied: "Russian statesmen don't leave themselves as wide open as yours do."

PARTY AIDS PROPAGANDA

Thus Russia has to pay little attention to answering criticism and can devote its propaganda to extending the influence of communism. Here she has a ready-made machine in the Communist party of India.

The United States can and does distribute books and films which are well circulated. But the Communist party has hundreds of members or sympathisers prepared to spend their days hawking Communist literature which is either given away or sold at a few pennies a copy.

One independent observer said that communism is selling better than Americanism in the villages partly because the villagers can more easily identify themselves with Russian peasants than with the American who in the view of the average Indian has always had just about everything he wants.

Among intellectuals and public and political leaders, target of the major American propaganda effort, the result is more difficult to assess but the general view is that any of these people, given the choice, would prefer to live in America than in Russia.

CHRIS' COFFIN—A young Englishman who plans to settle in Canada arrived in Peterborough this week on motorcycle. Chris Dowling had a novel way to carry his luggage, rigging up a large wooden box in place of a side-car. Over home, his friends dubbed the box as Chris' Coffin. Until he finds a job, Cliff is staying with his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Craig, Merino Road. Mrs. Craig and Drew Rutter (above) watch Cliff start out for a spin.

Young Immigrant Arrives All Possessions In Coffin

They come to Canada from all four corners of the earth. Some arrive on foot, some in trains and buses and other in planes. These new Canadians settle in Ontario at about the rate of 10,000 a month.

However, a new Canadian arrived in Peterborough on Wednesday along side of a coffin, or at least that is what it looked like and that is the name it has been dubbed.

The coffin is acutally 18-year-old Chris Dowling's own version of a handy-sized motorcycle side car. The fact that it looks like a coffin does not worry him any. He finds it just ideal for carrying all his wordly goods.

Chris is a brand new immigrant to Canada. He left England on April 9, arrived at Montreal early this week and then drove his motor cycle and the "coffin" up to Peterborough. At present he is staying with his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Craig of Merino Road.

His idea of bringin his 500-c.c. model bike with him serves a two-fold purpose. It gives him a cheap method of transport and on it he can carry all his possessions. When he settles down, somewhere — and he seems to like Peterborough — the coffin will probably find a last resting place. Certainly, it would prove a novelty for Canadians, if he decides to leave it attached to his motorcycle. It was also designed as a place to sleep.

Chris's decision to leave England for Canada seems to be all his own idea. His father and mother and two sisters have remained in England.

The young man says that the idea to emigrate had been at the back of his mind for some years. About two years ago he was set an essay on Canada and soon afterwards he wrote to the emigration authorities.

Only three weeks out of school in Bristol, Chris wants to get a job as soon as possible. He says he is willing to have a try at anything. He did intend originally to travel out to the oil fields of Alberta, but after two days in Peterborough, he thinks this city has much to offer.

It is interesting to note that the Canadian immigration authorities in England advised Chris that Canada was looking for strong young men, fully trained or untrained. He was told that he could be guaranteed work before he left England. The other alternative was to take pot luck.

PCVS Loses Out To Kingston In Tournament

Kingston CVI won the ninth annual Queen's University invitation basketball tournament Friday night. They edged past a tired PCVS Garnet and Grey quintet, coached by Zoltan Temesy, 54-56, to win the top honors in "A" team group.

The PCVS quintet entered the finals the hard way. They lost their first game to the tournament favorites Stamford, 52-30, on Thursday afternoon. Another loss would have dropped the five from the tournament.

But the Garnet and Greys rallied Thursday evening to take Belleville 54-48, staving off defeat. Then Friday afternoon they avenged their loss to Stamford with a 50-48 upset victory over the Niagara representatives.

Therefore Belleville was ousted with losses to Ottawa Glebe and PCVS, Glebe ousted by Stamford and Kingston, and then Stamford ousted by PCVS and Kingston. That left only Kingston and PCVS with one loss and the right to enter finals.

The Stamford game earlier in the day had its effects on the Garnet and Grey in the final game. A fast pace was set from the first quarter on, with Kingston who were fresh.

The Temesy-coached lads took a slim lead and kept ahead until the fourth quarter, then the earlier game's effect began to tell. The Garnet and Grey tired and KCVI gained the lead and the tournament honors.

Neil Courneya sparked the PCVS quintet throughout the series with good shooting and heady ball playing. Terry Roberts, Bob and John Boorman, Doug Ash and Bob McKinney played better basketball than in COSSA play. Jim Bellany and Paul Davis, two juniors, showed promise for the 1954-55 seniors.

Philatelic Material Presented To Trust

KITCHENER (CP) — A framed collection of philatelic material associated with the former prime minister was presented Friday to the Mackenzie King Woodside trust at the annual convention of the Canadian Philatelic Society.

Bruce McAdam, president of the Kitchener-Waterloo Philatelic Society, presented the material on behalf of his society to J. Harper Schofield, president of the trust.

The collection, obtained from Laurier House, the Ottawa home of the former prime minister, includes a large photograph of Mr. King taken by Karsh and envelopes in the prime minister's own writing. The postmark of Kingsdale, now part of Kitchener, is also in the collection.

Fuel Plane Saves Six-Engine Bomber

FAIRFORD, England (Reuters) A U.S. six - engine strato-jet bomber, caught with its landing gear jammed and only a few minutes fuel supply over an airfield here, was saved from a crash landing Friday by a refuelling plan which took off and supplied the bomber with extra fuel before its tanks went dry. The extra fuel gave the crew time to get the landing gear down and the bomber landed safely.

Windshields Hit By Pock Marks At Cobourg Plant

COBOURG (ENS)—The mysterious pock marks that have been appearing on car windshields in other places, have put in an appearance in Cobourg.

Cars of several men employed at the Cooey machine and arms plant in the west end have developed these pits in their windshields.

Some thought they may have encountered some abrasive materials while out on the highway but Charlie Dewey of Margaret street, which is about two blocks from the Cooey plant, can prove that his car windshield didn't pick up the marks on the highway. His car has been parked in his yard for the past two weeks.

"We thought that the small dots on the windshields came from something blown against them on the highway such as some kind of abrasive material but my car has been parked in my own yard for the past two weeks. After I saw the pock marks on some of the cars at the plant yesterday, I took a look at my own windshield expecting to find it clear but there were a half dozen or so of the marks on the glass," said Charlie Dewey.

Carson Andrews, who works at the Cooey plant noticed the marks on his windshield on Thursday.

"I had read a lot about these marks in the paper and I happened to notice them on mw car windshield on Thursday. I counted eight of them. Small pits that are right in the glass, and they were not there before. I picked a dark spot out of one of the pock marks and it crumpled into powder between my fingers. It was dark brown."

There are several cars at the plant the same way said Carson Andrews.

Two Films Shown To Campbellford YPU

Murder Alleged In Hearing False Pretenses

WELLAND (CP) — Crown attorney T. F. Forestall Friday ordered a full investigation into the drowning of Mrs. Elizabeth MacLean, 20, in the Welland river near here last summer.

The order came after Sylvia Davies of neary Port Colborne testified in a preliminary hearing that Bruce MacLean, 23, the dead woman's husband, boasted to her that he had "committed the perfect crime."

Miss Davies testified MacLean, a former assistant scoutmaster, told her he upset the canoe in which he and his wife were riding last Aug. 22 and swam around until he thought his wife, a non-swimmer, had drowned.

Mrs. MacLean's death was ruled accidental at the time.

WANTS $1,600 BACK

Miss Davies was testifying in the hearing of a false pretenses charge she brought against MacLean, to whom she said she became engaged after his wife was drowned. She said she gave MacLean $1,600 to pay off a loan on a house.

Det. Fred Wilson said MacLean told him he had spent $995 of the borrowed money on his car, $110 on entertainment, and some on clothing for himself and his small son.

Miss Davies said she consulted a lawyer in an effort to get back the $1,600. She said MacLean threatened to "get rid" of her unless she dropped charges. It was then, she said, that he told her about his wife's drowning.

Miss Davies said she asked him to sign a note for the money. She quoted him as telling her she was "played for a sucker and a fool."

BAIL DENIED

Magistrate H. D. Hallett committed MacLean for trial on the false pretenses charge. Bail was denied. On a further charge of threatening, he was bound over to keep the peace for 12 months.

Crown attorney Forestall said authorities were "conscious of the possibility of foul play" in Mrs. MacLean's death.

MacLean was an assistant scoutmaster of the 2nd Welland troup. District scouts attended Mrs. MacLean's funeral last summer.

Hall's Glen Party

HALL'S GLEN (ENS)—Zion Choir held a successful crokinole party in the hall Wednesday evening with nine tables in play.

The winners were as follows: ladies high, Mrs. Lorne Morrison; gents' high, Hilliard Hamblin; low prizes went to Mrs. Albert Harrison and David Watson; lucky chair, Lorne Morrison.

The proceeds around $12.00 will go to the choir fund. Prizes were donated and lunch supplied by the members of the choir.

SARNIA (CP)—Land for a $500,000 housing subdivision in Petrolia, 15 miles from here, has been acquired by a Sarnia real estate firm.

Tax Board Ruling

OTTAWA (CP) — The income tax appeal board ruled Friday that legal fees incurred by a Manitoba chartered accountant to avoid being barred from his profession may be deducted from his taxable income.

The board's judgment set aside a decision of the minister of national revenue disallowing the fees as a deduction on the ground that they had not been made to gain or produce income within the meaning of the Income Tax Act.

The appeal was heard in camera, apparently in Winnipeg.

TV NEWS TV

By Ken McCannan

Whenever we discuss lightning and television it's usually our modest way of describing the kind of speedy service we render our customers. There's the good kind—the "lightning service" that originates in our service department. But we'd like to say a few words today about the other variety that occasionally takes a shortcut to earth from the atmosphere via your TV antenna.

Folks of our acquaintance have had their picture tube destroyed and their set ruined when a lightning charge came down their antenna right into their living room. It can happen easily if your antenna is not protected against it, so bend an ear to a timely warning.

If you have an antenna that has no provision for lightning protection it can be fitted with a simple and inexpensive gadget called a "lightning arrester" which attaches to the antenna wire and conducts a lightning charge harmlessly into the ground. To a lightning charge, the metal tubing of your antenna looks as tempting as a fat fly to a mountain trout, so don't take chances.

In fact, you can eliminate all the gamble in buying a TV set and installation by dealing with a firm that knows its business and has your genuine interest at heart. Here at McCANNAN ELECTRIC we're not interested one tenth as much in making a sale as we are in making a permanent, satisfied customer. If you're in the market for a TV set drop into 274 George Street, and look over our large stock of 1954 ADMIRAL models before you do ANY buying. You're NEVER under an obligation! For service call 5363. WHEN IT COMES TO TV COME TO US. YOU CAN PUT YOUR CONFIDENCE IN KEN McCANNAN.

Debauchery For Children

A sub-committee of the U.S. Senate is at present looking into the matter of crime comic books, and the evidence which has been made public is of great interest. The publishers say flatly that they do not think that the books they publish are in any sense harmful; psychiatrists who deal with delinquent children (and in particular Dr. Fredric Wertham, senior psychiatrist of the New York City department of hospitals) say that the comic books actually create crime by teaching children how to be criminals.

* * *

In 1951 Parliament passed a law forbidding the importation of certain comic books into Canada, but there are still plenty of them to be seen here, and some of them are decidedly objectionable. Either the law did not cover enough ground, or it is being evaded by publishers who run off comics of this sort in Canada. Certainly there are enough comic books circulating in this country to make our interest in the U.S. investigation more than academic. And Canadians who have read Dr. Wertham's recent book on this subject, called Seduction of the Innocent will watch the outcome closely.

* * *

We have said many times in these columns that we have never known of a child who became a criminal because it had read a book. Fortunately we have no cause as yet to retract that statement, but Dr. Wertham's recent publication has led us to examine a few crime comics, and certainly they are very nasty stuff. A child who fed upon such reading would acquire some ugly ideas from it, and a very ugly and undesirable attitude toward life. We do not refer, of course, to the comic books which deal with the adventures of rabbits and ducks, but to those which deal with crime, love and scientific fantasy.

* * *

It is the thinking behind these books which is dangerous, and its effect on a child's mind could never be good. Every story in those we have read deals with some kind of violence—not adventure, but violence of the most brutal kind. These are not stories in which the 'good guys' pursue and defeat the 'bad guys', but stories in which power is exalted above right; there is no one in these tales whom a child might fittingly admire, and this is what distinguishes them from the lurid adventure stories which children love, and which we have all enjoyed at some time. The books explain, in considerable detail, how crimes are committed, and the idea of 'the perfect crime' is held up as something to admire. Policemen and law-abiding people are made to look like fools, and power-crazy killers and sadists are made to look clever, and thus admirable.

* * *

In books which are written with some kind of artistic intention, evil is often presented with great force and persuasiveness; but such books are not read by children. The comic books cannot lay any claim to the latitude extended to works of art; they are not books in any true sense, and they are not comic, but to a child they present raw sensation, which is always attractive. And that sensation is of a very low kind.

* * *

Apart from crime, they deal in horrors—such as the tale of a Siamese twin who kills his attached brother, and then drags the skeleton around with him. They present scenes of pain and torture, not occasionally but repeatedly. They also deal in sex, presenting it in a light which is certainly unsuited to the minds of children; women are shown either as cruel temptresses, or as victims who are punched, slapped, beaten and ill-used. Love among boys and girls in their 'teens is treated with an intensity which few parents would appreciate.

* * *

Do children like these books? Yes, most of them do, and some children are enchanted by them, for they present an endless succession of violent, fascinating scenes of action; they feed the fantasy-life which all children lead to a great extent. But what do they feed the young mind? Isn't it time that parents made it their business to find out? We possess public libraries which can provide children with all the stories of adventure and fantasy that they can possibly read—stories which are, at best, on a very high level, and at worst, harmless. We employ librarians who will help children to find just what they want, but who will not find books for them which encourage admiration for naked crime and vice. Do we want our children to get the best from the advantages which we provide for them (for we all support the libraries) or do we want them to be debauched by publishers who think that it is all right to show children a man cutting a woman's head off with an axe? For comic books are a debauchery of impressionable minds.

Let The Shoemaker Stick To His Last

An expert has just put our typewriter into good condition, and as the expert removes our storm windows, we sit down to protest against a campaign which we observe in two or three newspapers to urge the ordinary householder to do his own odd jobs. We are on the side of the experts, every time. It is useless to tell us that we can paint our house as well as a painter, that we can re-roof it on Saturday afternoons, and that the laying of a new sidewalk will be fun for us in our spare time. We have been through the Odd-Job phase of human development and we have now, thank Heaven, passed out of it.

No doubt there are men who can turn their hands to all sorts of useful domestic tasks. They are good Saturday carpenters and paper-hangers. Tinsmithing presents no problem to them. Putting up a new wire fence is, for them, the work of a couple of hours. But we are not of this gifted minority. We belong, in common with most men, to the group which can do one job well enough to make a living, and we must rely on experts for anything which lies outside our very narrow field. If we want a hook put on the back of a door, we call a general contractor, who sends a man to do it. When the tap in the kitchen needs a new washer, we get in touch with a waterworks engineer, and he sends a man with a blueprint. It all costs money, and though we haven't much money, we have more money than skill in these mysteries. We declare without shame that we are a fool—even a dangerous lunatic—in all matters of household repair, and we would no more attempt to put on our own screens than we would attempt to make a suit of clothes, or remove our own gall-bladder.

This is pitiable weakness, of course. Our pioneer ancestors did everything for themselves. And when we look at their pictures, we see in their faces the bitterness of men who have spent countless hours doing jobs that they did not do well, and listening to their wives complain about it.

This is an age of experts. Our pencil is dull. We shall phone at once for the lumber company to send a man with an adze and a piece of sandpaper. It will save time in the long run.

More Than One Kind Of Snobbery

Dr. Sidney Smith, President of the University of Toronto, has come out strongly in favour of special education for specially gifted children. And, as always happens when a man comes out strongly in favour of anything, he has met with some opposition. We are interested to see how many newspapers have opposed Dr. Smith's proposal on the ground that is might create intellectual snobbery.

Now intellectual snobbery is an unpleasant thing, and we would not like to see too much of it in Canadian life, but we think that a touch of it might be valuable, as a means of offsetting some other kinds of snobbery which are altogether too common. At present we suffer in this country from what might be called the Snobbery of Mediocrity—a tendency to glory in being ordinary. This may be seen at work in our schools, where a boy or girl who does well in class is quite likely to be labelled as A Brain, and scoffed at by others. Apparently it is a very dreadful thing to be A Brain; it sets a student apart, and makes him rather unpopular. He is suspected of being in league with the teachers against his fellow-students. Some Brains do their utmost to hide their intelligence, because they dread its social consequences.

This is sheer snobbery — anti-intellectual snobbery. Yet in adult life nobody finds the possession of intelligence a handicap. The world is always on the lookout for people who do things, or make plans, better than other people. Is there not something queer, and a little frightening, about an atmosphere in which intelligence is scorned?

Intellectual snobbery is unpleasant and can be dangerous. But it can never equal the danger of anti-intellectual snobbery—the exaltation of mediocrity, the craving for insignificance. Perhaps Dr. Smith is right; perhaps it is time the pendulum swung the other way.

Honour For Pete McGillen

The many Peterborough friends of Pete McGillen will rejoice in the honour that the West Toronto Civitan Club has done him, by choosing him as their Citizen of the Year. The Examiner rejoices with them, for Pete is a friend of this paper of long standing, and was for several years its City Editor.

His award is for the good work that he has done to call the attention of the public to the necessity for conservation, by means of his articles in the Toronto Telegram. Such a campaign is a true public service, of incalculable benefit.

New Music In Rome

By WAYLAND YOUNG

IMAGINE a music festival in 1854 at which works of more than fifty composers were played, all written since 1813—most of them since 1845. How excessively boring it would have been, and 1754 would have been even worse. But the ten-day Festival of Twentieth Century Music which ended in Rome on April 15 was rarely boring at all. Whatever else may be wrong with the age of bombs and dictators it is not the arts. Of course there were bad and even painful moments—quite a lot of infant corpses were dug up from their new little graves, coldly applauded and buried again—but they were out-numbered by the interesting works and dwarfed by the few excellent ones.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE FESTIVAL was paid for mainly by the Congress for Cultural Freedom and thus by the Cincinnati whisky and yeast millionaire, Julius Fleischmann. The organiser, Nicolas Nabokov, a White Russian composer, rather a traditionalist and a very diplomatic man, invited most of the famous composers and critics of the world at the Congress's expense, and a great many, including Stravinsky himself, came. He also asked Russian and satellite composers, who did not come. Nor was their music played: Mr. Nabokov and his supporting committee did not think their orchestral and choral works were good enough, and Mr. Nabokov says they could not get scores of the more interesting chamber works even from East Berlin.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE festival was divided into three parts. There was a series of debates on the different aspects of the only thing artists can debate about—namely, the nature of art. They were the least interesting part, because you cannot expect strangers of four nationalities to have any real talk before a microphone. One speaker in four had something to say; a series of lectures from those speakers would have been more profitable. Then there was a competition of works which were commissioned from twelve composers, not necessarily young, who were known in their own countries but not outside. The works were played anonymously (though, in fact, everyone knew whom they were by) and an elected jury awarded a prize.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE PRIZE went to a forty-four-year-old Italian, Mario Peragallo, for his violin concerto, a lucid, satisfying middle-of-the-road work. The other competition works varied from the respectable to the crackpot, the latter including a setting to words from Sartre's "La Nausee," which only just succeeded in nauseating, and a work supposed to be sung by a being in a higher stage of development looking back at the follies of twentieth-century man. This being was personally conducted by the composer while the orchestra was conducted by an ordinary conductor.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE THIRD and most interesting part consisted of concerts of works by more famous composers. In these, national divisions showed up very clearly. The Italians—with the honourable exception of Peragalio—were divided between those loyal to the old Verdi-Casella tradition (works by Ghedini and Rieti, sunny, happy and reactionary in a debonair way) and those who are belatedly struggling with the Teutonic asperities of the twelve-note system. There was a neon glitter from Germany and Austria with Blacher and von Einem; a short opera "Boulevard Solitude," by a young German named Henze was badly booed; and the Rome Opera House distinguished itself by throwing out Stravinsky because he wasn't wearing a dinner jacket.

✧ ✧ ✧

SATIE'S grave and lovely "Socrates," in which he set words from Alcibiades's speech, in a symposium for soprano solo, dominated the other French pieces with the exception of Poulenc's "Litany of the Black Virgin," an a capella work of admirable polish and ardency. This and Pizetti's "Three Choral Compositions" were sung by the very remarkable choir of the Rome Radio under the direction, or perhaps one should say choreophany, of Nino Antonellini, and the close-knit religious sincerity of both came across very strongly.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE VOICE had it: song cycles by Prokoviev, Britten and Barber were all true songs, a spontaneous combustion of music round the words. The last, Barber's "Hermit Songs," brought the house down. They were sung by that very great soprano, the negress Leontyne Price, who can fill the hall with her voice or lay it privately in your lap as she likes.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT the biggest of the new works, and in the last resort the most impressive, was the Fifth Symphony (for string orchestra) by the Mexican Chavez. He is an Aztec in Viennese-Parisian clothes whose work showed a sort of bloodthirsty vigour under its intellectual solidity. That, a power of continuity, technical dexterity, sensuous beauty and an occasional practical joke necessary to relieve tension (for instance, plainsong round middle E for double bass solo), all seemed to put him right away up with the giants of the century, Stravinsky and Hindemith. Finally, Stravinsky conducted a whole evening of his own work which put everything in proportion.

Unconsidered Trifles

An anonymous taxpayer sent a letter to the Comptroller's office saying he had cheated on his income tax ten years ago and had not been able to get a good night's sleep since. He enclosed $25, and added "If I still can't sleep, I will send the balance."

An agricultural expert received an inquiry from an amateur poultry-keeper, who asked: "How long should a fowl be allowed to sit on its eggs?"

The expert replied: "Three weeks for chickens; four weeks for ducks."

A month went by, and the poultry-keeper sent another letter: "I let the hen sit on the eggs for three weeks," he said, "and no chickens came. I didn't want ducks, so I took her off the nest and sold the eggs."

Donovon quarrelled with his wife and walked out of the house. He did not return for twelve years, when he did, walked in quite calmly as though nothing unusual had happened.

"And where might you have been?" his wife demanded.

"Out!" came the reply.

Letters To The Editor

UPPER CANADA BIBLE SOCIETY

SIR: I would like to take this opportunity of thanking you for that splendid editorial in The Examiner, Thursday, April 15th, calling attention to the 150th anniversary of the British Foreign Bible Society. The Upper Canada Bible Society is directly connected with the parent-body whose task it is to translate, print and distribute Bibles, whole or in part, without comment, to all churches and people of whatever race, creed or colour in any part of the world, considerably below cost. But for the work of the Bible society, our churches would be most seriously handicapped.

The annual meeting of the society takes place this coming Sunday, April 25th, in the YMCA at 3 p.m. A meeting of a very special nature in the Brock Arena, Sunday, May 16th, 8:30 p.m.

Sincerely yours,
CHARLES E. COLEMAN,
President of the Peterborough Branch.

REBUKES 'NOSRET' AND 'RESPECTABLE'

SIR: When Edward III was dancing with the Countess of Salisbury at a court ball, he turned an embarrassing moment into a tradition of honour. Her ladyship was so intent upon her dancing that she was unaware that her garter had dropped to the floor.

The courtiers and their ladies had perceived it, and began to laugh and snicker, much to the Countess' confusion.

His Majesty was equal to the occasion, and bent down, retrieved the garter, tied it about his own leg, and remarked: "Honi soit qui mal y pense" — "Evil be to him that evil thinks."

Perhaps "Nosret Sam" and "Respectable" would do well to remember this little episode from my country's history and take heed.

Yours truly,
GERALD TULLY.

DENIES UNION COERCION

SIR: The Stewards Council of Local 524 UE instructed me to ask for space in your paper to answer the false charges of Union coercion made in a letter to your paper April 21, 1954, by some person who obviously could not sign his name to such charges against Peterborough citizens.

First of all, it should be made clear that our Local has an elected executive board of 22 members, our Stewards' Council has one hundred elected Stewards, all of whom are Peterborough citizens — CGE workers in the Peterborough Works. Therefore, any charges made by the unsigned signed-off member are made directly against a fellow CGE worker.

The letters that were sent to the non-members were signed by Mr. George Wallace, who has worked at the CGE plant for 27 years, and who did not hesitate to sign his name to the letters just as we sign any statements we make in our union affairs.

The people who visited the non-members at their home were CGE workers who did not hesitate to give their names, and who wish to state to Mr. Unsigned letterwriter and non-unionist and to the public — they did not coerce, cajole, buttonhole or annoy any non-union member.

One aspect of the letter is Mr. Unsigned's public report to the company that his fellow CGE workers are signing up members in the washroom at the plant. To any person who has even the slightest ideas on the building of the trade union movement, they will readily agree that CGE workers are not the first to sign fellow workers into a union in a washroom.

The great bulk of CGE workers commend those of the stewards and officers, who have worked hard to get as many as possible to join the union and pay their share in union dues.

We have in the past carried on an educational campaign pointing out to the workers the necessity of their being in the union. We are proud of the work we have done in this regard, and have every intention of continuing such work in the future.

W. A. WALLACE,
Secretary — Steward's Council,
LOCAL 524, UE.

NOTHING TO BE ASHAMED OF

SIR: Hey ho, another Victorian prude in our midst, first "Nosret Sam"; now "Respectable". I wonder why it is that these gentlemen who are so concerned about our morals are so ashamed to acknowledge their ideals by name?

I think it time civilisation tried to educate these unfortunate people. What is their trouble, have they never seen the human form before? Are they ashamed of the wonderful machine that their body is? If so, I'm sorry for them.

Thankfully, I and millions of others, have brains sufficiently developed to realise that the human body is the most perfect organisation of forces and material in the known universe. Not at all a thing to be ashamed about.

If a few of these false "Do Goodies" channeled some of their misguided energies to spreading reason and education the world would be in a much better state.

Considering the way it's been held back by "Respectables," it's not doing so bad.

Yours,
R. MARTIN

Pedestrians Should Worry!

(Le Soleil, Quebec)

Accident prevention on highways and streets is manifestly not a "one-way" street, so to speak. In other words, it is not entirely the motorists' business: pedestrians should co-operate in it. The provincial Safety League in an effort to popularize the motto "Be courteous at the wheel" are insisting that people on foot make the task of the drivers easier. In the cities will be noticed the numbers of pedestrians who pay very little attention to traffic rules which they should observe just as much as drivers should . . . In these conditions it is very hard for the driver to show courtesy. And if an accident happens it is always the driver who is blamed. With a little more civic spirit on both sides all that could be avoided.

How Time Flies

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The Lord shall judge the people: judge me, O Lord, according to my righteousness, and according to mine integrity that is in me. (Ps. 7:8.)

✧ ✧ ✧

I the Lord search the heart, I try the reins, even to give every man according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings. (Jer. 17:10.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Wherefore my beloved, as ye have always obeyed, not in my presence only, but now much more in my absence, work out your salvation with fear and trembling. (Phil. 2:12.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you, who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time. Wherein ye greatly rejoice, though now for a season, if need be, ye are in heaviness through manifold temptations: that the trial of your faith, being much more precious than of gold that perisheth, though it be tried with fire, might be found unto praise and honor and glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ. (I Pet. 1:3-7.)

Churchill Story

(Brantford Expositor)

For those who like Churchill anecdotes, a Brantford man, J. W. Young, of 48 Richardson Street, has one. When he was in England in 1918, the Dean of Durham told him this story: "When I was in Pretoria some years ago, Winston Churchill introduced me to General Botha. For the sake of saying something, I said, 'Winston Churchill was a pupil of mine at Harrow.' 'Indeed,' replied the general, 'I think I taught him something, too!'" Churchill, of course, was taken prisoner by the Boers commanded by Botha in the South African War — and, of course, Churchill escaped.

Rugged Corvettes

(Windsor Star)

The old weapons are giving way to the new and not just in the field of atomic energy. The Hurricanes, Spitfires and the Lancasters have been replaced by jet fighters and bombers. Now we have the word that of the 122 corvettes in the Royal Canadian Navy at its peak of World War II only one now remains in Canadian use — as a hydrographic survey ship.

That new and faster defensive ships have been evolved is no aspersion on the sturdy corvettes. Modern submarines require faster pursuit vessels.

The Canadian corvettes, however, always will have a proud place in the history of the Royal Canadian Navy. They, and the men who manned them, were largely responsible for keeping the North Atlantic open to World War II convoys. And, had they not succeeded in this, the war would have taken a dreadful turn.

What the Royal Canadian Navy accomplished in World War II was something of a miracle. Built from almost nothing, it became an effective, even decisive force. And the miracle was not just the ships, but in the manner in which young Canadians, from all parts of the country, so quickly and successfully adjusted themselves to seafaring ways. Lads from the Prairies who never had seen more water than that in a big slough or a modest river rode the rough Atlantic waves in their rugged craft, along with the men from the Pacific and Atlantic shores.

A BRITISH OPINION

ON STAGE (OF 8 FEET), PETERBOROUGH PUPPETS!

The hands pull string and the marionette dances

"Five minutes, everyone! Five minutes."

Everyone scurried about, some before the stage, some behind. The lights were tested. Scenery was moved about and into place. And the marionettes (or as their owners call them, puppets) bounced about on strings hanging from retaining racks seemingly eager to begin rehearsal for the Peterborough Puppets' presentation of the Frog Prince on May 14.

About the small room there was just as much confusion as minutes before opening night at a Summer Theatre production.

Amid this confusion one stood slightly amazed, marvelling at the Peterborough group's work, the stage, the curtains and the 20-odd brightly-costumed puppets.

Why be amazed? Why marvel? Well, this small group started from a handful of puppet enthusiasists only a year ago and are now ready to present a major production, comparable to a marionette show in the Old Country.

CLUB FORMED

A few puppet enthusiasts about the public library and Anna Edmondson, who had taken a Department of Education course in puppetry, undertook to form the "Peterborough Puppets" a year ago. With help from George Merten, Community Programs branch, and the recreation commission, the group is gradually growing in accomplishment and numbers.

From the enthusiasm and interest about the stage, the making of puppets and the preparation of such a play as the Frog Prince are just as much fun as watching the puppets in action.

Mrs. Jean Henderson, southend librarian and puppet enthusiast, pointed out that to make puppets and present a puppet play, require many crafts and arts; for instance carpentry, modelling, painting, designing, sewing and stage setting.

The carving, dressing an animation of a puppet call for diverse skills. Legs and arms are modelled usually of pine. This takes many hours of careful carving. The puppet's clothes require the individual to be a designer and tailor.

The heads, of plastic wood, demand patience, imagination and a light touch. They are first worked in plasticine, until the desired expression and character are developed, and then placed in a cast of plaster paris. This makes a mould for the plastic wood, from which the actual head used on the puppet is made.

Mrs. Jean Henderson and Miss Lyn Littlefield adjust some of group's 26 puppets

More patience is required to string the puppet, for from the hand control to the puppet are usually some 10 strings. These are used to work the head, body, arms and legs. On about half the group's puppets, there are additional strings to make the puppet "talk".

Each puppet, the sailor, king, queen, skeleton, ballet dancer, clown and so on is about 24 inches high. They are dressed in bright clothing and look almost as real as life, life in miniature.

Outstanding among the puppets are two darkies, made by Mrs. Henderson. These work off a double control, requiring some 18 strings to manipulate. Then there's Ann Edmondson's trapese act and of course, a frog, designed for the play.

The stage is a miniature, similar to PCVS' in appearance, but measuring about eight feet complete with curtains, wings, and special lighting. The similarity to PCVS stage is underlined by the puppets' stage curtains, these are made from the old curtains from PCVS.

Hinged together to make it portable, the stage was built by Conrad Hill, Art Legon and Peter Tuck.

The group's Frog Prince as well ments will be to gramophone reas two other scenes, a shoe shine boy and show boat, are designed especially for children, but the marionetet show will delight, and amuse adults also. All the movecords. The voices dubbed in will be those of actors from the Peterborough Community Theatre.

Gradually puppets and people gathered behind the curtains leaving only a few puppets still hanging from the storage rack. All was ready for the rehearsal. A voice called:

"On stage! On stage!"

This reporter decided to wait for May 14, when he could see the show complete in all its glory.

Why Does An Alcoholic Drink, Hating It? Wherein Is The Threat of Alcoholism?

(The second in a series of five articles on the nature and problem of alcoholism).

By AN ALCOHOLIC

ARTICLE II

At the outset of this article, it should be made clear that we are not dealing with drunkenness, temperance, prohibition or any of the moral or political aspects of alcohol. We are solely interested in those phases of drinking which signify the threat of alcoholism. We need to know what compulsive drinking is, for it is the compulsion to drink which denotes the disease of alcoholism.

People drink for a number of interesting reasons. They want to be polite, sociable, have a good time, quench thirst, pep up the appetite, promote a feeling of self-importance, or possibly seek companionship frequently found in drinking atmospheres. These and many other reasons, too numerous to mention, may or may not be the real motives behind one's drinking. However, none of these mentioned herein aptly fit the purpose of the alcoholic's drinking, though he may provide any one of the foregoing excuses, and then some, if asked directly why he drinks.

FINDS HE MUST DRINK

The alcoholic drinks because he must if he is to find living bearable. He is irresistibly driven to drink even though he may hate the taste of liquor, despise the results of his drinking, and himself for drinking. Some inner disorder literally causes him to surrender reason to the madness of alcoholic indulgence. His drinking is the symptom of an underlying illness. The disordered thinking, impulsiveness and pent-up emotional fury of the alcoholic find explosive outlet in the form of uncontrolled drinking.

The late Dr. Abraham Myerson of Boston pointed out that one should be mindful of a possible drinking problem if he or she experiences one of the following motives for drinking: 1. Enjoying a party or social gathering only when liquor is available; 2. Longing for the time of day when one can drink; 3. Considering alcohol necessary to relaxation or enjoyment; 4. Turning automatically to alcohol each day to overcome anxiety, disgust, fatigue or frustration; 5. Having a drinking objective which is something different than the drink itself—using alcohol to acquire a state of mind which one cannot attain through normal means—without alcohol.

TYPES OF DRINKERS

There are various types of drinkers and the alcoholic may have passed through the respective classifications slowly or rapidly, or may have gapped some of them to become alcoholic without progressive formality. The moderate drinker is one who uses a small amount of alcohol from time to time for taste and mild effect. He can stop drinking at any time without any feeling of loss or denial. He is not dependent on alcohol. The habitual social drinker indulges practically every day for relaxation and kick, but not sufficiently to injure his health or seriously interfere with the conduct of his daily routine and personal affairs. Over a period of time, he might increase his drinking in order to get the desired effect once produced with less alcohol. The excessive drinker can usually get along without alcohol if he so desires. However, he ordinarily drinks frequently and in large quantities because he wants to and not because he must. He runs the risk of dulling his personality assets in time and producing troublesome situations which might invite or demand escape through alcohol. The alcohol addict is a person who cannot keep up his interest in life without the use of alcohol. He cannot accept the responsibilities or failures in life without recourse to alcohol. Such a drinker cannot give up drinking voluntarily even when he realizes that it is harming himself and others. Alcohol is a "must" with this person.

Chronic alcoholics are those who have developed bodily and/or mental disorders as a result of prolonged heavy drinking, or who had them prior to taking their first drink and aggravated them through excessive drinking. A large number of alcoholics show a history of 1 to 15 years of relatively controlled drinking before developing the compulsive, uncontrolled phase.

There are two types of chronic alcoholics who are classified as primary and secondary compulsive drinkers. The primary type is one who was maladjusted before he ever commenced to use alcohol. His emotional development from childhood was faulty. Though adult in mind and body, he remains an infant emotionally. He develops a sense of inadequacy, inefficienty, unworthiness and anxiety. Such a person finds it extremely difficult to comply with the demands made upon him by society and alcohol looms as a way out. However, once the alcohol is removed, his neurotic condition still remains and his painful feelings made more painful. When sber, feelings of guilt and remorse plague this person until he is driven to the use of more and more alcohol to escape his mounting difficulties—all to no avail, of course. Thus, a vicious circle is set up and the victim caught in a storm of confusion and despair.

FAIRLY WELL ADJUSTED

The secondary compulsive drinker appears originally as a fairly well adjusted person. He may be an extrovert, centering his interests in other people, things and activities as opposed to the primary type who, as an introvert, is a selfish, self-centred individual. The secondary type would not be labeled a neurotic at the outset of his drinking controlled drinking over an indefinite period, a situation or crisis might suddenly arise which he would attempt to solve or escape through alcohol. Up to this point, his use of alcohol has been for the drink itself—not for the exclusive relief of anxiety or tension. Hence, his drinking undergoes a serious change. As later difficulties dawn, this person would be in extreme danger of resorting to alcohol as an escape medium and eventually bring on the inevitable family, occupation, financial and social troubles usually resulting from overindulgence.

Again, we see the vicious circle setting in for the secondary type. He would display all the maladjustments which the primary type had before he started to drink. In the last analysis, both types look and act alike in the throes of alcoholism, though basically they are different.

Dr. Edward Strecker has indicated that an overindulgent mother frequently plays a vital role on potential alcoholics. He feels that overindulgence in childhood sows the seeds of maladjust-

A recent visit to Gratfon, east of Cobourg, resulted in some old records being unearthed for our inspection. Fishermen know of the fame of smelt fishing at the Lake Ontario mouth of Shelter Valley Creek that has all but finished for another season and of the Rainbow Trout lurking in its pools north of Highway 2.

In 1878, our information tells us, freshwater salmon almost clogged the mouth of the creek. There one of the first egg-stripping programs was carried out. A Mr. Gilchrist of Port Hope was in charge of the operation and had two men "on guard". It didn't last long, apparently, because of heavy poaching and because the large surrounding forests having been cut over, topsoil silted the creek heavily.

The fishing plug chain letter that we got ourselves involved in a couple of weeks ago is starting to pay dividends though we despair of ever attaining the promised total of 36 new plugs. One plug received from a mortician friend of ours had, in addition, an embalmed crawfish; a note explained that it was the niftiest bait of any kind, for him. Sorry we shall never have a chance to prove it since some contemporary used said crawfish to scare members of our female staff. It is now a wreck.

To gadget-heavy fishermen we recommend one tool they will find useful for a number of chores, Sargent and Company's SPORTMATE; rigs your camping equipment; fixes rods, guns, motors; makes wire leaders and repairs lures and flies. Also removes the tops from pop bottles and, at a pinch, trims hangnails. OUCH!

Now that you soon will be preparing some food over carefully-controlled campfires, here is a little item from our Kamplore Kookbook,—if you are one of those who like bread fried in bacon dripping. Before you hit the trail add a good quantity of sugar to hot bacon grease, cool the stuff in glass jar and take it along, re-heat over the campfire and dunk bread slices in it. No objection to this concoction if fresh Brook Trout are fried in it first.

Just back from the Cleveland Sportsmen's Show, Bill Rooney reports that the Kawarthas were lightly represented there this spring by two booths, from Fenelon Falls and Hastings.

Attendants told Bill they were swamped with queries from Ohioans who were trying to get the information straight on the rights for children to fish for free since the government abandoned the family fishing license: they are befuddled and bewildered.

♣ ♣ ♣ ♣

Lots of fried pickerel on family tables these days, we hear, now that fish are running in rapids and canal control dams. Lawbreakers don't seem to be making any bones about taking them, talking about their prowess and walking them home along the main streets after dark. Conservation preaching to such characters falls on deaf ears.

♣ ♣ ♣ ♣

Geese and ducks have been rafting in thousands on Rice Lake ever since the ice went our nearly two weeks ago. And the other night the first string of honkers went over our house at dusk at exactly 7:26 p.m. We all rushed out to see the forerunners of the great goose migration that will follow within the next few days, for with many lakes open well into the North Country, we know they will not return this way again, until fall.

♣ ♣ ♣ ♣

Miniature made-in-Peterborough paddles are leaving the Canoe Factory in hundreds these days to do their goodwill work for our fair city.

Listening in on a telephone conversation we learned that a large insurance company wanted 700 paddles pronto so that their delegates could distribute them at a great international convention in New York City today.

Three hundred more paddles are to be broken out from the Ontario Recreation Association convention being held in Peterborough next Friday.

Would that we all had the same spring and drive to shout about the Kawarthas from our rooftops that the small paddle emblems infer.

Fine weather and open water brings summer cottaging within our grasp once again, as soon as the sideroads have dried up. Many will think about buying some Crown Land for building and these folks should be advised of the basic costs.

First off, cottage sites are available in the Lindsay district in Haliburton and the northern portion of Peterborough Counties. There is nothing left in the main Kawartha chain, department custodians advise.

The charges for Crown Land are: 60 cents per foot for frontage; a flat fee of $125 for surveying; a building worth at least $1,000 to be erected on the site 18 months after the completion of survey. After all this has been attended to Letters of Patent on your land will be issued.

And then your real expenses begin.

A pair of lunge nosed into the shallows of the Big Marsh early this week. They did not disturb the noisy Red-winged blackbirds that prospected for nesting sites in the reeds, nor the swarms of swallows that flitted constantly over the water. Terns, that take over whole areas of the Marsh for nesting purposes, are still winging north from Florida but a pair of loons have staked out a section of the Lake for their own.

To warn of an approaching storm—and it followed the next day—the loons gave out with wierd yodelling calls and quavering laughter. And the frog chorus stepped up its beeping chorus. These bird and frog sounds are almost deafening after the calm of dead winter.

With teen-age females already tanning in halters and shorts, do you think a fellow could safely take off his long underwear? Or should we go by tradition and wait till May 24th?

Howard Of Leafs Becoming Strong Catcher

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Big Elston Howard of the Toronto Maple Leafs is starting out to be one of the top catchers in the International League this year.

Howard, property of the New York Yankees, proved he had power Friday night by blasting out a home run, a triple and a double as the Leafs handed the Havana Cuban Sugar Kings their first league defeat in the second game of a doubleheader, 5-2. The Sugar Kings won the first game 5-3 in seven innings.

Richmond Virginians nipped the Rochester Red Wings 6-5 for their first victory of the season. Buffalo Bisons also won their first game by defeating Ottawa Athletics 7-3. The Montreal-Syracuse game was rained out.

Howard drilled a tremendous 400-foot home run in the second inning with nobody on and a 375-foot triple in the sixth that drove in another run.

FIRST IN FOUR

Jack Crimian hurled five innings in relief to gain the first victory for the Leafs in the four-game series with Havana.

The Cubans scored five runs in the first inning of the first game with Patapo Pascual getting credit for the victory.

Richmond hammered across five runs in the fifth, chasing Rochester's veteran Al Papai.

Veteran Ron Northey homered and drove in three runs in the Bison victory. Paul Foytack, who started off slowly, gave up 12 hits, walked five but struck out eight.

NAMES SOCCER PLAYERS

LONDON (Reuters)—The English Football Association has named 31 players for a four-match continental tour next month and added a further nine to the list to make a total of 40 possibles from whom the 22 to go to Switzerland in June for the World Cup will be chosen.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Yesterday, the NHL all-star teams were named. First team had Lumley in goal, Kelly and Harvey on defence, Mosdell at centre, Howe and Lindsay on the wings. Three Detroiters, two Canadiens and one Leaf. Glad to see Lumley made it. Second team had Sawchuk, Gadsby, Horton, Kennedy, Richard and Sandford. Debut for three on all-star squads, Ted Kennedy, Ed Sandford and Tim Horton. Four players repeated on the first team from a year ago, Harvey, Kelly, Howe and Lindsay, the latter making it five straight years, Kelly and Howe four, and Harvey three. Each player on this first team picks up an extra $1,000 from the league, while those making the second squad get $500 apiece. Scribes and sportscasters in the NHL cities did the choosing.

Andy O'Brien, who writes in our Weekend Edition, had a piece the other day on Sprague Cleghorn, oldtime Canadiens' star and probably the toughest of 'em all in NHL history. Sprague told Andy: "Not only did I never miss a game in my life, but I never failed to go into the other dressing room after a playoff series and shake hands." Once at Victoria he shoved into a crowded room and grabbed the hand of Gord Fraser, who shook hands warmly and apologized: "Sorry I can't make you out; that blankety-blank Cleghorn just knocked both my eyes out of commission out there." Sprague said some of the Canadiens should have shaken hands with Miss Marge Norris. When Andy said the overtime goal was quickly by an avalanche of supporters out on the ice, Cleghorn exploded: "They've been blasting their way through tough hockey teams since October; why couldn't they get through a crowd of ordinary folks."

* * * * * *

Ace Was on the Deck

O'Brien adds one more Cleghorn story. The first time Irvin (Ace) Bailey came to Boston with Toronto Leafs, he was a rugged young player, just up from Peterborough, and only too eager for excitement. "Where," he asked, "is that guy Sprague Cleghorn?" The latter then was playing for Bruins. "Early in the game," says Sprague, "I got into a slight argument with Doc Carson—only words, mind you. Bailey came roaring in and I let him have it. Down went Bailey. Bert Corbeau of the Leafs leaned over and said: "Kid, you were looking for Sprague—well, you just met him!"

Speaking of knockdown punches, there'll be some seen no doubt at the Brock Arena on Monday night. It'll be the scene of an eight-bout amateur boxing card. Tony Brando of Toronto tackles Bill Twomey of the Alpha Club in the main event, as Toronto's Ray Bloom meets Em Crough in the semi-windup, these being five-rounders. Rest go three. Tim Tymlianer of Toronto takes on Bill Cridland from here, and Johnny Roe of the subway city mixes with John Angers of Peterborough. Other prelims have Gord Smith vs. Tom Birch, Mac McIlmoyle vs. Caspar Welchorek, Billy Logan vs. Pete Howe, and Bill Smith vs. Battling Crough. Two top scraps, by the way, feature welterweights, indicating fast action.

Two Referees Needed

In regard to the Brock Arena ring, only this time the wrestling ring, a tag team mat bout will headline the card there next Wednesday e'en. A rematch of last week's stormy bout between Ernie and Emil Dusek on the one hand, and Ilio DiPaolo and Ray Villmer on the other. But this time they'll have two referees in to watch the villainous Duseks, one of the officials being a wrestler himself. This way, some sort of order may be kept when the riotous brethren strut their illegal stuff. Pat Flanagan returns to action here against Lee Henning in the semi-final, whilst the prelim pits newcomer Johnny Rougeau again Alan Garfield.

Ben Swartz, Curly Alberico and Joe Lowery took in a senior ball meeting in Toronto last eve and returned in optimistic frame of mind, feeling that chances were good of the Petes joining the Viaduct League this season. Along with Belleville, Oshawa Transporters, Oakville and two Toronto teams, Hoskings and Dependable Cleaners. The Petes were given a sympathetic hearing as was Belleville—since the COBL folded — and the delegates were told it was likely that problems could be worked out satisfactorily to include them in a six-team setup. It will be decided definitely at a Monday night meeting in Oshawa. Failing the COBL, this is the only chance the Petes have to play ball this semester, and local officials are leaving no stones unturned.

TUNBRIDGE WELLS, Eng (CP) Four-year-old Nicholas Job placed fifth in his first golf match Thursday—a nine-hole event for younsters under 15 years. He took 76 shots over the course. With an 18 handicap, he holes out in 58.

Prospects Bright For The Petes In Viaduct League

Chances appear bright of the Petes being accepted into the Toronto Viaduct Baseball League this season following a meeting in Toronto last night as which Curly Alberico, Ben Swartz and Joe Lowrey represented the Peterborough Senior Baseball Club. Belleville also expects to be part of this circuit, opening play next month. Likely a definite decision will be made when all clubs and league officials hold a meeting Monday evening in Oshawa.

Originally billed as a six-team circuit, embracing four Toronto clubs, Oshawa Transporters and Oakville, indications following last night's meeting were that the Viaduct League this season might consist of two Toronto entries, Oakville, Oshawa, Belleville and the Petes.

LOOP INTERESTED

League president Harold Barnes was quite interested in the Peterborough and Belleville applications for entry and indicated that they would probably be accepted at the next meeting. He pointed out that two of the proposed four Toronto teams were hardly of senior calibre and asked the executive to consider fielding just two Toronto clubs, making more Toronto players available for these two squads, and taking in the four outside teams: Oakville, Oshawa, Belleville and Peterborough. This proposal seemed to meet with general approval, although Oakville was not represented at the meeting. The two Toronto teams definitely entered are Hosking's and Dependable Cleaners.

The Toronto teams were agreeable to the further trips on the agreement that one team would make a Saturday trip to play two games in two cities, that is the team would play perhaps an afternoon game in Peterborough and go on to Belleville for a night game, this Toronto team then not being called upon to play at home the following Sunday. The Viaduct League stages Sunday double-headers in Millen Stadium.

10 PERCENT POOL

League officials and the teams also agreed to the Peterborough suggestion that 10 per cent of all gates be set aside in a league pool to be divided among the teams at the end of the season when all obligations had been met.

The previous meeting of the Viaduct League in Toronto had ruled that teams would be fined $25 for the first late start, $50 for the second late start, and with league action being taken against a club on the third offence.

Also at this meeting, the official umpire-in-chief and the official scorer were named, as well as the league executive and officers.

Further details, such as type of schedule, playoffs, opening dates, etc., were left over until the Monday meeting in Oshawa when it will be known definitely what teams will comprise the Viaduct League.

Guelph Basketballers Win First Of Series

SUDBURY (CP)—Guelph's Heffernan "Y" cagers Friday night won the first game of their two-game, total-point basketball series with Sudbury International Hotel 82-68.

The series, for the all-Ontario intermediate B basketball championship, will conclude here tonight.

Sparked by one of the "shorties" on their club, little Jack Donald, the Heffernans led 36-28 at the half and had little further trouble.

Donald potted 32 and Don (Spider) McCrae, point-leader through the season with the Guelph team, canned 21 points to pace the southern invaders.

Ray Puro with 18 points, Al McQuarrie with 17 and Jack Duyvestyn with 16 were the big guns for the Nats.

3-Way Clique Alleged In NHL Teams

MONTREAL (CP) — Managing director Frank Selke of Montreal Canadiens in a statement Friday said there "appears to be a three-way clique" among National Hockey League teams.

Selke's statement followed his return from an NHL meeting in New York where the new draft and supplementary legislation were approved.

Selke said he felt "we were moving a bit too rapidly" regarding a clause dealing with over-age juniors and players who had signed A and B forms. Because of the extent of Canadiens' "hockey empire and junior affiliations," he asked that action on the clause be deferred one year.

"Boston supported this stand but the opposition, led by Conn Smythe (president and managing director of Toronto Maple Leafs) and Clarence Campbell, (NHL president) was too strong for us, voting us down 4-2."

SAYS THINKS MISTAKE

Saying Canadiens still think a mistake was made but will respect the wishes of the majority and carry on, Selke's statement added:

"It seemed that where previously the league teams were strictly on their own, there now appears to be a three-way clique. One delegate suggested that Detroit would eventually line up with Chicago, Toronto would mother the (New York) Rangers, leaving Boston and Canadiens to go their own way or work out a 'bonne entente.' "

The regulation regarding juniors on pro-sponsored clubs provides, for professional purposes, that following attainment of their 20th birthday all are automatically released Aug. 1 unless signed by a pro club.

The same applies to players signed by pro clubs to A and B forms—tryout and option. If the players are not signed by the form-holding club or some other pro club they may be returned to their A or B category.

EASY TO WORK WITH

Regarding the "bonne entente" with Boston, Selke's statement said "it will be easy to work with" president Walter Brown and coach Lynn Patrick. "Bruins have a good team and would seek or accept very little from Canadiens."

"Conn Smythe, on his return from Great Britain in June, will likely give the Rangers on all-summer pass to the Weston arena, while Jack Adams will probably give Chicago three cheers on July 4 and have Fred Huber send Bill Tobin an old photograph showing super-star Bobby Goldham wearing a Black Hawk uniform. Canadiens' opposition will send Haitants a copy of Dale Carnegie's book on how to win friends and influence people."

(Adams is general manager of Detroit Red Wings, Huber their publicity director and Goldham a Detroit defenceman who formerly played with Chicago Black Hawks. Tobin is the Hawks' general manager.)

Canucks Win 7-3 Over Stampeders

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Canucks evened the Western Hockey League finals 1-1 here Friday night with a rough-house 7-3 victory over Calgary Stampeders.

Calgary won the opener of the best-of-seven series 2-0 in a slow but tight-checking game here Wednesday. The third game will be played here Monday.

A big four-goal second period was Vancouver's victory margin as Doug Adam connected for a hat-trick.

The game was tied 1-1 at the end of the first and Vancouver led 5-1 by the end of the second.

Carl Kaiser got the other goal in the big Vancouver second period while Chuck McCullough, Larry Popein and Les Hickey got the others for the winners. Pat Lundy got two goals for Calgary and tied the 23-point WHL playoff point-scoring record with his performance. The record was set by Alex Kaleta of Saskatoon two years ago.

Brantford Pitcher Drops Contract

BRANTFORD (CP) — Brantford Red Sox of the senior Intercounty Baseball League learned Friday that pitcher Bob Thurman, formerly of the Pacific Coast League, will not be with them this season.

Thurman, who signed a Brantford contract two weeks ago, has decided to return to the Dominican Republic where he finished the 1953 season.

Thurman was Brantford's leading pitcher and hitter last season before he left after 20 games to play in the Dominican League. Red Sox officials said Thurman signed this year on the understanding the Dominican loop was going to fold up for the summer. Friday he learned it will continue.

Percy Smith, who pitched for Indianapolis Clowns of the Negro American League last season, arrived here Friday for the first workout of the season Monday.

Two Referees To Handle Dusek Match

The Dusek Bros. versus Ray Villmer and Ilio DiPaolo in a tag team match will be the wrestling feature at the Brock Arena Wednesday night. This will be a return match and two referee have been assigned to look after things, one of them a wrestler.

The last match between this foursome was one of the best—except for the decision—and with two officials in charge Wednesday's match shapes up a gem. The Duseks lived up to their nickname, the Riot Squad. Both Ernie and Emil are masters at distracting the referee, getting in a lot of illegal stuff. But with two officials in charge Villmer and DiPaolo, on last week's showing, should punch out a win and a chance at the title.

Popular Pat Flanagan returns after quite a spell to take on Lee Henning in the semi-final. Henning is not only a smart grappler, but one of the craftiest in the game. He keeps the fans on their toes all the time.

A newcomer and highly regarded, Johnny Rougeau tackles Alan Garfield in the opener. A classy card with the main bout a standout.

Manitoba Requests New Penalties To Improve Hockey

By WALTER GRAY

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Hockey Association executive has criticized hockey players who hold the puck against the boards and force a faceoff.

The executive, meeting Friday night prior to the annual session of the OHA today, agreed the practice was bad for the game but decided to have an open mind on two resolutions to be submitted by the Manitoba Amateur Hockey Association in Vancouver May 9-13.

The Manitoba branch will ask that a minor penalty be imposed on a player who freezes the puck against the boads even if he is held there by an opposing player. Another resolution asks that a minor penalty be imposed on a player who holds an opposing man against the boards for the purposes of obtaining a faceoff or to prevent an opposing player from playing the puck.

FOR BETTER GAME

Herb Parker of Stratford said the sooner the practice is stopped "the sooner we'll get a better game." He criticized players who slammed opposing players into the boards without making an effort to retrieve the puck.

Frank Buckland of Peterborough first vice president, said the resolutions "would be dandies if you could administer them."

President M. L. (Tory) Gregg of Wingham, said if players had to "go in and dig for the puck it would make a much better game to watch."

The executive agreed to oppose a resolution to be submitted by the Manitoba branch that the ban on the transfer of junior players from West to East be continued for the next two seasons. It will also oppose two resolutions from Alberta asking that British Columbia junior players be declared non-imports to teams in western Canada and that the border line between Saskatchewan and Alberta as far as junior A hockey is concerned, be abolished.

CRITICIZES COUNCIL

George Dudley, OHA treasurer and secretary - manager of the CAHA, criticized the OHA junior council for allowing the junior A playoff series to extend beyond the limits set.

"I was very disappointed in the junior council," said Dudley. "The OHA was to blame."

Lloyd Pollock of Windsor said it was due to the lengthy final series between St. Catharines Tee-Pees and Toronto Marlboros.

Buckland said one of the "stupid blunders" was the interlocking schedule with Quebec teams.

Dudley said the OHA was "too big an organization not to meet its commitments."

"If these leagues are too big we (the CAHA) should know about it."

ASKS EXTENSION

The executive was presented with a letter from Ken Soble, president of the Hamilton Tigers senior A club, who asked for a 60-day extension to the May 1 deadline for declaring a club's intentions for the next season, to give him time to make some other arrangements for the operation of the team.

Soble said if the deadline was not granted the club would withdraw from the OHA senior A series.

The executive decided to send a copy of the letter to the other six teams in the league asking them to either accept or reject the request or to hold a meeting of the clubs' officials to discuss the matter.

STEEPLECHASE BIRTH

BUTTEVANT, Ireland (AP) — Thirty horsemen from seven hunt clubs raced across country Friday to commemorate the birth of steeplechasing here in 1752. They went over the original five-mile course.

Ex-Bank Manager Jailed Two Years

TORONTO (CP) — David Sinclair Bloxham, 46, former bank manager who pleaded guilty Wednesday to 12 charges of theft involving $32,386 altogether, Friday was sentenced to two years less a day in reformatory.

He was formerly manager of a west-central Dominion Bank branch.

His lawyer said in court that Bloxham extended loans to another man without communicating the facts to his head office. The lawyer said Bloxham himself "never got a five-cent piece" from the funds involved.

Seymour Liberals Elect Officers

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS) — Seymour Township Liberal Association held an annual meeting on Tuesday evening and elected officers as follows: president, Reg. Seymour; 1st vice-president, Ed Forestell; secretary-treasurer, Frank Heagle; ward chairman: (1) Thomas O'Rourke; (2) Douglas Rutherford; (3) Earl Gooden; (4) Leo Fry; (5) Clare Ingram; (6) Will Allen; (7) Bill Bateson; (8) Frank Heagle.

Howe Agrees Federal Aid Needed To Plan Resources Programme

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada still knows relatively little about what natural resources she has, Trade Minister Howe told the national conference on resources Friday night.

"It will be a long time before we in Canada know with a sufficiently high degree of accuracy the extent of our renewable natural resources and what they are capable of producing," the minister said at a banquet meeting which wound up a two-day conference of some 50 private groups interested in conservation.

Mr. Howe was echoing sentiments expressed by most speakers at the conference—first of its kind in nearly 50 years—who stressed that federal assistance is needed to assess the extent and value of forest, soil, water, wildlife and recreational resources before any over-all conservation program can be plotted.

Conservation had become not only a matter of protecting future generations but of ensuring continuing progress in our own time, he added.

GOVERNMENT AWARE

"The federal government is fully aware of this fact and that is why it has stepped up its rate of activity in conservation matters."

The conference concluded with a recommendation that delegates bring to the attention of their respective organizations a suggestion that a royal commission be appointed "to investigate and appraise the national resources of Canada and to project their probable development and use during the next 50 years, particularly in view of the increasing demand from outside Canada."

James A. Vance, board chairman of the Canadian Forestry Association, announced at the banquet a continuing committee has been set up to study the possibility of formulating a national conservation program.

Elimination of the bounties paid on predatory animals was suggested by Dr. W. W. H. Gunn, field representative of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists. He said too little is known about predators to make the present bounty system satisfactory.

Addressing a panel on wildlife and recreational aspects of conservation, Dr. Gunn urged preservation and extension of wilderness areas in their natural state, both in farm and forest areas.

He recommended a more even distribution of hunting activities, by supplying ready access by roads and air to central staging points, from which travel would be by canoe and licensed guide.

"Hunting should not be made too easy if it is to retain its proper flavor," he said.

He deplored the encouragement of bears to come to garbage dumps and deers to scrounge for food about resorts along the highways in Algonquin park. Wildlife should be seen in its natural environment.

3 Months Jail For Fraud, Theft

ROCKLAND, Ont. (CP)—Donat Dubeau, 52, Ontario highways department employee, was sentenced to three months in jail after he pleaded guilty Friday to charges of fraud and theft from the department.

Dubeau was sentenced to concurrent terms of three months after admitting theft of $300 worth of material and falsifying pay lists.

In passing sentence, judge Leopold Lalonde said "dishonest" civil servants are a greater menace to the public than the average criminals. Dubeau had failed to take care of public funds put in his care.

Insp. R. H. Wanell of the Ontario provincial police testified Dubeau employed six highways department workers to build two houses here, charging their time to the department. He had taken government material for the house-building.

Shakespeare Anniversary

STRATFORD-ON-AVON (AP)—Representatives of 58 diplomatic corps came Friday to this birthplace of William Shakespeare to join the 14,000 townsfolk celebrating the 290th anniversary of the bard's birth.

Aid To India

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is providing $20,000,000 of the $31,000,000 necessary for India to construct the huge Mayurakshi hydro-electric and irrigation project in west Bengal, the external affairs department said Friday.

WHISPERED CONFERENCE—Senator Joseph McCarthy holds his hand over a live microphone as his aide, Roy Cohn, whispers in his ear during the opening session of the hearing on his row with the United States Army.

New Bank Notes Reduced In Size

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's new bank notes, due in September, will be slightly shallower than present bills but not enough to affect the size of billfolds.

The Bank of Canada announced Friday that the new notes bearing the portrait of Queen Elizabeth will be six inches long, the same as the present issue. However, the width will be 2¾ inches, a decrease of one-eighth of an inch.

The bank said the width has been reduced for technical reasons.

Get Better Results With Paint Spray

Advent of inexpensive paint spray guns, which have proved adequate for light duty around the home, has lightened the effort of painting and heightened the pleasure in it for amateur painters.

But spray-painting equipment and technique is pretty generally misunderstood by amateurs and even some pros. As a result, the equipment is mistreated or expected to accomplish more than it was intended to do.

Such low-power spray guns as the types that attach to vacuum cleaners and the electric-vibrator models are not meant to handle heavy finishing materials. And it helps not in the least to thin the materials excessively, a common mistake

Nor are the smaller, inexpensive spray guns adequate for painting large surfaces, such as doors and walls. Those jobs should be left to their big brothers—the diaphragm and piston-compressor types.

A compressor capable of developing 30 to 40 pounds of pressure makes for a good household spraying unit. The better makes can be bought for from $50 to $85, and in some places they can be rented from paint dealers.

The consensus of opinion among paint authorities seems to be — don't spray-paint the interior walls of an occupied dwelling, no matter what type of spray gun is used. Even if only one room is painted, the spray settles all over the house and generally makes a mess of things. In a confined area spray painting is a fire hazard, and has some other drawbacks as well.

A spray gun in practiced hands, however, cannot be beaten for quality of finished work it produces. And the more expensive types will apply practically everything from lead house paints to enamel, lacquer, varnish and shellac. But if you are new to spray painting, there are several things to bear in mind.

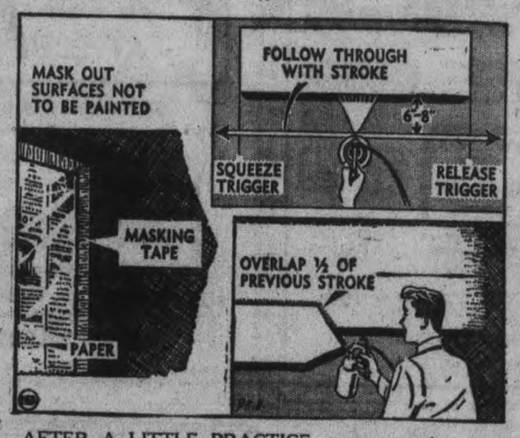
Preparation will take longer than the actual painting. Dirt and dust must be wiped away. The surface to be painted must be smoothed with sandpaper, and if the old finish is in poor condition it should be removed. All surfaces not to be painted must be masked.

The finishing material should be thinned — if thinning is required at all — according to the manufacturer's directions. Then it is thoroughly mixed and strained through a piece of cheesecloth.

Begin painting only when you are certain enough material has been mixed to finish the job. Avoid painting outdoors on windy damp days, or when the temperature is below 40 degrees.

Don't smoke while painting and don't paint near an open flame. Wear a respirator mask.

Make the actual spraying stroke a sweeping motion, always holding the gun six inches from the surface and perpendicular to it. Pull the trigger after the stroke has started and release it before the stroke ends. Painted strips should overlap one half of their width.



The spray gun should be cleaned as soon as the work is done. First, wipe remaining paint out of reservoir, fill it with thinner, and spray until thinner comes out clear. Clean the nozzle and hose and wipe off other paint. Then lubricate the gun.

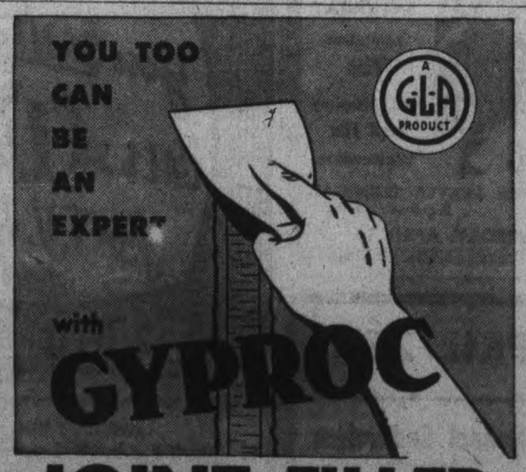
FIX-IT FORUM

Q.—What will remove mortar splashed on brickwork? I tried acid.—G.C.B.

A.—Use old screwdriver or putty knife to knock off chunks of mortar. Soak bricks thoroughly with water, then apply acid—one part hydrochloric acid added to 10 parts water—with fibre brush. Wear rubber gloves and goggles. Scrub with wire brush, paying particular attention to mortar joints.



AFTER A LITTLE PRACTICE, amateur painters can obtain better results with a spray gun than professionals can with a brush.

25 Per Cent Of Income May Be Spent On Housing

No definite formula can be given to figure out exactly how much a family can spend for a home. However, after considering all the costs of home ownership, you can arrive at a practical estimate.

The experts — those folks who are supposed to know all about ow you should spend your money—say that roughly 25 per cent out of every dollar may be spent for "housing". If you are buying a house under the National Housing Act, you cannot normally assume a mortgage requiring annual payment in excess of 23 per cent of your income.

Various factors actually make it logical for you to pay up to 30 per cent of your income—or, on the other hand, certain circumstances may make 20 per cent the maximum you can afford for housing.

Families with lower incomes are forced to spend a relatively large proportion of their annual income on housing, food and clothing. As their income climbs, so they have greater freedom to direct their spending on housing, cars, recreation or for other forms of investment.

NO TWO FAMILIES THE SAME

Two families with the same annual income may quite reasonably spend an entirely different percentage of income on their homes. Steady employment — more than one wage earner in the family — large savings for the down payment—all have a very material effect on the amount that may be spent on housing without stretching the budget to the breaking point. On the other hand, a family with the same income but accustomed to spending large amounts on vacations, cars and entertaining will have less available for the home.

Another factor, of course, is the number of dependents who will eat into income for food, clothes and medical care. A stabilizing factor, of course, is that in many cases the larger family makes greater use of the home for their recreation—at times even being able to budget more for housing than a childless couple with large recreation expenses.

MAINTENANCE WORK

Still another factor lies in your ability to reduce maintenance costs by doing work in your home yourself, thereby reducing the costs of home ownership considerably. Never neglect the maintenance of a home to stay within an over-optimistic budget — it will lead to far greater costs later on and is very poor economy.

With these factors in mind, you can readily see the looseness of the 25 per cent rule of thumb. Your own budget is a far safer basis for estimating permissible housing costs.

If you can plan a budget, filling in the blanks below, you will arrive at a practical estimate of the amount you can reasonably spend annually for housing. Don't be tempted to revise these estimates afterwards if the amount left over for housing is not what you had hoped—you'll be fooling only yourself.

TAXES, INSURANCE AND MAINTENANCE

In addition to the monthly carrying charges given in this table, you'll need to allow something like $3.50 additional per month per $1,000 of house value to cover taxes, insurance and general maintenance including painting and repairs. On new houses maintenance costs will be smaller for the first few years but will be balanced by many necessary outlays on such items as storm windows, electrical fixtures, landscaping, etc.

DESIGN 306—By providing a dining area in the kitchen, architect M. G. Dixon, of Ottawa, has been able to incorporate a multi-purpose room into this three-bedroom, 1½-storey design. This room, which may be separated from the well-lighted living room by curtains, should prove an attraction to the prospective home-owner. The kitchen layout is planned for convenience and has easy access to both the rear entrance and the basement stairs. The exterior dimensions of the house itself are 24 feet, four inches, by 30 feet, eight inches. Exclusive of garage, the total floor area is 1,196 square feet, while the cubic measurement is 17,360 cubic feet. Working drawings may be obtained from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

Car Hits Pole Power Goes Off

SARNIA (CP) — Hydro-electric service was suspended over a wide area in south Sarnia early Friday and two men are in hospital as the result of a collision of a car with a hydro pole.

The driver, John Wallis of Sarnia, and his passenger, John Sweet of Point Edward have undetermined injuries.

The pole struck by their car carried two other poles with it as it toppled to the street. They supported six lines carrying 4,000 volts of electricity.

One pole struck an oil storage tank at No. 1 plant of Imperial Oil Limited with a blinding flash, but there was no fire. Thirty Canadian National Telegraph lines were also snapped.

Power was restored at 9:35 a. m. today.

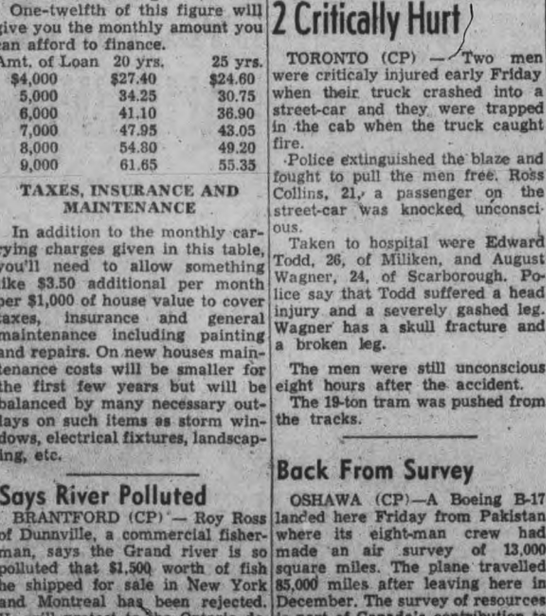
Truck Hits Trolley 2 Critically Hurt

TORONTO (CP) — Two men were criticaly injured early Friday when their truck crashed into a street-car and they were trapped in the cab when the truck caught fire.

Police extinguished the blaze and fought to pull the men free. Ross Collins, 21, a passenger on the street-car was knocked unconscious.

Taken to hospital were Edward Todd, 26, of Miliken, and August Wagner, 24, of Scarborough. Police say that Todd suffered a head injury and a severely gashed leg. Wagner has a skull fracture and a broken leg.

The men were still unconscious eight hours after the accident.



The 19-ton tram was pushed from the tracks.

Back From Survey

OSHAWA (CP)—A Boeing B-17 landed here Friday from Pakistan where its eight-man crew had made an air survey of 13,000 square miles. The plane travelled 85,000 miles after leaving here in December. The survey of resources is part of Canada's contribution to the Colombo plan.

Says River Polluted

BRANTFORD (CP) — Roy Ross of Dunnville, a commercial fisherman, says the Grand river is so polluted that $1,500 worth of fish he shipped for sale in New York and Montreal has been rejected. He will protest to the Ontario department of lands and forests.

PICKPOCKET—C. S. Edmiston arrives at the San Diego, Calif., Plaza with a good supply of corn and the pigeons are there to greet him. They cluster on his arms, shoulder and hands and one bold fellow gets right into the supply bin—his pocket.

New Coventry Cathedral To Be Rebuilt In U.K.

COVENTRY, England (Reuters) The government announced Friday that work will begin soon on a new Coventry cathedral to replace the one destroyed in the Nazi blitz 14 years ago.

Sir David Eccles, minister of works, granted the building licence as an "act of faith" despite arguments by Coventry city council that schools, homes and hospitals are needed more urgently than the new cathedral.

Eccles replied that he felt materials and labor are adequate now to meet all needs. As to whether they would be better used on other buildings, he asked: "Can we be sure that a cathedral would be so useless? Is it always right to prefer things seen to things unseen?"

Contributions from persons in Commonwealth countries and the United States have been received toward the general cost—although most of it eventually will be borne by the British war damage commission. Canadians are paying for the organ.

The new cathedral is to cost about $2,225,000.

One offering of a stained-glass window has a particular meaning for the German-blasted city. It was made by Dr. Theodor Heuss, West German president, on behalf of German Christians.

41 Air Sirens Gathering Dust

TORONTO (CP)—Forty-one air raid warning sirens worth $184,000 are sitting in a shed and gathering dust, officials of the Toronto and York civil defence committee said Friday.

The sirens were provided for the Toronto district two years ago by the federal government.

Air Vice-Marshal Thomas Lawrence, committee head, said they have never been set up because the city and provincial governments refuse to share the expense but insist that the federal government should bear the whole cost.

"BETTER HEALTH through BETTER HEATING"

DESIGN 201—The simple lines and unbroken roof surface are economical features of this three-bedroom bungalow designed by architect Edwin Raines, of Winnipeg. To provide privacy and greater enjoyment of the garden and lawns, the large combination living and dining room faces the rear of the house. The well-planned kitchen offers ample cupboard space and has direct access to the side service entrance and basement stairs. The exterior dimensions of the house are 41 feet by 29 feet. The floor area is 1,122 square feet while the cubic measurement is 22,725 cubic feet. Working drawings may be obtained from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation at minimum cost.

Counter Height Important For Work In The Kitchen

Correct working heights play a very important part in the kitchen. Work areas too high or too low can spoil even the most efficiently planned kitchen. The three work centres of your kitchen will be only as efficient as they reduce reaching, stooping, lifting and walking.

To estimate the best working height for you as an individual, let someone with a measuring tape help you to take your kitchen measurements. For stand-up jobs requiring muscular action, stand erect and at ease, with feet slightly apart and arms down at your sides. Raise your forearms from the elbows until the palms of your hands rest on a table height you could mix food on without stooping. The distance from the floor to your hands will be the working height for your mixing centre.

Many housewives prefer this height for the base of the sink basin, too. This will be 32 to 36 inches. If you have drainboards, to a 6-inch sink, this brings them up to 38 inches. If the sink is 8 inches deep, the drainboards will be up to 40 inches.

Your reach from side to side will be about 48 inches, without off-balance stretching or stooping. The last shelf up that you can use with a finger grip will be about 72 inches from the floor. You will reach down easily to about 28 inches from the floor. Keep counters within 24 inches from front to back for easy reaching, cleaning and working space.

A good standing or sitting posture requires toe space at floor level. This is about 3 to 4 inches. Manufactured equipment that is 36 inches high will be all right for the jobs requiring wrist action.

For sitting down jobs, sit at ease in a comfortable chair with a back support. Have your feet flat on the floor and arms down at the side. Raise your forearms from the elbows until they are parallel with the floor. The distance up from the floor to your wrist is the height for your junior cooks. The height will be 25 to 30 inches. Keep these same measurements in mind for work-counter extenders.

Visitors Denied Conference Site

GENEVA (AP) — The United Nations Friday banned all visits to the Palais des Nations, site of the Far East conference which opens Monday in this Swiss city, and announced a strict limitation of movements of personnel within the building.

Effective Monday, police and Swiss soldiers will patrol the perimeter of the spacious grounds of the old League of Nations building. UN guards, reinforced by special security agents, will guard its interior.

A section of the palais has been sealed off and only conference delegates and members of conference secretariat will be admitted.

Introducing security measures never before known here, Geneva police and UN officials have decided that everyone entering the grounds may be asked for identification papers at the entrance and inside.

SECURITY DIFFICULT

One of the most difficult problems facing police is that of security at Geneva airport when the foreign ministers of the major participating powers arrive.

Geneva police officials have offered to bar access to the field and throw a phalanx of police and soldiers around arriving planes, but this idea has not been received sympathetically by delegation representatives.

Soviet and Chinese representatives have told the Geneva police chief, Charles Knecht, that they would welcome large crowds for foreign ministers Molotov and Chou En-lai. No decision has been taken, but police are considering limiting the number of correspondents and photographers at the airport.

Committed For Trial By Higher Court

WINDSOR (CP) — Joseph P. Garthwaite, 48, of Windsor, was committed for trial to a higher court on a charge of murder Friday in a preliminary hearing during which two of his children testified.

Garthwaite was arrested after the screams of his daughter, Betty, 13, brought police to the home. The child ran to tell neighbors her father was beating her mother.

Police said they found Mrs. Lillian Garthwaite, 33, shot through the chest with a shotgun. She died en route to hospital.

Wins Award

TORONTO (CP) — Eugene Turney, 21-year-old Cornwall steamfitter, was presented Friday with the craftsmanship award of the Ontario Association of Architects. He was one of 342 apprentices graduating after four-and five-year courses.

To Cut Off Water

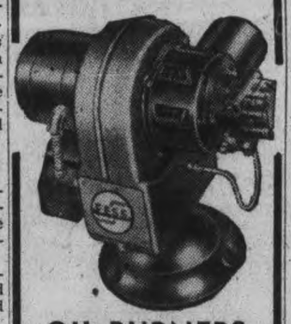
LONDON, Ont. (CP) — London public utilities commission says it's going to cut off Byron's water June 22. The commission claims the village west of the city owes more than $2,000 for fire hydrant services and is $600 in arrears on its water bill.

Death Verdict Natural Causes

STURGEON FALLS (CP) — A coroner's jury returned a verdict of death from natural causes at an inquest Friday into the sudden death of Mrs. Jacqueline Kelso, 22, on New Year's Eve.

Dr. J. R. Hall, who performed the post-mortem, testified that death was caused by a blood clot on the wall of the heart. Such a condition was unusual in such a young person, he added.

The expectant mother died in her home here, 12 miles west of North Bay, shortly after returning from a movie with her two-year-old daughter, Barbara, and her husband's 11-year-old sister.



An exhumation was ordered after a preliminary analysis of internal organs showed traces of poison.

Dr. Ward Smith, director of the attorney-general's laboratory, testified that examination of the woman's heart revealed 1-300th of a grain of strychnine. This was the same that could be found in ordinary medication and he did not associate it with death.

Lose Power

TORONTO (CP)—Half of the 472,000-kilowatt capacity of the giant Richard L. Hearn hydro generating station here will be lost for at least 18 months as a result of two explosions at the plant earlier this month. United States companies are making up the power deficit.

To Move RCAF Depot To Toronto Site

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF's No. 6 repair depot at Trenton is to be moved in gradual stages to Downsview, near Toronto, the air force said Friday.

The new site is adjacent to the RCAF's new supply depot at Downsview and the turbojet engine overhaul depots operated by de Havilland for RCAF needs.

An air force spokesman said about 1,000 airmen and civilians are employed at No. 6 repair depot. The move to Downsview probably would take two to three years.

Trenton will remain the centre of the RCAF's air and ground crew training.

HOME PLANNING Service

You may have missed our previous advertisements showing these home plans and we suggest visiting our show room where we now have a very complete set of home planning books and catalogues.

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. C-288

HERE IS THE GENERAL OUTLINE FOR THIS HOUSE PLAN

DESIGN C-288. The most economical type of house to build is a plain rectangular plan without costly projection, using a gable roof without dormers. Here's such a plan, with living room, kitchen, bath, three bedrooms and a full basement. All plumbing for kitchen, bathroom and basement laundry is grouped in one wall and the furnace is located in the center of the basement with resulting short heating ducts.

There is dining space in the kitchen in addition to the dining room formed by the vestibule. Exterior finish on frame consists of wide siding and asphalt shingles with picture window and a brick planting area.

Floor area is 1,008 square feet ad the cubage is 19,152 cubic feet.

Canadian Goods Can Compete With Any Land

ST. JOHNS, Que. (CP)—On the basis of value for money, Canadian-made goods, given fair conditions, can sell in competition with goods from anywhere, J. D. Ferguson, of Rock Island, Que., president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said Thursday night.

As manufacturers, he added in an address prepared for delivery to the St. Johns branch of the CMA, "it is our duty to see that the 'Made-in-Canada' label is synonymous with value for money."

Prompter and smoother service and adjustments could also be given by Canadian manufacturers, and if this was not being done, "it is high time we bought ourselves some new brooms."

The "so-called protection" which manufacturers ask of government, Mr. Ferguson said, is protection important to basic national industries upon which other industries depend.

"Clearly it is necessary that such industries be assured—as essential to our economic health as hospitals are to our physical health.

"For all other industries, the Canadian manufacturer asks no more than that they shall be assured of fair conditions of competition."

THE LADY IS A PLUMBER—You'd never know it, but pretty Lauvaughn Garner is the plumber at a large Oklahoma City, Okla., hotel. Because of her size she can get into spots a husky man would find difficult or impossible. Lauvaughn became a plumber by accident. She was an elevator operator, but when the hotel became short-handed she offered to pitch in. To everyone's surprise she was fearless, had good mechanical knowledge and was willing to learn. Before long she quit the elevators to become a full-time plumber.

Lauvaughn Garner takes repairing a cold water line in stride . . . . . and adjusting a trap is just another job for the pert plumber.

Sympathetic Friends Help Cancer Victim

TORONTO (CP)—A 13-year-old boy who lost a leg to cancer will get an artificial limb thanks to the efforts of his buddies and a flood of contributions from sympathetic persons.

Ron Pasowisty's right leg was amputated below the knee after a January hockey injury which induced a cancerous condition.

The story of how his young friends rallied by launching a massive scrap collection to raise $200 for "Ron's new leg" appeared in the press.

Since then there has been a flood of calls from people who want to help.

Dozens of contributions have been received, most of them in one and two-dollar bills. A cheque for $200 and several for $25 were sent in.

Roger Cotes, renowned English mathematician, died in 1716 at age 34.

Highway Control To Be Discussed

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal-provincial conference opens here Monday with the aim of working out a national solution to the controversial problem of how highway traffic crossing provincial borders is to be controlled.

Two provincial premiers, two federal ministers and around a dozen provincial highways ministers are expected to take part in the three-day meeting.

Objective of the session, called by the federal government, is to devise a means of having the provinces' control interprovincial and international highway transport, a field which the Privy Council recently ruled as being under federal jurisdiction.

Once the decision came down, after a long court fight, the federal government announced it was reluctant to move in on highway control and proposed the federal-provincial talks with a view to reaching a "common understanding" on the contentious question.

U.S. Auto Production Increases This Week

DETROIT (AP) — The nation's auto plants will build 146,177 vehicles this week, the highest volume in 34 weeks, Ward's Automotive Reports said Friday.

The agency counted 123,594 cars and 22,583 trucks in this week's total. Last week 118,486 cars and 21,138 trucks were produced. In the comparable 1953 week 151,394 cars and 31,469 trucks were built.

Ward's puts Canadian output this week at 8,580 cars and 2,082 trucks. Last week Dominion plants built 7,159 cars and 1,776 trucks. In the comparable 1953 week they produced 8,819 cars and 3,196 trucks.

Your Garden:

Stay Away When Soil Wet No Time To Plant Garden

BY HENRY PREE (NEA)

Don't plant or sow seed if the soil is too wet. Let a mud ball tell you when it's time to begin preparing the soil in your vegetable garden this spring. A lot of gardeners, anxious to get started, are going to get under way too soon, says the old gardener.

Such early birds are likely to begin operations when the soil is still too wet. Early work on the soil presses it together so that roots of seedlings can't penetrate it later.

Even when the top layer can be worked, there is sometime the danger that it is too wet an inch or so below the surface. A good test is to pick up a handful of dirt from your garden and squeeze it.

It it forms a solid ball of mud it is still too wet to work. When the ball is crumbly, even though damp, then it's time to grab the garden tools and start swinging.

If you are using a commercial fertilizer, boardcast it over the surface, and work it in. Or you can use your commercial fertilizer as a "side dressing," placing it in bands along the rows.

On soil that has been in cultivation for several years, or has been in sod, a commercial fertilizer is particularly valuable. You'll have to be prepared to fight cutworms in such soil, too.

Vegetables which should be planted just as soon as the ground can be prepared are asparagus, beets, carrots, lettuce, radishes, parsnips, peas, potatoes, rhubarb, Swiss chard, onion sets and cabbage plants. Be careful to cover seeds at exactly the recommended depth. That's necessary to get good stands.

Maybe you're thinking of what might be done this spring to improve the home grounds. The best plan is a grassed area in the front yard with shrubs around the house.

Small flowering trees or low-growing evergreens planted at the foundation of the house seems to make the house belong to its location. Only a few shrubs are needed; it's placing that counts.

Consider, first of all, when you're choosing shrubs, the height they'll be when grown. Greatest height should be at the corners of the house, with smaller plantings at the entrance. Avoid plantings that will block windows.

In a border, the tallest plants should be in the back. The sun or shade and the amount of moisture needed, as well as resistance to insect pests and disease, enter in.

You'll also want to think of the density, shape, color and bloom of shrubs you choose.

This is the season of the year when swindlers victimize homeowners with rackets in the garden sphere—fake fertilizers or top-dressing, cheap lawn seeds, tree treatments, etc.

Sometimes an itinerant peddler tells a housewife her husband has ordered one or another of the above, makes some sort of application or does some work and then collects an exorbitant charge from the embarrassed house wife, who may be too timid to put up an argument.

Buy good, strong, healthy plants from local nurseries known to be reliable.

If you want to have a nice garden, stay away when the soil is wet.

Strikers Stop Expansion Work

WINDSOR (CP)—A snappy telegram from a top American Federation of Labor official Friday ended the work stoppage on a $41,000,000 expansion at Chrysler Corporation of Canada.

AFL carpenters and ironworkers unions put picket lines around the job earlier this week. They objected to boilermakers, also AFL men, installing overhead conveyors in the new plant. They felt the conveyor job should be under their jurisdiction and claimed boilermakers were making installation at lower wage rates.

John T. Dunlop, chairman of the AFL national joint board in Washington, instructed heads of the carpenters' and ironworkers' unions to get their men back on the job. The boilermakers went back to work Thursday after picket lines were removed.

The wire instructed the union heads to process the complaint "in accordance with joint board procedures."

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CVII. No. 97 SATURDAY, APRIL 24, 1954

Main Street Topics

RESORTERS' COURSE

A two-day resort operators course, sponsored by the department of travel and publicity in Kingston on April 29 and 30, will be attended by Bill Ianson of Viamede and Bill Rerick of Forest Hill Lodge. It is probable other resort operators will decide to attended the same course.

ST. GEORGE SERVICE

A new set of chimes installed two weeks ago in St. George's Anglican church in the south end of the city, were sounded for the first time celebrating St. George's day Friday. Two communion services were also held to celebrate the day.

WASH AWAY GASOLINE

Fire fans (i.e. the keen type who pursue fire trucks in hopes of seeing a spectacular blaze) were disappointed Friday night. A pumper truck was called to the McBride and Anderson service station, 50 George St. N., but the purpose of the call was only to flush away some spilled gasoline.

NO INDUSTRIAL CANVASS

Some housewives who would like to donate to the Peterborough unit of the Canadian Cancer Society don't do so because they believe their husbands will be making a contribution in factory collections. This is not so. There is no canvassing of industries. Soliciting is done on an individual basis; so if you want to help the Cancer Society, give when the canvasser is at your door.

PLANT VISITS PLANNED

Peterborough has been put on the itinerary of the department of trade and commerce, Ottawa, in the matter of educational sightseeing when they will dispatch two assistant trade commissioners to tour city industries on May 26. The officials are J. R. Midwinter and G. F. J. Osbaldsen who will visit the Quaker Oats Company, Canadian General Electric and Peterborough Canoe Company before proceeding westward on their observation tour of various Canadian cities.

AIR CADET WEEK

Peterborough Air Cadet squadron will open Air Cadet week, Sunday with a church parade beginning at 10 a.m., at the market square. The squadron, piped by the CGE band, will proceed up George St., to Hunter and west to St. Peter's cathedral. From there, the remainder will proceed to St. Andrew's United church where services will be conducted by honorary padre, the Rev. Henry Cotton.

First Monster Of '54

A nature lover, who would not give his name, was the first of the season to lead the long procession to The Examiner newsroom today with queer summer flora and fauna specimens. This one, captured in said man's garden, was a Dobson fly, forerunner to the helgramite. We can expect butterflies, green hepaticas, triple trilliums, two-headed trout and lungless "lunge, in that order, to appear forthwith. Such things make our staff Nature boys jump with joy —or fright.

Varied Program Of Braggiotti Wins Audience

The local chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sponsored a concert by Mario Braggiotti, the well-known pianist, which took place in the PCVS auditorium on Friday night. The occasion was in aid of the Peterborough and District Association for Retarded Children, and although the hall was not filled, the audience was a large one, and keenly appreciative.

The most immediately striking thing about Mr. Braggiotti's playing is that he produces a very big tone; the local concert instrument, never famed for its responsiveness, must have been amazed to find itself making so much noise. With this very big tone, the artist combines unusual dexterity and speed. In such a work as the Chopin Scherzo No. 1 in B minor he rushes along at a breath-taking pace, and although some of the sensitivity of the music is lost, the total effect is astonishing and refreshing.

The same sense of astonishment seized us, also, in the transcription of Bach's Organ Toccata and Fugue in D Minor. Mr. Braggiotti sets out to produce the effect of an organ with a piano, and by some interesting technical devices he comes close to doing so. In the transcription of Ravel's 'La Valse', also, this phenomenal speed and tone amazed us. Time and again we were reminded of the little rhyme—

The Abbé Liszt
Hit the piano with his fist.
That is the way
He used to play.

We are sure that Mr. Braggiotti, who makes amusing comments upon other pianists, will not be offended by this personal reaction to his own vigorous style.

Not so overwhelming, but perhaps more musically enjoyable, were the two Scarlatti sonatas and the two Preludes by Debussy. These were played with charming sensitivity. And, at the end of the concert, the artist played the familiar Clair de Lune in a beautifully fresh, poetic manner.

The second part of the program was unconventional and highly enjoyable. Mr. Braggiotti played an arrangement of Gershwin's 'An American In Paris', with a fine appreciation of its dynamic, nervous, but essentially romantic and sensitive nature. He then amused us with some musical fooling of a very high order. He played 'Yankee Doodle' in the styles of Scarlatti, Beethoven, Chopin, Debussy and Gershwin, and brought to these caricatures a degree of musical insight which raised them above the level of mere stunts. He does this sort of thing better, for instance, than Alec Templeton. He improvised on the theme, BFGE, which was supplied by the audience, and did so with a great deal of flourish and ingenuity; improvisation is the rhetoric of music.

Then Mr. Braggiotti gave silent imitations of people whom he had observed as common types in concert audiences, and finished by imitating pianists of five kinds; of these the Very Old Artist, on his final Farewell Tour, was perhaps the best observed, though a little cruel. The last of these imitations, which might have been L-b-r-ce, brought down the house.

It was a thoroughly rewarding evening of music and fun.

Hurt In Crash Man Spends Night In Car

Two Cars Drive By Ignore Signals Of Injured Soldier

An injured Korean War veteran had to sleep in his wrecked car overnight after two indifferent motorists drove past him as he tried to flag them down for help.

Private James Wood, 27, of 2 West Pearl St., St. Thomas, is a veteran of the action last May when the Chinese hit Hill 187, a position held by the RCRS, and in fighting reduced his company by more than two-thirds.

Well, he survived the Chinese attack, but at 10:30 p.m. Friday he became a casualty on the Curve Lake road while driving to Peterborough for a hotel room. His 1948-model car went out of control while he was rounding a curve and it crashed into a tree by the side of the road.

The car, valued at $395, was wrecked.

Groggily, Pte. Wood climbed out of the wreck and waited for a passing car. His head was aching from a gash that later took five stiches to close; and he was also shaken up.

"I knew it was a lonely road and there wouldn't be many cars, but I certainly thought anybody coming along would stop and pick me up. They couldn't miss seeing my wrecked car on that winding road.

"Only two vehicles went by all night. Both times I waved my arms and shouted but they just kept going. Yes—I was in uniform.

"I wouldn't have treated a dog that way."

Chilled, Pte. Wood crawled back into his wrecked car and tried to nap. The thermometer was down to freezing.

Early today he was picked up by two men driving to work in Peterborough. They brought him to the outskirts of the city where they met a police cruiser on patrol. The OPP took him to Civic Hospital where five stiches were put in his head cut.

Pte. Wood has only been back a week after spending a year in Korea. He had been visiting a friend and was driving back to the city for the night when he ran into the tree and cut his head.

"I'm still a bit woozy," he said today and thoughtfully sipped a coffee in the hospital's cafeteria.

$600 Damage Done Cars Hit On Highway

Nobody was injured but $600 damage was caused shortly after midnight when a car driven by Alfred Goodwin, 42, of RR 4, Lakefield, ran into the rear of another car driven by Kenneth Downer, about 35, of RR 4, Peterborough.

The accident occurred on Highway 28, south of the Nassau turn, as both cars were going north.

There was about $200 to the rear of the Downer car and $400 damage to the front end of the Goodwin car.

OPP Constables Douglas Ross and Stanley Smith investigated.

IT'S TIME FOR A CHANGE—Like most city folk, Shirley Goodman (above) isn't going to wait until 2 a.m. Sunday to put her clock ahead one hour, the change to daylight saving time. She'll be content to add the hour about midnight or so, even then she'll lose an hour of her beauty sleep.

Worker Falls Off School Roof

A rash of small accidents at home and at work sent three people to the Civic Hospital for treatment Friday.

While working at the Queen Elizabeth school, Barnardo Ave., D. Alex Archibald, toppled from a ladder. He was found unconscious by carpenters and then rushed to the hospital by Nisbett ambulance.

Today hospital authorities said Mr. Archibald's condition was satisfactory. X-rays revealed he suffered no fractures but was badly bruised.

Two women were given outpatient treatment. Mrs. Ronald Vowels, RR 1, Peterborough, had her hand treated after it had gone through a wringer Friday morning. At 7:25 p.m. Mrs. Ray Boldin, 700 Park St. North, had a lacerated finger, cut by glass, treated.

VITAL STATISTICS

Although the number of births recorded in Peterborough during March exactly matched those for the same month last year at 188, the total for the first quarter was higher than for the first three months of 1953: 477 this year and 464 last. Meanwhile, the number of deaths registered was lower, 42 last month and 51 in March, 1953, bringing the total for the first quarter to 135, compared with 137 for the first three months of 1953. Of the 188 births recorded last month, 116 were to city residents. Of the 42 deaths registered, 28 were city residents.

Seek Reaction Of Fishermen

Questionaires to find out from American tourists their opinions of the government abolishment of the family fishing license have been prepared by the Chamber of Commerce for mailing to members of their resort section.

This decision was arrived at during Friday night's meeting when various members met to discuss what, in their opinions the new ruling would mean to the future of the resort business in the Kawarthas.

The questionaires may be ordered in padded form by resort members at the cost of one cent each. Not only resort owners but other chambers of commerce will be approached to see if they will co-operate on the matter.

The inquiries will be sent back to the chamber every two weeks and at the end of the season tabulated. A delegation will probably take the findings of the statistics to Queen's Park after the close of the tourist season this coming fall.

Boy Rescued From Channel Of Pigeon River

Warm weather and Easter holidays are creating quite a recreation problem in Omemee. Even sucker-fishing has been halted as some of the would-be fishermen have difficulty distinguishing between a sucker and small muskelunge.

Pat Stevens, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Stevens, may owe his life to a 10-year-old friend, Jack Vernon, who was standing by the bridge Friday afternoon with a forbidden sucker-fishing pole in hand.

A large group of children, some jumping off the bridge into the warm water, clothes and all, were playing about the mill dam on the Pidgeon river, when the Stevens child fell into the water and was caught in the channel current.

Stevens was carried over a waterfall and through about 50 yards of churning water before Jack managed to catch him with a loop of rope tied to the end of his fishing pole. The Vernon boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Vernon, had to wade into the shallow water at the side of the stream to reach his struggling companion.

The child did not require any first aid.

Motorists Invest Money In Legal Parking, Fines Less

Although motorists paid less money to the city for parking tickets last month than a year ago, legal parking was costing them more.

The city received $1,301 from parking tickets during March, compared with $1,603 in 1953. But in 1952 the total was only $536 and $350 in March the year before that.

Parking meter receipts to the end of March this year were $8,372.83, compared with $7,583.67 during the first three months of last year, $6,794.85 in 1952 and $6,086.54 in 1951.

The growing importance of parking meters as a source of revenue for the city was indicated in the monthly totals. Last month the city collected $3,331.95 from street meters, compared with $2,879.78 in March, 1953, $2,578.07 in 1952 and $2,219 in 1951.

Receipts from meters in the city square parking lot showed the same upward trend. Last month they totalled $1,390.68, compared with $1,271.28 in March, 1953.

Total receipts from the parking lot meters since they were first installed on July 21, 1951, have been $38,097.34. There were 381 parking violation cards issued at the parking lot last month.

In his monthly report to city council, City Clerk E. A. Outram reported total receipts at his office during March were $9,520.17, comprising $455 for parking stickers; $1,301 for parking tickets; $120 for marriage licences; $1.50 for a master plan; $1,226.50 for business licences; $45.65 rest room money; $3,331.95 from street parking meters; $1,390.68 from city square meters and $1,647 in magistrate's receipts.

Total fines and fees collected in magistrate's court amounted to $1,887.59, of which the city received $687.87, the provincial treasurer $590.47, justice of the peace $186, witnesses $50, court reporter $12.50, bail bonds $5 and restitution $15.

There were 283 cases disposed of in magistrate's court, with 218 convictions and 65 withdrawals registered. Of the convictions, 47 were under the Highway Traffic Act, 35 under the Liquor Control Act, 109 under traffic bylaws and 26 under the Criminal Code.

Townships Charge City People Dump Garbage On Roads

Neighboring townships are fed up with lazy city people who dump their garbage out in the country. At this time of year housecleaning starts and some people load their junk in a car, go out to a quiet sideroad in the country, and heave it overboard.

"We're going to put a stop to it," said James McCarthy, clerk and treasurer of Otonabee. "The worst spot in our township is the "rifle range" area, along the old Norwood road.

"Last week somebody started just outside the city limits and began throwing out a lot of glass and other junk—right along the main road. Some are good enough to do down a sideroad where it can't be seen.

Practically all of it is coming from the city. That's been proven more than once . . . We're really going to rap them if we get a chance. They've got a city dump of their own.

DOURO IMPROVED

Similar complaints about the indiscriminate dumping of garbage are heard from North Monaghan and Smith townships. In Douro the situation is better since the opening of a new dump in an old gravel pit, centrally located.

"The garbage dumping situation here is very bad, too," said A. I. Edmison, clerk of Smith. "Of course we have a bylaw prohibiting this dumping—and there are penalties provided—but just try and get a conviction.

"For a case to stand up in court you have to have eyewitness evidence, and most of the dumping is done at night when it is dark and few people are about. The worst spots in Smith are the sideroads near Peterborough and near Lakefield.

"I don't know what the solution is," said Mr. Edmison. "I wish I did."

Occasionally an envelope with an address on it, or some other traceable object is found in the rubbish. Then the township write a letter to the people believed responsible, or they get the OPP to throw a scare into them. That's generally about as far as they can go.

TROUBLE FOR YEARS

"We've had this trouble for years; it's nothing new to us," said Reeve Willard G. Waterman, of North Monaghan. "Most of the stuff is thrown on sideroads, but it's difficult to catch them at it.

"They're mostly city people," said Mr. Waterman, "not local people."

The North Monaghan reeve advanced one reason—apart from slovenly household habits. He said he thought many people come to the city dump with refuse after 5 p.m., Saturday afternoons or on holidays when the city's landfill dump is closed.

They can't put the refuse in the dump and they don't intend to take it home with them again so they look for a secluded place in the country and throw it out when nobody is looking.

Most of the refuse that is jettisoned along rural roads could have been put out for the city garbagemen to pick up. When the spring housecleaning is done and the cellars and attics are cleaned out, some people don't want to keep the junk sitting about. So they dump it in a country lane.

On their regular pickups the garbagemen don't have to take building material refuse or bulky, worn-out furniture. When a house is replastered the waste is too much to be handled by garbagemen. In these circumstances householders are supposed to hire a truck and cart the stuff to the dump themselves.

EVERYTHING POSSIBLE

"We go out of our way to get everything possible," said Elmo Pierce, superintendent of sanitation, "but there must be a limit to what we can carry away."

A very small amount of plaster would be taken away, said Mr. Pierce, illustrating the flexibility of the department's policy. But not a lot. Brush if tied in three foot bundles would be removed and containers, say of ashes, not weighing more than 75 pounds.

ARE YOU JUST AS KEEN that your boy should show good sportsmanship in playing as that he should win a cup?

For Parents Only

Sportsmanship Preferable to Winning Cup

By NANCY CLEAVER

"Play the Game! You can't always beat the other fellow, John. If you lose, take it on the chin!" Mr. Brown admonished his son.

"But, you don't like to get licked in a golf tournament," John protested. "And whenever I come home from a school game, you and Mum ask me, "Did you win?" It's fun to be on top—and I hate losing!"

A child is sometimes unflatteringly candid. John had noticed his father's discomfort when he was beaten at golf. He felt that his parents were eager that his team should invariably be the winning one in the sports at school. Occasionally he had listened to comments from teachers about good sportsmanship. But John got no pleasure out of a game unless he and his teammates were victors.

What does your child think about winning and losing? Do you know? Have you placed so much emphasis on excelling in sports, that, like John, he hates to lose? Or have you held up the ideal of being a gracious loser and a generous winner?

How much faster a child learns by example than by verbal instruction! It is very hard for a child to play a game fairly, to stick by the rules. He is tempted to blame his partners or complain that his opponents cheated when he is defeated. But if mother and dad take time to play simple games like checkers, parchesi, ping pong, dominoes, and if they themselves are good sports, this is very "catching." Mary soon sees that although she and mother couldn't keep up with Dad and Brother Tom at croquinole, nevertheless mother still continued to have a happy time.

Perhaps more than any other age this is a very competitive one. While they are still young, it is in games that children realize that the spirit of play is the vital thing, not coming first. The Duke of Wellington said that the battle of Waterloo was won on the cricket field of Eton. He was paying a complement to the sporting code in the English public schools. This has always asked for triumph if possible, but above all it has expected courtesy and fairness to be shown to one's opponents.

The duke lived at a time when sports had not been commercialized to the extent which they are today. Now so many adults are spectators, and so few actually participate in games. In this situation it is all the more essential that parents teach their children ideal of sportsmanship.

A boy or girl should learn that there is nothing disgraceful about losing, providing an individual has done his best. But to refuse to abide by the rules or to take an unfair advantage of another player and thus come first must be shunned. The attitude of the players and not the score is what builds character.

NOT EASILY ACQUIRED

In playing children learn to take turns and to keep on trying. Cooperation and perseverence are two traits which are not easy to acquire. A man was watching a group of boys playing ball after school in the yard. He asked one lad, "How are you making out?—What is the score?" The boy replied: "The other side has eleven runs and we haven't any yet."

The onlooker expressed his surprise that the boy wasn't discouraged. But the boy laughed. He was having a grand time. He wasn't disheartened. His team hadn't come to bat, yet!

When Junior plays ball or hockey or some other game on a special night of a series for a school or a church team, mother or dad should make a real effort to see the game. It means so much to a youngster to have his parents cheering on the side lines—and how few parents manage to get there! How can they commend their boy for his good sportsmanship if they have never seen him in the moment of victory or defeat? His thinking on a player's code will be colored by his father's ideas about "playing the game."

OFF TO THE RACES — This new streamlined vehicle with a built-in side car should make motorcycle enthusiasts itchy to get out on the road. The driver sits where the motor is placed in a conventional model, top picture. Engine of the motorcycle is placed behind the driver's seat. The London, England, designer says the racing model, shown head-on in bottom picture, could be converted to general road use by adding a seat to accommodate the driver and two passengers sitting three abreast.

Held In Bonds Theft

ST. JEROME, Que. (CP)—Abraham Grosser, 41, of Montreal, charged with receiving $15,000 worth of stolen bonds, had his preliminary hearing set for June 4 Friday. He also is wanted in Toronto for allegedly receiving $71,000 worth of stolen bonds.

Big Bridge Drops

Murray Street Baptist Church To Observe 108th Anniversary

Dr. P. P. W. Ziemann and Dr. T. B. McDormand of Toronto, Norman Moore of Brantford, and Robert Van Dine of Ottawa will be guests of Murray Street Baptist church on the occasion of the 108th anniversary on Sunday.

Dr. Ziemann, who will preach at the morning service, has held important pastorates in Ottawa, London, Hamilton, and Tokyo, Japan. He is at present director of evangelism for the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec.

Dr. McDormand is the general secretary of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec. He has been a minister in Amherst, N.S., and Edmonton, Alta., and is very active in the work of the Canadian Council of Churches.

Mr. Moore is the lay vice-president of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec. He is known in the business world as public relations director of the Cockshutt Farm Equipment company. He is chairman of the campaign committee for the Brantford Red Feather drive.

Robert Van Dine, a native of Fredericton, N.B., was started on a singing career through the encouragement of Sir Ernest MacMillan, who was responsible for his receiving a scholarship for study at the Royal Conservatory of Music at Toronto. This led to study in London, England, under the noted English singing master Albert Garcia. While there, he gave his first major song recital at the University of London before an international audience. He then went to New York for further study at the Juilliard School of Music under the Metropolitan opera tenor Charles Hackett.

ROBERT VAN DINE

On his return to Canada and Ottawa, he became baritone soloist at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, which position he held for 13 years prior to being appointed soloist and choir director of the Kingsway United church.

Mr. Van Dine has sung the baritone roles in the Messiah and other oratorios with various choirs and choral groups. Since 1945, he has sung the demanding role of Christus in Ottawa's annual presentation of Bach's "Passion According to Saint Matthew." His love for Elizabethan music was the inspiration for the formation of a group known as the Tudor Singers which under his guidance has given successful presentations of this music in traditional costume and manner in Ottawa, Montreal, Stratford, and other centres, as well as on the CBC. He is also director of a choral group called The Gallery Choir, which has performed some of Bach's smaller works. He has appeared on the CBC Wednesday Night Distinguished Artist Series. Mr. Van Dine will sing at both of the Sunday services, and following the evening service he will present a half-hour recital.

Why Does An Alcoholic

ment and indecision in adult years. Such a person is a likely prospect for excessive drinking once alcohol's appeasing escape qualities have been discovered. He would encourage early childhood respect for reality to avoid later inclinations to escape it.

There is no conclusive answer as to why an individual becomes an alcoholic. However, it is obvious that the habitual use of alcohol together with certain personality defects are essential for the appearance of alcoholism. One is not an alcoholic unless his drinking is compulsive and is brought on by some inner drive or unresolved conflict.

The following articles describe the trademarks of alcoholic behavior-symptoms which indicate loss of control over alcohol and their relationship to the appearance of alcoholism. This is the area of prevention. It's always better to prevent than treat!

Stock Market Activity Erratic In Most Centres

By BOB JOHNSTONE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The week's stock market activity was erratic and trendless as markets moved slowly.

New York was up-and-down, Toronto was mixed with a closing burst of strength, and Montreal was quiet.

Industrials were strong in Toronto, but western oils and base metals slipped. Golds, uraniums and Bathurst-area base metals were a little lower. All sessions were low-volume ones, and only Thursday and Friday did the final figures exceed 2,000,000 shares.

Steels were the basis of the all-week industrial strength as they added fractions from Monday's opening. Refining oils, foods and banks showed single-session strength and closed a little stronger. In the final session, papers leaped ahead in the year's strongest and widest single move. Market observers attributed the gain to a lower differential in Canadian-United States dollar exchange rates; most of the Canadian paper output is for the U.S. market.

Base metals were weak as Canadian issues slipped, despite a mild recovery move at the close. Hudson Bay led with a $2 drop. A few juniors added on profit or drilling reports and the Manitouwadge-area issues slipped a little. Western oils eased with most losses small.

The weekly indices showed industrials up 1.52 at 337.02, golds down 1.73 at 73.42, base metals down 2.99 at 148.42, and western oils down 1.28 at 98.73.

New York's first four sessions were lower following the previous week's strength. Railroads were weak, although aircrafts resisted the lower move and added strongly Thursday. Friday's session was strong as railroads joined aircrafts and drove the Associated Press average of 60 stocks to $119.80, within 20 cents of last week's $120.

Papers led the Montreal market in light, narrow-range trading most of the week, Friday's session was strong as papers showed gains over $1. At mid-week mines depressed the market with a base metal scare. Utilities, steels and metals were weak.

The weekly averages showed banks up .27 at 38.27, utilities down .80, at 102.7, industrials down .5 at 195.9, combined down .5 at 164.9, papers up 22.08 at 894.87 and golds off 1.62 at 58.10.

NORMA SHEARER'S DAUGHTER WEDS — Honeymooners Katherine Thalberg, 18, daughter of movie actress Norma Shearer, and Jack Reddish, 27, former U.S. Olympic ski team member, pose for photographers at Squaw Valley, Calif. They were married in Reno last week.

A TOUCH OF BROADWAY — The "Broadway Singers," a company of young opera singers from the Western Hemisphere, make their debut with "So Sings America" at a Vienna, Austria, theatre. The group sings operettas and folk songs from their home countries in the original English, Spanish or Portuguese. NO MORE ESCALATORS

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Transit Commission said Friday night it does not intend to add more escalators for subway passengers unless future traffic requirements justify it. The TTC added definite riding trends have not yet been established.

Driving Tips from R. W. Buyers, General Manager, Ontario Safety League.

HOW TO PASS PROPERLY

Pass only on straight, level road—never on a hill or curve or at an intersection!

- Be sure you have plenty of clear road ahead of car you want to pass.
- Pick up to passing speed (10 M.P.H. faster than car you are passing) before you move out into left-hand lane.
- Be sure no one is going to pass you. Then signal to driver ahead that you want to pass, by horn or flashing headlights.
- Don't cut back into right lane until you can see the car you have passed in your rear-view mirror.

1. Be sure of enough straight, level passing space.
2. Pick up to passing speed and don't cut back in too soon.

New City of Iroquois Will Rise After Flood

IROQUOIS, Ont. (CP) — A new eastern Ontario city for 40,000 people, planned from the ground up, will rise on the shore line of the St. Lawrence river after flooding for the Ontario Hydro's St. Lawrence power project is completed.

The new city of Iroquois, now just a town of 1,100, will replace eight communities to be wiped out by the flooding and will be moved 1½ miles east of its present location between Brockville and Cornwall.

The flooding will result from a big Ontario Hydro control dam to be located at Iroquois, which will widen the river waters over the present-day communities.

EIGHT CENTRES AFFECTED

Communities affected will be Iroquois, Aultsville, East Williamsburg, Farran's Point, Wales, Dickinson's Landing, Loullinettie and Milles Roches. Another community, Morrisburg, will be partially submerged. All are within a 30-mile stretch on the Ontario shore of the river. No communities on the U.S. side will be affected.

Details of the major project, which will begin this year, were disclosed Friday by Lloyd Davis, reeve of Iroquois. It is expected the city program will take five years.

Dr. Wells Coates, a British town planning consultant, has been retained to plan the new community.

The Ontario Hydro and New York State power authority till pay the cost of moving the town and will also help plan the new site. The master plan calls for the city to be centred on two new harbors. A shallow one, for pleasure craft, will be the centre of the commercial district. Nearby will be a deep sea basin alongside the industrial area.

A 5,000-ACRE SITE

The plan provides for 5,000 acres to be incorporated within the limits of the new city.

A network of planned greenbelts will provide screening between commercial, residential, and industrial areas, and will run along the waterfront. Three islands, formed by the flooding, will be connected by bridges and will serve as residential areas and parks.

The Canadian National Railways mainline between Toronto and Montreal will be rerouted and a new express highway will parallel the railroad. Traffic into the city will be ontrolled through two cloverleafs.

Industry has not been overlooked. A linen mill, the town's present industry, will be moved and will be expanded, reeve Davis said.

He said he has received tentative assurance that at least 12 industries will locate at the new Iroquois.

Tax Reduction Stimulates U.S. Business

By WALTER BREEDE Jr.

NEW YORK (AP) — Production rates moved higher in several key lines this week. Some industries showed the stimulating effects of reductions made at the beginning of the year in excess profits taxes.

Stockholders found cause for joy in first-quarter earnings reports of several major corporations.

Some examples:

Despite a $37,000,000 dip in sales, net income of E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Co. rose to $1.56 a share from $1.19 a share in the first three months of 1953.

General Electric, whose sales also declined, reported the biggest first-quarter earnings in its history, up 42 per cent from a year ago.

Net income of Douglas Aircraft Co. nearly doubled.

In Washington, the commerce department said cash outlays on plant expansion and modernization this year will be only four per cent under the 1953 record of $24,000,000,000 despite "unprecedented" expenditures over the last eight years.

Final reports came in during the week on the 1954 Easter shopping season.

BUSINESS SAID GOOD

Dun and Bradstreet said most merchants reported Easter business "generally equal" to last year, with customers responding to "aggressive promotion of medium-priced goods."

Automobile production climbed to its highest level in 34 weeks with an estimated output of more than 146,000 cars and trucks. A big factor was the increased tempo of the Chevrolet-Ford production race.

General motors said its January-March output set a new first-quarter high.

Prices of steel scrap firmed for the fifth consecutive week.

A slight but significant improvement in the job situation was reported in several key industrial sectors. In Ohio, new claims for unemployment compensation benefits dropped during Easter week to the lowest level in many weeks.

Judge Barlow Defers Sentence

TORONTO (CP) — Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow of the Ontario Supreme Court Friday deferred to April 30 the sentencing of Mrs. Doris Martyn, 23, who pleaded guilty to a charge of manslaughter in the death last October of her one-year-old daughter.

Mrs. Martyn, who psychiatrists say has the mental age of a person of nine or 10 years, was originally charged with murder. Police quoted her as saying she banged the child's head on a table while bathing her.

Her three other children are in the custody of the Catholic Children's Aid Society.

Can't Kill Off 3D Films, Still Popular

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — No matter how hard they try, they can't seem to kill off 3D.

The "depthies" caused Hollywood's first-big splurge on new screen dimensions. But then the studios concentrated more on screen size, rather than the third dimension. Movie-goers complained that the glasses were bothersome.

But 3D is still in business. Having had good luck with "Hondo," Warners put out the current "Phantom of the Rue Morgue" in 3D. It will do the same with the big-budget Alfred Hitchcock thriller, "Dial M for Murder". And Leonard Goldstein's panoramic company will issue "Gorilla at Large" in the stereo version.

"You can't count out 3D," says Goldstein. "It may do poorly in one town but sensationally in another. Exhibitors who don't want to bother with the glasses can just run the picture in 2D."

LIVELIEST COMPANY

Goldstein runs today's liveliest independent film company. Having turned out a dozens films for 20th Century-Fox release, he now is dickering with a number of major distributors for future films. He is in a good position, since the theatre men are howling about the film shortage.

He is also doing something about the talent shortage. "Somebody had better start building some new stars soon," he warns, "or the present ones will be too old."

I wonder if aspiring actresses are discouraged by this week's spectacle. A foreign girl was brought to Hollywood amid much hoopla and signed to a seven-year contract. Her sole claim to fame: She stripped to the waist and posed for pictures with Robert Mitchum.

It must make girls wonder if all those dramatic, singing and dancing lessons they pay for are worth the money.

Montreal Airport Business Becomes Bigger Each Year

By JOE MacSWEEN

MONTREAL (CP) — Business gets better every year for this city's big airport, but the daring-do and dash of wartime days are gone.

Even the name has changed. It's called Airport Montreal now, not simply "Dorval" as it was known to thousands of fliers and air passengers during the war.

Dorval reached the height of its fame when "Ferry Command" was flying planes to fighting squadrons overseas.

It still is the main terminal airport for transatlantic hops—an operation now almost as commonplace to many people as a bus trip.

SAFER NOW

"Well, things may not be as colorful around here now, but they're a darn sight safer," said one airport official.

Despite time and aviation developments, the place looks much the same. Flying aids have been added, but offices still are housed in the barrack-like wartime "temporary" structures.

There are unconfirmed reports of a multi-million-dollar development program to take place over the next 15 years.

Operating transatlantic flights out of Dorval are Trans-Canada Air Lines, British Overseas Airways Corporation, Air France, and KLM Royal Dutch Airlines.

TCA is the main line for domestic flights, and others are: Canadian Pacific Airlines, which serves Sept-Iles, Que., supply point for the big Labrador iron ore development; Northeast Airlines, for Boston; Colonial Airlines, New York and Washington; and Wheeler Airlines, which runs a scheduled service to St. Jovite, Que.; and also charters planes.

There has been little change in the number of lines operating during the last five years, but there has been a sharp increase in schedules and capacity.

In 1950, for instance, scheduled operations—that is, airlines—averaged about 2,200 "in-and-out" flights a month. The average in 1953 was 2,700.

Counting all kinds of flying—airlines, itinerant, chartered and RCAF—the monthly average in 1950 was 3,000 flights. Last year, the average was 10,885.

In 1950, an average of 40,000 "in-and-out" passengers were handled at Dorval. Last year, there were 70,000 in both September and August, while the slowest month saw 48,000 passengers moved. The average had more than doubled.

Transport department figures show there were a total of 131,600 takeoffs and landings at Dorval last year. This compared with 160,000 for Vancouver, 195,000 for Edmonton, 128,000 for Winnipeg, 134,000 for Toronto, 112,000 for Ottawa and 114,000 for Cartierville, light plane base near here.

As an indication of the growth of aviation in Canada, there were more than 1,500,000 takeoffs and landings last year at 22 airports equipped with transport department central towers. Three years ago, there were less than 749,000.

But veteran officials at Dorval say the airport was "busier" in wartime days. Pinned down, they are liable to admit there are far more planes about now.

Mrs. A. M. Jones Heads Marmora CWL

MARMORA (ENS) — The slate of officers presented by Mrs. Charles Brady, chairman of the election committee, at the 22nd annual meeting of the Catholic Women's League was duly accepted.

Those elected were: spiritual director, the Rev. W. P. Healey; past president, Mrs. Donald Shannon; president, Mrs. Arnold M. Jones; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Charles Brady; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. James Loveless; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. Richard Moloney; secretary, Mrs. James L. Shannon; treasurer, Mrs. Herbert English.

Council members: Mesdames Laughlin P. Hughes, Michael Shannon, Fred Lajoie, Michael Callery, William Meehan, Carl Heath, William Joseph O'Neill.

The meeting was opened with the retiring president, Mrs. Donald Shannon in the chair. Prayer was offered and the league hymn sung. Mrs. Shannon welcomed the members.

An invitation was read to attend the regional gathering in Madoc on Sunday, April 25.

ANNUAL REPORTS

The treasurer's report, read by Mrs. English, showed a substantial balance on hand. A marathon bridge conducted through the winter months was shown to have been successful.

The league presented the Rev. W. P. Healey with a cheque. The reports of the various conveners were given.

Mrs. C. Brady gave the report of educational work. This was succeeded by Mrs. Charles Lajoie, who reported a good year for the support of missions. Mrs. E. Gaffney and Mrs R. Maloney told of five visits paid to sick and shut-ins.

Mrs. James Shannon and Mrs. William Monk consented to be visiting committee for the ensuing month. Mrs. James Black, regional convener, reported on the work of the diocesan executive.

The president asked that as many as possible be at the church on the first Saturday in May when the statue of the Blessed Virgin will be decorated for the occasion.

The annual presidential report was presented by Mrs. Donald Shannon. Mrs. W. A. Shannon tendered the retiring president a vote of thanks.

Father Healey thanked the executive in general, saying their co-operation was all that could be desired. Officers were installed by Father Healey. The Act of Consecration was recited. The new president thanked the members for the honor conferred upon her.

PROGRAM

Group 6 was appointed program committee ofr the May meeting. Group 5, with Mrs. K. McCoy in charge, furnished the program for the current meeting. Mrs. Joseph O'Neill read a poem. Miss Genevieve Shannon and Mrs. Hugh Brady sang a duet.

A musical number was furnished, with Mrs. Stafford Callery at the piano and Mrs. Ken Donaldson on the violin.

Readings by Mrs. Hugh Brady and Mrs. W. A. Shannon concluded the program.

The national anthem was sung, after which refreshments were served.

WA Collect Clothing For Salvation Army

WARKWORTH (ENS)—Morganston WA met in the basement of the church. Mrs. H. George, president, presided.

Mrs. Claude Puffer had charge of the devotional period. The scripture reading was given by Mrs. B. Fitchett. Mrs. Gerald Philp gave the explanation.

Mrs. S. McComb offered to entertain for the next meeting.

A collection of good used clothing is being made for the Salvation Army.

It was decided to cater for the teachers' banquet May 26. Committees were appointed for making further arrangements.

It was decided to purchase two dozen tea towels.

Mrs. C. Bradley and Mrs. C. Bray presented the program.

Mrs. E. Redden gave a reading and Mrs. Lorne Darling sang a solo.

Advocate Regulations For Sale Of Meat

TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. John Butterfield of Toronto, research chairman of the Canadian Association of Consumers says a cross-country survey shows there should be more regulations covering the sale of meat to Canadians.

There were several serious situations, she told the semi-annual meeting of the CAC board of directors Friday. The survey showed that in no province were there specific regulations covering meat supply.

Inspection of meat available in farmers' markets or sold door to door was very lax, she said. Municipal inspection was often casual.

The meeting recommended that provincial CAC groups work towards getting adequate regulations put into effect.

Oratorical Winners

SUDBURY (CP) — Judith Mackinnon of Copper Cliff and George Welling of Gravenhurst will represent the Sudbury-Georgian Bay section in the Ontario-Quebec Lions Club oratorical contest finals. They won over seven other contestants Friday night in the semi-final competitions.

33 Peruvians Killed

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Thirty-three persons were reported killed Friday and nine badly injured when a truck carrying 47 persons plunged over a 100-foot cliff into the swollen Santa river. The driver leaped to safety a moment before the truck began its fatal plunge.

Withheld Deductions

TORONTO (CP)—A fine of $1,500 was slapped on Henry Armstrong, an architect, Friday for not remitting to the government employees' income tax deductions of about $5,000. The $5,000 has now been paid, the court was told.

Philately Winners

Hockey Players Help Team-Mate With Salary

NORTH BAY (CP)—Bob Dawes, former professional hockey player with Montreal Canadiens, said Friday his teammates on the Sudbury Wolves have been "chipping in" to pay his salary since he was released by coach Max Silverman several weeks ago.

Dawes said the Sudbury players, who are in the midst of the eastern Canada senior hockey finals against Matane Red Rocks, told him they would also pay his fare to western Canada if the Wolves reach the Allan Cup finals.

Dawes said he was released after he acted as spokesman for Sudbury players in a dispute over Silverman's threat to fine the members of the team for playing cards for money on a bus trip during the Northern Ontario Hockey Association senior A season.

The player said he would like to get back into action. "The team has injuries to contend with now and I'm sure I could help," Dawes said in an interview. He came to the Wolves after resigning as coach of the Galt Black Hawks of the Ontario Hockey Association junior A league.

NHL Teams In Race To Get Brian Cullen

By BILL SENYK

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Brian Cullen, one of the greatest professional prospects to show up in junior hockey ranks in years, may be the prize of one of hockey's biggest bidding races before another season.

At least two National Hockey League teams are after the 20-year-old centre who broke just about every junior scoring record this year. The situation is further complicated because it appears that he is the property of an American Hockey League club.

A native of Ottawa, the 170-pound Cullen led St. Catharines TeePees to a first-place finish in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series this season. He captained them to the OHA championship and into the Eastern Canada Memorial Cup final.

GOOD TEAM LEADER

This is his last season in junior hockey. His take-charge attitude and team spirit also label him as a future big-leaguer.

Conn Smythe, managing director of Toronto Maple Leafs, acknowledged recently that Cullen is a "great player" when he said Leafs would try to have the five-foot, 10-inch centre placed on their NHL list. "I think the thing that makes him great now is that he's a fighter and that he keeps himself in top physical condition," Smythe said.

Brian is a stickler for physical fitness. He usually practices longer than any of his club mates. He hasn't missed a game in three seasons.

WHERE NOW?

He will almost certainly end up in professional hockey next year but the question among the teenage fans is: With whom? There is talk he is destined for Toronto since TeePees operate within the 50-mile protected zone of the Leafs.

But Buffalo Bisons of the AHL, farm team of Montreal Canadiens, own Brian's contract and that's the gimmick. Canadiens are also reported interested in him.

NHL President Clarence Campbell says Cullen is the outright property of the Bisons. Leafs have an agreement with Buffalo under which they may buy any player developed by the TeePees for a purchase price of $15,000 but they can't exercise that option until two years after the player has left junior hockey.

Fred Hunt, Bison general manager, says Cullen was on the Buffalo reserve list before Leafs and Bisons entered into their agreement.

BETTER EVERY YEAR

Brian, one of four brothers, has improved with every season. He started in 1951-52 with 30 goals and 31 assists. Last year he notched 41 goals and 33 assists.

This season he set league records for both the number of goals scored and total points. His 161 points is 22 better than the old mark set by Ken Laufman who scored 139 in 1951-52 while leading Guelph Biltmores to the Memorial Cup.

Cullen's 68 goals this year set another mark not likely to be matched soon. The previous record for Oshawa Generals in 1949-50.

Brian's three brothers—Barry, Bruce and Ray—are also hockey players. They couldn't help it, living with Brian. Mrs. Joe Cullen, who moved her family from Ottawa to St. Catharines after Brian's second season with the TeePees, says hockey is Brian's whole life.

"He thinks about nothing but hockey," she said. "He doesn't allow his brothers to smoke or eat cream puffs during the season."

Barry made a remarkable debut in the OHA Junior A circuit this season as a member of Brian's line. He scored 107 points on 62 goals and 45 assists to stand fifth in the scoring race. Hugh Barlow, the third member of the C-B-C line, had 48 goals and 73 assists for 121 points, second to Brian.

Chosen the 10th winner of the Albert (Red) Tilson Memorial Trophy as the most valuable and most gentlemanly player in the league this season, the reserved Cullen reacted characteristically.

"I was really very happy to hear about it," he said. "This is great news. But actually I think most of the credit should go to Hughie and Barry. It's great playing with fellows like that. They're hard workers and make things much easier for me."

Brian isn't letting that talk about his future bother him now. His big aim at the moment is to lead TeePees to their first Memorial Cup in the 11 years they have operated.

Sudbury Wolves To Represent Eastern Canada In Hockey Finals

SUDBURY (CP)—For the first time in 17 years this city will represent eastern Canada in the Allan Cup finals.

Sudbury Wolves won the right to travel to western Canada for the Canadian senior hockey finals by shutting out Matane Red Rocks 2-0 in the seventh game of the eastern finals Friday night. The victory gave them the best-of-seven eastern championship 4-2. One game was tied.

The Wolves now will play either Winnipeg Maroons or Penticton V's in the best-of-seven Allan Cup final. The Maroons lead their series with the V's 2-1. Two tie games have been played.

The team that represents the east this year will be the first one from Sudbury since 1937. That year Frood Tigers won the eastern championship.

FIRST PERIOD DID IT

The Wolves sewed up their series against Matane in the first period last night. Both goals were scored in the first 20 minutes and Nick Tomiuk was the marksman on both occasions. Gordie Heale assisted on each of the counters.

Tomiuk scored the winner at 15:31 after taking Heale's pass inside the Matane blue line. He fired a drive from left wing and the puck hit netminder Marcel Paille and bounced over him into the goal.

Fifty - four seconds later the Wolves notched the insurance tally. Tomiuk slapped the puck into the net after Paille kicked out Andy Milne's shot. Heale also drew an assist on the goal, starting the play at centre ice.

It was remarkable that the Wolves didn't increase their margin in the first period and this could be attributed to Paille, who kicked out 14 shots in the Sudbury nets while Al Millar, at the other end of the ice, had only two to handle.

Both teams played a man short for five minutes at the start of of the first when George Defelice and Lafleniere were thumbed off for fighting. Of the total of nine penalties handed out during the game, Matane was tagged with six but neither team scored while a man was in the penalty box.

OUTSHOT MATANE

Tomiuk almost bagged his third goal of the evening in the second period. His shot 15 seconds after the period started hit the inside of the Matane goal post and bounced out. Both netminders were called on to make a few outstanding saves in the middle stanza but the Wolves again outshot Matane 9-7.

The Red Rocks took over the play in the third period but made no headway. When they did get by the Sudbury forwards and defencemen they couldn't beat Millar. In the dying minutes of the game the Wolves changed to kitty-bar-the-door hockey and Matane was further hindered by their opponents' play.

Paille attempted to get to the Matane bench during the last minute of play to allow the Red Rocks a sixth attacker but he couldn't get past the blue line. Every time he was ready to leave the ice the Wolves would threaten.

Play was momentarily held up at the 12-minute mark of the period when Dick Bilodeau was hit in the face during a scramble. The fans gave him a big hand when the forward refused to leave the ice after his injury.

Maroons Likely Represent West

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP) — The big, burly Winnipeg Maroons are only one game away from representing the West in the Allan Cup final, emblematic of senior amateur hockey supremacy in Canada.

Winnipeg blasted in three big goals in the first period here Friday night and the Penticton V's never seemed to recover. The visitors went on to post a 4-0 shutout—the first of the series.

The V's, down 2-1 with two games tied, must win here tonight to prolong the play-offs and preserve their chances of winning. Winnipeg has taken both games played here to date.

Bill Juzda, ex-Toronto Leaf star, playing-coach Odie Lowe, and Bill Robinson slapped home the three first period goals. Laurie Mitchell, flown here from Winnipeg for the remainder of the games, tallied the fourth in the final frame.

A fight between Dick Warwick and Lowe highlighted a penalty-strewn second period and both men picked up five minutes for their trouble.

Warkworth Bowlers Hold Closing Banquet

WARKWORTH (ENS. — The bowling club held a turkey dinner at the Empress Hotel, Peterborough, as a final gesture for the season.

W. Grant Allen was presented with a trophy, donated by Claude Morgan, by Gordon McCubbin. Mr. Allen was leader of the winning team and received the trophy on behalf of the team.

Mr. Allen was also received a trophy presented by Owen Finley for making the men's highest individual score. A sum of money was presented to the three leading teams.

Vernon Lockwood of the Lockwood bowling alley, Campbellford, presented each member of the lowest team with a box of chocolates.

Teams and captains are: Dodgers, W. Grant Allen; Gutter Snipes, John Bowen; Beejers, John Carlaw; Blow Hards, Dr. R. F. Jolliffe; High Balls, F. Reisberry; Tigers, Howard Evans.

Henderson Signs As Hershey Coach

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Murray Henderson, former Boston Bruin player, Friday signed a new contract to coach Hershey of the American Hockey League team next season.

Henderson, 32-year-old Hershey player-coach the last two years, led the Bears to a second place finish in the 1953-54 campaign and to the finals of the Calder Cup playoffs before losing out to Cleveland. In 1952-53 his team finished fourth.

Salary terms were not disclosed. It was indicated the new contract was for a single year.

Orioles' Showing Confounds Harsh Critics

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The new Baltimore Orioles, criticized in some quarters for picking up too many Athletics and not enough athletes, are rapidly nearing the point where they canhave the last laugh.

One of the biggest reasons is Joe Coleman, a sore-armed right-hander resurrected by Philadelphia last season from Savannah of the Sally League where he had lost 12 of 13.

It has been five seasons since Coleman had shown real promise in the majors. But now he really has blossomed.

He made his second start Friday, pitched his second complete game, and won for the first time, 3-1, over Chicago White Sox in 10 innings. His other time out he lost a three-hit heartbreaker to Ned Garver and Detroit 1-0. In 19 innings he has given up only nine hits.

NEEDED HIS SKILL

Coleman needed all of his skill because the Orioles weren't getting anywhere against Billy Pierce until Vern Stephens homered in the eighth. Then in the 10th they picked up two on Billy Hunter's single, Ray Murray's double and a single by Coleman himself.

Garver, who had beaten Coleman for one decision, pitched another good one Friday, beating Cleveland 6-1 on six singles. The Tigers battered Early Wynn for five runs in the first inning. The game was an hour late in starting because Cleveland's equipment got sidetracked in Pittsburgh. The Indians were sorry it showed up.

Rain washed out one-third of the scheduled night games, but from the standpoint of total time they weren't missed. Brooklyn and Pittsburgh used four hours and 13 minutes before the Dodgers won 6-5 in 13 innings. Milwaukee and St. Louis played four hours and two minutes with the Braves winning 7-5 in 14 innings.

Chicago Cubs blasted Cincinnati 10-3 with four home runs and 20 hits and Washington edged Boston 7-6 in other night action. Philadelphia Phillies were rained out against the Giants in New York Yankees in Philadelphia.

The brash Pirates refused to play dead before the Dodgers, coming from behind three times before finally bowing.

Chicago's attack against Cincinnati included home runs by Gene Baker, Ernie Banks, Ralph Kiner and Randy Jackson. Jackson also collected four singles to increase his league-leading batting average to .615.

OHA Receipts Bigger In 1953

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Hockey Association ended the 1953 financial year last Dec. 31 with a fatter bank balance, George S. Dudley, treasurer, reported to the OHA's annual meeting Friday.

Assets totalled $53,654.62, made up of $32,000 in Dominion of Canada bonds and a cash balance of $21,654.62. Last year assets totalled $41,003.43, made up of $17,000 in bonds and a cash balance of $24,003.43.

The OHA received $432,755.93 from association playoffs.

Liabilities totalled $17,041.75, which included $14,041.75 as payments for players who turned professional.

Guelph, Waterloo Form New Team

GUELPH (CP) — Guelph-Waterloo, a new senior intercounty baseball league team formed this year by a merger of Guelph Maple Leafs and Waterloo Tigers, announced the club's new nickname Friday. The team will be called Guelph-Waterloo Royals.

The Royals also announced the signing of catcher Ed Sokol, who will be the team's playing manager. A native of Westfield, Mass., the 28-year-old Sokol was the first-string catcher with the Tigers last year. He batted .273 in 52 scheduled games and then led the pennant-winning Tigers in the play-offs with a .350 average.

WITHDRAWS PROTEST

CINCINNATI (AP)—Birdie Tebbetts, manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs, Friday withdrew his protest of Wednesday night's game which St. Louis Cardinals won 4-2. Tebbetts played under protest after Eddie Stanky, Cards manager, repeatedly ignored umpires' warnings to quit getting out of the coaching box. Stanky eventually was ejected.

LEADS TOURNAMENT

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Longshot Art Wall, Jr., slammed out a record-breaking six-under-par 66 Friday to move into the lead of the $35,000 Tournament of Champions with a 36-hole total of 135. The Pennsylvania professional broke a course record of 68 by blistering the back nine with four birdies and an eagle for 36-30—66.

Calgary Bowler Leads In Ladies' Tourney

WINDSOR (CP)—Mary Currie of Calgary took a big lead over Millie McCabe of Toronto in the ladies' singles five-pin championship bowling match Friday.

With five of 10 games finished, Miss Currie had 1381 to Miss McCabe's 1061. Miss Currie scored 345 in her first game and built her lead steadily from there.

The Canadian five-pin championships, singles and team events, were opened Friday by Sir Cyril Dyson, mayor of the Royal Borough of Windsor, England. Five games were completed in all divisions and the final five contests will finish tonight.

Stan Battersby of Hamilton took a short lead over Dave Bisset of Vancouver 1280-1216 in the men's singles.

3 Championships To Be Decided In Junior Hockey

GODERICH (CP)—Three championships are scheduled to be decided today at the Young Canada Week Pee Wee hockey tournament, called "the biggest hockey tournament in the world for kids."

Goderich, winners of the A-group championship Friday night, will be trying for their third grand championship. In the list against them will be Mildmay, C-group winners; Seaforth, B-group champs, and the winner of the AA group to be decided today.

Probably the biggest drawing card will be the fight for the East-West Challenge Cup between Winnipeg and Goderich.

The two teams Friday night battled through 22 minutes of overtime to a 6-6 draw, then quit because both sides were tuckered out.

Today winds up the annual week-long tournament for under-12 hockey enthusiasts. It is sponsored by Goderich Lions Club and the Western Ontario Athletic Association and this year drew 47 entries.

WON "A" TITLE

Goderich won the A championship Friday by defeating Lindsay 5-2.

The East-West game started at a rapid clip but the youngsters were tiring fast at the end. The score at the end of the first period was tied 2-2 but in the second period, Goderich took a 5-4 lead, Winnipeg came back in the third and tied it up at 6-6.

A 10-minute overtime period brought no further score and the teams decided to try a sudden-death period, first goal winning the game. After 12 minutes without a score, both sides were so tired the game was called a draw and the deciding game scheduled for tonight.

Owen Sound tied Chatham in the AA group but was awarded the game on the basis of 27 shots on goal to Chatham's 17. Owen Sound next defeated Sarnia 6-1.

Waterloo also won two games Thursday in the AA group, defeating Kingston 8-0 and Woodstock 7-2. North Toronto also entered the semi-finals with a decisive 11-0 win over North Bay.

Kingston had previously defeated Winnipeg 3-2.

Here are the Friday scores:

A Group
Goderich 5 Lindsay 2

AA Group
North Toronto 11 North Bay 0
Owen Sound 2 Chatham 2
(Owen sound wins on shots on goal)
Waterloo 7 Woodstock 2
Sarnia 3 York Township 0

Fenella Couple Married In Bride's Home

FENELLA (ENS) A pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday, April 17, at 2 p.m. at the home of the bride's parents, when Margaret Anne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Duncan, Fenella was united in marriage to Anthony Coulton Madge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Madge, also of Fenella.

The ceremony was performed in the living room before an altar of flowers, white bells and streamers. The Rev. J. R. Wheeler officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in a floor-length gown of ivory sheer over silk with fitted bodice, pearl trimmed, buttoning at the back, with long fitted sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil fell from a coronet of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of red carnations. Her only ornament, a gold locket, belonged to the groom's mother.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Edward Scott, who wore a pastel flowered dress and carried pink carnations. Mr. Lyle Curtis was the groom's attendant.

The reception was held in the dining room, decorated with carnations, pink and white streamers and white bells.

Mrs. George Duncan, mother of the bride, wore cherry wine with powder blue hat and gloves and pale pink corsage.

Mrs. Thomas Madge, mother of the groom, chose navy blue, navy accessories and pink corsage.

For the honeymoon to Hamilton, Niagara and U.S. points, the bride donned a corded taffeta dress with full skirt and bolero top, charcoal grey and yellow checked topcoat and black pumps.

Upon their return the couple will reside at Fenella.

BRIDE HONORED

Previous to her marriage the bride was guest of honor, when Miss Joyce Arthur gave a kitchen shower at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Arthur, on Friday evening, April 9. Many gifts were received.

A humorous address was read by Miss Elizabeth Bates, describing a doll made and dressed in kitchen accessories. The bride-to-be was also presented with a corsage made from a pot cleaner.

Among those present were the mothers of both bride and groom-to-be, and friends and former school mates of the bride. The home was decorated in pink and white, as was the chair for the guest of honor.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Arthur assisted by her four daughters.

A delightful evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl McNaughton April 13, to honor Miss Duncan, who was presented with a beautiful pair of boudoir lamps from the members of the Fenella "Ranch Gang", with whom Margaret played.

Suitable music was played in honor of the bride-to-be. The hostess served lunch.

WIND AND SALT SPRAY, wonderful as they are for the spirit, tend to dry the skin and scalp. So, if you're sea-bound this vacation, prepare to follow a careful beauty regimen. Here, the ship's beauty specialist is showing a passenger (left) how to protect her skin with a nourishing cream. The passenger protects her hands by applying (centre) a lanolin-rich preparation at least twice a day. It's also wise to use a body lotion after bathing. Lots of brushing and frequent settings will help to keep your hair-do under control. Following the advice of the ship's beautician, our vacationer uses a scalp conditioner daily, and (right) locks in her set with a liquid net. Now she'll be able to enjoy her sea voyage confident of her good looks.

Skin And Hair Need Very Special Care

By ALICE HART
(NEA Beauty Editor)

Each year, more and more people are discovering that the sea's ever-changing tempo, its salt air, balmy breezes and the special appeal of the sky over it are just what they need to shed their weariness.

The sea has a unique capacity both to soothe and to stimulate. And that's the perfect prescription for most vacationers.

Wonderful as they are for the spirit, however, the sun, salt air and winds on the ocean do play havoc with a girl's hair and skin.

You may feel like a Viking maid when standing in the prow of a ship but, unless you take care, you'll feel like Cinderella at 12.05 on the dance floor.

The first rule is to lubricate your face, neck and arms at least once a day with a lanolin-rich cream to counteract the drying effect of the wind and water.

Particular care should be given to the elbows and heels, which are always inclined to be rough and dry.

If you never before found it necessary to use a dry-skin cream, read the directions carefully. Use gentle upward strokes only in applying it.

Before you set out for a game of deck tennis or lazing by the pool, this expert advises using the lubricating cream in addition to suntan oil.

Apply the cream first and remove the excess with facial tissues. Be sure all of the cream is off the surface before putting on your suntan preparation.

To counteract the damage the elements will do to your hair, be faithful to your hair brush and use lanolin-based hair preparations daily.

The beauty expert recommends brushing both morning and night. She also suggests that you rub lotion into your scalp once a day. In addition, she says, applying a conditioning cream directly to the hair will help preserve its pretty sheen.

The elements will doom your hair to dishelvelment unless you are prepared to take action against them.

The action, our adviser says, should include frequent settings, spray nets and practical adornments.

Here's how to give yourself a quick set: Pin your hair up dry in medium-sized or large curls. Wring out a towel in steaming hot water and wrap it turban-fashion around your head. Remove it after five minutes and slip on a net. Your curls should be ready to comb out in about 15 minutes.

Then apply one of the many spray nets now available. Instead of applying it directly to your hair, spray the solution onto your brush. This method insures even distribution.

After you have combed your hair into place, spray the liquid net directly to the hairline.

As an extra precaution, pack several hair bands and scarves. There's an endless array of these in the department stores now. You should find some that will both control and flatter your coiffure.

According to this beautician, whether you're off to Europe or merely beach-bound, this beauty regimen should help you.

Smith Township Couples Honored

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—About 70 friends and neighbors met this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Higgins, Smith township, to bid farewell to them and to their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Gill, who will shortly leave to make their home in Lakefield.

During the evening euchre was played with prizes going to Miss Annette Brown, Miss Martha Garvey, Howard Beavis and Donald Davis.

An address was read by Mrs. Alvin Northey and the presentation of a chrome smoker with electric clock and three pieces of pottery was made to the couples. Mrs. Gill was also presented with an evening bag. The presentations were made by Harold Northey and Elgin Northey.

Refreshments were served and the remainder of the evening spent in dancing to music supplied by Davis brothers orchestra of Warsaw.

At a recent meeting of the Beaver Club, formed in 1940 for war work with the Canadian Red Cross Society, and which is still carrying on a great peace time effort, Mrs. Higgins was presented with an evening bag and Mrs. Gill and Mrs. Clarke Garbutt, who is also leaving the community, with costume jewellery. Mrs. Higgins has been president of the Beaver Club for 14 years and will be greatly missed by them.

TELEVISION SNACK

Mix grated Parmesan cheese with garlic butter and spread on English muffins, which have been split in two. Freeze, and store in plastic bags. A short time under the broiler, and you've another happy solution to the snack problem.

New Children's Party Treat

You can make a child happy for a whole afternoon with a big bag of popcorn—and that leads to a new delight for children's parties.

These treats are caramel popcorn balls, full of crunchy goodness and caramel flavor. The youngsters will say they are made of "everything good"—fresh popcorn, whole peanuts, a smooth thick caramel sauce.

The caramel syrup poses no problem, for you can make it quickly by melting a popular brand of caramels with a little water. (The caramels are available in both a 7 oz. and a 14 oz. bag.)

You'll be immensely popular with the younger set if you provide extra balls in favors for the children to take home. Any remaining? They make good snacks of an evening.

CARAMEL POPCORN BALLS WITH PEANUTS

7 oz. bag of caramels
2 tablespoons hot water
1¾ yuarts popped corn, salted
1 cup salted peanuts.

Place the caramels and water in the top of a double boiler. Heat, stirring frequently, until the caramels are melted. Place the popcorn in a large bowl and scatter the peanuts over it. Pour the hot sauce over the peanuts and popcorn and toss until every kernel is coated. With hands slightly moistened with water, form into six balls.

Choose Shoes For Occupation

A woman will think nothing of wearing a pair of very high heels steadily for eight or nine solid hours and then she wonders why her back aches, he head aches and she feels run down.

A woman would laugh at the idea of wearing a pair of heavy handcuffs for eight or nine hours, but she does not seem to realize that is just about what she is doing to her feet. There is every conceivable type of shoe available in Canada for women in industry, in occupational fields, and that includes the housewife.

It is only sensible that a woman who is on her feet for eight hours and more a day should not wear high heels all the time. Some of the smartest shoes turned out today have low cuban heels and there are smartly styled oxfords and walking shoes. Not only do these shoes give the feet the proper support, but they also look better with the type of clothes that are worn during business hours.

High heeled shoes, stripping sandals, cut-outs, open toes, sling backs all have their place, but they should not be put on at eight o'clock in the morning and taken off at ten o'clock at night. Incessant wearing of this type of shoe will throw the body out of line, affect the walking habits and in general, lower your state of health.

For any woman, no matter what her job may be, a wardrobe of varying heel heights is the answer to better foot health. Shoes should be rotated to suit the job. For instance, a medium heel tie type for walking or shopping. Play shoes for weekend wear at home or on the beach. A glamorous sandal for after-five wear and a good classic pump for dress wear.

Upholstered Walls New Do-It-Yourself Trend

Leave it to the do-it-yourself movement to develop an interesting new trend in decorating.

It consists of using wallpapering techniques on upholstery fabrics to cover a wall. So, instead of painting the wall, you upholster it.

Materials are usually vinyl plastics with strong cotton backs. These are the coated fabrics which were developed specifically for upholstering and duplicate the look and feel of fine feathers, textured boucles, tweeds or matelasses. Since they are also as color-conscious as the new paints and drapery materials, they are adaptable to most decorating schemes.

Small areas which suddenly assume greater importance through such wall treatments are fireplace chimneys, the walls of powder rooms and the wainscoting in halls and along stairways. When used on large areas, coated fabrics can bring a new richness and softening warmth to the entire room whether modern or traditional. Their resistance to scuffing, marring and cracking make them one of the most practical wall coverings for basement playrooms and children's rooms.

All that is required in the way of maintenance is an occasional once-over with a damp, sudsy sloth, followed by a quick rub-down with a soft dry one to restore the lustre.

New recruits to the do-it yourself movement should acquire a little know-how before plunging in. Old wall surfaces should be cleaned free of dirt, grease, wallpaper or calcimine. To ensure good adhesion on gloss or semi-gloss, the extra smooth surface can be washed with a solution of washing soda and then rinsed. For successful results, wall surfaces should be perfectly smooth. All imperfections should be cut out, filled with patching materials, allowed to dry and sanded with coarse paper.

Then, give the wall surface a coat of good quality glue-size and it is ready for hanging. Select a pure wheat paste as an adhesive. There is one important point to remember. Some fabrics will shrink from one to two per cent when wet with wheat paste. Although no further shrinkage occurs after the material has been applied to the wall, this will make a difference in your measurements. To be on the safe side, allow three or four additional inches when cutting strips for the average wall. Whatever is left over can be easily trimmed at the base after the strip has been pasted.

Be sure to wet the fabric backing with the paste. It requires about twice as much paste as wallpaper. Never apply the paste directly to the wall. It may be folded to facilitate hanging but never creased. Using a standard wallpapering technique, work out wrinkles and air pockets. Because of its weight, more force may be necessary to smooth out the material. A cellulose sponge is an efficient tool.

All seams should be butted, but not lapped. Roll seams until a tight joint is assured. Finally, there is no need to be concerned about traces of paste, dirt or finger marks. They can be whisked away with a damp cloth or sponge.

Lure The Family To Breakfast With Hot Bread

Breakfast can be a treat but it's up to the meal-planner to make it so. Few of us can resist the thought of homemade bread or cake the first thing in the morning. So, the mother who wants to lure her lazy family to the breakfast table can do so with a recipe such as this. Happily it uses milk as well as ready-to-eat bran cereal as ingredients.

Remember, when serving hot breads, to be sure to accompany them with other breakfast essentials—fruit, cereal with milk and a beverage.

MARMALADE BRAN PAN BREAD

1 cup ready-to-eat bran
¾ cup milk
1 egg
¼ cup soft shortening
1 cup sifted flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
½ cup orange marmalade

Combine bran and milk; let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Add egg and shortening and beat well. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add to first mixture and stir only until combined. Spread in greased 9 x 9-inch pan. Place spoonfuls of marmalade on top, pressing lightly into dough. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 deg. F.) about 30 minutes. Serve hot.

Yield: 9 3-inch squares.

Showers Held For Bride-To-Be

SPRINGVILLE (ENS) — Mrs. Harold Rowan and Mrs. George Whitfield entertained about 50 guests at the former's home on Monday evening at a miscellaneous shower for Miss Marilyn Bowles, whose marriage to Mr. William J. Porter is to take place at Springville today.

Their guests were members of the southern part of the Springville and Fairmount church congregations and relatives of the bride-elect.

Mrs. Carman Seymour, Miss Myrna Seymour and Miss Hazel McIntosh entertained the northern part of the two congregations at the home of Mrs. Seymour. About 60 guests were invited.

At both showers, the bride-to-be received many beautiful gifts such as cornflower crystal, linen and china.

Contests were arranged by the hostesses and refreshments were served.

THIS TOPS ALL

For an unusual cake topping, take two chocolate-nut candy bars from the freezer and break into small pieces. Sprinkle the pieces on your cake about one minute before you remove it from the oven, say home economists. Then remove cake from oven and spread the candy frosting. So easy—and so good!

It's fine to make beds the first thing in the morning, but at least once in two weeks one should forsake neatness for cleanliness. Take the bed clothes off, spread them on chairs and open the windows wide for a couple of hours.

To brides-to-be, we offer our flower service in designing your bridal bouquet, a perfect compliment for your personality, your gown, and style of wedding.

Failure To Pass Exams Threatens Girl's Romance

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm an 18-year-old boy and have been going steady with a girl 16. Her parents have always liked me, but since she didn't pass her recent mid-term exams, her father threatens to break us up. Can you suggest something we could do? P. P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Since poor marks are the cause of your trouble, why not encourage the girl to work for better ones? It's as simple as that. Instead of going out whenever her father permits a date, stay home and help with her studies. It may not be a very glamorous sort of evening, but flunking a year at school isn't very nice, either. Wouldn't it be worth the sacrifice of a few movies to have her end the year with good marks? Not to mention what it would do to her father's regard for you.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: We have two fine boys of 5 and 8, but their daddy never takes an interest in their activities. He won't attend PTA meetings with me, won't take the boys on fishing trips; in fact, he pays no attention to them at all outside the home. How can I get him to change?

VERA R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Since your older boy is interested in Cub Scouting, perhaps you can use that as a wedge to get Dad out into the open. If you have a friend who is active in the Scouts, ask him to approach your husband with a request for assistance on a definite project. It's not so easy for a man to refuse another man, so daddy may be coaxed into the activity. Once started, he'll enjoy himself, and I'm sure you'll have no trouble from there on. You know, men get so used to hearing one subject or another hashed over and over b ytheir wives, that they actually become immune to the words. Getting the same story from another angle can make all the difference in the world. Try it and see.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a woman of 40, and three years ago acquired, through correspondence, a lady friend about the same age. Last summer I met her for the first time, and we spent three days days together. We found each other very congenial and our correspondence has developed along very friendly lines. However, there's one big difference between us. She is very effusive, and I'm just the opposite. If I send her a small gift, she writes pages of thanks, telling me what a wonderful person I am, how kind, gracious, etc. This sort of thing embarrasses me. Are there any words in which I could tell her to stop being so fulsome?

ANITA T.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You cannot tamper with a person's basic character. Your friend is naturally gushy and you are conservative. The only way your friendship can flourish is for you to accept her qualities, good, bad or indifferent. Perhaps she wishes you were a bit more domenstrative, and her complaint might be that you are on the cold side. Keep in mind the cogent fact that the essence of true friendship is the ability to overlook minor faults, realizing how overshadowed they are by major assets. Your friend is a wine person, fond of you, compatible; if her manner irks you in spots, learn to overlook it. You'll never be able to change her, that's for sure.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: What can a person do when she's caught her best friend's husband kissing their maid? Should I speak to the husband or the maid. I wouldn't hurt my friend by mentioning it to her. MRS. M. L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Stay out of the whole business. This is a case where interference will do no good.

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm very fond of a young man whom I have known for three months. We've always enjoyed each other's company and, though he's often spoken of marriage, he wants to wait a year before he settles down. A few weeks ago I refused to go out with him, and he created quite a fuss. Now, I haven't heard from him for three weeks and I can't imagine why. I'm completely bewildered. E. N.

ANSWER: What did you expect the boy to do after summarily refusing him a date, with no adequate excuse? Park on your doorstep waiting for you to get over your whim? If you expect the boy to come and go as you beckon to or rebuff him, he should be commended for staying away. I'm willing to bet the "marriage" talk was incited by you, rather than the young man. On the assumption that you brought marriage into the conversation after about two weeks of dating, it would seem that the poor guy just took the first chance to get himself out of a bad spot. Your tactics need a thorough revision before you'll get him back.

Readers' Saturday Column

QUESTION: I wonder if you might have a recipe for Chili Soup. I understand it is something like Chili Con Carne in taste, but have been unable to find the recipe. It is a specialty of a number of restaurants in Chicago... A.M.B.

ANSWER: I have heard of the Chili Soup you mention from my friend Garney who lives near Chicago. This is her version of it:

CHILI SOUP

In frying pan in 3 tablespoons melted butter cook 1 lb. ground beef and 1¼ cups minced onion gently for 10 minutes or until delicately browned. Add 2½ cups (1 No. 2 can) cooked kidney beans and 1 can condensed tomato soup plus 1 canful water and simmer 10 minutes. Blend together 2 or 3 tablespoons chili powder, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon salt and make into a paste by adding 3 tablespoons water. Stir this into the mixture until slightly thickened, then simmer about 30 or 35 minutes, stirring frequently. Serve very hot in bowls. Garney serves hers with hot corn bread. If this is too thick for you, thin with a little more water.

NOTE: If you do not add the 1 canful of water this is one recipe for Chili Con Carne.

QUESTION...I especially liked the recipe for six-in-one cookies. So handy to have in a freezer. It seems to me I saw a recipe in your column for pickled eggs one time.. would you please give it to me? Also recipe for filling for the chocolate roll? Mrs. John K.

ANSWER: I have mailed you the recipe for the chocolate roll filling. The recipe for the Pickled Eggs I will repeat here for it is popular and I have not printed it in the column for some time.

PICKLED EGGS

Hard cook 12 eggs by starting them in cold water to cover and simmering 30 minutes. Drain, chill quickly and remove shells. Boil together 4 cups vinegar, 1 teaspoon each dry mustard, salt and pepper (and if desired 1 bay leaf and 1 slice onion), for 5 minutes. Pour vinegar into glass jar with spices left in. Drop in eggs. Cover and let stand at least 10 days in refrigerator before serving. Cloves may be stuck in eggs before pickling them if desired.

6—In Memoriam

BRAUND—In loving memory of Mendell Braund, who passed away April 24, 1953.
Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days
Sincere and kind in heart and mind
What a beautiful memory he left behind.
—Ever remembered by daughter Doreen, son-in-law, Wilbert and boys.

BRAUND—In loving memory of Mendell Braund, who passed away April 24, 1953.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach.
Sweet to remember him who once was here.
And who, though absent is just as dear.
—Ever remembered by wife and son, Carlos.

MILLS—In loving memory of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mills.
One by one they go before us,
They are fading like the dew,
But we know they're watching o'er us,
They the good, the fair, the true,
They are waiting for us only,
Where no pain can ever mar,
Dear ones who left us lonely,
Watch us through the gates ajar;
There a father, there a mother,
Gone within those gates ajar.
—Ever lovingly remembered by their daughters.

ROGOW—In loving memory of Sgt.-Pilot Sam Rogow who passed away twelve years ago today.
Our thoughts wander as daylight fades
To the land of long ago,
And memory paints the scenes of old
In the gold of the twilight glow.
We seem to see in the soft, dim light
A face we loved the best,
And thing of him when the sun's last ray
Goes down in the far-off west.
Always remembered by mother, dad brothers and sisters.

SIMMONS—In loving memory of James H. Simmons, who died April 25th, 1948.
Beautiful memories of one so dear,
We cherish still with love sincere,
A day that comes with sad regret
And one that we will never forget.
—Sadly missed by wife and family.

7—Card of Thanks

I would like to thank the nurses on the second floor of the Civic Hospital and also my doctors and those who sent me flowers, cards and visited me during my illness.—Mrs. Earl Lowry.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Teaviss and family wish to extend a sincere thanks to the sisters, doctors and nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital for the wonderful care and kindness extended to them during their time of bereavement. A special thanks to our many friends, neighbours and relatives who helped in so many ways. Also many thanks for the mass cards and floral tributes.

McKEE HARVESTING SYSTEMS
Why not call on our Field Men to help you plan a Harvesting System for your Farm? We have the experience to assure guaranteed results. Our systems apply to every crop. Grass, silage, hay, grain threshing, and seed harvest. Use McKee Harvester to pick up swathed grain and haul it to your threshing machine. We manufacture special conveyors to elevate it into your thresher. Remember, ONE 25 H.P. Tractor, ONE McKee Harvester and Wagon, and ONE Man can bring in enough grain to keep a threshing machine running continuously. Two Men can do the job which formerly required 7 or 8.
HAVE YOU ORDERER YOUR McKEE HARVESTER?
Did you ever rise early on a quiet June morning to slip off to your favourite fishing spot only to find some one has been there before you? Rather frustrating, isn't it? The man that telephones up in June and expects to get a McKee Harvester could find himself in the same dilemma. Let's face it! We have about 25 in stock, but a carload is scheduled for Kelowna, B.C. Plus a carload for Regina, Sask. We prefer to do business with Ontario farmers, but we certainly can't maintain a manufacturing plant on last minute orders.
Buy direct from the Company or Factory Salesmen.

Increase Jet's Thrust

WATERTOWN, Conn. (AP)—The United States Air Force disclosed Friday night that it is developing a jet engine with more than twice the power of any now in use. Air Secretary Harold Talbott said in an address that "we are working on engines in the neighborhood of 25,000 pounds of thrust." The most powerful engine currently in use is about 10,000 pounds. A pound of thrust is equal to about one horsepower.

Spy Hearings Open

TROMSO, Norway (AP)—A Soviet citizen of Norwegian descent was brought to trial today in Vardo, northern Norway, in the first of a series of scheduled trials of alleged Soviet spies. The Russian, Edvin Bernhardovich Hansen, is charged with illegal entry into Norway on false identification papers and with having attempted to hire Norwegians for Soviet intelligence. The case is being heard behind closed doors.

Fenella WA Sponsors Variety Program

FENELLA (ENS)—The United Church Woman's Association sponsored a very enjoyable evenings entertainment Tuesday in the Community Hall.

The Rev. J. R. Wheeler was chairman of the program.

Otto Curtis, Cobourg, showed some very interesting slides of a trip he and his wife had taken, stopping first at the Hamilton Rock Gardens. Other pictures were taken among the American and Canadian Rockies and various places of interest in Canada and the United States. Mr. Curtis explained the pictures as he went along which made them more interesting.

This was followed with music by Carman and Murray Whitney; vocal duets by Gene and Kenneth Waldie; numbers by the Fenella Ranch Gang, Merlin McNaught, Matt Duncan, Bonnie and Fay Adams; vocal solo by Kenneth Waldie; a piano solo by John Jewell; a one-act play by the Dartford Farm Forum.

Lunch was served by WA members. Proceeds of the evening $31.35.

10,000 Fewer Out Of Work

TORONTO (CP) — Figures released from the office of Bart Sullivan, regional superintendent of unemployment insurance, rebealed that there were 10,000 fewer persons out of work in Ontario during the week nding April 15 tha there were the previous week.

"Th picture i Ontario is improving," Mr. Sullivan said Friday. "The recovery, though, is at a slower rate than at this time last year. I think we are going to have a pretty good summer. Perhaps not quite as good as the summer of 1953 . . . but certainly up to 1952."

Toronto Welfare Commissioner Rupert said, however, that unemployment in Toronto still stands at 32,000, compared with 14,000 last year.

Blast Injures Doctor

CHICAGO (AP) — A bomb exploded in the front porch of a two-storey brick flat building on the south side early today, injuring a physician tenant and causing an estimated $5,000 damage. The blast shattered 15 windows, broke plaster and wrecked the vestibule. The brick wall on the north side of the building was bulged outwards a few inches.

GM Opens Show In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Products of General Motors Corp., ranging from a "Kitchen of Tomorrow" to massive earth-moving equipment, household appliances to "dream" cars, went on display today at the International Amphitheatre as GM opened a nine-day showing of its "Motorama."

The show already has been staged in New York, Miami, Fla., Los Angeles and San Francisco. It has been seen by more than 1,500,000 in these cities. Its Chicago presentation, three times greater than the original staging in New York's Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, is expected to attract up to 750,000.

Along with automobiles, engineering exhibits and parts displays, a musical stage and fashion show were counted upon to attract visitors to the admittance-free extravaganza.

The "Kitchen of Tomorrow" developed by GM's Frigidaire division, features such advanced design concepts as cupboards that open at the wave of a hand. It has ovens that rise or sink at the push of a button.

As you need it shave it off with a sharp knife and just put the rest back in the freezer in its bag. It keeps perfectly and stays a lovely green. I keep kale the same way for soups. Mrs. Arthur M.

QUESTION: ... I would be pleased if you could give me a recipe for Gluten bread as my husband is on a diet. Mrs. A. M.

ANSWER:

GLUTEN BREAD

One-half of a moist compressed yeast cake, 2 cups lukewarm water, 3½ cups gluten flour (preferably Hoyt's), ½ teaspoon salt. Soften the yeast for 5 minutes in ½ cup of the lukewarm water, then mix together all of the ingredients. Turn out on floured board (gluten flour) and knead. If dough sticks to board sprinkle with more gluten. Knead until dough is smooth. Shape into loaf, place in buttered pan and allow to rise until twice its bulk—about 2½ hours, covered. (Knead dough

Bobby Dawes Released Broke Training

SUDBURY (CP)—Bobby Dawes, former professional hockey player with Montreal Canadiens, was released by the Sudbury Wolves for breaking training despite repeated warnings, club president and coach Max Silverman said today.

Dawes said he was released for acting as a spokesman for Sudbury players in a dispute over Silverman's threat to fine some members of the team for playing cards for money on a bus trip during the Northern Ontario Hockey Association southern group senior league playoffs.

Dawes added that his teammates have been chipping in to pay his salary since he was released and that they told him they would also pay his fare to western Canada for the Allan Cup finals.

REPEATED OFFENCES

"Dawes broke training continually at North Bay, in Timmins and in Owen Sound," said Silverman, "and he was warned several times about it.

"In Owen Sound when we had injuries and needed Dawes badly, we found him out all night. It was the unanimous decision of the club directors then that he should be released."

An unidentified spokesman for the players admitted that Dawes' salary was made up by his teammates for a while, but he said the players had since decided to stop giving him money. He said they had no intention to pay his fare to the west.

Austrian Women Parade

VIENNA (AP)—About 1,000 Austrian women staged an orderly torchlight parade Friday night through Vienna's inner city in a demonstration for release of some 900 husbands and sons held in Russia. Carrying banners such as "Amnesty for the last prisoner," "Where is humanity?" and "bring our suffering to an end," they filed past the Austrian federal chancellery.

I ACCUSE—An alert news photographer snapped this dramatic picture at a trial in Paris, France. With an accusing finger pointed at him, Alexander Nicolaieff Soubottine, a self-accredited ex-general in the Russian Czarist army, casts a baleful glance at his accuser. Soubottine is being tried on a charge of embezzlement.

Would Like Canada To Use Grain Production Controls

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP) — Ezra Taft Benson says, in friendly spirit, that he would like to see Canada impose controls on her grain production.

The amiable United States agriculture secretary observed in an interview that while U. S. wheat exports are dropping, those of Canada are increasing.

The U. S. government has imposed controls on wheat output and Canada has not. The U. S. is going to cut deeper into production next year.

The secretary conceded that Canada's greater exports may have been the result of better salesmanship. He noted that Canada has had selling missions out in the field and said that the U. S. may have to do a little more hustling.

Then he added with a smile:

"It would please us if Canada imposed controls on her acreage."

UNPOPULAR IDEA

(The controls issue was battled out in the federal-provincial agricultural conference in Ottawa last December. A suggestion by one delegate that controls be imposed was unpopular with others. The Canadian government maintains it cannot order controls under peacetime legislation.)

The six-foot, 200-pound cabinet minister is as concerned about exports as he is about domestic production.

His campaigning for lower government price supports on farm products and his drive for production controls have made him the target of American farm brickbats.

Farmers' irritation is increased by the fact that the American farm economy, just as that of Canada, is undergoing "adjustment" as it rolls from war to peacetime production.

Surpluses are mounting in this country. About $6,500,000,000 worth, including enough wheat to feed all of the U. S. for a full year, lines government shelves.

But the 54-year-old Benson feels he is winning his fight to make the American farm economy flexible and self-sustaining.

DAIRY SURPLUS HEAVY

The surpluses are "serious in some items." In the American government larder are 365,000,000 pounds of butter, 483,000,000 pounds of cheese and about 600,000,000 pounds of dried milk.

Mr. Benson felt he soon would have the dairy surplus problem licked through a plan which he could not disclose immediately.

Mr. Benson felt the U. S. will have to put on greater efforts to boost wheat sales.

U. S. officials had hoped to export about 250,000,000 bushels of wheat this year, but now the estimate has been trimmed to 200,000,000.

EXPECTED TO DECLINE

American wheat production is expected to decline this year, but the export lag may result in the U. S. carrying into 1955 as much unsold wheat as it carried over into the current year—about 850,000,000 bushels.

Thus, the U. S. is planning to cut production even deeper in 1955.

Both Mr. Benson and John Davis, assistant agriculture secretary, assured this reporter that the U. S. would not export any surpluses in such a way as to destroy normal commercial markets nor to reduce normal world prices.

The foodstuffs moved under the proposed plans would be those additional to what the purchasing country normally buys on world markets.

Rita Hayworth Denies Charge Mistreated Two Small Daughters

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (AP)—Lawyers for Rita Hayworth and her secretary-governess, Mrs. Dorothy Chambers, vigorously deny charges that the actress' two children have been neglected and mistreated.

The Westchester county Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children Friday charged in children's court that Miss Hayworth's two little girls—Rebecca Welles, 8, and Yasmin Khan, 4, were being neglected.

The couple left Miami by car Thursday, heading north but unaware then of the Westchester action.

The proceedings in children's court were behind closed doors, as is customary. It was understood that the complaint originated with a neighbor.

The youngsters first were placed under protective court custody but later left in Mrs. Chambers' care pending a hearing next Tuesday.

SAYS COMPLAINT CRUEL

In New York, Bartley Crum, Miss Hayworth's lawyer, termed the neglect complaint "not only ridiculous but cruel."

J. Robert Bleakley, who represented her and her husband in children's court, said the complaint "appears to have been based upon visual observations rather than any conversations with the children, so it must have come from a neighbor."

Mrs. Chambers said she brought the children to her home here Monday because of the pending sale of her house. Prior to then, she said, she had been staying with the girls at the Hotel Madison in New York City.

"I brought them here only Monday," Mrs. Chambers said, "yet the children's society says it had a complaint by Wednesday. . . .

"There has been no neglect or mistreatment of those youngsters. Why, I've cared for them virtually since the present marriage and I love them."

CHASED GIRL

Bleakley said the complaint also alleged that Mrs. Chambers failed to supervise the children properly and once chased Rebecca around the yard with a broom.

The lawyer said he talked to the girls and was told by Rebecca that she had misbehaved before Mrs. Chambers chased her, and later was sent to her room as punishment.

He added that there was no allegation of physical abuse and that both girls told him they had not been mistreated.

Crum, who flew to New York from Washington, said in a statement:

"This is obviously the work of a publicity-seeking individual."

Yasmin is the daughter of Moslem prince Aly Khan. Rebecca is Rita's daughter by actor Orson Welles.

Japanese Govt. Wins Motion

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese House of Representatives late today defeated a no-confidence vote against the pro-American administration of Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida in a stormy debate climaxing Japan's greatest post-war political crisis.

The victory for the 75-year-old "old fox" of Japanese politics came when the House defeated 228 to 208 a no-confidence motion based mainly on domestic issues.

The victory marked the first time in the 75-year modern political history of Japan that a prime minister had fought and won against violent opposition, scandal and the almost solid opposition of the press.

All of Japan's major newspapers and most of the smaller ones had denounced the crusty prime minister as a power-hungry old man who should step down.

The prime minister may have won simply by threatening to dissolve parliament and call for new elections if defeated. In the present political temper, it is believed Yoshida's Liberals would suffer heavily in an election and that the Progressives would be almost wiped out—at the expense of wide right and left Socialist gains.

Ont. WI Officers Plan Meet At Guelph

TORONTO (CP)—More than 700 officers of the Ontario Women's Institute will meet at Guelph Agricultural College May 5-7 for the sixth annual officers' conference.

Roster of speakers include Hon. George Doucett, acting minister of agriculture, and Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Hamilton, representing women in politics.

20,000 Africans Rounded Up For Screening

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters) — More than 20,000 Africans in Nairobi were rounded up by mid-morning today as troops and police staged an all-out campaign to rid the capital of Mau Mau terrorists and sympathizers.

The first sweep through Nairobi's 13 African locations resulted in 100 suspect tribesmen being taken to special screening camps.

Before Operation anvil ends, the 8,000 British and native troops, police and home guards taking part expect to isolate some 5,000 members of the terror cult, its sympathizers, or "criminal elements."

Only men are being held for screening. Women and children were to be fed and sent back to tribal reserves.

The operation continuing throughout the week-end will bring in Kikuyu, Embu and Meru tribesmen from among the 75,000 natives in Nairobi's population of 100,000.

The drive seeks to deprive Mau Mau gangs hidden in the forests of Kenya of couriers, supplies and recruits drawn from among the city's native population. Several Mau Mau leaders are believed to be hiding in the city's teeming native districts.

Receives Recognition Wartime Invention

OTTAWA (CP)—A. J. Langley, an Ottawa inventor, finally has received official recognition for his invention of a pencil-shaped time detonator used by Allied saboteurs during the Second World War.

Mr. Langley, former commander in the Royal Navy, has been notified that the United Kingdom royal commission of awards to inventors has recommended that he receive £700 for his invention.

About 15,500,000 of the detonators were used during the war. They enabled saboteurs to set explosions to go off hours after they left the scene, and were parachuted in large numbers to resistance groups in occupied countries.

He invented the device 15 years ago, and applied for a reward eight years ago.

U.S. Air Force Pilot Survives Crash

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—A U. S. Air Force reserve pilot successfully rode out a crash in a P-51 Mustang today and was reported to have escaped with minor cuts.

The plane crashed and burned at nearby Sanborn.

The pilot, whose name was not available, was flying a routine week-end training mission out of the reserve base at Niagara Falls airport.

Details of the crash were not available, but it was reported from the scene that the pilot was thrown clear of the wreckage.

Bring Legal Action Quash Daylight Saving

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Iegal action to quash daylight saving time in Windsor is being sought by the joint political action committee of the UAW-CIO, comprising representatives from all labor unions in the city.

James Orem, chairman of the joint committee, said this morning that the group is neither for nor against daylight saving as such but objects to the way in which it was brought into effect.

The committee has retained a lawyer, to find out how the city ruling which brought daylight saving into effect can be nullified.

"Glass-Pox" Plague Reaches Into Quebec

ROUYN, Que. (CP)—The "glass-pox" plague reached this northwestern Quebec mining centre and the adjoining town of Noranda today.

Tiny pits were found on windshields of cars parked along the streets.

One motorist suggested the marks were caused by bits of calcium chloride from sand strewn along the streets during the winter.

GONE FROM THEIR COBOURG HOME from ten o'clock Wednesday morning until one-thirty on Thursday morning, 12-year-old Lorna Gray and her sister, Dorothy, age 7, gave their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Gray, some anxious hours. Provincial police searched the Rice Lake area the whole evening before it was learned that the children had made their way back to Cobourg and were heading out No. 2 Highway when found by Jim Doherty, Cobourg taxi driver. The children told Doherty that they were on their way to Toronto to visit "Granny." The youngsters knew the Rice Lake area well as the family had only moved in from there last fall.—(Murray Smith Photos).

Police Chief Dies In Hospital

NEW LISKEARD (CP) — District Inspector N. C. Smaill of the Ontario provincial police died in New Liskeard hospital Friday after a brief illness. He was 51.

Although in poor health for some months, Inspector Smaill had been on duty earlier this week and his death was not expected.

Born in Cache Bay, Inspector Smaill served for several years with the RCMP and joined the OPP in 1927. He served in Sudbury, North Bay, Niagara Falls and Haileybury and was appointed district inspector in 1950.

His district, No. 12, was one of the largest in Ontario.

Inspector Smaill is survived by his widow, the former Cecile Gauthier of Sudbury, and an infant son, Minor. Other survivors include two sisters, Laura Smaill of Schumacher and Mrs. J. W. Carswell of Cache Bay.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Immigration Dept. Receives Criticism

TORONTO (CP) — Mr. Justice J. L. Wilson of the Supreme Court of Ontario criticized the Canadian immigration department Friday and said it should have disclosed any information it had against Mrs. Shirley Brent, 23, of Buffalo, N.Y.

He deferred judgment on whether Mrs. Brent should be deported or be allowed to remain in Canada.

Testimony was the woman entered Canada as a visitor Jan. 1 as Shirley Taylor and was married to Barry Brent of Toronto March 9. On Jan. 28 she appeared before an immigration board and was told she "didn't meet requirements."

John D. Pickup of Toronto, representing the immigration department, said no reasons had to be given under the statutes.

"Fine state of affairs in this country where there is supposed to be justice," said Mr. Justice Wilson.

Owns Expensive Car But No Money

BRANTFORD (CP)—Police told the story today of a 55-year-old man who parked his "million dollar car" in front of the station and then asked for a meal ticket and a night's sleep in a cell.

The trouble is, officers said, they didn't find out about the situation until Friday, after they had given the man two meals and free lodging for two nights.

They said Carl St. Regis of Bothwell, Ont., was caught in the act when he left the station at 6 a. m., walked up to a limousine, unlocked it and started to polish it.

The lodger explained that he had "a million-dollar car and no money to run it," officers said. He accepted the hospitality until he got "a new start."

Continue Search Escaped Prisoners

SUDBURY (CP) — A search continued today for five prisoners who escaped Thursday from Burwash prison farm, 20 miles south of here, but police said there were no developments.

Officials identified the men as Arminas Lapierre, 37, Cornwall; Clarence McRitchie, 37, Toronto; Leo Bedard, 22, Hawkesbury; Antonio Robert, 21, Ottawa; and Roy Allen Wood, 21, Oshawa. Wood walked off from a work party, the others escaped from a cell block in the main building, authorities said.

Most of the five were serving terms for theft.

Police Hold Men For Questioning

MONTREAL (CP) — Police said Friday night they are holding three men for questioning in connection with the slaying of Frank Battaglia, 39, of Oakville, Ont.

Homicide squad detectives declined to reveal the identity of the men.

Inspector Henry Bond, chief of homicide, said all three were known to police in other cities. They had been in the city shortly before Battaglia was murdered. He said their specialty is safe-cracking.

Battaglia's strangled body was found in a weed-cluttered east end lot April 15, a day after he was freed on a charge of murdering Charlie (The Kid) Wagner. Police said the motive or Battaglia's slaying was gangland vengeance.

Canadian Driver Gets The Book

FORT ERIE (CP) — Roderick J. Macdonald, 21, of Orangeville, was charged Friday in a Buffalo court with driving while drunk, leaving the scene of an accident, travelling the wrong way on a one-way street, going through a red light and striking a police car near the Peace Bridge.

He was fined $230 and his licence was suspended by federal judge Frank A. Sedita. Macdonald was arrested early Thursday as he was about to return to Canada. The U.S. court ordered his deportation.

The landfill dump used by the city is open five and a half days of the week. It closes at 5 p.m.

"We have to keep it under some control," explained Mr. Pierce, "or we'd have fires . . . People should be able to get their garbage out in the length of time we have open."

Newspapermen Gather For Discussions

TORONTO (CP) — Newspaper executives from the 10 provinces are gathering here for the yearly week-long series of meetings at which editorial and business problems are threshed out.

Scheduled are annual meetings of The Canadian Press, The Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, and Broadcast News Limited, as well as directors' and committee meetings.

CP directors meet Tuesday and the annual meeting of members of the national news co-operative is set for Wednesday when a new board of directors and new officers will be chosen.

CDNA directors meet Thursday and Saturday, with the annual meeting Thursday and Friday.

Annual and directors' meetings of Broadcast News, CP's affiliate which provides news to radio stations, are set for Monday, both being continued Wednesday.

The Canadian section, Commonwealth Press Union, meets Tuesday night.

Prime Minister St. Laurent will address the annual Canadian Press dinner Wednesday night.

Royal Children Enjoy Picnic

VALLETTA, Malta (Reuters)—Prince Charles and Princess Anne scrambled barefoot over rocks and paddled in knee-deep pools at a picnic on the south of the island Friday.

Queen Elizabeth's five-year-old son splashed his cream shirt and blue trousers as he jumped gleefully into a pool shouting "this is a lovely one." Three-year-old Princess Anne echoed his shouts.

Later the children had a picnic lunch with their great uncle and great aunt, Admiral Earl Mountbatten, commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean, and Lady Mountbatten.

The picnic was the big event of the first day the prince and princess have spent ashore since they sailed from Britain eight days ago in the royal yacht Britannia on their way to meet their parents.

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh are on board the Gothic in the Arabian sea sailing towards Aden. They will see their children again when they reach Tobruk May 1, on the last leg of their Commonwealth tour.

French Nurse Working In Besieged Fortress

HANOI (Reuters) — One young French nurse, caught in besieged Dien Bien Phu when air evacuation ended, now is the "Angel" of nearly 1,000 wounded men in the Indo-China fortress' somber dugout hospital.

She helps the three skilled surgical teams who perform 25 operations a day in underground wards, while savage fighting rages above, a French army medical officer said Friday.

Censorship does not allow her to be identified.

Heavy fighting on the fortress' airstrip stopped evacuation of casualties March 27.

Quebec Blamed For Language Hold-Up

OTTAWA (CP)—Camille L'Heureux, editor-in-chief of Le Droit, French-language Ottawa newspaper, said Friday the Province of Quebec is to blame for the slow progress being made in development and perfection of the French language in Canada.

Mr. L'Heureux told the annual convention of the Ontario Bilingual School Trustees Association there is a great need for a unified movement in all French-language institutions to bring about durable results in the drive for better French.

J. A. Lapalme of Sudbury was elected president of the association.

Inertia Worst Problem

WINDSOR, Ont.)cp) — The greatest threat to the Christian church is not communism and unbelievers but the inertia of the average, easy-going Christian, Rt. Rev. G. N. Luxton, Bishop of Huron, told 300 laymen here Friday night at the opening of the fourth annual conference of the Brotherhood of Anglican Churchmen.

U.S. Economy Loses Punch For First In Five Years

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP)—For the first time since 1949, the giant American economy has lost its punch. President Eisenhower's advisers are none too sure when it will start perking up again.

The dip in United States prosperity is by no means general. The American economy is big and powerful and can take a lot of punishment.

But a mere dip here can have a serious impact on the smaller countries, such as Canada, which depend largely on the rich American markets.

W. Randolph Burgess, deputy secretary of the U. S. treasury, said in an interview that employment is still as high as it has been with the exception of one year—1953. The number of jobless, about 3,700,000 in March, compared with the 60,000,000 that had jobs.

He believes further that most of the unemployed are the marginal types: The elimination of one breadwinner in families which formerly had two; the housewife with a husband who has a full-time job; the youngster of 18 who has been told to get work but still has a fully employed father to support him.

"Employment is still pretty good," he said, but against this, top commerce department statisticians report that national production, key to economic health, has dropped.

This decline is measured against a background of fairly firm prices. There has been some recent drop in consumer prices, following Eisenhower's tax cuts. But the consumer price index, based on 1947-49 prices equalling 100, touched 115 last February, just a fraction below the all-time high of 115.4 last October.

The Eisenhower administration has frequently cautioned against "loose talk about depression," and Burgess said the economic drop has "not gone far enough to justify calling it a recession."

The Eisenhower administration is concerned. Tax cuts this year are estimated to amount to an annual rate of $7,500,000,000. This would seem to increase the purchasing power in the hands of the public, but Burgess noted that the government has trimmed its spending by an annual rate this year of $8,500,000,000. So it could not be said that the government is following an "easy money" policy.

"We are following a flexible money policy, designed to contribute to stability," Burgess said.

But the economic drop can not be overlooked. The American business cycle seems to have taken a definite turn—and not for the better.

"The turn started last summer," said Burgess. "Sometimes in these four-year-cycles, it takes a year to go down before they start coming again. But they are too variable. You can't pin it down.

"Nobody can be sure just when it will turn."

LITTLE JANIE MARIE COMES HOME—Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Kemplin are a happy couple now that they have their baby, Janie Marie, back in their Newport, Ky., home. The child (right) was abducted a week ago by a baby sitter.

Australia Rejects Soviet Request For Petrov's Return

By STAN HUTCHINSON

CANBERRA (AP)—Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies says Russia's diplomats here, packing for home following a break in Soviet-Australian relations, can go any time. But the Sov ets still held back exit permits today for the Australian embassy staff in Moscow.

Acting Foreign Minister Sir Philip McBride handed the Russian ambassador a note Sunday rejecting demands that the Canberra government hand back Vladimir Petrov and his wife.

The note replied to the Kremlin's communication last week severing diplomatic relations between the two countries because the fugitive Russian couple had been granted political asylum here. The Soviets branded Petrov a "criminal" who allegedly embezzled embassy funds and charged the Australians kidnapped Mrs. Petrov, an embassy code clerk.

PETROV IN HIDING

Petrov, former third secretary of the Soviet embassy, has been in hiding since he abandoned communism and turned over hundreds of embassy documents to the Australian government. The papers purported to reveal a big Red spy ring in Australia.

The Soviets had ordered Australian charge d'affaires Brian Hill and his staff to leave Moscow by Sunday night. But Sunday sources in the Russian capital said the departure of the envoy and the two other men, three women and two children in the Moscow embassy was now "conditional on developments in Australia."

This stirred speculation here the delay was forced because the 51 Russians—staff members and families—in the embassy here have been unable to get quick air passage out of the country. The foreign ministry has been approaching shipping and airline companies to arrange reservations.

It was suggested that the Russians might be using Hill as a hostage to get Tass correspondent Victor Antonov out of Australia without delay. Antonov, lacking diplomatic immunity, could be called to testify in an investigation of the espionage charges which the government is setting up. His apartment has been described unofficially as an espionage centre.

If Russia had any fears about Antonov, they were dispelled today when the Australian government announced that the Tass correspondent would be permitted to leave the country at any time.

Valdmanis Gets Lawyer For Defence

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — A lawyer was retained Sunday to defend Dr. Alfred Valdmanis, one-time chief of Newfoundland's economic development program who is accused of defrauding the province of $150,000.

The lawyer, Gordon F. Higgins, after interviewing Valdmanis in a jail cell here, said the 47-year-old Latvian was "extremely upset" and hadn't slept since Friday. Valdmanis was arrested Friday while in bed at his brother's home in St. Andrews, N.B.

Solicitors for the Lady David Foundation, which brought Valdmanis to Canada, asked the former Progressive Conservative member of Parliament to represent him at his trial.

Valdmanis appeared in court only 35 minutes after being brought here by plane Saturday from Saint John, N.B. His usual dapper self, he appeared unmoved as the magistrate refused bail and remanded him eight days.

CLAIMS FRAUD

The charge said that he defrauded the government of $150,000 between Jan. 20, 1950 and Oct. 25, 1951, at St. John's, Nfld. He was director-general of economic development from August 1950 to early 1953 at an annual salary of $25,000.

He then became probably the highest paid civil servant in Canada when he was appointed chairman of the Newfoundland and Labrador Corporation with a $5,000 yearly increase. Premier Smallwood asked for his resignation in February.

Prior to his arrival in court, it was indicated that Valdmanis was charged with extortion. Premier Smallwood said Friday that he was arrested on a charge "that he extorted very large sums of money from various firms with whom he dealt with on behalf of the government of Newfoundland."

The $150,000 was also $10,000 less than the earlier figure announced by Attorney-General Curtis. Mr. Curtis said at the time that additional charges would be laid.

Bail was refused on the grounds that investigations have not been completed and because Valdmanis is not a Newfoundland resident.

Charge Russia Directing Attack

TOKYO (AP)—A United Nations radio broadcast, beamed to the Communist Chinese mainland and monitored here, charged tonight that Russia is directing the Communist attack on Dien Bien Phu in Indo-China.

The broadcast by the Voice of the United Nations Command—the UNC propaganda agency—was in both Korean and Chinese.

It said its information came from a Communist newspaper published in Nanning, a Chinese province near Dien Bien Phu. The broadcast asserted the Feb. 11 issue of the paper said Chinese Communists and Russian ministries of posts and telecommunications had agreed to open communications between Nanning and Moscow.

The paper said the circuit was needed because of industrial development of the area. But the Voice broadcast asserted Nanning is a quiet farming centre in one of China's most backward areas.

The broadcast asserted the new phone line was needed by the Kremlin to give orders and to coordinate activities with the Communist high command in the attle for Dien Bien Phu.

Men, Women Charged With Armed Robbery

TORONTO (CP) — Two men and a woman were arrested Saturday night and charged in connection with the $2,189 armed robbery of the J. Robert Page Co. Ltd., last Thursday.

Roger Lundrigan, 29, and his brother, Ralph, 24, were charged with armed robbery. Roger's wife, Patricia, 26, was charged with receiving stolen money.

TWO DEEP GASHES in his left leg, cuts and bruises were suffered by Allen McGlennon, 309 McDonnel St., late Sunday night when his motorcycle collided with a truck on George St., near the CPR station. The motorcycle bounced off the truck, driven by Charles Goold, 190 Prince St., grazed a steel hydro pole and crashed in the station platform. McGlennon sailed through the air and landed between the double tracks, 58 feet from the point of impact. He was rushed to St. Joseph's hospital by Nisbett ambulance. Spectators (above) gathered about the twisted motorcycle. See story Page 13. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Pearson Predicts Conference Complicated, Difficult

By ALAN HARVEY, Canadian Press Staff Writer

GENEVA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson, leader of the Canadian delegation to the Geneva Far Eastern conference opening today, said Sunday night that the meeting is "one of the most difficult and complicated" of post-war years.

But, he added, "given good will, it may be possible that something constructive will arise from it."

Pearson made the statement to a reporter shortly after his arrival in Geneva by train from Paris where he attended a NATO council meeting Friday.

Canada's interest in the Geneva conference involves attempts to bring permanent peace to divided Korea where Canadian troops fought in the war and now are stationed along the cease-fire line.

WON'T SIT IN

The Canadian delegation will not sit in on the part of the conference dealing with Indo-China.

Pearson dined with Australian Affairs Minister Richard Casey, a colleague at the United Nations, Sunday night and planned to confer with the Canadian delegation later as well as with other Commonwealth delegations.

Photographers and reporters crowded around the Canadian minister as he alighted at Geneva's central station.

"Geneva is an old home to me," he said, shaking hands on the platform with George Magann, chief Canadian diplomatic representative in Switzerland.

Pearson's last visit to Geneva was in 1946 in connection with a United Nations relief conference. He also spent "month after month" at Geneva in a series of pre-war peace conferences.

Woman Suffers From 'Glasspox'

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Now it's a pitted thumb.

Mrs. Gary May, 21, of nearby Port Weller says she has proof positive of an unusual development in this latest case of pockmarked windshields, the mysterious car nuisance that has swept Canada.

Mrs. May and her husband noticed blobs on the windshield resembling rain drops Friday night, but it wasn't raining. She reached around to feel the windshield—and felt a sharp stinging pain on her right thumb.

"It just felt as if I had got a rose thorn or a thistle in my hand," Mrs. May said.

Dr. D. V. Currey, medical officer of health for Lincoln county, said the mark was so small that he couldn't diagnose it as either a burn or wound.

The Mays said there are about two dozen small gouges in the car windshield.

France Canvasses Allies For Aid In An Attempt To Stave Off Defeat

PARIS (AP)—France canvassed her major allies for fresh aid to stave off defeat at Dien Bien Phu today. The best it could do was a reported possibility that the United States might consider sending forces to Indo-China if the proposed southeast Asia alliance is formed.

An authoritative French source in Geneva for the Asian conference said President Eisenhower's government has turned down a French request that U. S. Air Force planes and pilots be sent into action at once against the Vietminh rebels.

The informant said U. S. State Secretary Dulles has told French Foreign Minister Bidault that Washington's position would be much different if the Western Big Three succeeded in their announced plans to form a 10-power Pacific counterpart of the North Atlantic alliance.

Britain and France have agreed to study the possibility of such a pact but made no further commitment.

Prime Minister Churchill's cabinet was reported to have ruled out at least temporarily a suggestion to send British troops to Indo-China.

Sources indicated, however, that the British might send more troops and planes to neighboring Malaya and perhaps stage British naval manoeuvres off the Indo-China coast as a "show of force" to bolster French morale.

With no major new foreign aid immediately in prospect, Premier Joseph Laniel's cabinet was reported debating whether to send besieged Dien Bien Phu's commander, Brig.-Gen. Christian de Castries, instructions to ask the Vietminh rebels for surrender with "full honors of war."

French foreign secretary Georges Bidault, questioned about the reported appeal for direct U.S. air intervention, said Sunday night before his departure for the Geneva conference:

"CRITICAL SITUATION"

"You understand that because of the critical situation wherein the defenders of Dien Bien Phu find themselves, everything should be tried to bring them aid."

This was taken as a sure sign Laniel's government was asking Britain and America for some new kind of war aid.

On the political front, chief of state Bao Dai of the French-sponsored Viet Namese government, gave his French sponsors a major slap. He announced Sunday he would not sign the treaties his government has been negotiating with the French for Viet Namese independence.

The French had hoped to present the treaties at the Geneva conference as an answer to criticism that they are trying to preserve their colonial hold on the rich Far Eastern colony.

French Planes Strike At Vietminh

Reds Threaten Break Through Into Stronghold

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI, Indo-China (AP) — French fighters and bombers —with newly-arrived, American-supplied Corsairs in action for the first time — today laid down the heaviest air strikes of the entire Indo-Chinese war against Communist-led Vietminh troops threatening to smash into the French Union fortress at Dien Bien Phu.

The French high command, announcing this tonight, did not disclose the number of sorties but said they were far in excess of the previous one day's record of 136 missions early this year. The planes dropped hundreds of tons of bombs on rebel troops concentrated in the hills surrounding the fortress.

Vietminh entrenched along the fringes of the bastion also were heavily hit by bombers and for hours were peppered with thousands of machine-gun bullets from low flying fighter planes.

The tightly - packed French Union defenders, driven into a cluster of fortifications less than a mile and a quarter across, were in an "extremely serious but not desperate" position, the French reported Sunday night. Today they said the situation is "unchanged."

Informants in radio contact with the isolated, encircled plain said the morale of the garrison troops was "sky high" as they braced themselves for the bloody hand-to-hand fighting they hoped desperately would hold back another all-out enemy attempt to sway the Geneva conference on Asian problems.

WILL MEET SOON

The rebels levelled their heaviest mortar and artillery fire on the northwestern corner of the shrunken Dien Bien Phu redoubt. This was an attempt to rip bigger holes in the crumbling defences in the northwest, opening a floodgate for the masses of Vietminh infantry waiting to sweep down from the surrounding hills.

The French command said the rebels maintained their "pressure" on their new defence line in that sector, established about 300 feet due south of the rebel trenches. But the French said the attackers had not been able to infiltrate the line Sunday night and were still 600 yards from Brig.-Gen. Christian de Castries' command headquarters.

A Vietminh broadcast heard in Hanoi said the opposing forces will

Critically Burned In House Fire

NAVAN, Ont. (CP) — Arthur Clement was critically burned today when coal oil he was using to coax smouldering coals into flame exploded, touching off a fire which levelled his home.

He was taken to hospital in Ottawa, 12 miles west of here, and his chances of recovery were reported to be poor.

Mr. Clement, 40-year-old father of nine, and eight children escaped from the house.

Mrs. Clement was in hospital in Ottawa where she had given birth to her ninth child two days ago.

Dogs Leap Fence Die In 40-Foot Fall

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A prize-winning greyhound dog and her young pup plunged to their deaths Sunday night when they leaped what looked like an ordinary fence at the police station and broke their necks in a 40-foot fall on the other side.

"Button Top" and her pup "Gingles" were owned by Joseph Ripping and were valued at $275.

"Button Top" had been raced and had won numerous cash prizes.

The two were out exercising when they reached the rear of the police station and went to their deaths.

Conference Chairmen

GENEVA, Switzerland (Reuters) — The West agreed with Russia today that the foreign minister of Thailand will be the chairman of today's opening session of the Far East conference here.

Russia's Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov will be chairman Tuesday and Britain's Anthony Eden on Wednesday. Thereafter the chairmanship will rotate in the same order among the three statesmen.

Canadian Reporter Writes About Russia

Soviet Russia through the eyes of a brilliant Canadian newspaperman is the subject of a series of articles which starts today in The Examiner, on Page 5.

William Boss, Canadian Press correspondent, who have travelled the equivalent of 10 times around the world in his travels after news, recently concluded a tour of the Soviet Union. He culminated the Russian assignmen with a 6,000-mile tour of Soviet Central Asia.

The 36-year-old Ottawa-born writer, who first achieved fame as a CP war correspondent in the Second World War, was with the Canadian Brigade in all its battles in Korea.

Strong 'Quake Shakes San Francisco

WATSONVILLE, Calif. (AP)—Central California's strongest earthquake in nearly two years jolted a 150-mile stretch along the coast Sunday, frightening thousands, causing widespread minor damage to buildings and temporarily blocking a highway east of here.

A panicked crowd of some 500 rushed for the doorways of a dog show at the fair grounds five miles north of here, bruising an unidentified 16-year-old girl. She was the only injury reported.

The shocks, recorded by the University of California seismograph for 20 minutes starting at 1:33:47.5 p.m., PDT, (4:33:47.5 EDT) were felt throughout the San Francisco bay area, 90 miles to the north. Newspapers, radio stations and The Associated Press there were swamped with anxious telephone queries.

HIGH INTENSITY

The seismograph at Berkeley registered an intensity of 5.2 on the 10-point richter scale, compared to more than 7 for the 1952 Kern county tremor in which five died and 8¼ for the disastrous 1906 San Francisco quake.

Dr. Perry Byerly, university seismologist, said the shocks centred about 75 miles south of Berkeley. Reports indicated the towns of Hollister, Gilroy and Watsonville got the worst shaking.

The San Andreas and Hayward geological faults—source of many quakes—converge in this area.

In Watsonville police estimated damage roughly at from $25,000 to $40,000.

Chunks of concrete fell from the Bank of America building, plaster dropped from the ceiling and two walls of the bank cracked.

There were widespread reports in the area of toppled chimneys, fallen dishes and bottles and broken windows. The Gilroy-Watsonville highway over Chittenden pass was blocked several hours when the quake opened a three-inch crack 50 feet long and loosed earth slides over five miles of the route.

$1,500,000 Damage In Freight Train Crash

PORT WASHINGTON, O. (AP)—A westbound freight train, loaded with explosives and high-octane gasoline, derailed near here Sunday and damage was estimated at upwards of $1,500,000. There were no injuries.

Thirty-five cars of a Pennsylvania freight train piled up or turned over and some uncoupled cars crashed into a storage siding, hitting 13 empty cars parked there.

There were no fires or explosions. Officials said 950 feet of track were torn up.

Opinions Doubtful For Success Of Discussions

By ALAN HARVEY

GENEVA (CP) — The conference on Indo-China and retary Eden of Britain announced: "All the procedure is retary Ede nof Britain announced: "All the procedure is agreed. We meet tomorrow to start."

Before the historic meetings began in the old League of Nations building, Eden and Foreign Minister Molotov had come to a surprise agreement on one phase of the delicate question of the status of Red China at the conference table.

Russia has insisted the Peiping regime be treated as an equal of the Big Four; the United States has adamantly opposed giving Communist China that status.

The agreement worked out by Eden and Molotov was to designate Prince Wan of Thailand to take the chair at the opening session. Molotov will preside Tuesday, Eden on Wednesday. After that the three will rotate the chairmanship.

CAN ALL SMILE

Eden described the agreement on procedure at this afternoon's brief conference meeting as "very good."

"You can all smile and be happy," he told correspondents.

A Canadian delegate said that the swift agreement on chairmanship is an indication that delegates are eager to get down to business as quickly as possible.

The chairmanship arrangement was approved at a meeting among the countries which took part in the Korea war against the Communists. Canada was represented by External Affairs Minister Pearson and Chester Ronning, Canadian minister to Norway and Iceland. Pearson later lunched with Australian External Affairs Minister Richard Casey.

Seating arrangements for today's opening meeting were also settled. The delegates sat around a horseshoe-shaped table in the council chamber of the Palais des Nations. Canada is in the first row of delegates, besides Colombia. Directly behind are the representatives of Communist China and North Korea.

Malenkov Makes Surprise Speech

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Premier Georgi Malenkov made an unannounced, surprise speech in the Supreme Soviet today declaring that Russia believed in the coexistence of communism and capitalism as well as increased trade etween the two systems.

Speaking to the Council of Nationalities, he declared there had been a certain lessening in world tension as a result of the efforts of peace-loving peoples.

Malenkov also attacked the European Defence Community which he said was aimed at a revival of German militarism.

Malenkov urged the adoption of Russia's proposal for European collective security.

On home affairs he said the present five-year plan would be completed in four years.

SAYS INDUSTRY LAGGING

But he criticized deficiences in industry—including the cost of production and labor discipline. These required an improvement, he declared.

The Council of Nationalities approved Russia's budget and agreed to meet with the Council of the Union in joint session at noon Tuesday. This is believed to be the final session of the Supreme Soviet.

(The Soviet news agency Tass, in a report received in London this afternoon, described Malenkov's statement to the council as a "major speech." He was received with "roaring applause," it said.)

Descendant Of Mohammed Refuses Kneel Before Queen

ADEN (AP) — Should a descendent of the prophet Mohammed kneel before a woman — even the Queen of England?

That's the question being settled by compromise during the visit of Queen Elizabeth Tuesday when Seyid Abubakr Bin Sheikh Al Kaf, 72-year-old Moslem leader, will be formally dubbed a Knight of the British Empire.

There was considerable consternation among Moslems when it was learned that Seyid Abubakr would be expected to kneel in the investiture ceremony.

Such a holy man kneels only to Allah, and the fact that he would be required to kneel to a woman caused so much misgiving it was reported that at one time Seyid Abubakr was going to forgo his title, which will make him Seyid Sir Abubakr.

Aden governor Sir Tom Hickenbotham and his protocol aides solved the crisis by providing a low stool on which Seyid Abubakr will lightly rest one knee when he receives the accolade.

Seyid Abubakr is state councillor of the Sultanate of Kathir. He was awarded the knighthood in 1953 for services in creating the Kathiri state.

The same stool will be used by Air Marshal Claude Pelly, commander-in-chief of Middle East air forces, who will be invested with the order of Knight Commander of the Bath.

Small Airplane Crash Lands At Orillia

ORILLIA (CP)—The engine of a small plane conked out over this town Sunday and its 20-year-old pilot skimmed it over a high school ticked the roof of a big house and crash-landed in a public school yard.

John Swallow of Toronto jumped from his Piper Cub after it snapped off two outdoor basketball standards and flipped end over end for about 50 feet. The plane stopped a few yards from the school door. Swallow escaped with a bump on his forehead. The plane was badly damaged.

No one was injured but plenty of Orillia's 12,000 residents got a scare.

ENGINE FAILS

Swallow said the engine failed at about 1,000 feet over the residential north end of the town. He told police he went into a dive to try to get the engine going again.

When this failed, he glided toward the yard of the Orillia District Collegiate High School.

He overshot the yard, veered past the school and hit an aerial on a house owned by C. W. F. Evans.

Swallow brought the plane down in the public school yard about a block from Evans' home.

The youth, part owner of the aircraft, said he frequently makes the 70-mile trip from Toronto to Orillia to visit his parents. He usually landed on a field on the outskirts.

$196,650 Donation For Blind Institute

TORONTO (CP)—City council has approved a $196,650 capital grant to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind's service and re-habilitation centre, acting mayor Leslie H. Saunders said today.

The grant raises the building fund receipts to more than $1,400,000 of the $3,150,000 objective. The new building is to be erected near Sunnybrook Hospital.

The city's grant was based on $150 for each of Toronto's 1,311 blind citizens.

Reds Supervise Swiss Security

GENEVA (Reuters) — Russians, Chinese and North Korean security men today "supervised" a Swiss police check of all security arrangements before today's opening session of the Far East conference here.

The Swiss police are in charge of all measures in the United Nations building here to guard the 1,000 delegates.

But the Communist delegates—who have brought numerous bodyguards with them—were apparently not satisfied with the Swiss arrangements.

They sent their own agents to make a minute inspection of the conference room.

Officially there should be no bodyguards inside the conference chamber during the talks. But the Soviet, Chinese and North Korean delegations were expected to insist on extra "advisers" to accompany them.

Mechanical Lovers!

CHICAGO (AP) — Police found Carl Mannelli and John Thomas, both 25, standing on the roof of the Wisconsin Packing Company Sunday night. Beside them was an assortment of wrenches, hacksaws and other tools. But both men denied they had anything like a burglary in mind. "Honest, officers," said Mannelli as police led him away. "We were just looking for girls."

Accidents Claim Eleven Lives

8-Year-Old Hanged While Playing With Rope Swing

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Eleven persons, including two children, died violently in eastern Canada during the weekend. One of the children was accidentally hanged; the other smothered in his crib.

Of the total list of fatalities, six were traffic mishaps.

A collision between a jeep and a bus at Bagotville took two lives and was the worst of a series of accidents that ran the death toll in Quebec to six. There were six violent deaths in Ontario. The Maritimes had none.

The Bagotville crash killed Elie Sergerie, 52, and Tancrede Sergerie, 44, cousins. two others were injured but the bus passengers escaped unhurt.

DRUNK DRIVING

At Maniwaki, Que., 44-year-old Alphonse Charbonneau of Grand Remous died in hospital early Sunday shortly after receiving a beating. Police said they were holding a man on a charge of drunk driving in connection with the death.

Other deaths:

Ontario:

John Ryan, 8, was hanged Sunday night while playing with a rope in a Toronto school yard. He was swinging from a rope attached to a sawdust extractor when it apparently got twisted around his neck and he fell.

Joshua Rupert, 49-year-old native of Newington, near Cornwall, was drowned in 1½ feet of water Saturday after his car went out of control and ran into a swamp. He is believed to have suffered a heart seizure as he got out of the car.

James Fortune, 18, was struck and killed by a car at Aurora, about 20 miles north of Toronto, as he walked with is brother along a highway. Ernest D. Fenn, 62, of London died in the wreckage of his car when it smashed into a hydro pole.

In the Ottawa suburb of Eastview a month-old baby, Richard Fitzsimmons, smothered in his crib early Saturday. Mrs. Joseph Fitzsimmons said she found the child lying on his stomach with his face buried in the covers.

Toronto Trading Market Mixed

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market was mixed in moderate early afternoon trading today. Third-hour volume was 1,360,000 shares.

Papers led a wide list of stronger industrials as only steels and motors slipped. Refining oils, liquors, financial institutions and constructions were also strong in featureless trading. Aluminium, up $1.12½, and Canada Life, up $3 on a single transaction, were the only more-than-a-dollar changes.

Seniors and juniors were lower in active base metal trading but Manitouwadge - area issues were steady. Sneior losses ranged to 25 cents, by Noranda, International Nickel and Hudson Bay. In juniors MacKeno was active. Golds were a little higher, although holding companies showed slightly weaker. Uraniums edged ahead and Bathurst-area base metals slipped.

Western oils were quiet.

State Visit

STOCKHOLM (CP)—King Gustaf Adolf and Queen Louise are expected to use the cruiser Tre Kronor (Three Crowns), flagship of the Swedish Navy, for their state visit to London June 28-July 1. Among the London entertainments for the royal visit is expected to be a gala performance at the Covent Garden opera house.

BEFORE AND AFTER — After four years of planning among U.S. and Philippine representatives, a war-blasted Manila is getting a "new look" as seen below. Newly completed is the centre of the new Institute of Public Administration at the University of the Philippines. The new building, Rizal Hall, was rebuilt by the Philippine government at a cost of 750,000 pesos ($350,000). It was dedicated by Harold Stassen, U.S. director of foreign operations, "as a permanent reminder of the close relationship between knowledge, good government and freedom." The Institute trains Philippine government personnel, helps to educate aspirants for government service, and provides consultative service to the government on major administrative problems.

American Moves In Asia Given As Warning To China

By PHILIP DEANE

COLOMBO (ENS) — Amidst a wave of America-baiting in the South Asian press comes the first authentic explanation of what really prompted Washington to take the two steps which, in the past six months, have caused this baiting and made so many enemies for the United States.

Unimpeachable diplomatic sources tell me that these two steps—military aid to Pakistan and Mr. Dulles's call for a South East Asian "NATO"—were both taken as a result of carefully-checked intelligence reports which prompted Washington to accept the predictable hostile Asian reaction as an inevitable consequence of vitally essential measures.

In the case of the South-East Asian treaty move, the intelligence reports concerned heavy Chinese troop movements towards Indo-China, work to double the railway track leading from Kunming to Indo-China, and evidence that "Volunteer Chinese airmen" were about to enter the fight.

The United States, on the basis of these reports, thought it essential to warn China that an increased interference on her part would bring about increase American activity in South-East Asia, and perhaps another "Korea" in Indo-China.

GENUINE H-BOMB

The decision to give military aid to Pakistan in the face of the violent Indian opposition was due to the realization that the August 1953 thermo-nuclear explosion in Russia was caused by a genuine hydrogen bomb, transportable by plane, and far more advanced than the unwieldly device the Americans used in the 1952 Operation Ivy.

This unexpected Russian lead in atomic weapons caused the Pentagon to demand—despite state department objections—completion of the ring of airfields which could be used by American planes flying on retaliatory raids in case of war. Certain industrial areas in Central Asia could not be effectively bombed in retaliation unless there were airfields on the Indian sub-continent where American bombers from Alaska could land, on completing their mission.

Now that the United States has herself developed a transportable hydrogen bomb, the reasons for overcoming state department objections to military aid to Pakistan can be made known. But as the United States has not quite caught up with this lead—my sources inform me—the Chinese Communists might have thought they could try attacking Indo-China with impunity. Hence the necessity for a strong reaffirmation of America's willingness to resist such an attack.

be "face to face very soon" in a death struggle. The threat appeared to back up the belief that the rebels' Communist leaders were preparing to throw everything into one more attempt to wipe out Dien Bien Phu. This would give the Reds a resounding propaganda victory to back up their claims at Geneva, where an attempt may be made to negotiate an Indo-China settlement.

French planes nosed through mist and rain to parachute more ammunition, food and medical supplies to the shrunken target area at Dien Bien Phu. The fortress, under siege for 158 days, has been supplied entirely by air. The French now hold only one-third of the area they controlled when open fighting broke out here March 13.

IN REBEL HANDS

(Peiping Radio broadcast a report from the Communist Viet Nam news agency saying the rebels had captured the last French post west of Dien Bien Phu's main airstrip and had occupied "two-thirds of the airdrome." The other airstrip, south of the main fortifications, has been in rebel hands for weeks.)

Bombers and fighters supplied by the United States struck new blows at the rebel attackers despite unsettled monsoon weather. They plastered the crossroads village of Giao, 27 miles northeast of Dien Bien Phu, Sunday to damage the supply line from China but coolies swarmed in to make quick road repairs.

MENZIES UNWORRIED

Menzies did not appear worried about Hill's being held up. He said Sunday he considers the delay of little importance.

The Australian note Sunday said this country "reserves the right to raise with the Soviet government on a future occasion the subject of former activities in Australia of the Soviet embassy if the findings of the royal commission which is to be appointed make this course possible."

Today members of the Russian embassy staff burned more documents and also some movie film in the embassy back yard.

Complicated Tiff Results In Man Jailed Month

When police matron Mrs. Mel Shadgett arrived at the home of Charles Collins, 744 New Chamberlain St., at noon of April 11, she found Maude Saunders suffering a blackened left eye, bruised and swollen left arm, and a bruised left shoulder blade. Maude Saunders accused Harry Collins, 21, of 741 New Chamberlain St., of attacking her.

Harry Collins said he slapped her once with the back of his open hand because she was biting his other hand. He said she had rushed at him with a bottle of beer intending to hit him with it. Witnesses to the affair agreed with him.

Although evidence was not too clear, it seems a party originated at Harry Collins' home about 8.00 p.m. on the night of April 10. There were 10 people and one case of 24 pints of beer present. Sometime, shortly after 8.00 p.m., a man identified as Cliff Cunningham called at the home of Charles Collins (who was at his son's party) and asked Maude Saunders if Charles were home. Cunningham said he wanted to watch television with him.

Maude Saunders went to the door and shone a high-powered flashlight across the street and into the door-window of Harry Collins' house. She said she didn't know the phone listing as Harry Collins' phone was listed under the landlord's name. Maude Saunders said she flashed the light twice and Harry came to his door and told her to "drop dead."

Evidence submitted by Harry's brother Ed and a friend, Jack Selby, of R.R. 3, Indian River, indicated that Maude Saunders had flashed the light for nearly an hour, at times coming onto the road to do so, and had been told three or four times to stop by the two Collins boys.

Around 9:30 p.m., Charles and Harry Collins and Jack Selby went across the road in response to a call from a younger son, Kenneth Collins. Charles Collins was apparently angered at Maude Saunders because Kenneth had sold a magazine stand he had made at school. At this point Maude Saunders was said to have rushed at Charles Collins with a beer bottle, and he pushed her back against the wall. Miss Saunders denied attacking Charles.

When Charles went into the other room to talk with Kenneth, Harry Collins and Jack Selby stood in the main room watching television. According to them, Maude Saunders ran at Harry with a beer bottle and he grabbed at her trying to reach the bottle and the contents spilled on her. They fell to the floor and Maude Saunders gripped Harry Collins' hand in her mouth. He told her to let go, and when she didn't, he slapped her. Then his brother Ed came in, and they all left, except Maude Saunders who was lying on the floor.

According to Maude Saunders, Harry said, "I've wanted to do this for a long time, baby, but tonight I'm going to kill you." Then he knocked her down and kicked her. She said she partially crawled to the phone and called the police.

The police department call book listed two calls from her address that evening, one at 10:30 p.m., an done at 11.50 p.m. Maude Saunders said she called the second time because she was afraid and wanted the police to hurry.

PC James Armstrong testified that when he investigated the woman did not appear to need immediate medical attention, nor was she intoxicated.

Magistrate Philp told Harry Collins that conviction of this offence carried a maximum of two years' imprisonment and a possible whipping. But, since there seemed to be much more to the case than given in evidence, and what evidence there was appeared questionable, he levied a one month sentence in county jail, and a warning for the two parties to stay out of each other's way.

OBITUARIES

MRS JAMES F. BRAY

A native of Hall's Glen and a president of the Women's Conservative Association of Toronto for many years, Mrs. James F. Bray died Sunday in hospital, Peterborough, at the age of 73 after an illness of two months.

Born in Hall's Glen she was Lydia Eleanor Crowe, daughter of the late Jordan Crowe and Mary Eleanor Madill. She was educated in Dummer township and Albert College and spent most of her married life in Toronto.

For the last few years she had made her summer home at Hall's Glen and was a member of the Hall's Glen WA and WI. She was a member of the Church of St. Aiden in Toronto.

She is survived by her husband, two sons, Arthur and George, a daughter, Mrs. M. Fitzmaurice, all of Toronto; one sister, Mrs. Annie Hoskins, Peterborough; and four brothers, Harry of Peterborough; Thomas and William of Vancouver, and David of Saskatoon.

The funeral service will be held Tuesday, at 2:00 p.m. at the Hendren funeral home, Lakefield, the Rev. George Dyson, of Warsaw United church officiating. Burial will be in St. Mark's cemetery, Warsaw.

MRS. HILDA ANN CIPIN

Mrs. Hilda Ann Cipin of Glace Bay, N.S., died on Sunday at her home following a short illness. She was born in Stockholm, Sweden, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Bennison, and came to Nova Scotia in 1915. Her husband, Jacob Cipin, predeceased her in 1952.

She leaves one daughter in Glace Bay, Mrs. Sam Schachter (Ruth), and sons, Irving of Peterborough, Mac of Passiac, N.J., Ben and Reuben, both of Toronto. There are two sisters in Sweden and one in New Jersey. Mrs. Cipin was a member of Congregation Sons of Israel.

Funeral service will be held on Tuesday and Rabbi Joseph Mayor, formerly of Peterborough, will officiate. Burial will be at Glace Bay.

MEETING DELAYED

Prince Wan was delayed in calling the meeting to order as France's Foreign Minister Georges Bidault was late arriving. Photographers were allowed to record the opening.

The prince, who told reporters, "Just call me Prince Wan" after being chosen chairman of today's meeting, was among the first to arrive. His full name is Prince Narathip Pongpraphan Wan Waithyakon.

Pre-conference statements from delegates were optimistic in tone; but privately there was scant hope that the conference would bring final peace to Korea and an end to the bloodshed in Indo-China.

LAST TO ARRIVE

France's foreign minister Georges Bidault was the last to arrive, coming early today by train from Paris. He had been held in the French capital until the last minute by the steadily worsening military situation at the besieged Indo-China fortress of Dien Bien Phu and Viet Namese chief of state Bao Dai's bomshell announcement Sunday night that he would not sign a French-sponsored independence treaty for his state.

Bidault, in a statement on arrival at Geneva, bitterly assailed the Vietminh rebels in Indo-China, and by implication the Chinese supplying them with war materials and the latter's Russian sponsors, at the conference here.

The peppery little Frenchman said it was "not by chance" that the attack on the northwest Indo-China fortress had been stepped up as the diplomats gathered here to discuss peace in Indo-China.

"Their proposals and their acts are in discord," said Bidault of the Reds.

Though called to discuss Korea and Indo-China, the first major problem facing the conference was China's position, whether she would join the United States, Britain, France and the Soviets as a "Big Five" sponsor of the meeting, or sit in the subordinate position of an invited participant.

WANTS FULL SALUTE

Russia has insisted that Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-lai and Peiping's other representatives be given big-power status.

The United States, Britain and France, have maintained just as firmly they will not sit with the Chinese Reds under such conditions, and that the Berlin foreign ministers conference's agreement to hold this parley specifically provided only a subordinate role for China.

Though it had been understood generally that the conference would take up Korea first, the grave military situation of the French Union forces at Dien Bien Phu raised the possibility that France might seek priority for the Indo-Chinese war.

The Americans were understood to be ready to back the French in this, but there appeared little likelihood the Communists would go along.

Man Admits Assault, Fined

Robert Fontaine, 24, of 335 King St., pleaded guilty to a charge of assault against Dennis Fitzgerald, of 522 Homewood Ave., before magistrate W. R. Philp, today, and was fined $20 and $5.00 costs.

Mr. Fitzgerald said on the night of April 23 he was looking out the rear window of Zeller's store, of which he is manager, and saw Fontaine and another man leave the side entrance of the hotel next door. He said, Fontaine began to bend the antenna on a car parked in the lane way and he stepped out to stop him. Fontaine apparently told Fitzgerald to mind his own business, and, when he didn't leave, swung and hit him on the jaw.

The two men wrestled for a few minutes and then Fitzgerald reached the doorway he had left and got back inside the store. Fitzgerald denied grabbing Fontaine first.

"You're quite wrong in thinking that breaking the law is no one's business but the police," said Magistrate Philp. " Mr. Fitzgerald acted as a good citizen."

Norwich Union Appointments

JAMES A. RENWICK

E. V. CHAMBERS

JACQUES DE BILLY

The appointment of three new Canadian directors of the Norwich Union Insurance Societies is announced by Mr. Henry Borden, C.M.G., Q.C., Chairman of the Societies Canadian Boards.

Mr. James A. Renwick and Mr. Jacques de Billy, Q.C., have been appointed directors of the Norwich Union Life Insurance Society and the Norwich Union Fire Insurance Society. Mr. Renwick is a member of the Toronto firm of Borden, Elliott, Kelley, Palmer and Sankey, Barristers. Mr. de Billy is a partner of the Quebec firm of Gagnon and de Billy, Barristers.

Mr. E. V. Chambers has been appointed a director of the Norwich Union Life Insurance Society. He is President of Chambers and Meredith Ltd., Realtors, Toronto.

The appointments reflect the steadily increasing Canadian interests of these recognized world-wide Societies.

Superintendent Resigns New Hospital

TORONTO (CP)—Harry G. Garwood, former president of the British Columbia Hospital Administrators' Association, has resigned as superintendent of the new $1,700,000 northwestern General hospital in suburban York township.

He submitted his resignation after a board meeting criticized him over a newspaper story in which he announced the hospital would set up a "really tough" medical audit system by means of which inefficient doctors would be weeded out.

Members of the Ontario Hospital Association objected to the story.

In his home in Niagara Falls, Ont., Mr. Garwood said today:

"The newspaper article was only one thing that caused trouble. But I haven't been able to establish a proper relationship with the board. I'm a little impatient, I guess. The board members have no experience and I have."

NO PROPER AUDITS

He said most Ontario hospitals have no proper medical audits.

"Too many have no control of the doctors at all."

Mr. Garwood studied hospital administration at North Vancouver General hospital, went as administrator to Columbia Coast Mission hospital at Alert Bay, B. C., then became administrator of Zebellos General hospital in British Columbia.

He has also served as special assistant to the chief inspector of British Columbia mental hospital during a special survey, as superintendent of North Vancouver General hospital and as hospital administrator at Niagara Falls.

Huge Market

Hensel Denies Charges By McCarthy

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Assistant Defence Secretary H. Struve Hensel says charges that he sought to discredit and impede the work of the McCarthy investigations subcommittee are "false, untrue and malicious."

Hensel, in a formal reply to Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.), demanded Sunday that the subcommittee now inquiring into McCarthy's row with high army officials broaden its investigation to include the senator's finances if the group looks into Hensel's.

Hensel filed a formal reply to charges made by McCarthy last week that Hensel sought to head off an investigation of himself for "misconduct and possible law violations." Taking up the senator's points one by one, he termed each a "malicious lie," and said McCarthy must have known that when he made them.

McCARTHY REPLIES

McCarthy replied to Hensel in a statement:

"He inadvertently tipped the hand of those who have been master-minding the smear attack upon my staff and disclosed the true purpose to be what I have stated it was since its inception—namely an attempt to roadblock all investigations of graft, corruption and communism and divert the committee down the sideroad of investigating itself."

The current investigation involves charges and counter-charges by army officials on the one hand and McCarthy and his aides on the other.

Army Secretary Robert Stevens has accused McCarthy and counsel Roy Cohn of exerting improper pressure in attempting to get special treatment for G. David Schine, a McCarthy aide who was drafted.

McCarthy charges that the army used Schine as a hostage in attempts to get the McCarthy subcommittee to switch their investigations from the army to other branches of the service.

Says Effort Needed

Expedition To Solve Mysteries of Eskimos

WASHINGTON—An expedition that hopes to solve some of the mysteries of prehistoric Eskimo life will explore ancient ruins on Southampton Island in Hudson Bay this summer, Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, president of the National Geographic Society, announced today.

The project is sponsored by the Society, the National Museum of Canada and the Smithsonian Institution. It will be headed by Dr. Henry B. Collins Jr., of the Smithsonian, who has carried on many archeological studies in the Arctic.

Southampton Island is at the mouth of Hudson Bay. It offers a spectacular concentration of ruins of different types, including 75 old stone and whale bone houses. This is believed to be unique in Canada.

The expedition plans to study three cultures, the Dorset, Thule and Sadlermiut.

DORSET THE OLDEST

The Dorset, which existed more than a thousand years ago, presents the outstanding problem today in Eskimo anthropology. Nothing is known of Dorset physical types or language. Chief clues to Dorset culture consist of small, delicate stone and ivory implements, some marked by gouged holes. Art works are mainly weird carvings of animals and people.

Most objects are found in thin layers at the bottom of Thule deposits or houses. Digging has therefore been difficult.

The Dorset constituted the basic Eskimo culture in the central and eastern Arctic. It was discovered only 25 years ago.

The Thule people spread from Alaska to central Canada about 800 years ago and probably lived to at least 1750.

The Sadlermiut culture likely descended from the Thule and apparently flourished only on Southampton and near-by Coats Island to the south. A strange, primitive race, different from other Canadian Eskimos, the Sadlermiuts may also have been related to the Dorset people.

The Southampton ruins are centred at Native Point. The Sadlermiut community here died out in 1903, probably from typhus. The ruins are 40 miles southeast of the tiny community of Southampton Island. A mile from Native Point is the site of Dorset refuse heaps, unmixed with Thule material.

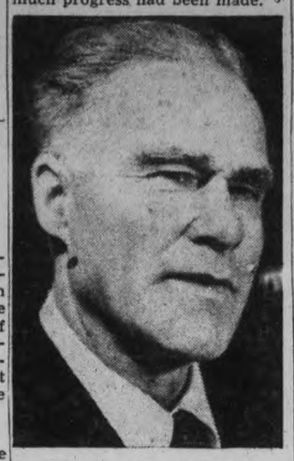
EXACT TIES SOUGHT

Dr. Collins believes the Native Point ruins may determine the exact relationship between the Thule and Sadlermiut cultures. Other excavations, both on Southampton and Coats, are expected to offer Thule and Sadlermiut skeletal remains and possibly even Dorset.

The expedition will also study Aivilik Eskimos now living on Southampton. This group still maintains its native pattern of life.

Dr. Collins will be accompanied by William E. Taylor of the Canadian museum, J. Norman Emerson of the University of Toronto, and Eugene Ostroff of Washington, D.C. They intend to fly north late in June and stay through August.

In 1936 Dr. Collins led a National Geographic - Smithsonian party to the Bering Strait area. He has participated in expeditions to Alaska and to Baffin and Cornwallis Islands in Arctic Canada.



Former Reeve Heads Liberals Of Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — William R. Nicholas was elected president of the Campbellford Liberal Association at a meeting in the parish hall on the weekend.

Mr. Wesley R. Sweet, president of the Northumberland county Liberal Association presided for the election of officers.

Other officials elected were: vice-president, Walter S. Wiggins; secretary - treasurer, Bernard Kerr; ward chairmen: Ward 1, Hector MacArthur; deputy chairman, P. H. Macmillan; Ward 2, Leo Doherty; deputy, Lionel Jones; Ward 3, Forrest R. Dennis; deputy, William Shaw, Jr.; Ward 4, Fred Bausch; deputy, Eldon Carlaw.

After the election of officers, Mr. Nicholas took the chair and asked Mr. Sweet to speak. Mr. Sweet reported on the activities of the past year and said that much progress had been made.

WILLIAM R. NICHOLAS

Mr. Wiggins congratulated Mr. Sweet on his election as president of the county association and thanked him for his fine work as president of the Campbellford association last year. Mr. Wiggins also expressed confidence in the new president.

Gerald I. Blair reported on the progress being made by the Young Liberals Association. Mrs. P. H. Macmillan, president of the Women's Liberal Association of Campbellford, and Mrs. J. Black, secretary-treasurer, reported on the work of their group.

Charged With Assault Placed Under Curfew

COBOURG (ENS) — Appearing for sentence on an indecent assault charge, Fred Cavanaugh Jr. of Cobourg, was remanded out of custody to appear on May 21 and in the meantime was to be off the streets by nine each night.

Crown Attorney Harry Deyman pointed out that the accused had been in trouble before over the same girl, having been sent to jail for violating a court order to stay away from her. Defence counsel said he understood the girl didn't want to see the accused any more and was now engaged to marry another boy and this might solve the problem.

"The trouble has been that this boys sleeps all day and prowls all night," said Mr. Deyman.

"You are to be home by nine every night during the remand period," said the magistrate.

Girl Shows Police How To Use Knife

COBOURG (ENS) — Jean Simpson, 20, was remanded a month in the custody of her mother when she pleaded guilty to a drunk charge.

Chief Constable H. Pearse said he received a complaint that she was carrying a knife and picked her up. A police matron searched her and found a paring knife hidden down her dress. The girl told the chief that she intended to use it and described a lunging thrust with it.

Crown Attorney Harry Deyman told the court the girl needed straightening out and her liquor permit cancelled. She should also stay away from bad companions.

Her mother said she would take the girl back home and see she behaved herself.

Aged Cyclist Covers 3,859 Miles In 40 Days

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Valee Picaud of Montreal says he has cycled 3,859 miles in the last 40 days—an average of 96 miles a day. He is 71.

He stopped in London to rest overnight before setting out for home Saturday.

The wiry, 110-pound cyclist passed through New York, New Orleans and Houston, Texas, on his trip.

Car Snaps Hydro Pole No One Injured

CAMPBELFORD (ENS) — No-one was injured, but a hydro pole was a casualty in an accident near Warkworth at the Norham corner about 10.15 a.m. Sunday.

A car driven by Vera M. Post, 52, of King St., Trenton, swung wide on the turn, crossed the shoulder of the highway and crashed into the hydro pole, breaking it off near the base.

The car was damaged to the extent of about $75 but the driver was not injured.

Opp Constable Archie Eady, of Campbellford, investigated. This was the only accident reported in this district over the weekend.

English Duke Dies

LONDON (AP) — The Duke of Somerset, 71, head of one of England's oldest families, died today.

The duke, a professional soldier, served in the Boer war and commanded a battalion of the Royal Dublin Fusiliers in the First World War.

He was a leading member of the "Magic Circle," a group of British conjurers.

His title, created in 1547, goes to the duke's only surviving son, Lord Seymour, 43.

Brush Fire Quelled Near Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Firemen from here extinguished a grass and bush fire on Sunday afternoon at a spot near River View Cabins, a summer resort operated by Harry Clements, about 2 miles north of the town on the west River Road.

The fire burned over an area of several acres, and had been blazing for more than an hour before firemen were called. When the flames threatened to spread to nearby cottages, an alarm was turned in, and firemen soon quelled many widely separated fires which were burning throughout the area, using hand extinguishers as well as a line of hose from the tank on the pumper.

Witnesses said they saw a Campbellford resident of Bridge street west set fire to some long grass in the bush a few minutes before the fire was discovered.

School Teacher Becomes Priest

TWEED — The Rev. Raymond Shannon, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shannon, of Plainfield, will be ordained into the priesthood of the Roman Catholic Church, at St. Carthagh's Church in Tweed, on Saturday. His Grace Archbishop O'Sullivan, of Kingston, will have charge of the ordination ceremonies and many members of the clergy from the entire district will be in attendance. The pastor of St. Carthagh's, Dean J. J. Shannon, is an uncle of the new priest.

Rev. Raymond Shannon attended Tweed High School and afterwards attended Peterborough Normal School, following which he was a school teacher for some years, before entering St. Augustine's Seminary, from where he is now graduating.

He will say his first mass at his home church, St. Charles' at Read parish, on Sunday, May 2.

Conferences

It is odd that the Geneva Conference to discuss the Far East should not include Asian powers vitally interested—India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Burma and Indonesia. It is equally odd that these five powers are holding a conference of their own this week in which a principal item is in the solving of the Indo-China problem; odd because they have a plan for settlement and Geneva has none and each group seems to be acting quite independently of the other. It is with no intention of minimizing the importance of the Geneva Conference that we suggest that the Asian Powers' plan ought to have a hearing and has its own weight.

* * *

The problems before Geneva are Asian, and yet the only Asian power to be represented at the Swiss conference is Red China, which is not to have a ring-side seat. The plan suggested by India and its four co-operating nations seems to be politically feasible and militarily acceptable to the warring parties in Indo-China, for no face would be lost. A cessation of all hostilities (including subversive action and guerrilla warfare) is proposed, and these would be enforced by the Colombo powers.

✧ ✧ ✧

The difficulty with the five-power Asian plan is not in the proposals but in the proposers. They are not, with the exception of India, powerful countries. They are intimately interested, being Asian nations, but they lack authority. The big sticks are wielded by the Four Powers meeting at Geneva, and by China. These four are Britain, France, the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R. Certainly no plan can succeed which is not acceptable to the U.S.A., the Soviet Union and Red China.

* * *

The stopping of a war, even by a temporary truce, is an achievement in itself, a step towards agreement and away from tension. This is shown by the results of the cease-fire between Pakistan and India over Kashmir. It is demonstrated in Korea. Even when this conference was called, Korea bulked large; it was thought to be the most important issue that could be discussed at Geneva. But the hot war in Indo-China has now put the Korean situation in the background, for a settlement of a kind has already solidified in Korea. Whatever the outcome or failure of the Geneva conference, a renewal of the war in Korea is not to be expected. Peace in Korea is a fait accompli. If the five-power Asian proposal at Colombo can somehow be accepted, and an armistice arranged, temporary peace could settle over Indo-China. That much could result, and it is as much as this war-charged world could hope for. Full-scale, permanent settlement of the Korean issue, the Indo-China matter or the whole situation in the Far East will not be brought about by any conference, not in these times. So, let the Colombo proposals be heard at Geneva.

More Figures, Please

Yesterday we came across some figures which show the estimated number of adults in Canada who suffered from some crippling or disabling disease during the year 1949. Here it is:

Diseases of the heart and arteries	800,000
Arthritis and rheumatism	650,000
Cancer	400,000
Mental illness	175,000
Diabetes	180,000
Deaf and hard of hearing	110,000
Chronic alcoholism	70,000
Epilepsy	70,000
Tuberculosis	45,000
Multiple-sclerosis	25,000
Blind (registered only)	20,000
Polio (paralysis-crippling)	20,000
Drug addiction	5,000
Total	2,570,000

On the basis of these figures we may become pessimistic, and ask why these numbers are so great, in an age which boasts of its increased expectation of life, and the brilliance of its medical science. But before we fall into any such error, we should like to ask a question: where are the comparable figures for 1900? Are any such figures to be found? If they are ava[illegible] what story do they tell?

Certainly to a superficial observer it looks as though there were more people suffering from crippling and disabling disease today than in the past, but we must remember that medical diagnosis is far more accurate now than it has ever been. Even within the lifetime of middle-aged Canadians, people suffered from mysterious ills of which it was said—sometimes with pride—that 'the doctor didn't know what to call it'. Nowadays the doctor knows what to call most things, and if he doesn't he can get advice from a specialist colleague who does. And to identify your enemy is a step toward defeating him.

We are inclined to take a hopeful view of such matters. More illnesses are recognized today, and more people live to an age at which they may suffer from a disease common in middle life. The figures are large and shocking, but at least we know what diseases are the worst enemies of the flesh, and medical research is pursuing them with patience and skill.

Liberals As Reformers

We do not pretend to be able to sum up in a few phrases what liberalism means, or even what a Liberal Party should stand for. We had some thoughts on the matter because of a statement made by Mr. Farquhar Oliver, Liberal leader of Ontario, during his recent visit to this city. Mr. Oliver said that Liberals must continue to be the reform party of Ontario. This is sound Liberalism, for Liberals are traditionally afflicted with a social conscience which desires to see better things for all people.

In this connection, we recall that Gladstone was a passionate reformer to the end of his days. His opponents called him a holy humbug, armed with dangerous and "drenching rhetoric" (Disraeli's phrase), yet they could not gainsay the passion of his appeal to the individual conscience, nor its political power. He broke down the division between a private and a public conscience; he told men of the importance of their own power, and the way they used it. The Grand Old Man who led the British Liberal Party for nearly thirty years, did not become acquiescently conservative as he aged. It has been said that his life was a steady march towards the Left. An old lady attending a funeral heard that Mr. Gladstone, then venerated and full of years, was present. "Oh, dear" she said, "I do hope he won't create a disturbance here".

A liberal believes in tolerance, in the ability of the human mind to find truth for itself and in the right of individuals to make their own decisions. Liberalism as political philosophy should be invested with these beliefs. A liberal also has a social conscience, and this is in the woof of political Liberalism. The British Liberals, outraged by the distress created by the technology of the early nineteenth century (the Industrial Revolution) showed their conscience by numerous measures of reform taken to lessen abuses and restore the individual to dignity and freedom.

Mr. Farquhar Oliver is in the great Liberal tradition when he demands that Liberals continue to be the reform party of Ontario.

The First Swallow

'Tis said that one swallow does not make a summer. It is rather odd, in view of the commonness of this phrase, that no one ever remarks on the first swallow to appear. There are notes in the paper and letters to the editor about the first robin, the first crocuses, the first tulips; none about the first swallow. If by chance one swallow did make a summer, should its arrival not be noted? Even if it does not mean that summer has come, the first swallow is, after all, a negatively important seasonal event. We should be glad to have a letter, when the time comes, from the first person to see the first swallow this year.

Peterborough people really are interested in the cycle of nature, we feel, and we would like to see them give more voice to that interest. Who, for instance, had the first daffodils in bloom? Are there violets in the woods? Are pussy-willows disappearing from these environs? What evening did ponds first begin to sing with frogs? We invite correspondence on these and related interesting topics. And, by the way, all you people who predict what the winter is going to be like from this and that autumn sign, how fared your prognostications this year? Did anybody prophesy it would be as hard, late and long as it was?

Stamp Blunder Rectified

We have commented on the improvement of the new blue five-cent stamp over the former one, and over the four-cent mauve. The Queen's image is better by far. Another improvement is one which few people have noticed. It is not an improvement; it is the correction of an error. In the ugly, discreditable four-cent mauve stamp and the five-cent old blue the Queen looks to the left. This is wrong. She must look to the right. This is a tradition and there is no reason for breaking it, certainly not in a stamp as disgraceful as the old issue. Her father George VI's image on stamps and coins looked to the [illegible] her uncle Edward VIII showed his left profile, George V his right, and so on back, alternately right and left, to Victoria (in stamps) and to the first George (in coins). The Queen's head is now correctly poised in the new stamp series, as it is in the new coins.

LONDON LETTER

Coventry And The H-Bomb

By KENNETH HARRIS

THE town council of Coventry — the city in Britain's Midlands whose name became known around the world after its savage bombing by the Germans — recently decided that in view of the advent of the hydrogen bomb it would scrap its Civil Defence organisation. More recently, the Government has warned the council that it is against the national interest to allow one city to scrap a Civil Defence organisation—an organisation which, the Government holds, has not been made out of date by the H-bomb.

While public opinion seems generally on the side of the Government, it is likely that a big debate has started which will continue for some time to come.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN THE FIRST PLACE, the action of the Socialist-led council was not simply the result of a feeling of fatalism or of frustration. As the Lord Mayor of Coventry himself said: "Whether or not the Civil Defence organisations are abandoned is not important. Ours was a gesture to humanity to ban the H-bomb."

In the second place several members of the council who were all in favour of continuing with the Civil Defence organisations, and who support the Government in principle, have been annoyed by the manner in which the Government has acted. Mrs. Pearl Hyde, who ran Coventry's Civil Defence during the war, and was decorated for her work, has publicly protested because the Government released its decision to the Press without consulting the council.

✧ ✧ ✧

A THIRD factor likely to promote wrangling is the fact that Coventry's Council is strongly Socialist, while the Government in Whitehall is Conservative.

Put all these comparatively minor points against the general political background of the times — which is that there are always a few misguided or demagogic Members of Parliament who will use the H-bomb controversy to renew their clamour for disarmament and retreat — and it is easy to see how the mood of the British people just now may be misinterpreted abroad.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE general attitude of the country seems to be that expressed by Mr. Victor Mischon, who this month becomes chairman of the London County Council, the biggest and most important local government in the country. "It is unhelpful," says Mr. Mischon—an ardent Socialist himself—"to give either allies or possible aggressors the idea that our attitude in the face of a threat, however terrible, is negative and defeatist."

WHICH came first, the hen or the egg? This matter is still under discussion but on the question of which came first, the radio-active hen or the radio-active egg, I am able to report that in the minds of the experts there can be no possible doubt — it was the radio-active egg.

Let us not, however, forget the hen who laid it. No ordinary chicken, she, but specially selected and quartered at the National Institute for Medical Research in North London, this pioneer among pullets was fed one day with a special bread pill into which had been mixed a substance containing algae—minute organisms normally found in scum—specially grown with waste radio-active carbon dioxide from our plutonium bomb plant in the North of England. The radio-active carbons in the pill — which cost three hundred pounds to prepare — spread through the hen's innards, and about a fortnight later a clutch of radio-active eggs was laid.

What experiments are going to be made with them remains to be seen. Asked what he thought about the radio-active eggs, one of the scientific team engaged in the experiment thought for a moment and observed: "The egg is worth its weight in gold." This, apparently, is literally true.

PARTICULARLY in the United States and Canada, I suppose, car designers are proud of the progress made in designing vehicles during the last fifty years. Their satisfaction is not in the least shared by Lord Brabazon, one of Britain's leading automobile and aircraft pioneers — he was the first Briton to have a plane-flying licence—who has just spoken at the annual dinner of the British Institute of the Motor Industry.

"What I want," said Lord Brabazon, "is a very simple car — with a turbine engine, automatic gear change, power steering and disc brakes. But I can't buy one because firms are so conservative that they won't go in for anything really new. The 'advance' in car design over fifty years has been deplorable."

Lord Brabazon complained that the modern car is the car our grandfathers knew, has exactly the same type of engine with which the early Panhard cars were fitted, and only recently has had its gear-box varied from "the crude arrangement for which Panhard himself apologised."

It was no use, he said, modifying the same old car and thinking they had done something wonderful. "You've got to view the problem afresh and make a new type of vehicle."

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR SEVERAL weeks now there have been occasional grumbles from the occasional Member of Parliament about the amount of money spent on the construction of the new royal yacht Britannia, which is now ready for use — its first royal trip began on April 17, when the Queen's children, the little Duke of Cornwall and Princess Anne, sailed for Tobruk in North Africa, there to meet their father and mother, and return home with them.

Sir Victor Shepheard, the Director of Naval Construction, has just given some interesting information about the economies that have been made in building and furnishing the Britannia. A lot of the furnishings, he says, came from the old royal yacht, the Victoria and Albert.

But his main answer to the charges that the country cannot afford a new yacht was his description of how quickly and thoroughly the Britannia will be converted into a hospital ship in the event of need. The royal and state apartments would be converted into a hospital for two hundred patients. The royal bedrooms would become wards for officers and tubercular patients; the drawing room and ante-room would accommodate other cases, and the dining-room would become a surgery and a patients' dining-room. The royal staff mess and pantry would become an X-ray room and the operating theatre.

The Britannia would be the most modern and safe—and certainly for her size the fastest—hospital ship in the world.

A Sinking German City

(WAKETOWN TIMES)

IN Northern Germany is Lunenburg an ancient and picturesque market town which is slowly sinking into the ground.

Lunenburg's history goes back some thousand years and prides itself on being one of the Hanseatic League towns, that association of German traders who in medieval times combined for commercial purposes and brought themselves great profit through such union. In addition to this famous ancestry, Lunenburg has a gracious charm which makes the more regrettable its present dangerous situation. For it has many old brick buildings of pleasing architecture with gable windows and many an ancient church. Yet what do these material advantages benefit the inhabitants of Lunenburg if their town is about to be swallowed up by the earth?

The townsfolk are naturally loathe to give up what they have long known as their homes, and there are some 25,000 refugees either from other parts of Germany, or those who have escaped the tyranny of the Russians, added to the 60,000 regular population. For them it would be another difficulty to find homes in an already overcrowded nation.

Yet every day there are new signs of the threatening danger. They come in sounds of creaking walls and groaning from attics and cellars. The gas and water mains break, the clocks stop, chairs must be bolstered up with stones under the legs to keep them on a level, store windows are boarded and traffic is forbidden on many streets lest the vibrations should urge on the coming collapse.

Unlike the city set on a hill which cannot be moved Lunenburg was built over a stratum of salt and it is a marvel that disaster has waited so many centuries before overtaking the town. Through the salt runs subsoil water. Caverns are caused which undermine the ground above them, and the very foundations on which the town is laid are menaced in both a horizontal and perpendicular position.

Doubtless, there will be many who insist on clinging to Lunenburg until some day the report comes that the 13th century church has actually slid into an abyss.

Letters To The Editor

WHAT EVERY WOMAN KNOWS

SIR: Hurrah for "Nosret Sam " and "Respectable." I heartily agree with all they say. What respectable woman wants every person on the street to see everything she wears. Those displays are not at all necessary as every woman knows where to buy what she needs, so let's start a campaign for decency. I am in it with both feet.

Yours truly,
A HOUSEWIFE.

GRAVE REASON

SIR: In Mr. Fred Horne's letter of April 19th, 1954, he stated he visited an abandoned and desecrated cemetery at the head of George street and wished to give a decent burial to the graves he found there. It would seem fitting and a reasonable reason to dig a decent grave in the name of sentiment for these antiquated graves. In fact, he would have, foresooth indeed, a grave reason to dig a grave.

A LOYAL PETERBURIAN.

ADVICE ON LIGHTNING RODS

SIR: Replying to question by "Always a Reader" in your issue of 27th inst. The only lgoical thing for him to do is to have lightning rods installed and done properly. There is no explanation why it strikes more than once. Being high up might be an inducement to the lightning, but it is just a coincidence.

Lightning rods draw off the static field from above and the lightning just passes off.

The city hall in Toronto was struck several times but since installing proper rods it has given it the go-by.

H. T. STRICKLAND.

EARLY DAFFODILS

SIR: Gardeners generally were interested by the note in your Town Topics that Mr. Reuben Macdonald had tulips in bloom on April 22, before his daffodils. Not to boast, but just to find out what others are doing, I report that I had daffodils in full bloom on the same day, in a bed with southern exposure, heavily fertilized last Fall with sheep manure. I think that gardeners in general would like to know how things are doing in parts of the city which they do not visit often, and perhaps your Letters Column might find room for occasional reports of this kind, if amateur gardeners would send them in?

Yours sincerely,
AMATEUR GARDENER.

NEWS FROM SPAIN

SIR: News dispatches tell us of how government censorship in Spain makes black into white and white into black. One of the ministers in Franco's cabinet, it seems, was severely criticized in the Spanish parliament. The news item then adds the following sequel:

"When Suances made a 30-minute speech in parliament, attempting to justify his economic policy, he was hissed and booed by the deputies. Government censorship ordered newspapers not to mention this fact and to say that Suances was applauded."

If the Spanish censorship is capable of thus distorting the truth, one wonders how much credence can be attached to any official utterance from that land. When considering Franco's past and this old Spanish custom, we can see why the fortress of Gibraltar can never wheel under the helm of that dictatorial despot and his accursed flag. The fine art of lying seems to have attained abysmal depths in the once chivalrous country of Cervantes.

Yours truly,
W. A. MACBRIDE.

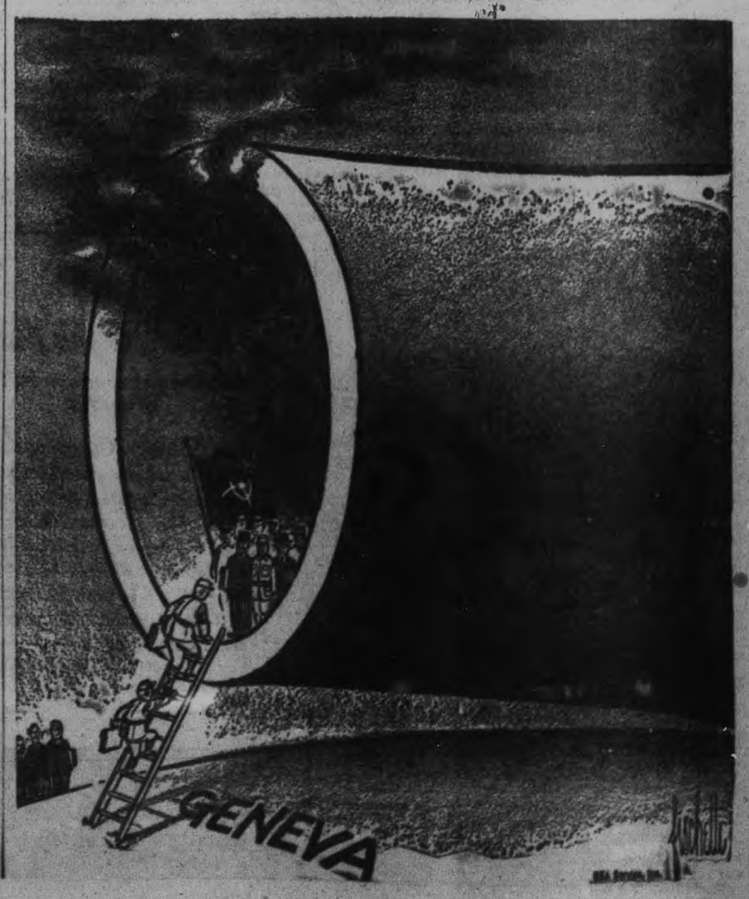
Bible Message



(From The Authorized Version)

My brethren be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might. Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. (Eph. 6:10, 11.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For though we walk in the flesh, we do not war after the flesh: (for the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds;) casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ. An American View: THE RED DELEGATIONS ARRIVE

RUSSIANS ARE SURE THEY HAVE THE BEST GOVERNMENT SYSTEM

Living Conditions Show Improvement Average Russian Contented If Not Happy

Editor's Note: Bill Boss is back in Canada after five months as Canadian Press correspondent in the Soviet Union. He lived in Moscow, made a 6,000-mile round trip to within 500 miles of the Chinese border. This story is the first of a series of notable uncensored reports on what he learned of life behind the Iron Curtain.

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Your average Russian is a contented if not a happy man.

He thinks he lives in a free country—in the only society geared to give the working man a square deal.

He sees his country pulsating with life, drive and determination. Day by day he hears, and through this repetition believes that the Kremlin's aim is to give him a better standard of living.

He knows he and his wife and children are better off now than a few years ago.

IMPRESSES ORIENTALS

By Western standards, life for most Russians is impoverished and hard. But visitors from Oriental countries—China, Pakistan or Indo-China, for instance — would find present conditions impressive.

And Mischa Sherbokov, as we may call your average Russian, is in an international deep-freeze. He gets no information by which to compare his life with that of Westerners.

He sees a "new look" in his country and is proud of the accomplishments of his Communist regime.

Foreign observers in Moscow hostile to the Malenkov government predict it will collapse unless the present development program is fully successful.

I saw nothing in my stay in Moscow or my travels within the Soviet Union to indicate the people are dissatisfied.

John Watkins, Canada's new ambassador to Moscow, says amazing progress has been made in feeding, clothing and housing the Russian people since the Second World War.

The "New Look" is everywhere apparent.

The amount of new construction is astonishing, though much of it is shoddy. Mischa Sherbokov looks at huge new apartment blocks an new workers' cottages and thinks that each year brings him nearer to the time when he can move his family into better quarters.

Mischa sees more clothing in the stores and thinks he soon can have two suits instead of one. He sees more automobiles on the streets, more radios and television sets in the stores.

And each year the controlled price of food in the state shops is slightly lower.

Mischa reads in his newspapers and hears on the radio only what the Communist state wants him to know.

And for reasons clear only to the Kremlin, the policy line has changed emphasis. The state now is telling him that all is not well on the home front, a unique admission for the Communists.

But always the angle is that living conditions for the Russian people must be improved.

"We need more meat . . . we need more wheat and other cereals . . . we have done well in heavy industry but we must do better in production of the things that make life pleasant. . . ."

When did the change occur? Those favorable to the Malenkov administration say it was planned under Stalin, months before the first pronouncements last September. Those opposed say it has been forced on the regime by the people, dissatisfied after years of waiting for a fuller life.

A reporter can't find out as he would in Ottawa; by picking up the telephone and talking to some competent official. The Soviets don't do business that way. The people accept official silence and seem to believe they can trust the regime, which already has done much, to do what is best in future. And government departments make it plain they think the answer to questions about state policy are none of a foreigner's business.

REPORTING RESTRICTED

My reports on how Russians live are based on personal observations—no "spying" but with some "window-peeping." In five months in Russia I could not get permission to visit a factory, a farm, any other kind of state enterprise except hospitals and schools or even one of the much publicized workers' apartment houses.

But anyone can see that, by Canadian standards, working hours are long and the pay relatively low. If Mischa and his wife both work, they earn enough to support their family in only the most modest circumstances.

But an Asiatic traveller told me: "These people are better fed, better clothed and better housed than ours."

Westerners are shocked but Asiatics and Orientals aren't, at the type of jobs Soviet women do. They pave street, lay bricks, rivet girders, paint buildings and work at other jobs considered far too heavy for Canadian women. The striking thing is their apparent cheerfulness and sense of purpose.

Work goes on around the clock. Great searchlights shine through the night on the scores of housing projects under way in Moscow, and on road and other schemes.

By 1960, Moscow hopes to have most of its 6,000,000 in modern dwellings. Rents are heavily subsidized and unbelievably low. Most of the few workers I could talk to paid 28 to 35 rubles a month. The official exchange rate is 25 cents to the ruble, but an accurate comparison is impossible. For a foreigner in Moscow the ruble probably is worth no more than five to seven cents; for Russians it is worth more than that.

If they could get a new apartment now, Mischa and his wife might find themselves in one room of a two-room apartment, sharing kitchen and bathroom with another couple. But from the number of beds you see, the usual number of occupants to a Moscow room seems to be three or four.

Moscow's new buildings are mostly of two types. One is an elaborate skyscraper with gingerbread towers and statuary, carpeted lobbies with television sets and easy chairs. The second is a substantial brick design of 10 or 12 storeys.

NEW—NOT MODERN

If similar buildings in which foreigners live are any sample, the new structures are new without being modern. Built-in cupboards are unknown; electric wiring is outside the walls; the plumbing and kitchen equipment are old-fashioned. Furniture is ornate and costly.

But they are a thousand per cent better than the rickety wooden shanties out of which the people are being moved.

Few Russians own cars, though Moscow streets have been laid out in the grand scale looking to the future. Traffic regulation is based on future conditions, too, with one-way streets and right-turn-only intersections.

Most Muscovites go to work by subway, street car and bus systems which move 3,000,000 passengers daily. Taxis are fairly expensive—and as scarce in bad weather in Moscow as in Toronto or Vancouver.

Shopping is a nightmare. There is no rationing, but that does not mean Mischa can buy anything he wants, or as much as he needs.

Sometimes he can't find what he wants. Other times the queues to buy are so long that he can't get near it. State stores limit the quantities of basic foods that any customer may buy.

TOUGH ON SHOPPER

Time is important, for shopping is a laborious process. Mischa lines up three times for each purchase: once to place his order, once to pay, and once to collect his goods. The jostling in department-store queues is nerve-wracking.

One of the first Russian phrases I mastered was: "Comrade, please remove your hands from my back."

Mischa seems to take the inconveniences of Russian living in his stride. The state makes sure he doesn't learn there is a better life in other countries.

And, after all, keeping up with the Joneses is little worry in the Soviet Union.

The Joneses, too, have almost nothing.

IN ASIAN RUSSIA — This scene of ancient and modern buildings is typical of Russia today. The mud-plaster cottages in the foreground are to be demolished as soon as new housing is ready. The hollow will be banked and filled as a reservoir. The building on the left is a motion-picture theatre; in the centre is a dormitory of the Central Asiatic University; on the right is a new workers' apartment block still under construction.—(CP Photo).

THREE GENERATIONS—Canadians wouldn't think this clothing was stylish, but Soviet citizens think it's fine and warm. Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer just back from Moscow, snapped this happy, three-generation group sunning themselves against a garden fence. Russian faces and figures are well filled out, Boss says, but complexions are on the pale side. That could be because Russians naturally are fair-skinned; or it could be from a predominantly starchy diet. —(CP Photo).

Boss To Return To Korea After Holiday In Canada

TORONTO (CP)—Bill Boss estimates that he has logged the equivalent of 10 trips around the world in his travels for The Canadian Press, but he has just as itchy a foot as when he joined CP 10 years ago.

For two weeks since he left Moscow by air with a briefcase packed with notes, data and undeveloped film, he has been at work on his impressions of life behind the Iron Curtain.

If a man with a bristling red beard can keep in seclusion, that is where Boss has been. Now he plans a brief holiday and then will be on his way again, back to Korea and the Canadian troops who have been his main concern for more than three years.

6,000-MILE TOUR

The Russian assignment, culminated by a 6,000-mile tour of Soviet central Asia, was a highlight of a writing career that has taken Boss to many far-away places since he joined the CP staff as a war correspondent in Italy in 1944.

Korea, Thailand, Burma, Hong Kong, Macao, Formosa, Indo-China Japan, Russia and most of the countries of western Europe have seen Boss at some time or other in those 10 years. And once you've seen him, you're not likely to forget the 36-year-old Ottawa-born writer.

Boss is an internationalist and an individualist. He has definite opinions and an independent way of working that frequently has got him into scrapes with authorities with whom he had to work to get his information.

The only red tape he accepts without a battle is security censorship, and he has had some mighty battles in his time. In Moscow, he bowed to political censorship, but only because he had no alternative.

Wherever Boss travels he is at home. He is a facile linguist and soon learns the language of the country he is visiting if he did not know it in advance.

SPEAKS RUSSIAN

He started taking lessons in Russian in 1947 at Vancouver, because he thought the language might be useful if he ever got back to Berlin, in the Russian zone of Germany. He says he now can carry on a conversation without difficulty.

He is a writer who goes to the source for his news. In the field he lives as close to the troops as authorities will allow, spurning the comforts of press camps if there are closer facilities. On civilian assignments he has shared rice with Korean farmers and fished from dawn to dusk in the Adriatic with Italian trawler men from Ortona.

He is cultured, a capable pianist and conductor who has led symphony orchestras in Ottawa, Amsterdam and Rome.

But above all he is a reporter, with the reporter's urge to put on paper every fact he can divulge about his subject.

One of his battle stories from Korea won the 1951 national newspaper award for feature writing. Frank King, an Associated Press executive and veteran reporter, thought the lone-wolf, front-line reporting job Boss did in Korea was unique in the theatre and wrote two articles about him.

LARGE OUTPUT

From Moscow, despite censorship, his output was more than 25,000 words and his subjects ranged from a day at the circus to a description of a chest operation by an eminent Russian surgeon.

Boss has been a writer since 1938 when he went to the London Times as a reporter and, for a time, music critic. He returned to Canada after less than a year, obtained a bachelor of arts degree from University of Ottawa, worked briefly for the Ottawa Citizen, then joined the army's public relations unit as a lieutenant.

He went to England with the 4th Armored Division in 1943 and later that year joined the PR unit in Italy. He received an honorable discharge in June, 1944, and became a CP war correspondent, reporting about the 1st Canadian Corps in Italy and then in western Europe until the war ended.

When the Korea fighting began, Boss went from Canada to the Far East and was with the Canadian brigade in all its major battles. In dull periods he visited countries in southeast Asia, stopping off in Formosa in 1951 for an exclusive interview with Nationalist Premier Chiang-Kai-shek.

When Korea slipped into the background in the news, he was posted to Moscow. Now that assignment has ended he is preparing to return to Korea to look into, for a little while, on the Canadians again.

After that? Boss and CP will let the future decide.

REPORTER AT WORK—Red-bearded Bill Boss says he has travelled the equivalent of 10 times around the world since he joined The Canadian Press staff in 1944. Just back from five months in the Soviet Union, he has completed a series of stories on life behind the Iron Curtain. Boss says the fact he speaks Russian was invaluable in his reporting.—(CP Photo).

Russia Has Two Windows, East And West, But Western Window Barred

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Soviet Union is a country with two windows, east and west.

The narrow window to the west is barred, for Russia looks upon the west as the sole source of international danger.

The broad window to the east is half open, for Russia looks upon the multitude of Oriental peoples as the most fruitful present field for Communist expansion.

Largest country in the world, with three-quarters of her 8,600,000 square miles in Asia, Russia is a powerful contender for the Oriental mind.

CURIOUS MILLIONS

Half the world's population is concentrated along her long eastern threshold. Hundreds of millions of impoverished people watch with curiosity and some envy the new governmental system being worked out by 210,000,000 citizens of the Soviet Union.

A visitor from Canada or the United States sees Russia as a fast-developing country whose people live a hard and austere life.

But a visitor from Pakistan, India, China or Indonesia sees the fast progress and finds that Russia's living standards already are better than his own.

Prime Minister Georgi Malenkov's government watches the West intently, as a potential danger—just as the West sees Moscow as a threat to peace. The controlled Russian press and radio reflect that deep suspicion.

But the Orient and central Asia are presented as striving to throw off the shackles of imperialism and exploitation or as having done this and now looking to the USSR as the one country able and willing to help them toward a better life.

AVOID WESTERNERS

A dark-skinned Pakistani, Communist or not, finds it easy to start a conversation with a Russian. Time after time in Moscow I watched Pakistanis and other Orientals in animated Russian groups. For Westerners generally, a conversation with an ordinary Russian is an event.

Waiters usually saw to it that Russians did not sit at my table. One evening I sat at a table set for four. The other three chairs promptly were removed. The hotel rooms I had outside Moscow invariably had no view.

In five months in Moscow, I saw or heard nothing to indicate that Joseph Stalin's death in March, 1953, has changed the goals of Russia's internal or external policy by one iota.

Internally the goal is the realization of the Communist state.

Externally it remains the encouragement of the "oppressed workers of the world" to work for the downfall of the capitalist system.

At home there is no sign of abatement in any aspect of the program—no suggestion of "why build now when tomorrow it may be destroyed."

HOME-FRONT EMPHASIS

The government talks ceaselessly of the "peace-loving" nature of the Soviet Union. There is a new emphasis in Russian domestic propaganda on home-front problems, although there is no simultaneous lessening of propaganda on the need for military preparations.

Diplomats in Moscow are unanimous in saying they do not anticipate hostilities between East and West in the immediate future.

There is no visible war hysteria—certainly less than there is in North America. The only military signs are the uniforms of officers and soldiers stationed in Moscow and other cities. The national anthem is not played at concerts or the theatre. No signs point the way to air raid shelters, if any exist.

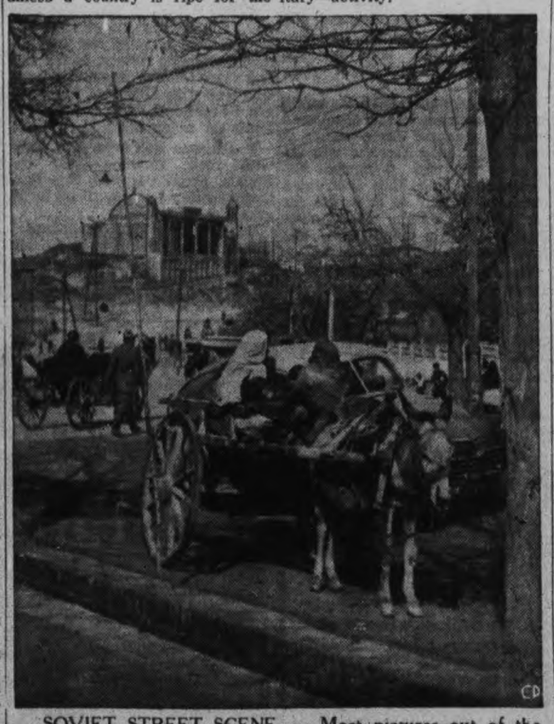
There is no question in my mind that the majority of the people support their government, believe in it, and would fight bravely if they believed their country had been attacked. But it is obvious, when one manages to talk to Russians, that average Soviet citizens dislike and fear war as much as any people.

That does not mean the Malenkov government wants world "peace" in the Western sense.

Vladimir Lenin, founder of the Communist party, still is he "great teacher" of Russia 30 years after his death. In 1922, five years after the revolution, he told a United States reporter that Communist and capitalist-socialist systems of government could live side by side in peace.

REPEATED BY STALIN

Stalin, Lenin's star pupil in Russian eyes, repeated that statement. But their peace statements have never been incorporated into Soviet philosophy.



The teaching today is still that workers through the world must work for the collapse of the capitalist system.

But Lenin also wrote that wars and revolutions to extend and strengthen communism are wrong unless a country is ripe for the plucking. That is the key to Russian policy now.

The Kremlin, in the view of Western observers in Russia, acknowledges that present prosperity in most Western lands makes this an unpropitious time to inflame passions in the masses. Exceptions to this generalization are Italy and France where instability of government and post-war discontent have paved the way for broad inroads by Russian-style communism.

But a tide of nationalism has surged through much of Asia since the Second World war began. Oriental people have discarded the yoke of foreign rulers and are experimenting in self-government.

For Russia, the west is the source of danger; the east and southeast are fields ripening for political and economic—if not military—activity.

SOVIET STREET SCENE — Most pictures out of the Soviet Union come through censorship, show imposing buildings and up-to-date facilities. This uncensored photograph was taken by Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer, who has just returned from five months in Russia. It is a street scene in Samarkand, a market town in Soviet Central Asia near the Pakistan border. Horses and donkeys outnumber automobiles in many parts of the Union.—(CP Photo).

LAND OF MANY RACES—Soviet Russia is a land of many races. Three-quarters of her vast area is in Asia. This group of apprentices, whose home is only a few miles from the Pakistan border, saw Bill Boss, CP staff writer, taking pictures, invited him to take their photograph. The boy on the right was setting up the picture. "You'll see," he said, "there's nothing to it"—and the shutter clicked. The boy in the background has European Russian features. The others, Uzbeks who are native to the region, are Oriental in appearance.—(CP Photo).

6,000 MILES IN RUSSIA—Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer, during a five-month reporting assignment in the Soviet Union, travelled 6,000 miles to study conditions outside Moscow, the show-place capital. This map shows his route, as far east and south as Tashkent, a principal city of Soviet Central Asia, only a few hundred miles from the Chinese border.—(CP Photo).

HOW to get a Friendly Loan at NIAGARA FINANCE

Drop in to see your friendly Niagara Loan advisor. He'll make it easy for you to get the Friendly Loan that suits you best. Here are important facts for you about Niagara Loans.

Who can get a Niagara Friendly Loan?—Anyone with a reputation for honesty and the ability to repay.

How much can be borrowed from Niagara?—Up to $1500; sometimes, more.

How quickly can I get money?—Sometimes in 20 minutes; within 24 hours for most loans.

How long can I take to repay?—In the table below, there are just a few of many plans. They will give you some idea of time periods allowed for different amounts . . . from 4 to 24 months. And for all people who have uneven income during the year, such as farmers and schoolteachers, special payment schedules may be arranged on loans above $500.

Are all loan charges the same?—Up to $500 generally, yes; but remember, at Niagara, you get life insurance at no extra cost.

Above $500, the larger the amount and the longer the time—the lower the rate. Compare . . . often you'll "buy" more money at less cost at Niagara.

Is Life Insurance on loans worthwhile?—Yes, here is a real family peace-of-mind feature. At no extra cost to you, loans of $1500 or less, are life-insured. Be sure you get this protection when you borrow.

Does a friend have to "back" my loan?—No, seldom do borrowers prefer an endorsed loan. And bankable security, of course is not needed.

How many ways of borrowing are there?—You can use any of these four Niagara Loan plans. 1. On cars, trucks, etc.; only owner signs. 2. Husband-and-wife, on furnishings. 3. On business equipment. 4. On farm stock and equipment.

Can I have a private interview?—Yes, your interview at Niagara will be private, courteous, and friendly.

Why do people borrow money?—A few reasons are: to consolidate a group of small debts; to reduce large payments for car and truck repairs; to meet emergencies; to repair or modernize homes; to enlarge a business; for seed, stock, fertilizer for farms; and to take advantage of low prices, when cash is paid.

Do many people borrow?—Yes, in Canada, 1 family in 4 borrow each year.

Ontario Hockey Association held its annual meeting in Toronto on Saturday, Frank Buckland of Peterborough being returned to office as first vice-prexy. Fred Scates and Jim Ellis represented the Petes, Jim missing out in a run for the executive as the old bunch went back. Red Creighton, Dootch Vitarelli, Bill Sims and Rook Batley were on deck for the Junior Petes. Orillia delegates put through a motion making it mandatory for a club to name its home ice for the whole season when the schedule starts. This was aimed directly at Oshawa Truckmen, who switched from Bowmanville to Kingston at playoff time, Oshawa having no home ice since their arena burned down a year ago. Among rule changes of interest was one which permits no icing of the puck when a team is a man short. Okay if a team is shy two players.

* * * * * *

Treasurer's report showed that the OHA is quite healthy in a financial way. Has $21,654 in cash and $32,000 in bonds for a comfy total of $53,654. While the junior "A" playoffs last year gave the OHA a hefty junk of nearly $12,000, surprisingly enough the senior "B" playoffs produced almost $8,000. Which makes the association regard this series with new respect. Senior "A" playoffs only netted $6,497. Much credit for the senior "B" showing go to the fine memorial centre in Kingston. Junior "B" doesn't do too well financially in the province. The refereeing staff under Pat Patterson as ref-in-chief came in for association praise at the annual session.

Petes Apply Tonight

There's a meeting in Oshawa tonight of the proposed Toronto Viaduct Baseball League, and the senior Petes will be represented as they seek entry. Along with Belleville, Oakville, Oshawa and two Toronto teams. We don't anticipate a turndown on the local application as twice before the Petes have played in the Viaduct Loop and were most welcome as was Oshawa. These two outside clubs drew the best gates of any teams in the Toronto circuit when they played, once shortly before the Second World War and again three years ago before Oshawa Merchants got big ideas and went for a brief spin into the minor pro Intercounty League. With no COBL going this season, the Greater Toronto (from Oakville to Peterborough, no less!) loop looks like a good bet.

Saturday aft was chilly down in Morrow Park but a bunch of senior ball prospects held a light workout under Manager Joe Lowery, as early railbirds sat about in cars to view the loosening-up drill. If the club gets the green light at tonight's meeting, officials will get busy on lining up a couple of hurlers, having already contracted Doug Mowry on this. Doug, a former Petes' catcher, is in St. Kitts now and is Ontario scout for Brooklyn Dodgers. He has strings on a number of players in various centres. Jerry Frizzelle may be available for pitching here but has a pro trial coming up at Welland in June. Jack Donlevy and Eddie Redmond, as well as former juniors, will be seeking berths, too, with the local squad. If we get the pitching, we'll field a contending senior team this semester.

Lacrosse Guys Prep

Another week and the senior lacrossers expect to be outdoors tossing the ball around at Miller Bowl as they prep for another stiff senior OLA season. They're drilling indoors several nights a week now at the YM. Don Ashbee is likely to be in town this week, and Bob Thorpe may have one or two more experienced help on hand when the schedule opens with the Trailermen in St. Kitts on May 14. First game in Peterborough is listed for May 21. So, the next few weeks should see plenty of action as the champs re-organize and round into condition. Schedule hasn't been okayed yet, but should be by the end of this week, Bob Curtin advises us.

* * * * * *

Petes' delegates were on deck at a Mimico meeting yesterday and stated their case on the raiding by St. Catharines of the local club in signing up Ross Powless and Roger Smith. St. Kitts maintain they could sign the two Indians, who left here to work in Buffalo during the winter, arguing that the residence rule was put into effect by the senior clubs in order to sign eligible players. Now the residence rule is out again, and it's everyone for himself. Rather peculiar, what? The OLA executive informed the Petes that a decision would be made after the regular meeting and the local club would be advised by mail. Thus, we should know in a day or two, if sufficient postage is attached to the missive by Secretary Chuck Rowan.

Leaders Corps Of YMCA Wins Tourney

Boys of the Peterborough YMCA Leaders Corps won all three divisions of the annual gymnastic tournament and conference held on Saturday in the Belleville YMCA. Fraser Wade's teams of seniors, intermediates and juniors finished ahead in points of the second-place Kingston entry, as 58 boys competed from Cobourg, Belleville, Kingston and Peterborough in the Eastern Ontario tourney. At the banquet which followed, the guest speaker was J. West McVicker, secretary of Physical education of the National Council of the YMCA.

The competitors take a course during the year on YMCA leadership, gymnastics, refereeing and playing. At the tourney, the senior (18 years and over) performed on the high horizontal bar, the flying rings and in tumbling, with Bill Davies first and Fred Huffman fourth from Peterborough. The intermediate high school boys had the mats, long horse and parallel bars, Tom Crough coming first, Jim Heffernan second and Bob Whitton third, all being from the local "Y". The 12-14 juniors had mats, tumbling and the box horse. Paul Ross of Peterborough took top honors, Ross Reid was second, Jack Pulkinghorn fourth, Dale Cinnamon fifth and Doug Townsend sixth. In junior swimming, Don Mann was first and Don Gibson third.

Last-Minute Goal Saves Penticton

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—Grant Warwick was the toast of the town here this weekend, but the Penticton V's playing-coach will have his work cut out for him tonight in the seventh game of the western Canada Allan Cup finals.

Warwick, one-time New York Ranger, saved his team from elimination Saturday night by firing a goal with 17 seconds left in overtime that tied Winnipeg Maroons 4-4.

It was the third game of the best-of-seven series to end in a 4-4 stalemate. Maroons hold a 2-1 edge in the games that have gone to a decision.

Penticton will need a clear-cut victory tonight if V's are to stay in the running. Another tie game will put Winnipeg into the Allan Cup finals against Sudbury Wolves.

In Saturday's game Maroons' ace Odie Lowe forced the overtime period with a goal at 14:32 of the third that knotted the score at 3-3.

Tom Rokey shot Maroons into the lead again halfway point in the 10-minute overtime session and that looked the winner until Warwick came through.

Truckmen Win 6-1 Against Gunners

SIMCOE (CP)—Oshawa Truckmen defeated Simcoe Gunners 6-1 Saturday night to tie up their Ontario Hockey Association senior B finals 1-1.

Truckmen took an early lead—2-0 at the end of the first period—and were never headed. At the end of the second the score was 4-1. Clos checking by Oshawa kept the Gunners away from the visitors' net.

Jerry Goodwin scored the lone Simcoe goal. Oshawa scorers were Wally Samanski, Jedd Wilson, George Samolenko, Fred Etcher, Jack Thayler and Gerry Scott.

Guelph Basketballers Win Championship

SUDBURY (CP) — Guelph Heffernan YMCA defeated Sudbury Internationals 62-56 Saturday night to win the two-game total-point all-Ontario intermediate B basketball championship 144-124.

Jack Donald scored 22 points to lead the Guelph attack. Jay Fry added 17 and Don McCrae 12.

For the losers, Jack Duyvestyn got 16 points, Ray Puro 14 and Moose McQuarrie 11.

RACQUETEER—Doris Hart posed with the tools of the tennis trade aboard the Queen Elizabeth in New York before sailing for England. In the National Hard Court Championships at Bournemouth, the former Wimbledon titleholder launches a long and rigorous tournament schedule.

WINS $122,750 RACE

NEW YORK (AP)—Correlation, a long striding, raw-boned Kentucky Derby hope from California, soundly whipped the highly regarded Fisherman and six other three-year-olds in the $122,750 Wood Memorial at Jamaica Saturday.

Surging out of fifth place as the field swung from the back stretch in the mile-and-an-eighth test, Robert S. Lytle's colt pulled away in the final eighth of a mile and finished 3½ lengths in front of C. V. Whitney's Fisherman, 4-to-5 favorite. High Gun, from the King Ranch, trailed by four lengths in third place.

Correlation, winner of the $100,000 Florida Derby in his last previous start, picked up $86,000 for his victorious journey to run his total earnings to $281,804. As the second choice of the crowd of 42,670, he paid $6.70, $2.80 and $2.60.

Correlation likely will go to the post next Saturday as the favorite for the derby.

LANDY SETS RECORD

MELBOURNE (AP) — Running on a track chopped up by football players, Australia's John Landy Sunday ran three quarters of a mile in 2:58.4, two seconds under the listed world record.

The race was billed as an exhibition appearance and was run during the intermission of a football game. The Australian, however, turned in his best time ever for the distance.

✦ ✦ ✦

RECORD SHOT PUTT

DES MOINES, Iowa (CP) — Parry O'Brien, handsome giant who used to perform for Southern California, bettered his own world record for the shot putt at the Drake relays Saturday.

O'Brien's toss was 59 feet, 9¾ inches which compares with his official world record of 59 feet, 2¼ inches. His great toss will not count as a world record because fewer than three athletes competed in the exhibition.

WINS IN RELAYS

PHILADELPHIA (CP)—Murray Halberg, New Zealand's top miler, raced the distance in 4:10 to win an easy victory over some of the top U.S. distance men at the Penn relays Saturday.

Halberg, who has a 4:04 mile to his credit and who will compete in the British Empire Games in Vancouver this summer, finished 35 yards in front of Mal Whitfield.

PARNELL HURT

WASHINGTON (AP)—An inside pitch thrown by a former Boston player has struck a damaging blow to the pennant hopes of the hard-luck Red Sox, already hampered by an injury to slugging star Ted Williams.

Ace lefthander Me. Parnell, a 21-game winner last year, received a fracture in his left forearm Saturday night when struck by a pitch from Washington's Maury McDermott, traded by the Sox last winter. Doctors said he may be lost for two months.

Batawa Loses To UEW In Soccer Fray

UEW soccer team captured a 6-4 exhibition victory in Batawa over the weekend as the teams prepared for the opening of the Eastern Ontario League schedule, which will be held here at Morrow Park next Saturday, Canadian Scots vs. UEW.

Manager H. Steel made various changes in the Peterborough lineup Saturday in checking the best spots for each player. He started with Jones in goal, Croll and Davies backs, Capt. Strong, Buchan and Dunn halves, and Ryan, Hoyle, Payne, Biddle and Holroyd forwards.

Hoyle scored the first two goals for UE, Campbell got the third, Hoyle the fourth, Ryan the next one and Campbell the sixth. Payne hit the crossbar once and it came out to Biddle, who hit the upright with the goalkeeper beaten.

Batawa counted four goals, also changing players around, and looked stronger than last season, giving promise of being a definite threat for lop honors this season. Kyneston in goal, Holt at outside right and Campbell at left half, also saw UEW action in this game.

Basketballer Suspended Year

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Four constitutional amendments were approved during the week-end at the annual convention of the Ontario Church Amateur Basketball Association held here.

The delegates, representing 52 boys clubs throughout the province approved the suspension of Don Ford of Welland for one year for unsportsmanlike conduct following a Church League game in Toronto. Other amendments called for the appointment of the association president and secretary treasurer as official delegates to Ontario Basketball Association conventions and the limitation of life memberships to five.

Officers elected for 1954-55 were: President, Charles Wyatt, Welland; first vice-president, Wilf Garrett, St. Catharines; second vice-president, Robert Wilson, Niagara Falls; secretary-treasurer, Carl Popkey, Windsor.

Terriers, Royals Swap 5 Players

GALT (CP)—Galt Terriers and Guelph-Waterloo Royals Saturday completed a deal involving five Intercounty Senior League players.

Playing-manager Mike Pontarelli of Galt, who made the swap with business manager Ernie Goman of the Royals, said Terriers will obtain catcher Art O'Connor and southpaw pitcher Matt Cumieniak from the Royals in exchange for pitcher John Walter, a lefthander, Earl Hannel, a righthander, and first baseman Gerry Cline.

The acquisition of O'Connor gives Terriers two top receivers. The other is Jim Schindler, who played in Galt three years ago before joining the Lubbock Club of the West Texas League.

Powless And Smith Case Unsettled At Meeting Of OLA

A definite decision on the case of Ross Powless and Roger Smith of the Peterborough Trailermen moving to St. Catharines to play senior "A" lacrosse this season will be made known within a day or two, it is expected by local club officials. The Petes protested the St. Catharines Athletics signing up these Peterborough players, and the OLA executive heard both sides of the case at a weekend meeting. However, the OLA made no decision while Petes' delegates were on hand, stating they would consider the protest following the regular meeting and mail a reply shortly to Peterborough. St. Catharines claimed Powless and Smith were eligible to play there as they had left Peterborough after last lacrosse season and worked in Buffalo.

While the senior schedule came in for some discussion at the meeting in Mimico, the 1954 list was not adopted as yet, since one or two changes may be made this week. It is expected to be checked during the week and adopted at a meeting next weekend. It is known that the Petes will open play May 14 in St. Catharines and have the Athletics here May 21 to open the Peterborough home season.

Meantime it was announced that the residence rule has been dropped again after a short trial by the senior clubs. Don Ashbee is expected to arrive in Peterborough this week, and Coach Bob Thorpe meantime is looking for one or two more players to round out another strong squad as they seek to retain their Mann Cup for another year.

Local indoor workouts will be held in the YMCA this week on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday night, with the possibility of the prospective team going outdoors next week for drills in Miller Bowl.

International League Games Draw Large Sunday Crowds

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The International League's cash register appeared today to be the big winner in the acquisition of Richmond and Havana, although at the rate the Cubans are going, they, too, could make some faces red.

Each team drew better than 10,000 spectators—a rarity in the loop except for the Canadian cities in the post-war era — in splitting doubleheaders Sunday. The Cubans dropped the first game 9-3 to the defending pennant winners, Rochester Red Wings, but came back ord stands at 5-2.

Richmond defeated Toronto Maple Leafs 4-1 in the second game after dropping the first 5-4. Both Syracuse and Buffalo swept doubleheaders. The Chiefs won a pair from Ottawa Athletics 5-4 and 10-5 while the Bisons downed Montreal Royals 4-3 and 8-1.

ALL THEY NEEDED

The Red Wings scored six runs in the second inning of the first game with Havana and that was all they needed. But in the afterpiece, Saul Rogovin, the ex-Chicago White Sox hurler, handcuffed them. Juan Delis doubled and scored on Luis Garcia's single in the sixth inning for the winning run.

Archie Wilson hit two home runs and Jack Crimian stopped the Virginians cold in relief for the Toronto first-game victory. In the second game Charley Haag, a veteran who was with Albany of the Eastern League last year, checked the Leafs on seven hits.

The Bisons took over first place with their victories over the Royals. Frank Carswell, Ron Northey and Ken Johnson all hit home runs for the winners.

Bob Bowman hit a bases-loaded single to pull the first game out of the fire for Syracuse, but the Chiefs coasted to the nightcap triumph. Relief Duke Markell won the first and Jack Sanford the second, although he didn't go the distance.

Western Bowlers Win Championships

WINDSOR (CP)—Western Canada bowlers walked off with three of the four championships Saturday in the annual five-pin bowling championships held here.

Dave Bisset of Vancouver won the men's singles championship, Mary Currie of Calgary the ladies singles and Calgary All-Stars the ladies' team competition. Hamilton Ottawa Furniture won the men's team championship for the lone eastern title.

Art Wall Wins Golf Tourney

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Pennsylvania professional golfer Art Wall, Jr., shrugged off the challenge of more famous players Sunday and won the $10,000 top money in the $35,000 Tournament of Champions.

Shooting a firm but conservative one-over-par 73 in the final round, the 30-year-old player from Pocono Manor, Pa., finished the 72-hole event with a score of 278, six strokes in front of his nearest threats.

Tied for the runner-up positions were Lloyd Mangrum and Al Besselink, the latter the surprise winner of the inaugural tournament last year and a man who came up fast in Sunday's final round.

Mangrum fired a 71 for 284, and Besselink a 68. The 68 was low score of the day and won a special $1,000 prize offered by the tournament chairman Wilbur Clark.

Elmira Takes Lead In Intermediate Series

ELMIRA (CP) — Elmira defeated Aylmer Trojans 6-0 Saturday night to take a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven Ontario Hockey Association intermediate A final series.

G. Blake and Martin paced the winners with two goals apiece. S. Wildfong and Oberle added singles.

Fourth game will be played here Wednesday night.

Remember When—

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ty Cobb, one of baseball's all-time greats, paced Philadelphia Athletics to a 9-8 victory over Boston in an American League game 27 years ago today. The "Georgia Peach" drove in two runs, scored two himself—one by stealing home — and ended the game with an unassisted double play. It was his 23rd year in the majors, and he retired from active play the following season.

Winnipeg Wins East-West Cup In Pee-Wee Hockey Tournament

GODERICH (CP) — Winnipeg carried off the East-West challenge cup at the Young Canada Week Pee-Wee hockey tournament here Saturday night. The village of Mildmay lost out by a single goal to the city of Waterloo in the grand championship event.

Winnipeg Red and Whites edged Goderich Lions 5-4 in the second East-West game. The first Friday night was called a draw after 22 minutes of overtime failed to break a 6-6 tie and both teams were too tuckered out to go on.

Mildmay Little Monarchs, coming from a village of 840 persons, were defeated 3-2 by the Waterloo squad from a city of more than 12,000. Earlier Mildmay won the C-group championship and Waterloo the AA title.

Waterloo's grand championship was the second it has won in four years. Goderich took the crown the last two years.

RECORD ENTRY LIST

The East-West game was played between 13-year-olds but 12 years was the age limit in other games. The week-long tournament drew a record 47 entries this year.

Waterloo won the AA title Saturday by defeating Owen Sound 4-3 in the morning and moved into the grand championship finals in the afternoon with a 6-5 win over Goderich, A-group champs. Mildmay beat Seaforth, B-group winners, 6-4 in the semi-finals.

Blair McLeod led Winnipeg with three goals and Terry Clark and Wayne Burnett got the other two. Larry Jeffrey scored two goals for Goderich in the last 15 minutes. Dave Leeson and Will Gallow put in singles.

Waterloo, in spite of having played three games Friday and two earlier ones Saturday, racked up a 3-0 lead against Mildmay by the third period on two goals by Jim Dahmer and a single by Howie Dietrich. Mildmay's twin-brother team—Doug and Dave Lobsinger—scored twice in the final period but couldn't make the tying goal.

The tournament is sponsored jointly by Goderich Lions Club and the Western Ontario Athletic Association. The Lions provide food and billets for the youngsters and the association makes referees available for the games.

Giants' Pitchers Win Lead In Three Shutouts

By JOE REICHLER

The talk of baseball today is the three successive shutouts turned in by New York Giants' Marv Grissom, Sal Maglie and Johnny Antonelli over Philadelphia Phils Saturday and Sunday .

This brilliant back-to-back pitching has all but overshadowed the remarkable resurgence of Chicago White Sox who, in one week leapfrogged from last to first place with seven victories in eight games.

Following up Grissom's 1-0 three-hit squeaker over Robin Roberts Saturday, Maglie and Antonelli limited the Phils to five and three hits respectively Sunday as the Giants swept the doubleheader 3-0 and 5-0.

The White Sox made it three in a row over Baltimore, coming from behind each time to capture both ends of a twin bill 3-2 and 4-3. The double victory boosted the Sox into a half-game lead over Detroit Tigers, who fell into a second-place tie as they lost a 10-9 overtime decision to Cleveland. Washington broke loose with five runs in the eighth inning to overcome Boston Red Sox 5-1.

YANKS DROP

New York's defending champion Yankees dropped into a fourth place tie with Philadelphia when the A's whipped them 4-2 after the Yankees had taken the first game 4-1. The nightcap was called after eight innings because of Pennsylvania's curfew law.

Brooklyn retained its half-game advantage in the National League by defeating Pittsburgh 4-2 after the Pirates had shelled Don Newcombe off the mound in the first inning to overwhelm the Dodgers 9-3. Cincinnati clung to second place, edging out Chicago 3-2 after the Cubs had slugged them into a 9-2 defeat. St. Louis Cardinals finally climbed into the .500 circle by nipping Milwaukee Braves 7-6 in 12 innings.

Maglie outpitched Curt Simmons for his third straight victory. A double by Davey Williams and Don Mueller's single broke a scoreless duel in the seventh. Two-run homers by Monte Irvin and Hank Thompson helped Antonelli gain the nod over Murry Dickson in the nightcap.

Virgil Trucks spotted the Orioles with a fourth inning home run, two runs in the first inning, then blanked them with four hits the rest of the way to gain his second White Sox win. Trucks drove in the first two runs with a single and Sherman Lollar won the game with a fourth inning home run. Ferris Fain's bases-loaded single climaxed a two-run rally in the ninth inning to give Chicago its second-game victory.

HOMER SNAPS TIE

Dave Philley, who had one hit in 27 times at bat, homered in the 10th with a man on base for Cleveland to snap an 8-8 tie. Outfielder Wally Westlake's two homers kept the Indians in the running.

Three ex-Red Sox players figured prominently in Washington's victory over Boston. Runs-scoring singles by Clyde Collmer and Mel Hoderlein highlighted the Nats five run eighth. Southpaw Chuck Stobbs held his former mates to seven hits.

Jim McDonald turned back the Athletics with pitching help from Johnny Sain and homers by Jerry Coleman, Phil Rizzuto and rookie Bill Skowron, but Don Bollweg and Bill Renna, sent by the Yanks to Philadelphia last winter, drove in the winning runs in the nightcap.

THREE-RUN HOMER

After Frank Thomas' three-run homer had kayoed Newcombe in the first inning, rookie Curt Roberts insured Pittsburgh's first-game victory with a bases-loaded double in the seventh. Johnny Podres hurled a three-hitter to give the Dodgers a split.

Rookie Art Fowler became the first Cincinnati pitcher to hurl a complete game this season when he defeated the Cubs in the second game after Chicago had clubbed three Redleg pitchers for 14 hits including home runs by Ralph Kiner and Randy Jackson in the opener.

Jim Pendleton's muff of Red Schoendienst's bases-loaded fly with two out in the 12th allowed Alex Grammas to score the winning run in the Cards victory over the Braves.

Powerful TeePees Register 5-1 Win In Cup Finals

QUEBEC (CP) — The powerful St. Catharines TeePees easily defeated Quebec Frontenacs 5-1 Saturday night before 8,000 fans in the opener of the best-of-seven eastern Canada Memorial Cup hockey finals.

The scoring was distributed among six players. Henry Ciesla, Elmer Vaska, Hugh Barlow, Chester Warchol and Jack Armstrong scored for St. Catharines. Guy Rousseau netted the lone Quebec tally late in the first period.

Twenty - three penalties were called, 14 of them against the TeePees, including a 10-minute misconduct to TeePees' star Brian Cullen. St. Catharines coach Rudy Pilous protested bitterly against the penalty.

Netminder Marvin Edwards was a standout in the St. Catharines net, turning back all but one of the 26 shots fired at him. Jacques Marcotte of Quebec had 20 saves.

BEAT MARLBOROS

The TeePees entered the eastern Canada finals by disposing of Toronto Marlboros. The Frontenacs ousted Ottawa Eastview-St. Charles.

Ciesla and Vasko gave St. Catharines a 2-1 first-period lead. Barlow and Warchol made it 4-1 in the middle stanza, Warchol's goal a neat solo effort. Armstrong completed the scoring early in the final session.

Ciesla's tally and Quebe's goal by Rousseau came while both teams were shorthanded. Armstrong counted with the Frontenacs down a man.

The second game of the series will be played here tonight.

Korea, Indo-China Meeting Unfolds In Former Home Of League Of Nations

By LYNN HEINZERLING

GENEVA (AP) — The Geneva conference on Korea and Indo-China unfolds this week in a magnificent building overlooking Lake Geneva, where some of mankind's fondest hopes are entombed.

The Palais Des Nations, former home of the League of Nations and now the European headquarters of the United Nations, opened its doors just two weeks before Adolf Hitler marched his troops into the demilitarized Rhineland and denounced the treaty of Lucarno in 1936.

From that day until the League died in 1946, leaving its assets to the United Nations, the stately building knew little but crisis and war.

Delegates from East and West will be talking about different localities this week, but they will be using terms well known in the marble halls here — aggression, bloodshed, appeasement, war.

MONT BLANC BACKGROUND

The council chamber chosen for the deliberations is a sombre room, normally seating 482, including public and press. It overlooks the lake and, in the background, Mont Blanc, Europe's highest peak.

On the ceiling of the chamber is a huge painting in sepia and gold by the Spanish artist, Jose-Marie Sert, entitled "The solidarity of the Peoples." Five muscular figures, representing the continents, are shown grasping hands directly above the heads of the delegates.

The symbolism rarely has become reality in this chamber. Instead, its most significant debates were on those bloody events which paralleled the rise of Hitler and Benito Mussolini.

These included the aftermath of Italy's annexation of Ethiopia, the civil war in Spain, the Japanese aggression in Manchuria and China, Hitler's seizure of Austria, the crisis at Munich and the annexation of Czechoslovakia in 1939. The faltering hand of the League of Nations could do little to halt the rush of events which followed.

CONDEMNED RED INVASION

Its last decisive act was Dec. 14, 1939, on an appeal of the Finish government against the Soviet Union's invasion of Finland. The League council condemned the action and stated in a resolution that "by its act the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics has placed itself outside the League of Nations."

Not since those black days of the '30s has Geneva played host to such a conference as this. The names that live in Geneva's modern political history are those of the between-the-wars statesmen—Aristide Briand and Joseph Paul-Boncour of France, Gustave Stresemann of Germany, Sir Austen Chamberlain of Britain and Maxim Litvinoff of the Soviet Union.

The Palais is a concrete and stone structure, liberally laced with marble. It stretches for a quarter mile across the crest of a slope near the city limits.

Mass Interrogation Of Nairobi Africans

NAIROBI (Reuters)—British police and troops with fixed bayonets Saturday herded 3,679 Nairobi Africans behind barbed wire fences for screening as suspected Mau Mau terrorists or sympathizers.

In a dawn-to-dusk sweep through the city's native quarter, the suspects were rounded up and held for questioning.

They were held after failing to pass preliminary screening during the "Operation Anvil" roundup—biggest mass interrogation of the campaign against anti-white Mau Mau terrorists.

Object of the drive was to deprive Mau Mau forest gangs of couriers, supplies and recruits drawn from the city's population and to cut down the terrorist hold on the city itself

Ambassador Predicts End Of Red Regime

WINNIPEG (CP) — Hon. T. C. Davis, former Canadian ambassador to Germany, said Sunday he believes that Russia eventually will crack up internally.

He suggested in an interview that internal destruction of the Communist regime may come within 20 years.

Mr. Davis returned recently from his Bonn post and will succeed Hon. Thomas Mayhew this fall as Canadian ambassador to Japan. He now is en route to Vancouver to visit relatives and hitched a ride this far on the RCAF plane carrying Defence Minister Claxton on a tour of western Canada military establishments.

Big League Rookie

LABOR IN VAIN—Swiss Soldiers erect a barbed wire fence around the villa "Montfleury" in Versoix, which will be occupied by Chinese Communist Foreign Minister Chou-En Lai when he arrives for the Foreign Ministers' conference at Geneva. Later, the Chinese decided they did not want the wire barricade, so down it came.

Icing Puck Ruled Illegal By Ont. Hockey Association

By WALTER GRAY

TORONTO (CP) — Icing the puck, a favorite gimmick by penalty-short teams in scattering opposing players away from the net, has been ruled illegal in the Ontario Hockey Association.

Delegates to the OHA's annual meeting Saturday approved the new ruling presented by the executive committee.

The committee had originally asked that the rule apply when teams were also two men short. However, W. K. (Bucko) McDonald of Sundridge successfully argued that a team with two men in the penalty box was not strong enough unless it was able to ice the puck away from its own zone.

The convention decided to bring all of metropolitan Toronto, as defined in the Ontario legislature's Bill 80, into the OHA. The move allows fringe area clubs, such as Markham, Alliston and Beeton, to return to the association. Newmarket was also allowed in the metropolitan area.

NEEDS TO ENTER

Stan Smith, manager of the Newmarket Spitfires, said unless his club was allowed to enter the metropolitan area's senior B competition, the organization would be unable to carry on.

Delegates opposed an executive committee amendment which would allow the imposing of a $10 fine on any player who left the players' or penalty benches to enter a fight on the ice and the suspension of the coach for the next three scheduled games for allowing the player to take part.

The convention also turned down a recommendation calling for a match penalty on any player who engaged in fisticuffs.

In supporting the executive committee's proposal, Father Edward Flanagan, representing Toronto St. Michael's of the OHA junior A series, said it was an "excellent measure."

"In my books hockey is a game of skill and courage. Fighting has no place in hockey."

Dr. C. Graham of Elmira said he would support the recommendation if it ruled only that the man who started the fight received the penalty.

"If a man doesn't come back at the fighter I can't see why he should be penalized."

NEEDS STIFF PENALTY

Frank Buckland of Peterborough, OHA first vice-president, said a stiff penalty would act as a deterrent to any future fighting.

A match penalty with an automatic suspension will be given any player leaving the players' or penalty benches to enter into an altercation among the spectators.

A team failing to appear within 15 minutes of the scheduled starting time of a game will be liable to a fine set by the executive committee.

The number of eligible imports on a junior C club was reduced from three to two and on a junior D team from two to one with no waiver players.

Delegates pposed a request by the Orillia senior B hockey club that towns compelled to play senior B hockey by reason of population, be allowed a greater number of imports than cities which compete in senior B competition.

J. C. McDonald, in presenting the request, said such a move would make all clubs equal in strength and provide better competition.

OPPOSES CHANGE

Jack Devine of Belleville said if any changes were to be made it should be the population classifications.

"It's just a case where the rich get richer and the poor get poorer. I think we're getting away from the game. . . It's a straight case of financial venture."

George S. Dudley of Midland, in presenting his treasurer's report, said the OHA was "suffering from success." He said the construction of large numbers of artificial rinks has resulted in the formation of many new teams and longer series.

The OHA ended the 1953 financial year with a balance of $21,654 in cash and $32,000 in government bonds, compared with $24,003 cash and $17,000 in bonds in 1952.

Lloyd Pollock, of Windsor was elected to the executive committee, defeating Dr. A. E. Smith of Collingwood. Re-elected were Ken Parker of Stratford and Ab Hulse of Aurora.

The executive, headed by M. L. (Tory) Gregg of Wingham, as president, was returned by acclamation.

Alouettes' Coach Suggests Changes

MONTREAL (CP) — Douglas (Peahead) Walker, the man from the South who coaches Montreal Alouettes, feels there are a couple of things that would make Canadian football more pleasing to the fans. He also thinks the United States game could profit by adopting some rules from the Canadian code.

Walker was guest speaker Friday night at the Loyola College Alumni Association recognition dinner.

He said he would like to see the Canadian rules provide for protection for the pass receiver through unlimited blocking. He would also like to see unlimited blocking for the punt receiver as a means of eliminating "the suicide safety job" and thereby cutting down injuries.

Walker said he likes Canada's rouge point and feels it would help eliminate many of the tie games prevalent in the United States.

Canada To Play Chile In Davis Cup Game

MONTREAL (CP)—Harry Marpole, president of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association, said in an interview Sunday Canada and Chile will meet in the first round of North American zone Davis Cup play "probably July 15-17."

Site of the tie will likely be the Toronto Cricket Club, he said.

If Canada gets by Chile in the first round and Japan defeats Mexico, the second tie will be offered to Montreal's Mount Royal Tennis Club, which has staged all Davis Cup matches since the Second World War.

Soccer League Decides Not To Enter Knockout

TORONTO (CP) — The National Soccer League has decided not to enter knockout competition in the Canadian championships this year.

The executive decided at a weekend meeting that league schedules in both th first division and reserve sections are too heavy for teams to enter the finals. There are 110 games scheduled in the first division and 60 in the reserve.

Atomic Reactor

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Sweden's first atomic reactor will begin operation this summer. The entire plant has been blasted down into granite rock to a depth of 120 feet, with a rock roof at least 40 feet thick. Other safeguards against atomic radiation include 1,500 tons of iron ore and 60 tons of graphite.

Basketball Win

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Tri-Bells won the international Triple A basketball title Saturday night by defeating Tonawanda, N.Y., Eldridge Club 72-53.

Senators Picked To Win Quebec Hockey

QUEBEC (CP)—Ottawa Senators take the ice against Quebec Aces tonight odds-on favorites to win the Quebec Hockey League finals after two week-end games that gave them a commanding 4-2 lead in the best-of-nine series.

The Senators will be playing at home flushed with a 6-3 victory at Quebec Sunday night. They missed a chance to wind up the series during the week-end by going down 2-0 Saturday night at Ottawa.

Dusty Blair was the chief marksman for Ottawa Sunday counting two of his team's six goals. Other Ottawa scorers were Phil Maloney, Leo Gravelle, Gerry Foley and Red Johnson.

The Senators dominated play throughout the first two periods, building up a 4-0 lead before Quebec came to life in the final session to outscore Ottawa 3-2. Larry Regan, Michel Labadie and Ray Powell counted for the Aces.

GOALIE STARRED

On Saturday substitute Quebec goalie Jean Marois was the star of the night. Marois, playing his first playoff game for the Aces, turned aside 18 scoring attempts to shut out the Senators.

Quebec took the lead in the second frame when Ludger Tremblay picked up a rebound to crash the puck past Ottawa goalie Ray Frederick from seven feet out.

In the final period the Senators tried desperately to tie the game maining to play Larry Regan but with only 54 seconds remaining smashed home an insurance marker for the winners.

Open Tennis Season At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Ron Lye, president of the Kawartha Tennis Club of Peterborough, has informed Kenneth Kingston, president of the Campbellford Tennis Club, that a group of Peterborough players will visit Campbellford courts on Saturday, May 1, to get the local season under way.

If the meet has to be cancelled because of bad weather, there is a possibility the matches will take place on Sunday, May 2.

The tournament will be a friendly one only, with no prizes at stake, and it will give players of both clubs a chance to get their racquets out of moth balls.

The Campbellford club, which has three paved courts, has been active since Easter, and the courts are in use almost daily.

Euchre Party Raises $70 For Cancer Drive

LILY LAKE (ENS)—The progressive euchre party, sponsored by the Lily Lake Women's Association, in aid of the local Cancer fund, proved a decided success, twenty-two tables being played.

First prizes were won by Mrs. David McAdam and Burritt Jopling, with consolation awards going to Lorraine Middleton and Gerald Guyatt. The prizes for lone hands went to Burritt Jopling and Mrs. Bruce Scott.

A largen umber of Peterborough merchants and community friends donated articles which were auctioned by George Tully.

Mrs. Clarence Hancock was general convener of the party. Mrs. Arthur Hancock was treasurer for the auction.

Ladies of the association served lunch at the conclusion of the games.

A sum in the neighborhood of $70 was realized for the Cancer Society campaign.

Airliner Victims Found

TUXTLA GUTIERREZ, Mexico (AP)—Rescue teams reached the scene of a commercial airliner crash Sunday and reported that all six persons aboard the plane were dead. They were the pilot, co-pilot and four passengers, including a four-year-old boy. The plane struck a peak just north of the Guatemalan frontier Saturday.

$60,000 In Opium Seized

SINGAPORE (Reuters)—Singapore police said Sunday night they have seized $60,000 worth of opium from the Dutch freighter Van Heutsz, which arrived recently from Africa. Agents found the smuggled drug hidden in a lifeboat.

DETERMINED—Determine, Ray York up . . . any way and on any kind of a track.

Best-Of-Seven Series Won By Huskies

DURHAM (CP)—Durham Huskies whipped Sundridge Beavers 7-1 Saturday night to win their best-of-seven Ontario Hockey Association intermediate B final 4-1.

E. Michank sparked the Huskies with three goals. G. Fairchild scored twice and B. McIntosh and A. Grant once each.

Canada Waiting For Future American Policy

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—W.J. Borrie of Montreal, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said today Canadians are waiting with a "good deal of anxiety for United States enactment of a future economic policy."

Mr. Borrie, in an address prepared for delivery to the 42nd annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the U.S., said Canadians felt this way, not only because there are trading problems to be solved between the two countries, but because "we fully realize that ours is a supporting role to that of the United States.

"By ourselves, we can do little but in co-operation with you, I believe you will find us a useful and willing partner if you set out to lead the world into a system of convertible currencies and expanding multilateral trade.

"If we continue to work together in the spirit of friendship and co-operation that we know so well, I am confident that we have nothing to fear as to the health and prosperity of both our countries, either in 1954 or in the years that lie ahead."

Sunshine, Sand Produces Electric Power

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—Just sunshine and sand can give useful electric power through an amazing invention announced today.

It is a battery made merely of razor-thin strips of silicon, the stuff that makes sand. Sunlight striking the silicon creates a flow of electric current in atoms in the strips. The "fuel" is free and the strips can last forever.

The sunshine battery was developed by Bell Telephone Laboratories.

It already can create enough power to carry your voice for a short distance over telephone wires broadcast from a miniature portable radio transmitter, run a toy ferris wheel or do other work.

With further development, sunshine batteries each a foot square, promise to supply all the power for long rural telephone lines, Bell officials said. The batteries would supply power by day, even cloudy days, and charge up storage units to permit night operations.

They could run walkie-talkie radios, be used for power in mobile electric equipment for military or civilian purposes, even juice up a flashlight by day for readiness at night. Or possibly—if they could be made big enough and cheaply enough—give you all the current for lights, TV set and refrigerator at home.

Government Renews War To Wipe Out Sea Lampreys

By HENRY BAKER

TORONTO (CP)—An evil-looking marauder from the lower Great Lakes has almost sucked the life out of the commercial trout fishing industry.

Sea lampreys which fasten to and suck the blood from lake trout, have wiped out commercial fishing in Lake Huron and Lake Michigan and threaten to do the same in Lake Superior. Almost half the trout taken in Superior last season were scarred by the parasitic lampreys which also attack whitefish, sturgeon, chub, pickerel, suckers, carp, perch and herring.

The eel-like, mottled brown and yellow lampreys with ugly, staring eyes, average about two feet in length. Their neckless heads are equipped with circular, sucker mouths, about the size of 50-cent pieces. A fleshy fringe around their mouths forms a seal around the part of the trout's body to which they fasten and their saw-like teeth rasp a hole through which the blood is sucked.

STUBBORN ENEMY

They hang on for days until their prey is either dead from loss of blood or dies from infection of the wound.

The Ontario lands and forests department says the extent of their depredations is indicated by a drop in the commercial catch in Lake Michigan to 500 pounds a year. For years it stood at 2,000,000 pounds. The fish brought 40 to 70 cents a pound.

The department said: "There is still a fair fishery in Georgian bay where there are a few lampreys. But there are many lampreys in Lake Huron and Lake Michigan and they are presumed to have been the cause of the serious fisheries decline."

The federal and provincial governments have joined in a continuing battle against the spoilers.

Last year they set aside $281,000 for a joint fisheries research program for the Great Lakes. The Dominion government is contributing $165,000, the province, $116,000. Included in the federal funds is $150,000 to be used solely for lamprey control. The province is contributing personnel and equipment.

SET UP COMMITTEE

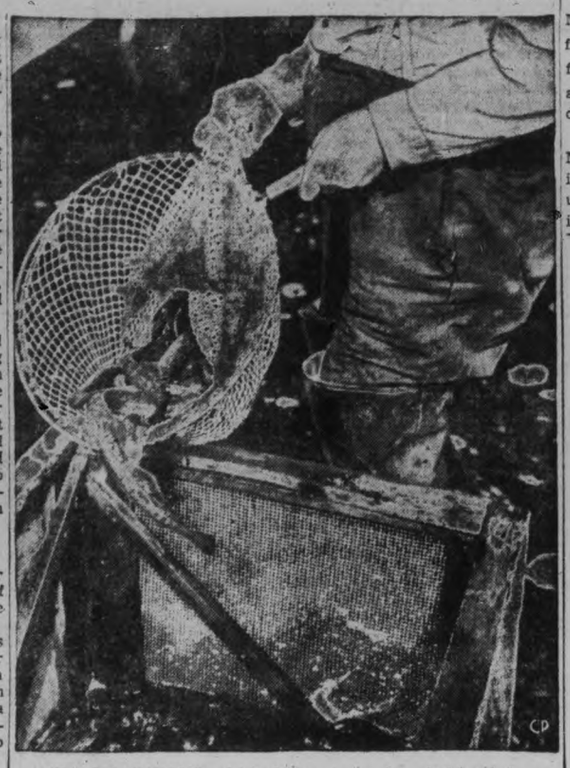
A joint Great Lakes fisheries research committee has been set up which is made up of fisheries, conservation and research officials of both the federal and provincial governments.

Dr. Murray Spiers, University of Toronto, who will correlate the committee's findings, says the objectives of the program are control of the lampreys and other destructive fish and to find ways of utilizing less popular fish such as smelts, suckers and fresh water cod.

Dr. Spiers said the committee hopes to prevent the lampreys in Lake Superior from destroying commercial trout fishing by using electric weirs, dams and poison in the tributary streams where they spawn each spring and early summer. The lampreys spend the first four years of their five-year lifespan in the mud of stream bottoms.

Three electric weirs, a series of electrically-charged pipes strung across a stream, will be ready for use this spring in the Harmony, Stokely and Sable rivers which flow into Lake Superior. Twenty more are planned for installation this year between Sault Ste. Marie and the Montreal river and 10 more in the Port Arthur district.

Wildlife officials say weirs will not kill the fish but will prevent them from swimming upstream to spawn. The fish feel the current through the water some distance downstream from the weir and turn around and swim into the lake again.



IN SPAWNING PERIOD

Current will be turned on through the weirs from about the middle of May to the middle of June, the lampreys' spawning period.

The weirs won't interfere with the trout which spawn earlier in the spring and in the fall. What good fish are prevented from spawning will be netted out of the streams and released further upstream above the weirs to spawn.

A dam is planned west of Sault Ste. Marie. This type of lamprey trap is considered one of the most effective methods of control though it is only feasible in streams where the water-level remains fairly constant.

Funnel-shaped nets across the fast-moving portions of streams will also be used to trap the lampreys. When they are caught they are dumped on the ground to die or used for fertilizer.

SEA LAMPREYS which fasten to and suck blood from lake trout have wiped out commercial fishing in Lake Huron and Lake Michigan and threaten to do the same in Lake Superior. Almost half the trout taken in Lake Superior last season were scarred by the parasitic lampreys which also attack whitefish, sturgeons, chub, pickerel, suckers, carp, perch and herring. The eel-like, mottled brown and yellow lampreys with ugly, staring eyes average about two feet in lenth. A fleshy fringe around their mouths forms a seal around the part of the trout's body to which they fasten and their saw-like teeth rasp a hole through which the blood is sucked. Attribute Alcohol To Man's Death

ALGONAC, Mich. (AP)—Herbert Miskokomon, 29-year-old Indian from nearby Walpole Island, was found dead in a car Sunday and a coroner's report attributed the death to acute alcohol poisoning.

Clay McKenzie, companion of Miskokomon on around of drinking Saturday night, said he was unable to waken him in the morning so left him sleeping in a car.

Donald Miller Elected President Four-H Clubs

ROSENEATH (ENS) — Last week the members of the Roseneath 4-H Club took a bus trip to Oshawa. The trip was sponsored by the Roseneath Agricultural Society and directed by Sidney Macdonald, assistant agricultural representative.

At Oshawa they visited the seed cleaning plant, owned and operated by Garnet Rickard. After this they continued to the Ideal Dairy in Oshawa and also went out to the farm of A. Geisberger to see a new bulk milk cooler and how it operates. Lunch was eaten at the farm.

During the lunch hour the officers of the club were elected as follows: President, Donald Miller; vice-president, Marie Bril; secretary-treasurer, Freda McCracken; press reporter, Lloyd Oliver.

From the dairy they went to the Beath farms where they saw a herd of purebred Hereford cattle. From there they went to Elmcrest farms owned by George McLaughlin where they saw his large herd of purebred Holsteins and he also spoke on some of his achievements.

May Reduce Price Of Butter

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is expected to announce soon that it will sell current stocks of price-support butter to the trade at 56 cents a pound, two cents below the purchase price.

This would be the first time since 1951 that the government has decided to sell butter to the trade at a small loss. The action would enable the government to replace 1953 production now in storage with surplus butter produced this year.

U.S. Planning Legal Battle Against Reds

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP)—The Eisenhower administration is planning a big new legal battle against the Reds at home, including a provision in the law for the death penalty for peacetime espionage.

Heading the latest legal defence move is Attorney-General Herbert Brownell, Jr., a slightly - built, friendly lawyer from New York who has high respect for the RCMP and Canadian aid in fighting subversives.

"Canada is helping us in our fine, informal partnership," he said in an interview. "The RCMP and the FBI are working together and their relations are wonderful."

But the American legal chief says the fight against the Reds at home is a rough and "never-ending" business. The U.S. is "making excellent progress," but the power of the Soviet to wage espionage, he added, increases as Russia grabs up bigger chunks of the world.

SOVIET POWER WIDE

The Soviet's power, Mr. Brownell emphasized, covers one-third of the world's area and one-quarter of the world's population. The danger of internal espionage is real to both Canada and the U.S.

The various U.S. methods of handling the Communist problem has caused some foreign diplomats to pass the remark that "Americans are very hysterical and very emotional people."

Along with the attorney-general, three congressional committees are operating in the field, including the one which helped Senator Joseph McCarthy gain wide publicity.

Mr. Brownell said the present set-up "is the best you can expect" from a country such as the U.S., but he insisted that the real agents in the fight against the Reds flow from the Eisenhower administration.

There are figures to show, he said, that there are about 25,000 Communists in the U.S. and FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover estimates that for each Communist there are 10 sympathizers.

To minimize the danger of Communist activity in the U.S. would be foolhardy, Mr. Brownell said.

STRIKE AT LEADERS

"The best way to break up a conspiracy is to get at the leaders."

Since 1953, 36 Red leaders have been sent to jail for conspiring to advocate the overthrow of the U.S. government by force and violence. More are being charged.

Organizations dedicated to overthrowing the government by force are required to register with the U.S. justice department. They must disclose their officers, membership, activities and finances.

The Communist party of the U.S. had challenged the law. If the law is upheld by the courts and the Reds still refuse to register, then the party and its members "will themselves, for all practical purposes, by their own acts outlaw the Communist party," said Mr. Brownell.

NEW LAWS POSSIBILITIES

Meanwhile, the U.S. government is moving to tighten more legal loopholes. Congress likely will be asked to pass laws:

1. Allowing an employer to dismiss any possible saboteur from a defence plant during a national emergency.
2. Eliminating Communist control of any industrial organization or labor union in vital sections of the economy.
3. Preventing persons from using legal privilege against self-incrimination in order to shield other persons.
4. Allowing wire-tapping to be used as court evidence in cases of treason, sabotage and espionage.
5. Providing the death penalty for peacetime espionage
6. Carrying out the president's recommendation that citizenship be taken away from any person found guilty of advocating the overthrow of the government by force.

INVENTS PAGE TURNER—A device which permits polio patients in an iron lung to turn pages of newspapers and magazines by a movement of the head has been made by Donn Sims of Calgary (right). He said he will send the page turner to Kalevi Oksanen of Port Arthur, who has been in an iron lung for the last 16 years. Sims read the request made for a page turner for Oksanen and built the machine. He demonstrated it at Calgary General Hospital. The machine has two small motors. —(CP Photo)

Vincent Macri Shot Found Dead In Car

NEW YORK (AP) — Vincent Macri, brother of Benedetto Macri, who was acquitted of killing a garment district labor organizer in 1949, was found Sunday shot to death and stuffed into the trunk of a parked car in the Bronx.

Vincent Macri still was listed by police as wanted for questioning in the slaying of William Lurye, an organizer for the AFL International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

Benedetto was freed when one of the key witnesses at his trial perjured himself because of threats to his life.

Plane Missing

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A DC-3 carrying 21 passengers and four crew members is lost in the mountains of La Rioja province in northern Argentina. Argentina Airways said it lost contact with the plane Friday night.

Prairie Cold

SASKATOON (CP)—Nearly four inches of snow fell in Saskatoon Sunday in a late-April blizzard. Forty-mile-an-hour winds in 20 degree temperature drifted side roads so they were impassable.

Work On New Chemical To Kill Mosquitoes

WASHINGTON — Americans are now mapping strategy for this year's battle with an old enemy, the mosquito.

The ubiquitous biter — always the female — is a persistent attacker. Local, state and federal officials are thus mobilizing the latest forces of science for the campaign. But they know the war won't end this year.

However, danger to life, property damage and the incalculable inconvenience imposed on almost everybody can be diminished, says the National Geographic Society.

WAYS OF WAGING WAR

The northern house mosquito (Culex pipiens) and the southern house mosquito (Culex quinquefasciatus) can be foiled in their nightly raids on millions of sleepers. The yellow fever mosquito (Aedes aegypti) has been successfully banned from this country. And the depredations of the malaria carrier (Anopheles quadrimaculatus) have been sharply curtailed.

There are many ways of combatting the menace: slap down the pest in the act of biting; screen the house; spray the premises with repellents; or stock stagnant pools with minnows (Gambusia affinis) that hunger for mosquito larvae.

The most important anti-mosquito measure is to drain off, where possible, all standing water. The insect must have water as a breeding place.

This presents one of the biggest problems. Irrigated pasture land, a happy home for insect hordes, is fast increasing, particularly in the Far West and South.

Damage in the millions of dollars is inflicted each year on livestock. Mosquitoes have in instances killed cattle, but mostly they cause weight loss and reduce milk flow.

This year may see a record campaign. Government laboratories are working on new chemicals. An organic phosphorous compound called EPN has been developed as a substitute for the well-known insect killer, DDT. First introduced in 1945, DDT has made malaria a rare disease in America, but in some areas mosquitoes are building an immunity to it.

Local communities are busy. More than 250 mosquito control districts are preparing to spend $10,000,000 this year. California, New Jersey and Florida are in the forefront.

A government entomologist receptly explained why some states are so mosquito conscious:

"Twenty-four years ago I had a flat tire in a mosquito-infested state. It was June, 8:30 p.m. I got out to change the tire. Five minutes later I was driving on, the tire still on the car — flat.

"At a hotel a boy brushed off the mosquitoes. On a screened porch another boy sprayed me. In a vestibule I was sprayed again. In the lobby the room clerk handed me a spray gun. The porter sprayed my room. And I got up several times in the night to repeat the job."

By way of contrast the scientist added that without mosquito control the state could not have grown as it has today with millions of dollars invested in year-round resort facilities.

CANADIANS LOSE

GENOA, Italy (CP)—Lorne Main of Toronto and Vancouver and Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., were eliminated 6-2, 6-2 by Gianni Cucelli and Marcello Delbello of Italy Saturday in the semi-finals of the international tennis tournament here.

Enrique Morea of Argentina won the men's singles title by defeating Italian champion Fausto Gardini 6-3, 7-5, 6-4.

Canada Leads Production Of Uranium

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada will hold her position in the atomic age as a leading producer of uranium, Mines Minister Prudham said today.

Both in uranium sources and in scientific research for peaceful applications of atomic energy Canada is in the forefront, Mr. Prudham said in a speech prepared for delivery at the convention of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

He noted that the crown-owned Eldorado company's Beaverlodge mine in northern Saskatchewan became Canada's second producing uranium mine last April and said that a third probably will start production by the fall of next year.

"Meantime, prospecting and exploratory activities in other parts of Saskatchewan, in Ontario and in Quebec are revealing potential new sources of supply. . . .

SEES NO DANGER

"Even making due allowance for the fact that few uranium discoveries prove to be successful mines, it does appear that Canada is in no danger of losing its forefront position."

Mr. Prudham said the development of peacetime atomic power plants will depend largely on the ability of the metallurgist to develop new alloys that can be used in atomic piles.

"In effect, he is the man who will set the pace toward power development by atomic energy."

Die In Snow

OBERTRAUN, Austria (AP)—Three German teachers and eight schoolboys were found frozen to death Saturday under 18 inches of snow. They had been lost for nine days after being trapped in a snowstorm.

HIGH GEAR—No one was more surprised than the driver of this truck in Rome, Italy, when suddenly the vehicle was up-ended. The heavy load he was carrying slipped back, sending the truck's nose up in the air.

WHAT IS PETROX? Petrox is a new element, or additive, wholly derived from petroleum. Developed by Texaco engineers, Petrox is an exclusive Texaco product. It is a petrochemical completely different in composition from any other additive. It is the only such additive being used in any gasoline. The fact that it is made entirely from petroleum is important because it does not contain anything that can leave harmful engine deposits.

Furthermore, Petrox adds a brand new function: the ability to reduce engine wear. As a result, the consistent users of new Sky Chief gasoline are assured maximum power and longer engine life.

A-Bomb Aircraft Being Used For Defence

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP) — Three varieties of heavy, long-range aircraft, capable of carrying the atom bomb, will be employed in Canada-United States continental defence.

U.S. authorities say these will include several wings each of the 10-engine B-36; the eight - engine all-jet B-47; and the latest, the eight-engine all-jet B-52, now under construction.

"These wings will be located in the U.S. but their location is not important," one official said.

"With their ability to fly long distances, they will be able to deliver the atom bomb to the enemy from any part of the continent, either from Canada or the U.S."

RUSH RADAR SCREEN

Continental defence now is gaining more attention in this capital than at any time in history, a Canadian official said. Millions of dollars are being poured into construction of radar screens which eventually will encircle the continent to provide a warning of approaching enemy planes.

Squadrons of speedy jet interceptors are being located strategically in both countries. And the U.S. is rolling out tons of guided-missile artillery for defence of airfields and industrial centres.

As an added protection, flying radar stations, in the form of four engine Constellation aircraft, and radar picket ships, converted from old American Liberty ships, will cover the continent's northeastern and northwestern coastal flanks.

The radar screen, parts of which already have been erected in Canada, is also being constructed along both U.S. coasts and on the U.S. southern flank facing Mexico. Experts on both sides agree the screen will by no means be impregnable, but they hope it will provide efficient warning when it is finally constructed in depth.

"PINETREE' NEAR BORDER

First of the aircraft-detecting radar group is the Pinetree Chain, consisting of some three dozen stations stretched somewhere along the international border. They will come into full operation next July.

Manned by Canadian and U.S. technicians and costing $300,000,000 they will be able to plot the path of incoming enemy planes for long distances.

But the stations are relatively close to populated areas, the defenders want more warning time and thus they have started siting operations for construction of a second radar screen to be located about half-way up the Canadian provinces.

These will be the McGill Fence stations, which, though they will the tracking ability of Pinetree, will provide a signal whenever a plane crosses its electronic beam. The economic advantage of McGill is that it does not require the same manpower.

SCREEN IN ALASKA

The Americans have begun a third screen, somewhere along the Alaska border. Some experts feel this will be of little use to the populated area, since enemy planes could swerve once they cross the McGill fence line and the defenders lose them until they show on screens lower down in the continent.

The Americans say their third screen is just an experiment. If it doesn't work out, it appears likely that a third screen may be built in Canada, somewhere along the top boundaries of the provinces. But that is years away.

The U.S. defence department is considering establishing a single continental defence command which will control all the various U.S. agencies.

As in Canada, the U.S. is depending primarily on speedy interceptors to deal with approaching planes. Canada is depending on the all-Canadian CF-100 jet fighter.

In the U.S. it will be the rocket-carrying F-94 all-weather jet, the two-seater Scorpion jet and the F-86 Sabre.

Hundreds of these planes now are being located at airfields across the country.

Cast Out By Revolution Culture In Russia Returns

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

These are some sidelights on life in Russia culled from notebooks filled during my five months behind the Iron Curtain.

Neckties and shirts were shunned after the Russian revolution as symbols of the hated bourgeoisie. Hats gave place to caps. Table manners were scorned.

Now the signs of midle-class culture are coming back.

It is "uncultured" not to wear a necktie—but it takes time to break 30 years' inoculation against them.

It is "uncultured" to take off your jacket when dining out. It is "uncultured" to dance with a cigaret smoking in your partner's eyes. But a lot still do these things.

It is "uncultured" to wield your knife like a dagger in your fist, or your fork like a shovel. But look around any hotel dining room.

Russia is still a country of peasants. They are probably "politically conscious," as the saying goes, but most are still vulgar and unrefined.

Soviet newspapers are raising cain about the country's gilded youth. They say the kids kick up too many high-jinks, drink too much and behave in uncultured fashion.

A couple of students I once talked to said: "We're spoiled—they look after us too well."

Russian youth sows its wild oats earlier than Canadians, but they settle into their life's work earlier, too.

Sex doesn't draw as much criticism as drink in Moscow.

Bobby-soxers aren't recognizable by dress. But teen-agers give the same screaming applause to their heroes of stage and ballet.

FRUSTRATED JITTERBUG

The Russians are a race of frustrated jitterbugs. Let a dance orchestra beat out something different from the dreary, conventional dance music, then watch the capers they cut. Russians seem to dance on springs, anyway. When they fumble toward a jive it's side-splitting. One of the most popular things the regime could do would be to loosen up on dance music.

Foreigners are told that tipping is old-fashioned in Russia. If that's so, porters and waiters haven't heard about it. As to taxi drivers you never tip them—they just never give you any change.

The foreigner's disadvantage is that the ruble he pays costs him 25 cents but is worth less than that to a Russian. You don't cut much ice with a ruble in Moscow.

HOT WATER SCARCE

Hotel rooms in provincial Russia have basins with cold water only and invariably no stopper. And shaving is a problem; the mirror is always on the other side of a wardrobe, set at an angle to the door to act as a screen. If you're travelling in the Soviet Union, don't empty the bath until you're out and dressed. The plug lets the water run on to the floor, which slopes toward a slump in the middle.

Tashkent Hotel boasts two hot-water bathrooms. The coal-stoked boilers stand beside the tub. You need an engineer's papers to operate them.

At Samarkand the Registan Hotel has one of the few flush toilets in central Asia, but no bath. Guests use a public bath down the street. For a ruble you can have whichever of 10 tubs in the com-

Actress Dies

Gov't To Resume Consideration Abbott Budget

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons will resume consideration of Finance Minister Abbott's budget today providing members do not take advantage of house rules to bring grievances to the government's attention.

Parliament has been adjourned since April 14 for an 11-day Easter recess, the last holiday members will enjoy before prorogation of the session this summer. Most members, including Prime Minister St. Laurent, were away from Ottawa on vacation during the recess.

When the House opens, the government will submit a motion to permit introduction of estimates concerning four departments. If it is approved the budget debate will be resumed. However, a motion of this type enables members to debate problems they think the government should consider.

The government has set aside Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday for the budget debate in the hope it can be concluded this week. On Thursday and Friday the estimates of the departments of public works and northern affairs will be considered.

Before the House adjourned for Easter the budget had been debated for three consecutive days. A CCF want-of-confidence motion criticizing the government's taxation policies and calling for tax relief for low income groups and heavier taxes for persons with high incomes was defeated. Still before the House is a Progressive Conservative motion criticizing the government for having "failed" to reach agreement with the provinces on reallocation of taxing powers.

The government is expected to announce early in the week remaining legislation to be presented during the session. Mr. St. Laurent was unable to give this information before the Easter adjournment and at that time said he expected to be able to do so shortly after the session resumed.

New legislation to be introduced is expected to include a bill to provide pensions to disabled Canadians. Under the plan it is expected that disabled persons will receive monthly pensions of $40 on a means test basis. The cost would be split by the government and the provinces.

Reports in Ottawa state there is little likelihood that Parliament will prorogue until late in June or early July. In an effort to speed the business of the House the government is expected to ask members to sit Wednesday nights and later in the morning.

Indians Battle With Whites In S. America

WASHINGTON—The Wild West in North America has swapped its guns and tomahawks for dude ranches and open-air movies, but the west is still wild in parts of South America.

Recent reports from Sangarara in the highlands of southern Peru tell of Indian attack with stones and clubs on a party of mining prospectors. The trouble—quelled by troops and civil guards—was attributed to the aborigines' fear that mining development would bring encroaching settlement and loss of their lands and homes.

The Indians of the high, barren country in the Andes scratch out a meagre but independent existence, says the National Geographic Society. Descendants of the Incas, they look back to a civilization that was old in the 16th century when the Spaniards came.

Cusco, only 40 miles northwest of the little town of Sangarara, was the capital of the famous Indian empire that stretched from what is now Peru into Bolivia, Ecuador and Chile, and even sections of Brazil and Argentina.

ORGANIZED LIKE ROMANS

Legends and relics trace the origin of the Inca movement to the 12th century, when a tribe of Quechua-speaking, sun-worshiping herdsmen settled in the 11,000-foot Cusco valley.

Some students say the cradle of the civilization they founded was probably the mysterious city of Machu Picchu, whose ruins were discovered by Dr. Hiram Bingham in 1911, and excavated by the National Geographic Society and Yale University.

Whatever their beginnings, the Incas, like the Romans, won and held an empire by conquest and organization. Their supreme ruler was called the Inca, from the Quechua word for prince. The power the dynasty came to wield, as its territories expanded and tributes poured in, was one that later dictators might have envied.

From the massive stone center of Cusco, sacred city of the sun, the Inca's influence reached every subject's home. Unity was maintained by a closely knit administrative setup. Loyalty was assured by bringing bright youngsters from remote provinces to train in Cusco. Rebellious citizens were resettled in docile districts. Faithful lieutenants were stationed in uncertain regions to keep others in line.

BUILDERS AND PLANNERS

Skillful engineers, the Incas built roads and bridges and raised elaborate stone houses and temples whose mortarless remains baffle present-day architects.

The Inca chiefs organized a vast agricultural kingdom, with fertilized fields, rotated crops, and a grain-storing system. They constructed irrigation works, including walls, steps, and aqueducts still in use. Their metallurgy, pottery and weaving showed striking artistic design and execution.

As with other empires, dissolution of the Inca domain came when the central government was weakened by family and civil strife. Spain's Francisco Pizarro and his gold-seeking followers, having captured and killed the ruling Inca in 1933, met but faint resistance from the demoralized rank and file.

Today, the descendants of the Incas usually have little desire to do more than tend their herds of llamas, alpaca and sheep, and grow subsistence crops in the Andean valleys—corn, wheat, barley, potatoes and quinoa. Life is hard and simple.

Only rarely, and in the remote places, is there a flare-up such as happened in Sangarara.

Decide Graham's Success Due To His Simplicity

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON (AP)—A prize fight promoter in this city who could fill Harringay arena to its capacity of 12,600 twice, or maybe even once, a year would consider himself a man among men.

Yet a tall, slender, affable, wavy-haired American is packing that sport palace night after night. The feat has caused Britain's highest church authorities to sit up and take notice. And it has made evangelist Billy Graham one of the most talked-about men in England.

London newspapers, seeking to explain him, have had their art, drama and motion picture critics, religious editors and business and political analysts observe the Graham "technique." The punch, they decided, was in the simplicity of the Graham message. He caresses his Bible and says fervently, "This is it—the Word."

The Times watched him for a month, then reported:

"Protestant clergy and religious newspapers who, on various grounds, suspended judgment on Mr. Graham's campaign, have in the last week or two declared in his favor, sometimes with enthusiams. It seems to be generally agreed that he is not a remarkable preacher, or even, as the British Weekly (a free church publication) says, a good theologian. But it is agreed that he has an exceptional gift, and that there is a welcome absence of hysteria and that his appeal is to the people the British churchmen have not been able to reach."

CLERGY SEEK ADVICE

In a special address to 1,200 British clergymen—hundreds of whom were old enough to be his father, many seeking advice on how to liven up their own parishes—Graham said as tactfully as possible that some of them lack a "sense of urgency."

Too often, he said, preachers prepare their sermons for other preachers. They spin fine webs of theology, and no one but a theologian knows what they mean.

"Tell the story simply," he advised. "Preach this Book, and with all the vigor you have. Don't be afraid to repeat yourself. Say it over and over, because many have never heard the word. Preach to the sinners—the Christians know their way."

The Graham approach is more energetic than many British vicars regard as suitable, but all are impressed by those full houses at Harringay. In about a month of "mass evangelism" Graham has preached to some 500,000 Britons—a crowd big enough to burst the walls of all of Britain's cathedrals combined.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, said to Graham at a recent tea:

"Opposition to your crusade has virtually disappeared."

Some of that opposition was based on apprehension that Graham was an American "hot gospeler," a type not highly regarded in Britain.

It was feared that the "decisions for Christ" made at Graham's meetings might be excitements of the moment, and that mass evangelism does not stick long under man's spiritual skin.

The Graham "follow-up" scheme, managed largely by British collaborators, has quieted some of this concern. About 10,000 persons have come forward at Graham's meetings—hitting the sawdust trail, it used to be called. They are being steered to British churches by counsellors of all Christian denominations except the Roman Catholic.

Pubs Sell Vodka

LONDON (AP) — Real Russian vodka went back on British bars Friday for the first time since the 1917 revolution. Five hundred cases of it arrived Friday aboard a Soviet freighter. Importers say the demand is terrific and are pleading for licences to bring in more. The vodka will sell around two shillings (28 cents) a shot—the same as Scotch whisky.

Accident Rate Increases In '53

TORONTO (CP) — One out of every 15 Ontario drivers was in a traffic accident last year, the highway department's motor vehicles branch announced in its annual report.

The report, released Friday night as a special committee of the legislature prepared to launch a study aimed at increasing traffic safety said the total of 1,082 persons killed in traffic accidents in the province in 1953 was 72 more than in the previous year.

It said 24,353 persons were injured, an increase of more than 700. Property damage amounted to $24,261,814, up nearly $4,000,000 from 1952.

The number of accidents, 65,866, was up by 12.6 per cent over 1952's toll. The number of drivers involved, 110,357, rose by 12.4 per cent over 1952 and the total number of vehicles registered, 1,406,118 by 8.8 per cent.

Last year was an especially black one for traffic fatalities involving children aged five to 14. In that age group, 116 were killed in traffic, an increase of 48.7 per cent over the 78 deaths during the previous year.

VOL. CVII. No. 98 — MONDAY, APRIL 26, 1954

Main Street Topics

MAYOR OFF DUTY

Mayor Norman Graham will be absent from his office for the latter half of this week. He is to undergo a dental operation on Wednesday and does not expect to be back on duty until the beginning of next week.

CONFERENCE IN NEW YORK

Four Peterborough representatives of the Prudential Insurance Co. are among 1,000 Canadians attending a company conference in New York this week. The four are E. J. Henwood, S. S. Darling, D. J. Riggs and Ernest Jeffery.

MANY BIRDHOUSES

Wrens, robins, bluebirds and swallows seem to be the most popular birds in the Peterborough district. The birdhouse building contest sponsored by the Peterborough Recreation Commission has already drawn 140 entrants, with 16 of these girls.

TO INSPECT UNITS

Brigadier-General M. S. Dunn, commander of the Eastern Ontario area, will make his annual inspection of the 50th HAA Regiment and the 28th Technical Squadron May 15. This will be Brig. Dunn's second inspection of Peterborough's reserve army units.

TOO EARLY

Fishermen drove to many of the control dams and rapids in Kawartha waters to watch the spawning rush of suckers and pickerel on Sunday. Some of them who were brash enough to try their luck for the walleyes were apprehended by alert conservation officers. The official opening date for these gamefish is May 15.

SPRING FLOWERS

Perverse Nature jumped the gun again this month. With another week of April to run, Mayflowers are already in bloom. Nature lovers who took advantage of Sunday's flawless spring weather to take a ramble through the neighbouring countryside also reported bloodroots and adder tongues blooming in the woods.

SQUEEZED

Isadore Black, of River Road north, was squeezed this morning. Turning right from George St. to Hunter St., Mr. Black found there was not enough room between the curb and a city bus, also turning right. Bus driver was Hugh Arnold, of 438 Rogers St. Mr. Black's damages were estimated at $40 to the left rear fenders, while the bus was undamaged.

OIL HEATERS FLOOD

People lighting oil burners caused two fire alarms over the weekend. One flooded oil burner was reported at 12:25 a.m. Sunday at Harry Dafoe's home, 547 George St., and the other was 11:13 p.m. at John E. Louck's home, 293 Townsend St. An extinguisher didn't have to be used either time. At 12:24 a.m. today somebody pulled the fire box at Stewart and Charlotte Sts. for a false alarm.

MORE RADIUM VALUES

Selected surface samples from a group of claims staked by Tetra Uranium Mines in Chandos township appear similar to the 16 separate showings on their Cardiff township claims, consulting engineer E. M. Dillman said recently. The latter assayed up to 62 per cent U308, it is said, and plans for intensive development are in mind on both properties as well as some newly-acquired ground in Anstruther township.

Author's Death Recalls Story Of Curve Lake

In the death of Joseph Hergesheimer in New Jersey Sunday, few memories will recall him as the author of "Red Ibex", a short story of several instalments set in the recognizable locale of the Indian Reserve at Curve Lake.

Mr. Hergesheimer had gained a wide reputation in his first successful novels when he was a visitor at Oak Orchard, Perry Alexander's summer resort on the west shore of Buckhorn Lake, opposite the Indian hamlet. Three of his books were Java Head, Linda Condon and The Three Black Pennys. Saturday Evening Post published some of them thereby establishing Hergesheimer with its readers. "Red Ibex" was one of a series of short stories which appeared in the magazine.

The theme of "Red Ibex" was presumably inspired by Lovenia Whetung, the young and attractive niece of Dan Whetung, Sr., the old Chief of the Mississaugas of Curve Lake. Her parents had died when she was a little girl, and Chief Whetung took her into his family and brought her up. She was a pretty girl of charming personality. At any rate, it transpired in fact as well as fiction that the daughter of a Chief's family married an American summer vacationist and departed from the Indian village to live in the United States.

Hergesheimer brought the lakeside hamlet into sharp focus in his story of a summer romance. His talent of color and vividness of description were almost photographic of the Buckhorn Lake district and of the people and the appearance of their reserve at Curve Lake more than 30 years ago. Red Ibex was one of the very few stories written with a Peterborough county background.

In real life Lovenia Whetung married Don Daimler. She is now a widow. Her husband died some years ago, and Mrs. Daimler lives at Bellevue, a suburb of Pittsburgh.

SUCKERS RUNNING—The old saying, "There's a sucker born every minnute" must have read "every second as far as the fish-type suckers are concerned this season. Peterborough Fish and Game netters throughout the week hauled net after net of suckers from the river at the locks bridge. Tim Martin (top, left) displays a small net full which were gvien to the large crowds who watched (lower photo). By netting the suckers the PFG association hopes to make fishing better in the Kawartha district. Suckers eat the spawn of game fish. —(Examiner Staff Photos)

Steal Tools From Shed Pigeon Lake Cottage

OPP Constable Harold Armstrong is investigating the theft of $25 worth of tools from a toolshed in Harvey township.

The tools were taken last week from a shed on the Pigeon lake summer property of Dr. J. C. Arnold of Lindsay. The doctor's cottages are located west of Gannon's Narrows on the lake.

Among the haul of the tools were wrenches, a hacksaw and a couple of vices. The shed is at the rear of Dr. Arnold's lot and contains the tools for repairing the cottages.

288 Notify Will Attend Recreation Conference

"We're going mad" said recreation director Ken Robinson.

Already a record 288 registrations have been received for the Ontario Recreation Association conference which meets in Peterborough from Friday to Sunday. Mr. Robinson and his staff are hard put to find accommodation for all registrants because "of course they all want single room with bath."

Friday, members of the executive committee under E. K. Ogg, conference chairman from Leaside, were in Peterborough laying the groundwork for the conference. Peterburians included Ken Robinson, Wilf Langan, Mrs. C. C. Pilon, George Murray, William Bennett, and Robert Hamilton.

Plays Hob With People

Spring Takes Its Own Time Coming Along

By PHIL CALER

Try as he might to order the schedule of his comings and goings, Man is still the slave of Nature when it comes to arranging the appropriate weather to suit his moods.

Earth may follow a predictable course around the sun so that we may know by the length of the days when a season is in the middle of its span. But to fix a date for the beginning of spring is the sort of prideful delusion that makes Nature laugh.

No people should be more aware of this than the inhabitants of Central Canada. Let them bask in the early warmth of a breeze from the arid plains of Arizona and before they know it they'll be taking their overcoats from the closets again to keep out the chill of a Saskatchewan snowstorm.

The poet spoke the truth when he yearned for England in the month of April. Spring eases itself into the old country like a grandfather into the rocker on the front porch. But the frivolous behaviour of the weather in this land-locked country merely frustrates the hopes of insignificant mortals.

STRANGE EFFECTS

Men oil their fishing gear before a roaring fire and women spend the evenings studying wallpaper samples while the snow falls. And the perversity of Nature does strange things to the chemistry of the blood.

Given one good Sunday of spring-like weather, the head of the family will pack his brood into the car and head for open country; teen-agers leave their books open before the television set and stroll hand-in-hand to the nearest drug store for a coke; and the family worry-warts start tracking mud across the kitchen floor.

As usual, it's the innocent members of the tribe that display their honest feelings. Spring for them is a time of growing things and their kinship with the other inhabitants of Mother Earth.

It's a time for collecting pussy-willows and birds' eggs and games of cowboys and Indians in the rugged tradition of those who made their own rules for playing the social game when the land was young.

For the kids, all civilized behaviour at this time of year is an unnatural restraint on their spirits. Let the wise men of the tribe plant and hunt for food. For growing boys, spring is the time to hit the trail.

STRANGE BATTLEGROUND

Witness what a day or so ago was a trim green boulevard on one of Peterborough's residential streets. Today, spang in the middle of this carefully-nurtured venture, is a scooped-out depression surrounded by a wall of broken bricks. In the midst is a carefully-laid pile of twigs, all ready for some learned scout to rub a couple of them together.

The fire had not been lit at night-fall. But what dreams of war-dances and shining eyes in the circle of the firelight filled the heads of some young gang that night! How many scalps were saved from the teepees and how many notches were never cut when the supper call came?

But the main damage was done. It takes a lot of patience to coax grass to grow on a boulevard, the only route for people taking short cuts across the street. With a hole dug in the middle, it seems so much wasted effort.

But before you bring the paddle down on that tender hide, Mother, think of Eniwetock and the big holes that were blasted in the middle of Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

One side, kids, till I show you how we used to build a real campfire. Then I'll tell you about the woods we used to play in before they were cut down for a subdivision.

Motorcyclist Thrown 28 Ft. In Accident

Collides With Truck Turning Off George St.

Racing down George St. on his motorcycle late Sunday night, 20-year-old Allen McGlennon, of 309 McDonnel St., ran into the left side of a truck that was turning into the CPR station.

McGlennon's motorcycle bounced off the truck, grazed a steel hydro pole, and crashed into the raised cement platform that extends from the CPR station out to the sidewalk.

He was hurled through the air for about 30 feet and landed on the cinders between the first and second tracks.

He was picked up and taken by Nisbett's ambulance to St. Joseph's Hospital where he is today reported to be in fair condition. Injuries include two deep gashes in his left leg above the ankle, and cuts and bruises.

Dr. Herbert Young is his physician.

McGlennon had been riding up and down George St. during the evening and had let a girl passenger off his motorcycle only a few minutes before the accident.

He was travelling south on George St. when a northbound panel truck, driven by Charles Goold, 48, of 190 Prince St., crossed the CPR tracks and started to turn left into the station. McGlennon's motorcycle ran full tilt into the left front of the truck, denting the left front fender and smashing the left headlight.

The motorcycle bounced off the truck and grazed a steel hydro pole on the west side of the street by the sidewalk. It then crashed into the corner of the cement platform that extends out from the station.

McGlennon sailed through the air and landed between the first two tracks, 27 feet from where the cycle struck the cement platform and 58 feet from the point of impact.

McGlennon's machine was wrecked and the truck, owned by Bray's chicken hatchery, received $100 damage to the left front corner.

Constable Eldon McDonald investigated.

Minor Damage Done Cars In City Crashes

Two cars shared about $150 damage when they collided at the CPR crossing on Rogers St., Saturday. Drivers were Patrick L. Taylor, 42, of 428 Howden Ave., and Donald Donnelly, 17, or RR 7, Peterborough. PC Bert Howden investigated.

A car driven by Robert C. Delahey, 19, of 544 Bethune St., received about $35 damage when in collision with a car driven by E. C. Doleman, 60, of 521 Homewood Ave., Saturday. The accident occurred at Chambers and Hunter St. The Doleman car received about $100. PC Wilfred Perry investigated.

About $30 damage was received by a parked car owned by William Allen, 185 Castlefield Ave., Toronto, Saturday, when hit by another car driven by Reg. Mathews, 52, of Nephton. The accident occurred behind Gibbons & Knox store. PC Eldon McDonald investigated.

Two trucks were involved in a slight accident on Highway 7, in front of McGinness' trailer Co., Sunday. One truck, driven by Kenneth Bell, 20, turning left off the highway with his right-hand-drive army truck received about $15 damage. The other, driven by Oliver Keller, 35, of RR 5, Peterborough, was undamaged.

Former Peterborough Girl Seriously Hurt, Stepped On By Horse After Taking Tumble

HAMILTON (CP)—Board of control today agreed with Mayor Lloyd Jackson that a riding academy near Montgomery Park should have its licence revoked or be moved beyond the city limits.

The mayor said that a near fatal accident Saturday, in which June Shelton, 21, suffered serious injury when she fell from a horse, was the latest in a series of incidents which convinced him that the academy should not be situated in the city.

"There have been complaints of Rosedale residents that horses have been driven over their lawns," the mayor said. "I think the parks board should expropriate the property and the sooner they expropriate the better."

MAY BE DISFIGURED

Fred Sinnett, owner of the riding stable, told police Miss Shelton was thrown by the most gentle animal he owned. He had always considered it safe for beginners.

Doctors said the injuries may leave the pretty girl permanently disfigured. Police believed the horse stepped on her head several times.

Miss Shelton came to Hamilton a year ago from Peterborough. A sister, Shirley Shelton, lives in Young's Point. At one time Miss Shelton worked at the Lakefield Preparatory School.

Boy 12, Rushed To Toronto Feared Abscess On Brain

A 12-year-old Hastings county boy, suspected of having an abscess of the brain, was speeded by ambulance at noon Sunday from Civic Hospital to the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, in an hour and 14 minutes.

An OPP escort went ahead of the Nisbett ambulance to ensure that there would be no traffic blocks on the 95-mile run. A Toronto police escort met them on the eastern outskirts of the city.

Albert Westcott, the 12-year-old son of Wallace Westcott, Birds' Creek, was the boy who was taken to Toronto for observation. He was brought into Civic on Saturday to be treated for meningitis.

NO FACILITIES

Doctors felt that there was a suspicion of a brain abcess, and as there are no brain surgery facilities here they decided to send the boy to Toronto.

Relays of OPP met the speeding ambulance in Peterborough, at Bewdley, at the Hope township line on Highway 2 near Newtonville, and at Oshawa.

The boy is still under observation at the Hospital for Sick Children.

His home, Bird's Creek, is six miles north of Bancroft.

NATO Operates Defence College In Paris

PARIS (Reuters)—In the high-ceilinged classrooms of the Ecole Militaire here, a young student officer named Napoleon Bonaparte once learned the art of offensive warfare.

In the same building today, officers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization are learning the infinitely more complicated lessons of defence.

The "little corporal" from Corsica studied at the Ecole Militaire as a sub-lieutenant. Most of today's Atlantic pact officers wear the insignia of colonel or its navy equivalent, or hold the diplomatic rank of consul.

Each member—they are not called students—is picked especially by his government to attend the NATO defence college.

The college, lying in the shadow of the Eiffel Tower, is overlooked by the great golden dome of the military museum of Les Invalides. Under that dome lie the remains of Napoleon.

SIXTH CLASS IN PROGRESS

More than 200 men already have received their special graduation scrolls. The fifth six-month class now is in progress.

Each member must be fluent in either English or French. Simultaneous translation earphones are used for lectures and conferences.

In the morning, the members attend lectures by specialists. In the afternoon they break up into small committee groups to work out special problems. The members also make field trips for on-the-spot study of industrial or military problems.

New Collegiate Opens At St. Mary's

ST. MARYS (CP) — Some 370 pupils, 16 teachers, two secretaries and three janitors today entered the new St. Marys District Collegiate institute following the Easter holidays, instead of the old school.

During the past week furniture and records have been moved from the 75-year-old building. The new building has been under construction for the past year and cost $518,350. It will serve seven municipalities.

Stub Of Pole Broken Off Rips Car Open

Two people were fortunate to escape with only minor injuries Sunday afternoon when their car snapped off a telephone pole north of Bowmanville and the stub of the pole ripped through the left side of the overturned vehicle.

The driver, Miss Greta Liessers, 20, of Kingston Rd. E., Oshawa, and her passenger, 27-year-old Eelke Oostinga of 84 Elm St., Bowmanville, were both taken to Bowmanville Hospital. They were treated by Dr. V. H. Storey for cuts on both arms and other cuts and bruises. Later they were released from hospital.

The accident occurred 3 p.m. Sunday on the 5th concession of Darlington township, five miles north of Bowmanville.

Miss Liessers was driving the 1951-model car, owned by Oostinga, east along the concession road when she struck a loose patch of gravel. The car ran along the muddy ditch for 45 feet and struck a telephone pole, snapping it off.

The car then spun on its left side and the three-foot stub of the broken pole tore through the side of the vehicle, narrowly missing the two occupants. Finally the car came to rest on its roof.

A passing motorist came by shortly afterwards and found the engine still running and Miss Liessers and Mr. Oosinga trapped inside and unconscious. He got them out of the car and laid them by the roadside until an ambulance arrived.

The car was wrecked.

OPP Constable Francis Dryden of Bowmanville investigated.

CGE Appeal To Be Heard Before Judge

Hearing To Start Next Monday On Assessment

The hearing of the appeal by the Canadian General Electric Co. from the court of revision to Peterborough county Judge John de N. Kennedy has been set for next Monday.

The company originally appealed its 1953 assessment of $4,753,868 to the court of revision who confirmed the assessment, subject to the correction of certain errors, acknowledged by the city's assessment department, amounting to a net reduction of $124,579.

On April 1, the CGE filed notice of appeal of this decision to the county judge. Next Monday's hearing is scheduled to get under way at 10.30 a.m. in Judge Kennedy's chambers in the county building.

No date has yet been set for a hearing by the Ontario Supreme Court of the company's application for an injunction restraining the city from taxing the company's property on the 1953 assessment.

The company has also asked the Supreme Court to declare its 1952 assessment to be the last revised assessment (and therefore, presumably, the one on which it is to be taxed this year.)

Suckers Add To Arena Fund

The netting of suckers at the weekend was reported all the way from the Big Bob River at Bobcaygeon to the Moira at Tweed.

The haul was so hefty at Bobcaygeon, so it is said, that the lockmaster decided there should be some local revenue, especially for the benefit of a fund with which the authorities are planning to build a rink.

So a nominal charge of one dollar a bag, and 50c a half bag was put into effect and Saturday's collection totalled seven dollars. The bag measure was probably the common gunnysack, container of potatoes and bran.

Commits Suicide

HAMILTON (CP) — A 41-year-old unemployed immigrant, Lascia Ledeczi, was found dead in his gas-filled kitchen early Sunday morning.

Police said that Mr. Ledeczi, the father of a two-week old infant son, took his own life. The deceased's wife told police her husband's death came after a hectic night with the baby.

No Conciliation Given Employees

TORONTO (CP)—The labor relations board has refused to grant conciliation to employees of a Windsor tavern, saying that union and management should live at peace while a collective agreement is in force.

The contract, signed by members of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' Union (AFL-TLC) and Rowson's Tavern, is valid until June 8, 1954. The board handed down its decision this week-end.

The union and the company were unable to reach wage agreements last year and the union applied for conciliation. The board refused, saying that if conciliation were granted, it could lead the union to a strike or management to a lock-out, while their contract was still in force.

OBITUARIES

ROBERT ANDREW BOUCHER

Robert Andrew Boucher, of 592 Chamberlain, a foreman with the CGE, died in Toronto Western hospital Sunday after a seven-week illness. He was in his 32nd year.

Mr. Boucher is survived by his wife, the former Elizabeth Mary Hedges. They had lived in Peterborough for the past seven years.

Though born in Toronto, Mr. Boucher moved to Espanola at an early age with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Boucher. His mother died several years ago.

In Peterborough, Mr. Boucher was active in the Corinthian lodge. He was a member of Mark St. United church.

In addition to his wife and father, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. George Bourcier (Evelyn), of Espanola, and two brothers, Howard of Chalk River and Stanley of Sudbury.

Funeral services will be held in Epsanola Wednesday at 2 p.m.

MRS. BERT NELSON

A lifetime resident of Percy township, Mrs. Bert Nelson, died suddenly at her Warkworth home on Sunday.

She was born in the Wilson settlement 71 years ago, Almeda Mae, daughter of the late James Merrill and Caroline Long. Her husband and a sister, Mrs. Ernest Ivey (Annie), and a brother, Alfred Merrill, predeceased her.

She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Lorne McComb (Mae) of Morganston and Mrs. Douglas Goodfellow (Bertha) of Codrington. There are two sons in the Warkworth district, Merle and Carman Nelson, and 10 grandchildren. Mrs. Nelson was a member of St. Paul's United church, Warkworth.

Funeral service will be held from her home on Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. The Rev. A. L. Sisco will officiate and burial will be at Warkworth cemetery.

PIERRIE POWERS

A lifetime resident of Otonabee township, Pierrie Powers of RR 8, (Keene Road), Peterborough, died at his home on Sunday following a prolonged illness.

He was born in the township, son of the late Thomas Powers and Hannorah Hallihan.

Besides his wife, the former Annie McMartin, he leaves four daughters, Mrs. J. D. Nettler (Marie) of Port Huron, Mich.; the Rev. Sister M. Dorothy (Geraldine), Mrs. Robert Griffin (Anne) and Mrs. Kathleen Clancy, all of Peterborough. There are three sons in the city, Norman, Frank and Edward Powers, Vincent of Toronto, Joseph of Hastings and James and Victor Powers, both of Otonabee. A sister, Miss Annie Powers, a brother, Thomas, both live in Peterborough.

Mr. Powers farmed until his retirement a few years ago. He was a member of Our Lady of the Assumption church, Otonabee, and of its Holy Name and Altar Societies.

Funeral will be held from the family residence to the Assumption church on Wednesday, where requiem mass will be said at 10 a.m. The Rev. C. W. McCarney will officiate and burial will be at St. Peter's cemetery.

Mrs. Marion Bailey

Funeral service for the late Mrs. Marion Bailey of Dartford, who died last Tuesday at the home of her son, Fred Ward, was held at St. John's Anglican church, Warkworth, on Saturday.

The Rev. R. H. Howson officiated and pallbearers were Percy and Borden Campbell, Ewart Hardy, Earl Nelson, Jesse Ireland and Jack Gummer. Flower bearers were Eldon Ewing, Clark Sweet, Jim and Aubrey Lockhart and Wilfred Sykes. Burial was at Warkworth cemetery. Relatives and friends from Seabreeze, N.Y., Hamilton, Picton, Indian River, Oshawa, Brighton and Campbellford, attended the service.

Mrs. Bailey was married twice. Her first husband, James Ward, died in England. She came from there to the Warkworth district ten years ago.

She leaves her husband and two sons, Fred Ward of Dartford and Robert Ward of Vancouver. There are two brothers in England, Charles and Bert Hartshorn, nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Mr. Bailey was a member of St. John's church, Warkworth, and of its guild and a member of the auxiliary of the Englican church in Hastings.

Charts Parts For Labor

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—George Burt, Canadian director of the United Auto Workers (CIO-CCL), said Saturday night that labor's road to success lies in marshalling its forces towards collective bargaining and the realization of its responsibilities in the electoral front. He said labor isn't getting anywhere because the "people in government and the people in management are one and the same."

WHAT'S HOLDING IT UP?—It looks like the law of gravity is on a holiday as this huge coffeepot spouts a stream of java while suspended in mid-air. Actually, the coffee stream is a curved pole which holds the pot up. The display is a feature of the Milan, Italy, industrial fair.

Close Harmony Rings Out Audience Enjoys Quartets

Close harmony rang full and long throughout the PCVS auditorium and halls, Saturday evening, as barbershoppers from as far away as New York State gathered to sing the old songs to a large and insatiable audience.

The show, managed by Ed O'Brien and sponsored by the Peterborough chapter of the SPEBSQSA (Society for the preservation and encouragement of barber shop quartet singing in America), included quartets from Peterborough, Oshawa, Toronto, Toronto and Warsaw, N.Y., and male choruses from Peterborough and Orillia.

Harmony and slap-stick humor were served in equal parts, but the first was generally of high enough calibre to successfully offset the second sorrowfully traditional ingredient.

Some of the funniest moments in the show were provided by the Oshawa quartet, a foursome capable of more than dulci-tones, as they call themselves. After a successful first appearance, flavored heavily with minstrel show gimmicks, they returned in rather brilliant hillbilly garb and offered a musical lament to the absence of pork in the pork and bean commercial recipe. Bass man, Bill Sampson plied peals of laughter from the audience with his bare feet and dead pan.

Both the Peterborough and Orillia choruses, directed by Vic Farrant and Harold Dempsey, respectively, achieved fine tonal color and quality. The absence of antics and witticisms with these larger groups did nothing to mar their effect, and, although the Orillia group was particularly notable for its size, it would be difficult to chose one performance over the other.

CITY GROUP

Fine singing was provided by the Peterborough quartet, Bob Grant, George Berthin, Dick Beck and John Dinsmore, who self-christened themselves the Note-Wits. (MC Alex Sinclair made the obvious pun in the second half of the program). Among their offerings were such things as Standin' in the Need of Prayer, and,Hey' Good Lookin'. Harmony was faultless and yellow straw hats wereworn with the proper abandon.

An American group, the O-At-Cans from Warsaw, N.Y., headliners of the evening, opened with a rousing, yet controlled, "I'm a Yankee Doodle Dandy, followed by If You Knew Suzie and Darkness on the Delta. If it had been possible to steal the show, they would have, but the competition was too keen. However, their lead man, John Hooker, jumped above the ranks with a balanced, clean-pitched solo of Thine Alone.

The Rhythmaires, a Toronto group, exhibited some first class showmanship, as well as appealing voice blend; they managed to grin through such break monologue as "the new subway is subway to travel." Their singing wasn't nasal, however, and was often spiked with more intricate and difficult modern harmonics, as compared to the traditional barbershop school.

An "After-Glow" get-to-gether at the Legion, after the show at PCVS, produced, if nothing else, some truly relaxed barbershop harmony.

Steel Company President Predicts Good Business For Rest Of Year

HAMILTON (CP) — Reasonably good business is expected for the balance of the year, H. G. Hilton, president of Steel Company of Canada, Ltd., said today.

His forecast, in an address prepared for delivery to the company's annual meeting, was based on the expectation that there would be some improvement in general business activity.

Inventory reductions, which had accounted partly for a falling off in new business, showed signs of approaching an end so far as some of the company's products were concerned.

Sales volume so far this year, while materially below the same period last year, was only five per cent under 1952, and considerably higher than in any previous similar period.

While the steel industry in the United States and Canada has been producing at less than capacity, this must be viewed, Mr. Hilton said, in the light of the industry's great expansion in the last two or three years.

"It may be that, collectively, we have gone further than now needed except under emergency or abnormal conditions." If this were so, however, he believed continuing growth would soon overtake Canadian capacity "if we, a nation of 15,000,000 widely-dispersed people, do not attempt to equal or better overnight many things our neighbor, the United States, with a population of over 160,000,000, feels it can support."

The Canadian steel industry, Mr. Hilton said, must expect to meet severe and increasing competition from countries with lower wages and standards of living.

At the same time, the industry had to operate under "obsolete duty schedules that give, in many instances, less effective protection than those of any other country possessing a steel industry of importance."

If Canada were to have freer trade with countries with lower standards of living—"peoples who are willing to work harder and longer for much lower wages"—Canadian employers and employees alike would have to use all the ingenuity and skill they possessed to remain competitive.

Big Building Boom In East Marmora

MARMORA (ENS) — Residential expansion of East Marmora is being watched with much interest these days.

Tourists returning this summer will note the new service station erected at the eastern boundary of the village by William D. Lavender and recently sold to Hy Christie of Cornwall.

Immediately east land has been levelled off for the erection of a new residence by John Rombough.

West of the service station and between it and the residence of Joseph Murphy on land purchased by Walter Wilson a house will be built.

West of the Murphy residence, land is being levelled for a new home for Franklin Smith and it is understood that his brother expects to build on the next lot.

More recently other lots on the opposite side of No. 7 Highway have been advertised for sale.

Lakevale Ladies' Aid Hears Of Bible Need

FOWLER'S CORNERS (ENS)—The Lakevale Ladies' Aid met at the home of Mrs. Ken Nurse, with a good attendance. Mrs. Scott opened the meeting. Scripture reading was given by Mrs. Robert McAdam.

Mrs. James Young was guest speaker. Mrs. Young chose as her topic the British Foreign Bible Society which was organized 150 years ago. Mrs. Young spoke of the need and scarcity of Bibles in the early days and how people were converted by one small testament being brought into a community. One of the latest books published is "Not By Bread Alone" bringing to our attention that we cannot live with our worldy goods alone, but must have the love of God in our hearts.

Mrs. Stewart Mitchell gave a solo, accompanied at the piano by her daughter Betty.

A vote of thanks was moved by Mrs. Moncrief to Mrs. Young and Mrs. Mitchell.

Plans were made for decorating the church in the near future.

Lunch was served by the hostess and the lunch committee.

Actor Marries

NEW YORK (AP)—British-born actor Peter Lawford and pretty Patricia Kennedy, member of a prominent Boston family, were married Saturday. Miss Kennedy, 26, was given away by her father, Joseph P. Kennedy, former U.S. ambassador to Britain. Lawford, 30, is the son of a nobleman.

Soviet Artists Prefer Russia

EDMONTON (CP)—Six touring concert artists from the Soviet Union find Canada and Canadians stimulating but prefer to live in Russia.

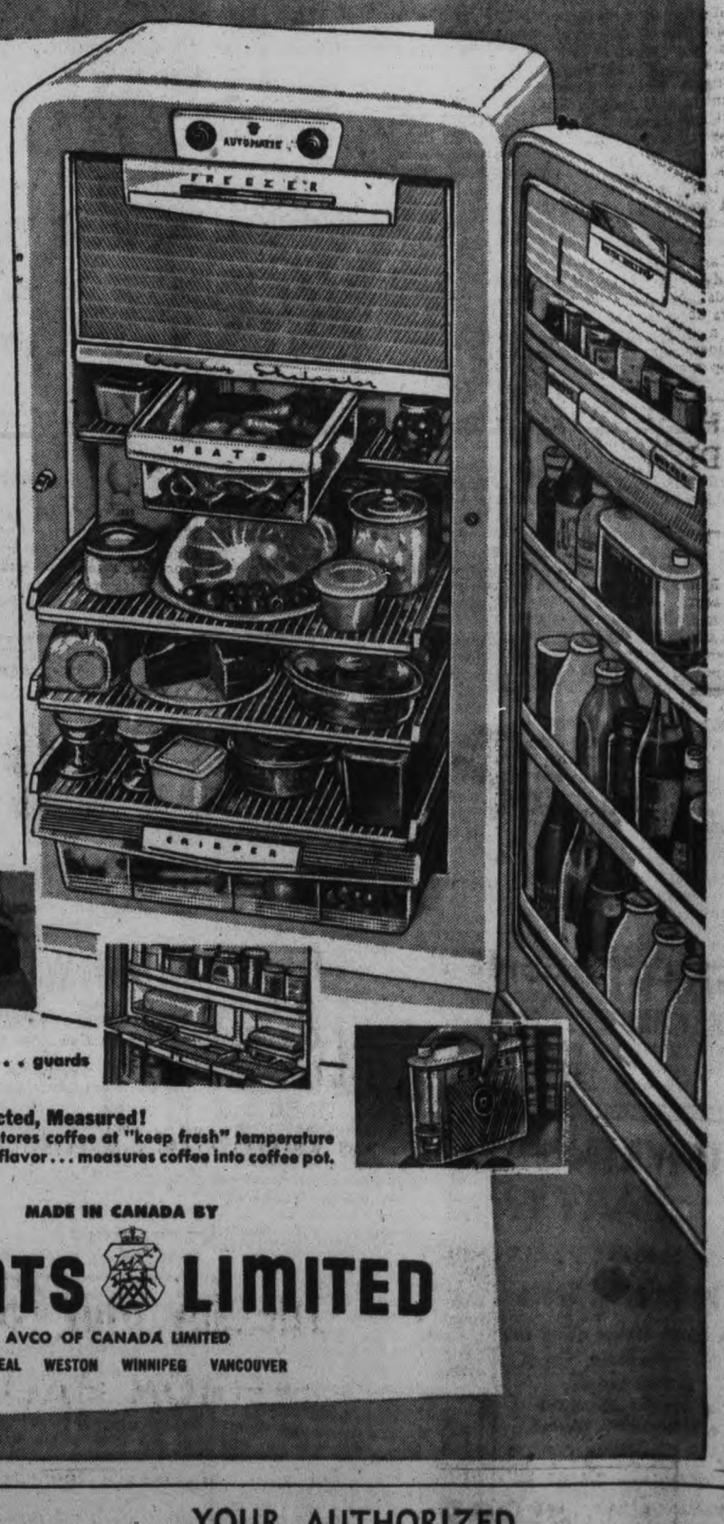
The most famous member of the troupe laughs off the idea of ever settling in this country.

Asked during an interview Sunday if he would like to stay in Canada, 29-year-old Leonid Kogan, internationally-known violin virtuoso, replied through an interpreter:

"Such a question makes me smile. It takes only a month and I'm homesick, so no such question can arise."

Mr. Kogan has a wife and two-year-old son in Moscow.

He wouldn't say if he noticed any difference between Canadian and Russian audiences.



"I don't like comparisons," he said. "I have found Canadians very nice and they appreciate music very much."

The artists played to two capacity audiences in the Ukrainian centre here Saturday night. The tour is sponsored by the Canadian-Soviet Friendship Society.

Renovation of Dique Canal Stirs Interest In Cartagena

WASHINGTON— Not since the turbulent days of the Spanish Main when it served as a fabled treasure port has Cartagena, Colombia, seen so much activity.

With modernization of its ancient Dique Canal under way, the city bids to regain its position as Colombia's leading shipping centre. A model tourist centre rising along its shores may become the nation's best known seaside resort. In recent years, restoration of historic churches and forts have already attracted many visitors.

300-YEAR-OLD CANAL

One of the oldest engineering works in the Western Hemisphere the Dique Canal has been open almost continually since 1650, says the National Geographic Society. At Calamar, 45 miles east of Cartagena, it connects with the wide serpenine Magdalena River, chief traffic artery from the Caribbean to Bogota, the capital.

When the waterway's 20 curves are eliminated and its passageway deepened, barge fleets and cargo ships loaded with coffee, balsam, hides and precious stones may soon again pour into Cartagena from the rich, highland interior. In the last century, Cartagena has bowed to Barranquilla at the mouth of the river as Colombia's leading port.

Rich in the lore of Spanish conquistadores and swashbuckling pirates, Cartagena is the most elaborate city in South America. Founded in 1533, it served as an ancient-day Fort Knox for the accumulating riches of the Indies which the Spaniards shipped back to their homeland.

Here the gold and silver of Peru, emeralds of New Granada, and the pink pearls of the Caribbean were stored underground until the annual visit of the "Plate Fleet", whose strong frigates dared the run through pirates offshore.

Engineers commissioned by the Spanish king lavished all their skill on the city's defenses. A massive wall 40 feet high and 50 to 60 feet wide, hewn from coral rock, was thrown around the rising town. Its estimated $60,000,000 cost was a pittance compared to the treasures it guarded.

RING OF FORTS

Cartagena lies upon a short, sandy peninsula, with many islands and mangrove-bordered bays dotting the harbor entrance. As a protective backbone, its builders erected 29 separate forts. Atop a small hill just outside the walls, San Felipe served as the defensive key. Miles of tunnels, ventilated by shafts driven 100 feet through solid rock, connected its 12 gun emplacements. It took 30 years to build the fortress.

Strangely, the city which served Spain so well for three centuries was the first to declare its independence. Thousands of Cartaenians died of starvation and pestilence when the Spanish army besieged the town in 1815, but six years later it was finally freed by the forces of Simon Bolivar.

Today Cartagena offers a curious mixture of modern office buildings and venerable Spanish homes. Street cars and imported automobiles course wide, brightly lit streets. On other roadways, narrow and twisting, overhanging balconies almost meet to shut out the hot Caribbean sun.

Stores crammed with moderately priced goods attract shoppers. The city is noted for its handwrought silver, wood carvings, and leather, tortoise-shell and mother-of-pearl items.

RITA'S CHILDREN IN "PROTECTIVE CUSTODY"—Rita Hayworth's two daughters, Rebecca (left) and Yasmin, being held by Rita's husband, Dick Haymes, have been placed in the "protective custody" of the Westchester County, N.Y., Children's Court on a petition of the county Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. Southern Montana Glacier Has Grasshopper Cargo

WASHINGTON—A glacier in the Beartooth Mountains of southern Montana carries a strange cargo in its icy depths—millions of dead grasshoppers.

Over the last 600 years waves of the insects attempted to migrate across the glacier. For some reason not fully explained, they failed to complete the passage and were entombed in snow.

Now as the sun slowly melts the ice, grasshopper bodies — some fragmentary, a few intact, emerge at the foot of the flacier. They provide a feast for birds, animals and fishes, says the National Geographic Society.

GEOLOGICAL ICE BOX

Appropriately the geological ice box is known as Grasshopper Glacier. The insects that became its odd burden were Rocky Mountain grasshoppers, (Melanoplus mexicanus mexicanus), the same voracious pests that afflict U.S. crops today.

Located in Custer National Forest nearly 11,000 feet above sea level, the glacier may have been seen by early travellers and prospectors. But it was not until 1899 that a U.S. geological survey party published a firsthand report.

The explorers were surprised at the numbers of bodies imbedded along the edge of the ice field. They estimated the insect remains would total many tons if weighed.

Visitors also noted the grasshoppers were spaced in irregular bands in the exposed 50 foot cliff at the end of the glacier. This told part of the story: that the hoppers had landed at irregular intervals.

So far only Melanoplus mexicanus mexicanus has been identified among the glacier's specimens. Entomologists, however, do not rule out the possibility of other entrapped species there. Other kinds of migrating grasshoppers have been found alive atop the ice.

A glacier high in the Rockies is a remote spot for grasshoppers, even though they fly. How did they get there?

One suggestion is that wind currents forced them to such heights. Then as swarms were funneled through the glacier depression, air from below or a sudden mountain storm chilled them. Preferring to fly in warm air, they sank to the ice floor and were lost.

Scientists have used modern means to find out how long the bodies were buried. Last year radiocarbon tests dated the first invasions at no more than 600 years ago.

Dead grasshoppers have been sighted in other isolated western regions, but few people have seen them. As in the case of Grasshopper Glacier, a rugged horseback or hiking journey is usually necessary.

The Rocky Mountain grasshopper has aroused the interest of farmers as well as entomologists. Concerned over future crops, agriculture experts are scanning the hatching grounds of the Great Plains and mountain states for evidences of increasing infiltration.

Last year the insect multiplied in unusual numbers, often a sign that the enemy is building his forces for a large scale attack similar to those in the 1870's and 1930's.

Nehru Annoyed By British Action

NEW DELHI (AP) — Premier Nehru told Parliament today his government takes a grave view of a search by British troops of the Indian high commissioner's office in Nairobi during a week-end Mau Mau roundup.

He said he will give parliament details as soon as he received them, but in the meantime the acting governor of Kenya had offered the Indian high commissioner "most humble apologies" and ordered an immediate inquiry.

Hail Breaks Windshields

TULIA, Tex. (AP)—A violent hailstorm near Tulia in the Texas panhandle Sunday night severely injured one man, knocked out countless car windshields, and sent a six-inch flood across a highway. Witnesses reported seeing hailstones up to 11 inches in circumference covering a highway three to four inches deep.

Grandfather Kills Girl For Having Boyfriends

GALLATIN, Tenn. (AP)—Sheriff J. B. Bracey of Sumner county reported today an elderly farmer killed himself with a rifle bullet after shooting to death his 18-year-old granddaughter whom he had rebuked for having boy friends.

Bracey said Joe Miller Hunter, 70, shot to death Carol Dean Hunter and then killed himself at their home at Bethpage, about eight miles northeast of here.

Montreal Youths Get Year For Car Theft

COBOURG (ENS)—Appearing for sentence on a charge of theft of a car at Port Hope on April 4, James Davis and Leo Tremblay, of Montreal, were each sentenced to 12 months' determinate and three months' indeterminate in reformatory.

The pair wrecked the car after a police chase near Brighton. Their three companions, Joyce Gambrielle, Margaret Hepsom and Susan Jones, Toronto teen-agers, escaped injury in the crash. Charges of car theft against the girls were dismissed.

The three girls were in court to hear the disposition of the charges against the Montreal pair.

Crown Attorney Harry Deyman said he could not consent to suspended sentence in either case, even although Davis was the prime mover in the affair. It was a wonder that someone had not been killed, he said.

SUPERVISION IMPOSSIBLE

In view of the fact that the two youths came from the province of Quebec, it would not be possible for the Ontario authorities to exercise a close supervision of the two in the event of suspended sentence being imposed, declared Mr. Deyman.

Magistrate R. B. Baxter, in sentencing the pair, said it might still be a cheap lesson for them.

He commented that he observed the three girls still hanging around. He understood they had been ordered out of Montreal. Their conduct must have been of a nature that didn't meet the approval of the authorities there and they should correct their behaviour.

In a sense, the girls were to blame for the two youths being in their present predicament. They certainly were no credit to their sex, said the magistrate.

Nepheline Seeks New Markets

Seeking expansion for a market for nepheline syenite further research is to be carried out this year, said H. R. Deeth, vice-president in charge of sales at a recent meeting of shareholders of the American Nepheline Mines.

Mr. Deeth said that the company hoped to find markets for their product in other countries than Canada and the United States which in 1953 made up 96 per cent of company sales.

A saving to the company of 75 cents a ton will be made when the company is able to make shipments by rail. Construction of the line is expected to get under way early in May. The mine is already laying the rock fill for their private mine siding from blasted rock being excavated for a new ore crushing plant.

Consulting geologist D. R. Derry reported that, in addition to known ore reserves, he was quite certain there were large tonnages of ore at the unexplored east side of the property.

Squeaks' Spirit Replaces Front Paws, Gets Around

If he's in a hurry, he rests his chin on the floor and drives his hind legs like pistons. Or he hops like a kangaroo, bending far forward, bouncing his chin on the carpet for balance.

He puts his chin on the third step, then jumps up one step at a time. At first this was hard and he needed help, but as he grows in size and agility it's getting easier.

Eating is no problem. Squeaks bends forward, balancing on his hind legs and gulps his food as any normal dog would. One would think his front legs were merely invisible.

THIS IS A SUCCESS STORY of Squeaks, a two-legged dog belonging to Mrs. Dominic Guerra, of Cleveland, Ohio. Squeaks, now five months old, was born with shoulder blades, but no front legs. On the advice of a city dog warden, Mrs. Guerra let the mongrel puppy live, and she's tickled pink. Squeaks has developed personality, as well as agility, and has become the pet and marvel of the entire neighborhood. Here's how he gets around.

Havelock LOBA Marks 32nd Anniversary

HAVELOCK (ENS) — Lady McGill LOBA No. 471, celebrated its 32nd birthday Friday evening in the Orange hall when over 100 members and their husbands were in attendance.

The event took the form of a social evening during which a program was presented with Robert Wrightly as chairman, followed by a banquet in the dining hall.

The program comprised vocal solos by the Rev. R. G. Newman, and Mrs. Newman; readings by Mrs. Russell of Warkworth, Mrs. Ellis Wood of Campbellford, Herbert Hoard, Mrs. Hazel Hartin, Mrs. Mark Ketchen; three vocal duets by Lillian and Billy Toms accompanied by the latter on his guitar; a piano solo by June Post; vocal duet by Marlene and Carol Ellis; violin and guitar duet by Alfred Althouse and William Hornsby and a dance by Carol Ellis.

A period of community singing was enjoyed with the Rev. R. G. Newman as the acompanist.

Pink and white streamers decorated the banquet hall. Potted flowers made an attractive decoration for the head table which was centred with a prettily decorated anniversary cake topped with 32 candles. R.W. Bro. Richard Sanderson, Grand Master Ontario East blew out the candles.

Seated at the head table were the Rev. R. G. Newman and Mrs. Newman, Mrs. Pearl Elmhirst, WM of the LOBA, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sanderson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Skinkle of Warkworth. The latter is Worthy Mistress of the Warkworth LOBA.

The Rev. R. G. Newman officiated as toastmaster and proposed a toast to the Queen.

The toast to the visitors was given by Robert Wrightly and the reply by Mrs. Fred Skinkle of Warkworth.

The toast to the lodge was given by Richard Sanderson and the reply was by Mrs. Paul Elmhirst, worthy mistress of the local LOBA.

The occasion was also the birthday of Robert Wrightly and he was called to the platform while the gathering sang "Happy Birthday to You."

Mrs. Jack Adams was in charge of the sale of tickets on a draw for a crochet centrepiece which was won by Mrs. Minnie Toms of Cottesloe.

The Lady McGill LOBA was organized in 1922 and was named after the late Mrs. Samuel McGill. Its membership was 39, while now it has over 100 members on the roll.

Four of the charter members are living: Mrs. Rhoda Simpson, Mrs. L. McLaren, Mrs. Fred Post and Mrs. Pearl McColl.

Premier St. Laurent Home From Bermuda

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent returned to Ottawa Saturday night after a 10-day Easter vacation in Bermuda.

The prime minister, tanned and cheerful, flew to Montreal from Bermuda and made the remainder of the trip home by train. He was accompanied by is son-in-law, Hugh O'Donnell, Montreal lawyer.

Asked about his golf game, Mr. St. Laurent smiled and said: "I play an old man's game."

The Bermuda holiday was the first rest the prime minister has had since he returned to Ottawa March 17 from his round-the-world tour. Mrs. St. Laurent, who refuses to travel by plane, did not accompany him.

French Nurse Building Heroic Legend

By CORLEY SMITH

HANOI (Reuters) — A chestnut-haired daughter of French nobility is building a legend in hospital dugouts beneath the shell-torn surface of Dien Bien Phu.

Pretty Genevieve de Galard-Terraube, a viscountess' daughter and a full-fledged lieutenant in the French Air Force, has been in the encircled fortress since March 28.

That was the day Communist rebel guns crippled the helicopter she was piloting to airlift wounded soldiers from Dien Bien Phu.

Since then, 29-year-old Genevieve has been the only woman in the fortress—cut off from outside aid along with the 12,000 French union forces holding the blasted stronghold.

She has no hope of evacuation, for no one has left the fortress since Vietminh troops and guns put its airstrip out of operation.

To the wondering troops who share her plight, the fine-featured girl is a 20th century Joan of Arc.

A trained nurse, she has labored night and day in the gloomy dugouts where hundreds of wounded garrison soldiers lie amid the scream and crash of shells.

Reverent troops built her a private shell-proof dugout near the hospital shelters, large enough for herself, a bed and a few private belongings.

But most of the slim girl's time is spent with the wounded—comforting them, taking last messages for relatives and distant girl friends, and aiding harried doctors in an average of 25 operations a day, many of them by candlelight in the midst of rebel barrages.

Genevieve, daughter of Viscountess de Galard-Perroude, studied nursing in England and worked with the Red Cross in Paris before becoming an air force transport nurse in 1952.

For three weeks during the Dien Bien Phu battle she flew her helicopter in and out of the fortress until Vietminh artillery fire ended its flying days.

RESEARCH ENGINEER — B. G. Royal Children Visit Aircraft Carrier

VALLETTA, Malta (Reuters)—Prince Charles and Princess Anne Sunday visited the British aircraft carrier Eagle and rode "dodgems"—tractors used to handle aircraft.

Once the five-year-old prince excitedly urged his sailor driver to try to catch up with Princess Anne on another "dodgem."

After the "race" both children posed for a battery of amateur photographers among the Eagle's crew before leaving the carrier for the royal yacht Britannia.

The royal children are spending eight days at Malta in the Britannia on their way to meet Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh returning from their Commonwealth tour.

Norwood Lions Present Hit With 'Cornfield Follies'

NORWOOD (ENS)—A variety show entitled "Cornfield Follies" was held in the Norwood town hall Thursday and Friday evenings. The entire cast was made up of the members of the Norwood Lions club. Master of ceremonies was A. R. McNab.

The first item was the "Weak Spots," a quartet made up of Harry Gyde, Arnold Perry, John Auckland and A. R. McNab, accompanied by Mrs. Perry on the piano.

Next was a re-enacting of W. H. Drummond's poem, "De Stove Pipe Hole," with narration by D. W. Sinclair. The third item was an accordion solo by Bob Garden.

Most hilarious number was a skit, ""The Kids in the Three-Cornered Pants." The scene was the main corner of Norwood outside the pool hall where a couple of babies (Dr. A. R. Atkinson and Ken Pakenham) were left by their fathers while they went in to play pool. The two fathers were Earl Hamblin and Irvin Warner.

ORCHESTRA

An orchestra number was presented by the "Silver Stringed Seven," Bob Garden, A. R. McNab, Earl Hamblin, A. Perry, J. Auckland, Stan Fife and R. Scott.

The next item was "The Tennessee Wigwalk" (Elgin version) and a song, "Y'All Come," presented by the members of the Lions club from the Elgin district.

Arnold Perry played two songs on his guitar, "Lazy Bones" and "Gone Fishin."

The highlight of the evening was a skit of the girls of the Hawaiian islands on the beach of Waikiki. The men were dressed in grass skirts, wigs of girls' hair and a few had leis. They danced around a fire chanting Hawaiian songs.

Taking part in the dance were Bob Garden, Irv Warner, Stan Fife, R. Scott, R. F. Hunter, Ivan Begg, D. A. Paxton, Stan Flett, Bill Garden and Dick Patterson. Jackie Scott, young son of Roy Scott, came out after the others and danced around the fire alone.

SQUARE DANCE

A square dance, The Tennessee Hoedown, was presented by some of the men, half of them dressed as women, with Stan Fife as the caller.

The Silver Stringed Seven returned with a song they made up themselves about some of the happenings around town, to the tune of "Clementine."

The "Shooting of Dan McGrew" was acted out, with Dr. A. R. Atkinson as narrator and bartender.

Koko, the clown presented a skit in which he was shown trying to hang paper. Koko was played by Bob Garden.

The Hawaiian girls presented a repeat number. The quartet came back and was assisted by the rest of the Lions in a song made up by themselves.

The program ended with "The Queen." The children were permitted to pet the little bear cub that the Lions had on stage both nights. The bear cub was loaned from Harold Russell.

10,000 Copies Of Scripture Issued Daily

Every day 10,000 copies of Scripture are distributed throughout the world, the Rev. Egerton Young, district secretary of the Upper Canada Bible Society told the annual meeting of the Peterborough branch of the YMCA Sunday.

Special editions printed in 1953 included 300,000 Bibles printed for the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth. This compares with 30,000 printed for the 1937 coronation of George VI.

All church people of all countries must know the Bible, "the textbook of our faith," said Mr. Young. He pointed out that at least 825 translations have been made of the Bible, while parts have been translated into many more languages.

A feature of the meeting was a film "The Living Word" produced by the Australian Bible Society. The film shows such religious landmarks as Canterbury Cathedral and Scotland's St. Giles' Cathedral. It also shows the British Houses of Parliament opening each day's session with a Psalm.

The Australian camera went round the world to show translating teams at work in Korea, New Guinea and Africa. Workers are now working on a Bible for Australian aborginines, one of the world's most primitive races.

Orley Axford was elected president of the Peterborough branch of the Bible Society at a business meeting which followed. He succeeds Charles Coleman.

Other officers include Miss Leatha Kidd, secretary; W. P. Laverty, treasurer; James McClenaghan, publicity; E. Hales and E. A. Watkins, executive committee. A vice-president will be elected later.

Only 11 of 25 churches notified of the meeting were represented Sunday. One executive member pointed out, however, that this relatively poor showing might be because many ministers have Bible schools which conflicted with the meeting, held at 3 p.m.

Vast Man-Made Forests In New Zealand Are Now Nearing Maturity

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP) — New Zealand plans to launch large-scale newsprint, pulp and timber export industries. To prepare the way she has been conferring with the chief potential customer, Australia.

The timber trade has played a part in New Zealand's history since the earliest days. Ships came here in the 18th century to cut spars of kauri pine for masts. Exports of native timbers have continued on a small scale ever since, but it is not the local timbers that are causing the present big development.

Years ago it was found that some pine and other softwood trees brought from the northern hemisphere grew more quickly in New Zealand than in their native habitat. Timbermen saw a great future for the country as a grower of timber from man-made forests.

NEW FORESTS MATURE

A great planting program was launched 30 years ago, and continued with unemployed labor during the depression years. These vast man-made forests now are nearing maturity.

It is estimated 550,000 acres of exotic pine forests are nearing the harvesting stage. As they were scientifically planted and have been tended during growth they should produce far more timber than natural forests covering a similar area.

Today 232,000,000 board feet of radiata pine are cut annually and its use is accepted throughout the country for most building. But in two years' time the production should be 360,000,000 feet, and by 1975 the output will exceed 650,000,000 feet.

HUGE DEVELOPMENT

Side by side with this expansion, great developments have been going on in the use of timber for pulp and newsprint. Big quantities of wallboard, pulp and lower-grade paper are already being produced.

An $80,000,000 project for the production of pulp and newsprint is expected to be operating by 1955.

These developments will supply all New Zealand's softwood timber requirements, all her needs of wallboard and most papers, and most of her newsprint requirements.

When the harvesting of the forests is in full progress, there will be a surplus of up to 150,000,000 board feet of softwood timbers, and 100,000 tons of newsprint and pulp products available for export. A special deepwater port at Tauranga, on the east coast of the north island, is being built to handle this trade.

OBVIOUS MARKET

The obvious market is Australia which now imports over 300,000,000 feet of softwoods annually, chiefly from the Baltic, European countries, North America, and Brazil. She also imports a large proportion of her newsprint and pulp needs.

In the past year New Zealand has begun the export of pulp for manufacture into newsprint in Australia. It is planned to make a vast increase in these shipments.

New Zealand at present buys about £26,000,000 worth of goods from Australia, but sends in return only about £4,000,000 worth. The timber and paper trade is looked on as the greatest opportunity to restore the balance.

There are also prospects of trade with the Far East. Already timber shipments have been sent to Korea and there is a possibility of exports to other eastern countries.

EFFECT ON CANADA

The increase in softwood and paper production in New Zealand brings the country into competition with Canada, but Canadian authorities have shown little concern at this prospect. New Zealand's output will not be large enough to have a marked effect on the Canadian trade, and the dollar savings to the sterling area will free dollars for the purchase of other Canadian commodities Australia and New Zealand want urgently but cannot buy because of currency rationing.

In addition, New Zealand newspaper proprietors propose to maintain their contracts with Canadian suppliers, as a safeguard against difficulties in local supplies or labor troubles. They maintain that the Canadian supply has been completely reliable for many years and if contracts were cancelled it might be impossible to get them back in time of emergency.

Woman's Screams Lead Firemen To Blaze

ORILLIA (CP) — Firemen Sunday night had only screams of, "Fire, fire" and sounds of crackling flames to guide them when Mrs. Leo Swartz put in a telephone call for help.

Her small frame house on the 4th concession, near Barrie road, was gutted by fire of unknown origin. She was alone in the house at the time. Flamees spread so quickly she had only time to scream to the telephone operator that there was a fire, then drop the receiver and flee.

Loss was estimated at from $1,500 to $2,000.

Fireman Bob Woodrow was burned on the face and hand.

Osteopath Honored

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. Mary L. Heist, pioneer osteopath of Kitchener, was honored at the annual meeting of the Ontario Osteopathic Association here Saturday when she was presented with the certificate of merit recently established by the Kirksville College of Osteopathy and Surgery.

Peron's Candidate Leads Election

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — President Juan Peron's vice-presidential candidate, Rear Admiral Alberto Tessaire, headed for an overwhelming election victory in Argentina today. With the Peronista lead almost 2 to 1, a spokesman for the Radical Party opposition conceded defeat.

Official returns from 4,594 of the 38,369 election precincts in Sunday's voting gave Teissaire 669,267 votes to 342,250 for the Radicals' man, Crisologo Larralde.

Teissaire is expected to take office as soon as the results are confirmed. He probably will preside at the opening of Congress on May 5.

Preliminary returns in contests for 80 seats in the House of Deputies and 19 in the Senate showed the Radicals have lost at least one, and probably two, seats in the lower chamber. They held 14.

The National Senate looked to remain unanimously Peronista.

Baby Found Dead Police Investigating

WINDSOR (CP)—Sandwich East police are investigating the death of the month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Adams.

The baby was found dead in her crib by police this morning. Neighbors said they saw Adams leave for work as usual. Police arrived shortly after and found the body of the infant.

The mother was not home at the time and had not been seen by other people in the house since Sunday afternoon.

SUDBURY (CP)—Rev. James A. Terry, minister of St. Andrew's United church, has accepted the pastorate of Oakville's St. John's church, he told his congregation Sunday. Rev. Terry came to Sudbury seven years ago from Agincourt. His original home was Monkton and he was ordained in 1934 at Sarnia.

Murderous Rapist Attacks Woman

TORONTO (CP) — Police say a 24-year-old woman was knocked unconscious and raped early Sunday.

Investigators described the case as one of the worst of its kind in many years. They said they are looking for a murderous rapist of the type who may strike again.

The girl said that, on her way home from a dance, she left a street-car and started to walk a short distance to her east-end home. She said a man who overtook her grabbed her by the throat, dragged her between two houses and knocked her unconscious.

When the girl regained consciousness about 2 a.m., she found her clothes had been ripped off. Clad only in her slip, she made her way to her home and called police. Later she was admitted to hospital in a state of hysteria and doctors said she had missed death by strangulation "by a matter of seconds."

Michael English

Requiem mass was celebrated today by the Rev. G. Weiss at Immaculate Conception church for Michael English, who died suddenly at his residence, 16 Edgewater Blvd., Friday. Present in the sanctuary during the mass were the Rt. Rev., P. P. Butler, the Rev. W. C. McCarney and the Rev. J. O'Sullivan.

Pallbearers were Joseph, Robert and Edward English, Thomas Hickson, James Garvey and George Emery. Burial was at Mount Carmel cemetery, Hastings, where the Rev. J. C. Carroll, assisted by the Very Rt. Rev. J. J. Garvey, said the graveside prayers.

Police Investigating Road Accident

RENFREW (CP) — Police are investigating an accident in which Joseph Shipman, 48, of Kemptville was injured on the highway near the town limits Saturday night.

Shipman, discovered lying beside the road with facial cuts and bruises, said he was struck by an automobile which police believe did not stop. Shipman's condition is reported to be satisfactory.

Royal Stamps Win

Committed For Trial On Stamp Swindle

MONTREAL (CP)—Lucien Gagnon, 45, Montreal lawyer and city councillor, charged with receiving $21,000 in stolen stamps, offered no defence today when called for voluntary-statement proceedings in his case. He was committed for trial and bail continued.

The stamp theft from the suburban Ville St. Laurent post office occurred in February and the stamps allegedly involving Gagnon were recovered in a parcel box in Windsor station.

Churchmen Gather For Synod Meeting

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Ministers and elders from some 50 congregations in the Presbyterian Synod of Hamilton and London are gathering here for the opening this afternoon of the 80th annual synodical meeting.

Presiding over the opening session will be Rev. J. K. West, St. Thomas, synod moderator. Highlights of the three-day meeting include the election of a new moderator this evening, an address by the moerator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, Dr. W. A. Cameron, and an institute on Christian education.

The Hamilton and London synod includes all Presyterian churches from Niagara to Windsor and as far north as Owen Sound and the Bruce peninsula.

Dr. Hughes, considered probably the world's leading surgeon in the field of plastic surgery about the eye, was educated at the University of Western Ontario.

Bumper Season

SUDBURY (CP)—Sudbury and District Chamber of Commerce, in anticipation of a bumper tourist season, has approved the purchase of 5,000 car window stickers which will depict a scene symbolic of the nickel-mining district.

2 Youths Appeal Hangng For Murder

TORONTO (CP) — An appeal by Jean Guy Henaire, 19, and Emile Bedard, 17, both of Montreal, against their conviction on a charge of murder in the beating death in Sudbury last October of Frank Asselin, was heard today in Ontario Court of Appeal.

Asselin, a bushworker who once lived in St. Catharines, was found dead near a lonely sideroad four miles north of Sudbury Oct. 3. Doctors said he had been fatally beaten.

The youths are under sentence to be hanged May 18.

G. R. Kinsman, counsel for Henaire, argued today that the Crown did not prove at the trial that Henaire took part in any attack on Asselin or had any intention of killing him. He suggested the trial judge, Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven, would have been justified in telling the jury that manslaughter was a possible verdict.

Mr. Kinsman described the trial judge's charge to the jury as "grossly inadequate." He contended that the judge did not give sufficient attention to the defence claims about the circumstances surrounding Asselin's death and should have let the jury make its own decision regarding the part drunkenness played in the affair.

The hearing is continuing.

Blossoms Burst Forth

ST. DAVID'S (CP) — The Niagara peninsula's annual spring blossom show has started. Although Blossom Sunday will probably coincide once again with Mother's Day on May 9, the first snow-white apricot blossoms now are filling the air with sweetness.

Two Ring Wedding Unites Marilyn Bowles, Wm. Porter

A lovely wedding took place Saturday afternoon in Springville United church when vows were pledged and rings exchanged by Marilyn Jeanne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Walter Bowles, and William Johnston Porter, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Porter, of Otonabee. The Rev. A. E. Larke officiated in the double ring ceremony.

Large baskets of pink gladioli and white stocks were on either side of a large central fern. Mrs. Harry Bothwell, cousin of the bride, played the wedding music. Before the ceremony, Mrs. A. E. Larke sang "O Perfect Love" and during the signing of the register she sang "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a lovely gown of white imported Chantilly lace and net with a strapless bodice and a bouffant skirt which featured a tier arrangement of net. This was topped by a redingote of lace which fell to a small train and was finished with a stand-up Queen Anne collar and long sleeves coming to a point over the wrists. A tiny Juliet cap of seeded pearls caught her fingertip veil of nylon tulle and her bouquet was of white orchids surrounded by white carnations and lily of the valley.

Miss Eleanor Bowles was maid of honor for her sister, wearing a ballerina-length dress of mauve taffeta topped by two layers of nylon tulle and carrying a bouquet of yellow roses intermingled with yellow 'mums. Her dress had an off-the-shoulder sleeve of tulle which continued across the bodice and was caught in three places by rhinestone clips. She wore tulle mittens and a matching flower band headdress. Miss Doreen Bowles, younger sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid, wearing a similar dress, hat and mittens in apple green shade and she carried a bouquet of bronze roses with yellow 'mums.

Mr. Ronald Porter was his brother's groomsman and ushers were Donald Johnston, cousin of the groom, and Neal Whitfield, cousin of the bride.

At the reception, held at the bride's home, Mrs. Bowles received, wearing a navy crepe dress trimmed with colored taffeta with which were navy and white accessories and a corsage of red roses. She was assisted by Mrs. Porter, mother of the groom, attired in delphinium-blue crepe with lace inserts and white accessories and wearin ga corsage of pink and white roses.

The buffet luncheon was served by friends of the bride, Mrs. Mary MacDougall, Misses Mary Thynne, Myrna Seymour, Janet Hillson and Hazel McIntosh.

The bride and bridegroom left by motor for a wedding trip in Eastern Canada and the United States. For travelling, the bride chose a navy bengaline dress trimmed with white and navy, a true-blue gabardine coat and red and white accessories. A corsage of white orchids completed her outfit.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter will live in Otonabee.

Relatives Honor Newlyweds In Coldsprings

COLDSPRINGS (ENS)—About 85 relatives gathered in the Coldsprings hall on Friday night to honor Mr. and Mrs. Luther Davey (nee Ethel Gordon), of Precious Corners, who were recently married.

Wilbert Davey was master of ceremonies for a short program. It opened with O Canada, followed by community singing with Mrs. R. Timlin, song leader, and Mrs. C. Timlin, at the piano. Marjorie and Helen Cole gave a piano duet.

Humorous readings were given by Mrs. Lloyd West, Mrs. Arthur Bickle, and Eddie Davey. Mrs. R. Timlin sang a solo. Doreen and Shirley Davey each played a piano solo.

Mrs. I. Johnson, and Mrs. C. Timlin; Helen and Marjorie Cole sang duets.

A mock wedding was then presented. Those taking part were Mr. and Mrs. N. Timlin, Mr. and Mrs. G. Carruthers, Mr. and Mrs. R. Timlin, Mr. and Mrs. R. Jibb, Norma, and Winston, Mrs. C. Timlin, and Ewart and Mrs. N. McIntosh.

An address expressing congratulations and best wishes was read to the honored couple by Miss Willa Davey, and on behalf of the relatives Clifford Timlin presented a sum of money. The groom replied on behalf of his bride and himself.

All joined in singing "For they are jolly good fellows," followed with the National Anthem.

Lunch was served by the ladies. Mrs. G. Carruthers, Mrs. N. Timlin and Mrs. R. Jibb, were in charge of the social evening.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward Cragg of Geraldine Ave. are in Toronto this week where Dr. Cragg is attending a refresher course in eye surgery.

Meat Loaf Suggested For Economy

By MARY MOORE

Much as I like spending money somebody in this house has to hang on to the purse strings so I made a firm decision to cut down on my food bill.

While this economizing spree lasts you may want to join me, so you too can afford a new hat.

P. D.'s MEAT LOAF

Two lbs. ground beef (bought at bargain price of 31c lb.), 3 eggs, 2-3 cup canned tomatoes, ⅓ cup milk, ½ cup finely rolled cracker crumbs, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper, about 1¼ teaspoons salt, ¼ cup finely chopped Spanish onion cooked until clear but not at all brown in a little fat or butter. Mix well, then pack into loaf tin or casserole and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. about 1 hour. P. D. is a business girl who has to take short-cuts. She served it directly from the casserole, but says I should tell my readers that if they unmould it before doing so to tip off the excess fat that gathers around edges—because this bargain-price beef contains quite a bit of fat. Their family is small, so there was plenty left over to serve sliced cold—which she did. She wanted a sauce with it too, so made a rich white sauce and put some curry powder in it.

With that meal she served

NEW CABBAGE CREAMED

Some of you have chopping bowls. If so chop a head of new cabbage— the size that costs 17c—to be specific! If no chopping bowl, slice a cabbage as finely as you can with your sharpest knife, then chop it the other way to make it very fine—(But don't put it through the grinder). Cook this in boiling unsalted water to cover for 10 minutes, then drain thoroughly through sieve. Make 2 cups thick white sauce by melting 4 tablespoons butter, stirring in 6 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon each pepper and nutmeg, and 2 cups whole milk until thick. Add 1 teaspoon lemon juice and the well-drained cabbage. Don't overcook the cabbage—for if you do it will lose its bright green color.

MARION'S MEAT LOAF

Marion specified ground shank beef or round steak. To this she adds ½ lb. sausage meat which she buys in the form of large farmers' sausage and turns out of the casing herself. I like the fact that she adds ¼ to 1-3 cup packaged ground wheat cereal to this instead of crumbs. Also ½ cup chili sauce, ½ cup tomato juice, 1 finely chopped onion, 1 egg, and salt and pepper. You have to use your judgment about the amounts of salt and pepper, for Marion is a "little-bit-of this-and-a little-bit-of that" cook. Mix well. Pack into buttered loaf pan, and pour over top ¼ cup tomato juice. Bake at 300 deg. Fahr. for 1¼ to 1¼ hours OR if you want your oven low for something else (like a custard) bake at 275 deg. Fahr. for 1¼ to 1½ hours. Marion says that sausage meat needs this because it slices so nicely and the seasoning from the sausage makes it nice for slicing for sandwiches in her lunch.

Groom Clothes For Storage

By ALICIA HART (NEA)

By now, the women of the nation are pondering the perrenial problem of storing winter clothes. It's rather an irksome chore that we hope to get over with as fast as possible.

Here is an instance where haste really can make waste, and where it hurts the most—in your budget.

Before consigning your clothes to the storage chest, you should go through them carefully to weed out any garments that lost favor with you this winter.

Decide either to give them to a charitable organization or to renovate them for next fall.

If you decide on the latter, make those changes right away so the clothes will be ready to wear when you want them. If you put off the task until fall, the chances are you'll never get around to it.

Your clothes should be thoroughly cleaned before they are stored. If they need dry cleaning, don't think you can afford to wait until fall to send them. Doing that is inviting moth invasion. Furthermore, the longer soil and stains remain in clothing, the less likely they are to come out in cleaning.

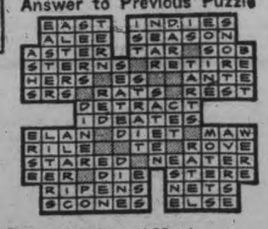
Take advantage of the moth-proofing service if your dry cleaner damage will be worth the slight offers it. The insurance against extra cost.

Ammonia and water are all you need to make an eyeglass cleaner. Just pour equal amounts into a bottle.

Fiery, Itching Skin Gets Quick Relief

Here is a clean stainless penetrating antiseptic oil that will bring you speedy relief from the itching and distress of Eczema, Itching Toes and Feet, Rashes and other itching skin troubles.

MOONE'S EMERALD OIL not only helps promote rapid and healthy healing in open sores and wounds, but boils and simple ulcers are also quickly relieved. In skin affections—the itching of Eczema is quickly eased, Pimples, skin eruptions dry up and scale off in a very few days.



MOONE'S EMERALD OIL can be obtained at any drug store satisfaction or money back.

"Mrs. America" Wins Tour

ORMOND BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Wanda Jennings, 28, a tall, blue-eyed blonde from St. Louis, Mo., Saturday night was crowned Mrs. America 1955.

The judges, basing the award on appearance but mainly on demonstrated housekeeping prowess, singled out Mrs. Jennings from 49 other entrants from all the United States and Canada.

She wins $15,000 in prizes and a tour of Europe for herself and her husband, Madison Jennings, a utor to national magazines and have an eight-year-old son.

DOROTHY DIX

Pair Reconciled, Mother Frowns On Man

DEAR MISS DIX: Six months ago my husband and I separated. I went home to my folks and told my parents everything that had gone wrong between Barry and me. Naturally, they took my part. I realized at the time that mother was building up a resentment against my husband because of what I had told her. She had always been quite fond of him while we were going together and after we were married. Barry came to see me quite often, and eventually we effected a reconciliation. However, although everything now is fine between us, mother refuses to have anything to do with Barry. Since we don't have a car, she had always been generous about letting us use hers. Now she won't let me borrow the car unless I promise that Barry won't drive. This is just one of the things that she's gotten very petty about. How can I restore her former affection for my husband? L.D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: While going over the past is usually a futile pursuit, in your case, a brief review of bygones may help you avoid the same mistake in the future.

EXAGGERATED TROUBLES

You make no mention of what caused the rift between you and Barry, but since you continued a friendly relationship and were reconciled after a brief separation, I assume the trouble was of no great dimensions. Your error was in going to your mother with a detailed —and undoubtedly exaggerated — account of everything done by your husband that was not to your liking. Had your mother been wise she would have seen the underlying truth, but, as is quite natural, her strong maternal instinct overrode common sense, and she flung herself wholeheartedly into the "what did the big brute do to my little girl" routine. While by now you have probably forgotten the little things that led to the separation, your mother not only remembers them, but has built them up in her own mind until she actually feels that Barry is a cold, inhuman wretch and you are his victim.

Instead of trying to curb her ire, you are actually increasing its intensity by continuing actions that you know will displease her. This matter of the car, for instance, seems to take precedence in her list of resentments and you are very foolish to continue asking for it. Each time you borrow the car, a new quarrel arises between you and your mother, then between you and Barry. Is a car really worth all this fuss? Better make the effort of trying to save for a car of your own and forego the fussing.

It also would be a good idea if you'd admit to your mother that the entire fault for the separation wasn't Barry's. You can help build up to your mother a better impression of him. Get to work on it, and good luck.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: When I was a young man, about 40 years ago, I lived in another state and was very much in love with a girl whose parents opposed our marrying. We moved apart, I married another girl who died several years ago. Now I have returned to my home town to learn that my old sweetheart is a widow. Would it be foolish for us to marry now? She's 60 and I'm 64. BOOTS.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Indeed it wouldn't be foolish. There's no reason why two people should continue being lonely when they could be happy together. However, I take it you haven't mentioned marriage to her yet, so don't be too hasty with your plans. You should be able to judge whether she is receptive or not to the idea before proposing.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My prom is coming up in a few weeks and I'd like to invite a boy I met over the holidays. We dated for a few times, but he's away at college and I know he doesn't have much time to himself. However, he'll be home at the time of the prom. JANETTE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: With the school year rapidly approaching its end, many girls are worried over this same problem. It is practically never out of order to ask a boy to your prom. This particular lad was pleasant to you when he was available and I'm sure he'll be honored by your invitation.

Little Luxury Helps Morale

By ALICIA HART (NEA)

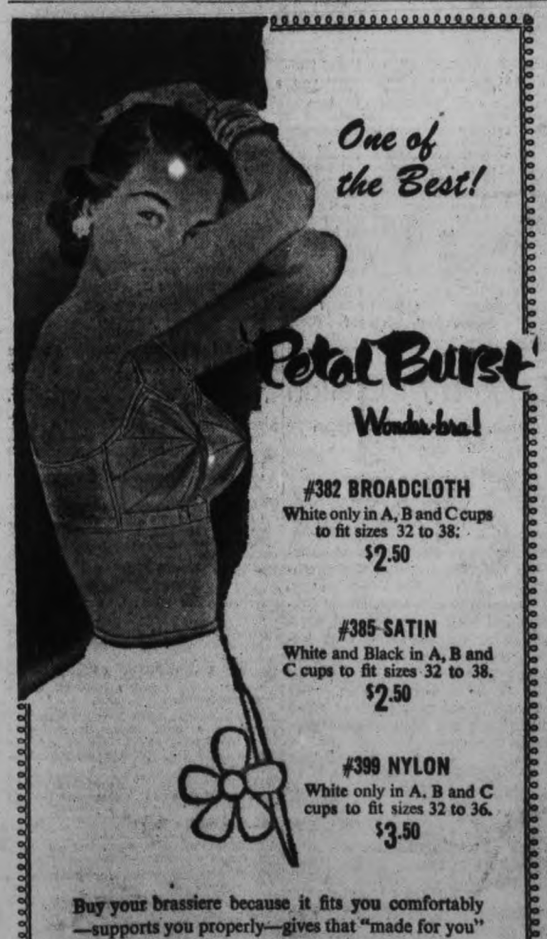
Occasional self-indulgence is a help to character building. The woman who habitually deprives herself of all but essentials is bound to wind up with a pretty low morale eventually.

So, she'd be doing herself and her family a favor if occasionally she'd splurge on an investment in her own satisfaction.

Beauty salons thrive on this fact. It's wonderful for the morale of a woman to spend a few hours being thoroughly pampered.

The older woman especially should see to it that she takes her share of proper self-indulgence.

Right now would be a good time to act. Whatever form your action takes, it's likely to be just the spark you need to meet the challenge of spring.



Of course, we're not recommending that anyone put a big dent in her household budget for necessities in order to treat herself to a fashion or beauty luxury.

But when it comes to deciding on whether to buy something extra for the house or a member of the family, once in a while the thing to do is to buy the extra for yourself.

Should you agree that you could use a little extravagance, don't act rashly. Think of all your long-held wishes. Take time to select the one that will please you most.

DOG ON A LEASH

To add extra enjoyment and nourishment to the kiddie's lunch box. Tie a piece of cord around a hot dog taken from your freezer, leaving a 6-inch piece of the cord as a "tail." Place the "dog" in the hot soup in the thermos bottle, trailing the string out the top and cork. At lunch time, the dog is hot and the soup nicely flavored.

McKEE HARVESTING SYSTEMS

Why not call on our Field Men to help you plan a Harvesting System for your Farm? We have the experience to assure guaranteed results. Our systems apply to every crop. Grass, silage, hay, grain threshing, and seed harvest. Use McKee Harvester to pick up swathed grain and haul it to your threshing machine. We manufacture special conveyors to elevate it into your thresher. Remember, ONE 25 H.P. Tractor, ONE McKee Harvester and Wagon, and ONE Man can bring in enough grain to keep a threshing machine running continuously. Two Men can do the job which formerly required 7 or 8.

HAVE YOU ORDERER YOUR McKEE HARVESTER?

Did you ever rise early on a quiet June morning to slip off to your favourite fishing spot only to find some one has been there before you? Rather frustrating, isn't it? The man that telephones up in June and expects to get a McKee Harvester could find himself in the same dilemma. Let's face it! We have about 25 in stock, but a carload is scheduled for Kelowna, B.C. Plus a carload for Regina, Sask. We prefer to do business with Ontario farmers, but we certainly can't maintain a manufacturing plant on last minute orders.

Pose As Police Rob Man Of $25

TORONTO (CP) — Police are searching for two men who posed as detectives and robbed Vytautas Baltrusiunas, 31, of $25 and kidnapped his girl friend early today.

Greta Kulbokas, 25, of Windsor, was released unharmed a few minutes later.

Baltrusiunas told police that they parked in High Park when the two men pulled alongside. They said they were detectives and demanded his driver

Religious Freedom Basic To Others—Dr. McDormant

"Religious freedom is the basic human freedom," the Rev. Dr. T. B. McDormand of Toronto said Sunday night in an address to three congregations united for worship in Murray Street Baptist church.

Dr. McDormand is the general secretary of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec. He was one of two guest ministers Sunday as the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan and the congregation of Murray Street Baptist church celebrated the 108th anniversary of the church.

"To lose religious freedoms would be to lose all other freedoms with it," said Dr. McDormand. "To defend it overtly and successfully is to be a fruitful champion of all the freedoms of man—because all derive from this one."

Dr. McDormand took his text from St. John 8: 36—"If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed."

"Few topics receive more treatment from writers and speakers today than that of freedom," he said. "The use and abuse of our democratic freedoms, and the forces which menace their future in our world, quite properly receive most earnest attention today.

SURVIVAL THREATENED

"This is not only because communism has swept one third of the world's people within its bearish embrace, but because in democratic countries themselves our freedoms have been so exploited and prostituted by selfish and irresponsible people as to have their very survival seriously threatened.

"Freedom is threatened as greatly by disintegrating agencies within democracy as by revolutionary forces from without.

"President Woodrow Wison once said "two thirds of wisdom is to be wise in time.' I hope history will record that western democracy has been wise in time."

Heret Dr. McDormand developed his main theme that religious freedom is the basic human freedom and all other freedoms come from it.

"This presupposes that religious experience and insight are not of human origin; rather, that they emanate from a supernatural source, and lay upon their devotees the obligation to declare them and share them . . . using all means of friendly persuasion to convince others of the truth of their position.

"This freedom also presupposes that religious truth, however defined, is a matter of personal apprehension . . . and must not be subordinated to the demands of the state, or evaluated merely in relation to contemporary culture.

"This freedom lifts the religious man out of the context of mere human history and of the present moment, and places him in a transcendental setting where his God is his supreme Sovereign; and where his citizenship is not on earth but in heaven."

NUISANCE TO DICTATORS

On the surface, at least, this must make the religious man seem a nuisance to the social order—a bit of a problem to himself and others. And that is what dictators do think.

"They violently resent any personal allegiance that does not centre in the nation and the nation's leaders. Der Fuehrer must not play second fiddle to any other deity. Worship diverts a man's attention from his obligations to the state; and religious morality must not be permitted to conflict with the culture of the race and the traditions of the folk. This-worldly concerns must have absolute priority over other-worldly interests."

But the very prejudice of dictators against Christianity is a tribute to what it really is —"a spirit in man that sets his divinely-given nature in opposition to all tyrannies that would rob him of his individuality and regiment his thoughts and conduct to dull, uncritical, irresponsible mass-mindedness".

"The Christian religion furnishes a man with views of himself and his neighbour which makes intolerance, materialism, and statism utterly repugnant to him," said Dr. McDormand. "Christianity releases a man's conscience from subservience to the social patterns . . . His sufficiency is in God, not in material things. His security is in God, not in government arrangements for his health, employment and old age — as necessary as these are in a secondary, derivative sense."

In fact, said Dr. McDormand, the Christian man is basically a reformer and a nonconformist.

THREE THREATS

He listed three present-day threats to religious freedom:

1. Communism.

"Communism is a sworn enemy of religion in all lands which it dominates. It tolerates a form of religion only because it dare not do otherwise; but it employs diabolically clever means to push religion to the periphery of national life — to make it appear optional and unimportant."

There is no serious threat to religious freedom in Canada from Communism, he said, but some aspects of that philosophy are rampant: materialism, that includes "dollar worshippers; those who put financial success ahead of Christian principles and loyalties; those who would surrender political freedom for economic security, and those who sacrifice considerations of brotherhood and mercy because of greed.

2. Roman Catholicism.

"Roman Catholicism represents a blatant threat to religious liberty . . . The persecution of Protestants in Spain, Columbia and Quebec goes on apace — even while Roman prelates bewail the ruthlessness of Communists in Catholic countries . . . It is compounded of the same evil ingredients — intolerance, cruelty, hatred, arrogance and love of power."

Banning in Quebec of the film "Martin Luther," was an example of the Roman Catholic church denying their people any freedom of choice in religious views or any chance to examine another point of view.

"This is essentially fascism," he said.

3. Apathy.

"There is an alarming apathy on the part of many Christian people and churches toward the forces which menace this freedom. Momentary feelings of indignation against the forces of tyranny and the soulless regimentation of life are not enough. The spirit of protest must be kept alive.

"Eternal vigilance is the price of freedom — vigilance on the part of those who prize it and who possess the spiritual and moral resources to challenge its enemies successfully."

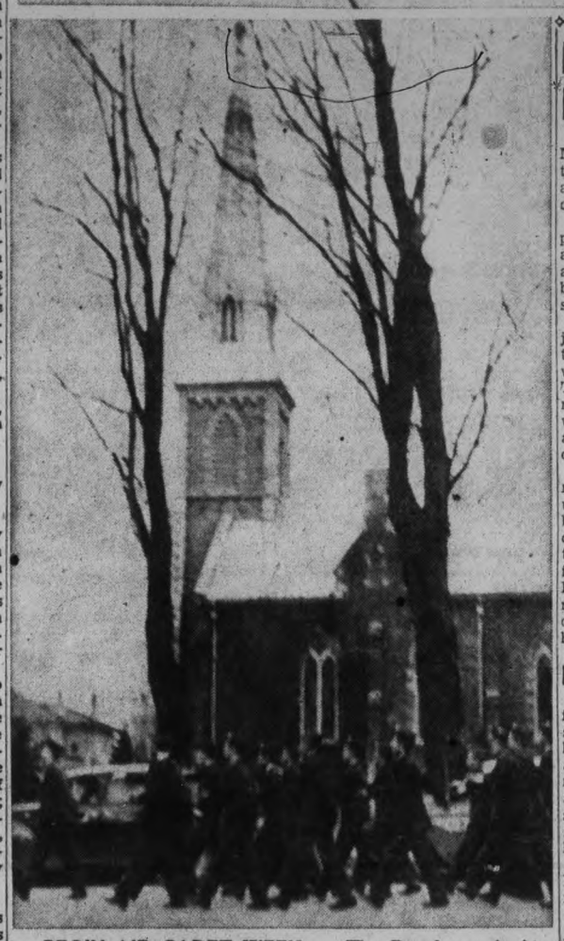
TWO CONDITIONS

Dr. McDormand said there are two conditions for victory in this "20th century crusade" for religious liberty:

1. Christian people must demonstrate in their own lives the kind of life they represent and champion.

2. The champions of spiritual liberty must have faith that the leader of their crusade is Jesus Christ.

"If the Son therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free indeed," said Dr. McDormand, reverting to his text as he concluded his address. "He remains forever the source, the assurance, and the dynamic of human freedom."



Joining in the anniversary service at night were the congregations of St. Paul's Presbyterian and Park Street Baptist churches. Guest soloist, morning and evening, was Robert Van Dine of Ottawa, baritone.

Dr. P. P. W. Zieman of Toronto, director of evangelism for the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec, was guest preacher at the morning service.

After the evening service Mr. Van Dine sang three groups of sacred solos. And there was a piano solo by Miss Betty Lapp, and a violin solo by Stanley Northrop.

Members of the three congregations then went to the church school hall were refreshments were served by the Women's Association.

Princess Rehearses In Charity Play

LONDON (Reuters) — Princess Margaret lately has been playing the part of a dance hall hostess at a London YWCA in the interests of charity.

Unfortunately, only a few of the princess' titled Mayfair friends are present when she has a fling at acting during rehearsals for a benefit production of "The Fellowship of the Frog."

The lords and ladies of the junior palace set are gathering at the "Y" to rehearse the roles they will enact for the public in June. They will then be joined by international party-thrower Elsa Maxwell, 70, who will do a cabaret act in the dramatic chiller based on a story by Edgar Wallace.

Princess Margaret only drops in now and again. She actually is an understudy for one of the blue-blood actresses who will portray a dance hostess. When she rehearses the "Y" hall is cleared of all the friends of the aristocrat-actors. But every keyhole is used by commoners hoping to see the 23-year-old sister of Queen Elizabeth rehearse.

R.C. Reds' Target

BONN (AP)—The widow of a former Nationalist Chinese ambassador to Belgium who had been held in Communist China said on arrival here Sunday the Communists have made Roman Catholics a special target in religious persecution. Mrs. Christina Ma Hangsen, 67, told reporters the Reds have set up a "national Catholic church with which they hope to lure Catholics away from their faith and to that of the state-run church."

ALUMINUM PROJECT

CANBERRA (CP) — Australia will save more than $5,000,000 a year by producing all its own aluminum requirements in a plant now nearing completion in Tasmania. The Australian government has contributed more than $20,000,000 to the project.

ON THE STAND—Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens testifies before the Senate investigating Subcommittee during the second day of hearings on the McCarthy-Army controversy.

Balcombe Appeal To Begin Tuesday

TORONTO (CP)—Hearing of an appeal by 2nd Lieut. Peter Balcombe against his conviction and sentence on a charge of murder in the slaying last Oct. 15 of Marie Anne Carrier, 21, of Bienville, Que., is scheduled to start Tuesday, officials at the office of the Ontario Court of Appeal said today.

Lieut. Balcombe is under sentence to be hanged May 25.

The naked, knife-slashed body of the girl, a sergeant in the women's army reserve, was found in a ditch in the Cornwall district. Lieut. Balcombe, on leave from the Valcartier army camp in the Quebec City area, was arrested later near London, Ont.

Executive Named

TORONTO (CP)—Mrs. E. V. Hunt of Toronto was elected president of the Ontario Association for Retarded Children at the annual meeting Saturday. D. R. Frisby of Kirkland Lake was named a vice-president.

SUGGEST ELECTION TO UNIFY KOREA

SITE OF THE BRANCH of the Bank of Commerce in the Simpsons-Sears shopping centre at Monaghan Road and Lansdowne St. is indicated in this photograph. It faces on Monaghan Road immediately north of the CNR. The frame work for the concrete basement is indicated, and in the foreground workmen of the Utilities Commission Monday tapped a watermain and laid the connection across Monaghan Road. The trench was refilled today, and the temporary traffic barriers were removed. Beyond the cab of the power shovel and towards the rear of the picture is the property bought by Loblaw Groceterias. It will be on the south side of the spacious parking area between the Simpsons-Sears building and the projected Loblaw store. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

UK Planning Stand Pat On Far East

No New Commitment Till Geneva Talks Finished—Churchill

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today Britain will make no commitments on military action in Indo-China in advance of the results of the Geneva conference.

"We have not entered into any new military or political commitments," Churchill told the cheering House.

The announcement was made in reply to a request by Clement Attlee, Labor Opposition leader, for a statement on the meeting of foreign ministers in Paris.

Asking members not to say anything that would render more difficult the "momentous discussions and vital contacts" in progress at Geneva, the prime minister said:

VIOLENT TENSION

"The episode of the siege of the French fortress of Dien Bien Phu, the fate of which now hangs in the balance, creates violent tension in many minds at a time when calm judgment is most needed.

"The timing of the climax of this assault with the opening of the Geneva conference is not without significance.

"But it must not be allowed to prejudice the sense of world proportion which should inspire the conference and be a guide to those who are watching its progress."

URGENCY STRESSED

Attlee asked whether there was any possibility of putting the Indo-Chinese matter ahead of Korea "with a view to getting some kind of standstill arrangement.

"I am sure that is one of the matters which will be considered at Geneva," Churchill replied.

U.K. PLANNING

Appeal For Relief

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP)—City council Monday night appealed to the federal government for financial aid in relief measures. It also laid plans to send a delegation to Ottawa if no assistance is made by early May. A special meeting will be held to pick members of the delegation from the ranks of organized labor, municipal government and possibly the local political associations.

'United Action' Interests 2 Pacific Lands

WASHINGTON (AP) — Australia and New Zealand were reported today to have expressed strong interest in joining the United States in possible "united action" to save Indo-China and Southeast Asia from communism.

Both governments were understood to have stopped short of a firm "yes" only because of Britain's refusal to adopt a similar course pending discussions at the current Geneva conference.

But Australian and New Zealand interest in the plan by State Secretary Dulles is reported strong enough that U.S. officials are hoping the two will persuade Britain to join rather than cause a split in the Commonwealth.

Dulles is said to be pressing his united action plan at Geneva, even though informed U.S. officials regard the fall of the Indo - China stronghold of Dien Bien Phu as only a matter of time.

MORE IMPERATIVE

The loss of Dien Bien Phu to the Red-led Vietminh, they say, would make all the more imperative united action to rescue Indo-China.

Monday night, 12 key members of the Senate and the House of Representatives, both Democrats and Republicans, were given a state department fill-in here on Indo-China and other world trouble points. The briefing by acting state secretary, Walter Bedell Smith, was based on messages sent by Dulles from Paris and Geneva.

Coming away from the briefing, several of the legislators commented that "things look dark all over."

OF VITAL IMPORTANCE

One of them, Senator H. Alexander Smith (Rep. N.J.), said the "next few days will be of vital importance to the West."

Britain's willingness to join Australia, New Zealand and other powers in a united front against Red encroachment in Southeast Asia could open the way for the Free World to reinforce French Union forces with military units of their own.

Molotov, Bidault Confer On Way Discuss Indo-China

By ALAN HARVEY

GENEVA (CP)—South Korea and Communist-controlled North Korea both suggested today that general elections in the divided country should determine the question of unification.

The foreign ministers of the two Korean governments got the Geneva conference off on its quest for a Korean peace formula nine months to the day after the signing of the truce at Panmunjom.

South Korea's foreign minister, Pyung Yung Tai, first speaker today, said that only free elections in Korea will complete the United Nations task there.

WANTS REDS OUT FIRST

For North Korea, Foreign Minister Nam Il proposed elections on the lines of those proposed for Germany by Russia at the Berlin conference in February. The Russian plan was rejected by the West.

Today's session lasted 2¼ hours. Besides the two Koreans, the only speaker was the delegate of Colobia, Eduardo Zuleta Angel, who proposed implementation of UN resolutions on Korea, including one calling for unification by free elections.

The South Korean spokesman said it would be "against logic and reason" to insist that UN forces withdraw from Korea at the same time Chinese Communists pull out. It would be like a burglar dropping his criminal weapon on condition the policeman be disarmed simultaneously.

Monsoon Rains Hit Fortress, Slow Fighting

HANOI (AP)—The long-awaited big seasonal monsoon rains hit Dien Bien Phu and all of north Indo-China today as French and Communist Vietminh artillery kept up their violent duels across the battered ramparts of the besieged fortress.

In its usual brief morning communique, the French high command described the situation at Dien Bien Phu as "unchanged" and said there had been no important land fighting in the last 24 hours.

Since the rebel artillery attack stepped up Sunday, the French have believed that a third all-out Vietminh infantry assault on the shrunken fortress defences might come any time.

Many observers expect the monsoons to hamper or halt Vietminh operations and seriously slow transport of the rebels' war supplies from China. The French hope this will force their enemy to taper off his efforts to overrun Dien Bien Phu's battered and outnumbered defenders.

ALSO HAMPERS FRENCH

But the advent of the big rains, accompanied by violent lightning and thunderstorms, also retards the French, slowing their tanks and armored vehicles.

The heavy clouds and sheets of rain today forced French planes to taper off their heavy attacks on the rebel legions tightly circling the northwest bastion, and the lines of trucks and coolies bringing them food and munitions. Monday United States-supplied Corsair fighter-bombers had swelled the French-piloted air force for the first time for a record day of raids on the Vietminh.

Despite the weather, French transport planes kept up their drops of men, war material and food into the beleaguered fortress.

The Vietminh's heavy anti-aircraft guns again and again threw up curtains of fire at the low-flying transports, and one U.S. civilian pilot, first U.S. casualty of the war, was wounded.

Three miles south of the main Dien Bien Phu defences, at the isolated "Isabelle" position, the French said their patrols have destroyed a long string of Vietminh trenches. The rebels had dug the entrenchments within 50 yards of the outpost.

Death Threat Changed Plans

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — A Mau Mau death threat, it was revealed today, led to recently-announced changes in plans for the visit of Queen Elizabeth to Uganda.

The threat, according to a reliable source, was contained in a letter from a Mau Mau leader, Dedan Kimathi. It said the Queen would be shot if she came to the colony.

The source said the letter was received by Governor Sir Andrew Cohen. It was decided to delete Kampala and cross-country car drives from the Queen's program.

BULLETIN

LONDON — (AP) — Premier Georgi Malenkov reorganized the Soviet government today in a sweeping shakeup that brought in a new chief of the Russian secret police. Malenkov installed eight new ministers and handed over control of the MVD to A. I. Serov, until now No. 2 man in the ministry of interior. Serov took over control of the secret police from Interior Minister S. N. Kruglov, who retained his title.

Plan Crackdown On Gambling, Chief Recalled

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto paper says today that Staff Inspector W. G. Tomlinson, known as the "gambler's foe," has returned to head the anti-gambling branch of the Ontario provincial police in a shakeup which may signal an all-out drive against gambling throughout the province.

The newspaper, in a front-page story, says that Sgt. Clifford von Zubin, acting chief of the branch for 10 months, has been transferred to liquor control investigation and Sgt. J. F. Cronin has been transferred to the traffic division.

Inspector Tomlinson, who formerly headed the anti-gambling details, has been director of the OPP training school here since September, 1953.

The newspaper says it learned that the new anti-gambling drive is aimed particularly at a "syndicate" which is said to control gambling in at least five Ontario centres—Cooksville, near Toronto, St. Catharines, Welland, Niagara Falls and Fort Erie.

It says that repeated visits by members of the anti-gambling branch over the last six months has failed to secure sufficient evidence to justify charges.

Become Parents Of "Swoose"

YORK, England (Reuters) — A swan named Charlie who fell in love with a common farmyard goose today became the father of a "swoose."

The little one looks just like "dad"—long beak, graceful neck and big feet—and he whistles.

For Janey, the farmyard mother, the quaint romance has meant a new home and a devoted husband and child—both of them far more elegant than her sister geese back on the farm.

The romance began when Charlie, a prized possession of the park commission, flew from his lake home to a nearby farm and espied the goose. He was such a devoted lover that the park attendant could not get him back to the park lake.

Challenges Opposition Move Vote Of Confidence

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Premier Smallwood Monday challenged Opposition members in the legislature to move a vote of non-confidence in himself or the government on the red-hot Newfoundland industrial-development issue.

The premier made a statement on the arrest of Dr. Alfred A. Valdmanis, former director-general of economic development, charged with defrauding the government of $150,000.

The Progressive Conservative leader, Malcolm Hollett, later called for a royal commission to investigate Newfoundland's industrial development.

The premier told the legislature he will lay a further charge against Valdmanis "that he secretly collected other very large sums of money from another European company with whom the government had a contract."

The charge now against Dr. Valdmanis, said the premier, is that he secretly collected $150,000 from a European company, under contract to build and erect machinery for the gypsum plant near the west-coast town of Corner Brook.

"My charge is that he collected this large sum of money for himself, and that he succeeded in getting it only by convincing the European company in question that they would never receive the contract unless they paid him this large sum of money."

Mr. Smallwood said the second charge to be laid against Dr. Valdmanis will concern the European company which had the contract to build and erect machinery for the cement mill, also at Humbermouth. He said this charge would be similar to the one under which Dr. Valdmanis was remanded in custody Saturday for eight days.

Suggest Stiffer Penalties In Drunk Driving Cases

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario legislature's select committee on Highway Safety will consider a system whereby a person convicted of drunk driving would be fined and have his licence suspended for a year.

W. M. Nickle (PC-Kingston), chairman of the committee, told the first meeting Monday that persons convicted of drunk driving should be removed from the road. "The seven days in jail doesn't seem to do them much good," he added.

Mr. Nickle said it is difficult to get a conviction of drunk driving.

"The law has been whittled a bit and it is easier to convict a man of driving while impaired."

Penalty for this charge now is a fine and cancellation of licence for three months. He said he would recommend that such drivers be put off the road for six months.

NO RIGHT OF WAY

The chairman also said he favors changing the law so that a driver entering a through highway does so at his own risk. He also suggested that there should be no right of way at corners after midnight when the green and red lights are turned off and only amber lights are left flashing.

John Yaremko (PC—Bellwoods) said applicants for driving licences should be forced to take a physical examination. He also thought that those who have been in accidents should be re-examined.

W. G. Beech (PC—York South) said the committee might also consider some restrictions on drivers who "dawdle along the highways at 20 and 25 miles an hour."

During its session the committee plans to hear briefs from citizens and organizations interested in highway safety. Members said it will probably visit other provinces and several parts of the United States which have conducted safety campaigns.

Russia Replies To A-Proposal

GENEVA (AP) — Soviet Russia replied today to American proposals on President Eisenhower's plan for an atomic pool for peaceful purposes.

The content of the Soviet reply was not disclosed, but informed sources indicated that no important progress had been made in the exchange.

The note was handed to State Secretary Dulles by Foreign Minister Molotov in a half-hour conference at which the two statesmen also discussed problems related to the current Geneva conference on Far Eastern issues.

The Dulles-Molotov talk was the first high-level meeting between Russia and the United States on the atomic question since the two ministers discussed it at the Big Four meeting in Berlin last February.

Dulles had several meetings with Soviet ambassador Georgi Zarubin in Washington on the question.

Eisenhower proposed the atomic pool for peaceful purposes in a speech last Dec. 8 to the United Nations assembly in New York.

Current Cold Spell Record In West

EDMONTON (CP)—The current cold spell set record maximum low temperatures in five western Canada cities Monday.

The mercury struggled to a high of 26 degrees at Edmonton, coldest April 26 since 1907 when 27 was recorded. It was 21 at Calgary, two degrees colder than the former high of 23 in 1948.

Lethbridge reported 27, Medicine Hat 29 and Saskatoon 27.

An overnight storm brought about an inch of snow to Alberta. There now are about 10 inches of snow on the ground at Red Deer.

The weatherman sees no indication of a change. Though the storm branched into Saskatchewan, snow is expected to continue falling most of the day in Alberta.

Power Growing For Khrushchev

NEW YORK (AP) — Nikita S. Khrushchev has been singled out again for an unusual honor, indicating his powerful position in the Soviet set-up.

After Premier Malenkov addressed the Council of Nationalities, Khrushchev spoke to the Council of the Union, considered to be the senior house of the Soviet parliament. It is the chamber of which Khrushchev and Malenkov are members.

Khrushchev's speaking spot would seem to carry the greater prestige. Russian party and government leaders will be quick to catch the hint.

At the last meeting of the Supreme Soviet, in August, only Malenkov gave a keynote address.

Other signs also lead foreign specialists to wonder whether Khrushchev now has as much or perhaps more power than Malenkov.

A few days ago when the party secretary celebrated his 60th birthday he was given a little more in the way of orders and decorations than other Kremlin bigwigs received on their decade milestones.

Heads Fuel Board

OTTAWA (CP)—A. R. Crozier is to be named chairman of Ontario's new five-man provincial fuel board, it was learned today. Mr. Crozier now is fuel controller for the province.

Soviet Staff Returns By Sea

CANBERRA (Reuters) — The entire Soviet embassy staff will leave Australia for Russia by sea this week following the break in diplomatic relations over the Petrov affair, it was officially announced today.

Sir Philip McBride, acting external affairs minister, said two airliners have been chartered by the Australian government to take the embassy staff from Canberra to Perth, where they will board the ship New Australia.

The Kremlin broke off relations because of Australia's decision to grant Vladimir Petrov, former secret police chief at the embassy, and his wife, Evokiya, political asylum here.

The Soviet government has also ordered the Australian embassy staff in Moscow to return home, but has delayed their departure, presumably until the Russian diplomats here have left.

The external affairs department says communications with the embassy in Moscow are no longer possible. A department spokesman added that "the consequences could be dire" if anything goes wrong with arrangements for the Australian staff's departure. The Russians so far have not given them exit visas.

A ROYAL PORTRAIT—Queen Mother Elizabeth poses with her two grandchildren in the gardens of the royal lodge, Windsor, England, shortly before the youngsters left England. Predict Sudbury A-Bomb Target

SUDBURY (CP) — Sudbury, centre of the free world's nickel production, is considered almost a certain A-bomb target in any attack on Canada, the district's civil defence co-ordinator Ted Smyth said Monday night.

He warned the city's civil defence organization that the "whole concept" of any probable attack had been changed by the hydrogen bomb and the development of tactical A-bombs.

The tactical bombs weigh less than 1,000 pounds he said.

"There would be no point in an enemy plane carrying high explosive or incendiary bombs when it could carry an atom bomb just as easily."

Canon To Share In Bride's Estate

BOSTON (AP)—Canon Charles E. Raven, chaplain to Queen Elizabeth, will share in the estate of his bride of less than two weeks, Mrs. Elizabeth Paine Moors Raven, who died in England on their honeymoon, it was disclosed Monday.

The wealthy bride's will, filed for probate, leaves the canon a life income from a trust fund and all her real and personal property in England.

Mrs. Moors and Canon Raven were married in a simple ceremony heard March 24. She died April 6. She was the widow of banker John Moors who left her an estate of approximately $4,000,000.

Protests To Sub-Committee

Army Charges Photograph 'Doctored'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The army charged today that a "doctored" photograph of Army Secretary Stevens with Pte. G. David Schine was introduced in the McCarthy-army hearings.

Joseph N. Welch, army counsel, protested to the Senate investigations sub-committee that the picture had been "shamefully" cut down to make it appear Stevens and Schine had been alone.

Yet, he said, it was introduced "as if it was honest."

The picture was presented to the hearing Monday by Ray H. Jenkins, special counsel to the sub-committee. However, Welch said he is sure Jenkins was "imposed upon." His implication was that the picture had been misrepresented to Jenkins by Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.) or those aiding McCarthy in the present hearings on the senator's dispute with army officials.

NO INTIMATION

Jenkins said the picture had been given to him by one of the parties in the case "adverse to Stevens" as being "the genuine," authoritative picture with no intimation that it had been altered, preferential treatment for Schine.

Welch gave Jenkins what he said was an unaltered picture which showed Stevens, Schine and others, rather than Stevens and Schine alone.

POINTS OF ORDER

McCarthy, examining both pictures, declared Welch had made a "completely false" statement.

Chairman Karl Mundt (Rep. M. D.) accepted the new picture submitted by Welch and said he thought Welch's point of order was "appropriate."

Jenkins, however, said he thought both McCarthy and Welch were making statements rather than points of order, and they should be sworn in to testify about the facts some time later.

McCarthy further demanded that Welch be called upon to produce the photographer who took the picture and show where it was altered.

The row over the photograph launched the fourth day of the hearings.

With little that was new developed in the first three days, McCarthy had injected something of a mystery element overnight by promising, before the hearings close, to produce "information of tremendous importance" from at least one, and possibly three, witnesses. He declined to name them.

Canada Not Attending Indo-China Talks

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said Monday the government is concerned with latest developments in Indo-China but has no plans at present to involve Canada in the Indo-Chinese war.

He also told the Commons that Canada is not participating in talks on Indo-China at the Geneva conference because this country is not directly involved in the fighting.

The prime minister commented briefly on the Indo-Chinese situation in reply to questions by E.D. Fulton (PC—Kamloops) and CCF leader Caldwell.

8 Children Left Homeless In Fire, Parents In Hospital

NAVAN, Ont. (CP)—Eight children of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clement spent Monday night at the homes of neighbors. Their parents are in hospital, their father critically burned and their mother recovering from the birth of her 10th child.

Melvin Clement, at 16 the eldest child, found himself temporarily responsible for the welfare of the other children Monday when his father was burned in a fire that levelled their frame home in this district 12 miles east of Ottawa. His father's condition was reported today by hospital authorities in Ottawa as still "very critical."

Melvin's mother gave birth to her latest child Saturday. "Unless this sets her back," Melvin told a reporter, she should be out of hospital Thursday.

He spent the night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Stevenson. Mrs. Stevenson said she and Melvin planned today to try to see either Mr. or Mrs. Clement for advice on what to do now, if their condition permits visitors.

Other children slept in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hays, two miles from the Stevenson house.

LOST EVERYTHING

The family lost all their belongings in the fire except the night clothing they were wearing.

After the fire, Melvin, with the aid of neighbors and friends found clothing for himself and the youngsters—Gervois, 14; Conrad, 12; Dale, 11; Morris, 8; Johnny, 3; Linda, 2, and Nancy, 1. Susan, 4, died seven months ago.

He then called an uncle, Charles Capron, in Messina, N.Y., who may come here tolay.

The Clements came from Cornwall, Ont., to this district about nine months ago.

Melvin worked at the same Ottawa brick company as his father.

Pearson Pays Courtesy Call At UN Office

By ALAN HARVEY

GENEVA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson today paid a courtesy call to the Canadian headquarters at the United Nations office in Geneva.

He saw Hector Allard, permanent representative of Canada to the European office of the United Nations. This is the office which deals with UN matters relating particularly to Europe.

Earlier Pearson lunched at his hotel with Mr. and Mrs. Allard.

Along with Richard Casey and Clifton Webb, the external affairs ministers of Australia and New Zealand respectively, Pearson attended a morning meeting with senior British officials. It was believed the purpose of the talks was to brief the Commonwealth ministers on Monday night's Big Three meeting arranged by French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault.

FOUGHT IN KOREA

Canada also was represented this morning at a meeting of the 15 United Nations countries which fought in Korea. The Canadian representatives were John Holmes, external affairs department, and Chester Ronning, 60-year-old Canadian minister to Norway and Iceland.

Ronning, a recognized expert on China, is known personally to many members of the Communist Chinese delegation. Monday he shook hands in the council chamber with Chou En-lai, China's foreign minister, who is making his first appearance at an international political conference.

Ronning, born in Hupi province, has spent about a quarter of a century in China.

Divisional Engineer Will Go On Trial

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — Arthur M. Mills, 60, former divisional engineer with the Ontario department of highways, will go on trial here May 31 on charges of breach of trust in connection with reported irregularities in highway construction contracts.

He had been committed for fall trial but to facilitate the work of the Ontario legislature's select committee investigating the highways department a special assize court sitting was arranged.

Four other men charged with conspiracy to defraud the government also face May trial. All former employees of the department, they are Thomas Ayres, 56, of Guelph; Douglas Cutting, 41, and Donald Gandier, 30, of Fort William; and G. W. Turner, 29, of Cochrane.

An order received Monday from the Ontario Supreme Court offices in Toronto authorizes the calling of 13 grand jurors and 70 petit jurors for the special court sitting.

The Weather

Peterborough Temperatures:

Today:
Night low....38 Noon....39
Noon barometer.....29.3

Yesterday:
Highest.....58 Lowest...38

One Year Ago:
Highest.....47 Lowest...37

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office at Toronto at 9:30 a.m.

Synopsis:

Cold easterly winds with cloudy skies and mid-40 temperatures continue across most of Ontario today. A line just south of the Great Lakes separates this cool air from the moist tropical air to the south where mid-80 temperatures were common Monday afternoon. Lifting of the moist air over the cool arctic air caused showers and thundershowers in southern regions and some wet snow of Georgian bay Monday. Present indications are that the warm air will only advance into the most southerly parts of the province, leaving the rest of Ontario in cool air.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Wednesday:

Niagara, Lake Ontario and Haliburton regions; Hamilton and Toronto: Cloudy with widely-scattered showers or thunderstorms today and Wednesday; a few sunny intervals Wednesday; milder today and Wednesday, turning cooler late Wednesday evening; winds northeast 15, increasing to 20 this afternoon, northeast 20 Wednesday. Low tonight and high Wednesday at St. Catharines 50 and 65, Hamilton 50 and 60, Toronto and Trenton 45 and 65, Killaloe 40 and 60. Summary for Wednesday: Scattered showers.

Book Husband For Murder In Drowning

WELLAND (CP) — Bruce MacLean was booked Monday on a murder count in the drowning of his 20-year-old wife four hours after he was released on bail on a charge of obtaining money by false pretences.

The 23-year-old native of Welland was charged after police investigated a claim that MacLean boasted to a girl friend that he drowned his wife in a "perfect crime." He was remanded in custody to April 30 by justice of the peace J. D. Watt.

The victim, Elizabeth Doreen MacLean, died in the Welland river last Aug. 22 while canoeing with her husband.

Sylvia Davies, 20, of Port Colborne, who became engaged to MacLean after the death of his wife, testified at the preliminary hearing of the fraud case Friday that MacLean threatened her.

SAYS UPSET CANOE

She said he told her that he upset the canoe and swam around until his wife, a non-swimmer, had drowned. The death was termed accidental at the time.

MacLean had been released on $800 bail on a charge of obtaining $1,600 by fraud from Miss Davies. She said she gave MacLean the money to pay off a loan on a house after they became engaged but that he spent the money on a car, entertainment and clothing for himself and his three-year-old son.

The girl added at the hearing that MacLean threatened to get rid of her if she persisted in bringing charges against him.

Teachers Charge Board Breaks Wage Contract

SOUTH RIVER, Ont. (CP)—A dispute between South River teachers and the South River public school board broke into the open today when two provincial teacher associations inserted an advertisement in the North Bay Daily Nugget charging a breach of contract by the board.

The dispute centres on the board's action in discarding the salary scheduled for teachers which, the teachers claim, has been in effect as a working agreement since 1952.

In the advertisement the teachers claimed they had not been paid, and new teachers hired, in accordance with the salary schedule. They charged that the board suspended the schedule this year without notifying the teachers, who learned of it through the press.

OPPOSE LOWER SCALE

The teachers said they are not asking for salary increases but only that the board continue to honor the present schedule. The school board offered a new schedule calling for lower salaries.

The disputed schedule calls for salaries of $2,000 to $3,000 for grade teachers. Teachers work towards the maximum by annual salary increases of $100 a year for the first three years and $200 a year from then until $3,000 is reached.

Salaries currently being paid run from $2,100 to $2,600 for grade teachers and $3,600 for the principal.

The school board dropped the former schedule last February. Two weeks ago the board offered a new schedule with a lowered maximum and slower increments.

The teachers rejected the offer which called for a $2,800 maximum and annual increases of $100 per year.

Union Officials Criticize Daley

TORONTO (CP)—Union officials today criticized Labor Minister Daley for saying he won't give union representatives an equal voice with management in industrial-accident prevention programs.

Mr. Daley said Monday he did not intend to change the present system until someone showed him a better one. At present employers are responsible for eliminating hazards in industry.

Charles H. Millard, Canadian director of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) said Mr. Daley's stand was "completely in accord with his general catering to management."

William Jenovese, president of the Toronto and District Trades and Labor Council (AFL-TLC) challenged statements that it was the employer who pays the cost of accident prevention.

"The employer is not paying one five-cent piece," he said.

Beer Parlor Waiters Strike In Edmonton

EDMONTON (CP)—Beer parlor waiters and service personnel at five Edmonton hotels went on strike today in a continuation of a series of walkouts by the Beverage Dispensers and Hotel Service Employees International Union of America (AFL-TLC).

About 70 workers are involved.

Union members at Medicine Hat, Calgary and Lethbridge are also on strike.

The union is asking a reduction in the 44-hour work week to 40 hours with no loss in take-home pay, and increased vacation periods, as recommended by an arbitration board.

Water Piped As Start Made On New Bank

Laying of a water connection across Monaghan Road to the new branch of the Bank of Commerce temporarily blocked bus and other traffic Monday between Lansdowne St. and Edison Ave.

The main is on the east side of Monaghan Road, and the bank is being built on the Simpson-Sears shopping area. Work on the bank is at present in the foundation stage. The location is immediately north of the CNR.

The Simpson-Sears building is approaching the phase at which the laying of exterior brick will soon be begun. Gradual levelling of the expanse of parking area between the Simpson-Sears structure and the property purchased to the rear by Loblaw Groceterias is proceeding. There will also be additional space for cars on the east side of the main building extending toward the White Rose service station at the southwest corner of Lansdowne St. and Monghan Road. It was the first begun, and is now the farthest advanced toward completion.

C. E. Cisco, general manager of Simpson-Sears, informed the Examiner today that K. White has arrived in Peterborough in his appointment as assistant manager of the store, and is taking up residence here.

The water connection was finished Monday afternoon and traffic on Monaghan Road was resumed today.

Man Admits 21 Bad Cheques

Fred Parker, no fixed address, pleaded guilty to 21 cases of uttering false cheques, or receiving money under false pretences throughout Peterborough city and county, Havelock, Guelph, St. Catharines, and Hamilton last summer. He was apprehended by provincial police in Calgary, and returned to Peterborough at the cost of $350.

Today Magistrate W. R. Philp received 10 cheques, four from OPP Gordon Gray, and six from inspector of detectives William A. Clarke, as evidence. Each cheque was identified by Parker, who admitted forging them and receiving merchandise and money from city and county proprietors for them.

Parker, although married and father of three children, was not working and apparently provided for himself and dependents with the money and goods received under these pretensions. The cheques passed in Peterborough were all falsely authorized by a fictional H. Goodman, and most of them were for the amount of $34.60, although this amount was sometimes varied to $36.40.

False cheques entered as evidence today totalled more than $340.

Parker was remanded for sentence until May 3.

Bandits Take $10,000 Loot

DISRAELI, Que. (CP) — Two shabbily-dressed, armed bandits Monday held up a branch of the Banque Provinciale du Canada in this Wolfe county town and fled with more than $10,000.

They made their escape in a car after locking two women employees, who were alone in the bank at the time, in a vault enclosing safety-deposit boxes.

Police said they then looted the cash drawers of bills ranging from $1 to $20 for a total of $10,805 and made off in a battered, early-model car.

The women broke out of the vault using a screw-driver and notified police.

No Trace Of Survivors Sighted At Wreckage

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Northeast command headquarters of the United States Air Force said here today that no trace of survivors has been sighted near the wreckage of a U.S. aircraft down on the east coast of Ellesmere island, north of Greenland.

The wreckage is believed to be that of a navy Privateer aircraft missing since April 16 with nine men aboard.

The wreckage was sighted by a twin-engine search plane from Pepperrell air base here.

The lost plane had aboard eight navy men and a civilian ice observer. It carried arctic survival equipment.

4 New Industries Started In '53 Through District

Ontario reached a new high in industrial growth in 1953. The province welcomed 136 new manufacturing industries, four of them in the Peterborough district, while more than 450 manufacturers including a dozen from city and district, expanded their plants.

Belleville claimed two new industries last year, both of them Canadian-owned. Caraquet Packers Ltd., will manufacture food products, while the Morch Manufacturing Ltd., will be in the tool and die business.

Cobourg contributed the Cobourg Block Tile and Modern Crete Ltd., to the industrial boom, while Lindsay is developing Thermoset Plastics Ltd. Both these industries are also Canadian-owned.

A total of $475,000,000 was invested in Ontario in 1953 either in new manufacturing plants or in expansions of existing plants. Six firms with plants in the city expanded their facilities last year. These were the H. Allison Co., Canada Dry Ltd., the Fisher-Gauge Works, H. B. McGinness Ltd., the Outboard Marine and the A. Steele Co.

In addition several district firms added to their productivity. Major area expansions included American Nepheline Limited in Lakefield, Canadian Flight Equipment Ltd., in Cobourg, Lindsay Antenna Products, and the Mathews Conveyor Co. and the Nicholson File Co., both of Port Hope.

These and other statistics are included in the Ontario Industrial Review, annual publication of W. K. Warrender's provincial department of planning and development. The overall conclusion of the report is that Canada is capable of financing her long-term expansion program and offers the most secure and lucrative setting for investment capital anywhere in the world.

The report notes, however, that there are several large gaps in Canadian manufacturing potential. The United States established more new industries than Canada in Ontario last year, and there is still plenty of room for local development. British investment, too, is a strong competitor and there was a sharp upturn in British investment in Ontario in 1953.

The outlook for 1954, says the report, is promising. It is expected that new capital expenditure in all fields will continue to grow and will likely reach $5,300,000,000, a three per cent increase over 1953.

Since the United States is still investing heavily in Canada, with investment growing at the rate of $500,000,000 annually since 1950, the Canadian dollar is in an exceptionally sound position. The Canadian dollar has been consistenly more valuable than its U.S. countrer part on world markets since March 1952.

On the other hand the report notes a curious anomaly in Canada's manufacturing potential. We import each year more than $3,000,000,000 worth of partially or fully manufactured good. The report urges a higher degree of local fabrication of Canadian raw products.

Typical examples of this anomaly are in aluminum and asbestos manufacturing. Though Canada is one of the world's leading aluminum exporters, in 1953 we imported $10,000,000 worth of aluminum products. Canada has virtually a monopoly on asbestos, but imported $375,000,000 worth of asbestos products.

Statistically, the gross value of manufacturing production reached the staggering figure of $8,867,000,000,000 or better than eight trillion dollars in 1950. Employees in manufacturing increased 35,000 to a total of 635,000 while new capital investment in manufacturing was $475,000,000. Each of these totals represents about 50 per cent of the totals for all of Canada.

Asks Eisenhower To Save Wife

BONN (Reuters) — Nikolai Khokhlov, former captain in the Soviet secret police, today appealed to President Eisenhower to save his wife, Yanina, whom he left behind in Moscow when he gave himself up to American authorities in Frankfurt.

He asked the president to do his utmost to save a woman "whose only guilt is that she followed the commandment "Thou shalt not kill."

United States sources said Khokhlov addressed a similar letter to the Pope.

Charge 3 Men Went Joyriding On Tractor

Charged, among other things, with joyriding on a tractor, April 14, three men were remanded on $3,000 bail in magistrate's court today. They are further charged with breaking and entering five private buildings in Belmont-Methuen township. Properties owned by N. J. Whitney, Arthur Reddon, Ken Marshall, Ralph Durbin, and Robert McQuaig were broken into by the trio.

The three men are Edward Hicks 29, Charles F. Ibey 22, and William Parcels 24, all of Campbelford. They were remanded until May 4 pending further investigation.

Molotov

lomatic activity.

Molotov talked with France's foreign minister, Georges Bidault, on means of getting the Indo-China crisis before the conference. Canada's External Affairs Minister Pearson discussed Korean problems with the chief delegates of Australia and New Zealand, Richard Casey and T. Clifton Webb.

A Reuters report said Pearson, Casey and Webb discussed the possibility of South Korea making "further extreme demands" at the conference.

There was also a morning meeting of the 15 countries represented at the conference which furnished troops for the United Nations effort in Korea. Canada was represented by John Holmes of the department of external affairs and Chester Ronning, minister to Norway.

Before the session, there were conflicting reports of a British-backed French plan for an Indo-China cease-fire.

Eddy Gilmore of The Associated Press quoted a highly informed source that Britain had agreed to back up France in calling for a halt to the Indo-China fighting, but shortly afterwards Reuters news agency quoted high British sources that the report was "ridiculous."

Gilmore's informant said Prime Minister Churchill had telephoned Foreign Secretary Eden from London at least twice Monday night in reaching the decision, but the British source told Reuters that Eden and Churchill had not been in conversation at all.

Molotov called on Bidault this morning at the French minister's request, but it was not known whether Bidault broached French hopes for a halt in the fighting. They were said to have talked about what countries will take part in the discussions on Indo-China at the Far East conference which opened here Monday. Korea is down for first discussions at the conference.

An American source said Molotov saw Dulles chiefly to discuss President Eisenhower's "atomic pool," proposal but other matters might have been discussed.

The Soviet foreign minister's movements highlighted a morning of intense diplomatic activity before this afternoon's second session of the Far East conference.

Eden also conferred with Bidault this morning and later gave a luncheon for him and Dulles.

After talking with Bidault for 40 minutes, Molotov broke off the discussions, saying he had important business with Dulles. The Russian promised to resume his talks with Bidault Wednesday.

Authoritative French quarters told Reuters the hope is talks on settlement of the Indo-China war will open in the conference hall itself in about a week.

The Indo-China talks are as yet in the informal, small-group stage. The 19-country Far Eastern conference agreed at its opening session Monday to take up general debate on Korea first.

France's last - reported terms for an Indo-China cease fire were outlined to the National Assembly March 7 by Premier Laniel. They included Vietminh withdrawal from the kingdoms of Cambodia and Laos, and division of Viet Nam into separate armistice zones for the French and Vietminh.

The premier then said France would insist on holding the fertile, populous deltas of the Red river into the north and the Mekong in the south. This would confine the rebels chiefly to unproductive mountain regions, a division the Communists probably would reject.

Bidault arranged to see the Soviet foreign minister after the Russian failed to show up Monday for an informal talk on Indo-China with the French minister, the U.S. state secretary, Dulles, and Eden.

The Western Big Three reviewed the situation in France's Far Eastern colony and were reported to have agreed on the countries they want at the table when Indo-China comes up.

Diplomatic sources believed Molotov's failure to meet with the three Western ministers indicated a decision against any "Big Four" gatherings while Communist China is represented here.

U.K. Farmers Have It Easier

GUELPH (CP) — Malcolm Hume, one of the four visitors from the Scottish Association of Young Farmers' Clubs who are attending the provincial conference of the Junior Farmers' Association of Ontario, said Monday farm laborers in Scotland have better working conditions than those in Ontario.

Mr. Hume, 22, said that Scottish farm hands receive: £7, about $19.60, for a 5½-day week of eight hours a day; a free house; a ton of potatoes a year and four pints of milk a day.

Stock Market Steady In Moderate Trading

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market was steady to a little lower today in moderate early afternoon trading. Third-hour volume was a moderate 1,350,000.

Papers continued strong but showed a few more weaknesses in narrow-range trading. Constructions, foods, and financial institutions were also ahead, while utilities, liquors, refining oils, and manufacturing slipped. Ford, down $2, and International Petroleum, down $1, were the only features.

Canso Oil Products was up 20 cents in western oils.

Base metals edged lower as juniors and Manitouwadge-area issues showed wide lists of losses. Seniors were a little higher, following Noranda's 75-cent lead.

Junior and holding company strength balanced senior losses as the gold group was steady. McIntyre's 50-cent loss was the feature. Uraniums and Bathurst-area base metals slipped in quiet trading.

Jennifer said it actually was 60 degrees but didn't the thermometers get set back along with the clocks, daddy?

Immigrants May Reach 1951 Record

Half New Arrivals Plan To Settle Somewhere In Ontario

TORONTO (CP)—The arrival of immigrants in Ontario this year will at least equal last year's number and may approach the record set in 1951, imigration officials indicated Monday.

During the first two months of 1954 the number of British immigrants increased by 69 per cent over the corresponding period last year. And of the total number arriving in Canada, 56 per cent gave Ontario as their destination, compared with 53.4 per cent for all of 1953.

Last year, 90,120 persons gave the province as their destination, 14,722 fewer than the record 104,842 in 1951.

Police Jail Man For Sleeping Friend's Cottage

LINDSAY (ENS)—A charge of breaking and entering laid against a Lindsay man by provincial police last Friday was dismissed in magistrate's court here Monday when it was shown the accused was a friend of the owner of the Pleasant Point cottage where he was found on Friday.

Frank McMillan, 56, of Lindsay, was acquitted on the charge after Mrs. Florence Clayton, of Lindsay, told the court she wished it withdrawn. Evidence was adduced that MacMillan was found by Mrs. Clayton and her daughter asleep on a couch in their cottage when they arrived for the weekend last Friday night.

NEVER THOUGHT

Police were called to take care of him but Mrs. Clayton told the court she never thought a charge would be laid after Constable Morris Baker answered her call and took McMillan back to Lindsay. McMillan was locked up for the night and the charge laid but the officer said that McMillan told him the next day he was a friend of the cottage owner. Constable Baker said he might not have laid the charge had he known this.

Magistrate Moore counselled the police to avoid repetition of the case to make sure complainants signed informations when criminal charges of this nature are laid in future.

3 Dead, 60 Injured In Train Collision

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Three persons were reported killed and 60 injured today when a German commuter train sideswiped the Scandinavian express at nearby Hanau.

German railroad administration headquarters identified the dead as two trainmen and a woman passenger. All were Germans.

Fifteen of the injured were reported badly hurt.

Churchill said Foreign Secretary Eden made it clear to his Western colleagues at Geneva that Britain will be ready to play its full part in supporting them in order to promote a stable peace in the Far East. This brought further cheers from the House.

HOLD CONFERENCE

French ambassador Rene Massigli conferred urgently today with Prime Minister Churchill on the Indo-China crisis and on a reported Anglo-American decision ruling out immediate big-scale intervention.

The envoy, according to diplomatic informants, gave the British leader an up-to-the-minute picture of the battle of Dien Bien Phu, now under siege of the Communist Vietminh.

They said he also told Churchill the views of Premier Laniel on France's terms for a cease-fire in Indo-China and on the consequences of the fall of Dien Bien Phu.

Shyness In Your Child May Indicate Maladjustment

Do you smother your child or mother him? Do you protect him from all life's vicissitudes, shelter him from too-rough playmates and soothe away his tears every time he gets hurt?

Or perhaps you have read a book or two and realize that smothering can be permanently damaging? Do you then decide that your child must be independent, tough-minded and equipped with adult thought processes at all costs? Do you belittle your child's every effort, without praising him for what he has accomplished.

Or perhaps you have read several books, and feel that you are guilty of no child-raising errors. And yet you are worried because your boy often seems more interested in collecting seashells, drawing pictures or dissecting flowers than mingling with other children.

If you are a smotherer, your child may well become a neurotic adult and is already a seriously disturbed child emotionally. Not having learned to cope with the less pleasant aspects of life, he is terrified of all social contacts.

If you are a nagger and belittler, your child will withdraw more and more into himself, feeling that he is a failure, a misfit. His real talents will become submerged as he becomes more and more afraid to express himself for fear of rebuke or ridicule.

FEW WORRIES

But if you are the mother of the third child, you have very little to worry about, except possibly how to finance some university expenses in another 15 years. The aloof child, so long as he is pursuing interests which are, to him, constructive, is behaving in a perfectly normal way. He mixes when he feels the urge, and stays by himself when he doesn't.

These three types of shyness were illustrated in a film shown to members of Peterborough Rotary Monday. Commenting on them was Dr. Tom Currier, president of the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association. Said Dr. Currier: "There's a principle behind this film—that of picking out children not well-adjusted and helping them early."

The aim of the various branches of the Mental Health Association Dr. Currier continued, is to foster public awareness of the scope and insidiousness of mental sickness, a respecter neither of age or persons.

"We have to stop talking in hushed whispers" about mental illness, said the speaker. He stressed the necessity for uncovering emotional disturbances among young children in order to reduce the total of disturbed adults. There are, he said, as many patients in mental hospital beds as in all others combined.

A point stressed in the film and amplified by Dr. Currier was that shyness can cover a multitude of real and imaginary troubles. Most seriously disturbed of the trio was the smothered child, Jimmy. His mother had to be shown that cloying love dulls a child's social awareness, makes him flee his social responsibilities.

Anna, the withdrawn youngster, became more integrated when understanding teachers urged her to take the lead in the things she could do best. Then, when more self-assured members of her class began to discuss their fears, she came to feel that she was not so unique after all.

Robert, the independent type, continued to pursue his semi-solitary way. But he was developing his innate talents, talents which will undoubtedly pay off whem he is older.

Psychologists learned of all three children through a sociometric test, a test which appears to be a popularity contest but is actually designed to show degrees of social integration. Children are asked to choose with whom they would attend various functions, and those whose names appear on no lists are the problem children. They are necessarily those who cause the teacher most trouble.

Mental health is "everybody's concern," said Dr. Currier. This is particularly true at this time of year he said, for National Mental Health week begins May 2. During this week citizens should focus attention on eliminating public misconceptions about mental illness, and should encourage those emotionally disturbed, particularly children, to see psychologists or psychiatrists.

Lay people as well as doctors and professional men and women can and should take an interest in this problem, said the speaker. He made particular mention of a public meeting scheduled for the Queen Mary auditorium May 4. Speaker will be Dr. S. R. Laycock of Madoc, former dean of education at the University of Saskatchewan.

Dr. Currier also called for a large lay attendance at the fifth World Mental Congress to be held in Toronto August 14 to 21. This is the second such meeting since the war and the first to be held in Canada.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. Lloyd Thompson, as one of the outstanding medical men in the field of mental health. He is a 1940 Queen's graduate and a past president of the Peterborough County Medical Association. Dr. Currier was thanked by Dr. R. K. Magee.

In the absence of president Paul Irwin, vice-president Tom Taylor presided.

Mrs. Brown Presides Norwood United WA

NORWOOD (ENS)—The Women's Association of the United Church held their April meeting at the home of Mrs. S. S. Breckon with an attendance of 29.

In the absence of the president, the first vice-president, Mrs. H. Brown presided, opening the meeting with the hymn, "Crown Him with many Crowns".

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Reports from various secretaries were read. After the business arising out of the minutes was discussed, offering was then taken and dedicated.

The meeting was then turned over to the group leaders Mrs. R. Gardner and Mrs. R. Brown. Mrs. Brown read the hymn, "The Head that once was crowned with thorns".

Mrs. W. Stares gave the Bible reading which was followed by a prayer given by Mrs. R. Girven. Mrs. D. Hall gave a reading, "The Risen Christ". Mrs. J. Knox rendered a solo, "Alone", accompanied on the piano by Miss P. Weir.

Mrs. R. Ferguson gave the topic, "The Resurrection of Christ".

Mrs. Brown thanked Mrs. Breckon for having the meeting in her home and also those who contributed to the program.

The meeting was closed by the singing of, "Christ the Lord is Risen Today," and the Mezpah benediction. The group in charge served candy and a social half hour was enjoyed.

Roseneath YPU Learns Of British Cathedrals

ROSENEATH (ENS)—"Cathedrals in England' was the topic of the adress given by Mr. Fred G. Lewis, guest speaker at the April meeting of Roseneath YPU.

Mr. Lewis recently returned home from visiting England and while there visited many Cathedrals. Included among the Cathedrals he described were St. Paul's Cathedral, Salisbury Cathedral, and Westminster Abbey.

The meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Carew. The president Miss Adele Varcoe presided with Miss Betty Carew as pianist.

George Moore gave the scripture reading. Miss Mary Coyle presented an "Easter Meditation".

Final plans were made for the play "Where's Grandma?" to be presented by the Fenella YPU in the LOL hall on April 30. Home-made candy will be sold.

The hostess assisted by her daughters, Misses Betty and Nancy Carew served refreshments.

Blames Diesel Fumes For Lung Cancer

BRISTOL, England (Reuters)—A radiologist suggests that fumes from Diesel engines in vehicles are responsible for the steady increase in lung cancer.

This increase followed closely the curve of the change-over from gasoline engines to diesel engines in public transport, Dr. B. Handley Howell of the Weston-Super-Mare Hospital told Rotarians Monday.

He called for action in combatting diesel oil fumes which, he said, are far more dangerous than gasoline fumes.

4-H Calf Club Tours Farm, Elects Officers

ROSENEATH (ENS) — Thirty-eight members of the Roseneath 4-H Calf Club, ranging in age from twelve to twenty-one years inclusive, with their local leader, Charlton Grigg, chartered a bus and visited many places and farms of interest on a trip, the latter part of the week.

The Roseneath 4-H Calf Club is a new project of Roseneath Agricultural Society and the president, A. J. Campbell was also along on the trip. Also on hand was a committee from the society: Delbert Varcoe, Edgar Braithwaite and Ross McCracken.

Sidney McDonald assistant agricultural Representative of Brighton was another passenger.

Leaving Roseneath at 8:30 a.m. some of the places visited were Garnet Richard's Seed Cleaning plant, Bowmanville Ideal Dairy plant, Oshawa; a tour of Oshawa new city hall; the Beath farms, Elmcroft Farms, McLaughlin Farms and other farms.

On the bus trip home Mr. Sidney McDonald conducted the election of officers of the club for 1954.

President, Donald Miller; vice pres., Marie Brill; sec.-treas., Freida McCracken; publicity, Lloyd Oliver.

The Roseneath Agricultural Society sponsored the trip and paid for the bus.

President In Charge Trent River WA Meet

TRENT RIVER (ENS)—Mrs. Frank Openshaw, president, held a group meeting of the Trent River United Church Women's Association on Wednesday afternoon in the Community hall.

The meeting opened with the "Theme Song" followed by a hymn.

Mrs. Riley gave a paper on the theme "What A Friend We Have In Jesus".

Scripture reading was given by Mrs. Ray Brownsell. The devotional period was led by Mrs. T. Iliffe, prayer by Mrs. Frank McLaughlin. The motto, read by Mrs. Bert Robson.

Five cards were sent out by the secretary to the sick and bereaved.

Mrs. Frank McLaughlin will be hostess for the May meeting, and Mrs. Frank Openshaw the June hostess.

Members decided to hold a bazaar and bake sale early in July.

Mrs. Harry Mann, convener, presented the following program: Sing song led by Mrs. Bert Robson. Readings were given by Mrs. Harold Thompson and Mrs. Bert Robson. Piano instrumental by Margaret Glenn.

Two contests were played and winners were Mrs. George Longmuir and Mrs. Frank McLaughlin.

Fishy Fox

OTTAWA (CP)—Everyone goes fishing in the spring—even foxes, according to conservation officer Percy Hedlam.

Hedlam said today he recently found a fox making a successful catch of suckers in a stream near Kemptville, Ont., 30 miles south of here.

He stopped his car when he saw a fox jumping back and forth from a rock in midstream of a creek, investigated, and found the fox was fishing.

"He would grab a sucker in his mouth, crunch it and place it on the rock. He would grab another from the water and repeat the performance. I saw him catch four fish this way.

"Then I started my car; as I moved closer the fox grabbed one big sucker in his mouth and took off."

CAMPBELLFORD SAFETY PATROLS —Vern Rose, president of the Campbellford Lions Club, pledges the support of the Lions in sponsoring the safety patrols as he speaks at a ceremony on Monday at the Public School. With him on the platform are (left to right): Father J. C. Moloney representing the Separate School; Constable Don Mackay of Peterborough; William Rothwell, principal of the Public School; Chief Constable George Rose, "boss" of the patrols; F. M. Rutherford representing the council, and Harold K. Peters, chairman of the Boys' and Girls' committee of the Campbellford Lions Club who sponsored the project. In the lower photo, Barbara Collins, a Grade 8 student, stops traffic on Bridge St. at the Ranney St. intersection while school children cross safely on their way home for lunch. First School Safety Patrols Started In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The school safety patrols, sponsored by the Campbellford Lions Club got under way here today, when they were officially launched in a ceremony at the public school on Monday afternoon.

Councillor F. M. Rutherford spoke on behalf of the council, officially sanctioning the movement.

The patrols, under the guidance of Chief Constable George Rose, have been about two months in the planning.

The Campbellford Lions Club undertook to sponsor the patrols and put them on a sound footing. They have raised money to supply the movement with white belts, raincoats, stop signs and badges as well as large black and yellow rubber cones supporting signs to warn traffic.

SUPPLY GEAR

During the ceremony on Monday, Harold Peters, chairman of the Boys' and Girls' Committee of the club, presented the Rev. J. C. Moloney of the Separate School, and William Rothwell, principal of the Public School, with all the necessary equipment to start the patrols, including 18 raincoats, 50 white belts and a number of stop signs and badges. The club has pledged itself to supply all future equipment the patrols might need.

Vern Rose, president of the Lions Club, acted as master of ceremonies at the dedication, and introduced Constable Don Mackay of Peterborough, who was on hand to see the patrols start. He has visited the town several times in an advisory capacity, and was largely responsible for getting the patrols started. He worked in co-operation with Chief George Rose of Campbellford.

Chief Rose spoke briefly, telling the members of the patrols that he was proud of the way they conducted themselves while they were on duty for the first time during the day. He thanked the council and staff of the schools for the co-operation he had received in getting the project started, and pledged his support in the future.

Cliff Costello of the Ontario Safety League visited the school for the occasion and said he thought the organization at the Campbellford schools was one of the finest he had seen in the province.

The patrols consist of 45 members, who operate in shifts guiding children across the main intersections on their way to and from school. Chief Constable Rose will keep the patrols in operation.

Osgoode Farmers Prove Best Debaters

GUELPH (CP)—Beverly Hunt and Orville Mussell, both of Osgoode in Carleton county, won the Ontario junior farmers debating championship Monday night.

They took the affirmative in a debate against Marie Sunders and George Mowat of Haldimand county.

Subject of the debate was "resolved that an expanding foreign market for agriculture products is essential to the prosperity of Ontario agriculture." The debate was held in conjunction with Ontario junior farmers convention here.

New Stamps To Go On Sale June 10

OTTAWA (CP) — New stamps bearing the portrait of the Queen which is shown on the new five-cent stamp will go on sale June 10.

The post office department announced Monday that the stamps will be in denominations of one, two, three, four and six cents. Colors will be the same as those denominations in current use—brown, green, red, purple and orange, respectively.

Promise Aid In Pollution Loss

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal-provincial financial aid to municipal ities along polluted rivers was proposed Monday night in the Commons.

John A. Charlton (PC—Brant-Haldimand) said that municipalities cannot afford the costly sewage disposal plants required to keep rivers clean.

Speaking in the budget debate, he suggested a plan of federal-provincial assistance for that purpose.

He said that along the Grand river in southwestern Ontario, communities are dumping raw sewage into the river. Children no longer could swim there, but Brantford, Dunnville and other municipalities relied on the river for their water supply.

Fish caught around the mouth of the river were being rejected by dealers in Montreal and New York because of their flavor. This had meant a loss to one fisherman of $1,500 in two weeks.

Plan Inquest Probe Canoe Drowning Death

LINDSAY (ENS)—Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan, QC, has announced that an inquest will be held into the death of 58-year-old Pat Lamore, of Lindsay, by drowning last Thursday.

Lamore died in shallow water while trying to make his way to shore on the Scugog river some four miles north of Lindsay while he was riding a canoe with Gordon McCabe, also of Lindsay. McCabe collapsed on reaching shore and was unable to help Lamore through the marshy river flats.

Lamore's body was recovered by provincial police on Friday morning.

Invite Lady Cleric Address Hastings WA

HASTINGS (ENS)—Mrs. Ross Burnham was hostess to the Evening Auxiliary for their Easter Thank offering meeting.

The treasurer reported that $28.15 had been sent in to the Presbyterial Treasurer. This report was seconded by Mrs. C. Skinkle.

A paper on Christian Citizenship was given by Mrs. Cecil Oliver.

Donations for the Layette to be sent to Labrador are to be in for the May meeting.

The secretary read a card of thanks from the Clifford Scriver family and a letter from Constance Wagar, missionary in Trinidad.

Mrs. Burnham reported that she had been able to secure Miss Mieriam Collins ,assistant minister at Bridge St. United Church Belleville to the guest speaker at the Mother and Daughter banquet on May 7th.

The worship was in charge of the following committee. Mrs. Clifford Skinkle, Mrs. J. Jones, Mrs. Alton Thompson and Mrs. Cecil Oliver.

Members of the Choir, Mrs. C. Scriver, Mrs. C. Skinkle, Mrs. R. Hess, Mrs. J. Jones and Misses Elaine and Marilyn Hess sang, "At The Cross", Mrs. E. Hess sang, "In the Garden", Mrs. J. M. Baker was the accompanist.

Mrs. Lovelace of Roseneath gave a paper on "Love".

100,000 Fishermen Will Take To Woods

TORONTO (CP)—More than 100,000 fishermen are expected to take to the woods May 1 when the trout season opens throughout Ontario, the lands and forests department said Monday.

Department experts say that probably the best speckled trout fishing in Ontario is in the vicinity of the Albany river, nearly 1,000 miles north of Toronto.

Suicide Verdict Returned Hanging Death Of Boy, 13

COBOURG (ENS)—Death from his own hand with no blame attached to any member of the staff, was the verdict of a coroner's jury last night investigating the death of a 13-year-old Ontario training school boy, who was found dead on April 19 at the school, hanging by his belt strap from the top of a double-decker bunk in the dormitory. Verdict of the jury was as follows:

NO NEGLIGENCE

"We find that he met his death by his own hands by placing a belt around his neck and securing same to the top of a double bunk, thereby causing strangulation. We, the jury, find that no negligence can be attached to the staff of the Ontario training school and that supervisor Robert Mann is to be commended for the interest shown the deceased prior to his death."

Superintendent of the training school, W. T. Little, said that the deceased came to the school in January, 1952, was released to his home before Christmas of 1953, but was returned to the school in April of this year because of an offence. It appeared that the boy felt that he was not wanted at home, and wanted to come back to the school, the superintendent said he had been informed.

"One of the boys in the school reported around 8.00 p.m. on April 19 that someone was dead and the superintendent ran to the room and found two of the supervisors trying to revive the boy. Dr. Fred Blackwell, of Cobourg, was called and after more than an hour of artificial respiration it was found that further efforts to revive him were fruitless.

Robert Mann, the supervisor, testified that he found the boy hanging by his pants belt. He had some days before appeared depressed and he had tried to cheer him up. One of the inmates of the school told of finding the boy crying by himself and when he asked him what was the matter the other boy said in reply that nobody liked him.

Several of a party of boys with whom the deceased had been playing a half-hour or so before he was found dead, told of seeing him slip quietly out of the room and apparently head for his own dormitory. Just who found him hanging in the room was not established due to the confusion which arose after someone saw his lifeless body hanging by his pants strap. Measurements indicated that the boy had to sag his knees in order to put his whole weight on the strap which was around his neck.

Insanity In Ontario

Provincial Government statistical reports are usually late in reaching the public, so it is that the figures on mental hospitals and health services in Ontario just issued are for the calendar year 1952. They reveal that the rate of recognized insanity in Ontario continues to be high. The number of patients in mental hospitals and approved homes increased to 18,393 over 17,852 in 1951, but this in fact was a slight decrease in the rate according to each 100,000 of the population. However, the number of persons "on the books"—that is under the direct and indirect care of the Ontario Mental Hospitals—is the highest absolutely and in ratio to the population that it has ever been. There were 20,378 such mental patients, a rate of 428 out of each 100,000 people in the province. That is, one person in 234 in Ontario is officially recognized as a mental case. It is one of the highest rates of recorded insanity in the civilized world.

* * *

The detailed statistics show that the high Ontario rate is not due to congenital idiocy or other mental deficiencies of a physical nature. Nearly three-quarters of the mental patients in Ontario suffer from some kind of psychosis; they were normal, they have become so abnormal as to be judged insane. For instance, there were nearly twice as many cases of schizophrenic disorders as there were of mental deficiency without psychoses. All this in a wealthy, well-ordered, prosperous Province in a good land. Is it thus that Ontario is reaching the happiness and health its future should hold—a constantly rising rate of insanity due to unhappiness, strain and psychic woes?

* * *

Next week is "Mental Health Week" in Ontario. The figures given above show the need for concern about the mental health of the men, women and children of this province, and the necessity for the care and treatment offered by mental hospitals and mental health clinics (such as the new one established in Peterborough.) There is also a need for a change in society or our pattern of living. One in which so much mental disorder is created is apparently not a good, healthy, happy and easy society.

* * *

Our readers may be interested in a few more statistics. Although there were slightly more females than males under the care or supervision of Ontario's Mental Hospitals, the number of male patients exceeded the number of female patients in the usually most active and creative period of life, the age groups from 5 to 50. (In this category, there were slightly more women than men suffering mental illness between the ages of 40 and 44.) Over the age 50 women under treatment or supervision exceeded men. The disparity increased sharply with age, the rate lowering for old men, increasing for old women: The obvious reason is that men do not live as long as women, and therefore fewer of them fall into senility and have senile psychoses.

* * *

What of mental health in this county and city? The figures reflect an average Provincial condition. The number of patients in residence in Ontario Mental Hospitals who come from Peterborough city and county was 191, a rate of 303 per 100,000, the total population here being taken as 63,000 that year. The Provincial average of patients in residence was 386.

* * *

There seems to be no demographic pattern. The rate for crowded centres is sometimes higher, sometimes lower, than for frontier counties and districts. York (including Toronto) and Wentworth (including Hamilton) had higher rates than Peterborough county, but lower ones than Lennox and Addington, and Glengarry counties (the last-named had one of the highest in Ontario). Lindsay people will be interested to know that there were, in proportion to their populations, more mad people in Victoria County than in Peterborough County. The rate of insanity (judged from admissions to Ontario Mental Hospitals) in Ottawa was higher than in Toronto. This may be no surprise to Toronto people, including Queen's Park wallahs who would, we are sure, not cook the books to show how much saner they are than people on Capital Hill.

In a column of "Horticulture Hints" the Kingston Whig-Standard advises: "Dig your rose bed eighteen inches deep. Put top soil in the bottom with lots of humans". Roses, roses, all the way.

Arbitrary Judical Power

We have frequently commented in these columns about the arbitrary power which is vested in judges, when they take action for contempt of court. A recent and striking example of this took place in Vancouver, in connection with the trial for murder, and the subsequent death sentence pronounced upon William Gash. A columnist in the Vancouver Province, Eric Nicol, wrote an article condemning capital punishment, and with special reference to this case, and as a result Mr. Justice J. V. Clyne fined the newspaper $2,500 and Nicol $200.

What particularly concerns us in this matter is that there is no appeal against the judge's decision—no question of reconsideration by another court which is not directly concerned in the matter. Mr. Justice Clyne felt that he and his court had been affronted, and by the law of the land he can impose what punishment he likes upon those who have thus offended him. So far as we know, this is the only remaining relic of the extraordinary and uncontrolled powers which courts at one time possessed. We think that such powers should be reconsidered at once. Specifically, we think that the right of appeal should be granted in cases where sentence has been passed for contempt.

Mr. Nicol's article was not one with which we would agree. It was expressed with a vehemence which, in our opinion, defeated its own end. Hanging, he said, was legalized murder, but the guilt of a hanging spread through the whole of the society which employed courts to impose the death sentence. Somewhat too theatrically, Mr. Nicol declared that he felt himself guilty in the hanging of Gash. But whatever the rights and wrongs of this special article, it must be pointed out that for two centuries the press has been a means of reforming public opinion, particularly in matters relating to the punishment of criminals; is this power always to be exercised under the virtual license of judges who may feel themselves affronted by what is said?

Courts must have the power to punish contempt, for courts must be defended against affront and impudence. But we think that in cases where the alleged contempt takes place outside the courtroom, there should be a right of appeal against sentences imposed for that offence. Certainly the fines imposed in this case are very heavy, when we remember that they were imposed for a sincere expression of an opinion which is held by many people. Why is there no provision for a calmer second opinion on this matter?

Public Ear On Private Talk

The grand confrontation between Senator McCarthy and officials of the United States Army has begun. The marble pillars and the chandeliers of the big Senate caucus room in Washington are put in the shade by Klieg lights fixed on the dome of Senator McCarthy and the other disputants. The stirring, high political drama, is taking place under gold-fish bowl conditions; by courtesy of radio and television the squabble and squalor of the case are aired in the living-rooms of a million homes. Senator McCarthy wanted the publicity; he has got it.

He is not the only American with a taste for airing private laundry in public. The House of Representatives has passed a Bill sponsored by the Eisenhower administration to allow evidence in court which has been obtained by tapping private telephone wires, in cases involving what they call "national security".

Wire-tapping has been a device employed by Federal agencies for many years, even though the Federal Communications Commission in 1943 outlawed it. The Federal Courts have always refused to admit evidence obtained by such means. Now they must do so, under certain conditions. We agree with the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes that wire-tapping is a "dirty business". Does it not prepare the way for a Gestapo, encourage private snooping and permit the infringement of the private rights of individuals? It is not a healthy national condition which breeds McCarthyism and legalizes wire-tapping. Both smack of abuses to be found under totalitarian regimes where snooping is the oil of the wheels of state and slanderous accusation the cogs.

Toronto In An Hour

Only thirty-five years ago motorists intending a family Sunday visit to Port Hope left in the morning, lunched on the way, arrived, allowed themselves a couple of hours in the town, and departed so as to get back before dark. Port Hope is 28 miles from Peterborough. Last Sunday an ambulance took an ailing boy from Peterborough Civic Hospital to the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto in an hour and fourteen minutes; distance, 95 miles. (The ambulance had a police escort to lead the way.) When the new highway branch south of the city is opened and paved, it seems as if Toronto will be only an hour distant by road. The metropolis is getting too close for comfort; first thing we know even Peterborough will be considered a Toronto suburb. May Time spare us that fate.

TOWN OF METAL

Male Mixture Of Work & Sport

By PATRICK O'DONOVAN
(In Sydney, Australia)

THE TOWN of Broken Hill is not beautiful and it stands alone in the desert. Its life is a wholly male mixture of work and sweating sport, of gambling and beer drinking. Its citizens have a fierce and satisfied pride. Money is the least of their problems. It can claim to be the birthplace of Australia's heavy industries. It deserves to be known wherever man cares about the relationship between management and workers.

✧ ✧ ✧

BROKEN HILL is the site of a fabulous vein of ore, from which more than seventy-two million tons have been extracted; a vein in which lead, zinc and silver is mixed, and whose centre arches towards the surface under the hill. The town at the foot of the hill stands on a vast and tumbled plain, the colour of dried blood, where the trees are spidery as a diagram or arteries and twenty acres can support one sheep for a year. The town is dominated by a line of towering mine heads and machine houses that stand on the precious hill like cathedrals above a medieval city. Its houses are small and do not look as if they were built to last and its streets are wide as if there was land to waste; its air is oven-hot and often abrasive with dust; its whole life depends on the great mines that rule its skyline.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN THE PAST, it had more than its share of Australia's fiercely radical labour history. There were long strikes and lock-outs when the town lived on credit, potatoes and onions. Its citizens still tend to ask "what's the catch?" when a company subsidises a clubhouse. They call their working bosses by their first names and they sell their work as jealously as a miser his gold. Yet, to get a job in Broken Hill today, you must either have been born there, have lived there eight years or have married a girl from the town; for it must be richest town in Australia, and men compete to work there as if it were for the membership of some exclusive club. One male in three of its thirty-three thousand inhabitants runs a motor car.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT STARTED to become a desirable place in 1935, when the price of lead was twenty Australian pounds a ton. (The figures are all in Australian pounds, which are just short of twenty-five Australian shillings to the pound sterling). The managements and the unions agreed to a basic wage of four pounds ten shillings a week and sixpence per shift for every pound a ton that the price of lead rose above sixteen pounds a ton. Prices fluctuated greatly: sometimes there was no bonus, and once the price of lead rose to over one hundred and fifty pounds. The price today is approximately one hundred pounds a ton. The basic wage is thirteen pounds one shilling and sixpence a week, which is sixteen shillings and sixpence higher than elsewhere in the country, and the weekly bonus each man gets is ten pounds ten shillings. Anyone who works on the lease gets the bonus — it goes even to men who come from Melbourne to lay carpets. It is common for a working man to be paid twenty-five pounds a week.

✧ ✧ ✧

ONCE every three years there is a meeting between the representatives of the four managements and the union which is now virtually independent of any outside control. Wages, hours and conditions (for instance, thirty-five hours a week for underground workers) are settled, and it is accepted that, whatever happens, they remain unchanged for the next three years. As a result, the union, once as suspicious as a wildcat and quite as fierce, now almost co-operates with the management. And the management, once something like the callous capitalists of the old cartoons, now tries to anticipate the workers' needs and has transformed a corner of the desert with trees and irrigation, with clubs and parks and bowling greens. There is something like peace in Broken Hill.

✧ ✧ ✧

OF COURSE, this is only possible because the mining companies are making most handsome profits and can afford the overheads represented by high wages and short hours. Yet the solution is a very Australian one. It differs from the American solution. There is a gulf between "staff" and workers and few of the miners ever seem eager to change their status once they have begun work. The miners would prefer to bargain and get their wages by groups right rather than win them by individual effort. It is a form of socialist solution, where the accent is not on maximum efficiency but on what is owed to a man because of his demands. It is extravagant of the national economy; it is certainly not the conventional solution for a young country still, in theory, struggling to push back the frontier. But this is the way that Australia feels, and here a high dividend can cause as much resentment as a dirty trick.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT TODAY, the iron-roofed town, shaking in the heat or swathed in dust, prospers as few towns prosper. The pubs close when the landlord chooses; there are a dozen gambling games of a Saturday, where men bet their wages on the toss of polished pennies; women dress with a crisp precision, and the new houses at the edge of town are as bright as advertisements. It has the air of a frontier mining town. It might be America, or Rhodesia, or even Israel. It is a hard place, full of men who make great soldiers and to whom the supreme virtue is loyalty. A town walled by its exclusive pride, where no man dares to consider himself any better than anyone else.

Need For 'Hot Pilots'

(Windsor Star)

Aviation owes much to daring men who were not afraid to experiment. Spins and other early killers were eliminated by pilots who worked out, and won, Now there is a new call for men to find and remove another aeronautical hazard.

Destruction of three British Comet jetliners on high altitude flights has created the suspicion they became victims of a "death ceiling" while climbing at full throttle, six miles up. "Hot pilots" who will put this theory and others to the test are required, with little doubt that the volunteers will turn up in more than sufficient numbers.

All available safety precautions will be taken, but a considerable region of hazard will remain. When the testing is over, it probably will be found that the "hot pilots" have made another important contribution to flying safety.

The British Monarchy

Sovereign And Ministers

By THE RIGHT HON. HERBERT MORRISON, C.H., M.P.

(A condensation from "Government and Parliament: A Survey From Inside" to be published shortly by the Oxford University Press. Mr. Herbert Morrison, member of the British War Cabinet, and former Foreign Secretary and Lord President of the Council in the Attlee Labour Government, is Deputy Leader of Her Majesty's Opposition in the United Kingdom. This is the first of two articles, printed by special arrangements with the publishers.)

PERHAPS the best statement of the relationship between the Monarchy and Parliament in Britain is given in the recital of every act of Parliament: "Be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:-"

It will be observed that whilst the enactment is by the Queen, it is made effective not only by and with the advice of both Houses of Parliament, but by and with their consent. Moreover, the authority for the statute is clearly stated to be that of Parliament. The assertion of parliamentary responsibility could not be more clear, yet it is put in the best possible way from the point of view of the dignity of the Sovereign.

The most important political act of the Sovereign is appointing the Prime Minister and commissioning him to form a Government. Nowadays, the choice is usually obvious. The essential point is that the new Prime Minister should be able to command a majority in the House of Commons, and not merely be able to form a Government, for the Government cannot live without parliamentary majority. In most cases there is little or no doubt who should be sent for; there was no doubt that it was the leader of the Labour Party after the substantial Labour electoral victory of 1945. The General Election of 1950 gave Labour an overall majority in the House of Commons. It was six, but it was still right that Mr. Attlee should again be Prime Minister. And when the election of 1951 resulted in a small Conservative overall majority though somewhat larger than that of the 1950 Labour majority — it was equally right that the Leader of the Conservative Party, Mr. Churchill, should be sent for.

Even if a Prime Minister dies in office the choice of his successor can be reasonably obvious, though careful consideration would no doubt be given to the likelihood of the new Prime Minister being acceptable to a majority in the House of Commons. It was often the case that the Chancellor of the Exchequer was generally recognized as the Prime Minister's deputy; thus Mr. Asquith succeeded Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman as Liberal Prime Minister upon the latter's death in 1908.

Including and since Mr. Churchill's War Government, the position of Deputy Prime Minister has been publicly announced, though not consitutionally recognized; the holder has not been (though he could be) the Chancellor of the Exchequer (Mr. R. A. Butler, Chancellor of the Exchequer, was acting Prime Minister during a period in the summer of 1953 when both Sir Winston Churchill and Mr. Anthony Eden were absent through illness.) The Deputy Prime Minister might be specially considered by the Sovereign, though there would be no obligation to do so, especially as I gather that the Sovereign does not recognise such an office.

AN EXCEPTIONAL problem in this respect faced King George V in connection with the financial crisis of 1931, which precipitated division within and ultimately the fall of the Labour Government. Here I think it desirable to set out my personal views, though I recognise that the passages that follow my be controversial. The Cabinet (of which I was a member) decided to invite the Prime Minister (he assenting) to tender to the King the resignation of the Government. Mr. Ramsay MacDonald went to the Palace and submitted the resignation of the Government. But the King, on the advice of Mr. MacDonald, brought into consultation Mr. Stanley Baldwin, Leader of the Conservative Party, and Sir Herbert Samuel, who was acting leader of the Liberal Party in the absence of Mr. Lloyd George, who was ill and who disagreed with the line taken by his Liberal colleague.

Sir Herbert Samuel made the suggestion that Mr. MacDonald should be invited to continue in office as Prime Minister at the head of a Government of personalities or a Coalition. Sir Herbert was a Privy Councillor and had the right to give such advice once the King had brought him into consultation; and the King had a right to receive and consider it. Mr. Baldwin acquiesced in this advice, at any rate to the extent of indicating that he would be willing to cooperate. Mr. MacDonald is said at first to have resisted, but ultimately to have agreed (without, however, consulting the Labour Cabinet), and this can fairly be construed as giving the King personal advice as Prime Minister (though a resigning one) to that effect.

The King invited Mr. MacDonald to continue as Prime Minister at the head of a Coalition or a Government of personalities, and to the surprise of the Cabinet Mr. MacDonald came back to Downing street and told us what had happened. Most of us regarded this action of Mr. MacDonald as a blunder at the best and a betrayal at the worst, and indicated our unwillingness to help in a venture which we regarded as bad in itself and about which we had not been consulted. Only a handful of Labour M.P.'s gave him support in the new Government. He had ceased to possess representative parliamentary value.

The case for the step taken by the King was that he had advice to that end from the three Party leaders, including that of the Prime Minister, and that he was convinced that the step was essential to the well-being of the nation at a grave and critical time; a view with which I cannot agree because I consider that a Conservative-Liberal Coalition could have done all that the so-called National Government did. Mr. MacDonald and his fellow supporters brought no real strength to the new Government, though their action much increased the bitterness in Parliament and the country.

IT MAY WELL BE that the King had the impression that Mr. MacDonald would carry a majority, or at any rate a substantial proportion, of the Parliamentary Labour Party with him, and had that been true it would have strengthened the case for his action. But this did not prove to be so. He would have been wise to have ascertained what was likely to happen by inquiry of one or more Labour Privy Councillors likely to know. He might have asked the Prime Minister to ascertain the view of the Labour Cabinet; but no action was taken to ascertain the general Labour view. King George V was, I feel sure, actuated by sincere motives. And certainly the financial and economic situation of the country was serious. Nevertheless, I think his judgement was at fault. He was himself, I apprehend, overfavourable to a very speculative course of action.

As I see it, the King had unwittingly become involved in what he no doubt regarded as action essential to meet a national crisis but what millions of his subjects regarded as an unnecessary and unpleasant political manoeuvre by Mr. MacDonald and his new allies, calculated to inflict grave injury on the Labour Party and to benefit the Conservatives — as it did. Moreover, the national necessity really did not, as I see it, require the formation of what was called the National Government. Although it was clear that the Labour minority Government could not survive, it seemed that the natural and appropriate parliamentary solution, if the Labour Government was defeated in the House or resigned (as it did) of its own volition, was that the Conservatives should have taken office, probably with Liberal support. Mr. Baldwin, as Prime Minister, would no doubt have been granted a dissolution, if he had asked for it. On a balance of consideration, therefore, my own view is that in this instance King George V received bad advice and that he himself had made a bad mistake in accepting it, though I would not go so far as to assert that his action was unconstitutional.

IT is an axiom of our system of constitutional monarchy and parliamentary democracy that whilst many State actions take the form of decisions by the Monarch, they are and should be in fact decisions of Ministers responsible to Parliament. In form, the Queen makes many orders in Council; it is, for example, the Queen in Council who appoints the Governors of the British Broadcasting Corporation. She appoints ambassadors to represent her abroad and approves the appointment of Ministers of the Crown. She exercises the Royal Prerogative of Mercy (the Prerogative of relieving an offender of all or some of the consequences of a conviction or of a sentence or penalty imposed by the Criminal Courts) by granting free pardons, conditional pardons, or remissions; and murderers may be reprieved on condition that the sentence of death is commuted to one of life imprisonment. She is the head of each of the three Armed Forces, and she appoints and promotes their officers. Many other examples could be given of the Sovereign's varied actions. Nevertheless they are all taken on the advice of Ministers and if, as may well be the case, controversy ensues, it is the Ministers who are responsible to Parliament and the public, whether the action has been taken on the advice of individual Ministers or of the Cabinet.

Nevertheless, it is perfectly legitimate for the Sovereign to discuss any matter with the Minister or Ministers concerned, and naturally, this is particularly so where the Royal Prerogative is involved, as, for example in the mitigation of sentences or the Law Courts. George VI twice discussed particular death sentences with me when I was Home Secretary. He expressed his views ably and reasonably and, naturally, I gave them every consideration. However, I did not feel able to accept His Majesty's view in either case, and when I respectfully told him so he accepted my decision with every good grace.

Such specific discussions are the exception rather than the rule, though general discussions on public affairs, including foreign policy, are common, and it is quite competent for Ministers to modify their proposals in the light of the discussions or not. Most of the issues involved are not party-political, but occasionally the Sovereign may have to concern himself with a matter which is causing very great bitterness between the Parties. King George V, for example, sought to have the Irish question discussed in a reasonable atmosphere by the Party leaders; they did not reach agreement, but he did bring them together.

While on a visit to South Wales King Edward VIII made public declarations about unemployment which could be construed as criticism of his Government. It was a Conservative Government and the words in themselves were acceptable to the Labour Party. But I did not think well of it, for it was a case of the Sovereign publicly expressing views on matters which were the subject of political controversy.

However, he would appear also to have political views adverse to the Labour Party. That became clear in the course of an article by him in a Sunday newspaper of May 24, 1953, when he condemned the passing of aristocratic luxury and privilege and was severely critical of those who had brought this about.

By this time, of course, the former King Edward VIII had become H.R.H. The Duke of Windsor. Such an expression of opinion critical of any political party on the part of a former Monarch is, I think, unfortunate. It confirms my view that ex-Monarchs are wise to be silent and not live in a country or countries over which they formerly ruled.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

If the clouds be full of rain, they empty themselves upon the earth: and if the tree fall toward the south, or toward the north, in the place where the tree falleth, there it shall be. (Ecc. 11: 3).

✧ ✧ ✧

Though a sinner do evil an hundred times, and his days be prolonged, yet surely I know that it shall be well with them that fear God, which fear before him: but it shall not be well with the wicked, neither shall he prolong his days, which are as a shadow; because he feareth not before God. (Eccl. 8:12, 13.)

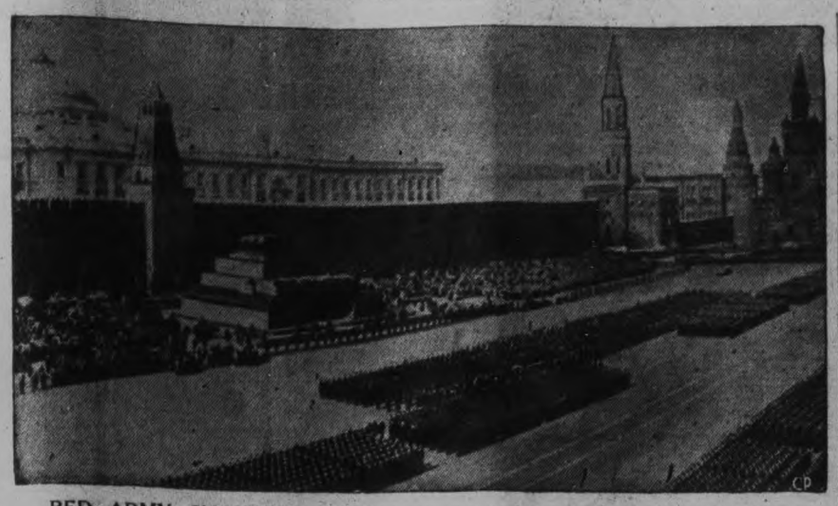
✧ ✧ ✧

Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man. For God shall bring every work into judgement, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil. (Eccl. 12: 13, 14).

Letter To The Editor

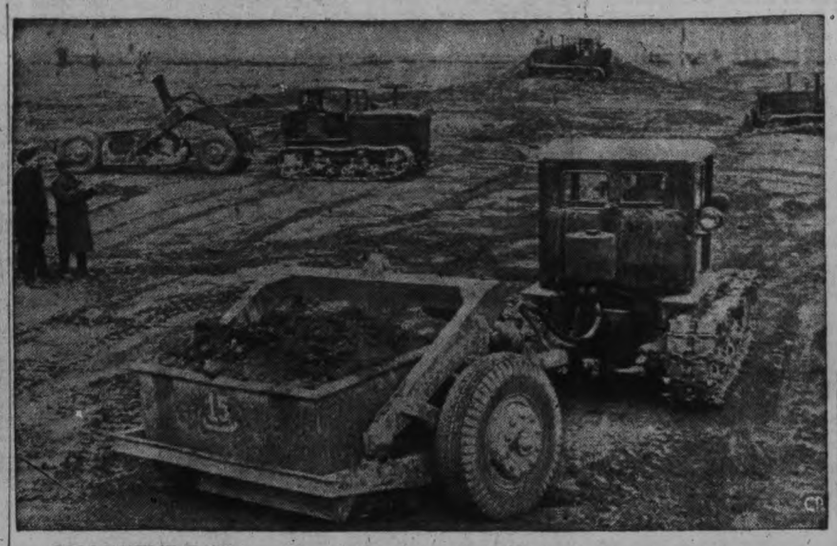
FORETELLS CHAOS

SIR: In my letter of the twentieth, I disagreed violently with "Nosret Sam." I still do. The argument, as far as I am concerned, disputed over where to draw the line in human ethics. I certainly did not have the aim in mind of abolishing this line altogether.



I agree that "the human body is the most perfect organization of forces and material in the known universe." Such a phrase sounds well to the ear, but is much too idealistic for this modern and practical civilization. Concern should not be shown for those who realize what the human body is, but rather for those unfortunate people who are unable to pay to it its due respect. These are the people who we must spread reason to, and educate.

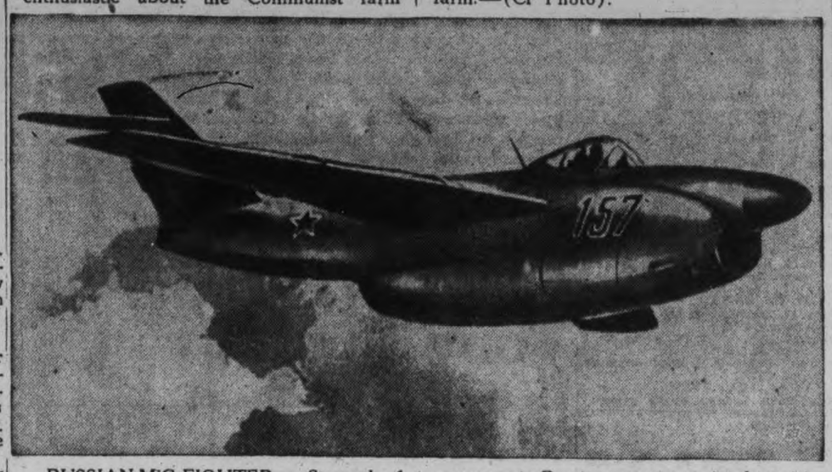
If the so-called "Victorian Veil" is lifted from the human body before these unfortunates are made to realize what a great and noble machine it is, chaos would reign supreme.



I think that "Respectable" is right in saying that we should have a League for Decency in Peterborough. Such an organization could well be an educational body for these unfortunates. "Nosret Sam" can count on me for my membership; not as a 'yes man,' but, rather, as a progressive, dissenting factor.

Yours truly,
"PUELLA PRUDENS."

RUSSIA'S RULERS NOW SEE MUCH IN THE WESTERN WAY OF LIVING



RED ARMY CHANGES — Military observers in Moscow say the Red Army has changed its battle doctrine since 1945 and that its tactics now are closer to those used by armed forces in the West. Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer who spent five months in the Soviet Union, says the forces seem to be gaining strength politically. At least 60 serving army and navy officers were elected to the Supreme Soviet last March. This composite picture shows traditional May Day ceremonies in Moscow's Red Square, with military units lined up for review.—(CP from AP).

COLLECTIVE FARM — Two-thirds of Russia's 210,000,000 people are peasants and other country dwellers, but Russia does not produce as much food as she needs. Observers say the peasants have not been enthusiastic about the Communist farm policy. Trying to overcome food shortages, the government has decreed that more than 50,000 square miles of virgin land must be brought into cultivation. These tractors are levelling new cotton fields on a collective farm.—(CP Photo).

FREE ENTERPRISE IN RUSSIA—There is some free enterprise in Communist Russia. Here a housewife buys mushrooms at the central market in Baku, Soviet Central Asia, where collective farms and peasants may sell some produce. Prices are higher than in state-operated stores, but housewives with more than the average amount of money don't mind because shopping is much faster and less crowded. —(CP Photo).

RUSSIAN MiG FIGHTER — Strength of the Soviet armed forces is a close Soviet secret. In five months in Moscow, Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer, saw many officers in Moscow, and occasional detachments of marching soldiers, but Western reporters in Russia are not permitted to visit any military establishment. On a trip through Soviet Central Asia, Boss saw from a train an airport with runways loaded with MiG fighter aircraft, like the one shown above.—(CP from AP).

Russia Today Fails To Meet Own Food Requirements, Plan Farm Area Expansion

The state of Russian farming is worrying the Malenkov regime. Just home from five months in the Soviet Union, Bill Boss of The Canadian Press reports in this undated story what is being done in an attempt to give the peasants an enthusiasm for communism.

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Russian government is trying to patch up a boner by Joseph Stalin that set Soviet agriculture back at least 25 years.

The boner was collective farming.

Although two-thirds of Russia's 210,000,000 citizens are peasants and country dwellers, the union has less cattle than it had under the czars, and doesn't produce enough wheat and other grains to fill its market baskets.

REVERSED POLICY

Stalin in 1930 reversed a Communist policy inaugurated by Vladimir Ilyich Lenin within 48 hours of the 1917 revolution. Lenin earned peasant support for the revolution by decreeing the distribution of the land among them.

Stalin decided that policy had got the "workers state" off on the wrong foot. Farming methods could not be modernized on small holdings, he said, so he parcelled up the small tracts into larger bundles, ordered the peasants to work the huge farms collectively —and taxed them beyond endurance.

He forgot that during those 13 years the peasants had acquired a taste for ownership.

Today, almost 40 years after Lenin's 1917 decree, the Kremlin is going back to giving the peasant a greater personal interest in his work.

TO CONVERT LAND

It has ordered a five-fold increase in the price he gets for his compulsory meat deliveries; tax reductions; and help in buying a few head of livestock.

But the doctrinaire approach remains both towards existing farms and vast new areas just ordered under cultivation.

During the next two years about 32,500,000 acres—more than 50,000 square miles—of virgin land will be converted into farms by a massed mechanized assault. The new land will be worked by Stalinist methods.

To carry through this gigantic project the Soviet Union has become the first country in history to take workers out of industry and send them back to the farm.

While ordering fantastic increases in the production of tractors, trucks, and agricultural equipment, it has ordered the plants making them to release thousands of workers. They will work the machinery to clear the land, later drive and service farm equipment and teach farmers proper maintenance methods.

BEHIND THE MOVE

What caused the drive?

Some Western observers say: "The peasantry has broken the back of the revolution."

That is probably an exaggeration. But Communist party secretary Nikita Krustchev's recent speeches show the peasant has been paying an exorbitant share of the revolution's cost.

Krustchev announced a five-fold increase in the live-weight price peasants are paid for their meat. He said the peasant's new price would be one ruble 50 kopeks a kilogram (2.2 pounds) compared with 30 kopeks before.

But dressed meat sells in the state stores for 15 rubles a kilo—20 times more than the old peasant rate. And the peasant knows perfectly well his meat, on the free market, is worth up to 25 rubles—83 times what he was paid.

The view of most Western diplomats is that a combination of low prices, high taxes, compulsory delivery quotas set long before the size of any crop is known, and a bureaucratic approach to farm administration has killed the peasant's entuhsiasm for the new Soviet order.

COLLECTIVES FAILED

Here is proof the collective farms have not provided the answer to Soviet Russia's food requirements:

According to Russian government sources, the small plots worked by peasants provided one-half of the meat, poultry, butter, cheese and milk consumed in the Soviet Union last year. The rest came from the collective farms, with their superior barns, equipment and other resources.

The meat shortage is so great that foreign trade negotiators told me Russia tries to provide for imports of meat in every trade agreement.

"If the peasants could sell directly on the free market, they'd probably work like hell," said one Western diplomat. "But they don't see the point when they're getting gypped. They concentrate on their garden plots instead of the fields."

Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, said a month ago that less winter fodder was stored last autumn than in 1952. But during the winter of 1952-53, more than 2,500,000 cows died of starvation and exposure.

MILK COWS FEWER

Krustechev said last September there were 23,000,000 milk cows in the USSR—fewer than in the time of the czars. He said two-thirds were owned by peasants, 8,500,000 by collective and state farms.

To increase the peasant's incentive, the government has reduced taxes, promised to help him buy his own cow, and allowed him to keep more pigs and chickens.

Cereals have required even more drastic action.

In a recent 6,000-mile tour of the Soviet Union, my train passed countless farms where plows, harrows and wagons were being drawn by horses and bullock teams. I saw few tractors, although these exist in quantity. The USSR has even electric tractors operated from transformer stations near the main power lines.

Later I learned that in farm traction the USSR today is where it was 20 years ago. During the 1930s the peasants slaughtered between 15,000,000 and 17,000,000 horses. These have only recently been replaced by tractors.

While taking experienced workers out of the factories to drive and service tractors and open new land, the state has ordered a step-up in farm machinery production.

In my trip I saw village railway sidings bristling with new equipment—tractors, plows, cotton pickers, threshers.

BOOST OUTPUT

The original production plan for tractors in 1954 and 1955 was 300,000. Now an additional 500,000 tractors have been progrommed, plus 250,000 small cultivator-tractors, and 62,000 extra farm trucks have been ordered.

The 50,000 square miles of new farm land is mostly in the republic of Kazakhstan. One hundred thousand technical workers have been drafted from industry, and 100,000 other young Communists from schools and factories are going to the farms as "volunteers." All will draw their much higher industrial pay while on this job. Their wives may go to Kazakhstan only if they too are tractor-drivers or mechanics.

Western experts say the government is using arm-chair political methods to solve its agricultural problems. One said:

"It's as if they said: 'We'll keep on throwing in technicians by the thousand until we have it licked—if it takes 50 years.'"

SAID EXPERIMENTING

It's probably a combination of the two—trying to win the peasant's co-operation and trying to use industrial techniques in agriculture.

One long-time resident of Moscow told me:

"The peasantry was not one of Marx's preoccupations and there's nothing in the Communist textbooks to help the planners. Right now I think they are experimenting. They'll follow whatever path seems to yield the best results.

"They may find it expedient to undo the whole program of collectivization, or revamp it to give the peasants more real personal interest and yet fit into the text-book ban on personal property.

"We won't know what's going to happen for at least two years."

Daily Dusting

YEARS of medical research sponsored by the Ontario Mining Association may have found the answer to silicosis, the disease which attacks the lungs of miners exposed to silica dust. Curiously enough, the treatment consists of breathing very fine aluminum dust directly into the lungs; the aluminum renders the silica particles harmless. The treatment has been adopted in gold and other mining areas in Canada and throughout the world.

Aluminum, long used in hospital kitchens, today serves the medical profession in many ways —from aluminum foil for covering serious burns, to aluminum acetate for medical dressings, to aluminum blenders for the preparation of sterile biological products. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan)

Red Army Being Streamlined; Gaining Political Influence

Bill Boss was a Canadian Press war correspondent in Italy on western Europe during the Second World War. For three years he was CP correspondent with the Canadian forces in Korea. Now, just back from five months in Moscow, he writes in this story—one of a series —of recent changes in the Red Army.

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Red army has used the years since 1945 to bring its battle doctrine up to date.

During the Second World War, it was profligate in its waste of manpower. Massed Russian infantry, advancing under heavy artillery fire, overwhelmed German armored formations in bloody actions similar to the "human wave" battles of Korea and Indo-China.

Soviet Delegate Andrei Vishinsky once boasted at a United Nations session to Canada's Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton: "More Russian blood flowed in the defeat of Germany than water flows in the St. Lawrence river."

SIMILAR TO WEST

Now competent observers in Moscow say:

"There is no reason to think that Russian battle tactics differ much from ours."

Only mechanization and armor in vast quantities could have made the change in Red Army tactics possible.

Soviet exercises in Germany and Austria afford clues to current Russian doctrine and it is on these that Allied information is based. If the exercises are a true indication, the Red Army also has reorganized its supply services and streamlined the administrative pipeline which, during the war, sometimes trickled out and starved the advancing Soviet war machine to a temporary halt.

But Western military attaches in Moscow must rely on glimpses of the war machine in their shadowed travels, and titbits of information gleaned from official Russian publications. They say the real intelligence work on Russian armed strength is done not in the U.S.S.R. but by experts at home and in border countries outside the Iron Curtain.

DIPLOMATS IGNORED

Moscow embassies were rocked recently when the Red Army invited a British observer to visit an army college in Leningrad. His colleagues in the diplomatic corps have been biting their nails since, waiting for invitations. The postman hasn't knocked.

Numerical strength of the Russian forces is a close Soviet secret. In Moscow you see comparatively little of the services. There are many officers—including visiting Czechs and Poles—but no more than one would expect in a city of 6,000,000, capital of a country of 210,000,000 where not only the service headquarters but their staff and command colleges are located.

Occasionally a detachment of soldiers marches through the streets, preceded and followed by men carrying red traffic flags; but impressive military demonstrations seem to have passed with the receding Stalin era.

Foreign observers remarked last Nov. 7 on the greatly reduced flypast by the Red air force and the shortness of the military parade.

Yet the question most frequently asked by foreigners in the U.S.S.R. is: "Where are the men?"

MANY WOMEN WORKERS

Women outnumber men on any sort of job the foreigner sees—building, roadwork and the like, as well as in offices. It probably is the same in heavy industry, the factories and farms.

As far as civilian defence and air-raid precautions are concerned, there is no obvious set-up. There are no signs pointing to the nearest shelter; no instructions about what to do in an emergency. The Moscow subway is 300 feet underground and forms a natural shelter; but experts say it would take more than an overnight instruction from Pravda or Moscow radio to tell the people how to use it.

My 6,000-mile trip from Moscow to Tashkent, near the Chinese border, was by commercial plane and train. All I saw of military activity was at two service airports.

One was at Kirovbad in Azerbaijan alongside the railway line from Baku to Tiflis. It is used by twin-jet medium bombers and is just an expanse of dirt. The jets look like tanks cruising on a desert, whipping up great dust clouds as they taxi. In contrast, the Baku airstrip in the famous oilfield's forest of derricks is a well-equipped concrete slab groaning with MiGs, their engines hooded by canvas shrouds.

HARDLY RELIABLE

Obviously, Allied "intelligence" compiled from such travellers' titbits would not yield many hard facts on Soviet strength.

One tip that Russia's armed services may be having more to say

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Winter lingers persistently in the lap of spring, and hockey continues to hog much of the sports pages as April bows out. In fact, all puck playoffs in Canada won't be over as May meanders onto the scene. Overlapping sports seasons, indeed! Our own senior "B" group champs, Oshawa Truckmen, are still in playoffs as they seek to oust Simcoe for a provincial crown won last year by Kingston — also of this Central Ontario group. A bulletin from the NHL today advises that Camille Henry, short spare forward for New York Rangers, is the Calder Cup winner for this year, being voted outstanding rookie of the season. Dutch Reibel of the Wings was runner-up. Henry pockets $1,000 for taking the trophy.

* * * * * *

Also, the AHL today announces its all-star teams. First team has Gil Mayer in goal, Frank Mathers and Frank Eddolls on defence, Red Sullivan at centre, and Gaye Stewart and Ed Slowinski on the wings. Second team includes Emile Francis, Tom Williams, Fred Shero, Danny Lewicki, Lorne Ferguson and Dunc Fisher. Those on the first team get a bonus of $300 each and the second-placers rate $200. Only Frank Mathers of Pittsburg and Red Sullivan of Hershey were unanimous selections with 30 points each, scribes and radiomen doing the voting. His many Peterborough friends will be pleased, though not surprised, to see this additional honor go to the Ashburnham redhead, who recently was sold by Boston to Chicago Hawks of the NHL.

Lacrosse Exec. Busy

With the senior lacrosse season opening in just two weeks from Friday, the Petes are busy at PT drills and will be practising outdoors next week. The club officials have been plenty busy in recent weeks with a raft of pre-season details to work out. The executive of the Trailermen this year consist of: President, Bob Peirson; the vice-prexies, Dr. Jack Epping and Ken Kingston; secretary, Mick Magee; treasurer, Bill Blaby; committee, Jack Gainey, Pete King, Jim Goldie, Garth Braund, Bob Curtin, Harry Tudhope, Ray Tanner and Jim Fallen. Coach and manager of the team is Bob Thorpe, who will also be chief coach of the PMLA when summer rolls around.

* * * * * *

Petes thought they were in the Viaduct Baseball League last night when they had delegates at an Oshawa meeting but suddenly found a stiff price tag tacked upon their entry. Oakville and the two Toronto teams demanded $35 and Oshawa $25 travelling expenses each time they played in Peterborough this season. Belleville delegates were also told they'd have to subsidize those four clubs if the Quinte crew wanted in. Same old racket the Toronto teams pulled on us in the past, but we're surprised that an OBA member like Ab Walker, who hails from Oshawa, would insist upon Petes and Belleville also paying the Transporters of that town to play up this way. Petes and Belleville, of course, get nothing for their travelling expenses back.

* * * * * *

Cough Up or Drop Out

Well, there it is. That's the condition and we have till this Thursday noon to advise 'em of the local decision. Ditto with Belleville. Petes' executive will meet tonight to discuss it and reach a decision. It's tough from a financial point of view as the club will have heavy enough expenses — without that subsidy to other clubs — and must pay something on the lights at Riverside Park if they use 'em this summer. There's also the matter of bringing in a couple of pitchers. We can't figure why Toronto teams and Oshawa should be so hoggish, as the Petes always proved a good drawing card in those centres. Anyway, it'll be discussed this evening thoroughly.

* * * * * *

Bill twomey tucked Tony Brando to sleep in just 42 seconds of the main amateur mitt bout at the Brock last night to top a fine card. The local puncher showed his Toronto rival most convincingly that he packs a lethal wallop. Emmett Crough earned an unanimous decision o'er Toronto's Ray Bloom in the semi-final, also a five-rounder. John Angiers of Lindsay took a split decision against John Roe, the other Toronto thumper. Bill Cridland won over trainer Chuck Birch, when Orvo Tymlainer of Toronto failed to show up. Tommy Birch outboxed Smith in one of the prelim bouts. Split decisions went to Casper Weichorek over Paul McIlmoyle, Clem Woodcock against Pete Howe, and Bill Smith over Alex Caravaggio. Lots of action in the show.

Dese, Dem and Dose

Pro matmen go Wednesday at the Brock, a tag team topping the card . . . Payne's Transports retained the Clapper Trophy for Duffus' by beating Burtol's of Playfair 8119-7634 in a three-game bowloff for city honors, teams having six men each . . . Payne's were City League champs and Burtol's led the Major Loop; J. Playford led the winners with 1457 as W. Harris topped the losers with 1486 . . . Church softball schedules are in, and loop rules will appear tomorrow . . . Mt. Pleasant dropped from the City Softball League, and it'll go with five clubs two night's weekly, opening May 20 . . . Some money (though not enough) will be contributed by several industries to get Bill Sisler's minor baseball summer school going here . . . Rain ruined a proposed senior ball drill tonight at Morrow Park . . . Ted Stone of Oshawa is under a ball contract to Corning, N.Y. . . . Bill Dadson has been working out with Oshawa Transporters . . . PMLA-ers were slated to register this evening at Miller Bowl . . . It's a relief to see April crying its way off the spring calendar.

RAY VILLMER, above, better known as the human buzzsaw, who teams up with Ilio DiPaolo, Italian champion, against the riot squad, the Dusek Brothers in a tag team battle. This will be the feature wrestling event at the Brock Arena Wednesday night at 8:45.

Two referees will handle the match, one of them a wrestler. This should curb the Duseks' illegal work in their own corner. A Villmer-DiPaolo win over the Duseks will put them right in line for a shot at the title.

Crafty Lee Henning is pitted against speedy Pat Flanagan in the semi-final. This bout is a natural and there will be plenty of action with this pair in the ring.

A newcomer, rated very highly, Johnny Rougeau tackles Alan Garfield in the opener.

FIVE ACES

TORONTO (CP)—Ted Davidson of Toronto believes he holds a Canadian golf record that will stand up for some time. He has just scored his fifth hole-in-one.

Ted posted his fifth ace Sunday on the 140-yard eighth hole at the suburban Weston club in his first warm-up of the season. His first hole-in-one was made years ago and his fourth at a Toronto club in 1951.

Consider Changing Race Purse Deduction

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario racing commission and the executive of the Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Society will consider a request of western Canada horsemen to revive the old rule of deducting five per cent of the first purse money for breeders of Canadian-bred thoroughbreds.

The request was made by K. R. Darbyshire, president of the Canadian division of the Horsemen's Protective Benevolent Association and president of the British Columbia Breeders' Association, at the annual meeting of the breeders' society Monday.

Darbyshire said Ontario breeders were receiving a grant of five per cent of first-place money from the Ontario government. The plan should be abandoned because it did not cover Canadian-foaled horses from outside Ontario.

E. P. Taylor was elected president of the breeders' society for his fourth term.

SWEET REVENGE FOR ALPHA — Two weeks ago Toronto boxers made a clean sweep in bouts with the Alpha Club. Monday night Bill Twomey, John Angiers and Emmett Crough gained revenge with decisive wins over Charlie Bagnato's fighters. Tom Birch walks away (top left) after pounding Gord Smith down for an eight-count. Emmett Crough's two fists (lower photo) made Toronto's Ray Bloom cover up several times in the semi-final bout, won unanimously by Crough. But the night's climax was Twomey's 42-second knockout over Toronto's Tony Brando, a seasoned boxer, who's counted out (top left) by referee Gord Beatty. —(Examiner Staff Photos).

Twomey Flattens Tony Brando In Top Mitt Bout

By DON GRANT

Bill Twomey has power in BOTH fists. He proved that Monday night when he knocked out Toronto's Tony Brando in 42 seconds of the main bout at the Alpha Club's bi-monthly card.

Brando, an experienced boxer with a long list of fights, danced for 30 seconds and waltzed into a right cross. It caught him just near his temple. He staggered, went up slightly, then down.

There wasn't any doubt about it. Brando was down to stay. As referee Gord Beatty counted, and hit the eight-mark, Brando attempted to rise, quivered and flopped to the canvas.

In his Peterborough debut a month ago, Twomey connected for the season's first knockout, then with a wild roundhouse left hook. Monday night's right cross proved the Alpha fighting has not only one knockout punch, but two, right or left.

That sensational knockout which possibly set a Peterborough record, in so short a time, climaxed the best boxing card that Peterborough fight fans have seen in years. Every one of the eight bouts was above average.

CROUGH GOOD

Those who saw the Emmett Crough-Ray Bloom fight a month ago were disappointed. Those who saw the same boys, both welterweights, in the semi-final fight Monday night were delighted.

Crough, the Alpha's street-fighter type boxer, more than made up for his last two rather dismal bouts with five rounds of slugging that had fistic enthusiasts yelling from start to finish.

From the first bell of their five-rounder, Crough and Bloom stood toe-to-toe whaling each other with rights and lefts. These wild flurries, generally along the ropes or in the corner, lasted anywhere from 30 seconds to a minute at a time.

Bloom, usually a cautious boxer with a long left jab, threw all caution to the wind, and poured in, landing strong rights. Crough, returning to his rough style, didn't care what he threw as long as it landed. It usually did.

In the third Bloom was ready to call it quits. Several times he backed against the ropes, bent over, shielded his face with both gloves, and let Crough punch away.

This defensive tactic by Bloom baffled Crough until the fourth when the Alpha boxer started bringing Bloom out of the crouches with Kid Gavilan's bolo punch. Just the same Bloom managed to hold on, but that was all.

It was a very popular unanimous decision for Crough.

DEFEATS ROE

John Angiers, a Lindsay boxer now working out with Alpha, made it a clean sweep for Alpha over Charlie Bagnato's Toronto fighters. He split-decisioned colored John Roe.

Making their Peterborough debuts, both Roe and Anglers were well-matched in youth and experience. They both liked infighting, clinched often, landing many body punches there.

The in-fighting was so intense that Referee Beatty was often hesitant to step between the boxers. He did once and just missed a wild right.

The fourth Toronto boxer, Orvo Tymlainer, failed to show. Charlie Bagnato reported that he didn't know until six p.m. that Tymlainer had been hurt at work. This meant no out-of-town opposition for Alpha heavy, Bill Cridland.

Chuck Birch, an Alpha trainer filled in and for a while in the first it looked like his past experience might make the bout close.

But Cridland's youthfulness and conditioning was too much for Birch's experience. Cridland easily rode along to an unanimous decision.

BIRCH WINNER

Fiery Tom Birch, making his first appearance for Alpha, nearly recorded his first knockout against against another newcomer Gord Smith. Birch twice came close to putting Smith away.

The Lakefield youth dropped Smith with a solid right in the second round, but Smith, a little wobbly, rose after the regulation eight-count. Gamely Smith hung on even though he was down a second time in the third.

It was Birch all the way for an unanimous decision.

Casper Weichorek won a split-decision over Paul McIlmoyle, thanks to a sound first round and a so-so third. Weichorek caught McIlmoyle with a right to the cin which nearly knocked out his clubmate in the first. McIlmoyle required the full eight-count to carry on.

Just the same McIlmoyle rallied to take the second round as he connected with a series of stinging lefts. In a close third he bloodied Weichorek's nose with a straight right. Weichorek finished, covered with blood.

Another newcomer, Clem Woodcock, split-decisioned Pete Howe while Bill Smith recorded a split decision over Alex Caravaggio in the first two bouts.

Ti-Cats Dicker With Panthers

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger - Cats may adopt another child to add talons and talents to its football family.

Jake Gaudaur, TC president, said Monday:

"We will probably have an intermediate affiliation this year."

He added that the Grey Cup champions have been dickering with Hamilton Panthers—"And are doing so at present but nothing has been finalized."

Today the names of two players signed by the Tiger-Cats and the 1954 Big Four schedule, will be released.

One of the players is Canadian, the other a U.S. import.

Calgary Stampeders and Ottawa Rough Riders have also known interest in sponsoring the Panthers.

Last year the club lost money and had no backing to absorb the financial flailing.

Boxing Champions Advance To Finals

HAMILTON (CP)—Southwestern Ontario declared its amateur boxing champions for the Canadian finals in eight bouts here Monday night. The winners advanced to the Canadian finals to be held at Toronto May 13-15.

Bob Richardson of St. Catharines won the heavyweight division by a technical knockout over Jack Cunningham of Sarnia in the second round.

Bill Messe Brook of Kitchener took the light heavyweight section when he knocked out Dave Vansickle of Sarnia with a hard right in the second round.

Subsidize Teams Petes Told To Enter League

The Petes will be accepted into the Toronto Viaduct Baseball League provided they subsidize the two Toronto teams and Oakville to the extent of $35 for each game these teams play in Peterborough this season, and give Oshawa Transporters $25 a game here. The same will apply to Belleville if they wish to get in the league.

This was the decision reached at a meeting of the clubs last evening in Oshawa. Belleville and the Petes were given until noon Thursday to let the league know what they decided upon, and the local club is holding an executive meeting this evening to deal with the problem. It would mean an outlay of $400 for the Petes for home games in payment of rival clubs' travelling expenses, the Petes having 15 tilts at home. It also means that these other clubs have but three trips each here to six away each for the Petes.

AN OSHAWA GRAB

Peterborough delegates Curly Alberico and Joe Lowery were willing, if necessary, for the Petes to pay as much as $30 each to the two Toronto teams and to Oakville for travelling expenses here, but OBA member Ab Walker, of Oshawa, took the peculiar stand that if these other clubs could get something then Oshawa should, too. He received support from George Campbell, Oshawa sportswriter, who argued that travelling expenses should be $35 for the other teams and $25 for Oshawa to come here. The Petes and Belleville would get nothing for travelling to these other centres. Belleville, too, is considering the matter of subsidizing these other clubs to such an extent.

The Petes will not only have to pay travelling expenses for other clubs to get into the group, as well as their own travelling, time off, equipment, etc., but will have to pay something toward the lights at Riverside Park this season. All these things must be taken into consideration at tonight's club meeting.

OVER A BARREL

"They have us over a barrel," Curly Alberico stated today; "they said they could get along without us and were only letting us in to accommodate the Peterborough club. But they insisted upon being paid travelling expenses for trips here, even though they would go on the same evening to play in Belleville, collecting there, also."

A previous local entry in the Toronto circuit was forced to pay a subsidy, too, to stay in the loop and found it a financial hardship in many cases when gates were small and Toronto teams took a hefty part of the money taken in.

The problem arises out of the fact that the COBL folded this spring when Oshawa Merchants and Kingston dropped out, leaving only Belleville and the Petes to carry on. These latter teams have no other place to play senior ball at present.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

The fabled 4-minute mile, a mirage that has lured the world's greatest runners over the years but has remained, tantalizingly, just beyond their grasp, may finally become a reality at the British Empire and Commonwealth Games in Vancouver this year, July 30 to August 7.

For the figure-filberts, the perfect four-minute mile should be run in laps like this:

First lap: 58.5; Second Lap: 59.5 (1.58 at the half).
Third lap: 61.0; Fourth lap: 61.0 (2.02.0 at the half).
Add it up: four minutes flat.

History's greatest mile was run by Gunder Hagg of Sweden back in 1945. He ripped it off in four minutes, one and three-tenths seconds. In 1944, Arne Anderson, another Swede, reeled off the mile in 4.01.6, the second-fastest ever run.

Hagg's record still stands. But today, a whole new group of middle-distance runners is bidding for a new record at the classic mile distance, and beyond that, for the elusive 4-minute mile. Men like Roger Bannister of England, John Landy of Australia, and Wes Santee of the United States have made back-breaking and heart-breaking efforts to match, and perhaps to reach a few strides beyond Gunder's record, and to hit the 4-minute mile.

Last June, Bannister clicked off the 1760 yards in 4.02 flat, and Australia's brilliant Landy matched that time in December. A year earlier, Landy was clocked at 4.02.1. Santee's best mark to date is 4.02.3, but experts feel he is capable of doing much better, especially if he can get competition from men like Bannister and Landy.

Santee is not, of course, eligible for the Empire Games, but Bannister and Landy will both be there, possibly, along with a couple of newcomers who are catapulting to the top in track's Hall of Fame. They are Murray Halberg of New Zealand, and England's young bank clerk, Gordon Pirie, though the latter is by no means a certain entry.

But put Bannister, Landy, Halberg, and, perhaps, Pirie, too, on the starter's mark at Vancouver on Saturday, August 7, and provide them with a perfect track, hot, sunny, windless weather, and the elusive 4-minute mile may be elusive no longer.

Of course, when the big Vancouver show ends, American promoters will be doing their best to encourage post-Games track meets, and if the four-minute mile isn't realized in Vancouver, it may be shortly lafterwards. The men are available. The time is ripe.

Screwball Baseball Season Under Way In U.S. Most Teams In Reverse

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Staff Writer

Blame it on the weather, the H-bomb or what you like, this is shaping up as one screwball baseball season.

New York Giants win three straight shutouts. Cleveland benches a .419-hitting first-baseman. New York Yankees bat a sour .220 while Chicago Cubs slug at .326. Rookies ride in the .400-plus stratosphere.

Now comes the showdown with the first intersectional tests.

Chicago White Sox come east in first place in the American League having won seven of their last eight and ready to take advantage of the Yankee's spotty spring form.

JOHNSON OPENS

Paul Richards, who has contended all along that "the Yanks can be beaten" lists a former Yankee, Don Johnson, to open in Yankee Stadium today. With Nellie Fox and Johnny Groth among the top 10 hitters and Ferris Fain tops in runs batted in, the Sox look like formidable challengers.

The Yanks haven't been able to hit any kind of pitching, left or right. Although every manager saves up the southpaws for New York, the Yanks were shut out Saturday by a rookie righthander, Bob Trice, in Philadelphia.

Detroit, a real surprise in the first two weeks, opens tonight in Philadelphia where the "new look" A's appear tougher than usual. Bill Tuttle, the Tigers' new centre-fielder, is off to a fine start with a .400-plus, but it's too early to buy him as a "phenom."

The East will watch with interest Cleveland's switch of Al Rosen to first to make room for rookie Rudy Regalado at third—a move which sent heavy-hitting Bill Glynn to the bench. The Indians open in Boston today against the Red Sox, who have been hurt badly by the injury to Mel Parnell, following Ted Williams' broken collar bone.

Martin Finds Discharge Bit Troublesome

FORT ORD, Calif. (AP) — Pte. Billy Martin, seeking a United States Army hardship discharge to rejoin New York Yankees, is encountering opposition from his sports-loving commanding general.

Maj.-Gen. Robert McClure told a press conference Monday that he is recommending that the star second-baseman's discharge request be denied.

McClure indicated he doesn't feel Martin is a hardship case:

"The draft board investigated the situation. . . Besides, Martin came to camp driving a baby blue Cadillac. Anyone with a car like that can't be broke."

DIFFERENT STORY

But Martin, who got out of the army after five months' service in 1952 on similar grounds, told a different story. The 1953 world series star said money earned in past years was "not so much, and it's all gone."

He said that in addition to supporting his mother, sister and step-father he must pay $150 a month to his estranged wife for herself and their infant daughter.

Senators Bow 4-3 In Overtime

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa Senators came within a goal of the Quebec Hockey League championship Monday night, but Quebec Aces held them off and finally won the seventh game of their best-of-nine final series 4-3 in overtime.

Ottawa, leading the series 4-3 in games, fought from behind three times to tie the score, the last time with only 10 seconds of regulation time remaining. One goal in the sudden-death overtime period, brought on by Gordie Hudson's ninth-hour tally, would have sent the Senators west to face the winners of the Western Hockey League finals.

But Budy Boone, the Aces' ball of fire all through this series, came through first. He grabbed a pass from defenceman Butch Houle at the Quebec blue-line, stick-handled in close and beat goalie Ray Frederick at 6:48 of the overtime period.

Boone's goal, his second of the night, sent the teams to Quebec for the eighth game tonight. The ninth, if necessary to decide who takes on the winner of the WHL final now in progress between Calgary Stampeders and Vancouver Canucks for the new Duke of Edinburgh Trophy, will be played back here Wednesday night.

Remember When—

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Jim Tobin, the right-hander of flutter-ball fame, pitched a no-hit no-run game as Boston Braves blanked Brooklyn Dodgers 2-0 in the National League 10 years ago today. It was the first no-hitter in the majors for nearly three years, and Tobin failed by just two men of pitching a perfect game—one in which no opposing batter reaches first base.

6 Colts Have Chance Prove Ability

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Six three-year-old colts got their last chance today to prove their worthiness for the 80th running of the Kentucky Derby.

The mile and one-quarter of the $100,000-added Derby will be run at Churchill Downs Saturday.

Eight horses actually were named for today's $10,000-added trial, but two of them—Andy Crevolin's well-liked Determine and its stablemate, Allied—will be at the starting gate Saturday, regardless.

MAY SET RECORD

The trial, won by three previous Derby winners, will go on a long way toward deciding whether a record field will battle over the downs for North America's most coveted turf honor. The record number of starters was 22 in 1928. If as many as 23 should answer the call, this year's also will be the richest Derby. The total value of the 1951 race, the previous richest, was $126,100.

The little grey Determine, winner of six straight stake races on the west coast, figures to so outclass the field in today's trial that he'll scare off all except his running mate and possibly Hasty Road from Allie Reuben's Hasty House Farm of Toledo, Ohio.

Quebec Turns Back TeePees 5-2 To Square Series

By ROMEO MAGERA

QUEBEC (CP) — The eastern Canada Memorial Cup final between St. Catharines TeePees and Quebec Frontenacs switches to St. Catharines, Ont., Thursday night with promises of another slam-bang hockey game.

A fired-up Quebec club Monday night turned back the heavily-built TeePees 5-2 in an action-packed encounter highlighted by a pier six-type brawl in the opening period. Quebec's win squared the best-of-seven series at one game apiece.

The players were the same, but Phil Watson's Frontenacs didn't look like the club which lost the first game here Saturday night, 5-1. Some 6,424 fans saw Quebec outclass the TeePees, grabbing a 3-0 lead in the first period which took one hour and 10 minutes to play.

Mike Ratchford, Stan Parker, Gilles Thibault, Richard Bouchard, and Guy Rousseau scored for Quebec. Chester Warchol and Hugh Barlow fired the TeePees' goals in the second period. The Frontenacs scored once in each of the last two periods.

EIGHTEEN PENALTIES

None of the 18 penalties distributed by referees Stan Pratt and Ching McDonald, both of Ottawa, figured in the scoring.

The brawl started halfway through the first period when Quebec's Bob Mantha and Warchol tangled near the penalty bench. Other players joined in and officials had a tough time separating them.

Police then lent a hand and this got St. Catharines coach Rudy Pilous angry. He lunged to the aid of his players, getting in a few solid punches before being pulled away. Pratt and McDonald finally stopped the battle. No action is expected to be taken.

The fracas resulted in a minor, major and 10-minute misconduct to Mantha and a major to Warchol. Majors also went to Henry Ciesla and Wilford Roberts of the TeePees and Quebec's Fernand Turcotte. Ian Cushenan of St. Catharines got a misconduct.

POLICE GRAB PLAYER

Another incident involving police and Pilous occurred later in the period. Police suddenly grabbed TeePees sub-goalie Reg Truax standing in an alley-way and ushered him out of the rink. Truax, although in street clothes, was eligible for the game and Pilous refused to permit his players to resume the game until Truax was returned.

When asked about the brawl, Pilous said he didn't like the way one of his boys was being handled by a police officer. He went to the aid of his charge and other police officers shoved him.

Watson had high praise for his club. If they do as well as they did Monday night, they have a good chance of defeating the Ontario junior champs and entering the Memorial Cup finals against the West, he said.

Line-Up:

St. Catharines: Goal: Edwards; defence: Cushenan, Vasko, Higgins, Maxwell; forwards: Barry Cullen, Ciesla, Koval, Barlow, Roberts, Brian Cullen, McLean, Warchol Armstrong, Hoekstra.; sub-goalie, Truax.

Quebec: Goal: Marcotte; defence Mantha, Amadio, Langlois, Prestley, Chevalier; forwards: Cyr, Parker, Faulkner, Ratchford, Rousseau, Bouchard, Thibault, Turcotte, Pelletier; sub-goalie, Dessereault.

Referees: Ching McDonald and Stan Pratt, both of Ottawa.

Summary

First Period: Quebec, Ratchford (Rousseau, Bouchard) 6:59; Quebec, Parker (Chevalier) 8:04; Quebec, Thibeault (Cyr, Amadio) 8:58. Penalties: Bouchard 1:14, Chevalier 1:19; Barlow 1:19; Warchol 4:43; Mantha (minor, major, misconduct) 11:03; Warchol (major) 11:03, Ciesla (major) 11:03, Roberts (major) 11:03, Turcotte (major) 11:03, Cushenan (misconduct) 11:03, Parker 14:36.

Second Period: St. Catharines, Warchol (Ciesla, Higgins) 11:03, St. Catharines, Barlow (Barry Cullen, Brian Cullen) 16:10; Quebec, Bouchard (Rousseau, Ratchford) 16:24. Penalties: Higgins 8:36, Maxwell 11:45, Edwards (served by Barry Cullen) 16:35.

Third Period: Quebec, Rousseau (Bouchard) 11:45. Penalties: Warchol 13:56, Thibeault 13:56.

Hurricane Jackson Downed By Flashing Spoiler Slade

NEW YORK (AP) — The hurricane season is on the wane in the heavyweight ranks with Hurricane Tommy Jackson, who climbed from prelim boy to No. 3 contender on three sensational fights, back in the pack, deflated at the hands of clever Jimmy Slade.

Spoiler Slade exposed Jackson's weakness for a well-planned retreat with flashing counter-fire while winning a unanimous 10-round decision Monday night at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway.

All Jackson wanted to talk about in the dressing room was "I want him again. I won't fight nobody else. I want him back. I ain't gonna let him get started next time."

HAVE OTHER PLANS

Jackson's management, however has other plans. He is signed for a May 28 date at Madison Square Garden with Charley Norkus.

It was Jackson's second defeat in his 19-bout career. He zoomed to the top by knocking out Rex Layne in his first main event, whipping Clarence Henry and then stopping Dan Bucceroni—all since the first of the year. On the strength of those scraps he was an 18-to-5 favorite Monday night, and many among the crowd of 3,500 paying $10,000 went down with him.

There were no knockdowns, although Jackson slipped to the floor three times and Slade fell through the ropes once.

Weed Out Boxing Entries In 18 Bouts

TORONTO (CP) — The central Ontario amateur boxing division weeded out its entries for the Canadian championships at an 18-bout meet here Monday night.

The winners of Monday night's final bouts automatically entered the Canadian finals to be held here May 13-15. George Denniston, registration chairman of the central Ontario branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, said losers can go to the finals if they pay their own way.

Central Ontario, which is allowed to enter 20 fighters into the Canadian championships, will have a maximum of 19. Lloyd Lawrence of Toronto had no opponent in the 156-pound class Monday night and got an automatic berth in the finals. If he'd had an opponent, the losers also would have been eligible for the Canadian finals.

COULDN'T CONTINUE

Nine final bouts were scheduled but Gene Powers, 148-pound fighter from Toronto, suffered a cut left eye in a semi-final and couldn't continue. He was scheduled to meet Sonny Forbes of Toronto. The Ontario athletic commission ruled both fighters eligible for the Canadian finals.

Winners of the Dominion championships will represent Canada at the British Empire Games in Vancouver this summer.

Wings Smash Havana 9-4

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rochester Red Wings are wasting no time in showing the newer members of the International League why they won the league pennant race and batting championship last year.

The Wings smashed out 14 hits off six pitchers Monday night in a 9-4 victory over the Cuban Sugar Kings at Havana that brought the Wings' won-lost record to 6-3 for the season. That's only good for third place in the percentages right now, but in games won and lost Rochester is even with Buffalo (4-1) and actually half a game better off than second-place Syracuse (3-1).

All of the league's other clubs were rained out Monday.

Barn Destroyed Raging Fire At Alderville

ROSENEATH (ENS) — A frame barn, 34 x 50 feet with a steel roof, on the farm of Amos Marsden, on the Alderville Reserve, burned to the ground on Saturday afternoon.

The fire is believed to have started from flying sparks from a grass fire, entering the stable through an open door and igniting some straw.

In a matter of minutes the entire barn was a blazing inferno.

Twenty minutes from the time the fire was first noticed, the entire barn had collapsed and burned to a smouldering ruins.

Mr. Marsden had started a fire in the morning to burn off some long grass and had watched it closely.

About 4:30 p.m. he had gone to the house for a few minutes, coming out he saw the barn on fire. Alone at the time and the fire spread so rapidly, he was unable to do anything.

A large crowd gathered, but to stand back and watch it burn was all that could be done.

The Marsden farm is situated one-half mile east of the Alderville War Memorial. The barn had not been used for farming purposes for three years.

The loss is estimated at $1,500. There was no insurance.

Would Retaliate With A-Bomb

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Premier Georgi Malenkov told the Supreme Soviet Monday that if atomic weapons were used in a third world war against Russia, "there can be no doubt that the aggressor would be crushed by the same weapon."

Such an adventure, he added, would "lead inescapably to the downfall of the capitalist social system."

Nikita S. Khrushchev, first secretary of the Soviet Communist party, joined Malenkov in denouncing United States policy as aggressive.

Addressing the Supreme Soviet after Malenkov, Khrushchev said: "If anybody thinks, as Hitler thought, that we are weak, we will show them, like Hitler, just how weak we are.

"If the imperialists are thinking of attacking us, we will teach them a lesson, just as we taught Hitler."

Drop Quebec Income Tax Sign With Ottawa—MP Plea

OTTAWA (CP)—A Liberal backbencher from Quebec has suggested that the Quebec government give up its new 15-per-cent personal income tax in favor of a tax agreement with the federal government.

Bona Arsenault, Bonaventure, said Monday in the Commons that agreement might be reached on that basis, with Quebec retaining its right to levy corporation taxes and succession duties.

A federal tax agreement with Quebec, the only province without one, would allow the province to share fully in the country's economic growth, he said as the House resumed the budget debate after an 11-day Easter recess.

FULL DEDUCTION URGED

Leon Balcer (PC — Trois-Rivieres) said the government should allow a full deduction of the Quebec income tax from federal payments instead of the five-per-cent deduction allowed by federal tax laws. That proposal was rejected by the government in Finance Minister Abbott's budget speech April 6.

A related proposal was put forward by Opposition Leader Drew who asked that the 1950 federal-provincial conference on constitutional amendments be resumed and allowed to discuss all federal-provincial problems, including fiscal ones.

His motion was made as the Commons considered a government motion to bring in the estimates of several departments. It was ruled out of order and Mr. Drew withdrew it.

CRITICIZED GOVERNMENT

Speaker Rene Beaudoin said the motion paralleled a Progressive Conservative non-confidence motion under discussion in the budget debate. The latter motion criticized the government for "failure" to reach agreement with the provinces on a clearly defined reallocation of taxing powers.

Mr. Drew said every province had asked for a conference on taxation and constitutional issues. As he did before the Easter recess, he urged Prime Minister St. Laurent to summon such a conference. The prime minister did not reply.

The opposition leader did not mention Quebec by name, but said that every province which has not signed a tax agreement has the right to levy income and corporation taxes and succession duties. A province in that position should get the same co-operation as in earlier days when taxes levied by several provinces were collected for them by the federal government.

Under the post-war tax agreements, provinces have "rented" to the federal government their right to collect personal and corporation income taxes and succession duties in return for annual federal payments. Ontario, the last to sign, differed from the others in retaining its right to collect succession duties.

Mail Speed-Up

TORONTO (CP)—A tremendous speed-up in sorting of mail was envisaged Monday by W. J. Turnbull, deputy postmaster general. Electronic sorting equipment to handle 200,000 letters an hour is in the offing for Canadian post offices he told the Toronto Graphic Arts Association.

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP)—Police and miners Monday night searched woods 30 miles from here where three Reserve Mines residents have been missing since Sunday. They failed to return from a fishing trip.

Now It's U.S. Complaining About Lack Of Consultation

GENEVA (CP) — Now it's the United States complaining about—of all things—lack of "consultation" by Canada.

John Foster Dulles, U.S. state secretary, raised the matter in a conversation with External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson of Toronto.

Speaking with mock gravity, Dulles said in effect:

Now look here Mike. You're always reproaching me with failing to consult Canada about something. So what do you do? You transfer your lighthouse keeper from Duck island, and you don't even let me know.

Duck island is in the St. Lawrence river. The lighthouse keeper, an old friend of the Dulles family, was transferred recently by the Canadian department of transport.

Pearson smilingly said he'd see what he can do to have the lighthouse keeper transferred back.

The transport department at Ottawa identified the lighthouse keeper as Wesley Earl Thomas. He recently was transferred to Point Albino, described as "a very desirable location" in the Port Colborne area. Duck island is in Lake Ontario, 18 miles south of Amherst island and about 70 miles west of Brockville.

Road Control Progress Made

OTTAWA (CP) — A federal-provincial highways conference Monday made steps towards provincial control of road traffic crossing provinces' boundaries.

Informants said that, in a general way, provincial delegates indicated their governments would be willing to take over this responsibility.

However, it appeared unlikely the long-disputed issued would be disposed of finally at the conference due to end Wednesday. Expectations were that tentative legislation would be drafted here and go back to the various cabinets for study.

The conference was called by the federal government as the result of a February decision of the British Privy Council ruling that the federal government has jurisdiction over interprovincial and international highway traffic. Road transport within provinces is under provincial jurisdiction.

Troops Rehabilitate Village In Korea

IN KOREA (CP) — Moving toward rehabilitation of troop-occupied section of Korea, United Nations forces Saturday re-established the village of Chinmokchong in the Canadian sector of the front, less than a mile from the demilitarized zone.

The move allows 95 Korean families to resume cultivation of 400 acres of soil unused since fighting began in June, 1950. Another 500 farms and their families will move into the area as construction progresses.

In a brief ceremony attended by UN officials, the commander of the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade, Brig. J. V. Allard, acting on behalf of all Commonwealth forces in Korea, cut a white tape, officially opening the new village.

Committee To Advise Board Policy

Three Men Named To Handle Problems Of Board Of Works

The board of works Monday night recommended the establishment of a special three-man committee to advise city council on matters of policy pertaining to the works department.

Ald. Art Burrows, chairman of the board of works, announced today he had selected Aldermen Pat Anglesey and Harold Rehill to act with him on the committee. They will consult with city engineer A. E. Chalmers on special problems such as details of subdivision agreements and large-scale projects involving detailed planning, such as major sewage projects.

One of the reasons for the new committee is a matter of council procedure. The board of works consists of all members of the city council, and matters are often referred to it in its function as the committee o fthe whole council. Many of these questions have no specific reference to board of works policy, but succeed in dragging out board meetings to the point where there is a tendency to sacrifice proper attention to board policy.

LASTED 4 HOURS

On Monday night, for example, the board heard three delegations of citizens, and as a result did not adjourn until 11:45, after convening at 7:30. Before the meeting was over, most members were restless and obviously fatigued.

Specifically, the committee has been set up at the request of the city engineer, who pointed out that there were a number of major problems coming up in his department, "some of them $100,000 problems."

Heading the list is undoubtedly the question of eliminating pollution in the Otonabee river and Little Lake, and the request of the board of health for bylaws to control the situation.

The board of health have asked city council, where practicable, to extend the sewer system in the north end of the city, near the river, and to have sanitary sewer connections made to riverside premises.

The medical officer of health, Dr. J. P. Wells, told the board of health that a great deal of the pollution comes from riverside properties at the north-end of the city. Leaky septic tanks are suspected.

Dr. Wells sugested that the sewer system should be extended on the west side of the river from is present limit on Langton St. to Lot 9 on Water St.

ASK FOR BYLAW

The board of health also asked council to pass a bylaw, under a section recently added to the Municipal Act, prohibiting and regulating the discharge of certain matter into the sewage system.

Ald. John Dewart, chairman of the board of health, told the board of works that the amendment to the Municipal Act was an attempt to put teeth into municipal sewage disposal bylaws to help clear up the pollution all over the province.

The city engineer said that the bylaw would require considerable preparation. It would enable the city not only to control the disposal of industrial waste matter but the use of sanitary sewers for COMPLAINTS FROM RESIDENTS of North Monaghan township are not all aimed at the official city dump. Neighbors have been strongly complaining about this collection of junk and metal salvaged from the garbage disposal site. Nearby residents say the mattressess and rags attract nesting rats and there is a powerful odor coming from it. School children pick up some of the junk as they pass to and from school and then abandon it along the road, at school or at home. Township clerk Bruce Johnston said Joseph Fader, the owner of the property a mile south west of the dump, has no salvage licence, although he has permission of the city sanitation committee to take scrap. However, the price of scrap is very low and most operators are hanging on to it, hoping the price will rise. The result on the Fader property, say North Monaghan residents, is a menace to the public health. Some of the collection and the wagon it is transported in are shown here.

Red Sullivan Picked With All-Stars

Redheaded George Sullivan has won yet another honor to his hockey career. The Peterborough-born centre of the Hershey Bears was a unanimous choice for the American Hockey League all-star team.

Next year the Hershey centre moves up to Chicago Black Hawks of the NHL. He was with the Boston Bruins, Hershey's parent club a year ago, but was sent back to the AHL for further seasoning. Now the Hawk's Bill Tobin has bought the pride of Rogers St. to bolster the Hawks' sagging fortunes.

George, who spends his summers with his wife and son in Otonabee, got his start with the Lakefield junior "B" team in the OHA. After a season with the local Oddfellows he moved to the junior "A" St. Catharines Tee-Pees and from there, up.

Summers George spends playing softball. Among his most enthusiastic fans is his mother, a widow, Mrs. John J. Sullivan of Rogers St.

Names familiar to NHL fans a few years back are on the AHL all-star team. Flanking George are Gaye Stewart and Ed Slowinski, both now with Buffalo. Defencemen are playing coach Frank Eddolls of Buffalo and Pittsburgh's Frank Mathers, only repeater from the 1952-53 team. In goal is Pittsburgh's Gil Mayer.

The team was chosen by hockey writers in the six AHL cities — Buffalo, Cleveland, Hershey, Pittsburgh, Providence and Syracuse.

Rain Suits That's For Us

The female of the species is no more finicky than the male in the matter of selecting new styles for spring.

A couple of weeks ago the sanitation committee of city council asked for tenders on rain coats and hats for employees of the sanitation department.

Monday afternoon the conference table in the council committee room at city hall was piled high with bundles containing samples from the various firms submitting tenders.

But Superintendent J. E. Pierce said the employees of his department had seen the waterproof suits worn by the parks and board of works departments and had decided that was what they wanted.

"It was at the request of the men that we decided on the coats," Ald. Rehill said. "I thought at the time that the coats were liable to catch on the cans and cartons while the men were working."

"Well, all the men prefer the suits now that they've seen the other employees wearing them," Mr. Pierce said.

The committee asked City Clerk E. A. Outram to write the tendering firms explaining the change in uniforms.

Seek To Eliminate Objection By Making Changes At Garbage Dump

Steps were taken by the sanitation committee of city council Monday afternoon to alleviate some of the conditions which have led neighboring townships to protest against official and unofficial methods of garbage dumping.

In an effort to dissuade city residents from dumping refuse on country side-roads, the committee recommended leaving the gates of the landfill project open for a trial period. At present, the gates are closed at 5 p.m. five days a week and at noon on Saturday for the weekend.

The city will also canvass engineers of local industries to investigate methods of disposing of waste oils and chemicals.

The townships generally have complained about the habit of city-dwellers dumping their refuse on side-roads. Specifically, North Monaghan township is seeking a court injunction to prevent further dumping in the township by the city of any refuse other than that which cannot be burned in the city's incinerator.

COMPLAINTS OF ODOR

Reeve Willard Waterman received complaints from North Monaghan township residents about a bad odor from the city's landfill project. He has also charged that the city was allowing people to take scrap from the project and pile it in the township.

Ald. Bill Beggs, chairman of the sanitation committee, admitted on Monday that there was a "very bad" odor coming from the dump. He said it was not coming from the landfill project, however, but from the old dump, which had been levelled and the contents buried.

The smell was coming from oil and chemicals dumped there by local industries, Ald. Beggs said. The old dump was saturated with these materials and the spring thaw and heavy rains had brought them to the surface.

"We had the same trouble a couple of years ago," he said. "We may have to get permission to burn it, although some of the chemicals may not be burnable and might require some sort of neutralizer."

Superintendent J. E. Pierce explained that the question of burning tied in with the closing hours at the project. It was because of complaints of smoke from burning garbage that the closing hours had been set.

Ald. Harold Rehill said he had always been in favor of leaving the gates open but he realized it would be impossible to keep any semblance of cleanliness at the project unless an attendant was on hand to clean up the mess left by people dumping garbage after hours. A lot of people didn't want to drive all the way into the project because of the condition of the ground.

"But I don't feel the city are the offenders in the matter of dumping on side-roads," Ald. Rehill said. "I think in some instances we're being blamed for dumping some material that was never intended to reach the dump whether the gates were open or closed."

TAKING SCRAP

"It's been going on for years," Mayor Norman Graham said. "This trouble all started when one man started taking scrap from the project and dumping it all around his own yard. He lives right next to the township clerk."

"The biggest problem with leaving the gates open is that of fire," Ald. Beggs said. "We're afraid of fires more than anything else, especially on the weekends."

Mr. Pierce said he had left the gates open last weekend to see what the result would be.

"There wasn't too big a mess," Mr. Pierce said. "But we had cut a bunch of elm logs for getting the bulldozer out of the mud and these were all taken. And there were about a dozen places along the road where people had dumped refuse even though the gates were open."

"I agree with Ald. Rehill that leaving the gates open won't stop people from dumping along the roads," the mayor said. "But I think we should leave the gates open for a trial period; then if we can't handle the situation, we'll close them again."

At Ald. Beggs' suggestion, it was decided to place signs at the project warning people of the danger of fires.

"If we have a big fire, we'll just have to close the gates again," Ald. Rehill said.

PURCHASER of the plant of Timber Structures of Canada Ltd., David E Ness of Campbellford, will produce laminated arches, rafters and beams for building contractors; the new company will be known as "Timber Structures."
(Examiner Staff Photo)

David E. Ness Buys Plant Of Timber Co.

The plant of Timber Structures of Canada Ltd., has been purchased by David E. Ness of Campbellford and associates. Future plans for the new company, which will be known as Timber Structures, will include the production of laminated rafters, arches and beams and other structural features of building timbers.

Mr. Ness is president of Foldaway Furniture Company and Campbellford Planing Mills which jointly manufacture kitchen cabinets, wardrobes and general millwork for contractors. The acquisition of the new Peterborough plant will compliment the other two businesses.

Born in Montreal 36 years ago, Mr. Ness later moved to Sudbury where he received high school education. He enlisted in the RCAF at the beginning of the Second World War and became a fighter pilot attached to RAF and served in England, Belgium, Holland and Germany with the 2nd Tactical Air Force.

Mr. Ness participated over the Normandy Beachhead on D-Day, Arnheim and the crossing of the Rhine and was awarded the DFC for destroying six enemy aircraft, 25 locomotives, 85 transport trucks and eight buzz-bombs and was one of the first to practice tipping buzz-bombs with his wingtips. Lord Alexander, while governor-general of Canada, decorated him.

Since living in Campbellford, Mr. Ness has served two years on the town council, is a member of Rotary Club and interested in many comunity activities. He married an English girl while serving overseas and has three children. Mr. Ness' parents are tea planters in India.

Summer Theatre To Open Sixth Season

The last week in June the Peterborough Summer Theatre will open its sixth season at the Queen Mary Auditorium. Michael Sadlier has recently returned from Europe and plans are now well underway for the summer season.

This year's company will include Harry Geldard, Margaret Braidwood, and Ronald Bailey, who have all built up a large following at the theatre. Two new young actors Robert Shirrif and John Douglas, who have both been making a name for themselves at Hart House Theatre over the past two winter seasons make welcome additions to the company. Patricia Croft has just arrived out from England to join the company, and attractive young Margaret Griffin from Ottawa will be the resident ingenue.

Peter Mews will be coming up to Peterborough after the Stratford season for two plays, and among the other guest actors invited to appear at the theatre are Lorne Green and John Colicos. The young and versatile permanent company is rounded out with James Mainprize, Bill Bennett and Peggy Spenser, with Wilf Pegg designing the sets, and Douglas Henderson in charge backstage.

PLAYS CHOSEN

A versatile program has been chosen. The first half of the season will include, "Come Back Little Sheba," "A Lady Mislaid," "The Shop At Sly Corner," "The Whiteheaded Boy," and "Love's A Luxury." During the second half of the season "Rain," "Mister Roberts," "I Killed The Count," "Peg of My Heart," Nothing But The Truth," and "The Eagle Has Two Heads" will be presented.

TV ENTERPRISE

Michael Sadlier's European plans are now complete, and twenty-six half-hour TV films will go into production next fall shortly after the close of the summer theatre season. This series is named "Aggie," and will feature a well known film star, as yet unnamed, and the background for for the films is all of Europe, although most of the studio filming will be shot in London. The theme is melodrama, although Mr. Sadlier adds that the scripts contain a considerable amount of comedy.

Besides this series he has also taken an option on Stephen Potter's books, "Gamesmanship," "Lifemanship," and "One-up-manship," and he contemplates filming an entirely new type of television comedy show after "Aggie" is completed next year.

Thieves Attempt To Rob Store, Post Office

A breakin and an attempted breakin were reported in Durham county early today.

Thieves, apparently looking for federal government pension and family allowance cheques, rifled through the letters in the Bethany post office. Nothing was believed stolen.

Eighteen miles away, at the Orono 5c-$1 store, there was an attempted breakin, but for some reason the thieves were frightened away.

The Bethany post office is on Highway 7A, about 15 miles southwest of Peterborough. To get into it the thieves broke a window with a stone on the east side of the building. Then one of them reached in an undid the catch.

Mail was removed from the individual postal boxes and laid on the counter. Here the thieves apparently looked through it for the cheques.

Mansel Wright, postmaster, said today he didn't know if any of the mail was taken, but he didn't think so.

None of the letters was ripped open, indicating that the thieves knew what they were looking for. Federal government cheques come through at the end of the month, about this time.

The breakin was discovered by Mr. Wright when he came to work at 7 a.m. today.

C. H. Frost, manager of the Orono 5c-to-$1 store, said that here the thieves removed the storm window from a rear window on the store; then they smashed the glass. But something frightened them off.

Provincial police from Bowmanville are investigating both the breakin and attempted breakin.

New Bishop Named To Diocese

Bishop B. I. Webster To Move Here From Toronto

OTTAWA (CP)—Most Rev. Benjamin I. Webster, auxiliary bishop of Toronto since 1946, has been appointed Bishop of Peterborough.

Most Rev. Giovanni Panico, apostolic delegate to Canada, announced the appointment of the 56 year-old bishop Monday.

Bishop Webster succeeds Most Rev. J. G. Berry, who was appointed archbishop of Halifax last Dec. 2. The date of the bishop's installation in Peterborough will be announced later.

Bishop Webster, a native of Spofforth, England, received his early education in St. Catharines, and later attended St. Michael's College and St. Augustine's Seminary, Toronto.

He was ordained a priest May 26, 1923, and served as assistant in three parishes in Toronto and Orillia. Then he was pastor first at Grimsby and later at St. Mary's, Ont.

Fine Art Of Pottery Making Displayed To Enthusiasts

Do you know how to administer a Majolica finish? You would have learned if you had joined 80 odd amateur ceramists at the Peterborough Potters' Guild workshops over the weekend.

The Majolica finish, for giving pottery that extra sheen, was but one of many ceramic techniques shown to local enthusiasts by Konrad and Krystyna Sadowski, of Aurora, guest instructors at the ducts.

The Sadowskis, who fled their native Poland during the war, have raised their craft to an art. Most of the design work is done by Mrs. Sadowski, while her husband turns out the finished profinished products.

Techniques of weaving, some of them dating back to the 16th century, also were demonstrated by the versatile Mrs. Sadowski. She showed how she dyes all her own linens and hemp used in weaving according to an age-old Polish method.

The Sadowskis moved from Poland to Nova Scotia, and own a studio and workshop near the artistic settlement of Peggy's Cove, N.S. From September to May they teach pottery and design at the Ontario College of Art in Toronto. This does not leave them much time to spend at their own home and studio in Aurora.

Members of the Peterborough Potters' Guild are planning a visit to the Aurora workshop where creations of both husband and wife are on display. Among the varied products of their talents are tapestries, rugs, glazed dishes and lamps.

The workshops, held Friday evening and Saturday afternoon, were organized by Alma Dobbin, Lily Taylor and June Fraser of the Potters' Guild. They were under the general sponsorship of Ken Robinson and Mrs. C. C. Pilon of the Peterborough Recreation Commission.

In addition to a large turnout of local potters and weavers, there were delegations from Oshawa and Port Hope. One official said she was "very pleased" with the public response to the Sadowski visit.

The Sadowskis were thanked by Mrs. J. G. Wharry. Refreshments were served Saturday by Mrs. Ernest Thompson and her assistants.

Release Three Men

MONTREAL (CP)—Three men, picked up for questioning in connection with the slaying of Frank Battaglia, 39-year-old underworld character, were released at noon Monday. The three were not named.

Bethany Euchre Party

BATHANY (ENS) — Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Bigelow entertained with a progressive euchre party at their home on Friday night, donating the proceeds to the Ladies' Guild of St. Paul's church. There were 16 tables of players with prizes for high score awarded to Walter Neals and Mrs. Leonard Driver; consolation awards to Arnold Porteous and Mrs. William Phillips; lucky birthday priez to Emory Smith. Lunch was served.

Colorful Arabs Pledge Loyalty Before Queen

ADEN (CP) — Colorfully turbaned Arabs, sultans and sheiks of Britain's Aden protectorate pledged their loyalty today before the Queen.

Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh arrived at this Indian ocean seaport colony early today aboard the royal liner Gothic on the homeward stretch of their world circling tour which began last November. The Queen, dressed in a lemon-yellow silk gown, held an umbrella as protection from the sun as she and the duke rode in an open car to a reviewing stand placed in front of a statue of Queen Victoria.

A camel corps and gaily uniformed Aden Bedouin troopers marched past to pay their respects.

"We remain ever loyal to Your Majesty and very sensible to the great honor we have received by Your Majesty's presence among us today," ran the address of loyalty read by two senior sultans on behalf of nearly 20 rulers of the protectorate.

QUEEN THINNER

The Queen appeared much thinner than at the start of the tour, but despite the 90-degree heat she looked as cool as in the halls of Buckingham Palace as she climaxed the reception ceremony by conferring knighthoods on the RAF's Middle East commander-in-chief, Air Marshal Claude Pelly, and the chief holy man of the protectorate, Seyid Abubakr Bin Sheikh Al Kaf.

Since Moslem holy men kneel only to God, Seyid Sir Abubakr rested on his knee on a short-legged chair as the Queen touched him on the shoulder with the ceremonial sword.

Monday night the Queen honored members of the Gothic's crew who served her during the 19,000-mile journey that she and the duke had made since they joined the ship at Jamaica Nov. 25.

COLOMBO (Reuters) — Prime ministers from five Southeast Asian countries meet here Wednesday, faced with the problem of how to keep Asia from becoming a battleground for opposing world blocs. They are from India, Pakistan, Burma, Indonesia and Ceylon.

Oliver Ready Rewrite Law

TORONTO (CP)—Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal leader said Monday night his party would "rewrite the constitution between province and municipality if returned to power."

He spoke at the York Centre Liberal Association meeting and said municipalities are entitled to a new deal from the Progressive Conservative government.

"The position of many municipalities is serious," he added.

"They have reached the danger limit in their main source of revenue—real estate. At the same time they are receiving niggardly treatment from the province."

Mr. Oliver advocated a roundtable conference between provincial and local governments to decide on "fair division of the fields of taxation and expenditure."

Labor Council Lauds PC Legislation

TORONTO (CP) — A piece of Progressive Conservative legislation was lauded Monday by the Toronto and Lakeshore Labor Council of the CCL, the labor body committed to support of the CCF.

The council said it "heartily welcomed" enactment at the last legislature session of the Fair Accommodation Practices Act, which provides penalties of $50 to $100 for displaying signs of racial discrimination.

The labor body also recommended that all anti-discrimination laws in Ontario now be brought into one branch of government for administration. This move, it said, would make possible the hiring of a full-time staff.

Union Shouldn't Get Wrongful Blame

TORONTO (CP)—A union should not be charged with an illegal strike unless it is proven the union executive authorized the walkout, B. W. Grossberg, counsel for the Carpenters Union (AFL) argued before the Ontario labor relations board Monday.

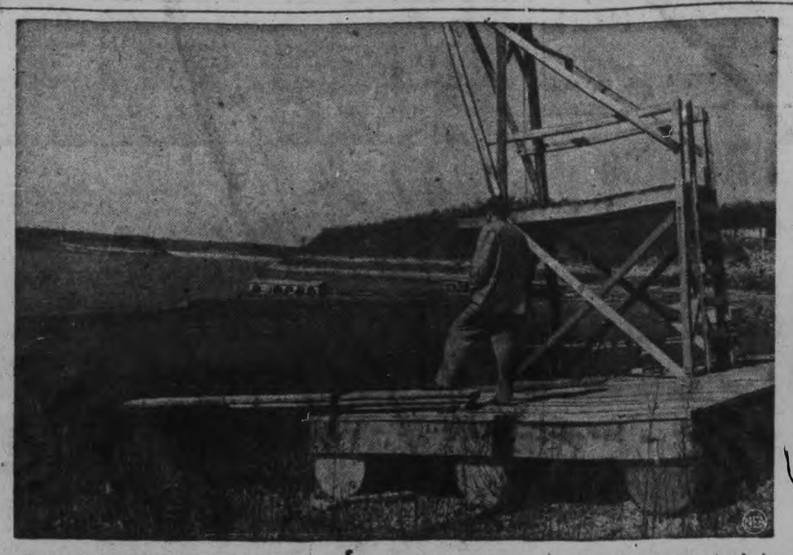
The board was hearing an application by the Windsor builders and contractors exchange to have a strike of carpenters at a $4,000,000 addition to the Chrysler Corporation plant declared illegal. The strike started last week after the Carpenters Union protested against conveyor installation work being done by the Boilermakers' Union, also an AFL affiliate.

Decision was reserved by the board.

Uniform Regulations Requested For Schools

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—An Erie county grand jury, investigating the Cheektowaga school fire that claimed the lives of 15 children, Monday urged the establishment of uniform regulations to ensure the safety of school buildings.

The recommendation, part of a 2,500-word report in state Supreme Court, was addressed to the state legislature and "other appropriate authorities."



The grand jury said the heating plant of the frame annex to the Cleveland Hill elementary school was "extremely defective," but said it could not establish the cause of the fire March 31.

Victim Doctor's Father

DETROIT (AP)—Dr. Heinz Simon was on duty at Saratoga General Hospital Monday when a traffic victim was admitted. He saw at a glance that the victim was his father, Paul Simon, 65, who had been struck by a truck while crossing a street. After treating him for half an hour, the doctor pronounced his father dead.

Apologizes To Joe

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Herald Tribune says Maj.-Gen. Arthur R. Wilson (ret.) has apologized to Pte. G. David Schine and Senator McCarthy for offering $100 to any non-commissioned officer in the United States who would "sock" Schine. The Herald Tribune says Wilson wrote letters to Schine and McCarthy calling his offer "ill-tempered." Schine is the centre of the current dispute between the army and the Wisconsin Republican senator.

IT'S A LAND-LOVER NOW — This swimming dock, equipped with pontoons, once used to float in Grand Lake, near Grove, Okla. But it is now landlocked as a result of the severe drought that moved the lake's shore line. The springboards now extend over weeds that grow where the water was once 20 feet deep.

Will Bar Surprise Witnesses

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Karl Mundt said today that any surprise "mystery" witnesses will be barred from testifying in the senatorial inquiry into the controversy between Senator McCarthy and United States Army officials.

Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens was recalled for further cross-examination in this fourth day of nationally televised hearings into charges by Stevens and others that the Wisconsin Republican senator and his aides sought special military favors for a former aide, Pte. G. David Schine, and their counter-charges that army officials sought to halt or divert McCarthy's search for subversives in the army.

With McCarthy promising to produce "information of tremendous importance" to the investigating sub-committee from at least one, and possibly three, witnesses he refused to name or comment upon in advance, Mundt, Republican senator from South Dakota, said in an interview:

"There will be no surprise witnesses before this committee."

EXAMINING EVIDENCE FIRST

He added that if McCarthy comes forward with any startling new evidence, the sub-committee's staff will have to go over it first.

Monday's session broke up after an angry exchange between McCarthy and Senator John L. McClellan of Arkansas, senior Democrat on the investigations subcommittee which McCarthy normally heads. He has stepped off as a member for this inquiry.

This came when McClellan said Stevens had authority to overrule his subordinates and give Schine an army commission and thus grant McCarthy and his chief counsel, Roy M. Cohn, "what they were seeking." Stevens said he had authority, but never would issue such a commission to anyone.

McCarthy broke in to say he thought McClellan had implied that McCarthy "could be bought off." Any such implication, he shouted, was "completely improper and unfair."

There was applause from spectators as the Wisconsin senator declared:

"There is no evidence that this chairman (McCarthy) ever could have been bought off at any hearing and never will be bought off at any hearing."

Mundt, who took over as chairman from McCarthy for this inquiry, said demonstrating spectators will be escorted out by police in the future.

Stevens, in a full day in the witness chair Monday, also:

1. Acknowledged he once suggested that McCarthy suspend hearings on alleged subversion at Fort Monmouth, N.J., let the army take over, and then step back in if he was not satisfied. Stevens said he did not contemplate that the McCarthy inquiry would be halted.

2. Denounced as an "unequivocal lie" statements by McCarthy and Cohn that he once suggested they shift their attention to the navy or the air force.

3. Said McCarthy never threatened him if favors for Schine were nor forthcoming. Nor did Cohn ever voice threats to him personally, the secretary said.

McCarthy and Cohn manoeuvred in questioning Stevens to try to establish Francis P. Carr, a principal in the case, as an unbiased witness.

As McCarthy's chief of staff, Carr is the author of half a dozen memoranda the Wisconsin senator made public March 12 to support his charge that Stevens and his aides tried to "blackmail" the group into dropping its army investigation.

One of these, dated Dec. 9, said "I am getting fed up with the way the army is trying to use Schine as a hostage to pressure us to stop our hearings on the army."

Pay Increase At Ford 'Not Justified'

WINDSOR (CP)—Rhys M. Sale, president of Ford Motor Company of Canada, said in a speech prepared for delivery Monday to the company's annual shareholders' meeting, no increase in labor costs could be justified by the business outlook for the year ahead.

He spoke of negotiations under way between the company and Local 200, United Automobile Workers' Union (CIO-CCL) for a 1954 contract. The previous agreement expired in February.

Mr. Sale said the union asked extensive amendments to the 1952 contract under which no work stoppage had occurred. He said the demands would add about $14,000,000 a year to company labor costs.

SUBMITTED TO BOARD

The dispute has been submitted to the Ontario labor relations board for conciliation.

In a statement issued for release at the same time as Mr. Sale's speech, Charles McDonald, Local 200 president, said Mr. Sale should not equate the local's demands to all company employees. Local 200 bargains only for the Windsor plant. He said the $14,000,000 figure was accurate only as applied to all Canadian employees of Ford.

Windsor Solicitor Has Time Trouble

WINDSOR (CP)—Residents of Windsor didn't lose any more sleep than their city solicitor over the arrival of daylight time—it appears the whole thing may be illegal.

Council passed the measure last Wednesday over opposition from theatre and restaurant owners and other groups who felt their rights were violated.

City solicitor James E. Watson said Monday, after a labor group decided to investigate the legality of the resolution, it is doubtful it would stand up in court.

No Extension

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Gregg said Monday in the Commons the government has decided against extending unemployment insurance benefits past April 15, deadline for payment of "supplementary" benefits to seasonal unemployed.

Mass Evavuation

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—More than 11,000 persons streamed out of buildings Monday as Spokane said a mass evacuation was a success. It was the United States' first attempt at such in civil defence exercises. Normal routine in this city of 175,000 came to a virtual stop during the 30-minute test.

Would Preserve Fruit Lands Against Industry

HAMILTON (CP)—A committee to study means for the preservation of the Niagara peninsula fruit lands against the encroachment of industry and housing developments was organized here Monday.

The committee is composed of representatives of farmers' organizations, fruit and vegetable growers, women's institutes, canning industry, wine industry and municipal and provincial governments.

A series of meetings will be held throughout the peninsula to study the problem.

Three resolutions were approved.

1. That fruit lands throughout Ontario in general and the Niagara peninsula in particular, are suffering encroachment by industry and housing developments at such a rate that it is necessary to take steps to preserve the remaining horticultural lands.

2. That the assembly constitute itself as a committee to explore ways and means for the preserving of fruitlands.

3. That a sub-committee be appointed to survey the general picture of agriculture and planning problems in the Niagara area.

Dr. E. E. Palmer, director of the horticultural station at Vineland, said that if the present rate of encroachment continued, there would be no fruit farming in the peninsula in 40 years.

Canadian Prospects Believed Better Than Any Others In World

By FORBES RHUDE

TORONTO (CP)—Canadians can look to the future with greater confidence than perhaps any other people in the world, says the Ontario industrial review, released today by the trade and industry branch of the province's department of planning and development.

The forces for expansion operating in Canada is adds, are solidly based and capable of supporting a long-term expansion program.

Increasing population and increasing standards of living are creating a larger domestic market and reducing dependence on export trade.

Raw materials and essential minerals are being exploited by new processes and augmented by new discoveries while those of other countries are diminishing.

PRODUCTION MAINTAINED

Defence production of nearly six per cent of the gross national product is likely to be maintained, with special impact on aircraft, shipbuilding, electronics and construction industries.

Along with these, the review continues, are new projects such as the proposed St. Lawrence seaway; power developments in Quebec, Ontario, British Columbia and the Northwest Territories; oil and natural gas pipe lines; expansion of air, rail and highway systems; establishment of new industries and expansion of present ones.

Additionally, Canadians had shown their ability, nationally and individually, to plan and finance a long-term program. They had financed about 85 per cent of their growth and attracted capital from the United States, about $500,000,000 annually, and from Britain, between $125,000,000 and $150,000,000 in 1953, compared with an average of about $35,000,000 annually from 1949 to 1952.

The upsurge in British investment was especially significant and indicative of Britain's increasing speed towards recovery which could well lead to the final closing of the United Kingdom-Canada dollar gap, to greater markets in Britain for Canadian exports and to an ever-broadening British participation in Canada's growth.

Canadian manufacturing despite its great growth, the review comments, is still far from the saturation point and opportunities for new expanded industries exist in many fields.

Hospital Deficit

WINDSOR (CP) — At the first annual meeting since an investigation into its affairs by a royal commission in 1952, Riverview Hospital, formerly East Windsor Hospital, Monday night reported an operating deficit of more than $87,000 for 1953. Higher salaries and improved facilities were said to account for the deficit.

Request Packaging Laws Made Stronger

OTTAWA (CP)—The government Monday was urged to strengthen Canadian laws governing the use of the term "made in Canada" on packages.

CCF Leader Coldwell said in the Commons Canada should prohibit the sale of articles imported from a foreign country and packed in a container bearing a "Made in Canada" label. In some cases, the package also contained the words "Printed in Canada."

EnniskillenDramaClub Give Play In Bethany

BETHANY (ENS) — Under the auspices of the United Church Women's Association, the Enniskillen Dramatic Club presented their musical comedy "Happiness Ahead" to a very appreciative audience in the Bethany Town Hall.

The play was directed by Mrs. R. Seymour and included splendid muscal choruses, solos, quarters and string music, besides lots of laughs, all presented in a beautiful garden setting with color lighting effects by Lawrence Wearn. There were 26 members in the cast and the ladies of the WA served lunch at the close of their excellent performance.

New Custom

Found Radio-Active

TOKYO (AP)—The newspaper Asahi today said Japanese port authorities found an American-owned freighter radio-active when it reached Yokohama Monday with a shipload of copra from the Marshall and Caroline islands. The ship, Donner's Knot, had not been quarantined, however, and the cargo itself had not reacted to geiger counters.

Jaw Broken, Kills Self

BUFFALO, Okla. (AP)—A 62-year-old motorist, in agony with a broken jaw, shot himself to death shortly after being injured in an automobile collision Monday. Police said Fred Barnes stepped out of his damaged auto, placed a .38-calibre pistol to his right temple and fired.

Charges Abbott Unworried About Textile Industry

OTTAWA (CP)—An Ontario Progressive Conservative Monday accused Finance Minister Abbott of implying that if textile companies are not able to continue to operate they "would have to go by the boards."

Wallace Nesbitt, Oxford, said in the Commons that a great deal of the dislocation in the textile, machine tool and related industries has been caused by present government policies.

He said the implication of Mr. Abbott's statement during a radio press conference has caused a great deal of concern in Canada.

The government should state how far it plans to go in allowing Canadian industries to be put out of operation by competition from foreign countries. It should also say if Canada was to continue to have a textile industry and to what extent.

"There are many considerations other than the economic one which require that we have a textile industry in Canada," Mr. Nesbitt said. "The country was glad enough to have one in 1939 when the war broke out and this applies to the machine tool industry as well."

He urged amendments to the Excise Tax Act and the Customs Act as a means to assist the textile industry to survive.

At the night sitting, Mr. Nesbitt protested against a provision in the budget providing for taxation of mutual fire and wind insurance companies.

It was not fair to reduce taxes on diamonds and pinball machines and impose them on essential services. Mutual fire and wind insurance companies were non-profit organizations and should be exempt from taxation.

Mr. Nesbitt said a tax on the surpluses of these companies would make it difficult for them to accumulate large enough surpluses to make refunds to their customers.

SHOULD DO MORE

John A. Charlton (PC — Brant-Haldimand) said the government should do something more for the textile industry than it has in the past. The industry was necessary in wartime and should be kept alive during peace.

Textile plants employed more than 100,000 persons a few years ago. Now there were fewer than 80,000 employees and many worked three days a week or less.

The farm implement industry was in a similar position, affected by the reduction in farmers' buying power. The government spoke of the value of stores of wheat, but they could buy nothing unless they were turned into cash.

Unions are recognizing the importance of farm prosperity, Mr. Charlton said. "Cheap food and employment do not go together."

How to KEEP FIT after 50

In the old days fifty seemed the signal to slow down—take things easy—watch your diet—get more rest. It's still good advice. But these days you can face fifty with many interesting and active years ahead,—active, that is, if you can avoid backache and the "tired-out" feeling, due to kidney and bladder disorders, that often develop around that age. For more than 60 years Dodd's Kidney Pills have been helping men and women of all ages to keep kidneys and bladder in good order,—helping them to feel better, to work better, and get more fun out of life. If you are approaching fifty, or past it, Dodd's Kidney Pills may help you, too. You can depend on Dodd's. 54

The Dog and the Bone

A DOG was crossing a plank bridge over a stream with a piece of meat in his mouth, when he happened to see his own reflection in the water. He thought it was another dog with a piece of meat twice as big; so he let go his own, and flew at the other dog to get the larger piece. But, of course, all that happened was that he got neither: for one was only a shadow and the other was carried away by the current.

Rev. T. M. Webb Inducted Norwood Baptist

NORWOOD (ENS) — The Rev. T. M. Webb was inducted into the pastoral charge of Norwood and Indian River Baptist churches on Monday evening in the Norwood Baptist church.

Thomas Merritt Webb was born and raised in Westminster, N.S., and from there moved to Oxford, N.S. Norwood is his seventh pastoral charge, having been minister of Cambridge United church, Hants Co., N.S., New Ross Baptist church, Lunenburg Co., N.S., Cambridge Baptist church, Kings Co., N.S.; Medfield Baptist church, Mass.; Coverdale Baptist church, Albert Co., N.B.; Elgin Baptist church, N.B.

MARITIME EVANGELIST

He has also served three and a half years evangelistic work throughout the Maritimes. He attended the Acadia University in Wolfville where he was graduated with a Batchelor of Arts degree and also Gordon College in Boston where he was graduated with a Batchelor of Divinity degree.

The convention he has just left to come to Norwood and Indian River is the Maritime United Baptist Convention.

The order of service for the induction of Mr. Webb began with the invocational prayer by Paul Wicks, Moderator of the Peterborough Association of Baptist churches and a deacon of Park Street Baptist church here.

The statement of the church with particular reference to Mr. Webb's call was read by Mrs. Jim Dallman, clerk. The scripture lesson was read by Rev. Geo. Downing of Lakefield Baptist church and taken from the Gospel according to St. John, the 11th chapter.

The choir rendered "Thou Art my Rock, O Blessed Re'eemer" accompanied by Mrs. Roy Nevins who also played for hymns. A prayer was given by the Rev. J. Galloway of Port Hope Baptist church.

The address was taken by Dr. T. B. McDormant of Toronto, the General Secretary of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec. He is a nephew of Mr. Webb.

He spoke of the Cross of Jesus Christ and its importance in the lives of men. He said it was the Cross that made Christianity so unique among the religions of the world. He sees in the Cross the revelation of the true being of God. He stated that Jesus Christ declared God's judgement of death on sin through the Cross.

Dr. McDormant also said the Cross is a translation for us, a translation from the kingdom of darkness into the kingdom of light. He mentioned and considered that the Christian life does not end at the Cross but has its beginning there.

He closed his sermon with a little poem by Christopher Morrow, "The Telephone Directory," in which that book is seen as list of people in all walks of life and in all moods which are all bonded together into one single unit. He compared it to the Christians who are all one in Christ.

After the address Miss Martha Lowndes rendered a solo "Sometimes When My Faith Would Falter." The induction service then began with Rev. L. Keith Daniel, of Belleville Baptist church, Vice-Moderator of the Peterborough Association, reading. The induction prayer was given by Rev. Ivan C. Morgan of Murray Street Baptist church, the President of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec. The hymn "Jesus, Wondrous Saviour" was followed by the benediction pronounced by Mr. Wicks.

A series of informal welcomes was then given to Mr. and Mrs. Webb, the first by Mr. Roy Nevins representing both Norwood and Indian River churches. Mrs. Webb was presented with a bouquet of gladioli. Rev. H. K. Wright welcomed them on behalf of Norwood United church.

On behalf of the village of Norwood, J. G. Nixon, the reeve, welcomed them also. Paul Wicks welcomed them for the Peterborough Association of Baptist churches and Rev. I. C. Morgan on behalf of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec. Mr. Webb then responded to the welcoming of himself and his wife to the town.

Afterwards in the church parlours a reception was held including a lunch and tea. Thanks was given by Mr. Webb. Rev. R. D. Duncanson of St. Andrew's Presbyerian church gave his greetings to Mr. Webb for his church. The ladies who poured the tea were Mrs. H. Pettersen and Mrs. Geo. Baptie.

Bank Manager Retires

STIRLING (ENS)— Mr. S. L. Lucas, former manager of the Bank of Montreal, Stirling and now of Glencoe retires at the end of the month. He has been in the bank service since 1911 and plans to spend the summer months with his daughter Mrs. Bud Cross in Stirling and then leaves for Arizona where he will make his permanent home.

WELL TANNED and rested after a 10-day Easter vacation in Bermuda, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent chats with his daughter, Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell, as he arrived at Montreal Saturday. Mr. St. Laurent, who said he played an "old man's game of golf" during his stay, returned to Ottawa by train.

Canadian Roses Better Planted In Fall

Contrary to common belief, according to James C. Taylor, professor in the horticultural department at OAC, the fall is an excellent time to plant Canadian species of rose.

He told members of the Peterborough Horticultural society, that fall planted rose bushes are likely to grow faster and stronger than those planted in the spring. One of the main reasons for this is the absence of long storage periods necessary for spring planting. In the fall the plants are removed from the nursery grounds and immediately place in soil. It is possible that the roots will begin to sprout before the frost sets in.

Mr. Taylor also advised against the close cropping of rose bushes before the winter months. Much of the plant food ordinarily retained in the stems is wasted when these stems are cut off, and consequently this food must be replaced the following spring before buds and eventual blooms begin to sprout. In respect to winter kill, it is better to leave the branches on and let the frost kill what it will. In many cases much of the stem will be unaffected. As far as frost creeping down the stems into the roots, the danger is greater if any, when the stems are close-cropped.

CAREFUL PLANTING

In placing the plant in the ground, care should be taken that the swollen area on the main stem, just above the roots, is placed so that about one inch of earth covers it when the planting is completed. Mr. Taylor said that in his experience bushier and fuller plants develop when the plants are spaced from 24 to 30 inches apart. Usual spacing is about 18 inches.

When spring-planting roses, the plants should be removed from their wrappings as soon as they arrive from the nursery and placed in the ground immediately. Moisture is necessary to any plant, and it is often beneficial to place plants just out of winter storage in water for a few hours.

In discussing the origin of the rose, Mr. Taylor dated it as having being referred to by the Greeks as long ago as 500 B.C. At that time it was described as having more than 60 petals, approximately twice as many as the contemporary varieties. Many of the modern rose varieties, however, are descendants of the Chinese tea rose brought to Europe during the 17th century.

Roses vary in size from small plants which can be entirely covered by a large tea cup, to the Rosa Maxillimus which has been known to grow over 80 feet in height, have a trunk circumference of two and one-third feet, and contain from 50 to 60 thousand buds and blooms.

In looking for a good rose plant, Mr. Taylor stressed two qualities as essential (a) natural plant vigor (b) resistance to disease. In his opinion the Crimson Glory was the best of the bush variety, and the Flower of Fairchild, the best of the climbing variety.

Following his discussion of the rose, Mr Taylor showed some excellent color slides of roses and other colorful flora. He maintained throughout, that although specialization in one flower had its qualities, it took all kiinds of them, blooming in different periods of the season to make a successful and continually beautiful garden.

Three Charged After Looting Wrecked Auto

LINDSAY (ENS) — Three youths from Ida, one a wholesale sporting goods salesman operating out of Peterborough, appeared in magistrate's court here yesterday charged with the theft of a car radio, motor rug, and rear window from a wrecked car on the Haliburton-Eagle Lake road on Sunday evening.

Gerald Minney, 17, Robert Cullen, 23, and Donald McIndoo, 21, of Ida, were remanded until Friday for judgment in the case. All pleaded not guilty to the theft of the radio but guilty to the other thefts.

The articles were taken from the wreck of a late model car owned by Mrs. Ida Perrin, of Haliburton. Mr. Perrin's son was driving the vehicle when it left the road and rolled down an embankment on Sunday evening. The car was heavily damaged.

Constable Gordon Langton, of Haliburton detachment, investigated the accident and theft and the trio were picked up in Minden by Constable Jack Rickard. The boys told the court they had not taken the radio. Cullen said he wanted the rear window for use in a motor he was buying and picked it up near the car. He denied seeing the radio, however.

Magistrate Moore agreed with Crown Attorney Jordan that the boys probably were innnocent of the radio theft but set the remand to give the police a chance for further investigation.

This one was made by Trade Minister A. I. Mikoyan, speaking Monday before the Soviet parliament. The broadcast was monitored here.

Mikoyan told the Moscow parliament his country will defend itself with "all forces and all means."

His statement was greeted with tumultuous applause, Moscow radio reported.

Pockmarks Seen Windshield Stirling Area

STIRLING (ENS)— Mrs. Chas. Vance, of Stirling, had an experience today with a threatened pock marked windshield, which led her to believe that the windshields are not being damaged by anything floating around in the air.

She had parked her car outside of her sister's home on Victoria St. and when she came out in a matter of 15 or 20 minutes she noticed wet spots on her windshield.

It wasn't raining so she immediately took a cloth to wipe them off but the substance was of a sticky nature so she wet the cloth and wiped it off.

In that short time the substance had begun to eat through the glass leaving a rough surface. It looked as though it had been put on with a spray.

8,000 Farmers Expected Annual Dairy Day June 16

LINDSAY (ENS)—Some 8,000 farmers and others connected with the dairying industry are expected to crowd into the Lindsay farm of William J. Murphy on June 16 for the second annual provincial dairy day.

A meeting was held here yesterday under the auspices of the department of agriculture to lay final plans for the big day which will feature many demonstrations of the latest dairying methods and also the selection of dairy man and dairy maid for the Junior Farmers' organization.

5,000 CARS

Parking facilities are being planned for some 5,000 cars, as many as attended last year's first dairy day held in Wellington county.

Among the demonstrations planned for the day will be modern dairy methods and equipment, milk grading, dehorning, cattle fertilization methods, continuous pipe line milking, disease control in cattle, and various dairy breed features.

Catering for the expected throngs will be handled by local organizations. Dairy day will be sponsored by the Ontario department of agriculture in co-operation with dairy council.

Attending yesterday's planning meeting, held in Lindsay, were Everitt Beggs, dairy commissioner for the province; James Baker, dairy branch, department of agriculture; R. A. Dick, physicist, OVC; R. V. Ellis, public relation, OAC; H. M. Arbuckle, local dairy inspector; Prof. Fred Hamilton, OAC, dairy department; A. E. Fall, exhibits department, OAC; James Gifford, cream producers' marketing board; Fred Baker, publicity director, department of agriculture; J. McBain, chief cheese instructor, Western Ontario; C. E. Lackner, director dairy branch; James A. Rennie, animal husbandry, OAC; R. G. Gregg, local fieldman; J. C. Palmer, dairy branch, OAC; William Murphy, host farmer; Leroy G. Brown, county agriculture representative, and Alex McKessock, Lindsay branch manager of Silverwood's dairies.

Cleans Out Truck, Finds Radium Deposit

ORILLIA (CP) — Prospector W. H. Robillard cleaned out his truck and said he found a radium deposit.

Robillard, who lives in Gravenhurst, said it happened this way:

He and a friend were having lunch in the bush in Renfrew county. They threw a few rocks in the truck and drove home. Last month Robillard noticed the rocks and sent them to Ottawa for assaying. He said they gave radio-active readings of 0.35. One of the highest readings on record is 0.05.

Council Pleased With Car Repairs By Department

The sanitation department's offer to repair all vehicles from the parks and police department and the board of health is a resounding successin the eyes of city officials and council members.

The first vehicle came from their garage Monday. It was a board of health car. Ald. Bill Beggs, chairman of the sanitation committee, said he thought the department's mechanic had done a "remarkable job".

"It's a perfect job," Mayor Norman Graham told the sanitation committee Monday aftrenoon. "It looks like a new car."

The vehicle in question had been "rather badly banged up," in the words of Ald. Beggs. Considerable body work was entailed as well as a complete engine overhaul and two new tires. The total bill to the board of health was only $72.60.

Sanitation Superintendent J. E. Pierce explained that no charge for labor had been included in the bill because the work had been done while there were no sanitation vehicles to be repaired. The mechanic was being paid anyway.

The committee decided however, to establish a policy of charging each department involved for labor at the mechanic's regular hourly wage rate, with a slight additional charge for depreciation of tools.

"We're still making a big saving," Ald. Gordon Powell pointed out, "because the private garages charge considerably more than that."

Ask Whether Modern Art Makes Sense

By WALTER GRAY

TORONTO (CP) — The subway poster asks: "Does modern art make sense?"

Martin Baldwin, director of Toronto's art gallery, asks: "What is modern art?"

Most of the 14,000 curious who, during the last two weeks, have seen the controversial exhibition of paintings from the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum of New York have asked: "What is it?"

A good question. Pablo Picasso glued sawdust on a board, made a couple of lead pencil marks, slapped on some clippings from an old French newspaper, and came up with "Glass and a Bottle of Bass."

But hold! There's something recognizable. It's the word "bass" and what could be a bottle.

RED-HOT ART

Paul Klee swished reddish paint over paper, drew in some bird-like squiggles and called it "Owl Comedy, N. I. V". The effect is like looking through the open door of a red-hot furnace.

The 70 paintings represent the avant garde of modern art, a troupe of European artists who set the art world on its ear in the 20s. Anything went as long as it was different.

Mr. Baldwin said Monday he's against it.

"The paintings show you that Canadian artists are behind the times. They are only now starting to do what was done 30 years ago."

PICASSO REPRESENTED

Most of the work is new to Canada. A few of the artists are well-known—Picasso, Klee, Fernand Leger, Vasily Kandinsky.

On the whole the boys went wild on color. Form was gauche. Composition—that was the ticket.

As the subway poster asks: "Does modern art make sense?" And as Mr. Baldwin parried: "What is modern art?" And as the curious wondered: "What is it?"

PLEASED TO MEET YOU could be the greeting being extended by bulldog, Kildare Buldoger, as he rubs noses with La Reina Donnie Pedro. Both are eight months old. Kildare is owned by J. H. Heeshan, of Montreal, and La Reina by Miss Dorothy Isles, of Chatham, Ont.

SLEEPY TIME GAL, Menerva of Seebe, makes a fine pillow for her tired mistress, Carol Cadieux, who fell asleep after a long day of primping and combing her Labrador kennel pride for the dog show held in the 17th Hussars armoury in Montreal. Proceeds went to the Blind Institute.

Color Of Skin Brings Rejection

TORONTO (CP)—Eamon Park, legislative director of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CL) said Monday Canada's immigration act "draws a line between various types of British subjects and draws that line on the basis of the color of a man's skin."

He told a meeting of the Toronto Labor Council (CIO-CCL) that Harry Narine Singh, a young draftsman from the British West Indies, has been ordered deported from Canada because his ancestors five generations back, were Asiatics.

Mr. Park said Singh might have been excluded anyway because persons from the British West Indies are classed differently than other British subjects.

"But by classing him as an Asiatic it was easier to get rid of him—as an Asiatic he had no argument."

"Comfort" by popular request

Cool comfort starts with the underwear you have on, so choose now from the many Harvey-Woods underwear styles for spring and summer. The new "HW" Supporter Short, for instance, with nylon pouch, gives snug gentle support where needed. And like all Harvey-Woods lightweight styles, it is thoughtfully designed, painstakingly made, of cool ventilated fabrics. Look for the Harvey-Woods label—your promise of fit, comfort and long wear.

YORK KNITTING MILLS LIMITED

Man Acquitted After Wreck With Old Jalopy

LINDSAY (ENS)—A 22-year-old Lindsay man, Kenneth Copeland was acquitted of a new charge under the Highways Traffic Act when he appeared in Magistrate's court here Monday on a technicality.

Copeland was charged after a March 31 accident in which he drove his 23-year-old car into the corner of a greenhouse on Angeline street after the steering gear of the vehicle broke.

Constable Ross Bailey who investigated told the court that he vestigated told the court that the faulty steering had no brakes, no back on the front seat, no floor boards, or top and that wires had to be crossed to start the engine and turn on lights. There was no tail light on the car either he said.

A mechanic, Gilbert McInnes testified that he would not pay more than ten dollars for the car and that it would not pass a "safety check".

After the conclusion of the case presented by Chief John Hunter, of the local police, defence counsel Mrs. D. M. Thomson, moved for dismissal since the evidence of the officer had not named Copeland as the driver of the car. Magistrate R. I. Moore agreed and dismissed the charge.

Three Men Arrested For Robbing Safe

GUELPH (CP) — Five minutes after an office safe containing more than $1,000 in cash was carried from Ferguson Cleaners, three Hamilton men were arrested by Guelph police early today.

Appearing in court on charges of breaking, entering and theft, Merino Delio, 37, Theodore Wojeck, 26, and George Goy, 29, were remanded in custody until Wednesday.

Constables Price Leslie and Don Peacock, patrolling in a cruiser, came across the three men pushing an automobile. They said they found a safe in the back of the car.

Rita Wins Back Custody Of Children

NEW YORK (AP)—Rita Hayworth, aided by two ex-husbands in winning back custody of her two little girls, has settled down in a New York hotel suite with the children and her current husband.

The movie star is "a loving and devoted mother," declared a judge Monday in announcing dismissal of charges that the children had been neglected. He was quoting one former husband, actor Orson Welles.

The neglect was worked out in a private conference with children's judge George W. Smyth in suburban White Plains. Present were representatives of the Westchester county Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, which filed the complaint.

The girls, Yasmin, 4, and Rebecca, 9, had been left in the care of the governess, Mrs. Dorothy Chambers, while Rita went to Florida for a two-week vacation with her current husband, crooner Dick Haymes.

Prince Aly Khan, father of Yasmin, sent his lawyer into the conference to help his former wife fight the neglect charges. The prince stayed behind at Rita's White Plains hotel to play with his little daughter and afterwards reported: "I had a wonderful time. I spent the afternoon on my knees on the floor." He has been seeking custody of the child.

Supervisors Of De Laval Complete Report

Members of the DeLaval Co.'s supervisory staff, who since February have been attending discussion groups on human relations, will wind up the project this year with a dinner Friday night at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club.

Guest speaker will be D. G. Pile of the Central Ontario Industrial Relations Institute. Mr. Pile will deal with some aspects of management-labor relations. He is frequently consulted by management during negotiations with their trade unions.

Last February Andrew Purdon, vice-president and general manager of DeLaval, gave James Clarkson of the personnel department the go-ahead signal for a series of talks followed by discussions on the topic of human relations.

Subjects included company policy, principles of human relations, the supervisor's job and leadership, how labor contracts operate, and methods of time study. There were films as well as a talk by Fire Chief William Sorrie on causes and prevention of industrial fires.

An average of 44 member of the staff in supervisory positions attended the Wednesday night discussions. They included foremen, assistant foremen, and members of top management.

Plant officials feel that the experiment was a success and next year they are planning a similar project dealing with communications (or organization in the plant).

Cottesloe WMS Holds Thankoffering Service

COTTESLOE (ENS)—The Cottesloe WMS held their Easter thankoffering service Sunday afternoon at the regular hour of worship.

The Rev. H. Wright, pastor, was in charge of the service and the choir rendered a number, "Have You Counted the Cost."

Mrs. John Golloher, president of the WMS introduced guest speaker Mrs. John Johnston of Norwood who based her thoughts on Christian stewardship.

She brought out that each of us have 10 talents, two eyes to see good things of this world, two ears to hear the worthwhile things, two hands to work for God with, two feet to walk in his paths, a tongue to speak for him and a heart to accept him with.

Female Principal Being Ousted

PORT COLBORNE (CP)—Members of city council, taxpayers and teachers here have objected to the removal of a woman principal from her job in favor of a man. Board of education is on the man's side.

Mrs. Meliss Pietz, principal of Vimy public school for 14 years, has been told by board members she will be replaced as principal after June 31 an will be paid as a grade teacher.

Several councillors objected to the board's decision and a petition of protest signed by 376 parents and taxpayers was sent to the board.

Dr. E. C. Butcher, board chairman, said:

"The board feels that with the school doubled in size we should have a man as principal. . . . I think the school board is perfectly within its right to set a policy."

Cool Weather Rain No Help To District Crops

Cool weather so far this week and rain today are not helping the spring crops in this district.

Robert Armstrong of Cavan could probably speak for the farmers of a wide area in his comment that the season is beginning to get a bit late "now that we are close to the first of May."

Some cultivating of the land has been done, and even it is not general.

"With sunshine now it would take a few days for this fairly heavy rain to dry up," Mr. Armstrong said. "Jim Brown was up from Newcastle Monday, and reported that there had been a little seeding on light land, but no general work."

Similar delay is mentioned in a survey of Elgin county. "There hasn't been sufficient drying wind this month to get the excess moisture out of the top soil."

The bluest weather note is sounded by W. A. Allan of the St. Thomas Utilities Commission to the effect "that a continuation may be expected until June 21. We will probably get for the next two months the kind of weather we've had in April, a few days of sunshine and warmth, then rain and return of coolness. I have seen this pattern followed for many years."

Commission Allan is taking a gloomy view of the weeks that remain of spring, discounting too much the probabilities of seasonal sunshine.

Fenella Young People Present Comedy

Soviet Artists Cancel Concert

WINNIPEG (CP)—A spokesman for six Soviet concert artists touring Canada said Monday night the group has cancelled performances planned for Quebec "because of what Duplessis might do."

John Boyd of Toronto, Canadian manager of the tour and interpreter for the artists, said in an interview:

"We had May 3 and 4 allotted for Quebec but the music people in that province could not rent an auditorium for us because of Premier Duplessis. The owners of the various halls are afraid to rent their halls."

Mr. Boyd said Premier Duplessis could close any auditorium or revoke its licence if the owner rented it for a performance by the Russians.

Mr. Boyd said previous trouble in obtaining a hall in Fort William had been remedied. They have rented the 900-seat vocational school auditorium for their Wednesday show.

Mission Band Entertains Circle

Gilmour Memorial Baptist church Mission Band and Senior Women's Mission Circle met together last Friday evening for their annual spring party. The band, under leadership of Mrs. Reg. McMullen and Miss Phyllis Moore, provided the program consisting of devotions, songs, verses, solos, duets and trios, followed by a showing of educational slides on the mission work at Oshwekin and Yellowknife. Children taking part were president Jack DeGroot, Lee Ann Irwin, Fred McGregor, Donna Sanderson, Ronald Anderson, Judy Kingdon, Donald McGregor, Eric and Earl Bulmer, Roy Scott, Allan Kidd, Shirley Anderson, Shirley Raddon, Janice Rowland, Donald Reynolds, Donald Irwin, Shirley and Donald Raddon and Tommy Blewett. Mrs. Bruce Bell expressed appreciation on behalf of the circle. She then called on Mrs. James Young to whom she read an address after which presentation of a Dominion affiliated Baptist Missionary Society life membership certificate was made by Mrs. Russell Kidd. This was a joint gift from the Eunice Blewett and senior women's Circles. Mrs. J. G. Mann presented a gold pin, emblem of this membership and expressed appreciation of Mrs. Young's more than 50 years faithful service. The evening closed with lunch and a social hour.

Corinne Hanrahan Weds William Strano

The marriage was solemnized at the Immaculate Conception Roman Catholic church Saturday morning of Corinne Marie, daughter of Mrs. Hanrahan and the late Thomas Hanrahan, to William John Strano, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Strano, all of Peterborough. The Rev. Joseph O'Sullivan officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Pink snapdragons and gladiolus decorated the altar. Wedding music was played by Mrs. Cyril O'Donnell and Mr. Anthony DeNoble sang "Ave Marie", "On This Day" and "Pancis Angelicus."

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Justin McKeiver. She wore an ankle-length gown of white lace over nylon tulle. Her fingertip veil of tulle fell from a small juliet cap and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and carnations.

Mrs. Paul Strano attended the bride, wearing an ankle-length gown of midnight blue tulle with a white beaded headpiece and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations, roses and lily of the valley.

Mr. Paul Strano was the groomsman and ushers were Francis Strano and Dick Walsh.

Dinner was served at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club and was followed by a reception at the home of the bride. The bride's mother received in a teal blue crepe dress with navy accessories and wore a corsage of pale pink roses. The groom's mother chose a dress of taupe brown, white accessories and a corsage of deep pink roses.

The couple left for a honeymoon in the United States. For travelling the bride chose a beige suit with matching accessories and a black duster coat. She wore a corsage of orchids. Mr. and Mrs. Strano will live on Armour Road on their return.

President Hostess To Exec. Board

Executive Board of the Mothers' Auxiliaries to Cubs and Scouts met at the home of president Mrs. E. J. Macdonald, 20 Dale Avenue on Monday evening.

This board is composed of the executives of the 13 auxiliaries in the city and district and was formed to distribute information to promote fellowship.

Mrs. Max Wilson read the secretarial report and Mrs. Bruce Baker the treasurer's. Correspondence was read from Trinity and Lakefield auxiliaries and from the secretary of the provincial committee Mrs. W. S. Cook who announced a meeting of the executive boards in Toronto on May 13th. Mrs. Macdonald agreed to attend.

Mrs. James McLeod, liaison member of the Local Association, brought a report and read an interesting news letter "What's cooking in Scouting." Mrs. Macdonald gave a full report on the district conference held at Trenton last Saturday. This was also attended by two members of Parkhill Auxiliary.

St. John's No. 1 Auxiliary extended an invitation to hold the annual picnic at their parish hall and grounds and it was decided this will be held Wednesday, June 2nd, at 6.30 p.m.

Mrs. W. Beard of All Saints No. 5 Auxiliary moved the adjournment and refreshments were then served by the hostess, Mrs. Baker and Mrs. McLeod and a social time enjoyed.

Regional Advisor Visits B & PW Club

Tiny spring hats trimmed with flowers were place favors for each member of the Business and Professional Women's Club atending the dinner meeting at the YWCA Monday evening. There were cut flowers on the tables and these it was decided to send to Miss Mabel White who is ill and a patient in the Civic Hospital.

Guest speaker was Miss Norma Arkles of Belleville, regional advisor of region five, who presented a short and humorous talk on former brief visits to Peterborough, followed by a showing of colored slides. Pictures commenced with her work as a public school teacher in Belleville. Then she became a student at the Univeristy of Colorado and scenes were of the trip there, hikes mountain climbing and concerts during her stay, and of the return trip via Vancouver and Victoria. She concluded with beautiful autumn and winter pictures in Ontario.

Miss Simone McFadden, also of Belleville, the editor of the Business and Professional Women's magazine "Messenger" was also a dinner guest.

President Miss Alice Hardwicke presided for a brief business period when a rummage sale was planned for Saturday, May 8th, in the Orange Hall.

Draw for the leather purse displayed at the recent evening tea was made and the winning ticket is No. 549.

DUST YOUR RADS

Keep your radiators in good condition by dusting easy-to-reach parts daily, and the rest at least twice a year. There are special radiator brushes for the purposes. Or you can use your vacuum cleaner attachment.

Johnston-Haig Wedding

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — A pretty wedding was solemnized Saturday afternoon when Dorothy Gwendolyn Jean Haig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Haig, became the bride of Orville Henry Johnston, son of Mrs. Johnston and the late George Johnston of Norwood. The Rev. A. E. Toombs of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church officiated.

The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents, with the house decorated with pink and white streamers, evergreens and daffodils. Wedding music was played by Miss Jean Haig, sister of the bride.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of embroidered net illusion over satin, with a lace bodice and long sleeves. Her veil in chapel length was of embroidered French illusion net, caught with a net halo. Her bouquet was red roses.

Mrs. Robin Mainland, attending her sister, wore a gown of green net over taffeta with a lace bolero. She carried a heart-shaped bouquet of yellow roses.

Miss Marie Haig, niece of the bride, was flower girl and was frocked in blue. She carried a heart-shaped bouquet of pink gladioli petals and rainbow ribbon and wore yellow roses in her hair. Groomsman was Mr. Robin Mainland.

A reception was held at Kay's restaurant, where the bride's mother received wearing a gown of rosewood crepe, with black accessories, and corsage of cream roses. The groom's mother also received, wearing navy and a corsage of cream roses. Guests were present from Peterborough, Hamilton, Ottawa and Toronto.

For travelling the bride donned a pale blue gabardine suit and pink shortie coat and had pink accessories. On return from the United States, the couple will live on the groom's farm at Norwood.

MISS LETA BROWNSCOMBE

At YW 32 Years MissBrownscombe Resigns In June

The resignation of Miss Leta Brownscombe, who has been directing the affairs of Peterborough YWCA for the past 32 years, came as a surprise to members of the board of directors at the monthly meeting Monday afternoon.

Miss Brownscombe gave ill health as the reason for this move and asked that she be released from the duties of executive secretary in June. President Mrs. H. T. Rehill and members agreed to this date.

As the week of April 25 to May 1 has been set aside as National World Membership week, Mrs. C. G. Collins, membership chairman, based the devotions on this theme.

Miss Flora Metcalfe, camp committee chairman, announced that the camp accommodation for 65 girls of 9 to 12 years has been filled and a waiting list started. Miss Beatrice Pelsis will direct the camp this year from August 8 to 18 and will have Miss Nancy Rowell as waterfront director and older teen-age girls as councillors, one being allocated to each cabin.

The gym display to be presented on May 7 at Brock Ballroom is to have as guest performers dancers from Bluestone School of Ballet, it was announced by gym director Miss Pelsis.

The 20 Plus Club is undertaking decoration and refurnishing of the recreation room as a two-year project. The first money-raising scheme is to be a bridge and euchre party on Thursday evening, April 29, and tickets are available at the Y office or from members, it was announced.

For those wishing to continue the So-Ed bridge course, or those wishing to have lessons in bridge, there will be a four-week course starting May 5. Registration will be taken at the Y.

TO REMOVE STAIN

To remove a fresh cod liver oil stain from white cotton or linen, sponge with carbon tetrachloride, and wash in hot suds. Soak an old stain in chlorine bleach solution for 15 minutes and then rinse thoroughly.

PIE DIMENSION

To save time when making pies, draw a circle slightly larger than your pie tin on your bread board. Then you can roll the dough to fit. And to preserve the circle, coat it with thinned fresh white shellac.

Silver Cross Chapter Meeting

Women of the Silver Cross met in the YWCA Room Monday evening, president Mrs. A. S. Williams presiding.

Flower convener Mrs. J. Coones reported flowers were placed in the chapel by Mr. and Mrs. Sargent and Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Burnham in memory of their sons and an Easter lily by the chapter. Mrs. E. Pruner expressed thanks to members for their co-operation at the time of the spring tea, which was a successful affair.

Mrs. Norman Fee offered her home for a lrage euchre party to be held in June and the offer was accepted by ways and means convener Mrs. T. G. Nice. The May meeting is to take the form of a social time, each member to bring a friend.

Mrs. Williams and two members will attend the meeting of women's organizations on May 4th at the Public Library to urge the inclusion of an auditorium in the memorial centre. Four delegates are going to the annual convention to be at Windsor, May 11 to 13.

The Rev. H. G. Douglas of Knox United church has accepted an invitation to hold an evening service at the church on Mother's Day which will include all wearers of the Silver Cross, and chapter members were urged to attend.

Doreen Hendren Weds R. A. Moore To Live In Barrie

St. John's Anglican church was the setting Saturday for the wedding of Doreen Catherine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan T. Hendren of Peterborough to Robert Allen Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Moore of Port Hope. The Rev. F. G. Ongley, rector, officiated in the cermony.

Three boy choristers sang during the signing of the register, "O Perfect Love," accompanied by organist Mr. F. G. Mann who played the wedding march. Spring flowers and palms were used to decorate the church.

The bride wore a strapless gown of white tulle over taffeta with bands of scalloped Chantilly lace, the bouffant skirt being over a hoop. Her lace bolero was fashioned with Queen Anne collar and long sleeves coming to points over her hands. A coronet of pearls held her shoulder veil of silk net and she carried a white prayer book topped with an orchid. She was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Helen Bett of Toronto was maid of honor and Misses Carolyn and Josia Ann Hendren were bridesmaids for their sister. The three were gowned alike in ballerina dresses of debutante blue Chantilly lace over taffeta and they wore headbands of yellow pinocchio roses and carried matching crescent bouquets.

Mr. Sam Davdison of Cobourg was the groomsman and ushers were Owen Hendren and Maxwell Moore of Cobourg, brothers of the bride and groom.

The reception was held at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club with guests present from Belleville, Barrie, Cobourg, Campbellford, Lakefield, Oshawa, Port Hope, Toronto, Warsaw and Warkworth.

The bride's mother received in a gown of rose silk ottoman cord and wore a hat of toast colored straw and a corsage of pink Pinchio roses. The groom's mother chose navy crepe and she wore a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore left afterward on a wedding trip to north eastern States, following which they will take up residence at 86 Eugenia Street, Barrie.

To go away the bride donned a suit of mushroom pink and white accessories and had matching alligator shoes and handbag.

DID YOU KNOW

Small tykes just learning to feed themselves are often hard on china. Parents can avoid replacing broken dishes frequently if they select those made from a new flexible plastic called polythene. Polythene dishes shaped like shallow soup bowls and measuring six inches in diameter are now available for tots too busy manoeuvring a spoon to be bothered with table manners. These dishes are odorless, tasteless, non-toxic and come in attractive nursery colors.

Relatives Of War Brides Will Visit Canadian Homes

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—More than 30 parents and relatives of British war brides are ready to sail for Canada May 21, continuing what has become an annual post-war custom. Eighteen will go to the United States.

The travellers, whose trip has been arranged under auspices of the United States and Canadian War Brides' Parents Association in Britain, will be visiting relatives, children and grandchildren for the first time. The group passages combine economy and friendship.

"It's much easier for those who dislike long journeys," said association secretary Mrs. E. Russell. "A friendly company with the same interests can lessen the boredom and worry that some might feel."

USEFUL ASSOCIATION

Mrs. Russell is making her first trip to her war-bride daughter in Pennsylvania. "I intend to visit Canadian branches of the association, too," she said in an interview.

The association, maintained by private contributions, exists to keep war brides in touch with home. For instance, a British mother who has not heard from her daughter for some time can start investigating through the association.

If the daughter has run into trouble of any kind, the British branch attended by her parents and the Canadian branch nearest her address would combine to help her.

Some 500 members of the association converged in London for the annual get-together held before the Atlantic departure. The association was founded in 1950 and is presided over by Lord Tweedsmuir, son of a former governor-general of Canada.

HELP EACH OTHER

The combined trips across the Atlantic serve two main purposes. A large number of tourists can travel at less cost and members can help each other. For instance, Mrs. L. Sherwood, bound for Toronto, is blind. Mrs. W. M. Phillips, whose destination is Brampton, Ont., will take her from London to Montreal. Travellers supply their own funds.

Those Ontario-bound are, aside from the two mentioned: Mrs. M. Cunningham, Mrs. M. Sinclair, Miss D. Nye, Mr. and Mrs. Higton, Toronto; Mrs. G. Kates, Mrs. M.E. Hammond, Kitchener; Mrs. [illegible] Anselm, Woodstock; Mrs. H Bolton, Alma; Mrs. R. E. B[illegible] Mrs. I. D. Hardy, Camp P[illegible] wawa; Mrs. P. H. Rose, Sudbury; Mrs. H. D. Chesterman, Welland; Mrs. A. E. Glover-Robinson, London; Mrs. E. M. Lacey, Peterborough; Mr., Mrs. and Miss Haines, Tupperville; Mrs. M. G. Berrycloath, Sault Ste. Marie.

Quebec: Mrs. A. Adams, Miss D. M. Read, Verdun; Mrs. H. Scanlon, Mrs. J. Earnshaw, Mrs. Price, Mrs. Southgate, Montreal; Mrs. M. Martin, Ste. Therese de Blainville; Mr. and Mrs. F. Turner, Quebec City.

Mrs. L. P. Pearce is going to Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Bampton to Calgary; Mrs. E. S. Edwards to Birch Hills, Sask., and Mrs. E. Herrington to Vancouver.

Children's Hobbies To Be Shown At Queen Alex.

Queen Alexandra Home and School Association is sponsoring their third annual children's hobby show to be held at the school Wednesday evening, April 28, from 7 to 9.

Miss L. Welsh and Mrs. H. Perry are co-convening this event.

Judges of the hobbies are: Mr. and Mrs. J. E. R. Munro, Mr. Ralph Standish, Miss Dorothy Shannon, Mrs. Keith Pilkington, Mr. R. Scrutton, Mr. J. McClenaghan, Mrs. J. A. Nornabell, Mrs. H. Rogers and Mr. Nick Nickels.

An additional feature this year will be the craft work shop in the kindergarten. Experts in the crafts who will be demonstrating are: Mr. J. K. Riedel, pottery; Mrs. J. Sharpe, weaving; Mrs. J. Wharry, metalcraft; Mrs. R. Stacey, leather work; Mr. J. Fraser, driftwood; Mr. L. Ash, fly tieing.

Children of the school will also demonstrate their hobbies. Weaving on small box looms will be by Gale Olmstead, Nigel Parks, Paul Ross, Bill Ross, Janie Hamilton and Annabeth Batten. Demonstrating leather craft will be Margaret Lowry and Mary Jane Simmers. Model airplanes will be by George Boucher and Angus McFadgen and fly tieing by Paul Sanderson and Gale Ross.

MAKES TASTY DISH

Eggplant, not too common a dish in this country, is a tasty one and very easily prepared. You need only wash, pare and cube it, then cook from 15 to 20 minutes in boiling water. Have about one inch of water in the pot and cook with cover on.

TEST FOR LINEN

The next time you buy bed linens use this test: Rub parts of the linen together over a dark area. If you see white powder falling, you will know that the linen is excessively starched and will lose much of its body in the first washing.

You never 'crank up' this handsomely modern G-E Alarm Clock . . . never have to oil or regulate it either. No spring-wound clock at any price can match this outstanding timepiece for accuracy, convenience and low price. Available in a handsome egg-shell plastic case. It's called the G-E Lullaby. MARY MOORE SAYS:

Helping The Cook In Small Restaurant

...en I use a day that is not riday or Saturday to answer your letters I always feel like apologizing. Silly isn't it, for you want your letters answered and, if you are anything like me, love reading about other folks' problems (as if we all didn't have enough of our own!).

So here goes—another effort to get caught up with my correspondence with you.

QUESTION: ... I have worked in a bakeshop for 4½ years and liked it very much. At this bake shop all ingredients were weighed. Due to the illness of my mother I had to stay home for several months. Now, I am to do small amounts of baking in a restaurant, and as the lady is leaving she will give out no recipes. There are no scales. I will have to measure ... could you please send me recipes on pies that would not be too expensive, also filling for butter tarts ...hoping I can help you some time. Mrs. G. D.

ANSWER:

BUTTER TARTS

(quadruple recipe)

This recipe has been multiplied 4 times. The number of tarts it will fill depends on the size of your tart tins. It should yield 4 dozen medium tarts. Cream together 1 cup butter (or margarine) and 4 cups white sugar until they are light and creamy. Add 8 well-beaten eggs, 4 cups washed and dried currants or seedless raisins (chopped) and ½ cup lemon juice or 2 teaspoons vanilla. Use to fill unbaked tart shells.

Note: If desired 4 cups chopped blanched almonds may be used instead of currants or raisins, but you would have to charge more for them.

PUMPKIN PIE

(fillings for 8 9-inch pies)

Thirteen cups mashed or canned strained pumpkin, 16 cups milk, 16 eggs—yolks and whites separated, 5 cups brown sugar, 2 tablespoons cinnamon, 1 tablespoon each salt and ginger. Mix pumpkin with milk and well-beaten yolks. Mix together the sugar, spices and salt and add them. Fold in stiffly beaten whites. Pour mixture into raw-pastry-lined 9-inch pie plates. Bake in hot oven of 450 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 deg. Fahr. and bake 30 minutes longer.

You doubtless know that you can buy unsweetened pie apples in 105oz. tins. They are quite inexpensive when compared to raw apples at this time of year. By the time you have added the sugar this amount can be made to fi 5 8-inch pies.

QUESTION: You have helped many times that I wondered if you could give me a recipe I am to have lost. It is for "brow es" but is maple flavored inst of chocolate. M. V. D.

ANSWER: Thank you

MAPLE SQUARE

One and one-half cu sifted all-purpose flour, 2 teas ons baking powder, ½ cup but or margarine, 2 cups brown ar, well-packed, 2 eggs, 1 tea on maple flavoring (or vanilla cup chopped nuts. Sift the si flour with the baking powder. elt the butter in heavy fryin pan, add the sugar and bring to boil stirring. Cool to luk warm. Drop in eggs, 1 at a time mixing quickly and well. Ad flavoring, then flour mixture nuts. Spread in 11x7x1½ inches. buttered pan Bake at 350 F. Fahr. for about 30 to 35 min s. Cool in pan, but cut while a little warm.

SMART BOATER—It's spring bonnet time in London's Mayfair hat salons where elegant women with money to burn are purchasing frothy bonnets. Many of the new smaller hats are styled to tip to one side over the forehead in the manner of this smart boater. New Floral Toques Similar To Late Queen Mary's Hats

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—It's spring bonnet time in the Mayfair hat salons where elegant women with money to burn are purchasing frothy bonnets for race meetings and other social events.

Floral toques that might have graced the wardrobe of the late Queen Mary were one of the hit numbers at a recent hat show. Shallower than the royal bonnets, they will have fashion points similar to Queen Mary's favorite hat style.

In spring flowers of pink and mauve, white and blue and more violent shades, the toques tip over the forehead and give gay contrast to dark silk and linen dresses. One colorful number is composed of white mayflowers and glossy red cherries set on a lattice of green leaves and stalks. Veils are coarse and important.

SMART BOATER

Designed by Erik, milliner with shops here and in Paris, the hats have sufficient chic for either country. A black and white boater tipped over one eye has an impudent similarity to the hat style peculiar to Maurice Chevalier. This shape comes in varied materials and colors and is worn with matching bow fixed to a white sailor collar.

Small hats are tipped to one side or over the forehead and include shapes from tiny berets to narrow-brimmed hats with high, round crowns. Blue and white predominate and materials range from exciting printed piques, shantungs and straws, to American oilcloth. Shallow-crowned hats have big floral sprays at the back and high-crowned numbers sport single flowers dangling from the brim over one eye.

There is a predominance of mimosa in cheeky wreaths of flowers and leaves that form tiny floral bonnets, or as trimmings of headpieces ranging from tiny cloches to picture hats with brims that stretch beyond the shoulders.

MIMOSA TRIMMING

Mimosa is the English equivalent of the Australian wattle flower, which decorated hats and dresses worn by the Queen during her tour. Hats by royal milliner Kate Day are credited with starting a spate of small flower hats.

In her recent spring show, Miss Day featured one big hat. She says women now are practical even about their new spring bonnets. They find small ones more useful—and stick to them. Her tiny hats this year are even tinier than last. For instance, "tutti fruiti" is a pill-box tipped over the forehead and looking small and precarious.

A close - fitting, white straw draped with tan silk jersey, that dips over the forehead, is close in style to several the Queen has worn during the tour. A similar style in black satin called "band-box" had flowers at the back.

"A French woman changes her hair style and make-up to suit a new hat," said Miss Day. "An English woman buys a hat to suit her face and hair." She showed styles that would appeal to both nationalities.

Anglican Girls Attend Festival In Toronto Church

More than 400 GA members from nearly 50 churches in the Toronto Diocese attended the annual Diocesan Girls' Auxiliary Festival of the Church of England on Saturday at St. John's (Norway) in Toronto.

Peterborough girls from St. John's, St. Luke's and All Saints' attended with St. John's having the second highest attendance at the festival.

The Challenge Cup of Merit was won by St. Stephen's GA, Toronto. St. John's, Peterborough, won the cup last year.

The year's Dorcas work of all branches was on display and will be sent to the Diocese of Caledonia.

The day's program included a talk and demonstration of good dressing and good grooming for the teen-agers followed by a short fashion parade by Toronto high school students.

Miss W. Ilsley, graduating student of AWTC gave a short talk on good manners and good attitudes.

A group of Danish-Canadian dancers gave a splendid dancing display and later held a teaching period for the girls.

The day's activity was closed with a service in the church. In a very impressive service the Right Rev. A. R. Beverley, Lord Bishop of Toronto, presented Rings of Honor to six girls for their outstanding service to the GA. Among the recipients were three Peterborough girls: Beverley Farrance of St. John's, Marilyn Vint and Beverley Pollock of St. Luke's.

To pay tribute to her enthusiastiv leadership and faithful service to the GA, Bishop Beverley presented a Diocesan life membership to Mrs. E. R. Bagley, the diocesan secretary.

A Sister of St. John the Divine spoke to the girls of the work of the future.

This Is YW Week

This week, April 25th to May 1st, has been set aside as national YWCA week in Canada by the national board of the YWCA of Canada. The Peterborough Association, with the 50 other YWCA's in Canada, will celebrate 99 years of YWCA growth.

Greetings from 50 Y's across Canada and from Suriname, Dutch Guiana, have already been received by executive secretary Miss Leta Brownscombe, who has also been busy the past week sending out similar messages.

Wednesday, April 28th, is to be world membership Day, when the Y members in 63 countri will be particularly remembered.

The membership committee has asked that all Y groups shall give some time during the week to stress membership and asks present members to invite newcomers to visit and join the Y.

Romance Ended, Now Seeks Her Ex-Beau

DEAR MISS DIX: Is one ever justified in digging back into the past? I'm a business woman beset with memories that just can't be buried. Several years ago I was caught in a triangle and I am the only one who has paid. The difference in this situation was that all of the parties were single.

Here is the story. I fell in love with a man who had been going with another girl for some time. There was no engagement or formal understanding. He began taking me out, he fell in love with me, and broke with the other girl. Then he was sent on a business trip, and while he was gone, his family, and the other girl's family set the wheels in motion to get him back to her. His folks told him I was going out with someone else. I was informed that his mother had blocked any marital plans we might have and on his return he made no move to see me. I don't know whether he ever married or not. My immediate problem is this: Could I call him up and try to straighten out this old tangle. He is never out of my thoughts and I am sure he couldn't possibly have forgetten me. Is there anything I can do?

Myra

VITAL INFORMATION

ANSWER: I cannot understand how you could be so intensely interested in a man, yet be in the dark on so important an issue as to whether or not he is married. Surely there are mutual friends who could get this information for you. Its the vital spot in your dilemma. If he's married, you can do nothing but keep hands off. If, however, he is a bachelor, you certainly could call him, tell him you would like very much to see him, then get the details of your breakup settled.

Going on as you are, wondering, imagining, thinking back over the years, then wondering some more, will lead you to a nervous breakdown. If you do contact him, you must be prepared for the possibility that the interview may not be entirely to your satisfaction. Almost certainly he hasn't been carrying the torch you have—else he would have been in touch with you before this. The first meeting is sure to be quite constrained and perhaps disappointing to you. Subsequent encounters may be more assured. Your romance could have a happy ending, but the prospects are, unfortunately, slim. ANSWER: While Eddie has probably lost all faith in your discretion at this point, a note of explanation and apology certainly wouldn't be amiss. You know now that your girl friend can't be trusted, so be most careful what you tell her.

Teen Agers Use Trim Styles

By ALICIA HART (NEA)

In a recent article, columnist Ruth Millett applauded teenagers' trend away from sloppiness "in dress, speech, hair styles, manners and opinions."

We agree that the demise of the Sloppy Joe era is something to celebrate. And, of course, you teen-agers deserve congratulations for turning your backs on the foolish fads of your predecessors.

Now that you are on the right track, we would like to put in a plea for careful attention to grooming when the weather is not with you.

True, it can be time consuming to asssemble a co-ordinated ensemble when clouds burst suddenly. You probably feel you're lucky to have time to switch coats and grab a scarf and umbrella before dashing for the school bus.

But if you prepare in advance for such situations (and at this time of year they're inevitable), you'll have no problem.

This is when the advantage of purchasing a neutral color raincoat is evident. Should you be already dressed when the bad weather warning comes, you won't have to worry about your dress and coat clashing.

As a time saver, keep all of your rain gear in one place in your closet.

And, to encourage further compliments from critical adults, do wear a chic and practical rain hat instead of a bedraggled kerchief.

If you're moving into a new home and would like some added storage space for canned foods, find an unused corner in the basement and build a storage cabinet. Your lumber dealer will gladly supply you with directions.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Helping The Cook In Small Restaurant

...en I use a day that is not Friday or Saturday to answer your letters I always feel like apologizing. Silly isn't it, for you want your letters answered and, if you are anything like me, love reading about other folks' problems (as if we all didn't have enough of our own!).

So here goes—another effort to get caught up with my correspondence with you.

QUESTION: . . I have worked in a bake shop for 4½ years and liked it very much. At this bake shop all ingredients were weighed. Due to the illness of my mother I had to stay home for several months. Now, I am to do small amounts of baking in a restaurant, and as the lady is leaving she will give out no recipes. There are no scales. I will have to measure . . could you please send me recipes on pies that would not be too expensive, also filling for butter tarts . . hoping I can help you some time. Mrs. G. D.

ANSWER:

BUTTER TARTS
(quadruple recipe)

This recipe has been multiplied 4 times. The number of tarts it will fill depends on the size of your tart tins. It should yield 4 dozen medium tarts. Cream together 1 cup butter (or margarine) and 4 cups white sugar until they are light and creamy. Add 8 well-beaten eggs, 4 cups washed and dried currants or seedless raisins (chopped) and ½ cup lemon juice or 2 teaspoons vanilla. Use to fill unbaked tart shells.

Note: If desired 4 cups chopped blanched almonds may be used instead of currants or raisins, but you would have to charge more for them.

PUMPKIN PIE
(fillings for 8 9-inch pies)

Thirteen cups mashed or canned strained pumpkin, 16 cups milk, 16 eggs—yolks and whites separated, 5 cups brown sugar, 2 tablespoons cinnamon, 1 tablespoon each salt and ginger. Mix pumpkin with milk and well-beaten yolks. Mix together the sugar, spices and salt and add them. Fold in stiffly beaten whites. Pour mixture into raw-pastry-lined 9-inch pie plates. Bake in hot oven of 450 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 deg. Fahr. and bake 30 minutes longer.

You doubtless know that you can buy unsweetened pie apples in 105oz. tins. They are quite inexpensive when compared to raw apples at this time of year. By the time you have added the sugar this amount can be made to fill 5 8-inch pies.

QUESTION: You have helped so many times that I wondered if you could give me a recipe I seem to have lost. It is for "brownies" but is maple flavored instead of chocolate. M. V. D.

ANSWER: Thank you.

MAPLE SQUARES

One and one-half cup sifted all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ cup butter or margarine, 2 cups brown sugar, well-packed, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon maple flavoring (or vanilla), ½ cup chopped nuts. Sift the sifted flour with the baking powder. Melt the butter in heavy frying pan, add the sugar and bring just to boil stirring. Cool to lukewarm. Drop in eggs, 1 at a time mixing quickly and well. Add flavoring, then flour mixture and nuts. Spread in buttered pan 11x7x1½ inches. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 30 to 35 minutes. Cool in pan, but cut while still a little warm.

Lemons will keep fresh longer if you store them in a tightly closed jar in the refrigerator. Place waxed paper over cut ends.

Ray's H & S Assoc. Holds April Tea

Ray's Home and School Association held their annual April Showers Tea at Lakefield Memorial Hall Saturday afternoon. Mrs. J. Lacey and Mrs. A. Gariepy welcomed those attending.

The tea table centred by an arrangement of blue and gold spring flowers was beautifully appointed. Mrs. R. Charlton, Mrs. H. Hill, Mrs. J. McConkey, Mrs. A. Nichol and Mrs. C. V. Coons, district chairman, poured tea.

Mrs. O. Loucks was in charge of tea arrangements and had as her assistants, Mrs. N. Coons, Mrs. W. Dunbar, Mrs. W. Welbourne, Mrs. J. McConnell, Mrs. H. Mace, Mrs. J. O'Toole and Mrs. J. Preston.

Mrs. N. Hinde and Mrs. C. Charlton directed the "kiddies' corner" assisted by Misses Irie Edwards, Barbara Charlton, Carolyn Loucks and Gale Porter.

Sale tables were attractively arranged. Mrs. C. Crawford was in charge of spring plants assisted by Mrs. F. Edwards, Miss I. I. Coons. Mrs. J. Crawford sold home made candy assisted by Miss A. Gariepy. Mrs. G. Arveth sold aprons, assisted by Mrs. H. Dunford and Mrs. J. Sen had the white elephant table. Mrs. H. Trethewey, assisted by Mrs. J. Hubbard and home baking was in charge of Mrs. A. Graham assisted by Mrs. J. Hampton.

Mrs. J. Butterworth was a popular tea cup reader for the afternoon.

Mrs. A. Jackson Heads Bowlers

The Senior Ladies' Bowling League ended their season last Thursday with a banquet at the Lawn Bowling Club.

The Kingan Trophy went to Mrs. J. Page's team and was presented by Mr. Collins, manager of Playdor alleys, in the absence of Mr. Kingan. Miniature trophies were presented to each player of the winning team, donated by Mr. Collins.

Mrs. R. Jackson was elected president for the coming season, Mrs. W. Firth treasurer and Mrs. L. Perry secretary.

Mrs. Page's winning team received tier cake plates as prizes. Second prizes were fancy pillow cases, going to Mrs. W. Firth's team. China cups and saucers for third prize went to Mrs. L. Perry's team. Fourth prize of aluminum dishes were won by Mrs. M. Barber's team and fifth prize of china cups and saucers went to Mrs. V. Hill's team. Wall plaques went to Mrs. L. Moore's team for sixth prize. Each sub was also given a small gift.

Mrs. Page was given a lazy susan tray for high average of 209, donated by Mr. Kingan. Mrs. Firth was given a teapot for her high three of 628, and Mrs. Moore received a china tea set for high single of 289.

The bowlers presented each retiring officer with the gift of a scatter pin. Mrs. H. Dawe thanked the ladies responsible for an excellent supper.

Remainder of the evening was spent playing cards, the prizes being won as follows: First, Mrs. L. Moore; second, Mrs. V. Hill; low, Mrs. F. Stewart; lone hands, Mrs. C. Fowler; lucky chair draw, Mrs. R. Payne; lucky draws, Mrs. J. Martin, Mrs. M. Barber, Mrs. D. Gimlett, Mrs. B. Ingram, Mrs. L. Doleman.

SMART BOATER—It's spring bonnet time in London's Mayfair hat salons where elegant women with money to burn are purchasing frothy bonnets. Many of the new smaller hats are styled to tip to one side over the forehead in the manner of this smart boater. In black and white stripes the boater has an impudent similarity to the hat style peculiar to Maurice Chevalier. This shape comes in varied materials and colors and is worn with matching bow fixed to a white sailor collar. —(CP Photo)

New Floral Toques Similar To Late Queen Mary's Hats

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—It's spring bonnet time in the Mayfair hat salons where elegant women with money to burn are purchasing frothy bonnets for race meetings and other social events.

Floral toques that might have graced the wardrobe of the late Queen Mary were one of the hit numbers at a recent hat show. Shallower than the royal bonnets, they will have fashion points similar to Queen Mary's favorite hat style.

In spring flowers of pink and mauve, white and blue and more violent shades, the toques tip over the forehead and give gay contrast to dark silk and linen dresses. One colorful number is composed of white mayflowers and glossy red cherries set on a lattice of green leaves and stalks. Veils are coarse and important.

SMART BOATER

Designed by Erik, milliner with shops here and in Paris, the hats have sufficient chic for either country. A black and white boater tipped over one eye has an impudent similarity to the hat style peculiar to Maurice Chevalier. This shape comes in varied materials and colors and is worn with matching bow fixed to a white sailor collar.

Small hats are tipped to one side or over the forehead and include shapes from tiny berets to narrow-brimmed hats with high, round crowns. Blue and white predominate and materials range from exciting printed piques, shantungs and straws, to American oilcloth. Shallow-crowned hats have big floral sprays at the back and high-crowned numbers sport single flowers dangling from the brim over one eye.

There is a predominance of mimosa in cheeky wreaths of flowers and leaves that form tiny floral bonnets, or as trimmings of headpieces ranging from tiny cloches to picture hats with brims that stretch beyond the shoulders.

MIMOSA TRIMMING

Mimosa is the English equivalent of the Australian wattle flower, which decorated hats and dresses worn by the Queen during her tour. Hats by royal milliner Kate Day are credited with starting a spate of small flower hats.

In her recent spring show, Miss Day featured one big hat. She says women now are practical even about their new spring bonnets. They find small ones more useful—and stick to them. Her tiny hats this year are even tinier than last. For instance, "tutti fruiti" is a pillbox tipped over the forehead and looking small and precarious.

A close - fitting, white straw draped with tan silk jersey, that dips over the forehead, is close in style to several the Queen has worn during the tour. A similar style in black satin called "bandbox" had flowers at the back.

"A French woman changes her hair style and make-up to suit a new hat," said Miss Day. "An English woman buys a hat to suit her face and hair." She showed styles that would appeal to both nationalities.

6—In Memoriam

HUGHEY—In loving memory of Mrs. George Hughey who passed away April 26, 1948.
Always a smile instead of a frown
Always a hand to those who were down
Always so true, thoughtful and kind
What a wonderful memory you left behind.
—Ever remembered by husband and family.

VANESS—In loving memory of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Vaness who passed away March 19, 1949 and April 27, 1953.
Loving and kind in all their ways
Upright and just to the end of their days
Sincere and kind in heart and mind
What a beautiful memory they left behind.
—Ever remembered by son Ernest, daughter-in-law Lena and granddaughters Afton and Marion.

YARDLEY—In loving memory of Annie Selina Yardley who passed away eleven years ago today.
Beautiful memories of one so dear,
We cherish still with love so dear.
A day that comes with sad regret
A day that we will never forget.
—Ever remembered by husband, daughter and family.

Push-Button War Closer Than Realized

By DAVE McINTOSH

REGINA (CP)—New approaches to strategy and weapons are receiving the increasing attention of Canada's defence planners.

One of the chief reasons for Defence Minister Claxton's western tour this week is to talk over these approaches with senior commanders.

According to present defence thinking in Canada, the age of push-button warfare is closer than most people believe. To Canada's defence chiefs, the age of conventional weapons is almost at an end. The next conventional weapons will probably be the last of their type.

For instance, the RCAF plans successors to the F86E Sabre jets and the long-range CF-100 all-weather jet interceptors. They both probably will be supersonic aircraft and the last in which air crews will play an important part.

The successor to the CF-100 already equipped with guided missiles will be the CF-105, now on the drawing board. The successor to the Sabre probably will be a development of some other country within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

END OF FIELD GUN

In the same fashion, the conventional field gun is believed at about the end of its development. That is, in view of the existence of nuclear weapons, it would not be worth the expenditure of time, skill and money to develop modest improvements in conventional weapons.

Defence policy now is being geared to the "long pull" rather than to the sudden spurt taken in 1950. Defence planners count on Russia not starting a war in the immediate future.

Thus spending for aircraft has been mapped out until 1961. There is unlikely to be any change in the total number of squadrons. Last year, aircraft cost $430,000,000, around one-quarter of the defence budget. This year the cost will be about $470,000,000, next year about $460,000,000 and level out after that to about $450,000,00 annually.

The atomic bomb was not considered powerful enough to act as a deterrent to war. But the hydrogen bomb is. Therefore, the main aim of continental defence is to protect the United States strategic bombers force which would carry the bomb against Russia if the U.S.S.R. attacked.

Czech Army Manoeuvres

SCHIRNDING, Germany (AP)—Border crossers reported Monday that Communist Czechoslovakia's army is holding spring manoeuvres near the West German border, under observation of a Russian general. They said a temporary airfield, built near the Bavarian-Czech border, is being used by supply planes and several groups of jet aircraft, and a rocket-launching base has been built near Asch, Czechoslovakia.

LIFE NOT WORTH LIVING?

Then wake up the liver!

You know that sour, sunk, constipated feeling? It may be caused by the liver. If your liver doesn't pour out up to two pints of bile a day your food may not digest properly, gas bloats up your stomach and you feel that life's just not worth living. That's when the liver needs mild gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills. These famous vegetable pills help stimulate the flow of liver bile. Soon your digestion starts functioning properly and you feel that happy days are here again! Don't ever stay sunk. Always keep Carter's Little Liver Pills on hand. Only 37c.

ART WALL hit the jackpot in the recent Las Vegas Tournament of Champions. His first prize money of $10,000 is just about as much as the young pro had won all last year. His margin of six strokes is the largest any of the professionals can remember in recent years. Tied for second were Lloyd Mangrum and Al Besselink, the defending champion.

WINS CALDER TROPHY

MONTREAL (CP) — Camille Henry, diminutive utility forward of New York Rangers and lightest player in the National Hockey League, is the Calder Memorial Trophy winner as the outstanding rookie of the 1953-54 season, the league announced Monday night.

In the voting of sports writers and broadcasters in the six NHL cities, the 139-pound youngster from Quebec City polled 99 points of a possible 180. Earl (Dutch) Reibel of Detroit Red Wings was second with 77 and Jean Beliveau of Montreal Canadiens third with 44.

In 66 games Henry scored 24 goals and had 15 assists. He was used largely on power plays, averaging only eight to 10 minutes a game, and had the knack of being in the right place at the right time.

HAD BROKEN HAND

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Roy Campanella, Brooklyn's slugging catcher, said Monday he has played the first two weeks of the season with a broken bone in his left hand but "I don't think it's affecting my hitting."

Cmpanella said he isn't too worried about the injury and planned to stay in the regular line-up. He said he had his wrist "taped tight to try to stiffen it so it won't twist too much."

Campanella, the National League's most valuable player for 1953 when he batted .312, drove in 142 runs and hit 41 homers, has caught every inning of the 11 Dodger games played this season. But he is hitting only .163 with only one hit in his last 20 times at bat.

CAREER ENDS

CINCINNATI (AP)—The major league baseball career of Connie Ryan, dating back to 1942, apparently came to an end Monday as the Cincinnati Redlegs gave the veteran infielder his outright release. All National League clubs had waived on the 34-year-old Ryan who had seen service in both the National and American Leagues.

BRITISH DOUBT IT

LONDON (AP)—Emil Zatopek, the Czech wonder runner, won a cross country race in amazing time and let the track and field world know he is more than ready for the 1954 season.

Prague radio reported Zatopek captured his country's championship Sunday at Nove Mesto from a field of 75 runners and covered "approximately 11 kilometres in 31 minutes and 12 seconds." British track experts considered this time incredible—even for Zatopek.

DAVEY-MARTINEZ

CHICAGO (AP)—Vince Martinez hard-hitting welterweight from Paterson, N.J., and Chuck Davey of Detroit Monday signed for a 10-round bout in Chicago Stadium May 26.

Davey has won 38 of 42 bouts. Martinez, seventh ranked welterweight, has three defeats in 40 bouts.

BUY ZUVERINK

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers Monday purchased George Zuverink, 27-year-old righthand pitcher, from Cincinnati of the National League. The price was not disclosed. Zuverink was brought up this season from Indianapolis of the American Association where he won 13 and lost eight last year.

Mount Pleasant Out Of City Softball Loop

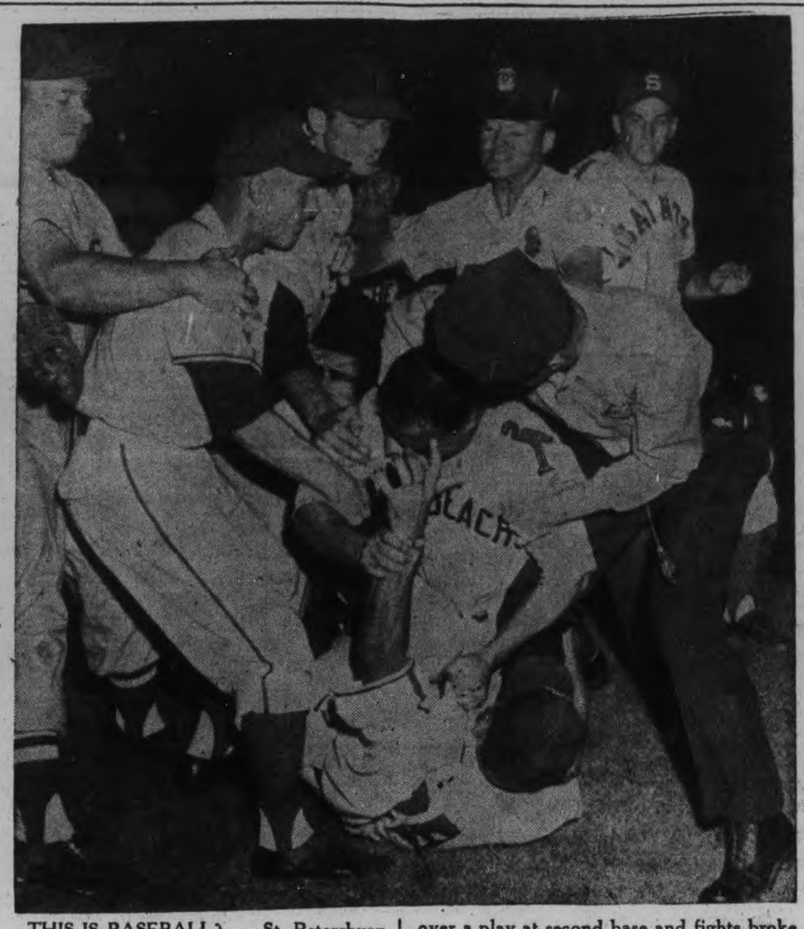
Mount Pleasant has dropped out of the men's City Softball League, and will probably return to the fastball circuit. This word was given at an executive meeting last night and the City League has to revert to a five-club loop, playing two nights a week at the Bowl. They will stage double-headers Tuesday and Thursday nights, keeping Saturdays open for rained-out contests.

The schedule, to be drawn up shortly by secretary John McPhee, will open on May 20, weather permitting, with Petes playing Seabrooke's at seven p.m., followed by UEW vs. Outboard Marines. The Lakefield entry draws a bye the first night. Half a dozen applications from umpires are being considered.

Shore Threatens To Leave Syracuse

NEW YORK (CP)—Eddie Shore, owner of the Syracuse team in the American Hockey League, told the league's board of governors Monday night he may be forced to move his club unless he can settle a disagreement on home dates.

Shore said he had lost "four or five" choice Saturday night dates at the Syracuse War Memorial Auditorium for next season. He said he had been given alternate dates which have proved unacceptable to the league.



He added the league had told him that unless he can get as many Saturdays as in past seasons the league may be forced to find a new city.

Credit Rises

OTTAWA (CP)—The amount of money Canadian consumers owed for the things they bought on time rose by $59,000,000 to a new high of $1,836,000,000 in the final quarter of 1953, the Bank of Canada said Monday.

To Hold Audience

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Vatican sources Monday said Pope Pius next Sunday will hold his first regular audience since he became ill in January. The Pope has appeared in the window of his Vatican apartments five times in the last six weeks to bless throngs in St. Peter's square. He has not, however, appeared personally at general or special audiences since Jan. 24.

THIS IS BASEBALL? — St. Petersburg Saints, playing Miami Flamingos Saturday night, staged a mammoth brawl. It began over a play at second base and fights broke out over the field. Above, Saint Manager Rudy Laskowski (on back) is getting the worst of it from Roy Parker.

See Upturn In Business

WASHINGTON (AP) — The eagerly-awaited United States business upturn may have arrived, Dr. Courtney S. Brown of Columbia University said today. But he added it may prove to be only a temporary rally "in a longer period of slack activity" lasting a year or two.

Brown, dean of Columbia's graduate school of business, said in remarks prepared for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce convention that there are encouraging signs that a revival "started a month or so ago."

And a member of the federal reserve board of governors, A. L. Mills Jr., said in a prepared talk that there is increasing evidence of "resurgent business activity" to which, he said, administration fiscal policies may give added vigor.

EARLIER DATES

Brown said some economists who formerly believed the business upturn would come this summer or fall now are "beginning to veer to earlier dates."

"Perhaps the turnaround has already begun," he said, but "there is no convincing evidence that the incipient revival will be more than an improvement of several months' duration. It could turn out to e merely a period of stability at present levels.

"It may be more realistic to regard the present prospect of improvement as a period of rally in a longer period of slack activity. If we are wrong, so much the better."

Popular Reception For Halifax Ballet

HALIFAX (CP) — The Halifax Theatre Ballet opened a three-night stand Monday night before a near-capacity, enthusiastic audience with four ballets ranging from a rollicking Nova Scotian theme to an ethereal classic with Schumann's music.

Purpose of the performance was to raise funds to help defray costs of the troupe's visit to Toronto next week, when they will participate in the national ballet festival.

Red Army

about Soviet affairs may be this:

Politically, the forces are gathering strength. No fewer than 60 serving army and navy officers were sent to the new Supreme Soviet in elections last March 14. When the Communist party published an "open letter" in connection with the elections, Marshals Vasilevsky and Zhukov, army officers and deputy ministers of defence, were listed for the first time among top leaders of the country. Defence Minister Bulganin, although a marshal, is not a military man but he too, is in the Russian hierarchy.

But foreign observers haven't decided whether the party controls the services through Bulganin, who is a party man; or whether the services use Bulganin to influence party policy in their behalf.

Transport Tied Up

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Some 435 members of the AFL Bus Drivers Union went on strike at Toledo's Community Traction Co. today, leaving this city of 320,000 without public transportation. Authorities immediately urged residents to form car pools. In dispute is the company's refusal to abide by a wage increase award made April 9 by an arbitdation board.

City Carpetball

The games scheduled for this week are the last of the league games except for postponed games which must be played by next week or defaulted.

Games that have been postponed or not reported are: LOL No. 12 vs. Orphans No. 8; Orphans No. 8 vs. Glens No. 6; Fire Hall No. 10 vs. Legion No. 7; Lawn Boys No. 2 vs. Post Office No. 14.

Results from last week: Legion No. 9 by virtue of a big six in the eighth frame of the first game won 15-13 over Legion No. 1. A five and two threes and two singles gave Legion No. 1 a 13-10 win in the second game. At the washrack, Legion No. 5 won the first game 9-7 even though LOL 12 scored a big four end. The second game went to No. 12 by a 12-7 score when they captured the last three frames after being one down going into the 10th end.

TOOK A PAIR

Fire Hall No. 4 won two close games from Red Patch No. 13. The score of the first game was 9-8 and the second game was 15-13; in both games the Patches just failed in the final ends to make them a draw or win.

Legion No. 11 and Legion No. 3 were battling neck and neck and at the 11th end were tied 10-all. Then No. 11 scored a perfect end and the final score was 18-10. The second game was an odd one. No. 3 scored a big six in the second frame and never managed to score again until the 10th end. By taking the last three ends plus their big six they failed to overcome No. 11's lead and the final score was 11-10.

In the doubles: Team No. 7, Nice and Gimblett, dropped two straight to Team No. 25, Moynes and Cummings, and were eliminated 11-3 and 10-4.

Team No. 22, Bromley and Metcalf, also were eliminated in two straight games with scores of 8-4 and 10-1 by Team No. 23, Robinson and Ralston.

FINAL ROUND

The final round for the doubles competition will be played Wednesday April 28 at eight p.m. between team No. 23 (Robinson and Ralston) vs. Team No. 25 (Moynes and Cummings). There will be two referees for this game.

The President Cup playdowns resulted in a protested game when Legion No. 5 and Glens No. 6 played. The protest was upheld by the league's executive and these games were ordered replayed at the Orange Hall at eight p.m. Wednesday, April 28 with G. Gimblett Sr. as referee. The other President's Cup game reported was Lawn Boys No. 2 vs. Fire Hall No. 4. No. 2 won the first game 5-3; No. 4 won the second game 13-4. The third and deciding game was 10-1 in No. 2 favor with two ends to go when No. 4 started to find the "kitty" and while they won both of those frames they failed by two to cause extra ends to be played and No. 2 won 10-8 to move into the next round.

Any member wishing to have the rules amended get in touch with the rules committee which has been set up and they will be considered at a general meeting to be held the first week of May.

SECOND ROUND

Legion No. 3 and No. 11 played the second round of the Presidents Cup, Monday, April 26. The winner is scheduled to meet Lawn Boys No. 2 in the 3rd round. Also Legion No. 9 will meet the winners of Legion No. 5 and Glens No. 6.

All trophies are to be turned into Elsie Bennett's at once.

Rescue Three In Mine Shaft

BATHURST, N.B. (CP) — Three men were rescued without injury Monday from a 900-foot shaft at nearby Keymet Mines, Ltd., as fire of unknown origin destroyed the new mill and swept through the elevator housing.

Only small office and compressor buildings, carpenter shop and shower rooms remained of the $750,000 base metals project that had been built up over the last two years in ore fields 20 miles north of here.

The underground workings escaped damage.

The fire started above an ore bin and fanned through the rest of the mill by a strong breeze during the workmen's lunch hour. As soon as it was noticed a cage was lowered and brought to the surface the three men who had stayed below.

Keymet was to open officially May 22 for production of lead and zinc concentrates. The mill will be rebuilt.

Victim Of Taxes

GLASGOW (Reuters)—An unoccupied 162-year-old castle on a hillside overlooking Loch Lomond was blown up today because its owner found taxes and upkeep too costly. It had 40 rooms and a 350-foot high tower and was a well-known landmark.

Suggests UN Asked To Rule On Indo-China

OTTAWA (CP) — Hon. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, Monday night said the United Nations should be asked to decide whether the fighting in Indo-China is aggression similar to that of Communist China in Korea.

Until then, people should stop trying to hurdle the problem of how the free nations are going to work together to prevent aggression, he said.

Indo-China was one of several subjects on which Mr. Drew replied to questions during a program recorded for the CBC's network show "Press Conference." Blair Fraser, Ottawa editor of Maclean's Magazine, was chairman of a panel questioning Mr. Drew.

NEED CO-OPERATION

Referring to unemployment difficulties, he said the federal government should have found some way to co-operate with the New Brunswick government for proposed hydro development there. The South Saskatchewan river dam and irrigation project should be proceeded with immediately.

It also would be wise to go ahead with building power sites and canals along the St. Lawrence seaway.

To help the textile industry the government should bring into operation the anti-dumping laws passed earlier this session of parliament.

Dies In Plane

GIMLI, Man. (CP)—PO. H. E. Phillips, about 20, of Toronto, an RCAF student pilot, was killed Monday when his jet trainer crashed while taking off from the RCAF station here.

Suggest Older Prisoners Placed In Private Homes

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario is exploring the possibility of rehabilitating older prisoners by placing them in private homes, Reforms Minister Foote said Monday night.

He said the system had been tried in one United States city where 450 prisoners of this type had been successfully placed in private homes. Speaking over the CBC's provincial network on a free-time political broadcast, Maj. Foote added that "such placements have been found to have a stabilizing influence and are relatively more economical."

Prisoners 55 years and over make up 14 per cent of all undergoing sentences in the province's jails and institutions, the minister said. Because of the lives they led many were considered old by the time they reached 55. Most had lost much of their effectiveness because of physical and mental infirmities.

REHABILITATION PROBLEM

"This older group is very difficult to rehabilitate," Maj. Foote said. "Only a few can be placed in employment and become self-supporting. Some have been in homes for the aged and others transferred to Ontario mental hospitals."

Ontario's bill this year for jails, institutions and training schools will be $9,000,000 he said. This indicated many people had failed in accepting responsibilities in the home, the church and communities.

Post Office 'Poor Employer'

OTTAWA (CP) — Harold E. Winch, outspoken CCF member for Vancouver East, said Monday the post office is becoming "the most despicable, disreputable employer in the Dominion of Canada."

"You (the government) are pulling the dirtiest, lowest stunt ever pulled by any employer in Canada," Mr. Winch said in the Commons.

He said the post office, in giving employees in some centres a five-day, 40-hour week April 1, removed the night differential and provided extra overtime pay only for work beyond 48 hours a week.

The post office was holding men for months or years as casual employees, earning 97 cents an hour, "in order to cut the throats of those who should have wages."

"You're bringing about the rottenest conditions ever known in Canada between employers and employees," he said, pointing at government benches.

Howard Duff Disdains TV Detection

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Howard Duff, one of radio's great private eyes, disdains the art of crime detection as practiced on TV.

Duff was the original Sam Spade on radio and his show will be long remembered by whodunit fanciers. The show catapulted Duff into film fame. Later he gave it up because of billing, money and other difficulties.

"That was three years ago, and people are still asking me about the show," said Duff between scenes of "Nevada Gold." "Strangers come up to me and say how much they liked it; they ask why I don't get back on the air with it.

"The show must have been good to evoke all that interest. The good thing about it was that it had flavor, and that's something I don't find in the TV private-eye series. Sam had the ability to kid himself. The show could go from very light to very heavy. Yet in the end Sam could always laugh the whole thing off."

KILL WHEN CORNERED

"But the private eyes I have seen on TV are deadly serious. They go about their work with an air of infallibility. And the mayhem! Bodies all over the place.

"That was something I was against on Spade. They would have me killing off people right and left. I kept telling the producer, Bill Spier, that Spade couldn't do that. He could only kill when he was cornered and there was no other way out."

Duff observed that "Dragnet" has thrown a damper on the private eye shows on TV. The reality of shows seem phony. It was "10 times easier" to portray a detective on radio, where the element of imagination was left to the listener.

REJECTS TV SHOWS

Being a star alumnus of the dames-and-detection school, Duff has naturally been offered a bevy of TV crime shows to choose from. He has chosen not to run. None of the offerings seemed to him to have the flavor of old Sam Spade.

Now he's up for another series. He did a TV film called "Ming Lama," a whimsical melodrama about a charter airplane pilot who takes dangerous assignments. Screen Gems, which produced the film, is angling a series called "Johnny Nighthawk."

"It's more an adventure series than a detective opus," explained Duff. "Johnny is a former ace who flew P-38s at night during the war. Hence the name, Johnny Nighthawk. He gets together with his wartime mechanic played by Dave Willock, and they buy an old DC-3 for charter."

Give Defence Advertising Costs

OTTAWA (CP)—The defence department Monday gave a breakdown of its expenses in advertising for recruits in the 1952-53 fiscal year.

It tabled in the Commons, for Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC—Macleod), these figures:

Navy—newspaper, $253,226; magazine, $6,667; radio, $87,808; billboards and posters, $18,248; other $32,115.

Army — newspaper, $959,513; magazine, $50,215; radio, $383,375; other, $74,117.

RCAF — Newspaper, $645,188; magazine, $64,135; radio, $200,059; other, $6,693.

WAITING FOR THE DOORS TO OPEN—Right up front for the Senate Investigating Subcommittee's hearings on the McCarthy-Army dispute is Mrs. Eleanor Lenroot, centre, holding thermos bottle, widow of former Sen. Irvine Lenroot of Wisconsin. Earlier in the week, she had told Sen. Joseph McCarthy that she was going to fight him in her husband's name.

Canada's Ambassador In U.S. Preaching Canadian Goodwill

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP) — Arnold Heeney, the Canadian ambassador, is preaching the gospel of Canadian goodwill in the United States as well as keeping pace with the swift and sometimes surprising changes in American foreign policy.

Just recently the 52-year-old Montreal-born diplomat completed a three-week tour of the Pacific Northwest, his first venture from this hustling capital.

He plans another trip next fall, this time to the Midwest, preaching goodwill and attempting to clear away a mass of American ignorance about the Canadian domain.

Mr. Heeney holds one of the toughest assignments in the diplomatic corps. The U.S. state department is a massive and complex animal. And to prod its innards is no easy job.

Yet in the 10 short months he has held his appointment, Mr. Heeney has been able to work up a close and harmonious relationship not only with State Secretary John Foster Dulles, but with his deputies and experts.

There are protests now and then and small irritations about Canadian-American trade problems, but the one-time Rhodes scholar says "our relations with the U.S. are excellent — They couldn't be better."

CONSULT FREQUENTLY

"The U.S. consult fully and frequently with us on all things which affect us directly and indirectly. Probably no two other countries co-operate as closely as we do."

Not only does Mr. Heeney have to keep on his toes constantly in connection with American relations, but he also must guide Canadian consulates stretched across the U.S.

There are offices now in New York, Boston, Detroit, Chicago, New Orleans, Seattle, San Francisco and Los Angeles. Perhaps the next one may be established in Texas.

The duties of the ambassador range from telling people where the bass bite best in Canada to instructing them on how to set up a new business there.

But Mr. Heeney finds one of his major problems is teaching Americans more about Canada. In his first speaking tour of Denver, Seattle, San Francisco and Los Angeles, he found Americans who knew a lot about Canadian economics but a lot less about other phases of Canadian life.

By clearing away misconceptions the ambassador believes Americans will feel closer to their northern friends.

The embassy is on dignified Massachusetts avenue. The ambassador's residence on select Rock Creek drive is conservatively luxurious, but not lavish.

One of the Canadian embassy officials makes frequent trips to the state department to look up the schedule of U.S. decisions which do not touch on Canadian affairs.

If there is anything that catches his interest, such as something the U.S. might do about the Middle East, he consults with his American friends and, says Mr. Heeney "gets quick and clear understanding of American action."

That's the kind of spirit in which Canada and the U.S. operate and Mr. Heeney hopes to keep it that way.

Court Upholds Rubber Ruling

TORONTO (CP)—A court order restraining five of Canada's major rubber companies from any further combine or price-fixing activities was upheld by the Ontario Court of Appeal Monday.

The court ruled that the federal government was within its powers in providing such legislation.

The five major companies are Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. of Canada Ltd., Dominion Rubber Co. Ltd., Dunlop Tire and Rubber Co., Ltd., Gutta Percha and Rubber Ltd., and B. F. Goodrich Rubber Co. of Canada Ltd.

At the trial last year, the crown submitted 1,526 documents and said the companies did business totalling $118,000,000 from 1947 to 1952.

They pleaded guilty April 8, 1953, to conspiring to fix prices. Each was fined $1,000 by Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven. In the appeal, the companies challenged the constitutionality of the restraining order.

Quebec Liberal Asks Tax On Trade Unions

OTTAWA (CP)—A Quebec Liberal said Monday night tht government should consider the possibility of levying a tax on profits trade unions make on investment of union dues.

Romuald Bourque, Montreal Outremont-St. Jean, said dues collected by trade unions are tax free. Some of the larger unions built huge reserve funds, part of which they invested.

Mr. Bourque said in the budget debate the returns on such investments should be considered taxable income in the same way investment profits are taxable in the case of individuals and corporations.

ROSENEATH (ENS)—A euchre party, the proceeds in aid of comforts for polio patients, was sponsored by Roseneath Women's Institute in the township hall on Friday evening, April 23.

The games were under the supervision of the president, Mrs. Fred Murphy.

Prize winners were: Mrs. Bart Thackeray, Mrs. Melville Woods, Mrs. Charles Sandercock and Mr. Ernest Burrison.

Lunch was served by WI members.

Says H-Bomb Defence Settling Disagreement

OTTAWA (CP) — CCF Leader Coldwell said Monday the only real defence against the hydrogen bomb is settlement of international disagreements and a general reduction in armaments.

He said in the Commons Canada should press for international control of atomic and thermo-nuclear weapons under an organization which would have unrestricted right of inspection.

Daley Refuses To Change Accident Prevention Set-up

TORONTO (CP)—Labor Minister Daley said Monday he has no intention of acceding to organized labor's demands for changes in the system of accident prevention in Ontario industry.

Trade unions have requested an equal role and responsibility with management in a program of accident prevention.

Although he is not satisfied that everything possible is being done to prevent accidents, Mr. Daley told the annual conference of the Construction Safety Association he will not disturb the present system until a better one is devised.

UP TO EMPLOYERS

He added:

"The employers of Ontario are responsible for eliminating the hazards in industry to the extent that is humanly possible, and I'm going to hold them to that responsibility."

J. F. Cauley, vice-chairman of the workmen's compensation board said some construction employers "have been too busy making too much money to care about accident prevention in industry." He warned that some small industries may be forced out of business through a high assessment against them because of high accident rates.

OTTAWA (CP)—A federal conciliation board dealing with the contract dispute involving 150,000 non-operating railway workers is expected to report late this week, probably Thursday.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name *Preparation H. The price is only $1.19 a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember — if not entirely satisfied — your money will be refunded promptly.

Molotov Urges Vietminh Be Invited To Geneva

SCHOOLGOONS' GUNS were rounded up and inspected today at the Police Station by assistant-deputy Gordon Puffer, acting Chief John Naples and inspector of detectives W. A. Clarke. A sertes of events in the city prompted detectives to round up the weapons, each one capable of killing a person, or the shooter. Boys in the 13-16 age group, avid readers of crime comics, are the manufacturers and owners, who having been let off with a lecture, could have been charged with carrying concealed weapons.

Sudden Clash On Kashmir Splits Parley

Fear Private Row Will Bog Down Colombo Conference

COLOMBO (AP) — India's Prime Minister Nehru and Pakistan's Mohammed Ali clashed over disputed Kashmir today as five South Asian premiers began a three-day conference here. Observers expressed fears the conflict might stymie the work of the meeting.

The clash came after Mohammed Ali told the premiers of Ceylon, Burma, India and Indonesia it was "perhaps a little presumptuous of us to preach peace to others until we succeed in establishing mutual understanding and trust among ourselves."

Nehru has urged the conference to adopt his plan for a solution of the Indo-Chinese conflict.

The Pakistani government leader noted his nation's six-year dispute with India over Himalayan Kashmir, and "other causes of conflict and bitterness" remain unsolved.

NEHRU SHOUTS IN ANGER

Sources at the meeting said Nehru angrily shouted he could tear Mohammed Ali "to pieces" if he cared to raise the question of aggression in Kashmir. The sources said Ceylonese Prime Minister Sir John Kotelawala, presiding, succeeded in shunting the discussion to Indo-China.

Nehru had seized the initiative before the conference got under way by circulating among the premiers copies of the five-point resolution for peace in Indo - China which he presented to the Indian parliament four days ago.

Nehru's plan calls for the big powers now meeting at Geneva to: Arrange a cease-fire in Indo-China; initiate direct peace negotiations between the French and the Communist-led Vietminh; arrange a non-intervention pact by the United States, Britain, Russia and Red China; refrain from further stepping up of the war; and bring about United Nations conciliation.

Sources close to Nehru said he is anxious to push consideration of the Indo-China question ahead of other matters. These sources said he also has ready a resolution on atomic weapons.

In a recent speech to his parliament, Nehru called on both East and West to hold off further H-bomb tests.

Visit Fort Churchill

OTTAWA (CP)—A party of 55 senators and members of the House of Commons will visit the national defence sub-Arctic proving grounds at Fort Churchill this weekend. Ralph Campney, associate defence minister, will accompany the group, which will leave Rockcliffe in two RCAF North Star aircraft Saturday, returning the following day.

Rebels Planning To Starve Out French Troops

HANOI (AP). — Vietminh rebels confined their assaults on the battered Indo-China fortress of Dien Bien Phu to artillery barrages again today amid mounting indications that they may hold off further frontal assaults in hopes of starving out the weary French Union defenders.

Pelting rains of the spring monsoon have turned the narrowing mile-square strongpoint into seas of red mud, bogging down movement of all mechanized arms. But the defenders continue to hold out against the artillery of the Communist-led attackers.

The feeling that the rebels might decide to sit out the siege was strengthened today by a Vietminh radio broadcast declaring that the monsoon will flood the French Union troops out into the hands of the overwhelming numbers of rebels surrounding them.

The broadcast quoted Communist Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap as saying in an order of the day:

EXPECT VICTORY

"When the French are obliged to leave their trenches and dugouts, because they will be flooded, that is when victory will be ours."

The fortress defenders under Brig.-Gen. Christian de Castries also face the threat of slow strangulation by the ever-tightening grip of the Vietminh unless the French find some way to relieve the pressure, such as a thrust by outside columns hitting the surrounding besiegers from the rear.

But the French continue only to reinforce the defenders by parachute drop. Despite the rains, the French reported more men and supplies were parachuted today into the tiny drop target.

Although there were violent artillery duels between the opposing big guns, the French high command said there was no important infantry fighting.

Loss Leader Inquiry Big Puzzle

No One Can Agree On Definition Of Business Practice

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament's anti-combines body, about to open a public inquiry into "'loss leader" selling, is faced with a perplexing problem: How to define the thing to be investigated.

The business world is filled with conflicting views, not only on how to define loss leaders but on the impact of this type of selling on the trade and consumer.

A survey of business groups conducted by combines investigation chief T. D. MacDonald and made public today showed that definitions supplied by 11 manufacturers ranged from "sales below normal operating profit" to "pricing at less than that prevailing in the market."

Trade associations seemed to agree that loss leader selling was the practice of selling below the "normal" price, but here again there were various qualifications.

Some department store owners described it as selling below the "landed cost," but others simply said in their view a definition is impracticable.

ORDER INQUIRY

The government ordered the loss leader inquiry following the 1951 recommendation of the MacQuarrie committee which led to Parliament's banning the practice of suppliers predetermining retail prices of their products.

The committee at that time said loss leader practices, sometimes meaning the sale of goods at low prices to attract customers from nearby competitors, is "monopolistic" and against public welfare.

Because of inflation at that time, the committee did not consider loss leader selling would present any immediate danger, but suggested it be studied later with a view to possible legislation against it, if such laws were required.

First public hearings will be opened by the restrictive trade practices commission in Ottawa May 19. The commission later will move to other cities, including Toronto, Montreal and Vancouver, to hear representations in those areas.

Proposes Officials Discuss Plan Evacuate Wounded

GENEVA (CP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov proposed today that the leaders of the Communist-led Vietminh be invited to Geneva to participate in the debate on Indo-China.

Foreign Minister Bidault of France was reported to have agreed in principle to the Soviet proposal, but argued that before the composition of the Indo-China conference is agreed on, some arrangement should be made for evacuation of French wounded from the besieged fortress of Dien Bien Phu.

Molotov then proposed that the representatives of the Communist Vietminh and of Viet Nam, allied to France, meet immediately, in Geneva if necessary, to discuss evacuation of wounded from the beleaguered stronghold in northwest Indo-China. Bidault undertook to consider the Soviet proposal.

The Soviet move, made by Molotov in a private talk with Bidault, came amid these other developments in Geneva and abroad bearing on the Asian parley:

ELECTIONS PLAN OPPOSED

1. Secretary of State Dulles of the United States opposed North Korea's proposal for unification elections, saying it was a scheme "designed to destroy the authority of the existing (Seoul) government and to replace it by a Communist puppet regime." He called for general elections under United Nations supervision.

2. In Seoul, a spokesman for President Syngman Rhee's government termed the North Korean plan, advanced Tuesday by Foreign Minister Nam Il, a trap and "completely unacceptable."

3. In Paris, a joint declaration designed to establish the independence of Viet Nam immediately was signed by French Premier Joseph Laniel and Viet Namese Deputy Premier Nguyen Tring Vinh. Viet Nam is one of the three associated states of French Indo-China.

4. The British Labor party executive passed a resolution in London opposing "any steps which would involve Britain in military action in support of imperialist policies in Indo-China."

5. The Associated Press, quoting diplomatic informants in London, said the United States is urging its Western allies publicly to pledge help quickly for France in resisting Communist aggression in Indo-China. However, as outlined, there would be no direct ultimatum to Red China. Britain and France have opposed an ultimatum.

6. The AP also quoted a reliable source to the effect that the United States, Britain and France have agreed there can be no cease-fire in Indo-China without safeguards to ensure that the military situation remains frozen dur-

Seven Children Orphaned In Holiday Crash

MARATHON, Ont. (CP) — Two married couples, who turned back from a holiday trip to pick up something they had forgotten, were killed Tuesday when their car was struck by a Canadian Pacific Railway freight train at a level crossing.

The smash occurred at a private level crossing at Port Coldwell, 10 miles from here and 180 miles east of Port Arthur on the main line of the CPR.

Dead are Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Nicoll, both about 40, of Coldwell, where Mr. Nicoll was a fish merchant; and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Whitely, both about 35, of Marathon, formerly of Port Arthur.

Seven children were orphaned as a result of the crash. The Whitelys leave four children and the Nicolls, three.

GOING TO LAKEHEAD

The two couples, on a trip to the Lakehead, were reported to have returned to Marathon to pick up some forgotten article and were crossing the CPR tracks for the second time when struck by CPR freight No. 70.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicoll and Mrs. Whitely were thrown from the car in the crash. Mr. Whitely was found hanging part way out of the wrecked vehicle and died a short time later.

Ontario provincial police constable Ford Richardson of the Schreiber detachment is investigating the accident. Dr. D. J. M. McCausland of Terrace Bay, district coroner, also arrived at the scene to investigate.

The bodies were taken to a funeral home at Schreiber.

Mr. Whitely was manager of Jessiman Brothers here and sold the 1954 car to Mr. Nicoll a few weeks ago.

Queen Defies Mau Mau Visits Uganda

ENTEBBE, Uganda (CP) — Queen Elizabeth defied a Mau Mau death threat and flew to Uganda today for a three-day stop on her Commonwealth tour.

She and the Duke of Edinburgh arrived in this East African colony from Aden this morning despite a letter to Governor Sir Andrew Cohen that the secret anti-white terrorists in neighboring Kenya would shoot the monarch if she came to this protectorate.

But the letter from the Mau Mau leader, Dedan Kimathi, caused the government to cut a visit to Kampala from her program and to cancel plans for a 72-mile road journey through the bush to open a new dam at Jinja. The Queen will fly to Jinja.

Uganda police said some Mau Maus crossed the border from Kenya recently and still have not been traced.

WATCH FOR ROYALISTS

The government also was on the lookout for any hostile demonstrations by sympathizers with exiled King Mutesa II of Buganda, one of the protectorate's four provinces. The colonial office ousted him last November and sent him off to London after he demanded that a date be set for giving his territory independence.

Negro leaders in colorful robes rubbed shoulders with British administrators in gleaming white as they awaited the Queen's plane. The turbaned Sultan of Zanzibar also came to Entebbe to welcome the Queen.

Lethal Home-Made Guns Found Among Schoolboys

The dangerous fruits of comic books, boys' novels and movies have been uncovered among a section of Peterborough's youth. In the last two weeks city detectives have confiscated an assortment of home-made pistols, which were the vogue among the Brooklyn boys back in the days of gangster warfare.

Following up a complaint of a broken window, the detectives discovered a youngster, aged about 14 years, who was carrying a home-made pistol that was capable of seriously wounding or killing a person. Further inquiries brought to light about 10 more pistols, owned and made by boys between the ages of 13 and 16. Some of the boys attend primary school.

Some of the boys told police that they got the idea to make the pistols after seeing a show. These guns, which are regarded more lethal than a .22 revolver, have been taken to school and police think that there are still more about the city.

EASY TO MAKE

To make one of these guns the boy just fashions a wooden butt, and with the aid of adhesive tape, attaches a barrel made from a piece of small-gauge piping. A small holl is bored at the butt-end of the barrel.

The next step is to ram some firecracker powder down the barrel, and any kind of lead slug or even a stone. Just apply a lighted match to the touch-hole and . . . BANG!

It might seem incredible that one of these "Toys" would be dangerous, but they have been known to kill men. Due to their rugged design, they are just as liable to blow-up and injure the person doing the shooting.

One Peterborough lad tried a little target shooting in his bedroom. The lead slug went through the bedroom wall, smashed a picture window and embedded itself in the wall of a house across the alleyway.

Police have trouble impressing the danger of the weapons upon the boys. Unfortunately, they just regard them as a kind of toy. So far none of the boys have received more than a stern lecture. However, they could be charged with carrying a concealed weapon and with carrying a firearm in the city.

Police also discovered that a local garage man had assisted the boys in the construction of the pistols, by plugging one end of the pipe and boring the touch-holes. Detectives had a fatherly chat with him, and he will not be doing any more assisting.

Police said today that they are sure there are still more of these

Reject Plan To Limit Speed

TORONTO (CP)—Traffic safety officials have rejected a suggestion that governors be placed on automobiles to keep speeds within reasonable limits.

The idea was put forward Tuesday at a meeting of the Ontario legislature's elect committee on highway safety.

W. H. Lougheed, deputy commissioner of the Ontario provincial police, called governors on cars a "dangerous proposition." He said extra power is often needed to get a driver out of a jam.

IN AGREEMENT

Warren Hastings, general manager of the Ontario Motor League, agreed.

"Fast acceleration is often needed to prevent accidents and, since reserve power is a requisite to safety, I would be opposed to any suggestion of governors to keep down speed," said Mr. Hastings.

He added that he holds no brief for the high-speed driver but considers a major cause of accidents is the habit of following the car ahead too closely.

"Another cause of trouble is the self-important and impatient driver who is an annoynce and a menace on all our roads."

British Honduras Holds First Election

BELIZE, British Honduras (Reuters)—This British Caribbean colony voted today in the territory's first general elections, with the anti-colonial People's Unity party urging the 21,000 registered voters to follow the 18th-century lead of the United States and "oust the British."

Leigh Richardson, tall, 30-year-old Negro who heads the party, declared that if the U. S. could oust the British in the 18th century, his party can do it here in the 20th.

The party is expected to win at least four seats in the nine-seat legislative council, but will not be able to control the upper house, since that has a large proportion of appointed members.

In addition, Governor P. M. Renison has powers to rule by decree if he chooses.

Army Officer Loses Appeal

TORONTO (CP) — Peter Balcombe, 24-year-old second lieutenant who was convicted of murdering a young army CWAC, lost his appeal Tuesday against the death sentence.

The Ontario Court of Appeal turned down the appeal and said Balcombe, a native of London, Ont., must die on the gallows as scheduled May 25. He was convicted of murder in the slaying of Marie Anne Carrier, 21, of Bienville, Que., Oct. 16.

The woman's stabbed body was found in a roadside ditch seven miles north of Iroquois, Ont.

Defence counsel J. P. Kelly said he will appeal the case before the Supreme Court of Canada.

Mr. Kelly argued that evidence given at the Cornwall trial last February "did not show beyond a reasonable doubt" that the murder took place in Ontario.

Sees Sign Of Success In Far East Talks

GENEVA (Reuters) — Richard Casey, Australian external affairs minister, said today he has the "instinct" that the Far East conference here "is going to have some success."

In an exclusive interview, he declared: "I believe the great powers on both sides show signs of not wanting any extension of the area of conflict in the East."

Declaring that "back room discussions" here promise some success, he disclosed that he has had "an amicable and friendly informal meeting" with Andrei Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister.

This meeting was the first contact between the Australian and Soviet delegations since Russia broke off diplomatic relations with Australia last week over the Petrov affair.

Find Transmitter In River

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Police tried today to find out who dropped a powerful radio transmitter and receiver and parts of a pistol in the Molonglo river flowing through Canberra.

Dragged from the stream Tuesday, the find raised immediate speculation the items might have been dumped by the Soviet embassy staff after Russia broke off diplomatic relations with Australia last week.

The radio equipment and pistol parts were found two miles from the embassy. It appeared to have been under water about two days.

Official sources discounted such ideas, however, and official monitoring stations said there had been no evidence that the embassy operated its own transmitter to communicate with Moscow.

The entire Soviet representation in Australia leaves Canberra by air Thursday to board a ship for Europe.

English Colt Darius Wins Classic Race

NEWMARKET, England (AP)—The English colt Darius held off a strong French challenge today to win the 146th running of the Two Thousand Guineas—first of the season's classic races for three-year-olds.

Darius nosed out the Comte de Chambure's French-trained Ferriol by a length to land the £13,311 first prize.

Poona, a 40-to-1 outsider, finished five lengths away in third place. Darius started at 8-1 and Ferriol at 100-9. The Queen's Landau was unplaced in a field of 19 starters for the one-mile race.

Pension Cheques Mailed To Dead?

OTTAWA (CP) — The finance department may be mailing civil service pension cheques to dead persons.

Finance Minister Abbott told the Commons Tuesday this possibility came to light following distribution of a questionnaire among retired government employees.

Mr. Abbott said the questionnaire sought to obtain information on whether cheques are being sent out in the name of people who are not alive.

". . . Some envelopes containing the questionnaire are coming back marked 'address unknown' whereas the envelopes containing the pension cheques are not being returned."

Mr. Abbott did not elaborate, but finance department officials said the mystery is being investigated. They said that cheques are being cashed. Officials declined to say how many cases now are being investigated.

No By-Election Seen Before Fall In Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — Three seats in the Ontario legislature are vacant but Queen's Park reports say by-elections to fill them are unlikely before autumn and may not be held at all.

These reports say that if a provincial general election is held this fall, there will be no by-elections. The present House was elected Nov. 22, 1951, for a term of up to five years.

Premier Frost, who has denied all recent rumors of election plans, was not available for comment.

The vacancies were caused by the death of three Progressive Conservative members of the legislature—W. B. Harvey of Nipissing; Gordon Macdrum of Leeds and J. D. Nault of Russell.

In North Bay last week, Mrs. Norman G. Green announced she will seek the Progressive Conservative nomination for Nipissing.

Fled Burwash Goes To Pen

SUDBURY (CP) — One of five men who escaped from Burwash Industrial Farm Thursday, Ray Allan Wood, 21, of Oshawa, today was sentenced to two years in Kingston penitentiary.

Wood was charged with escaping custody, theft of a truck, and breaking and entering a garage at Webbwood where he stole 16 cents in coppers. He pleaded guilty to each charge, and was sentenced to two years concurrent on each count.

Wood gave himself up to police Tuesday at Massey, 60 miles west of here. He had bolted from a work gang in the bush.

Four other men who broke out of the main cell block last Thursday night are still at large.

Soviet Government Ready To Let Australians Leave

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The Australian charge d'affaires in Moscow, Brian Hill, announced today that the Soviet government has guaranteed his staff in Moscow "full facilities" to leave for home Thursday night.

The Australian diplomatic party of 10 originally was to leave by train for Helsinki last Sunday following the Soviet break with Australia over the asylum granted to Vladimir Petrov, a Russian diplomat in Australia.

But the Soviet government withheld exit visas and rail tickets.

Hill was called to the foreign ministry this morning, his sixth visit there in six days. The ministry informed him, he said, that "full facilities and assistance" would be provided to enable the Australians to catch Thursday night's train to Helsinki.

The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda, commenting today for the first time on the Petrov case, accused the Australian government of staging a "provocation" to strengthen its political position and to obstruct progress at the current Geneva conference.

Western sources in Moscow said earlier that the grant of exit visas for the Australians depended on certain guarantees being given by the Australian government about the departure of the Soviet embassy staff from Canberra.

The Soviet diplomats are due to fly from Canberra Thursday to Perth, where they will board a ship.

52 Arrested In Cairo Plot

CAIRO (AP) — Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser today ordered the arrest of at least 52 persons, including 12 army officers, on charges of plotting with the Communists to cause trouble in Egypt on May Day.

Maj. Amin Shaer, Nasser's personal aide, told reporters the 12 officers will be tried by [illegible] martial "and will be inflicted the most severe punishment."

The crack-down on the army followed the banning of political activity by most of the leaders of Egypt's former political parties and a purge of press leaders opposing the military government.

A government spokesman said the arrests had had "no repercussions in the army" and no reaction was expected from the military.

U.S. Urging Allies Pledge Help Quickly

LONDON (AP) — The United States is urging the Western Allies publicly to pledge help quickly for France in resisting a Communist conquest of all Indo-China, diplomatic informants said today.

A joint declaration would carry an implied threat of military intervention in Indo-China if the situation there worsens and the Geneva conference on Indo-Chia fails.

The U. S. embassy and British foreign office declined comment.

TAP KEG IN CAR

BELLEVILLE (CP) — Railway police said today 40 gallons of rum removed from a freight car here during the week-end was obtained by boring upward through the floor and tapping the keg. The liquid apparently was taken away in the thieves' own containers. Canadian Industrial Alcohol company is at nearby Corbyville. The carload of rum, in 40-gallon kegs, was 40 gallons short on arrival.

Second-Hand Story

Hear Details Of Missing U.K. Diplomats

LONDON (AP) — Britain disclosed today that a Soviet diplomat who sought asylum in Australia has produced some hearsay evidence about the case of two long-missing British diplomats, Donald Maclean and Guy Burgess.

A foreign office spokesman emphasized that British authorities regard the information from the Russian, Vladimir Petrov, with some reserve because it is second-hand an [illegible] tailed.

The spokesman was commenting on British newspaper reports that Petrov, former third secretary of the Soviet embassy in Canberra, had revealed the full story of the two British officials who vanished with little trace May 25, 1951. The foreign office previously has made clear that it believes Burgess and Maclean are behind the Iron Curtain.

The spokesman said: "It is clear that Petrov has no first-hand knowledge of the Maclean and Burgess affair and no detailed knowledge whatsoever."

KHOKHLOV KNEW NOTHING

The spokesman also denied press reports that Capt. Nikolai Khokhlov, Soviet secret police agent who gave himself up to the West in Germany, had given some information about Burgess and Maclean.

Most of the newspaper accounts said Petrov and Khokhlov gave this story of the flight of Burgess and Maclean:

The pair met a Soviet agent in Paris after leaving London. They were flown to Rome, then smuggled through the British and American zones of Austria into Prague.

Maclean now is an adviser to the Kremlin on foreign affairs and is drafting some of Moscow's foreign office notes and memoranda.

Maclean's wife was blackmailed into joining her husband and may be used in Russian counter-propaganda against the West. (She vanished with her three children from Switzerland last fall.)

Burgess is running a Moscow English - language propaganda newspaper and advising on English - language broadcasts from Moscow.

Petrov was said to have named names in connection with the missing diplomats' case. His wife, who chose freedom in Australia in a dramatic last-minute decision, also was said to be talking.

Maclean headed the American department in the foreign office. Burgess had once been in the Washington embassy.

Take New Look At St. Lawrence Seaway Laws

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives rules committee today took its third look at the controversial St. Lawrence seaway legislation, with a vote possible—but not probable.

Several witnesses wanted to be heard either for or against the bill the United States Senate passed in January by a decisive margin. It would authorize the U.S. to join with Canada in building the 27-foot-deep waterway from the Atlantic to the Great Lakes.

Because the House was scheduled to open early today—half an hour after the start of the committee hearing at 10:30 a.m.—the committee session faced the possibility of being cut short. In the absence of a final vote on the legislation pending before the House itself, however, the committee could continue to sit.

Should that develop, the rules group could vote today on whether to send the seaway bill to the House floor for action.

STICK TO CLAIM

Seaway supporters this morning were still sticking to their claim that the measure would clear the rules committee, even though a slight majority of the committee had indicated it opposed the bill.

The contradiction was explained by the fact that some members of the committee who opposed the bill might nevertheless vote to send it to the floor so that the entire House could once and for all decide the issue that has concerned Congress for 20-odd years.

If the House beats down the bill this session, Canada has said officially that she will no longer wait for American participation, but will build it herself on the north side of the St. Lawrence river in Canadian territory.

Proponents of the bill, which has strong administration support, think they have the votes to win in the House. Opponents, naturally, dispute this contention.

Urges Economic Aid Extended In Far East

OTTAWA (CP) — The government should follow up Prime Minister St. Laurent's Asian visit with extending plans of technical and economic aid to the Far East, the Commons was told Tuesday.

J. E. Brown (L—Brantford) said during the budget debate that he hopes the government will give careful study to developing and extending participation in aid plans such as the Colombo Plan "to assist in every way possible the living standards of the peoples in these countries."

Every means possible should be employed to cement good relations with the Far Eastern nations of the commonwealth.

He said he favors a substantial increase in Canada's contribution to the Colombo Plan for economic development in Southeast Asia. Last year the contribution was $25,000,000.

Canada To Convert Drawings For Rifle

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has agreed to convert production drawings for the Belgian FN automatic rifle to the inch system as a step toward a standard American-Canadian-British weapon.

A joint statement by Defence Minister Claxton and Duncan Sandys, United Kingdom supply minister, Tuesday said the work will be carried out at Canadian arsenals in Toronto.

The work involves converting from metric measurements to the inch system all the Belgian production drawings, since metric measurements are not considered suited to manufacturing methods and tooling in Canada.

Britain already has decided to manufacture the FN rifle for the British army. Canada and the United States have ordered numbers of the weapon for troop trials, and Canada has decided to manufacture it in Canada if it is adopted.

Businesses In Wrong Zone Get Sympathy Of Aldermen

The position of non-conforming users under the city's new zoning bylaw came in for some criticism at Monday night's meeting of the board of works.

A non-conforming user is a person with an established business on premises zoned for higher use (for example, a service station situated in a residental zone). Once the property has been zoned, the owner may not extend his premises or alter their use except to conform to the zone specified on the plan.

(The owner of the service station in the example could not enlarge his premises or, in the event of a fire, rebuild them. In either case, he could only replace them with a house to conform to the zoning regulations, although he is free to carry on operation of the service station so long as it exists in its original state.)

"The unfortunate thing is that we have people who spend a lifetime building up their businesses and then we erect legislative barriers around them and they find they are non-conforming users," Ald. Gordon Powell told the board of works. "That's pretty rough."

The criticism came about as a result of a petition from residents of Reid St., between Edinburgh and Dublin streets, asking for the removal of North End Motors used car lot, which they said affected property values on the street.

LIKE AN ALLEY

James Heffernan, 640 Reid St., and Andrew Fornarno, 629 Reid St., appeared on behalf of the petitioners.

Mr. Heffernan said the used car lot and Gray's garage took up three-quarters of the block. He had counted as many as 20 cars on the lot and the street was "just like an alley" now.

Mr. Heffernan, who had lived across the street from the lot for 40 years, said it had a loud telephone bell which rang "at all hours of the day and night." It had no sanitary conveniences and sanitary conditions were "very bad." He submitted a sanitary inspector's report.

Mr. Farnarno said he had lived between the lot and Edinburgh St. for nine years. There had been a used car lot there for about four years. It had changed hands a couple of times.

In answer to a question from Ald. Stan McBride, Mr. Heffernan said the corner garage did not constitute a problem but a row of billboards was. One of the problems at the used car lot was that sometimes young fellows hung about until 1 a.m. "with a few beers in them, especially on pay night."

"Do you object to the lot being there or to the way it is carried on?" Ald. Powell asked.

"I don't think there should be a used car lot in a residential section," Mr. Heffernan said.

GOT LICENCE

The joint operators of the lot, W. G. Blaby and E. C. Seabrooke, also appeared before the board. Mr. Blaby explained that he had taken out a business licence last September. The lot was leased for a two-year period until next January 1.

City Clerk E. A. Outram said the licence had originally been issued in 1950 "to give Mr. Blaby's father something to do" and on the understanding that only a few cars would be sold.

"It looks like a commercial area to me," Mr. Blaby said, "maybe not right at that spot but within two blocks."

In answer to Mayor Norman Graham's questioning, Mr. Blaby said he had received a licence to build a small shed behind the billboard for simonizing and storage. Permission had been obtained from Mr. Gray to use sanitary facilities in the garage.

Ald. McBride pointed out there were three garages in the area of the lot. Mr. Outram said the adjacent garage was classed as a non-conforming user, as was another one close by.

City solicitor W. F. Huycke, QC, and city engineer A. E. Chalmers pointed out that if the used car lot was still in existence when the zoning bylaw was passed, the operators would be classed as non-conforming users.

"The true story is that this lot was to be used for just three or four cars," Mayor Norman Graham said.

"If they have a licence to operate a used car lot, then I don't think we can restrict the number of cars they deal," Ald. Gordon Farquharson said.

"The unforunate thing is we have people who spend a lifetime building up their businesses and then we erect legislative barriers around them and they find they are non-conforming users," Ald. Powell said. "That's pretty rough."

"If it's the intention of council to bring that property back to residential use, these boys should know so they can adjust themselves to it," Ald. John Dewart said.

PUBLIC MEETINGS

Mr. Huycke explained that after this week's public meetings in connection with the zoning bylaw, it would be given first and second readings before going to the municipal board, who would hold public hearings before they gave their approval and it was returned to city council for third and final reading.

Through these stages, there would be opportunities for amendment, but once it was finally passed, there would be a committee on adjustments formed to deal with cases of hardship.

"If we give the idea to the people at large that we're going to use this breathing period to put the finger on any non-conforming users, then we're going to be plagued with delegations from every neighborhood in the city," Ald. Gordon Farquharson said.

"I would suggest we're not dealing with just a neighborhood quarrel but the livelihood of two young men," Ald Powell said.

At Ald. John Dewart's suggestion, it was decided to leave the matter over to the next meeting of the board of works so that all members would have a chance to study it.

League Protests Delay In Final

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP)—J. Harper Parry, secretary-manager of the Western Junior Hockey League, has protested to the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association concerning the delay in the eastern Canada junior final.

Parry filed his protest with Harold Brandreth of Calgary, president of the Alberta Hockey Association, who will pass it on to W. B. George of Kemptville, CAHA president.

The eastern champions were to have been declared by April 27. St. Catharines and Quebec City currently are tied 1-1 in the best-of-seven eastern final while the western champions, Edmonton Oil Kings, are marking time.

Edmonton eliminated Fort William last week in the western final and don't plan to leave for the east until this week-end.

Red China Plans Liberation Force

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — The official Chinese Nationalist Ta Tao news agency said today that Red China is prepared to counter any Western anti-Communist alliance for southeast Asia with a "liberation force" of more than 50 divisions.

Ta Tao said its information came from a highly-placed but anonymous Communist official who attended Peiping conferences at which the counter-measures were planned.

The conferences apparently were held after U. S. State Secretary Dulles proposed a 10-power alliance to halt the spread of communism through southeast Asia.

ONE-EYED GENERAL

Ta Tao said Red China's leaders decided to create immediately a "southeast Asia liberation force" of 50 divisions—27 from Red China, 15 from the Indo-China Vietminh and eight from Communists in Malaya, the Philippines and Thailand.

The army would be under the command of one-eye Gen. Liu Pocheng, colorful Red leader of the Chinese civil war, Ta Tao said.

The news agency made no mention of what conditions would send the force into action.

Buckhorn WI Sponsors Hawaiian Concert

BUCKHORN — The Buckhorn Women's Institute were sponsors last Friday night for a Hawaiian concert given by the pupils of Mrs. Ethel G. Cochrane of Peterborough to a capacity audience in the community hall.

The program was made up of a variety of music including Hawaiian, popular, western and sacred. There were Hawaiian songs by a group of junior girls in native costume. Solos, duets, trio and orchestral numbers were played by the pupils on both electric and standard guitars. There were piano duets by Dianne Cochrane and Tom Flynn, also several costume songs by Adele Cochrane.

Following the program the Institute served the cast a delightful lunch.

ing negotiations for a political settlement.

This source said there is no inclination on the part of either Britain or France to agree to a cease-fire without some machinery for guaranteeing the present lines. The United States also is reported insisting on safeguards to protect the French military positions.

U.S. military authorities have said privately that they believe any cease-fire would be very difficult, if not impossible, to enforce, since guerrillas and troops of the Communist-led Vietminh rebels infiltrate all the areas in Viet Nam technically held by the French.

France's foreign minister Bidault and Foreign Minister Molotov of Russia pushed ahead meanwhile in their private talks on setting up a big-power conference on the Indo-Chinese conflict.

Representing the Western Big Three, the French foreign minister went to the Soviet delegate's lakeside villa just a few hours before State Secretary Dulles was due to unveil the United States government policy declaration on Korea to the Far Eastern conference.

A French spokesman hailed the continuing informal talks on Indo-China, Bidault and Molotov also met Tuesday, as a sign that the critical question might not have to wait for disposition of the virtually deadlocked Korean problem, but might actually be considered by the conference simultaneously.

While the formal meetings of the 19 participating countries are dealing with proposals for unifying Korea, the Bidault-Molotov talks have been limited to composition of a conference on Indo - China. French sources express belief that agreement might be reached with the Communists soon.

The arrival in Geneva today of France's minister for Indo-China Marc Jacquet, also was viewed as another indication of French optimism. He was reported called in to advise Bidault on the attitude of the three native governments in Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia, the Indo-Chinese associated states.

A highly informed source said these three possibilities were considered during Tuesday's talk between Molotov and Bidault:

1. A nine - party conference limited to France, Britain, the U.S., Russia, Communist China, the three Indo-Chinese states and representatives of the Vietminh Indo-China rebels.

2. An 11-member parley, those nine plus Thailand and Burma, both neighbors of Indo-China.

3. A 14-delegation group, those 11 plus Australia, India and Indonia.

France was understood to have come around to the point of accepting the idea of Vietminh participation.

The U.S. had made it clear for some time that it thought a solution to the Indo-Chinese problem would be difficult if not impossible unless all parties to the fighting conferred.

But agreement on who would negotiate still would leave the major problem, finding a satisfactory basis for ending the fighting.

And the terms offered so far by France's premier Laniel, evacuation by the Vietminh of Cambodia, Laos and the rich Mekong and Red river deltas, promise little hope of rebel compliance.

None of the conference delegates have much hope that the Korean talks will get anywhere toward evacuation of the battle-torn peninsula and withdrawal of foreign troops.

Industrials Featured In Market Trading

TORONTO (CP) — Firm industrials were featured today in early afternoon stock market trading.

Industrial strength came from utilities, steels, liquors, financial institutions and manufacturers.

Consumers Gas was up 75 cents. Brazilian climbed 87½ cents. Papers, constructions, foods, textiles, and motors were weaker, and refining oils firm.

Papers dropped. Anglo-Newfoundland was down 37 cents.

Western oils were lower and base metals fell, but Labrador in the seniors marked a 15-cent rise. Uraniums were also down and Bathurst-area base metals were slightly weaker.

Some golds were lower.

Increased Police Patrols Will Test Highway Safety

TORONTO (CP)—The first action taken by the Ontario legislature's committee on highway safety will be a test to determine if increased police patrols will reduce accidents. The test will be made on the dual Highway 401 between Toronto and Oshawa.

W. H. Lougheed, deputy commissioner of the Ontario provincial police, agreed to the plan. He told the committee that his force, although understaffed, already spends 60.3 per cent of its time on traffic duty.

John Yaremko, Progressive Conservative member for Toronto Bellwoods, suggested the test. During the first two weeks normal patrols will be used. The force will be doubled during the second two weeks and tripled during the third two weeks.

NEED KNOWLEDGE OF CARS

John Root (PC—Wellington) told the committee that persons should know more about the mechanical operations of their cars before they are granted driving licences.

"Many people have no idea of the power of their cars and they are a menace on the highways," Mr. Root said. "They should be compelled to pass a written examination just the same as an operator of a steam boiler."

Committee chairman W. M. Nickle (PC — Kingston) said the amount of damage in requiring a police report at an accident should be raised from $100 to $250.

"Officers are running hither and yon to see people where the damage is $100 or more," Mr. Nickle said. "It is a waste of time to take a man off his beat for that amount."

DOCTORS DON'T KNOW

Even a psychiatrist couldn't tell what gets into motorists to cause accidents, deputy commissioner ougheed said.

"With a first class car there is no reason why there should be so many deaths," he said. "I don't think there is any one answer to why accidents occur or how they might be prevented. There are a great many causes and one of the greatest is undoubtedly the human element."

The mystery, he said, is how ordinarily courteous people, when they get into automobiles, insist on the right of way and other things.

After hearing Eric Silk, special counsel on the highways traffic act in the attorney-general's department, on the workings of the Unsatisfied Judgments Act and other legal aspects, the committee adjourned till May 6 when Highways Minister Doucett and his departmental officials will be questioned.

Decide To Vote Thursday About Seaway

By JAMES C. MUNN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives rules committee today decided to vote Thursday on whether to send St. Lawrence seaway legislation to the House floor for a final test.

Chairman Leo Allen (Rep. Ill.) told reporters he believes the bill will be approved by the committee.

The measure, authorizing the U. S. to join Canada in building the 27-foot-deep Atlantic-to-the-Great-Lakes waterway, was approved by the Senate in January.

The rules committee scheduled the vote after hearing Chairman Dewey Short (Rep. Mo.) of the House armed services committee, a former opponent of the project, testify that he had changed his position because he believes the seaway is essential to national defnce.

Cautioning that the once-plentiful Mesabi iron ore deposits in the U. S. are nearing exhaustion, Short said, "You can't wage a war without steel."

"I don't know," he said, "where you could spend a dollar that would contribute more to national defence than the St. Lawrence seaway."

Tombstone Clue In U.K. Murder

STRATFORD- ON -AVON, Eng. (Reuters)—A small tombstone has become a vital clue in the death of a woman drowned in the river Avon near the burial place of William Shakespeare.

Police Tuesday night hauled a 69-year-old grave marker from the river bed near the spot where the woman was found Saturday. The tombstone had been missing from its usual place in a churchyard which sweeps down to the water.

It may have been tied to the body of Olive Bennett, 45-year-old Scottish midwife, when she fell, or was thrown, off the river bank.

The death riddle has thrown a sinister shadow over this town of half-timbered houses and tranquil river scenery where admirers of the bard are gathered for the annual Shakespearean celebrations.

While the pilgrims honored the poet's birthplace, detectives dragged the Avon. They opened sluice gates, lowered the depth by nearly three feet, splashed into the water and uncovered the tombstone.

Detectives are trying to piece together the dead woman's last hours. She left a maternity home two miles from here Friday. The next day her body was seen in the river. The famous swans of Avon glided by and spring flowers, sprinkled in the water by children to mark Shakespeare's birthday, floated gently over her.

Her hat was found on a tree-fringed tow path known as "lover's lane," not far from the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre where actors tonight play the tragedy, "Romeo and Juliet."

Miss Bennet apparently came to the churchyard of Holy Trinity, possibly to keep a rendezvous. Her lower set of dentures, spectacle case and a shoe were found Tuesday, scattered between the moss-covered graves.

Praise Turns Slightly Sour

The city fathers are usually pretty sensitive to the beefs and groans of the ratepayers.

Consequently there was mild jubilation at the board of works meeting Monday night when they received a letter from Armour Rd. residents thanking them for improvements to the city's easterly thoroughfare. But the outcome had an ironic twist like the morning after a celebration.

"What had we better do with this?" asked chairman Ald. Art Burrows.

"I'll move that it be framed," suggested Ald. Stan McBride.

"I suppose you're aware that the work they are referring to was done by the utilities commission," city engineer A. E. Chalmers said in his usual laconic fashion.

(The improvements were apparently the follow-up of the work done on the new water main to Downer's Corners.

"I think we should change the name of Amour Rd." said Ald. Gordon Farquharson, by way of nothing in particular.

Loss Leader

Meanwhile, to develop a background for the hearings, Mr. MacDonald conducted a survey, receiving replies from 111 business groups, including chain stores, manufacturers, trade associations, co-operative associations and others.

He asked such questions as how the groups would define loss leaders, what impact they had on competition, whether customers are deceived by such selling and whether it injured the product.

The replies showed that the main concern about loss leader selling lies in groceries and household electrical appliances. The drug trade said it might be concerned if economic conditions change.

Generally the replies expressed opposing views. Some business groups felt loss leader selling deceived the customer. Others thought it did not. Some felt such selling harmed the prestige of the product; others took opposing views.

Some small independent retailers have complained that big stores, in order to eliminate the smaller competitor, slash prices to pull customers away, forcing the little store out of business. When that happens, up go the large stores' prices again.

Obituary

MRS. NELSON SAGE

The death occurred at her residence, 746 Lansdowne St., today, of Mrs. Elizabeth Sage, widow of Nelson Sage, in her 86th year. She had been ill for some time.

Born in Bracebridge, daughter of the late Thomas Featherstone and Frances Annie Whitfield, Mrs. Sage has lived in the Peterborough district for the past 55 years. She lived with her husband on a farm in North Monaghan township for many years. Mrs. Sage was a member of the Free Methodist church and was a practical nurse.

Surviving are sons, Webster, George and John, and one daughter, Mrs. G. H. Robinson (Esther), all of Peterborough; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Glover of Newmarket, Mrs. Annie Harvey of Hamilton, and Mrs. Orpha Caldwell of Kentucky. There are also 19 grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be from the Comstock funeral home with the Rev. K. B. Bauder officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery. Time of service has not been set.

Board Of Works Seek Union Certification

LINDSAY (ENS)—Officials of the Lindsay Board of Works were notified Tuesday that a hearing has been set for May 4 before the Ontario Labor Relations Board concerning the application for certification of the board's employees as a bargaining group.

The workers have reportedly been organized by the national union of public service employees, the national organization of which the Lindsay hydro employees are also members. Organization work went ahead during the same period when the hydro employees were joining the union.

Some 17 employees of the board of works have signed up with the union. Engineer Les Wilson said today this is the entire working force, exclusive of the foreman.

It is expected that at the hearing the town will present argument that some of the men who have signed with union must be classed as temporary employees. Only about 12 workers put in a full year with the board staff, it is reported.

Will Name Board To Settle Dispute

A conciliation board will be appointed to try and mediate the contract dispute between the Canadian General Electric Co. and the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (Indep.).

The parties today received word from J. B. Metzler, deputy minister of labor, that the department had accepted the recommendation of James Dunklee, conciliation officer, and a board will be set up. Each party has been asked for a nominee to the three-man board.

The UE are negotiating on a master contract basis. The largest local is Local 524 in Peterborough, bargaining agents for some 3,300 production workers.

Union proposals include a general wage increase of 15 cents an hour; a half-hour paid lunch period for shift workers; reduction from four to two per cent of an employee's earnings as his contribution to the pension scheme; and tightened union security and seniority provisions.

This year there are no proposals for changes in the hours of work; CGE workers began a 40-hour week beginning Jan. 1. This was a provision in their present contract.

Negotiations between the UE and CGE began in January. Conciliation officer Dunklee was unable to get agreement after meeting with the two parties on April 14 and 15, so he recommended the setting up of a conciliation board.

Thunderstorms Flood New York State

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Thunderstorms and heavy rain swept western New York state Tuesday, flooding streets and hampering utility service in some areas. One man was killed when he was struck by lightning.

A small creek overflowed at Springville in Erie county near here, pouring water two feet deep through some streets for a time. Police said about 15 autos were stalled.

In Jamestown, storm sewerr overflowed and telephone servir was disrupted temporarily in parts of the city. A power line was felled at Chautauqua.

Paul L. Spengler, 23, was killed by a lightning bolt while working on a farm at Leon, Cattaraugus county.

Could Fence In United Counties Warden Says

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Reg. McCann, warden of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham, was guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Rotary Club here. He was introduced by Deputy-Reeve Rotarian George Free.

Mr. McCann said in his opinion, the united counties were the banner counties of the province.

"You could build a fence around Northumberland and Durham and the people would be able to subsist probably longer than those in any other section of the province," he said.

The speaker supported his statement by describing many sections of the counties and the production of each. He told of the vegetable, fruit and apple country west of Trenton and the beef-producing areas in Durham. In Hope, Darlington and Manvers, there were great areas of sandy soil which had been brought into the production of fine tobacco. The Millbrook area grows the best of Ontario's fall wheat and in Percy, Seymour and Brighton, dairy production is high.

COUNTIES COUNCIL

Mr. McCann described a little of the operation of counties council. It had representatives from 15 rural municipalities, embracing four towns and five villages.

Most of these municipalitities have both reeve and deputy-reeve as do the towns of Bowmanville, Port Hope and Cobourg. Each has two votes, bring the total voting strength in the assembly to 46.

The chief obligation of the counties council is the upkeep of county roads, of which there are 321 miles serving a population of about 65,000. The town of Trenton, a separated municipality, keeps up about 15 miles of county road between Highway 30 and the town, by way of Wooler.

Under the old assessment, five mills is levied for the upkeep of roads, but it is expected the rate will be cut in half under the new equalized assessment. The money requisitioned will remain approximately the same.

The warden described other items in the budget such as law enforcement, child welfare and the health unit. The registry office is now using a photostatic process for recording documents. The use of microfilm has eliminated an immediate need for larger quarters.

Mr. McCann was thanked by Rotarian Archie Meyers.

Cobourg To Have Water Main On Division St.

COBOURG (ENS). — A group of prospective householders, who last week received council authorization to build a 12-inch sewer to the Land Assembly housing area, have been successful in getting approval by the public utilities commission for a 12-inch water main out Division St. to Elgin St.

A delegation representing the Co-operative Housing Scheme attended a meeting of the utilities commission Tuesday night to ask for construction of the main.

The utilities asked the sanction of the municipal board last year for mains on Burnham, Ontario, and Division Sts., but in view of the provincial government plans to use land on north Division St. for the new highway, the Division St. main plan was dropped, as it was going to service a housing area on the north end of the street. However, the Land Assembly housing area is further south, near Elgin and Division Sts.

TO RE-APPLY

Accordingly, the utilities commission will re-apply for a water main on Division St. and for the time being it will extend only as far north as Elgin. Cost has not been estimated, as the figures will have to be revised from the original full stretch on Division St. to the shorter run to Elgin.

Ultimate plans call for a six-inch main to run north from Elgin to the end of Division St. Payment will be on the Local Improvement plan.

It was revealed at Tuesday night's meeting that the electric department finished with a surplus at the end of 1953 of $50,375.73 and the water department $17,233.80. Contributing to the surplus is the fact that the last of the purchase debentures of the utilities system has been paid off.

Won't Take Action On Germ Confession

WASHINGTON (AP) — The marine corps announced Tuesday no disciplinary action will be taken against Col. Frank H. Schwable for his germ warfare confession in Korea.

But the court of inquiry which delved into the case found that Schwable's usefulness to the marine corps has been "seriously impaired."

This left his future under a cloud.

The court of inquiry had been set up to determine whether Schwable's confession, wrung from him while a captive of the Reds, justified a court-martial or other discipline.

Junior Farmers Elect New Officers

GUELPH—A plea to increase membership of the Junior Farmers Association of Ontario, which now numbers 9,000, by appealing to members of 4-H clubs, was made here Tuesday by Carl Boynton of Woodbridge, in his inaugural address as president. The election closed the three-day conference.

Myrtle Stewart of Mona Mills, new vice-president, is the second woman elected to the executive since the association was formed 10 years ago.

T. R. Hilliard of Toronto, attached to the Ontario Department of Agriculture, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Zone representatives elected were: Zone 1, Russell McAllister, Carleton County; Zone 2, David Wilson, Durham County; Zone 3, Carl Boynton, York County; Zone 4, Bill Saunders, Haldimand County; Zone 5, K. Ferguson, Elgin County.

Robert Brown of Bradford and David Wilson of Durham were named representatives to the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair. David Pelletterio of Milton will represent the Junior Farmers on the CNE Association, while Anne Alexander of Bruce County and Josephine Bird of Haldimand County are delegates to the Women's Institute of Ontario.

Directors elected from the various counties are: Algoma, Garnett Morrison; Brant, Ross Sibbick and Ruth McLaughlin; Bruce, Gordon Patterson; Carleton, Russell McAllister; Dufferin, Myrtle Stewart and Bruce Sproule; Durham, David Wilson; Elgin, K. Papers Urged Work Harder Getting News

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian newspapers were urged today by Roy H. Thomson to work hard at their basic job, getting the news to the public.

If they do that, he said, they needn't worry about television or other competition.

Radio had been considered a threat. But it turned out radio helped to build circulation and widened the field of newspaper advertising. TV would do the same.

Mr. Thomson, outspoken Torontonian who owns newspapers in three countries, was speaking to the annual meeting of The Canadian Press. He retires from the presidency of CP this year after a two-year term. Besides newspapers in Canada, Britain and the United States he has radio and television interests.

"Television cannot do a complete job of news reporting, not even as complete as radio," he said. "The newspaper remains the one place where you can get news when you want it.

"I look to see news coming back into the newspaper. More spot news and more background. More sport because of women and youngsters watching TV. More art, more theatre, more maps and charts. More pictures."

MORE NEWS, PICTURES

He said CP is aiming at more and broader coverage in news and pictures. He mentioned the national news co-operative's plans for independent coverage of Washington and United Nations and urged its members to bear down on their joint effort with CP to cover thoroughly the news of a growing Canada.

He said:

"We have got to look forward and be prepared to experiment. In the last few years the courage to try new things has given us a highly efficient teletypesetter network, a valuable and expanding exchange of Canadian pictures and a service of news in the French language. Each of these looked impossible four years ago. Each is alive and can grow to the benefit of Canada and its newspapers.

"We should not be afraid of the untried."

Call Special Session Of Counties Council

COBOURG (ENS) — Northumberland and Durham counties council assembled for a special session today. The meeting was called to settle the matter of the Brighton High School area debentures in order to get decks cleared to meet the deadline for the larger government grant.

Also on the agenda is the report of the cosultative committee on the application of the town of Port Hope and the township of Hope to withdraw from the Durham High School area. The two municipalities indicated at the session earlier this month that they wished to separate for economic reasons.

It is felt there is a possibility the application may be withdrawn, because it has since been learned that the government grants will be lower under the proposed revised set-up.

Health Report

COBOURG (ENS)—Twenty-five new cases of communicable disease were recorded for the week ending April 24 by the Northumberland and Durham counties Health Unit. Of these, 16 were chickenpox, four scarlet fever and two each of infectious jaundice and whooping cough. One case of red measles completed the list.

Workers Hurt

HAMILTON (CP) — Construction worker Armand Gagnon, 24, was seriously injured Tuesday when a large steel coil fell on him at the Dominion Foundries and Steel Company plant. He was taken to hospital with broken legs, broken shoulder blade and possible broken pelvis.

Probe Child's Death

HAMILTON (CP)—An inquest will be held Thursday into the death of two-year-old John Lebelle who died March 26, two hours after supper. A brother and sister, also ill after the meal, recovered.

Assessors To Meet

BELLEVILLE (CP) — Representatives of five central Ontario counties will meet here Thursday for the Ontario Assessors' Association District 5 annual convention.

City To Stick To 5-Year Leases Store Property

The board of works Monday night recommended making no change in city council policy of limiting leases on property in the market building to five years.

The question came up when James Hum, proprietor of the Deluxe restaurant, asked the board to extend his lease to 10 years or grant him a five-year lease with an option to renew it another five years on termination.

Until a couple of weeks ago, council's policy was to grant only short-term leases. But this was changed when Mr. Hum said he wanted to renovate his premises. Only with a longer lease would this be feasible.

Mr. Hum appeared again Monday night with his counsel, T. J. Carley, QC, and explained that his proposed alterations were more extensive than he at first planned. His architect had recommended a 10-year lease.

Ald. Gordon Farquharson, chairman of the property committee, said he thought the matter was a question of policy for the whole council to deal with. His committee had been instructed to adjust the rents in the building in accordance with the provisions for long-term leases.

"Ten years is a long time to bind the city to that building," Ald. Rehill said. "At any time someone might come along and make a handsome offer to purchase it, particularly in view of developments on that corner."

Other members expressed agreement and it was decided not to change the policy on five-year leases.

Artists Charge "Propaganda"

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Duplessis Tuesday termed "dirty Communist propaganda" a statement" made in Winnipeg Monday night by the manager of a troupe of six Russian artists on a Canadian tour.

Mr. Duplessis made the comment when asked about a statement made by John Boyd of Toronto, manager of the tour, who was reported as saying Monday that the Russian artists would not perform in Quebec province because music people here were afraid of what Premier Duplessis might do.

The only comment Mr. Duplessis made was: "It is dirty Communist propaganda as usual."

Earlier Solicitor-General Rivard said he did not know why the management for the Russian artists was unable to rent auditoriums in Quebec province.

"The government has not been approached in connection with this tour," Mr. Rivard said, "and certainly no threats were made to anyone."

Ask Restrictions Eased On Negroes

OTTAWA (CP)—Spokesmen for a Toronto Negro association said Tuesday that Canada discriminates against colored people who want to immigrate to this country. They urged that restrictions be lifted on immigration of Negroes from Commonwealth countries.

A delegation which included Negro and white members presented this demand in a brief to Immigration Minister Harris. Donald Moore, president of the Toronto Negro Citizenship Association, and Stanley G. Grizzle, president of the Toronto division, Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters (AFL), headed the group.

Mr. Harris said in an interview later that he promised to give their brief serious consideration to see whether it would be possible to widen the present category of admissible Negroes which includes fathers, mothers and wives and children of Canadian residents.

Father Of Three Committed For Trial

SARNIA (CP) — Earl Clifford Saunders, 37-year-old father of three children, Tuesday was committed for trial on a charge of murder in the March 29 shotgun slaying of William Sands, 63, a Dawn township cattle drover.

Twenty-four witnesses were heard by magistrate J. C. Dunlap and a statement made by Saunders to police was admitted as evidence. Saunders is expected to come to trial in September. He did not testify.

U.S. Wheat Not Needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pakistan announced Tuesday that it does not need the remaining wheat given by the United States to avert famine and therefore will not take delivery of 90,000 tons still awaiting shipment. The U.S. last year, at President Eisenhower's recommendation, made available 700,000 tons of wheat and earmarked an additional 300,000 tons reserve to be sent if necessary.

Lutherans Plan Merger

TORONTO (CP)—Fifth Western Ontario pastors of the Lutheran church met here Tuesday for a two-day district conference. Rev. A. Pollex of Toronto said their eventual goal is formation of one natinal body uniting east and west.

Water Tank Bursts

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—A hillside water tank in el Patagon, an oil-field town, cracked and burst during the week-end, hurling thousands of barrels of water over workers' homes below. A woman and two children were killed and 15 persons were hurt severely.

Anglican Church Celebrates Centennial

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Extensive preparations are being made for the observance of the centennial of St. John the Baptist Anglican church, which takes place this year.

A number of former incumbents will be guest speakers at the morning services during May. They will include Archdeacon Sawers, DD, Archdeacon of York, who resides at Willowdale and was rector here from 1909 until 1911. He will speak on May 9.

The Rev. H. A. Ben Oliel, rector from 1911 until 1918 will be guest speaker on Sunday, May 16. Mr. Ben Oliel also lives at Willowdale. On May 23, the Rev. S. A. R. Wood of Thornhill, rector from 1941 until 1944, will speak and on May 30 Confirmation service will be conducted by the Rev. A. R. Beverley, DD, Bishop of Toronto.

The Rev. H. R. Howden of St. Joseph's Episcopal church, Detroit, Mich., and rector of St. John's from 1938 until 1941 was guest speaker on Sunday morning, which marked the opening of the special centennial services.

COMMITTEE NAMED

At a parish council meeting, a committee to deal with centennial and historical matters was named: A. Kembar, Mrs. Hugh Ketchum, Mrs. Herbert Stuart, Miss E. Ogilvie, Miss Florence Atwood and O. A. Langley.

Mrs. Ketchum, with the help of members of the Women's Auxiliary, will be in charge of an historical display. Mr. Kembar will look after a "Book of Remembrance" which will include the list of memorials and gifts in the church and of the clergy and other items of special importance. Miss Ogilvie and Mrs. Stuart, with the help of the Guild, will look after letters to former parishioners.

A sign will be made for the old church giving its original name, "Christ Church, North Douro, 1853."

The present rector, the Rev. L. J. Delaney, will write a number of articles to publicize the story of the old church.

St. Mark's Anglican church, Warsaw, has also made centennial plans, which include the Rev. J. L. Hughes as guest speaker on June 13 at 3 p.m. This service will be followed by a social gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Cobb. On June 27 St. Mark's will observe Decoration Day.

Draft Legislation For Road Control

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal-provincial highway conference Tuesday began putting together draft legislation whereby the central government would give to the provinces authority over road traffic crossing provincial borders.

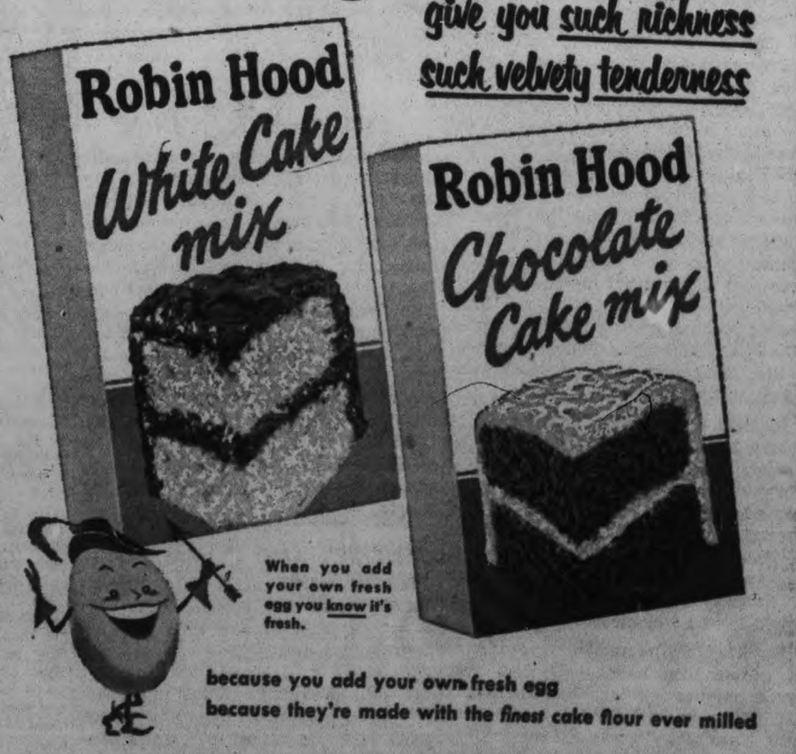
Informants from the private meetings emphasized that the legislation is tentative and will need approval of 11 governments, but they said there appeared general agreement among the delegates that the provinces can take over the jurisdiction now vested in the Ottawa government.

Purpose of the bill would be to give the provinces the same control over interprovincial and international highway transport that they now exercise over transport within their borders.

Jail 'Philanthropist'

LONDON (Reuters)—A former bank manager so enjoyed the power to lend money that he granted overdrafts at his own discretion and cost his bank more than £50,000 in four years. John William Clay, 51, described by his lawyer as a "modern Robin Hood with a burning desire to help the world," was jailed Tuesday for four years for fraudulent conversion and falsifying bank accounts. He pleaded guilty.

Gives Self Up



SUDBURY (CP) — Roy Allan Wood, 21, of Oshawa surrendered to police Tuesday after being at large since Thursday. He escaped from Burwash Industrial farm. Four others who escaped are still at large.

Where'd they all go? Even without free-handed little girls like this, more families ran out of Kellogg's Corn Flakes this morning than any other cereal. This is happening all the time. That's because Kellogg's Corn Flakes just naturally taste better to more people than any other cereal. Always have. Still do. No wonder so many women pick up a spare package of Kellogg's Corn Flakes every time they buy any other kind of cereal.

"Difficult And Complicated"

Mr. Lester Pearson called the Geneva Conference, before it opened, "one of the most difficult and complicated" of post-war years. It could not be otherwise. There are a thousand delegates and representatives and assistants. There are four major participants, and a dozen other countries invited to take part directly in some of the affairs or to observe. Among them is Canada, who will have a voice in talks on Korea because Canadian troops took part in that war, but none on Indo-China. The conference will discuss not only these two wars but issues underlying them and the whole turbulent and difficult state of affairs in Asia generally.

* * *

Mr. Pearson added, "given good will, it may be possible that something constructive will arise from it". One hopes so. A certain amount of good-will has already been shown, in setting the conference going. For instance, Russia agreed immediately to the Western plan for the rotation of the chairmanship. There is also evidence already at Geneva of positive purpose; an example is that the Foreign Ministers of the U.S.S.R. and France conferred personally on the Indo-China situation and how to bring that war to a halt. Representatives of smaller states—Viet Nam, South Korea, North Korea—show signs of being less willing to make compromises, but it is the big states who can dictate decisions; and the big states know better than some of the small ones the threat to world peace which even a limited war is in these days.

* * *

Geneva is already showing that the big states want to avoid a larger conflict and are seeking to ease the tension which exists. Whether "something constructive" will come out of Geneva or not, the conference is clearing the air and lessening the strains between East and West. It is difficult and complicated conference; it is also very important, and represents an advance towards easier international relations. Three years ago, so great was the tension that no such conference could have been held. International times are improving. Is this because fear of the H-bomb has forced conciliation and a search for compromise?

What Is A Broken Home?

We read a good deal these days about 'broken homes' and their bad effect upon the children who live in them; indeed, 'broken home' is becoming a parrot phrase, and many people appear to use it without being quite sure what they mean.

What is a broken home? Is it a home in which the parents have been divorced? If that is what is meant, is it either fair or correct to suggest that all children of divorced parents suffer from some special burden of unhappiness? We know a few people whose parents were divorced who appear to have survived that misfortune remarkably well. Or is a broken home one in which the parents are at odds, and the home is made miserable with quarrelling? Such homes are certainly difficult for everybody, but they are not invariably disastrous for children. Again, we have known people from very unhappy homes who have themselves found happiness in life. When people talk about a broken home, just what do they mean?

Ideally, every child would have a secure home, and loving parents. In reality, many homes fall short of this. We must be sorry for any child whose home is unhappy, but we must be very careful not to assume that such a child is doomed to unhappiness itself; if human character were simply a matter of heredity and example many people would have no chance in life at all.

But life provides numberless examples of people who have triumphed over severe handicaps — including the handicap of an unhappy childhood — and who have done great things in the world. An example which comes to mind at once is that of General William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, whose childhood was far from happy, and whose recollections of his father were hardly in the spirit of the Fifth Commandment. Such people offset the disadvantages of heredity and childhood influence by personal determination and character.

An unhappy home is a great misfortune, but it is not the end of hope, or the destroyer of life. It is just a bad beginning, and many people have overcome it.

Gold Medallist Roots For $20 A Pound

Since we have often discussed educational achievements on this page, we feel that it may be permissible to refer briefly to the arrival in North America from Italy of a somewhat unusual triple gold medallist. The youngster was regarded as a prodigy at the University of Truffle Hounds at Alba, which is about halfway between Genoa and Turin in Northwestern Italy. Named Parees, at sixteen months he had shown remarkable ability in detecting and rooting out truffles, a subterranean edible fungus found chiefly in Italy and France, and he was purchased and taken to New York by Gene Leone, a restaurateur.

Edible fungi are among the odder things that humans prize for the table, and one that persists in growing as much as a foot deep in the earth, haphazard except that it shows some preference for ground near pine, oak and chestnut trees, helps to maintain the oddity. And, apparently, it is not a fungus that man can domesticate and cultivate, as he does mushrooms. The delicacy remains a wild thing, and must be located and rooted out by truffle hounds, which is an expensive business, for these hounds train on canned truffle, costing five dollars a can, and the ones rooted up bring $20 a pound. The dog must be fed truffle, lest he forget his mission in life.

We are not actively interested in truffles. Any yearning we have for edible fungi can be gratified at our favourite grocery store. But it seems that Mr. Leone could find a more economical method of snaring his truffles. The sole reference we recall to these delicacies in North America was made in an article by that well-established countryman, S. J. Perelman, who noted idly that his wife was out under the verandah rooting for truffles. Since Mr. Perelman's veracity is beyond question, it is clear that Mr. Leone could have had his truffles and a wife, too, if he had asked a few questions before his journey to Alba.

The Magic Of A Stool

When Seyid Abubakr Bin Sheik Al Kaf received the title of Knight of the British Empire from the Queen yesterday, during her visit to Aden, he did not kneel to the floor, as is usual; he knelt on a stool. The reason was that, as a descendant of the prophet Mohammed, Seyid Sir Abubakr cannot kneel to anyone, and particularly not to a woman. But custom demands that a man kneel to be knighted, and British compromise found that a stool would make all the difference, and that everybody's face would be saved. What magic sometimes resides in a stool!

Let us not laugh so hard at Seyid Sir Abubakr that we forget all the other oddities and face-saving devices which surround us. Let us not forget that only last week a golfer with a black skin was not permitted to play on a Toronto course with golfers who have white skins. Let us not forget that there are plenty of places in Canada where people who follow the same religious faith as Jesus are not permitted to mingle with people who follow the faith which is supposed to have been founded on the teachings of Jesus. And let us not forget that no Canadian can accept a knighthood from Her Majesty because Canadians are all equal, and do not pay any attention to the differences between man and man —except, of course, those differences which are created by wealth, or superior education, or the possession of natural gumption. It is a funny world, and the descendants of the prophet Mohammed are not the funniest people in it, by any means.

Foul Weather, Isn't It?

Yesterday was as clammily unpleasant as April can provide, and in such a day the old tag about April showers bringing forth May flowers is not even hot air. It is even without cold comfort. Monday, indeed, the showers were so unsmiling that they brought wet snow to the Georgian Bay area. However, cheer up; southward, look, the land is bright and hot. And bless them, the States are due to give us some of their warmth and sunshine tomorrow, or by Friday at the latest. We like to believe this, anyway. Otherwise, we shall have no Mayflowers at all, and shall have to start decking the bough with holly again to lighten our hearts.

The reason so many middle-aged men complain that modern food doesn't taste as good as Mother used to make, is that when Mother cooked for them they didn't parch their tongues and tastebuds to the consistency of an ash-man's leather mitt by smoking all day.

"Co-Existence" In Asia?

By RICHARD LOWENTHAL

ALTHOUGH the dramatic situation in Indo-China is attracting most world attention as the Geneva conference begins, the Indo-China war as such is not the main issue there. The real issue of which Indo-China forms only a part is whether the Western powers can reach with Communist China the form of "co-existence" which has gradually developed between them and Communist Russia or whether relations with Peking will continue to drift from crisis to crisis towards a major war, which in turn may well lead to world war.

The unique importance of the Geneva conference is that for the first time a full-scale political encounter between the United States and Communist China will permit an estimate to be formed of the willingness or ability of either of these Powers to accept a settlement that will make 'co-existence' in Asia possible.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE BASIC danger of the Asian situation is by now fairly well understood in the West. While the efforts of the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation have gradually created at least a provisional counterweight to Russian predominance in Europe during the last five years, Communist China has during the same period developed into the only major military Power to the east of Russia, dominating with its sheer weight a continent inhabited by the majority of mankind.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS QUITE impossible to hope in Asia even for the precarious kind of armed truce now existing in Europe unless an organized counterweight to China is created there; the new Pacific alliance is therefore an urgent need in any case, not only if negotiations at Geneva fail but just as much to guarantee their results in case of success. Yet in the meantime, the combination of unchallenged Chinese military predominance and the enormous revolutionary tension in the underdeveloped nations of Asia has given rise to a policy of violent Communist expansion in the most varied forms — the resisted attack on South Korea and the unresisted occupation of Tibet, the successful guerrilla war in Indo-China and the unsuccessful guerrilla actions in Malaya, Burma and the Philippines. The result is that by now there is a real danger that the whole South East Asia might fall to the Communist bloc, with strategic, economic and political repercussions which might prove decisive in tipping the balance of world power in the long run to the Communist side.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE true reason for the American concern about Indo-China is, neither, as Mr. Dulles's Left-wing critics in Europe say that the Americans have suddenly fallen in love with "colonialism" — nothing could be further from the truth — nor, as Mr. Dulles himself has occasionally suggested, that they feel a military obligation to defend the "independence" of Vietnam against China: it is the determination that a vital strategic position should not fall into the hands of a potential enemy.

The key to the chances of stopping this Communist expansion is the policy of the Chinese Communist Government. Though it is not true that Ho Chi Minh would have to give up Indo-China if Chinese supplies were cut off, it is true that he could not risk major military operations on the present scale without such supplies; generally, none of the Communist advances in Asia would have been possible without the backing of Chinese military power and the political advice and encouragement from both China and Russia. But here begins the puzzle: to what extent are Russian and Chinese foreign policies identical? If the Chinese Communists pursue an independent course at all, their policy in recent years has certainly been the more aggressive one; yet it may be that they have been doing so in full agreement with Russia, simply because the chances of advancing without risk were so much better in Asia than in Europe — or, as in the Korean case, at least seemed to be so.

✧ ✧ ✧

TODAY there are discernible in both China and Russia factors which would make for a pause in expansion and factors which militate against it. The Russians must by now be alarmed at the developments of American policy and public opinion, and must wonder whether their whole effort to reduce tension by adopting a more cautious and defensive policy in Europe may not be foiled by events at their back door; but the Russians also have an interest in letting the Indo-China conflict drag on, because it weakens France in Europe, piles up obstacles against the ratification of the European defence Community, and causes conflict between France and the United States.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE CHINESE — representing a younger revolution with perhaps a greater expansive pride than Russia, and certainly confronted with a more tempting field for expansion, have probably set out deliberately to remove — in Indo-China — the last stronghold of the Western Powers on the mainland of Asia. But they must by now have realised that this policy risks actually bringing the Western Powers, and, above all, the Americans, to Asia in greater force, as happened in Korea and now threatens in Indo-China. Moreover, they have now embarked at home in the wholesale transformation of their economy by industrialisation, the subjection of small peasants to State control, and above all by the forced delivery system in agriculture — a policy which brings them for the first time into serious conflict with the peasant masses who were their original main supporters and which is likely to require their main energies for years to come.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN three circumstances, it seems a fair hope that Communist expansion in Asia could now be stopped on two conditions: if the West shows enough unity and strength to make further expansion appear too risky — and enough flexibility in negotiating a settlement to make the renunciation of expansion appear worthwhile. Certainly strength alone cannot ensure peace if the Chinese Communists are given the impression that Western threats either will not be carried out at all or will be carried out regardless of what they, the Chinese, do; the effectiveness of diplomacy depends on the ability to react differently according to the different behaviour of the opponent.

HAD PLENTY

A doctor told a film actress that she was run down and needed a change.

"A change!" she said. "During the last eighteen months I've had three husbands, four cars, three jewel robberies, eleven cooks, two divorces, and seven landlords. What other change can you suggest?"

The British Monarchy

Sovereign And People

By THE RIGHT HON. HERBERT MORRISON, C.H., M.P.

(A condensation from "Government and Parliament: A Survey From Inside" to be published shortly by the Oxford University Press. Mr. Herbert Morrison, member of the British War Cabinet, and former Foreign Secretary and Lord President of the Council in the Attlee Labour Government, is Deputy Leader of Her Majesty's Opposition in the United Kingdom. This is the second of two articles, printed by special arrangements with the publishers.)

I WOULD say that the strength of the British Monarchy, particularly in the present century during which respect for it has grown and its popularity has increased, rests upon the general acceptance of its impartiality. The saying that the Queen can do no wrong —precisely because she cannot make decisions of a political or controversial character—protects the Sovereign from controversy. Therefore the responsibility of Ministers to Parliament for what are nominally actions of the Sovereign is right, not only from the point of view of parliamentary democracy, but from the standpoint of the well-being and the popularity of the Monarchy itself.

(There are some actions, lying outside the field of executive government, in which the Queen will not only take a personal interest but may indeed reach her own decision. For example, although most honours are conferred on advice, the Queen herself decides in the case of the Order of Merit, the Garter, and the Thistle, as well as the Royal Victorian Order.)

Because the responsibility for action rests with Ministers, it should not be thought that the Sovereign's work is light or nominal. The duties are in fact heavy. Cabinet Minutes and Papers, Foreign Office, Commonwealth Relations Office and Colonial Office telegrams, and other official papers are sent to the Palace day by day. To my own knowledge King George V and King George VI engaged in extensive reading of such official material covering a wide field of public administration and overseas policy. Indeed, in my own personal conversations with King VI he took a delight in catching me out by demonstrating that he knew something that I did not (though I must add, in self-defence, that no single Minister can be expected to know everything).

I feel sure that Queen Elizabeth II is keeping herself well informed by reading these numerous official papers. Moreover, the Queen receives a large number of documents to sign and these and the attendant papers and minutes also involve her in much reading. There are, for example, appointments in the services and remissions or modifications in sentences or fines imposed by Courts of Law, right down to very small matters. When I was at the Home Office I was worried about the number of this last class of documents which King George VI was called upon to sign. Having regard to his heavy labours, I took the opportunity of discreetly sounding him as to whether he might wish to delegate the smaller of these signing operations to the Home Secretary, especially as that Minister had to countersign them anyway. But the very conscientious view he took of his duties caused him to decline the proposal.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT MUST be remembered also that the Queen of the United Kingdom is also Queen of Canada, New Zealand, South Africa, Australia, Ceylon and of the Colonies, and in India she is recognized as Head of the Commonwealth (at the time of writing the position in Pakistan is the subject of consideration and debate in that country). Therefore she has extensive duties in relation to Commonwealth countries overseas, even though they are in large part delegated to Governors-General.

As Queen of the independent self-governing countries of the Commonwealth Her Majesty has relations with them separate and distinct from her relations with the United Kingdom. The fact that our Queen is also the Queen of other independent countries in no way implies British interference with those countries, for all the self-governing nations of the Commonwealth are equal in status and their Governments have the exclusive right to advise Her Majesty on their own affairs.

There is real danger of the Sovereign being overworked, but if her labours in the United Kingdom could be appropriately adjusted it would be a fine thing if a systematic plan could be worked out whereby she could from time to time open Parliamentary Sessions in other Commonwealth countries with a Speech from the Throne as she does at Westminster.

As the ceremonial Head of the State, the Queen is, so to speak, the incarnation of the State, the esteemed non-party representative of the nation as a whole. She has to carry through many ceremonial duties, including visits to various institutions and parts of the country, and to perform opening ceremonies. When the Heads of other States, or distinguished representatives of Commonwealth and other countries visit our country she receives and entertains them. There is the conferring of honours and receiving the homage of bishops. There are also the garden-parties and other functions held at the Palace and attended by people of all walks of life.

All of these activities, as I can testify from my personal observation, involve heavy physical labour as well as mental strain. The fact that the Monarchy has become a popular institution is a fine thing, but it has added to the labours of the Sovereign. It is therefore necessary that her duties and engagements should be carefully examined with a view to easing the load.

I agree with Miss Jennie Lee that the time has come when parties for the presentation of debutantes could be abandoned. I have never been to one but I gather that they are functions rather more suitable to an earlier and more aristocratic age. In any case it is clearly desirable that the personal contacts of the Sovereign should not be confined to the aristocratic and better-off sections of society; and with the onward march of democracy there have been improvements in this respect. The Queen has a heavy task and she must discharge her duties; but there is a responsibility on everybody concerned not to overload her.

✧ ✧ ✧

NOWADAYS there are not many republicans in our country. However, let us see whether we should be better served by an elected President and a Republic rather than by our system of Constitutional Monarchy and parliamentary democracy.

The President of the French Republic discharges functions which are somewhat similar to those of the British Monarch and are similarly limited, for France has a Prime Minister and a Cabinet. The French President is normally, if not always, a man who has had long and active experience in Party politics. It is true that he is expected, upon becoming President, to divorce himself from Party politics and, in general, I think it can be said that he does so. Nevertheless, I doubt whether we should take kindly to the idea of the Head of the State having been an active party politician until he took presidential office. Also a former politician in the office would cause it to lose much of that glamour and colour to which the British Monarchy has accustomed us and which I think helps the wheels of democracy to move smoothly around. The French President is elected by members of both Houses of Parliament for a period of seven years.

In our case also the election of a President with limited powers would presumably be by Parliament; maybe by the two Houses sitting in joint Session, although it is probable that Labour would urge that the election should be done by the House of Commons alone.

Popular election would give the President too much authority at the expense of the Government and Parliament. In any case there would be every possibility of friction and party bargaining of a kind seen in the election of the French President in 1953. There would be the risk that the person elected President would not command that universal assent and support of the people enjoyed by the Sovereign.

Moreover, the limited period of office of a President, has disadvantages as compared with the continuing reign of a hereditary monarch. The British Sovereign whilst divorced from party politics, acquires over the years as a result of intimate contact with the Governments of varying parties and, indeed, with leading personalities in all parties, a rich experience of public affairs which in itself is advantageous. When a Prime Minister has to be selected and a Government formed, or at times of crisis, the British Monarch can function as the Head of State and in a sense as the incarnation of the State in a way that no President drawn from among the politicians could do. The Crown provides a link between the countries of the Commonwealth which could not be as well, if at all, provided by an elected President.

Governments come and Governments go but the Sovereign goes on. The Sovereign in our country is, so to speak, a hereditary President. It is, of course, most important that the Monarch should be conscious of being an impartial public servant and should have no wish to exercise the executive rights and powers of government. That is absolutely vital. It is not only vital that it should be so; it is equally vital that it should appear to be so to Parliament and the public. If ever this ceased to be so the Monarchy and the nation would be in trouble.

✧ ✧ ✧

I HAVE NOT compared the British Monarchy with the Presidency of the United States. For—although they are not always sufficiently recognised—there are fundamental differences between the Constitution of the United Kingdom and that of the United States. The President of the United States is a party politician and elected as such; he is not and does not pretend to be politically impartial. He is not a President on the French model, for he is the Government. During his first term of office I asked Franklin D. Roosevelt whether he would be standing for a second term, a question to which I do not think he wished to give a categorical answer. What he did say was: "Morrison, being President of the United States is a terrible job. I am, so to speak, King, Prime Minister and party leader, in a very big country. It is a hard—very hard—life. Who would want a second term?" Nevertheless, he had a second term and indeed a third, and began a fourth before his much deplored death in 1945. He was right about the strain, for the job killed this great man. But the significance of his observation was that the President of the United States is King, Prime Minister, party leader—all rolled into one. The greatest political compliment one can pay the people of the United States is that they make their Constitution, which has worked out far differently from the way its founders ever contemplated, function as a whole successfully. But it is not a Constitution that would be acceptable to British people. We should not wish to confer upon one man the enormous powers that are possessed by the President of the United States, even though he could be pulled up and put into great difficulties by Parliament and Courts as the American President can be.

There is another argument sometimes adduced by our few advocates of a republican regime, namely, that a President would be cheaper to maintain than the Royal Family. I do not know what the overall costs of the French and American Presidencies are, and in any case the circumstances are not analogous. But, assuming that there would be a noticeable saving in public expenditure, it would be very small in relation to our total national budget, and, after all, the amount is determined by the House of Commons after examination in fair detail by a Select Committee of the House. The money argument is a small affair compared with the undoubted advantages of the British Monarchy as it is now working. If it continues to be strictly impartial, to be animated by a high sense of public duty, it will continue to achieve its almost universal popularity.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS TRUE that in the course of the development of the power of Parliament as against the Crown one King lost his head and another had to flee the country. We do not talk too much about these things, for we do not like violence in our internal political affairs, and the violence of monarchs at the expense of their subjects is now far back in our history. The thing of which we are proud, and of which we are entitled to be proud, is the predominantly non-violent evolutionary process towards the final supremacy of a great electorate, embracing both sexes on the basis of adult suffrage, and the steady growth towards some degree of perfection in our system of parliamentary democracy.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Crown has lost its original great powers it can be said, certainly of the present century, that as those powers passed and the Monarchy became strictly constitutional, the Monarch has become increasingly popular in the hearts and minds of the British people. No Monarchy in the world is more secure or more respected by the people than ours. The steady increase in the esteem of the nation for King George V and King George VI was something of which we are all aware. The welcome to the young Queen Elizabeth II was real and sincere, and her Coronation in 1953 became a great national festival. Wherever she goes she is assured of a great and genuine welcome. When the people cheer the Queen and sing her praises, they are also cheering our free democracy.

On great occasions, such as jubilees and coronations, the people are in it in their own way as much as the notables and elected representatives. The home-made decorations, the tea-parties and other assemblies in the working-class back-streets of London, in the great cities and in the countryside, are a demonstration that the Monarchy is regarded by the masses of the people as their own as much as it is of those who sit in the seats of power. Perhaps this feeling of the ordinary people was most dramatically expressed on a great Royal occasion at a street party in an East London slum, when a banner was strung between the upper windows of the houses across the street carrying the humorous slogan: "Lousy, but loyal."

The security and popularity of the British Monarchy today are largely the result of the fact that it does not govern and that government is the task of Ministers responsible to a House of Commons elected by the people. The Monarchy as it exists now facilitates the processes of parliamentary democracy and functions as an upholder of freedom and representative government.

CANADIAN REPORTER VISITED WORKER'S HUT IN SAMARKAND

Dirt-Floored Room Costs Quarter Of Pay
No Electricity Or Water; Only Sheet-Metal Stove For Cooking, Heat

Reports in Russia have tried for many years to get inside the homes of ordinary Soviet citizens, but the state has not given permission. Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer just home from Moscow, reports in this story—one of a series—on a chance visit to a worker's hut in Samarkand.

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Truck driver Vassilyi Artumov (not his real name) lives in a mud-and-plaster hut, with a dirt floor, in Samarkand, a market town in Soviet central Asia.

The one room he shares with his wife costs a quarter of his income. It has no electricity, no running water, only a sheet-metal stove for cooking and heating in Samarkand's below-zero winters.

By Canadian standards, he lives in poverty. But he told me that his home is like most others that he knows.

And in my travels I saw thousands of houses that looked no better from outside.

BARRED FROM HOMES

Soviet authorities will not allow Western reporters to see workers' accommodation—not even in the vast housing developments in Moscow and every town I saw.

I visited Artumov's shack by chance. I met him casually at an out-door tea shop, drinking thin green Oriental tea at a carpeted picnic table under some trees.

He learned I was a Canadian reporter.

"What do you know about how the Soviet people work and live?" he asked.

I told him I hadn't been allowed to see much.

"Would you like to see my home, then? See how a Soviet worker lives?"

IN ASIATIC QUARTER

We walked down a lane, past compound walls broken only by doorways. I had thought they were occupied only by Uzbeks, Asiatics who are native to the area, and that European Russian workers would live in new "Socialist" quarters elsewhere. But we pushed open a slatted doorway and stepped into a courtyard. On the left was an open toilet, bricked to waist height on two sides, the walls of the courtyard forming the other walls. Planks diagonally across one corner gave rough cover.

Through another slatted door we entered a smaller enclosure with three rectangular rooms and a shed forming a hollow square around it.

Artumov and his wife live in one room, their landlady in another, a school-teacher with his school-teacher wife and two children in the third.

In state tenements, workers pay nominal rents. A master-cook I met earns 1,000 rubles a month and pays only 28 for two rooms and kitchen and bath shared with the family in the next two-room flat.

But Artumov said he earns between 400 and 500 rubles a month. His wife earns the same amount as a factory hand. His rent is 100 rubles.

DIRT-FLOORED ROOM

For this he and his wife get their dirt-floored 15-by-11-foot room, unheated and without electricity. Lighting is by kerosene lamp.

"Two years ago the landlady said she was going to have the house wired so we bought a radio for 767 rubles. Then she said we didn't need electricity, so we have bought the gramophone over there for 333 rubles so that we could have some music."

The iron single-width bedstead is at one end of the room on two pieces of lumber to keep it level and dry. There are two pails of water on a table, carried from a street well water 300 yards away for drniking and washing. Artumov and his wife bathe once a week in a neighborhood public bath, one ruble a time.

The coal stove is of sheet metal, like the stoves Canadian soldiers make for heating bunkers. Artumov made it himself and complains the room is unbearably hot in 85-degree summer weather when his wife prepares meals.

On the walls are a map of the world and one of Soviet Russia. Artumov can point to Toronto and Montreal, and knows Ottawa is the capital of Canada.

WAITING FOR HEAT

His clothes are kept in a calico-covered alcove behind the bed—one suit, a jacket, an overcoat, a pair of shoes, a pair of boots. His wife has a couple of dresses, a coat and one pair of shoes, plus lighter garments kept in a patchwork-covered chest with table linen, bedding and curtains she has made for the flat they hope to get some day.

I asked why he was not in a government apartment.

"They build them but we never get one," he said. "We've been waiting for years. That's the regime. They never keep their word."

He said none of the 72 drivers of the transport enterprise he works for has a state dwelling. Some had children in similar one-roomed quarters.

Artumov said he voted in the March 14 elections because "it is our duty." He voted for the government, too. That also is a duty.

He said he never has any money. "How can you save when it costs more than 100 rubles for a shirt?" He said he and his wife live mostly on potatoes, dried peas, lentils and bread. There is a bit of sugar in the cupboard, occasionally a bit of meat or fish, but never butter or margarine.

KREMLIN SECRET

I do not know how many of Russia's millions live in circumstances like Artumov's. That is a Kremlin secret. But there are obviously multitudes.

In contrast are the state housing projects everywhere. The Moscow skyline is pierced by a myriad of cranes like lop-sided Ts, signs of round-the-clock construction. Travellers say Leningrad, Kiev and Stalingrad afford similar views.

Moscow hopes to rehouse most of its inhabitants by 1960. Its ancient one-and two-storey shanties are torn down as soon as their occupants are moved.

Rostov, severely damaged during the war, and Tashkent, capital of the central Asiatic republic of Uzbekistan, have less spectacular programs. The city architect at Tashkent told me his plan is scheduled for completion by 1964.

On collective farms I saw from trains, trim streets of almost Canadian-type cottages beginning to replace the old mud-and-plaster homes.

RUSSIAN TEA SHOP — At this outdoor tea shop in Samarkand, Soviet Central Asia, Bill Boss of The Canadian Press got into conversation with a Russian truck-driver. Within a few minutes, Boss was visiting the Russian's primitive home—perhaps the first such visit by a Canadian reporter to a worker's dwelling. Boss wrote his story after he returned to Canada. The Moscow censor would have banned it.—(CP Photo).

RUSSIAN WORKERS' HOMES—When Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer, was in Samarkand, Soviet Central Asia, he visited a truck-driver's home—probably the first visit by a Canadian reporter to an ordinary Russian's dwelling. Boss reports the driver, by Canadian standards, lives in poverty. The mud-and-plaster hut was off a muddy lane exactly like this. The opening in the walls lead into small courtyards with one-room shacks on three sides.—(CP Photo).

SHOPPING, MOSCOW STYLE — All the department stores in the Soviet Union are run by the Communist state. This winter a fancy new store was opened in Red Square, Moscow. The china and pottery department is shown above. But this is a propaganda picture, taken before the store opened. Shopping looks easy; but Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer who spent five months in the Soviet Union, says it's an ordeal everywhere. He says shopping crowds are tremendous; they push and jostle; and someone is always pushing on your back.—(CP Photo).

New Middle Class Respected In Classless Soviet Society

The Soviet Union should take lessons from North America in merchandising methods, Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer who spent five months in Russia, says in this story—one of a series—that Russian housewives queue three times, and sometimes four, for everything they buy.

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Moscow censors wouldn't let me write: "Wherever you shop it's an agony."

They let you say there is no rationing in Russia. They wouldn't let me say that you can't buy everything you want, or as much as you want.

From a story on shopping they cut these paragraphs:

"The shopping crowds in Moscow are tremendous. They push and jostle. Someone is always pushing on your back. They argue among themselves and with the clerks.

COURTESY UNKNOWN

"Nowhere in the stores is there civility or courtesy. People are too determined to get what they want, while it lasts, to bother about niceties.

"The 'equality' complex makes Russians aggressively abrupt in dealing with their customers. The customers seem to expect such treatment, and accept it without complaint.

"It's possible to queue a long while for an article, then find it is sold out. Then you try another store.

"The time involved in doing a family's daily buying is enormous."

It is in merchandising that the Communist system's deficiencies stagger a foreigner.

In terms of design, time has stood still in the Soviet Union. The best guide to current eye-appeal would be a Canadian mail-order catalogue of the 1920s.

A Western diplomat, who has studied Soviet distribution methods says "Russia is clogged with bottlenecks."

"You can't excuse the queues here. A prime reason is because communications are bad, hence distribution is faulty."

Every food store posts a price list of main commodities available and the quantity each customer may buy. The list usually has 11 items, has run occasionally to 26.

Thus your Muscovite may be limited to two loaves of bread, a couple of pounds of semolina, barley or rice; a pint of milk, five eggs, two small boxes of matches, a pound or less of butter or margarine, four pounds of meat or sausage, four pounds of fish.

HOURS OF STRUGGLE

There is nothing except time to stop you coming back the same day; but time is most important.

Sometimes you queue for half an hour to get into a shop that has scarce goods. In every Moscow shop I saw, you queue three times for each commodity; once to place an order; once to pay the cashier; finally to collect your food or other purchase.

I regularly had to budget 30 to 45 minutes to buy half a ream of paper. I could never get the same quality twice.

A woman wanting to buy meat, butter, bread and cigarets would have to queue 12 times and spend about two hours.

To buy 12 rolls of camera film I had to go through the process four times—because each purchase is limited to three rolls.

EVERYTHING COSTLY

Shopping is therefore a family project, especially since in most households both parents work.

On the basis of one average wage-earner's income, everything —including food — is expensive. With two at work there's money enough. Children's clothes are subsidized by the state. When they're old enough for university, clever children get state stipends, which also helps increase the family income.

A senior chambermaid on my floor at the Hotel Metropole, for instance, earns 500 rubles a month. Her son, a chemistry student, has a monthly stipend of 700 rubles.

Clothes for adults are almost prohibitively priced. Most Russian men have only one suit and one pair of shoes. At upwards of 500 rubles, a suit costs almost three weeks' pay for the ordinary Russian, and he spends two to three weeks' pay on a single pair of shoes.

WAIT AND HOPE

Most Soviet people are buying only essentials, waiting for the promised "better and newer" goods to appear in the stores.

A piano-tuner I got to know repeatedly deferred an invitation to a concert "until I buy a new suit." He said he has the money but sees no point in buying when something better might be in the offing. Signs urge the people to invest in government bonds, to buy insurance, to save in government banks.

But while the U.S.S.R. says it is a "classless" society, it has a large and growing group of better-than-average income which anywhere else would be known as the "middle class."

It's there—even if not yet named —created by the Soviet system. In revolutionary days the same social bracket was called the "bourgeoisie" and hated. Today's new bourgeoisie seems to have public respect and admiration.

PRIVILEGED CLASS

These people earn from three to 15 times the average worker's 700 rubles monthly, and live correspondingly better: more spacious and elaborate quarters, better food and clothes, a more select circle of friends, often a car and chauffeur assigned by the state because of their jobs.

Speak to less fortunate Russians about them and you are told:

"They haven't more rights than I have. They contribute more to the regime and so are better rewarded. But in time we will all live better."

There is no resentment; rather a belief that "we'll all eat shortbread some day."

COUNTRY SHOPPER—Shopping in smaller cities and towns of the Soviet Union is easier than in Moscow, because distribution is better organized. This Russian woman lives in Baku, Soviet Central Asia. She is pricing carrots at an outdoor market where farmers may sell what produce they have left over after meeting the state quotas. Goods in such markets cost more than in the state stores, but often the variety is better and there are no line-ups of customers waiting to be served.—(CP Photo).

Ask Negotiations

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto local of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) Tuesday asked for a reopening of negotiations with John Inglis-English Electric Company after the company announced it can offer no wage increase this year. The company has a plant at St. Catharines.

Petes Pay To Play Senior Baseball In Viaduct League

Though plenty peeved at the financial squeeze put on them by four of the other teams in the Viaduct Baseball League, the Petes decided at an executive meeting in the Public Library last night to meet league demands and enter for this season. Word is that Belleville also will accept the loop ultimatum and join up, making it a six-club circuit, including Oshawa, Oakville and two Toronto teams.

CAMILLE HENRY has won the Calder Trophy as the National Hockey League's rookie of the year. Henry outfinished Detroit's Reibel, who ended runner up in the voting.

The motion to enter was made by Max Swanston with Curly Alberico seconding it, and no one dissenting. Club president Hugh Campbell conducted the short session, and, along with other club officials, Wilf Langan attended as chairman of the recreation committee.

OVER THE BARREL

"They have us over the barrel and intend to make us pay to join," was the consensus of the meeting, "but it is the only league available." Those present felt it would be too bad to drop out after a good organizational start, especially as interest in the diamond sport should mount considerably here this summer if the proposed four-month school for minor ball is conducted, as expected.

The Petes must subsidize Oakville and the two Toronto teams to the extent of $35 for each time they visit Peterborough, and the local club must pay Oshawa Transporters $25 for each time they come here. The Petes in turn receive no travelling expenses from the other. The Belleville club must pay $50 to Oakville and Toronto teams, and $35 to Oshawa this season for each home game. Belleville and the Petes pay each other nothing.

ANGRY AT OSHAWA

Petes' officials were particularly wrathy at the unexpected Oshawa demand — backed up by an Oshawa OBA man — and felt it was going "after a pound of flesh" just because Oshawa already was in a league and knew Petes and Belleville had no place to play. They recalled that no other Oshawa team had ever asked for travelling expenses to come here, and they felt that Ab Walker (of the OBA) was doing nothing to encourage senior baseball by his attitude.

To offset these guarantees, the local club plans to stage two "booster nights" at Riverside this season, and to cut down to just one import, a pitcher. They feel that otherwise they can field a homebrew club which will be a contending one in the Viaduct League. A sponsor for uniforms is being sought now, and an open practice is being called for Thursday at six p.m. in Morrow Park by Manager Joe Lowery.

Play is expected to start here May 24, and local night to be submitted for home games will be Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays. The Petes expect to play some Saturdays in Oakville and Sunday twin bills in Toronto during the schedule calling for 15 home games. The local entry will be sent in today.

Cricket Clubs Start Play At Port Hope

The Peterborough - Whitaker Club 'A" and "B" cricket teams opened their season with friendly matches against Trinity at Port Hope, the "A" team finishing with 100 all out to Trinity's 65 for six, while TCS intermediates and the local "B" team ended 34-all.

The P-W "A" squad opened with Roberts and G. Smith for 20 runs before Roberts was out for 11. G. Smith was fourth out for a confident 23 with the score at 46. A partnership of 33 took the count to 83 for seven with Cotton bowled for 14 and Bedford unbeaten for 25 as the innings closed at 100.

Port Hope had some steady bowling from Brewer, whose match figures were four wickets for 20 runs. Port Hope lost two quick wickets to start at bat, but recovered due to enterprising batting in the late stages. Time ran out at 65 runs for six wickets. Wright took three of the six wickets.

CLOSE MATCH

Trinity intermediates had good early batting by Ketchum and Tenbroek for 20 runs for two, but only managed to total 34. The P-W bowling was steady and a slow outfield helped keep the score down. P-W batting was indicative of early-season cricket, and they just equalled the TCS total, chiefly due to good bowling by Lash, with five for 10 runs. TCS fielding was real good and earned the team the split decision.

Jennings had eight for the "B" team, Freeman and K. Roberts six, Higgins five, as Wild, Fraser, and Barker got two each. Ketchum led Port Hope with eight, Tenbroek getting seven, Elderkin four, Boughner three, and Lash and Davies two each.

Marlene To Defend Title In England

WELLAND (CP)—Marlene Stewart, 18-year-old Canadian closed and British women's Open golf champion, will defend the British title in this year's renewal of the Open at Canton, Scarborough, England, it was learned Tuesday.

Miss Stewart, whose home is at nearby Fonthill, will fly to England in time for the June 28-July 3 British Open championship.

She now is attending Rollins College, Florida.

Church League Outlines Rules For 1954

Following are the rules drawn up for 1954 for the Church Softball League, which opens its season next week, the schedules having appeared in Monday's Examiner. Manager's umpires and others interested are advised to clip out these rules for future reference:

1—All rules listed in the OASA rule book will be followed, unless otherwise stated.
2—Team fees are three dollars per team.
3—Deadline for registration of teams April 19, and the payment of fees is May 3.
4—All information re players (such as age, birthday, address and telephone number) must be in the chairman's hand by the first game.
5—The Boys' Work Board or the Church League will not be responsible for any injuries received by a player or spectator.
6—Players must attend Sunday School. Additional players may be obtained from other churches only upon the consent of the committee.
7—Unless otherwise notified all games start at 6:30 p.m.; game defaulted at 6:45 p.m.
8—All pee-wee games will consist of five innings.
9—All bantam and midget games will consist of seven innings with the exception of playoffs, at which time the game will proceed to nine innings.
10—All bantam and midget games must go five innings to constitute a game. If the home team is ahead at the end of 4½ innings, that is all that will be required.
11—All games will be played as per schedule unless otherwise agreed upon by managers and group chairman.
12—All score cards must be turned in to the group chairman within 24 hours.
13—A player must play two scheduled games during the season, before he is eligible for playoffs.
14—Any player in pee-wee or bantam that has not moved up to higher group before the end of schedule will not be permitted to play in higher group playoffs.
15—The team coaches or captains are the only ones to question the umpires' decisions on rules.
16—Under no circumstances shall a manager, captain or player dispute the accuracy of the umpire's judgment and decision on a play; if he does he will be automatically suspended, by the umpire, until he is brought before the committee, at which time the decision of the committee will be final and binding.
17—Any protests should be handed to the group chairman in writing within 24 hours, along with a fee of $2.00.
18—Protest committee consists of Jim Edwards, Gord Hertzog, and Merv. Williamson.
19—No City League, Civic or Industrial League softball player will be allowed to play in the Church League.
20—Shoes with spikes on will not be allowed.
21—The catcher may wear a leather glove or mitt of any size, shape or weight, also a mask and pads. The first baseman may also use a leather glove or mitt of any size, shape or weight. All other players may wear finger gloves of not less than three fingers and a thumb.
22—Pitching distance for midget, bantam and pee-wee shall be 35 feet. Distances between bases for midget, bantam and pee-wee is 45 feet between each base, or a total of 180 feet around the bases.
23—The age groups are: Pee-wee under 12, bantam under 14, and midget under 16, by May 1.

Final For Allan Cup Will Open May 3

REGINA (CP)—The Allan Cup hockey final will open Monday, May 3, either in Winnipeg or Penticton, B.C., Al Pickard, Canadian Amateur Hockey Association official in charge of the western playoffs, announced Tuesday night.

Venue for the final will depend on the outcome of the western final series between Penticton V's and Winnipeg Maroons who play the eighth and deciding game of their playoff tonight at Vernon, B.C.

Sudbury Wolves are the eastern champions.

If Penticton wins tonight, the remainder of the final will be arranged at a later date. If Maroons win, second and third games will be played in Winnipeg May 5 and 7. The remainder of the series will be played at Brandon May 8, 10, 12 and 14. Venue of the games was switched to Brandon because of a circus billed for Winnipeg's amphitheatre.

P.G. & C.C. CHIP SHOTS

At the annual player's meeting an enthusiastic group heard of the plans for this season's activities. Reports were given by committee chairman and many favorable comments were made, particularly to the fine job done by the house committee. All members are reminded to watch bulletin boards for news of activities and events. Mr. J. Bird of the Peterborough Film Board then entertained with several stories and two films. Lunch was served by the steward, John Lavictoire, and a get-acquainted period followed.

Although opening day is not until May 8, the more hardy of the golfers have been playing regularly for some three weeks. The course has wintered well and very shortly will be in top playing condition. Alf Hill is on hand to iron out the kinks a long winter places in the swings of even the low handicappers. John Lavictoire has lost none of the technique of turning those steaks and will be steadily on the job from now on. So drop in anytime and remember men's opening day will be held May 8 with the opening club dance in the evening. Let's have a full turnout to get the season away to a flying start.

AHL Governors Board Ratifies Agreement

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Hockey League's board of governors Tuesday ratified in principle an affiliation agreement among the four professional hockey leagues in the United States and Canada.

The agreement, dealing principally with player rights and including an inter-league draft arrangement, already has been approved by the National Hockey League. It will become effective when it is ratified by the Western and Quebec leagues.

Like baseball's major - minor agreement, the hockey agreement covers such matters as the clubs' rights in regard to players, sponsorship of amateur teams and similar matters.

The hockey draft provides that the National League may draft a player from the American for $15,000 and the American may draft from the two lower leagues for $7,500.

The AHL also set the date for its annual meeting as May 24-25 at Hershey, Pa.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The Alpha Boxing Club, which has revived to stage several spring shows here, was organized more than two decades ago in the Elite Restaurant by Louis Yeotes. A good middleweight boxer by the name of Gord Garwood drifted in here from the west early in the depression 30s to paint signs, and he became trainer and promoter for a lot of mitt cards for the Alpha Club here and in Lindsay. It started an amateur boxing boom in Peterborough, with several other clubs springing up. Len and Darcy Foster started the Foster Boxing Club and Dave Cowan ran the Cowan A.C., which put on frequent fights. Jerry Coughlin, Soldier Jones and Gord Garwood were the ring coaches at the time, with shows staged in the Brock, outdoors, Legion Hall and once even in the YMCA.

* * * * * *

Our memory takes us back even to fight programs put on in the old Victoria Hall on George St., with George Graham the colorful ref. TAS and later the HNS had clubs around then, after the PAAA setup. Of course there was boxing in Peterborough much further back than those days, before our time. But we do recall some good scrappers in later years, fellows like Irish Jordan, Jack McDonough, Len Minicola, right down through ring reigns of Reg Lesurf and Jack Dugan, the latter winning the Canadian middleweight crown before going pro. Pro pugs have fought here, too, including Jack Dane, who became the city's first recreation director. Only the Alpha Club now carries on.

About the Bowlers

A few notes on alley bowling. The City Bowling League holds its windup dinner and presentation of prizes at seven p.m. tomorrow in the Empress. The Ontario Bowling Association has its championship tourney in St. Catharines from April 30 till May 22, with many ladies', men's and mixed events, for money prizes. Locally the Ontario Bowling Association for the Deaf puts on its annual tournament here this Saturday at Duffus', with some 40 teams from various provincial centres competing. They look for around 250 persons to attend the "do" afterward at the Kawartha Golf Club. The Meyette brothers, W. Mayfield and A. Fox head the local committees in charge. Other bowling loops here are having windup dinners right along as the season finishes up.

Though 'twas a rather bitter pill to swallow, Petes' senior ball officials wryly took it at a meeting last night and voted to enter the expensive Greater Toronto Viaduct League for the season. They agreed to cough up with $35 each time Oakville or the two Toronto teams showed here and $25 for the opportunist Oshawans. We hear Belleville is agreeing also to subsidize these clubs in order to keep senior baseball going in Central Ontario. Petes and Belleville didn't have any choice if they wished to play this semester, and the other clubs knew it and gave 'em the w.k. works on a financial guarantee for travelling expenses. As one Petes' official remarked last night: "Why we can travel to Toronto and play for less than it cost to play here!"

Senior Ball Again

Anyway, the Petes are in and diamond followers will be glad to see the senior game going here again this summer. Mostly night games at a cost of $1,200 for turning on the Riverside lights for the season. Local club plans a couple of booster nights later to help defray heavy expenses, and plans are made to get a sponsor for uniforms. Also, tickets are on sale now for a $1,000 bond draw to start the club off with equipment and travelling money. They plan to import just one pitcher this campaign and have been working on this the past two weeks. Manager Joe Lowrey has called an open practise for all prospects at six Thursday e'en in Morrow Park, weather permitting.

Senior lacrosse prospects are drilling regularly indoors now, getting in shape for a stiff schedule opening the middle of May. Coach Bob Thorpe expects to have 'em outdoors at Miller Bowl next week. Most of the players are available and all will be on deck shortly. An item by Bunny Morganson says the club will drop out if no OLA settlement is made on the case of St. Kitts signing up Powless and Smith, but the Trailermen will take no such drastic step. They're used to getting the runaround by CLA and OLA authorities as it seems to be human nature to try to pull apart perennial champs in any sport. Should be much more lacrosse info popping up around these parts within a week. Season's ducats have been going exceptionally well this spring.

Truckmen Clip Simcoe 6-4

SIMCOE (CP)—Oshawa Truckmen Tuesday night defeated Simcoe Gunners 6-4 to take a 2-1 lead in their Ontario Hockey Association senior B finals.

Gunners took a 2-1 lead in the first period but slipped in the second when Oshawa put in four goals without a reply. In the final period Simcoe got two goals to Oshawa's one but was unable to remedy the deficit.

George Samolenko paced the winners with three goals, Jerry Scott got two and Fred Etcher, one. George Stanutz put in three for Simcoe and Doug Walton got the single.

Fred Kenny, Simcoe right winger was put out of action early in the game with a shoulder injury.

Bill Gunn President Of Industrial League

Bill Gunn has been elected president of the Industrial Fastball League for the coming season, with Ed Bland vice-president, Ken Crampton secretary, and Bill Mitchell treasurer. A representative of each club will also be on the executive.

It has been decided to leave entries open until May 10 when the schedule will be drawn for either three or four teams. Just three so far have signified intentions of entry: Mount Pleasant, Curve Lake and Norwood. It is hoped to get one more in to round out a good four-club circuit.

The financial statement was read, showing the league in good condition for the season ahead. The matter of umpires, schedule, grounds, etc., came in for discussion at the meeting. Time and place of the May 10 meeting will be announced later.

Great Sports Star Johnny Crough Though Deaf Mute

By CEC. PERDUE

A former star athlete in Peterborough, Hamilton and Winnipeg, will be the oldest competitor at the annual tournament of the Ontario Bowling Association of the Deaf in Duffus alleys here Saturday, May 1. He is Jack Crough, a deaf mute, a native of Peterborough, who now lives in Windsor. Mr. Crough, 74 years old, retired two years ago from the tool room of the Ford Motor Co. He was a brass finisher.

The 15th annaul tourney for deaf bowlers will attract many from various parts of the province, and the competitions will be followed by dinner at the Kawartha Golf Club. The association was formed in Brantford in 1940. Last year, the tourney was staged in Kitchener. Local association members in charge are William Mayfield, Joe Meyette, Charlie Meyette, Arnold Fox and Frank Meyette.

OLDTIME STAR

In the early years of the century, when Peterborough was much smaller than the present bustling industrial centre, youthful Jack Crough broke into local athletics. Old Examiner clippings of around 1905-06-07 frequently mentioned his prowess and in 1910 he won the all-around championship of Peterborough at a meet put on by the YMCA. He starred for several seasons with the Quakers in soccer.

Others on that team of long ago were McFadden, Parnell, Best, Fitzgerald, Dingman, Sullivan, Boycott, Huston, Baker, Laing, Hamilton, Scrimshaw, Archibald, Yates, Caniff, Hagley and Brodie.

Crough played starry rugby, too, with such Peterborough teammates as Hurtubise, Crowley, Dr. McWilliams, Gillespie, Mulhern, Killaley, Crong, Maher, Gilbert and others. These huskies played in the senior ORFU around that time, staging some of their matches at Toronto Varsity.

IN DAYS OF YORE

It was the horse-and-buggy era, the time of trailing skirts, board walks, swinging bar-room doors, corseted ladies and moustached men. Sports played a prominent part in the entertainment of the community, and Peterborough was a good sports centre then. Jack Crough was one of the city's better athletes.

The following paragraph from a Hamilton paper, dealing with an early season drill of the gridiron Hamilton Tigers, mentions him: "Crough, a deaf mute, played with the Peterborough intermediates last year and showed up well on Saturday. He followed the ball fast and is a good tackler. He will likely get a place on the team."

The writeup later from Winnipeg discusses this fine athlete more fully:

"Since going west, Johnny Crough, formerly of Peterborough, has been winning fresh laurels in various sports. All are alike to him, he shines in all branches. Possessing deafness, dumbness and the ability to scintillate in nearly every branch of athletics is the somewhat remarkable accomplishment of Crough, who is now a resident of Winnipeg and may be found on the back division of St. John's rugby team in their game against the Rowing Club.

A GREAT ATHLETE

"Crough comes from Peterborough, Ont., and is a graduate of the Ontario School for the Deaf at Belleville. His achievements in the realm of sports are as numerous as the colors of Joseph's coat, and as diversified as they are plentiful. It is doubtful if any deaf mute in Canada has attained the same success as an athlete as the former Peterborough man; in fact, he somewhat of a phenomenon in this line.

VETERAN BOWLER—At the age of 73, John Crough of Windsor—formerly of Peterborough—is a fine bowler and will be competing in the annual Ontario Bowling Association of the Deaf tournament in Duffus' here Saturday. After leaving Peterborough as a youth, Crough starred in Winnipeg in rugby, soccer, hockey, lacrosse, baseball, basketball and in wrestling, being rated the only deaf mute who ever attained gridiron success in Canada.

"Probably no other deaf mute in the world has a record that can equal that of Crough's. He plays rugby and association football, hockey, lacrosse, baseball, basketball, has figured in several wrestling matches and in 1910 won the all-around championship meet at Peterborough. As an athletic prodigy, rough is a good deal more of a wonder than Dummy Taylor, erstwhile big league pitcher, and one of the star twirlers of the Buffalo team of the Eastern League during the season just closed.

A TOUGH GAME

"Rugby is one of the most difficult games that a deaf person can engage in, on account of the plays being based entirely on signals. But despite the fact that he cannot hear the numbers called, Crough manages to know what play is being put in operation and seldom if ever makes a mistake. He is said to be the only deaf mute in Canada who has attained success on the gridiron. An alert brain and a pair of keen eyes enable him to participate in the trick plays with as much skill as a player possessing all his faculties.

"Crough is a brass finisher by trade and is employed in Winnipeg in that capacity at the present time."

Redleg Homers Fly Thick And Fast, Edge Pirates 8-7

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

The gals in the laundry are losing their home-run business to the fans in the sun deck at Cincinnati's Crosley Field.

For years one of the National League's favorite homer targets has been the laundry just beyond the left-field fence in Cincinnati. But last season the Redleg management eyed the muscles of left-handed-hitting Ted Kluszewski and Co. and moved in the right-field fence about 25 feet.

Now most of the Redlegs' long-ball trade is going into the right-field seats which used to be the bleachers. This season it's the sun deck.

Tuesday night the home runs fell thick and fast. An even half-dozen cleared the bats of left-handed sluggers as the homer-happy Redlegs blasted into first place in the National League with an 8-7 verdict over Pittsburgh Pirates. One home run went to the laundry.

DIRECT RESULTS

Ten of the 15 runs were direct results of the circuit clouts. Kluszewski slammed one in the first with one aboard and Jim Greengrass followed right behind him with another. In the third, Kluszewski hit another.

Cincinnati are a half game ahead of Brooklyn Dodgers, who bowed in St. Louis 7-3. Milwaukee squeezed by New York Giants 3-2 and Philadelphia was rained out at Chicago in the other National League scheduled contest.

Chicago White Sox won their fourth straight, a 4-3 thriller over New York Yankees, in the only American League action. Bad weather brought postponements of other contests.

ROE IS VICTIM

Preacher Roe, a long-time Cardinal jinx, was the victim at St. Louis. Two walks, a double by Ray Jablonski and a single by rookie Tom Alston gave the Cards two runs in the fourth.

A bases-loaded single by Del Crandall—good for two runs in the fourth—and a two-out single by Johnny Logan in the eighth drove in the Milwaukee runs, the first scored against Giant pitching in 32 innings.

The Yankees fell below the .500 mark in losing to righthander Don Johson, a refugee from the minors who once belonged to the Yanks. The White Sox beat Whitey Ford for the first time in his brief major league career. Ford had beaten the Sox seven times.

Havana Whips Red Wings In 6-2 Triumph

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Havana's Cuban Sugar Kings have moved into undisputed possession of third place in the International League by beating Rochester Red Wings three times in a five-game series.

Havana trounced the Red Wings 6-2 Tuesday night with a nine-hit attack off three Rochester pitchers.

Richmond Virginians and Toronto Maple Leafs divided a doubleheader. Toronto won the opener 5-3 and Richmond the second game 4-1.

Catcher Fermin Guerra drove in four runs as the new Cuban entries took over third spot from the defending league champions.

Wimpy Nardella pitched the Virginians to the nightcap victory ove Toronto. Joe Lutz, Richmond first baseman, came out of a batting slump to drive in all the Virginians' runs. He drove out a two-run homer and a bases-loaded single.

In the opener, Toronto broke a 3-3 tie in the eighth inning by scoring two runs off Bob Habenicht.

TO COMPETE — Phil Farley, 42, Toronto golfer who has won numerous amateur championships in Canada, will compete next month along with six other Canadian golfers in the British amateur championship at Muirford, Scotland. The Canadian team also will enter commonwealth competition at St. Andrew's, Scotland, June 1-4. Farley captained Canada's America cup team two years ago in competition wtih the United States and Mexico. He was Ontario amateur champion six times, in 1931-34-40-43-45-48; Ontario open champion twice, 1942-45; Quebec amateur champion twice, 1936-37.

Aces Square Series Down Senators 1-0

QUEBEC (CP)—It's do or die for both Ottawa Senators and Quebec Aces when they meet tonight in a Quebec Hockey League playoff game at the Canadian capital. The victor goes against the West.

The Aces, on the brink of elimination, Tuesday night blanked the Senators 1-0 before 5,138 fans here to square the best-of-nine final four games apiece.

Irwin Grosse was the hero, drawing goalie Ray Frederick out of his net late in the opening period and slipping the puck behind him. Defenceman Rags Raglan passed Grosse into the clear for the goal.

The game was slow-moving and checking close. Both teams appeared tired. The Senators were playing their 11th game in 14 days. Only eight penalties were distributed by referee Georges Gravel of Montreal, five to the losers.

Barons Divide $14,919 Pot

NEW YORK (AP) — Cleveland Barons, who went from third place to win the American Hockey League's Calder Cup playoffs, will divide a pot of $14,919 for that performance.

Division of the player pool for the playoffs was made public Tuesday by the AHL. The total pool for 10 games was $41,443, an increase of $858 over last season.

The players share in 50 per cent of the net receipts of the first three games of the preliminary playoffs and of the first four games of the finals. Thirty per cent of this is split among the first four teams on the basis of the regular season finish and the remainder according to their playoff performances.

Hershey Bears, beaten in the finals, receive $13,261. They were second in the regular season. Buffalo and Pittsburgh, finishing first and fourth and losing in the preliminary playoffs, get $7,874 and $5,387 respectively.

Saskatoon Purchases 6 Ranger Players

SASKATOON (CP) — Saskatoon Quakers of the Western Hockey League Tuesday announced the outright purchase of six players from New York Rangers of the National Hockey League and option to buy five others in the fall if they fail to make the grade with the NHL team.

Purchased by the Saskatoon club were defencemen Howie Milford and Murray Parker, centres Alex Kaleta and Eddie Kobussen and wingers Ray Manson and Chuck Holdaway.

The Quakers also obtained the first option of purchase on defencemen Lou Fontinato and Jim Ross, centre Aggie Kukulowicz and wingers Jackie McLeod and Ron Murphy if they miss in their bid for a berth in the NHL with Rangers.

All 11 players were with the Quakers during the 1953-54 season.

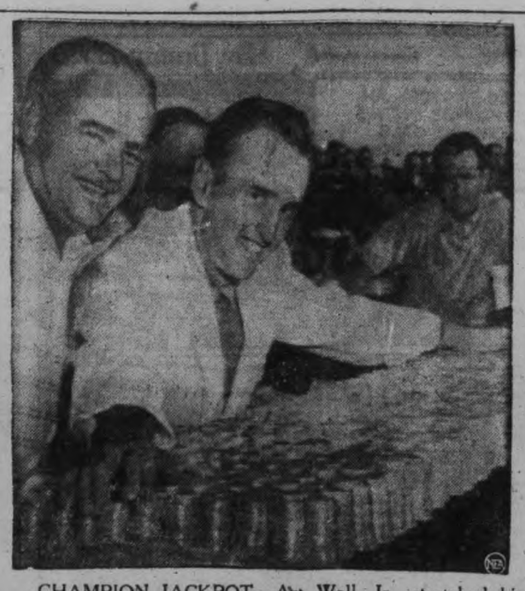
James Will Play Football With Bombers

TORONTO (CP)—Gerry James, Winnipeg star of last year's Grey Cup game will wait another year before choosing between a career of football or hockey.

The 19-year-old athlete, considered the top young halfback in Canadian football, said Tuesday he has signed to play the 1954 season with Winnipeg Blue Bombers. He will continue junior hockey for another year with Toronto Marlboros.

He was offered a professional hockey contract with the Pittsburgh Hornets but turned it down for another year of football and junior hockey.

Tiger-Cats Sign Windsor Quarterback



HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four Football League announced the signing Tuesday of Tommy Grant, a 19-year-old quarterback from Windsor high school.

Grant, whose 185 pounds are spread over a six-foot, one-inch frame, can't make up his mind between football and baseball.

He said he signed a conditional contract with the Tiger-Cats. The contract, he said, permits him to reject Hamilton's offer if he decides to go into baseball. He is waiting to hear from St. Thomas Elgins of the senior Intercounty Baseball League before coming to a decision.

BREAKS TRACK MARK

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Hasty Road jumped into top consideration for the 80th Kentucky Derby Tuesday as he outfought Determine in a blistering head-and-head stretch duel to break the Churchill Downs track record in the $15,350 Derby Trial.

The dark brown son of Roman-Traffic Court, greatest money-winning two-year-old in history last year, but a bust to date in his three-year-old campaign, snapped out of it with convincing authority.

He led most of the way.

At the wire Hasty Road, from the Hasty House Farm of Allie Reuben, Toledo, grabbed the verdict by a head.

The crowd gasped and yelled as the time of 1:35 was announced. Two years ago Calumet's Hill Gail broke the track clocking with a 1:35 2-5 scorcher, and became the Derby favorite which he won with ease.

ARGOS SIGN 10

TORONTO (CP) — Coach Frank Clair of Toronto Argonauts Tuesday announced signing of David (Kosse) Johnson, an all-American of last year, and nine Canadian junior and high school prospects.

Johnson, reserve fullback on four all-American teams in 1953, is a two-way performer, offensively at fullback and halfback, and defensively a line-backer. He was a star of the Rice Institute team which finished a successful season by trouncing Alabama in the Cotton Bowl.

Rookies signed included Bobby Fletcher, Windsor; Lloyd Thompson, Woodstock; Norman Stoneburgh and George Lukanchoff, St. Catharines.

Lakefield Red Cross Seeks Bedding For Loan Cupboard

LAKEFIELD (ENS) — Mrs. W. W. Leonard gave a report of the 34th annual meeting of the Ontario division, Canadian Red Cross Society, which she attended in Windsor recently, when the Lakefield branch met for their quarterly meeting on Monday evening in Memorial Hall.

In the absence of the president and vice-president, Mrs. Albert O'Donnell presided. Reports of the annual meeting and a sub-executive meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. S. A. Grylls. Miss E. Down, treasurer, reported a balance on hand of $95.35.

Reporting for the loan cupboard, Mrs. Harold Wilford, convener, stated she had an excellent response at the time of the fire which destroyed a village home and left several people homeless. She paid a tribute to her committee, Mrs. Roy Farrow, Mrs. Clarence Foster and Mrs. Carson Neill for their assistance. Two other families further north who lost their home by fire were also assisted.

Mrs. Wilford made an appeal for pillows and blankets or quilts for immediate use as the loan cupboard was almost empty of these articles as a result of the fires. In case of another disaster they would be needed at once. Anyone having good used or new pillows, blankets or quilts could contact Mrs. Wilford.

SCHOOL INSPECTIONS

School nurse, Mrs. Wallace Hendren reported 345 children had been given eye inspections and 69 were found to have defective eyesight. The parents had been notified of this by letter.

Dental inspection had been carried out by Dr. R. H. Campbell with 304 pupils examined. Of this number, 91 were found with no cavities or defects. Mrs. Hendren submitted figures to show that there was a definite improvement in the children's teeth since the dental examinations were started several years ago. No report was given for the immunization program as it was not completed.

A report submitted by Mrs. A. M. Randall, nurse in charge of the well babies clinic, showed 18 new babies registered; 12 children vaccinated; 22 given the first dose of combined sera; 21 the second and 17 their third. Fourteen step-up shots had also been given. So far this year, 14 clinics have been held with a total of 142 babies.

BLITZ CAMPAIGN

The final report of the campaign was given by chairman A. G. Buchanan. Figures were the highest ever reported. A total of $1,622.70 was raised, which topped last year's figure by $82. Mr. Buchanan thanked all those who had assisted in the blitz canvass and those who had contributed so generously.

A letter was read from Mrs. Charles Ray, chairman of the Peterborough blood donor service concerning the suggestion from Ontario Division that the Peterborough branch should assume all expenses of the clinic. The suggestion will be acted upon at once.

Mrs. Wilford was appointed to represent the Red Cross at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce to consider recreational set-ups.

Two Women Attend Mining Engineers Meet

MONTREAL (CP)—In a historic moment at the annual convention of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, two women took their places at the annual dinner Tuesday night.

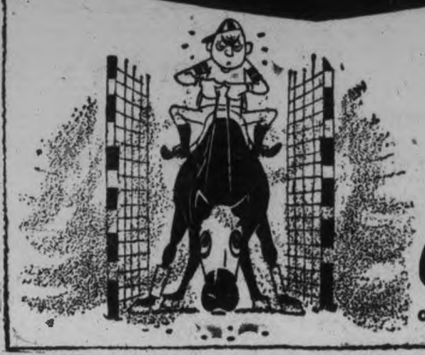
It was the first time women had sat down at the gathering.

The annual meeting established a precedent in giving the ladies greater prominence. Although many women hold engineers' degrees in Canada, few if any, are mining engineers.

However, the institute delegates during the current session approved unanimously a resolution that women be admitted with proper qualifications. This decision must be approved by the institute membership before becoming final.

The women seated at the head table Tuesday night were: Mrs. Ann Shipley, Liberal member of Parliament for the Ontario constituency of Temiskaming, and Mrs. Viola R. MacMillan, president of the Ontario Prospectors and Developers Association.

Reporters, pressing the ladies for their views on the situation, were firmly admonished: "No comment."



James Muir, resident of the Royal Bank of Canada, said in an address to the annual banquet that despite the "wonder metals" which he compared to "wonder drugs," Canadian industry faced serious problems especially competition on world market which is likely to become more severe.

Newfoundland held the centre of attention today as the institute began its final meetings.

R. J. MacNeill, chief geologist of the Newfoundland and Labrador Development Corporation, told of the province's development.

FORD

is America's best seller!

National U.S. new-car registration figures* for the latest six-month period available show Ford out front by thousands!

SOURCE: R. L. Polk and Company. Registrations for period September through February.*

During the six-month period ending with February—the last half-year in which United States national registration figures are available—Ford outsold its nearest competitor by thousands.

The main reason why Ford is so definitely the buyer's choice is simply that:

Ford is, without doubt, the "Worth-More" car—America's best buy on a dollar-for-dollar basis!

In Canada, too, the swing is to Ford—and to Meteor, Mercury, Monarch and Lincoln. Check them for yourself, feature for feature, bumper to bumper, and you'll quickly see why!

Take engines—all Ford of Canada products are powered with V-8 engines—the most modern, efficient and responsive engines of any cars in their respective fields—products of the experience gained in building more engines of their type than all other manufacturers combined. Ford of Canada V-8 engines have an absolutely unmatched record of owner approval—a record based on billions of driving-miles over the past twenty-one years. Their traditional performance is unrivalled for smoothness, flexibility and safety.

Take comfort—Here, again, the most discriminating buyers find the steadiness, the sure-footed, road-hugging stability to satisfy their every requirement. Excellence of design and quality of construction are responsible for a degree of riding comfort and driving ease never before approached.

Beauty, too, is a vital factor in the overwhelming popularity of Ford of Canada cars. Every model is a style leader, in beauty of line and detail, inside and out.

Take driving ease—Every Ford, Meteor, Mercury, Monarch and Lincoln offers you all the newest power assists that make driving completely relaxed and effortless. Power assists are standard on certain models and optional at extra cost on all other models.

Ford of Canada's Automatic Drives are the finest in their fields. Power Window Lifts offer push-button control of all four side windows. Power Steering gives you "extra muscles" all the time but permits you to retain the natural steering feel on the straightaway. Four-way Power Seat goes up or down, as well as forward or back, at the touch of separate controls. And swift, sure Power Brakes permit quick, straight-line stops at the merest touch of the toe on the brake pedal.

Think of tomorrow—Buyers, with an eye to future value, are wise to consider what their cars will be worth when the time comes to trade them in.

Try before you buy—The incomparable performance of Ford, Meteor, Mercury, Monarch and Lincoln can be appreciated fully only through personal experience. Your dealer extends an invitation to you to prove them on the road. There's no obligation to buy, so call your dealer and arrange a demonstration for yourself and your family.

...AND IN CANADA'S MOST COMPETITIVE MARKETS FORD V-8 OUTSELLS ALL OTHERS!

Number of cars delivered to the public from January 1st, 1954 to April 15th, 1954, as shown by the latest available registration reports:

Plan Microwave Radio Network

MONTREAL (CP) — Construction of a microwave radio relay network from Toronto to Winnipeg, capable of transmitting television as well as telephone calls, was announced today by Bell Telephone Company of Canada.

The network, expected to be completed late in 1956, will extend a similar link-up between Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal, in operation since May last year.

The Toronto - Ottawa - Montreal system was the first in Canada capable of transmitting both television programs and telephone calls, a company spokesman said.

The new network is being developed across a 1,200-mile area running from Toronto through North Bay, Ont., to Winnipeg. It will comprise a line of 45 radio relay towers placed at 25 to 30 mile intervals.

A bell telephone official said the extension is necessary because of the "ever - increasing number" of telephone calls between eastern and western Canada.

Testing of six tower sites between Toronto and North Bay has already been completed and Bell crews will begin site testing of another 36 towers between North Bay and the Ontario - Manitoba border as soon as weather conditions permit, probably in May.

Vacation Spots Primping For Record Tourist Influx

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canada's vacation spots are primping up in expectation of a record influx of tourists this year.

Reports from across the land in a Canadian Press survey forecast a bigger year than 1953.

In Ottawa, D. Leo Dolan, director of the Canadian government travel bureau, said there are "very strong possibilities" that the number of tourists will pass last year's record.

Ontario and Quebec, within a few hundred miles of the bulk of the United States population, will probably get the largest share of visitors from below the border but Mr. Dolan reported a big increase in tourist travel expected in the Maritimes and Western Canada.

Up to April 20 the travel bureau in Ottawa received 186,193 inquiries, an increase of nearly 15 per cent over last year.

The bureau of statistics estimated that in 1953 Canada had 28,000,000 foreign visitors mostly tourists and 23,300,000 of them came from the U. S. They spent more than $300,000,000.

PROVINCES AGREE

Provincial travel bureaux think the federal government's figures too modest, but all agree the tourist business should be booming this summer, barring any serious change in conditions.

C. D. Crowe, Ontario deputy minister of travel and publicity, predicted his province should have a good season. Last year an estimated 19,000,000 tourists spent $225,000,000.

Their chief interest, he said, is just travelling around, sightseeing and visiting historical sites such as Fort Henry, at Kingston, which attracted 150,000 persons last year.

In Quebec, a substantial increase was forecast by the Montreal tourist and convention bureau, which co-ordinates the work of tourist organizations in the province. The bureau estimated 4,600,000 U. S. tourists visited Quebec last year and spent more than $200,000,000, and said the province attracted more Canadian visitors than any other province.

QUEBEC'S ATTRACTIONS

"The fact that the American visitor finds a completely foreign country with quaint traditions and a new language is Quebec's greatest attraction," said a spokesman.

Each region plans local schemes to attract visitors. Examples are the Sherbrooke fair, the Quebec exhibition and Montreal's mountain theatre and outdoor concerts.

In Western Canada, development of national parks and the Rocky Mountain area has brought a big increase in visitors in recent years.

The Manitoba travel bureau, with a big increase in the number of inquiries, reported that it expects a jump in tourist traffic.

Alberta's travel bureau forecast a 10-per-cent increase over last year's 1,405,516 tourists who spent about $34,695,00

Another record-breaking tourist season is expected by British Columbia, where the British Empire Games in Vancouver will draw additional thousands of visitors.

BRIGHT FOR MARITIMES

The picture is much the same in the Maritimes, where the New Brunswick travel bureau reported more tourist inquiries than ever before.

The N. B. bureau reported that 500,000 or more tourists last year spent some $15,000,000, and said: "There is reason to believe 1954 will top last year's record high for numbers of tourists."

Chief tourist attractions in the east are the Fundy national park in New Brunswick, the Evangeline country, the scenic Atlantic coast and the rugged grandeur of Cape Breton in Nova Scotia; and the broad beaches of Prince Edward Island.

RELIES ON SPORTS

Newfoundland, more isolated than the other provinces, relies on its outdoor sports to attract visitors. Most tourists are hunters and fishermen who fly in and camp by the many fishing rivers. Salmon is their main target.

There are few roads in Newfoundland and sightseeing travellers are confined mainly to Avalon peninsula in the southeast corner of the province.

Five Transfers In CP Membership

TORONTO (CP)—Five transfers of membership in the Canadian Press, national news-gathering co-operative, were reported to CP's board of directors Tuesday.

The transfers, involving changes of CP representation among existing newspaper members, are: Corner Brook Western Star from Kenneth H. Pritchard to Wallace McKay; Fredericton Gleaner from Horace M. Block to John M. Sancton; Sherbrooke Record from D.G. Amaron to Ivan W. Saunders; Ottawa Evening Citizen from J. F. Kenney to Robert W. Southam; Sarnia Canadian Observer from Harold G. Burley to Thomas H. Dwan.

Directors paid tribute by resolution to four notable newspaper men who died this year. These were: John Fields MacKay, a charter member of CP and for many years an executive of the Toronto Globe; Senator W. H. Dennis, publisher of the Halifax Chronicle - Herald, also a charter member and long active in CP affairs; P. C. Galbraith, former publisher of the Calgary Herald and later of the Vancouver Province, and a former director of both CP and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association; H. S. Southam, former publisher of the Ottawa Citizen.

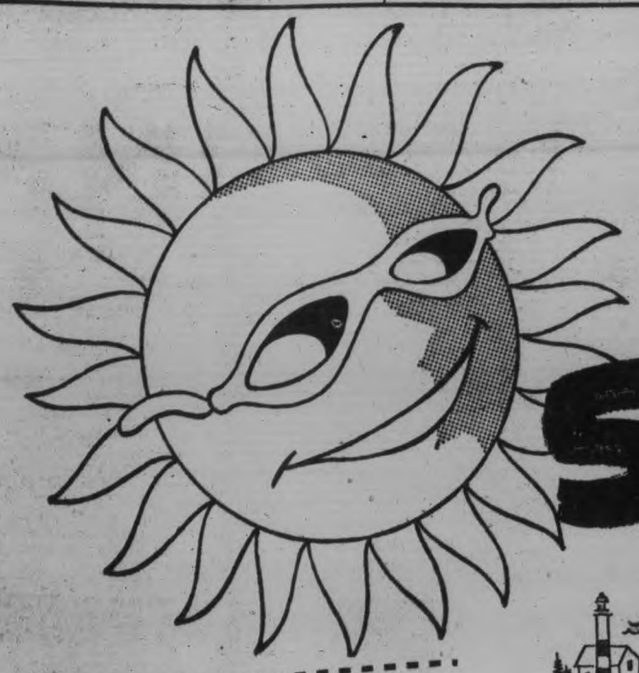
FACES TRIAL—Dr. Alfred A. Valdmanis, former director-general of economic development in Newfoundland, is followed closely by an RCMP officer as he arrives at St. John's, Nfld., to face trial for defrauding the government of Newfoundland. The Latvian-born economist, arrested at St. Andrew's, N.B., has been charged with defrauding the Newfoundland government of $150,000. Government officials say additional fraud charges will be laid against the man who once headed Newfoundland's post-confederation industrial drive. (CP Photo)

For stomach upsets

because it helps so many so often—and tastes so good

Discover Eno's "Fruit Salt" for yourself.

Next time you or anyone in your family is troubled with digestive upset due to excess gastric acidity—try a small quantity of Eno's "Fruit Salt" in a glass of water. Eno is a mild but surprisingly efficient antacid—contains fine gentle ingredients that pharmacists know are trustworthy and effective. See how Eno sparkles—how good Eno tastes. But best of all—Eno's buffering antacid action gives effective relief over a long period of time.



For temporary irregularity Eno is excellent too—a larger quantity of Eno's "Fruit Salt" usually gives the gentle, thorough help desired.

Eno helps so many so often and tastes so good it rates first by far with Canadians in every province. The large size is recommended for family use and economy.

Ask Government Set Up Board To Aid Industries

OTTAWA (CP) — The government has been asked to establish a board to make it possible for Canadian industries to compete with foreign manufacturers for domestic markets.

The request was made Tuesday in the Commons during the budget debate by William Blair (PC—Lanark), whose Ottawa valley riding has been hit hard by the closing of a number of textile mills.

Dr. Blair proposed that the board consist of trade, research and efficiency experts. It would make inquiries into business failures or cases where manufacturers were unable to compete with foreign producers.

He said the board could "make recommendations either to increase efficiency, or suggest certain changes in trade agreements which would enable such industries to manufacture in a competitive market."

NOT THE ONLY ONE

The textile industry was not the only manufacturer which faced difficulties as a result of low-priced foreign imports. Other industries in this category included manufacturers of stoves and refrigerators.

"There should be a careful analysis made of Canadian industries, and in this analysis there should be taken into account the consumption level of the domestic market, price structures, production capacity, and the most important element of defence," he said.

Many Canadian manufacturers did not worry about foreign competition but were concerned about foreign industries using Canada as a sales outlet for distress goods.

DENIES INEFFICIENT

Dr. Blair denied that the textile industry has overexpanded, that it is inefficient and that it has not kept abreast of latest manufacturing techniques.

The industry had spent about $450,000,000 since the end of the war on modern equipment. Its officials said they could produce any form of fabric providing there was a market in Canada.

"No amount of efficiency in this industry can cure the present situation," he said.

Police Chiefs Prefer Death Penalty Kept

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's police chiefs said Tuesday that the death penalty is a definite deterrent to murder and urged that it be retained in the Criminal Code.

Removal of the death penalty would put police officers in greater danger in arresting criminals, the Chief constables Association of Canada said in a brief to a parliamentary committee.

The association also said courts should retain the power to order whipping in crimes of violence but suggested that other methods than the lash may be more effective in controlling such crimes.

The police chiefs appeared before the Commons - Senate committee studying possible changes in Criminal Code provisions on capital and corporal punishment and lotteries.

Commons Defeats 6-Point Non-Confidence Motion

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons has defeated a six-point Progressive Conservative non-confidence motion and now nears the end of the budget debate.

The House Thursday night voted 121 to 40 against the motion, which was opposed by the Liberal and CCF parties. Progressive Conservatives were supported by Social Credit members and three Quebec Independents, Raoul Poulin, Beauce; Paul Gagnon, Chicoutimi and Fernand Girard, Lapointe.

Much of the discussion in the debate has centred on the government's decision against allowing Quebec's new 15-per-cent income tax to be fully deductible from federal tax payments. Federal law permits a five-per-cent reduction.

"FAILED" TO AGREE

One main point in the Progressive Conservative motion said the government has "failed" to agree with the provinces on a reallocation of taxing powers to enable provinces and municipalities to carry their responsibilities.

It also said the government has ignored the unemployment problem and "failed" to reduce excessive taxes and unnecessary expenditures, improve government efficiency and regain markets for primary products.

An earlier CCF motion of want of confidence in the Government, which was defeated, criticized the Government for not giving income tax relief to low-income groups and not increasing income taxes on corporations and wealthier individuals.

SPENDING FORECAST

Tax reductions in Finance Minister Abbott's budget April 6, totalling $40,000,000 in a full year, were confined mainly to excise taxes on a long list of articles and elimination of the 10-per-cent sales tax on a few others. He forecast spending of $4,460,000,000 in the 1954-55 fiscal year and a nominal surplus of $4,000000.

Most of the budget debate revolved around Mr. Abbott's announcement that Quebec residents will be unable to deduct all of the new provincial income tax from the federal income levy.

Roch Pinard, parliamentary assistant to External Affairs Minister Pearson, said the dispute is a contest between Quebec's Union Nationale government and Canadian unity. The people of Quebec would hold Premier Duplessis responsible for not informing the federal government of his intention to impose the tax.

Quebec should not refuse to negotiate with the federal government lest it isolate itself from the other provinces. The other nine provinces had negotiated and reached agreements under which they leased certain tax fields, including income tax, to the federal government in return for annual payments.

Fleming Attacks Tax Attitude

OTTAWA (CP)—Donald Fleming Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Toronto Eglinton, Tuesday night said the federal government arrogantly rejects proposals for a meeting with the provinces to discuss division of tax fields and responsibilities.

Mr. Fleming's speech was prepared for broadcast on the free-time political program "Nation's Business" on the CBC's trans-Canada network.

He referred to Finance Minister Abbott's refusal in his budget speech to permit Quebec residents to deduct the full amount of a 15-per-cent provincial income tax from the federal tax.

He said Canadian unity is imperilled by the government's stiff necked and unbending attitude in relations with the provinces under heavy financial pressure from federal centralization of collection of revenues.

Gets $35,000 For Detention At Sanitarium

TORONTO (CP)—A two-year-old court action brought by Hayward Avery, 74-year-old retired lithographer against Homewood Sanitarium, Guelph, for alleged wrongful detention ended Tuesday with a settlement between the parties.

The settlement, announced in Supreme Court where Avery's case was being heard, did not mention the amount of settlement, but was reported to be about $35,000.

The action also ended Mr. Avery's actions against four doctors who examined him, Dr. Arthur Doyle, Dr. James Loudoun, Dr. G. F. Boyer and Dr. Glenn S. Burton.

Mr. Avery claimed that he was committed to the sanitorium Dec. 30, 1948 while under the influence of sedatives. He charged conspiracy, false imprisonment, malpractice, breach of statutory duty and common law negligence.

He was released from the sanatorium in September, 1951, on a writ of habeas corpus.

Previously Mr. Avery, a native of Newfoundland, brought an action against his son, Donald, who had him committed as incapable of handling his own affairs and who was appointed to handle his father's affairs. The suit against his son was dropped March 3.

CHICAGO (CP) — An intensive organizing campaign in Canada is being planned by the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters, president Dave Beck of the union said Tuesday.

Arrested 12 Days After Leaving Pen

TORONTO (CP) — James P. Carleton, 39, Tuesday pleaded guilty to 14 charges of false pretences and one charge of fraudulently obtaining accommodation. He was arrested just 12 days after his release from serving a two-year sentence in Kingston penitentiary.

Charges against Mrs. Betty Babcock, 23, of Kingston, jointly charged with Carleton on 12 of the false pretences counts, and with fraud, were dropped following Carleton's plea of guilty.

Carleton was remanded for sentence until May 4. Police said he and Mrs. Babcock checked into a Toronto hotel in April and ran up bills totalling $102 before they were discovered to be without funds.

OTTAWA (CP)—The cabinet will meet Thursday to decide on its legislative program for the remainder of the session, Prime Minister St. Laurent told the Commons Tuesday.

Press Union To Meet In Australia

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian section, Commonwealth Press Union, announced Tuesday that the Australian section is making arrangements to hold the eighth Commonwealth press conference in Australia in October - November 1955.

The announcement was made at the Canadian section's annual meeting here. The conference likely will be held in Canberra. After the Australian tour there will be a brief visit to New Zealand. A Canadian delegation will be formed to attend the conference.

F. I. Ker, the Southam Company Limited, Hamilton, was re-elected chairman of the section. W. Rupert Davies, Kingston Whig-Standard, was named honorary chairman; Victor Sifton, Winnipeg Free Press, vice-chairman; W. A. Craick, Toronto, honorary secretary - treasurer; T. F. Drummie, Saint John Telegraph-Journal, honorary auditor.

ELECTED TO COMMITTEE

The following were elected to the executive committee: John Bassett, Jr., Toronto Telegram; Floyd S. Chalmers, Maclean-Hunter Publishing Co. Ltd., Toronto; J. G. McConnell, Montreal Star; H. S. McCormick, Montreal Monitor; Jacob Nicol, La Tribune, Sherbrooke, Que.

Appointed members of the council, London, were F. I. Ker; Victor Sifton; John Bassett, Montreal Gazette; P. R. Curran, British United Press, Montreal; Herve Major, Montreal La Presse; Gillis Purcell, The Canadian Press, Toronto; E. Norman Smith, the Ottawa Journal.

BELLEVILLE ENTERS

Belleville has decided to enter the Viaduct Baseball League along with Peterborough, Oshawa and Toronto teams. Belleville and the Petes are in the league on a pay-for-play basis.

STEW BOILS OVER

Stew left on a stove at Dan Crough's home, 579 Aylmer St., boiled over Tuesday afternoon and the smell of smoke alerted the people upstairs. The fire department was called but there was no fire. Mrs. Crough was lying down for a rest when the accident occurred.

HOLD JOINT MEETING

A joint meeting of the exhibition board and the Morrow Trust trustees was held Tuesday night at the city hall. Among the subjects discussed was a site for the proposed memorial centre. This was a preliminary to discussing the matter with the site committee of the memorial centre committee.

FORESTRY STAFF CHANGES

District forester A. B. Wheatley of Lindsay district office for the past eight years, is being transferred to the Erie district in the same capacity. He will be replaced by district forester William Thurston of Huron district office. These and other changes in senior department personnel is conforming with the policy of opening opportunities for a broader field of experience, Toronto officials say.

MENTAL HEALTH SPEAKER

Dr. S. R. Laycock, Madoo, former dean of education of the University of Saskatoon, will be principal speaker in Peterborough during the observance of Mental Health week starting Sunday. He will address a public meeting Tuesday at the Queen Mary auditorium at 8 p.m. Special sermons will be preached in many of the city churches on the subject of mental health. Radio broadcasts and other meetings will be held in connection with the special week.

Three City Accidents Do Little Damage

No serious damage was sustained by the vehicles involved in three accidents reported to city police Tuesday. No persons were injured.

At Water and McDonnel streets Kenneth M. Coss, 279 Westcott St. and Herman J. Wilson, 188 Dublin St., were drivers of cars which collided. Constable C. Bowyer investigated.

City Suggests Union Station For Railways

Present Condition Of Two Stations Termed Disgrace

City council have backed the proposal of Ald. Pat Anglesey to have a union station built in Peterborough.

The board of works Monday night recommended that representatives of both the CNR and the CPR and the board of railway commissioners be asked to come to Peterborough at their earliest convenience to discuss conditions at the two local railway stations and the possibility of building a union station in the city.

Ald. Anglesey roundly condemned the lack of proper parking facilities at the CPR station and the appearance of the CNR station. He said the traffic jam at the CPR station on Easter Sunday was a "disgrace."

TO SPEND $21,000

Ald. Anglesey referred to a report in The Examiner on April 8 that the CNR was to spend $21,000 this year for remodelling and modernizing the Peterborough station. A. R. Wilson, Belleville division superintendent, had said that the interior of the station would be redesigned but the exterior would not be changed.

"You will notice that they are not going to fix up the outside of the station at all," Ald. Anglesey said. "It's a disgrace.

"I would like to see negotiations with both the railways and the commissioners to discuss the possibility of a union station," he said.

The board of works approved his suggestion.

10 Men Returning From Korea

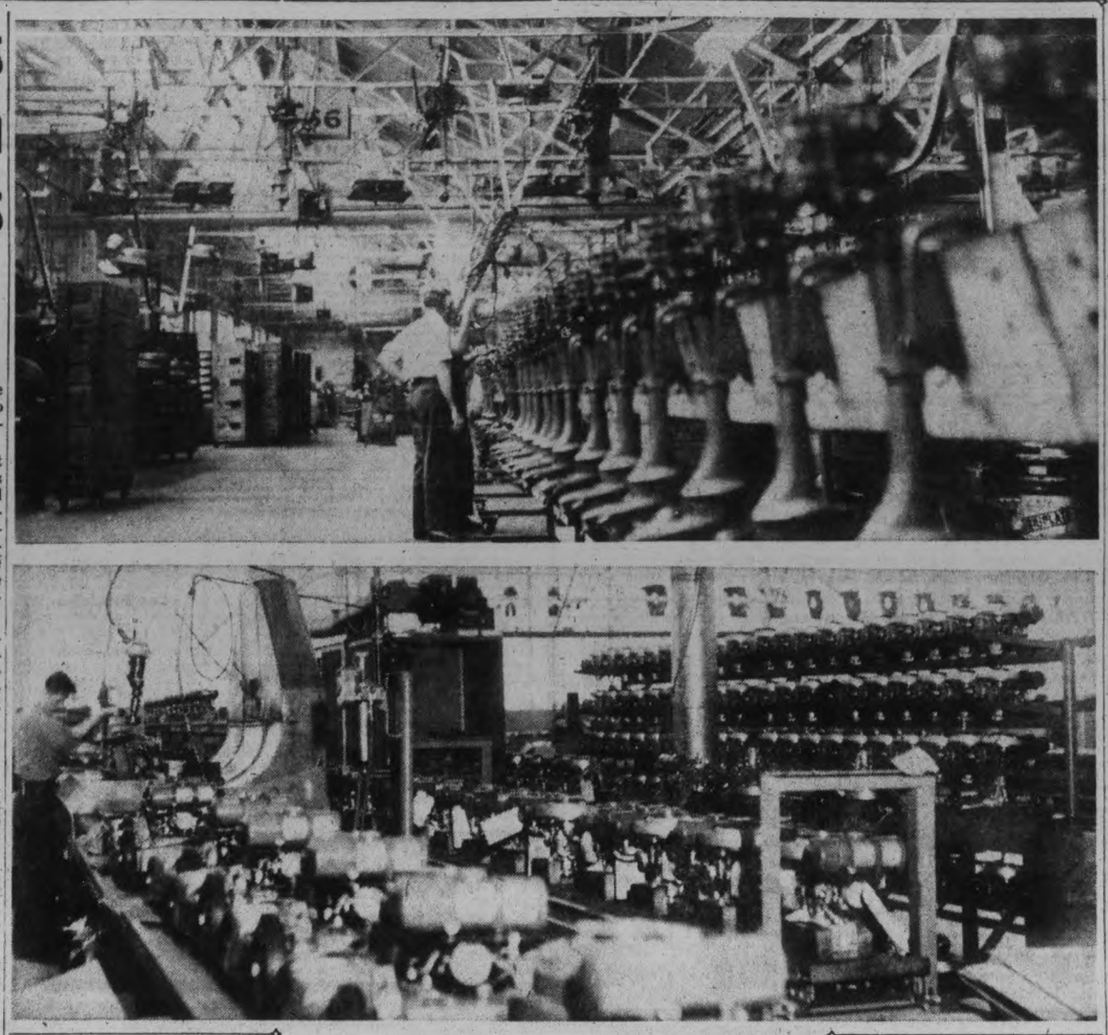
Ten Peterborough-district men are among the more than 1,100 Canadian soldiers landing Friday at a west coast port—on rotation leave from the Far East.

About 700 of the homecoming Canadians are members of the 3rd Bn., Royal 22nd Regt. The remainder of the troops represent nearly every corps in the Canadian Army.

Four of the district soldiers are from Peterborough, four are from Campbellford, and two are from Otonabee township.

They are:

Cfn. J. Anderson of the RCEME, 395 Edison Ave.; T/Cpl. W. J. Byrnes of the RCEME, 751 New Romaine St., on 50 days leave; Cfn. P. M. Nisbett of the RCEME, 303 Brock St.; Pte. B. F. Healey of the RCIC, 330 Euclid Ave.; Cfn P. F. Lowes of the RCEME, RR 8 Peterborough (Otonabee); Pte. R. A. Green of the RCASC, RR 1 Keene (Otonabee); Pte. W. A. Ellis of the RCASC Campbellford; Pte. C. R. Ingram of the RCASC, Campbellford; Pte. D. N. Ingram of the RCASC, 78 Inkerman St., Campbellford; L/Cpl. R. J. Ingram of the RCASC, 78 Inkerman St., Campbellford.



The 26 officers and 1,124 men are returning to Canada after completing their one-year tour of duty in the Far East with the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade.

Escapes From Lineup

TORONTO (CP) — A police suspect in a 12-man identification lineup escaped Tuesday almost before the eyes of six detectives, three policemen and several witneses. He dropped back from the lineup into an alcove in a police station, opened a window and dropped eight feet to the ground.

PUBLIC MEETING

The first of three public meetings will be held in Kenner Collegiate gymnasium hall at 8 p.m. tonight to hear a detailed discussion of the city's proposed zoning bylaw. Thursday night's meeting will be in Queen Mary auditorium and Friday's at city hall.

PRODUCTION EFFICIENCY has been increased fourfold in the new production wing of Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company. Four assembly lines, upper photo, in the outboard motor section makes it possible to assemble any combination of their 16 types of motors. Power lawnmowers have their own department in the new building (centre photo) where materials flow smoothly on monorails as shown in lower photo. —(Examiner Staff Photos)

New Assembly Line Rolling Outboard Marine Addition

Four new assembly lines have started rolling in the addition just completed by Outboard and Marine Manufacturing Co. of Canada Ltd., with a resulting increase in the capacity of the Monaghan Rd. plant.

An ingenious design has integrated the four lines so any combination of the company's 16 types of motors can be assembled. And in its own department in the new building the company's newest product, the Lawn Boy, has a production line of its own.

It provides 38,000 sq. feet of floor space, with resulting facilities for the assembly of the company's outboard motors: Johnson, Evinrude, Elto, likewise the new Lawn-Boy, and the Iron Horse of multiple utility. The compact, power-delivering gasoline engine is the core and the heart of the products of Outboard Marine.

The phrase "assembly line" outgrew its novelty some years ago chiefly as a development and adaptation of the automotive industry. Essence of the system is suggested in the words themselves signifying a bringing together of component parts, setting them in place piece by piece, with economy of motion, and in a progressive operation. At the end of the line, tested and rechecked, it is crated ready for the market and action.

The assembly of the Lawn Boy is typical of the other products of the company.

MAIN PARTS

The main parts of Lawn-Boy are its rotary cutting blades, revolving in a horizontal plane, parallel with the ground and grass, their housing, and on top of it, the gasoline motor that supplies the power.

That power revolves the cutting blades. Rubber-tired ball bearing wheels, removable handle and other parts are also integral in the final stage of assembly of the finished machine.

The aluminum housing is carried through an acid treatment preparatory to painting, while the gasoline engine is being put together in a convenient nearby bay. Men along the assembly row make individual contributions and adjustments in bringing the parts together. The housing and cutting section assumes form along its route, and catches up with the assembling engine. They are then set into final position, and move on to ultimate crating. The whole operation is something that has to be seen for appreciation of the planning and timing of the successive and formative steps.

Not the least interesting detail is the very last, the crating. It is done with a flourish, and with precision of movement as if it were keeping time to a metronome. With the help of a power stapler using a heavy wire, the Lawn-Boy is packaged and with security, as if it were an automatic piece of work.

OUTBOARD'S

The new power mower has been allotted only part of the additional factory space for its assembly line. That is only part of the gain in accommodation. Off on another side, the outboard motors, sixteen models of them, have their own moving system of fabrication. They follow in a general way the divided course of the Lawn-Boy — the engines taking shape in their area, and the crank-shaft housing coming together along the line, finally the union of the two, and then the addition of accessories and the ultimate refinements and examination and testings.

The extra new space has made room for changes elsewhere in the plant that bring new features of efficiency into effect. The machine shop is off at the east end of the main building. Up near the front, and adjacent to the ends of the assembly lines is elbow room for incoming and outgoing parts, machines, and goods generally.

They are allotted ample space handy to the area of assembly. The whole scene is a complex of the engineering of processes of production. A word that was repeated several times by Walter Wood was "versatility." The system of assembly as now devised permits immediate switch for volume of output of any one of the models of outboard motors to meet variable demand.

The Iron Horse, fractional horse-power gasoline engine, has its own area of assembly. Some of its uses are for operating washing machines, water pumps, cement mixers, power saws and so on.

Hogan Admits Break-in, Jailed 6 Months

Gerald Hogan, 24, of RR 3, Peterborough, was sentenced to six months definite and four months indefinite, by magistrate W. R. Philp upon plea of guilty to a charge of break-in and theft at the Steinkrauss tobacco warehouse, March 25. James Atkins, 25, the second of the three men arrested, was committed for trial before the county judge, and the third man, Lorne Cromie, 26, of 492 Elm St., was remanded until May 3.

Hogan testified he had met Atkins and Cromie about 4.00 p.m. on March 25. He said they had gone to a hotel and except for a brief trip to pick up another friend, had stayed there until nearly 7.00 p.m. Then they drove to the outskirts of the city and shared a bottle of rum, and returned to another hotel and drank from about 9.30 to 10.30 p.m., when they left and entered the lane way next to Steinkrauss' warehouse.

He said no-one in the party had suggested anything about the break-in during the afternoon or evening, and that the idea was instigated by no-one in particular. The three men forced the door with their shoulders. There were no tools used to his knowledge. He said Cromie did not enter the building, and was not certain whether Atkins had or not, but that he had taken some change from the till and a quantity of cigarettes.

Hogan was out of work at the time and owed some debts. He had applied for enlistment in the army, but on return from Toronto where he had undergone a medical exam, had been promised a carpenter's job in the near future.

PC Arthur Beardsmore testified that after learning of the break-in, he had gone in search of a third man (Cromie and Hogan had been apprehended), whom he believed was involved. Searching under some boards suspended over Jackson's creek which runs behind the warehouse, he heard cries of "Help, I'm falling", and saw a fatigue-booted foot suspended above the water. After some confusion as to whether the man had fallen into the water or not, he was pulled from beneath the boards and was identified as Atkins.

After a struggle, Atkins was placed in the police cruiser, hitting his head on the frame in the process. PC Beardsmore said he thought that Atkins faked unconsciousness. He said PC Dennis Traynor lifted Atkins leg, and it dropped slowly, not suddenly as an unconscious man's leg would drop. A sum of money in change, and some slips of paper identified as property of the Steinkrauss establishment were also found on Atkins' person.

Preliminary hearing concerning Cromie will continue, Monday.

Will Ask To Use Exhibition Bldg. For Market

City council will ask the Exhibition Board and the Morrow Trust for permission to rent the drill shed at Exhibition Park for a farmers' market.

John Kitney, chairman of the Exhibition Board, told the board of works Monday night he thought the other board members would be agreeable to this arrangement.

Mr. Kitney and James Gillespie, advisor to the board, appeared at the board of works meeting to ask the city to lay hard surfacing in front of the drill shed and the grandstand.

Mr. Kitney explained that it had been the custom in the past for the city to make certain improvements to the Exhibition grounds in place of a cash grant. The cost of the work was matched by government grants.

"I realize the city is doing quite a bit," he said. "But the citizens are using the grounds more and more and it takes more to look after them."

COST $1,200

Mr. Gillespie said that now it had been decided to erect the Memorial Centre in Exhibition Park, it would be necessary to "dress up the grounds a little." Estimated cost of the hard surfacing was about $1,200.

"Would you be interested in the city using the drill hall as a market?" Ald. Gordon Farquharson asked of Mr. Kitney.

"Definitely," Mr. Kitney stated. "I can't speak with the authority of the board; only for myself. But I think they would agree."

The drill hall was now being used for "dead storage" on a month-to-month rental basis, Mr. Kitney said.

The matter of laying the hard surface was left over until the next meeting of the committee of the whole council.

Memorial Services Held For Mussolini

ROME (AP)—Memorial services were held today in several Rome churches for Benito Mussolini, Italian Fascist leader who with his mistress was slain and hanged by the heels from a Milan service station nine years ago.

His widow attended a service at Rome's Assumption church. Others attending included members of the neo-Fascist Italian Social Movement party.

No incidents were reported.

2 Seek Court Order For Building Permit Over City's Refusal

Neil R. Sloggett has applied to the Ontario Supreme Court for an order of mandamus requiring city engineer A. E. Chalmers to issue a building permit for a motel at 390 George St. S.

City council has also received a letter from Sam Moldaver stating he has instructed his solicitor to issue a writ of mandamus to secure a building permit for a multiple dwelling at Dumbie Ave. and Nicholls St.

The city has received no notice of motion as to when Mr. Moldaver's application will be heard. Mr. Sloggett's application will be heard Thursday morning at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, by the presiding judge in chambers.

Mr. Sloggett's application to build a motel was originally turned down by the planning board. He then applied to city council, who recommended to the planning board that they classify motels as commercial enterprises, similar to hotels, and that if Mr. Sloggett's application met the conditions fixed by the board, he be granted a permit to erect a motel.

TOOK POLL

The planning board then took a poll of George St. residents within a 200-foot radius of the proposed site of the motel. Six opposed the motel, eight were unopposed, and two did not answer. The board also received a petition from residents on Lake, Romaine and Crescent streets, consisting of 16 or 18 people, objecting to the motel.

The planning board accordingly decided, by a 4-2 vote, not to recommend a permit to Mr. Sloggett "based on the fact that motels were not initially included in central commercial in the zoning bylaw and that as a result of the poll that was taken that indicated a split of about 50-50 of the views of residents that we reject the application."

Mr. Sloggett and his legal counsel, John Corkery, then appeared before city council a week ago and asked for formal notice as to whether or not the city engineer was to be authorized to grant the permit so they could use it in "future proceedings."

Mr. Corkery said he understood the planning board intended to reclassify the site as residentiale in the new zoning bylaw, although it was now commercial.

In deference to Mr. Sloggett's request, council voted an "outright refusal" to grant the permit.

In a letter read at the board of works meeting Monday night, Mr. Moldaver said that since his application for a building permit had been turned down, he had instructed his solicitor, Alex Elliott, QC, to issue a writ of mandamus against the city.

The board of works also rejected an application from Milford Payne, 299 Welsh St., to install a gasoline pump to service his own snow plow, truck, gravel loader, and sawing machine.

A letter was read from the city engineer giving the opinion that the property was apparently being used as a commercial headquarters and installation of the pump would be an extension of the non-conforming use.

Council May Ask Higher Payment On Rental Houses

City council is going to apply to Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation to increase their payments in lieu of taxes this year in order to share more fairly in the cost of municipal services.

The move was recommended Monday night by the board of works. In the resolution covering the recommendation it was said council appreciated such payments would be reflected in a corresponding revision in the present rents charged by the corporation to its tenants.

Prior to 1952, the corporation paid to the city each year in lieu of taxes $70 for a bungalow and $75 for a 1½-storey house. Since 1951 the payments have been $45 and $50.

On the present schedule, payments on the 326 rental houses owned by the corporation total $16,025 this year.

In the resolution, moved by Ald. Gordon Farquharson and seconded by Ald. Stan McBride, it was stated that the present payments fail to provide, by a large gap, sufficient revenue to the city to pay on any basis of equality with payments received from other properties towards the cost of municipal services now given these houses and their tenants.

Present rents charged by the corporation are $34.50 for a bungalow and $37.50 for a 1½-storey house. It is understood that if the larger payments in lieu of taxes are made to the city, rents will be increased to $37.50 and $40.50.

Youth 16, Charged In Cemetery Break-in TORONTO (CP) — Sixteen-year-old Terrence O'Brien appeared in police court Tuesday charged with "interfering with a dead body."

The youth was arrested along with two juveniles April 19 after discovery that a family crypt in Mount Pleasant cemetery had been entered Easter week-end.

Magistrate T. S. Elmore remanded O'Brien to May 14 on $500 bail.

The two juveniles have already appeared in juvenile court.

FACES MURDER CHARGE — Bruce MacLean, 23, (left) was charged with murder in the drowning last August of his 20-year-old wife. He was charged four hours after being released on bail on a charge of obtaining money by false pretences from Sylvia Davies, 20 (right) of Port Colborne. Police investigated a claim that MacLean boasted to Miss Davies, to whom he was engaged, that he drowned his wife Elizabeth in a "perfect crime" when he upset their canoe. The death was termed accidental at the time. MacLean had been released on $800 bail on a charge of obtaining $1,600 by fraud from Miss Davies. (CP Photo)

Aly Khan's Daughter To Receive $1,500,000

NEW YORK (AP) — Moslem Prince Aly Khan Tuesday settled in the neighborhood of $1,500,000 on the four-year-old daughter of his broken marriage to Rita Hayworth.

Aly told reporters he gets custody of little Yasmin Khan for only part of each year, although he once demanded full custody.

"She will have her the major part of the year," he added.

It was the second big load off Rita's mind within 24 hours. Only Monday, child neglect charges against her were settled and she regained custody of Yasmin and her other daughter, Rebecca, 2.

Aly signed an agreement to contribute about $100,000 a year for the next 14 years to a fund for Yasmin. An added payment—probably around $8,000 a year—goes for the girl's support.

Senator Hopes To Establish Perjury In Row

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Henry M. Jackson (Dem. Wash.) today said he hopes to establish "a clear-cut case" for perjury charges if there are continued contradictions at hearings into the McCarthy-army row.

"I am trying to resolve the confusion about this controversy by asking questions for yes-or-no answers tagged directly to the federal perjury statute," the Washington senator said in an interview in advance of the fifth day of televised hearings into the dispute between Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin and Army Secretary Robert Stevens and their aides. Only two of the principals have so far testified under oath, Stevens and Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel to McCarthy's senate investigations sub-committee.

Stevens was recalled to the stand today with instructions from chairman Karl Mundt (Rep. S.D.) to "particularize" his charges that McCarthy and two aides, Cohn and Francis P. Carr, sought favors from the army for Pte. G. David Schine and "threatened" the army if Schine didn't get them.

SAID WAS "HOSTAGE"

The McCarthy camp has replied that army officials treated Schine, a former sub-committee consultant, as a "hostage" in trying to force the group to halt or divert a search for subversives in the army.

Specifically, Mundt asked Stevens to detail the army's charges that Carr and Cohn had asked favors for Schine last Nov. 6, had made "threats" Nov. 16, and that on Dec. 16 Carr had joined Cohn and McCarthy in discussing Schine's military assignment.

When Stevens said Tuesday he wanted to think the matter over during the night, McCarthy broke into protest that "I just don't think we can get anywhere in cross-examination that way."

Mundt replied he believes "We can get somewhere by cross-examination." He thought Stevens was entitled to time to reflect.

NO DATE SET

Mundt said, meanwhile, that no date has been set for the committee to take up at a closed session "conflicting" statements made available to the committee by McCarthy.

McCarthy said his investigators have found a defence headquarters employee who first claimed, then denied, that he had been assigned to destroy some transcripts of telephone calls the sub-committee has subpoenaed.

Stevens had testified that, in such a conversation monitored by one of his office staff, McCarthy had suggested Schine be given a few week-end passes "to take care of his girl friends."

Channel Swimmer Lands

FALL RIVER, Mass. (AP)—Shirley May France, 22, who as a high school girl twice failed to swim the English channel, settled down today to be "just a housewife." The pretty blonde who made vain attempts to cross the channel in 1949 and 1950 was married Tuesday to Douglas Smith, 23, also of Fall River, and Shirley May said "I don't want to do any more swimming."

MARBURG, Germany (AP)—A letter written by Russia's V. I. Lenin was sold for a top price of 3,300 marks ($714) to a German dealer at an autograph auction Tuesday. A letter written by Winston Churchill was bought by a Swiss for 120 marks. An editorial manuscript written by Benito Mussolini for his Fascist newspaper was sold for 115 marks.

Divorced 8th Time

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — Judge Philip Elliott described as "instalment polygamy" the record of a couple he separated by divorce Tuesday. They were Henry Stevens, who got his eighth divorce decree, and his wife, Josephine, who got her seventh. Stevens couldn't remember the wife's maiden name.

See No Possibility U.S. Will Recognize Red China

By HAROLD MORRISON

WASHINGTON (CP)—Out of all the confusing issues in fluid American foreign policy, one fact stands clear: The United States wants no truck with the Red Chinese.

This undoubtedly is partly due to the bloodshed caused by Communist participation in the Korean war and partly because there is a powerful Chinese lobby here bitterly resentful that Chiang Kai-shek was defeated by the Red hordes.

Because not all details on foreign policy are firmly nailed down, you can get a half dozen varying policy views from as many American officials. But on this issue all quickly agree:

The U. S. will not now nor at any foreseeable future time grant recognition to Communist China. Moreover, it will fight vigorously any move to seat the Red Chinese at the United Nations.

"Recognition is a privilege and not a right," U. S. spokesmen say. "Red China preaches hatred of the U. S. It has made militant aggression its national policy. Why should we grant it any concession?"

A well-versed foreign diplomat, asked what are the chances of the U. S. eventually recognizing Red China, replied: "I'll be dead and long gone before that happens."

This is the U. S. mood as East and West gather at Geneva to discuss the Korean and Indo-China questions.

The U. S. stand is believed to be a little harder than that of Britain which already has granted Red China recognition. Undoubtedly the Soviet will attempt to split the Allies on the issue, but diplomats here feel the West will stand firm.

But what will be gained at Geneva? Possibly nothing, diplomats say. However, Geneva will help clarify the Soviet position and show the West just where the Communists stand.

Meanwhile, the U. S. is mustering strength among its allies to stop Communist aggression in all parts of the free world. The current focal point is Indo-China. The U. S. has already made clear Indo-China must not fall and is pushing development of a NATO-type alliance for nations directly interested in southeast Asia.

Canada has been consulted on developments but has not been asked to participate because she has no direct interest. But undoubtedly if the U. S. and her allies should go to war there to support the French, Canada would be asked to provide some aid.

Why is Indo-China so important? Let Admiral Arthur Radford, chairman of the U. S. joint chiefs of staff, explain:

The fall of Indo-China would harness 30,000,000 more people to the Communist machine, he says. The "rice bowl" of southeast Asia, Indo-China also is rich in tin, oil, rubber and iron ore.

It is astride the most direct and best developed sea and air routes between the Pacific and southeast Asia.

Loss of Indo-China might be the prelude to the loss of all of southeast Asia.

Vice-President Nixon adds:

If Indo-China capitulates "the balance of power in the world may have shifted so that the time would come when the Kremlin would think it is time for a world war."

Elect Malenkov Leader, Big Ovation

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Premier Malenkov sat smiling today when the Supreme Soviet officially re-elected him government leader with a big ovation.

At a 25-minute session of Russia's legislative assembly, 1,347 deputies from all parts of the Soviet Union applauded a new list of ministers which the prime minister presented.

Vyacheslav Molotov remains foreign minister and Marshal Nikolai Bulganin defence minister.

Marshal Klementi Voroshilov, 73, was re-elected chairman of the praesidium of the Supreme Soviet and automatically remains president of the Soviet state.

MORE MINISTERIES CREATED

The Supreme Soviet's two chambers jointly re-elected Molotov, Bulganin and Lazar Kaganovich as first deputy premiers.

They also elected six deputy premiers—Anastas Mikoyan, minister of domestic trade, Maxim Saburov, Michail Pervukhin, Ivan Tevosynan, Vyacheslav Malyshev and Alexei Kosygin.

Malenkov split up a number of big ministries, including timber and paper, electrical, and metallurgical. He set up new ministries for the metallurgical industry, transport and shipbuilding.

A new committee of state security was formed under Ival Alexandrovitch Sirov.

BOUND FOR INDO-CHINA — French personnel load their gear aboard a U.S. Air Force C-124 Globemaster at Orly Airfield, Paris, France, as they prepare for an 8,500-mile journey to Indo-China. The lift, longest in aviation history, was directed by the U.S. Air Force in Europe.

Ottawa Said Ready To Match All Grants For Defence

TORONTO (CP) — Mayor Howard Burrell of suburban Leaside Tuesday told the metropolitan council the entire civil defence setup for the Toronto area will be reorganized within two or three weeks.

Mayor Burrell said he has learned "on good authority" the federal and provincial governments will shortly take over CD costs for the area.

Civil defence costs to date have been borne 60 per cent by the city and 40 per cent by York county.

The Globe and Mail says in a newspage story today that the federal government has agreed to match every dollar spent by municipalities on civil defence. The story says the new formula was drawn up at a meeting in Ottawa last month.

The newspaper says that if provincial governments also agree to match the dollar-for-dollar basis, the federal contribution will be increased to $2, thus setting up a 2-1-1 system of cost sharing.

VARY IN PROPORTION

In 1952 and 1953 the federal government made some $1,400,000 available yearly for assistance to provinces in civil defence programs, the amounts for each province varying in proportion to its population.

This assistance is available on a dollar-for-dollar basis for certain projects, the federal government matching the provincial expenditure. Up to now the provinces have dealt with the municipalities.

It is understood the federal government intends to increase its available aid to about $2,000,000. The provision of more direct federal aid to municipalities also has been discussed.

BIG STRETCH

Board Authorizes Gas Pipeline

OTTAWA (CP)—A natural gas pipeline from the Ontario-United States border to Toronto was authorized Tuesday by the board of transport commissioners.

The 85-mile pipe will bring U.S. gas to the Toronto market until Alberta natural gas reaches the Ontario capital, expected by late 1956. It will cost between $7,000,000 and $7,500,000.

Before it granted the construction application to Western Pipe Lines, the transport board heard that Trans-Canada Pipe Lines, Ltd. expects to receive an Alberta government permit next month to carry that province's gas to eastern Canada.

The $300,000,000 Trans-Canada Company is the parent concern of Western. It plans to build a 2,240-mile gas line as far east as Montreal, taking over the Toronto market when it hits that point.

Threat To Canal

PANAMA (AP) — A widening crack in a rock ledge above the Gaillard cut of the Panama canal could cause a slide that could block the canal, officials said Tuesday night. Experts have been brought here to study the situation.

No Deportation Move

OTTAWA (CP) — The government will make no move to deport Raymond Arthur Davies, Montreal writer convicted last week of passport fraud, until he enters prison. Citizenship Minister Harris told the Commons Tuesday he understands Davies may appeal.

Release Politicians

BUENOS AIRES (CP) — President Peron Tuesday released four opposition Radical party leaders arrested 24 hours previously.

Iron Ore Body To Bolster Mine Economy

KIRKLAND LAKE (CP) — An iron ore-body that lay dormant through the glittering days of Cobalt silver and the ensuing spectacular gold discoveries of northern Ontario may now bolster the economy of a region dependent upon mining for its existence.

An agreement permitting the development of a large body of magnetic taconite ore held by Gulf Oil Exploration, six miles south of here, was confirmed Tuesday by Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, of Pittsburgh.

Grade of the deposit is not yet known but reserves are estimated at 150,000,000 tons of crude open pit ore.

PUSHED ASIDE

The discovery of the ore-body was first made in Boston township in 1903 but was pushed aside by the later silver and gold discoveries as prospectors scoured the area for precious minerals.

Taconite is a low grade iron ore and is of the type mined in the Mesabi iron range of Minnesota, an Ontario mines department official said.

The agreement between the two companies will permit two years' exploration by Jones and Laughlin and leasing of the property if results are encouraging. Exploration activity is expected to begin this year.

More Pictures, Color Improve Newspapers

WINNIPEG (CP) — Newspapers are tending to be more "readable" with widespread use of color, more pictures and larger type, Howard N. King, typographic counselor of the Intertype Corp., Brooklyn, said in an interview Tuesday.

Television poses no threat to newspapers, which will remain the best news and advertising media, he said.

In 10 years newspapers will have more features, with accompanying picture illustration, and make general use of four-color printing, predicted Mr. King, who is here to address the Winnipeg Sales and Ad Club and the Winnipeg Club of Printing House Craftsmen.

Color in papers is required to increase the sales impact of advertising and to make papers more attractive, he said.

Says School Teachers Failing In Duty

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Anne MacEachern of Toronto, regional secretary of the Presbyterian synod of Hamilton and London, Ont., said Tuesday that Sunday school teachers are failing in their duty.

"Teachers consider their only goal in Christian education is to teach children to sit still and be quiet," Miss MacEachern said at the 80th synod meeting here.

Of the 300 to 400 teachers she met in the last year, she found more than 100 with this attitude.

She said many of them never use the Bible in classes and don't help children with their prayers because they don't know how to pray themselves.

2 Canadian Firms Indicted For Defrauding US Investors

DETROIT (AP)—Two Canadian brokerage firms and 14 of their salesmen were indicted Tuesday by a U.S. grand jury on charges of defrauding American investors of $300,000.

Four indictments embracing 42 counts were returned against T.M. Parker, Inc., and Laurentian Securities, Inc., both of Montreal.

The companies and salesmen are charged with fraud in the sale of shares in six petroleum and uranium companies to investors in 40 states and the District of Columbia.

One indictment, with 18 counts, charges violations of the Federal Securities Act; another, with 17 counts, violations of mail fraud statutes; a third, with one count, conspiracy to violate the Securities Act, and a fourth, with six counts, operating without broker-dealer licences.

Joseph A. Moynihan, assistant U.S. attorney, said the firms and salesmen had sold stock to 275 persons between March and August of last year. He said the stock was sold at from 80 cents to $1.50 a share when it could have been bought for 10 cents a share or less.

U. S. attorney Fred W. Kaess said that, under a treaty with Canada, the defendants can be extradited.

Kaess and Moynihan said stock sale solicitations were made by telephone.

Kaess said that "in some instances no delivery of stock paid for was made and in other cases substitution of stock was made without the purchasers' consent."

Maximum penalties are: five years imprisonment on each count of the first; five years on each count of the second; two years on the one count of the third, and five years on each count of the fourth.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Boned Forequarter Of Lamb Stuffed

If you walk up to your butcher and say "Have you a forequarter of lamb today?" and he says "Yes" and you say "I'd like one please, but would you remove the bone before you wrap it up and include the bone in my parcel?" If you do this he'll think "Here's a gal that knows exactly what she wants".

For I'm going to tell you what to do with a boned forequarter of lamb — for I get hungry for it. My favorite meat is broiled lamb chops—thick juicy ones—but most of the time my hunger has to be satisfied with meat that does not belong in its luxury class.

I worked on a delicious lamb dish that I seldom try, and seldom if ever hear of anyone else cooking.

This was our menu for dinner last night when we had a guest from Winnipeg.

Frozen Orange Juice
Stuffed Breast of Lamb
Lamb Gravy
Mint Jelly
Green Beans
Creamy Mashed Turnips
Celery Hearts
Cinnamon Poached Apples
Pouring Cream
Date-Oatmeal Cookies
Coffee

STUFFED BREAST or SHOULDER OF LAMB

The amount of stuffing given is sufficient for the shoulder or the whole forequarter or just the breast meat. Spread out the boned meat, sprinkle inside with salt and pepper and cover with celery stuffing: Gently cook in ¾ cup salted water 2 cups finely chopped celery for 5 minutes. Drain. Add to celery 1 cup soft breadcrumbs, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper and ½ teaspoon poultry seasoning or sage. Mix well. Roll up meat and tie tightly. Put on rack in roasting pan, then sprinkle surface with flour, salt and pepper and put in oven 500 deg. Fahr. (extremely hot) for 30 minutes. Add 1 cup hot water—reduce heat to 325 deg. Fahr. and roast 2½ hours, uncovered. To make Lamb Gravy boil the raw lamb bones in cold water to cover, with 1 small sliced onion, 4 peppercorns, for 3 hours, covered. Strain, then skim off any excess fat. Into 4 tablespoons lamb fat tipped off roasting meat stir 4½ tablespoons flour. Stir this to let it brown a little, then stir in 2 cups of the bone stock, until thick. Season this to taste with salt and pepper. Pete likes me to add a few capers and a little vinegar from the caper bottle to this gravy. I like it too.

CREAMY MASHED TURNIPS

Sometimes, to bury the strong flavor of turnip I boil 1 or 2 potatoes with it. But I had some left-over mashed potatoes. So I boiled the turnip until tender, drained it, mashed it, then added 1 cup cold mashed potatoes, some extra butter and cream and salt and pepper and mashed it to heat through over low heat, for about 5 minutes. It was lovely.

CINNAMON POACHED APPLES

Pare and core 4 choice apples. Boil together 2-3 cup sugar, a 2-inch stick of cinnamon bark, a few drops of red food coloring and 2-3 cup water for 1 minute. Add the apples and cook gently until tender, basting often. Let cool in pink syrup, then chill. Serve some of the slightly jelled syrup over each apple and pass pouring cream.

COLORFUL MEALS

Meals are more appetizing when they are colorful. For instance, dull brown pot roast looks well when set off by carrots and spinach or another green vegetable.

SERVE LIGHT FOODS

Help your family's digestion by never serving many heavy, rich foods at one meal. A simple salad and light dessert, for example, should round out a meal that features a heavy main course.

Meeting Held By Auxiliary

SELWYN (ENS)—The Woman's Auxiliary of St. Aidan's Anglican Church, Young's Point, held their meeting at the home of Mrs. Nelson Godfrey.

Plans were made for a rummage sale, bake sale and afternoon tea to be held in the parish hall on Saturday, May 1.

The Lakefield Woman's Auxiliary of St. John's church, extended an invitation to the Young's Point WA to visit them at their meeting in their new parish hall on Tuesday, April 27. The ladies reported they had purchased two dozen new cups and saucers to replenish the hall cupboards.

The Easter dance, sponsored by St. Aidan's church and held in the parish hall, was on Friday evening and was very successful. Music was provided by Jimmy Jones and Tommy Sullivan. The draw for the quilt was made and the lucky winner was Mrs. McGregor of Lindsay.

Gilmour BYPU Meets

The Gilmour BYPU met Sunday evening with 31 present. The devotional period was conducted by Nancy Archer with a verse by Lilia Sanderson followed with the scripture reading by Bob Kingdon. Marion McMullen led in prayer. Marilyn Scott conducted a Bible quiz.

Two films were shown, one a travelogue in colour and the other a circus picture. "It's the Brain That Counts", was the temperance film shown. It was the story of how alcohol affects the brain and slows the movements of the body.

The meeting closed with prayer.

Past pres., Donald Irwin; pres., Mary Raddon; vice pres., Jim McMullen; sec. tres., Barbara Bulmer; group leaders, Marilyn Scott and Orland Kidd; assistant leaders, Nancy Archer and Jim McMullen; pianists, Marion McMullen and Diane Rowland; reporter, Donald Irwin.

Plans for a banquet were discussed and the date was set for May 7.

Church Repair WA Topic

ROSENEATH (ENS) — Final plans were made to purchase a rug for a floor in the parsonage, extensive plastering, and redecorating the interior of the parsonage are also being done, under the supervision of the parsonage committee of the WA.

This was the important item of business at the April meeting of the United Church WA.

The meeting was held in the township hall with Mrs. Alex Horner as hostess. The first vice-president, Mrs. Walter Gallagher, presided with Mrs. Bart Thackeray as pianist.

Opening with the WA theme song, the members repeated the Apostles' creed in unison.

Mrs. Lorne Thackeray was in charge of the devotional period and chose as her topic, "The Risen Christ."

Thank-you letters were read by the secretary, Mrs. Arthur Braithwaite.

The treasurer, Mrs. Isaac Skuce, reported a balance on hand of $480.21.

It was reported flannelette holders had been made for the silver flatware of the WA.

Mrs. Fred Norris announced the following numbers on the program: Mrs. Klass Boekhoudt conducted a quiz; Mrs. C. W. Varcoe gave a reading; Yvonne Adams played an accordion solo; an "art" contest by the convener concluded the program.

The meeting closed with prayer. The hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Alvin Rosebush Sr., served afternoon tea.

Barrymore Has 76th Birthday, Wants Try TV

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Lionel Barrymore marks his 76th birthday today, and the crusty old gent shows no signs of giving up his family profession.

"Me quit?" he snorts. "The day after I retire, I'll curl up and die."

I saw the eldest of the acting Barrymores at CBS, where he reported for a rehearsal of his radio show, "Hallmark Playhouse." He drove up in his vintage automobile, switched gingerly to this wheel chair and sailed into the studio. Although a hip injury has cut down his mobility for years, his mind remains as agile as ever.

He pretended to be pained that birthday. He shuns all forms of sentiment.

"Celebrate my birthday!" he growled. "I should say not! I'm trying to forget it. When you get as old and broken down as me, you want to forget birthdays."

GRANDPA DIED OF DRINK

I asked him how long he expects to live and he said he had no idea. His sister Ethel is 74, and many others in his family lived to an advanced age.

"Of course, not all of the family lived a long time," he added. "There was my grandfather, John Drew, who died of drink at 31."

He said that he intends to go on acting as long as he is able. In fact, he is eager to get into television.

"The only thing holding me back is the studio," he declared, referring to MGM. He started his contract there in 1926. Since Lewis Stone's death, he is the ranking actor on the lot. The studio has a hands-off policy concerning its actors and TV. But Barrymore indicated that may be relaxed to allow him to accept one of the several offers he has had.

THEY LAST LONGER

Prolong the life of your sheets by loosening the edges before removing them from the bed. Yanking them off while they are still tucked under puts a great strain on the material.

CUT OFF LOW LEAVES

Keep cut flowers fresh longer by removing any leaves that will be below the water level. Submerged foliage decays, thereby hastening the death of the flowers.

Delegates Report To Red Cross On Ontario Div.

Peterborough Branch of Canadian Red Cross Society met in the Red Cross Rooms Tuesday evening with President Miss Jean Buck presiding.

Delegates from the recent annual meeting in Windsor presented their reports of the various Committees of the Ontario Divisions of the Society, for the year 1953.

Miss E. Dix stressed Mr. C. B. Routley's report on Junior Red Cross which is the largest youth organization in the world, with its one million members in Canada, and more than fourteen thousand branches in Ontario. She expressed the hope that more branches would be enrolled in Peterborough schools in September to carry on the work for Crippled Children and to help in National Service.

The Welfare Committee with its various conveners reported a wonderful years work in Ontario. This comprises hospital visiting, Enquiry service, welcoming home prisoners of war and veterans, meeting airplanes, sending clothing food and drugs to European countries and answering thousands of calls for various needs. The old age field is rapidly broadening and service is urgently needed here. The challenge is being met by the Red Cross it was stated.

Miss Buck gave a resume of the meeting which was considered one of the most successful, inspite of the fact that this was the first time it had ever been held outside Toronto. She spoke of the very fine new Red Cross building in Windsor where the local branch served luncheon to the entire delegation in the Windsor branch headquarters.

Miss Buck stressed the work of the Women's Work Committee as shown in the demonstration of clothing presented as a fashion show at the meeting and of Miss Peene's display of arts and crafts done in War Hospitals in Ontario.

Mrs. C. J. Ray reported on the Blood Donor Service, Outpost Hospitals and Disaster Services Committees in the Ontario Division.

Committees of the local branch also reported and Mrs. Ray and Mr. C. G. Collins outlined the blood donor clinic to be held in Peterborough on May 18, for the purpose of securing gamma globulin for the combat of polio. Mrs. Ray hopes to secure three hundred donors who will go to the Legion Hall on that date and donate blood for this worthy cause.

Mrs. J. Watts told of the very successful course in Swimming and Water Safety which was conducted in the Easter week with 46 receiving certificates.

Church Sponsors Cooking School

An enthusiastic crowd of about 350 women attended the first evening of a three-night cooking school sponsored by St. George's Anglican church on Tuesday. The school is being held in the PCVS auditorium with Mrs. Scriver of Hastings the dietitian in charge.

Major prizes being given each evening are a mixmaster and a set of knives valued at $45, with 10 special prizes, 50 grocery bags and the food prepared during the class also given away. Last night the mixmaster went to Mrs. Stanley Ballard of 594 Stewart street and the knives to Mrs. C. Foster of 174 Aylmer street. Cook books and samples were given to each attendant at the door.

Braised steak, orange and banana bread, angel cake, oatmeal macaroons and a large birthday cake were among the items prepared Tuesday night. An entirely different program will be followed each night.

O'Neill-Peters

St. John the Baptist church in Kenmore, Buffalo, was the scene on Saturday of the marriage of John Charlton O'Neill, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Charlton of 141 Montgomery Street, Peterborough, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence M. O'Neill of Kenmore, to Miss Dolores Elaine Peters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Peters also of Kenmore.

Mr. L. Armour O'Neill was groomsman for his brother and the ushers were Ignatius M. O'Neill, uncle of the groom, and Ronald McMahon.

The bride was gowned in floor length chantilly lace over satin with the very full skirt accented in the front with an inserted panel of accordion pleated nylon tulle and wore a fingertip veil of illusion falling from a cap of lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white glamellias lily of the valley and frenzia.

Miss Lorraine Peters was her sister's maid of honor and was in a ballerina gown of dusty rose taffeta made with portrait neckline and circular skirt. She carried a colonial bouquet of American Beauty roses and white hyacinths.

Following the reception, held in the Mardi-Gras Room of the Stuyesvent Hotel, Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill left on a wedding trip to Florida and the southern States, the bride going away in a yellow and blue silk dress with navy accessories and a corsage of purple violets.

After Monday, May 10th, they will be at home at 185 Bryant Street, North Tonawanda, N.Y.

Circle Has Guest

Trinity Supper Circle held the Easter meeting Monday evening, entertaining members of other members of other mission organizations of the church and of the Peterborough Presbyterial. They had as guest speaker Mrs. E. W. Hickeson, Dominion Board secretary for Mission Circles.

Mrs. Hickeson spoke of the work of missionaries overseas and in the home field and told how the Christian church is still flourishing in Korea even though the small huts in which services are held are constructed of cardboard.

Two selections, "Spring Dance" and "Adieu," whistled by Miss Mignon Mayneord were enjoyed. She was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. O. Jamieson.

Devotions were opened with Miss Nancy Moffat reading "The Resurrection Morn" by Cynthia Maus and Miss Marion Oddie led in prayer. President Mrs. S. Thomas reported on a visit by the Circle to Anson House.

Tea was served from a pretty table with green cloth and centrepiece of yellow daffodils, these being colors of the Circle. Past advisory presidents, Mrs. George Hill and Mrs. H. T. Rehill, poured tea.

Miller-Allen

At St. Peter's rectory on Saturday, the Rev. G. V. Gaughan united in marriage Geraldine Catherine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Allen of Peterborough, and William T. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Miller of Toronto.

The bride wore a turquoise taffeta ballerina length dress with strapless bodice topped with a bolero with French bead trimming. Her headdress of turquoise pleated net was caught with talisman roses and she wore a matching corsage.

Miss Cassie McKeiver, maid of honor, and Miss Joan Ellis, bridesmaid, were in dresses of champagne and blush pink taffeta, styled similarly to the bride's. They wore matching headdresses and corsages of cream roses. Groomsman was the bride's brother, Mr. Bernard Allen and Mr. Roger Allchin was the usher.

A reception was held in the Kawartha Room at the Empress Hotel. The bride's mother received, wearing a navy crepe dress with white straw hat and corsage of white roses. The groom's cousin, Mrs. Ernest Padbury of Toronto, also received and she was also wearing navy with white accessories and corsage of white roses.

To go on a wedding trip to Toronto and points west the bride donned a pink suit and navy and natural accessories and her going-away corsage was of white roses. Mr. and Mrs. Miller will live at 455 Gilmour street.

PRINCE OF WALES SCHOOL

Annual meeting of Prince of Wales Home and School Association took place Tuesday evening with a good membership attendance.

Mrs. V. Ridley gave the treasurer's statement, and Mrs. L. Martin in the absence of Mrs. P. Butler, secretary read the secretary's survey of the year's activities, also a concise compliation of conveners' and officers' work for the association for the year. Presiaent, Mrs. A. E. Parker presided.

A summary of the convention of the Federation of Home and School was read by delegate Mrs. J. Wishart.

Report of the nominating committee was given by Mrs. J. Morley. The following officers were elected by acclamation: Mrs. A. E. Parker, president; Mrs. V. Ridley and Mrs. L. Martin, vice presidents; Mrs. P. Butler, recording secretary; Mrs. H. Ferguson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. Turner, treasurer; executive members, Mrs. S. Adamson, Mrs. C. Huffman, Mrs. A. MacGregor, Mrs. J. McNeill, Mrs. A. Poolman.

The officers were installed by past president Mrs. A. E. Baggs.

A Grade VI classroom choir which recently competed in the Kiwanis Festival greatly delighted the audience with several well rendered choral selections. The choir was under the direction of Miss Marjorie Oliver, with Miss Musa Cox at the piano. A corsage was presented to Miss Oliver as token of appreciation of the association.

Another feature of the evening was a showing of the colour film "Wings Over Ireland."

Mrs. H. Northrop thanked the out going executive also Miss Oliver, Miss Cox and the choir.

Attendance prize was won by Miss Oliver's Grade VI class.

A social half hour followed the adjournment with Mrs. W. Pakenham and her social committee in charge.

DOROTHY DIX

Suitor Believes Girl Should Propose

DEAR MISS DIX: My mother died when I was quite young and, since I was the oldest girl, I took over. Our family life was always very happy and to this day. We stopped to chat for close to each other. When I was 20, my 16-year-old sister had a boy friend to whom I was very attracted. Naturally, no one knew of my attachment. My sister didn't really care too much for him and, as 16-year-old hearts do, hers soon wandered off to someone else The young man didn't come near us any more, and I didn't see him for about four years. I met him casually one day. We stopped to chat for quite a while and he asked me for a date. Needless to say I was in seventh heaven. We've gone together now for two years, get along fine, but the trouble is he has never said he loved me, or mentioned marriage. He has told me, however, that he considers all women fickle and, if he ever marries, the girl will have to do the proposing. Should I risk the initiative?

Marilyn

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Nothing ventured, nothing gained! If you take the initiative, as he indicated you must, you'll know at least exactly where you stand, which will be some satisfaction.

A DIFFIDENT SOUL?

The man is doubtless a diffident soul whose small stock of self-confidence has already been thoroughly shattered by the shifting of feminine fancy. Afraid to face another rebuff, he's taken refuge in the universal game of "passing the buck." Bring him around to the point again, then say something like this: "Well, Bill, if that's the case, I'll do the proposing; will you marry me?" Or, "What would you say if I proposed to you?" If his reaction indicates that he actually has no intention of marrying anyone, at least you have put all doubt to rest. If you want to continue as friends, your "proposal" can always be cast off as a joke—a sad one for you, but one that served its purpose. However, I do really think he'll accept you with fervor, and be forever grateful that you saved him from another possible rejection.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS RIX: To what extent do you think mothers should run theeir daughter's lives? I know my mother thinks she's acting for the best, but she's been nagging me to get married since I was 17. I'm 20 now, have a very interesting and well-paid position, good friends, and enjoy living. I'm willing to wait awhile for marriage.

Pat W.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your mother just can't understand why a young girl should prefer, even temporarily, the excitement of a business world to the secure happiness of married life. Since you would be most foolish to propel yourself into just any marriage to please her, she'll just have to wait patiently until wol decide for yourself.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm engaged to a boy in the service. He comes home every week end and we plan to marry in September. My difficulty is his mother. I like his family, and get along with his mother, but I don't think she's being fair. When he's home on a week end, she is continually waiting on him and wants to be the only one to do things for him. She's very nice to me except that she doesn't pay much attention to me wnen my fiance's around.

Shirley

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Considering the fact that you'll have the young man to yourself in a few months, and will be first in his life from then on, can't you share him more generously now? A more understanding attitude on your part now may be the deciding factor concerning your happy in-law relationship after marriage. The boy's mother loves him, too, and she has but a few months to give attention. Let her enjoy that period.

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber (Mother of 5)

One of the nicest things about babies is that it really doesn't cost a lot to amuse them. A couple of gaily-colored balloons, tied to crib or playpen, will keep a wee one quietly enchanted with colorful movement. The spinning beauty of a pinwheel, attached to the foot of baby's carriage, is fascinating. Spools, strung on a shoe string, make a happy clacking toy. And sets of plastic measuring spoons can really be a joy.

• • •

Grins galore . . . that's usually the score at baby's mealtime when you serve Gerber's Strained Foods. For they have the special, smooth texture that feels good on baby's tongue. (Little ones frown on coarse food, you know.) Add to this appealing true flavors and appetizing true colors, and you have the makings of mighty fine baby fare. Gerber's Strained Foods are processed for high retention of the wholesome food values baby needs.

• • •

Good "hoarding" plan. Don't toss out wide-mouth, screw-top jars. They're wonderful for cotton, safety pins, etc. Swell for sterilizing nipples, too—just punch holes in top and pop into sterilizer upside down.

• • •

More "specials" for baby. Gerber's now offer 6 Strained Meats and 3 Junior Meats for your growing tot. These protein-rich meats are made from selected cuts . . . easy as milk to digest. Another wonderful newcomer for baby . . . Gerber's Strained Egg Yolks. Ready to serve "as is" or added to milk or formula.

• • •

Baby Spoon offer! This heavy silver plated Baby Spoon in famous Winthrop design (regular value $1.25) is yours for only 25c plus one box top from any of the five famous Gerber Baby Cereals. Just send to: Mrs. Dan Gerber, Box 17, Toronto 18, Canada.

Hospital Drive Nets $1,575 In Bancroft

BANCROFT (ENS)—The outpost hospital fund drive collected a total of $1,575, an amount more than doubling the objective, and equalled by only three other districts in the province.

The annual report showed a total deficit of $7,997.28, to be paid by the Ontario Red Cross division.

Total revenue for the year included $16,863.50 for patients' fees, $10,823.69 as a provincial grant, $5,408.92 for special services, provision for bad debts, $2,327.92 (an amount which board member E. G. Thomas thought quite high, and to which headnurse, Sigrid Laine retorted, "You should see the ledger"), and, local branch contribution, $1,746.36.

Annual expenditures, including $23,041.40 for salaries and wages, and $4,595.79 for food and other items totalling $41,917.29 less charges for staff room and board of $1,405.46. The net expenditures of $40,511.83 required a grant from the Ontario Red Cross division of $7,997.28, in addition to other revenue, to strike a balance with the revenue.

The board decided to have the hospital grounds turfed under the direction of E. G. Thomas and Bert Griggs. Mrs. W. L. Martin and Mrs. Jack Brown are to direct the planting of decorative flowers and shrubs, and Mrs. O. W. Anderson and Mrs. F. Hibbard will provide suitable trees for the landscape.

The board decided that the recent slight flooding of the hospital cellar was due to abnormal weather conditions and no further action was necessary.

Touring Reds Watch Tongues In Interviews

By DAVE STOCKAND
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP) — Outside the Iron Curtain the dancing Russian bear moves light of foot.

There is no parroting of hammer-and-sickle slogans by the six Soviet concert artists now on a Canadian road show. Nothing is said that could help create ill feeling here — or get them into trouble at home.

Leonid Kogan, a virtuoso with a state-owned violin, was asked if Russian and Canadian audiences behaved differently. He answered "I don't like comparisons."

His fellow artists, two ballet dancers, a pianist, a soprano and a tenor, feel the same way, or say they do.

Everything about Canada is "charasho"—very nice. Then they add that everything back in Russia is just as "charasho."

The general Canadian response has been a hot box office and cool politeness. The clothes the Russians wear, shoddy is the most common description, have come in for more criticism than the people wearing them.

But the welcome hasn't been open-armed. The stars of the Soviet concert stage had to settle with a high school auditorium in Fort William because the sponsoring Canadian-Soviet Friendship Society had difficulty renting a hall.

The strongest words were prompted by a statement by the one Canadian on the tour. Manager John Boyd of Toronto said the Russians wouldn't perform in Quebec because the owners of halls there are afraid of what Premier Duplessis would do if the Soviet artists appeared in them.

Asked to comment, the Quebec premier said: "It is dirty Communist propaganda as usual."

The entertainers arrived in Canada April 15 and will return in mid-May. Everywhere they have appeared there have been capacity audiences; Toronto Vancouver, Edmonton, Saskatoon and Winnipeg.

And the Russians, at least, don't believe curiosity is the big drawing card. Said Kogan: "I find Canadians interesting and clever regardless of political interests. They attend our concerts because they are interested in music."

Curiosity would be a good explanation for the crowd turnouts. Seldom have the Reds sent their concert performers to the Western Hemisphere. For a post-war precedent you have to go back to 1946, when baritone Ivan Patorzhensky and soprano Zoya Haidai played a limited Canadian engagement.

Besides Kogan the program offers ballerina Sophia Golovkina, soprano Elizabeta Chavdad, ballet soloist Leonid Zhdanov, tenor Arturs Frindbergs and pianist Pavel Serebryakov.

All interviews are carried on through an interpreter from the tour's non-artistic side, which includes an attache from the Russian embassy in Ottawa, a professor who looks after such things as program adjustments and a staff writer for the Moscow fortnightly "News."

The violinist boasted to reporters that the Soviet Union financed every part of his violin training—"they even bought me the violin I am playing on now—a 1730 Stradivarius."

The group's final show will be a special performance in Ottawa May 3 for diplomats and attaches.

British NATO Pilot Dies In Jet Crash

GIMLI, Man. (CP) — A British NATO student pilot was killed Tuesday in the crash of a Silver Star jet while on a routine training flight, the RCAF reported today.

The plane crashed near Alonsa, Man., on the west shore of Lake Manitoba, after taking off from this RCAF station.

Name of the pilot was withheld pending notification of next-of-kin.

14 Fish Found In Car Trunk, Fine Absent Man

Because you leave your car parked for an hour or so with the trunk open, someone puts a sack of out-of-season fish in the trunk, and the police find them, doesn't prove that you broke the law in any way. Such was the defence in a charge under the Ontario game fish act heard in magistrate's court Tuesday.

Herman Taylor told Magistrate W. R. Philp in police court, Tuesday, that he had worked on his car all day April 3, and about 5:30 p.m., friends of his at Curve lake, Leonard Taylor, Robert Jacobs and Gale Knott had called on him, and the quartet had driven into Peterborough in his car.

"We came in to play pool, or go to a show, maybe," said Herman Taylor.

About an hour after entering the pool hall, he came out with his friends and PC's W. A. Scott and Arthur Beardsmore met him and asked him to open the trunk of his car. A sack was taken out which contained one muskelunge, twelve black bass and one pickerel.

Herman Taylor said he had no knowledge of the fish until they were shown him by the police officers.

"Did you know what was in the sack before it was opened?" asked crown attorney John A Bradshaw.

"No," replied Herman.

"Couldn't you smell anything?"

"The fish were fresh as I understand it," snapped defence counsel W. J. Arthur Fair.

ASKED FOR KEYS

Although PC Beardsmore testified that he asked Herman Taylor for the keys to open the trunk, Taylor denied that the trunk was locked and in cross examination stated that anyone could have placed the fish in the trunk without his knowledge.

Pleas of not guilty were entered by the two Taylors and Jacobs, but the fourth party, Gale Knott, who was to act as a witness in the case, was found to be absent from the courtroom. After a lively discussion involving Mr. Bradshaw, Magistrate Philp and Mr. Fair, it was learned that Knott had not been subpoenaed, but was being represented by Mr. Fair.

The case was remanded until May 4 to allow time for Knott to be subpeonaed as witness. Then Mr. Fair immediately entered a plea of guilty for the absent Mr. Knott.

"That's the most substantial piece of evidence entered in this case so far," said Magistrate Philp.

Knott was convicted and fined $50 and $2.50 costs.

Careless Driving Results $10 Fine

Leon Blodgett, 18, of 517 McKellar St., was convicted of driving without reasonable consideration, and fined $10 and $2.50 costs, by Magistrate W. R. Philp, Tuesday.

The conviction was the result of an accident on highway 7, early March 14, when Blodgett's car bumped into the rear of another car driven by Robert Payne. As the accident occurred on the highway near the McGinness' trailer company, defense counsel Gordon Farquharson questioned whether or not it should have been investigated by the OPP or city police. As it was the OPP did investigate and the court's opinion was that they were the proper authority.

Both cars were travelling west on the highway with the Payne car in the lead. It slowed almost to a stop waiting for an oncoming car to pass. Payne said he was turning to the right off the highway when bumped by the Blodgett car. Blodgett said he did not see any brake lights, and, when he finally noticed the car stopped, he applied his brakes but the snowy surface of the road made it impossible to stop in time.

Another charge against Payne was dropped for lack of evidence.

Tito Envoys To Albania

BELGRADE (AP) — Yugoslav diplomats have left Belgrade for Tirana, Albania, to reopen a legation in the Albanian capital. It was closed after Yugoslavia broke with the Cominform in 1948. Yugoslavia's decision to reopen its legation in Soviet-dominated Albania followed Russia's resumption of normal relations with Belgrade last June.

Naval Ass'n To Get Charter

The Peterborough Naval Association will receive their provincial charter at a ceremony in the Legion hall, Saturday, May 8.

The charter, approving them as an association, will be presented by Harold Bailey, president of the Toronto Naval Club.

Some 60 naval veterans and members of the wartime merchant marine make up the membership of the seven-year-old naval association. The president is Bob Graham.

New Middle Class

An article in the Soviet constitution safeguards each citizen's right to "own personal property." There is a subtle difference between "personal," and "private" property. Hence an individual may own the home, but the state retains title to the land on which the home is built. An individual may own the furniture in his home but not the means of producing it.

The constitution also guarantees the right to bequeath one's personal possessions to the inheritors of one's choice.

These are not new clauses in the constitution but they become more important as goods become available and the Russian people can acquire valuable belongings.

Hangman Behind Bars

NOTTINGHAM, England (CP)—Sydney Dernley, 33-year-old assistant public hangman, Tuesday was sentenced to six months in jail for publishing and circulating obscene books and photographs. Dernley appeared on nine charges of publishing an obscene book called "The Fruits of Bondage."

Hold Airman

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Police shot out a tire of an allegedly stolen car early today after a 50-mile-an-hour chase the wrong way along a one-way street. Arrested was AC1 James Ronald McBain, 20, from RCAF station, Aylmer. Police said he will be taken to St. Thomas to face a charge of car theft.

How long should pie crust be mixed?

It's an art, really, to make good pie crust. Everything must be done just right, or the final result will be disappointing.

Take the mixing, for instance. If the shortening is cut into the dry ingredients correctly, you'll have a pebbly-textured mixture in the bowl . . . pieces of shortening of various sizes right down to the tiniest particle, entirely coated in flour. Over-mixing breaks down the shortening too much, and the pastry will turn out close-grained, not so light and flaky as you hoped.

Have a look at the way we mix Shirriff's Pie Crust. You'll see that it is made just the way the best home made kind is. It took us months of experimenting to achieve the perfect texture, and in fact, we had to invent special equipment to do it! We are proud of our pie crust mix, and sincerely hope you'll try it. It is crisp and rich, with a fine wholesome flavour. We don't claim it is better than the best home made kind, but we do think you'll say it's every bit as good!

Sun Fuels This Furnace

THE PHOTO-DIAGRAM above shows a furnace. Yep—that's right—a furnace. And its fuel doesn't cost a red cent. It comes from a 10,000-degree (F.) heat source—the sun. Largest solar furnace in the country, it is being used at Convair's San Diego division to study metals and ceramic materials. Basic part is the polished aluminum mirror. This collects the sun's rays and reflects them to a focal point, forming a 5/16th-inch image of the sun. Materials being tested are held by metal jaws against this point. The intense heat there melts a steel bolt in seconds. When sky conditions are ideal, the furnace can develop a temperature of 8,500 dgrees (F.). That's about 85 per cent of the temperature of the sun's surface. An oxyacetylene torch produces about 5,800 degrees. Advantages of a solar furnace for research are that heating is accomplished under very pure conditions and in an oxydizing atmosphere. There is no interference from electric or magnetic fields or from gases. Using the solar furnace principle, you can light a cigarette with the sun's rays. Insert the cigarette in an ordinary flashlight reflector (photo at right) and point it at the sun.

Bill To Aid Wool Passes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Tuesday passed a bill providing for government payments to encourage domestic wool production, but refused to tack on to it an amendment to support major crops at 90 per cent of parity for another year.

Both votes were victories for the Eisenhower administration.

The wool program, approved 69 to 17, had full administration support. But Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson wants a lower, more flexible system of farm crop supports after the present law expires at the end of the year.

Under the wool bill, domestic growers would sell their wool for whatever the market would bring. The agriculture secretary then could make special incentive or production payments to expand wool production and increase the income of the growers.

These payments would be made from 70 per cent of the duties collected on foreign wool imports, making about $30,000,000 a year available for the program.

The measure now goes to the House of Representatives here its fate is uncertain.

Succession Of Deficits Causes U.S. Worry

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) — The Eisenhower administration is faced with anguished cries that a succession of budgetary deficits will lead the country to ruin. But try as policy-makers will to erase them, the deficits continue.

The excess of government spending over tax receipts has been estimated at $3,300,000,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30 next, but officials say the actual red-ink balance may rise to $4,000,000,000.

The rise will depend largely on American farmers. Under government price-support programs, they have borrowed about $860,000,000 on last year's wheat. The government-guaranteed bank loans become due May 1 and farmers can either pay the loans and get back their wheat or let the government pay and take the wheat.

TAKE LATTER COURSE

The budgetary experts feel most farmers will take the latter course, causing another run on the federal treasury and a pile-up of more wheat in government storage.

"We're concerned with this deficit all right," said one authority, "but we don't think we are on the brink of disaster as some have suggested."

Most outspoken critic has been former president Herbert Hoover who warned that the U.S. may be courting economic disaster unless it curbs spending and balances the budget.

RELIEF PROMISED
For Arthritic and Rheumatic Pain
New relief without pills by greaseless, odourless, stainless cream.

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—Discovery of an entirely new method of relieving pain has been announced here. Science has now developed a cream that acts in a new way to bring relief from arthritic, rheumatic and muscular aches and pains. Sold under the brand name "InfraRUB", this new odourless and greaseless cream relieves these pains without the need of pills and other internal medicines.

InfraRUB does not merely set up a surface irritation but penetrates deep down into sore muscles and joints. This permits fresh oxygen-rich blood to flow freely through afflicted areas and actually helps drive away the pain-causing congestion and pressure.

Another feature of InfraRUB that appeals to so many people is its ease of application. No long and painful rubbing is necessary as InfraRUB penetrates in a few seconds and vanishes with a moment's light massage.

InfraRUB leaves no oily film or pungent objectionable odour on the skin. Users find they are able to put on clothing in complete safety immediately after application.

Written medical reports on the success of this new help for patients suffering from rheumatic and arthritic pains and general muscular aches and pains have been prepared, based on hundreds of cases in British and French hospitals. InfraRUB users claim almost immediate relief from rheumatic and arthritic pains, sore muscles and joints.

Now for the first time, InfraRUB can be obtained without a prescription from your local drug store for only $1.39. InfraRUB is guaranteed to give hours and hours of comforting relief from arthritic, rheumatic and muscular aches and pains or your money will be refunded in full.

Chinese Communist Regime Restricts Selling Of Rice

BY O. M. GREEN

LONDON (OFNS)—The Chinese Communist regime, carried to power by peasant armies, is moving towards a serious collision with the countryman for the first time.

The conflict is not, in the main, over collectivization, which is being started cautiously and by easy stages. It centres around the state monopoly of grain purchase which was decreed last November, came into force on Jan. 1, and is now becoming the subject of public explanation for the first time.

The purpose of the monopoly is to give the state power to tell the peasant which part of his grain is "surplus" to his own requirements and has to be delivered to the state at the fixed price. On the Russian model, this is now considered indispensable for financing the industrialization plans and to get the supplies needed both for the cities and for export.

It means that not only for the urban traders and small businessmen, but for the vast bulk of the Chinese peasant population, the period of comparative harmonious reconstruction which followed the civil war is over and that China is about to be propelled into a Stalinist "iron age."

NO QUESTIONING

Until this year merchants were still allowed to compete with the state for the purchase of surplus grain and were preferred by the peasants since there could be no compulsory inquisition, as there is by the state, of how much rice the farmers actually held.

The abolution of all private purchase was decided on by the state administrative council last November concurrently with the decision for state ownership of all industry, agriculture and commerce, and as an easy step to the collectivization of the land. The latter can be realized only slowly, through the gradual enrolment of all farmers in cooperative groups and state farms. Monopolizing of all dealings in grain can be enforced at the word of command, as it has been.

Details of the council's decree were published only at the beginning of March. All private sale and purchase of grain is forbidden, though some merchants will act as agents for the government. All rice mills are taken over and rationing is enforced in cities, hotels, ships and trains. The government will ensure supplies not only to big cities but to small country towns. In other words, it makes it self solely responsible for the handling of all food between producer and consumer.

In view of the large increase of the population and of the land devoted to cash crops and animal husbandry, the government is thus directly responsible for the feeding of 200,000,000 townsmen and another 100,00,000 countrymen.

The enormous problem is aggravated by the recurrence of famine, admitted by the "People's Daily" to be afflicting 100,000,000 people, and by the flight of peasants to the towns which the ministries of labor and interior are frantically trying to stop.

An urgent call has been made this month by the committee on political and legal affairs for action against those who sabotage the government's economic policy. Merchants peasants and grain dealers are lumped together as offenders.

In the metropolitan province of Hopei alone 75 "big profiteering merchants" have been exposed for speculating in rice, some executed and others imprisoned. Other districts are mentioned as showing "a high percentage" of lawless food dealers dealt with by the people's courts.

The "People's Daily" reports numerous instances of "shameless rice-hoarding" by peasants, and attacks the common tendency of farmers to sell just a little rice from time to time to meet their immediate needs.

The "People's Daily" admits that it is impossible as yet to build the required number of weather-proof granaries, and some wealthier peasants have been ordered to safeguard the rice against damp, rats and weevils by storing it in their own houses. Many complaints are heard from Shanghai of the dirtiness and poor quality of the rice doled out.

"Best Medicine I Ever Used," Says This Man In Praising Syntona

Relieved Gas, Indigestion, Heartburn. Also, Headache, Nervousness and Constipation. "Will Gladly Recommend it."

At a time of life when they were not feeling well Thousands of men and women right in this city and vicinity have used Syntona with highly satisfying results. Many of these people suffering from disorders of stomach, kidneys, liver or bowels and the associated symptoms such as nervousness, wornout feeling, headaches, backache and rheumatic pains say Syntona is the best medicine they ever used.

A GOOD EXAMPLE

"I never had anything before to help me as much as Syntona did," said Mr. C. Dawson, 90 Arnold Street, Chatham, Ontario in a recent interview.

"I was troubled for about a year with gassy, sour, upset stomach, I would get heartburn, indigestion and a full, heavy feeling in my stomach. Along with this I was subject to headaches and backache and my nerves were all on edge, so I didn't sleep well.

"Syntona has helped me so much that I will certainly recommend it to anyone now suffering like this. I eat better, am free of headaches, backache and nervousness and stomach disorders are relieved."

WHAT IT IS

Syntona is made entirely from herbs and roots which are so well combined and flavored that just about everyone likes it. It usually gives very quick relief from troubles such as those which Mr. Dawson tells about. So, if you are troubled this way, or need a good Herbal Tonic to help you to feel better, try Syntona today. The chances are it may prove to be just what you need.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough by Elliott's Drug Store. (advt.)

Truce For Wounded Collapses In Soviet-French Row

By EDDY GILMORE

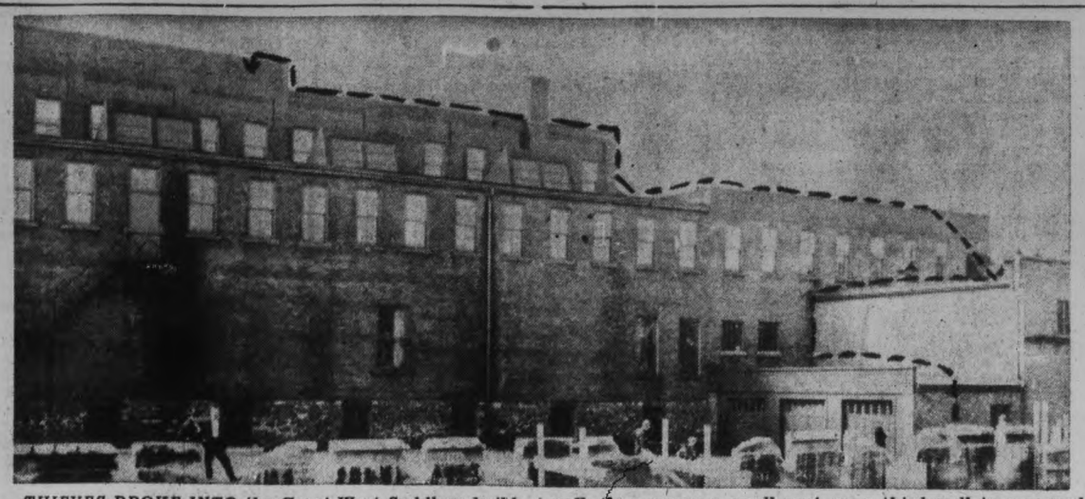
GENEVA (AP) — External Affairs Minister Richard Casey of Australia told the Geneva conference today that United Nations forces may have to remain in Korea until that divided peninsula has been united under a democratic government.

Casey's declaration to the 19-nation conference preceded a speech on Korea by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov, his first since the parley opened Monday.

Outside the conference hall, a French source reported talks between Russia and France for a truce at Dien Bien Phu to permit evacuation of French Union wounded have virtually collapsed.

TRUCE QUESTION

Informants said Molotov and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault exchanged heated words at a dinner Wednesday night, with the Soviet diplomat expressing surprise that Bidault had injected the truce question into a discussion of what parties should participate in settlement of the Indo-Chinese question.



Bidault replied that he was just as surprised that the Russians had violated confidences by making public Bidault's request without notifying the French beforehand. Molotov said he did so to counteract what he called tendentious articles in the world press. The Russians repeated that an Indo-China truce should be arranged at Geneva; the French said it should be done by field commanders in Indo-China; neither side would budge and there the matter rests, with no further meetings on schedule.

BITTER DEMONSTRATIONS

The Australian diplomat said the dangers of an "over-hasty withdrawal" from Korea "have been all too bitterly demonstrated." He added that "the heavy sacrifices that this has involved must surely preclude the United Nations from agreeing to withdrawals before United Nations interests and objectives are properly safeguarded."

"It may be," Casey declared, "that some United Nations forces

THIEVES BROKE INTO the Great West Saddlery building sometime Wednesday night and stole about $500 worth of watches, pen and pencil sets, and other articles. Entry was made by climbing a small wall, near the old Loblaw store, (following the dotted line, above), climbing another wall, then across a small roof, up a third wall to a second storey rear roof, across the roof to a fourth wall and then up to the top storey. Once on the top roof they apparently went through an open skylight. They left through a downstairs side entrance. (Examiner Staff Photo)

Burglars Take $500 Loot On George St.

Burglars broke into the Great West Saddlery on George St. on Wednesday night. The light-fingered thugs, as yet unknown to city police, must have been acrobats. To gain admittance to the factory-warehouse they had to do some remarkable climbing.

The break-in and robbery was discovered when employees arrived for work today. It is thought the thieves made off with about $500 worth of watches, pen and pencil sets and possibly some dry goods.

As far as city detective John Stevenson could ascertain, the burglars climbed onto the roof of an adjoining garage and from there somehow got up onto a second storey roof. Then they scaled a ramp to get onto the roof of the main building.

DROP 15 FEET

The rest was comparatively easy. The centre skylight covering was unlatched and merely needed to be lifted up. The thieves pushed down an inner wooden covering and then were able to make the 15 foot drop to the floor.

Having gotten their loot, they went downstairs and gained access to the street from a ground floor door, which they carefully closed behind them.

Report Highlights

OTTAWA (CP)—Highlights of the Kellock conciliation board on railway labor demands:

Three board members filed individual reports.

All recommended rejection of 18 days a year sick leave with pay.

All recommended rejection of additional overtime pay for Sunday work.

Two recommended different degrees of partial acceptance of demand for eight annual paid holidays.

Two recommended partial acceptance of extension of vacation with pay.

Company nominee recommended outright rejection of all demands.

WESTON, Mass. (AP)—The Boston College seismograph station today reported two "very strong" earthquakes, possibly in California.

PM Urges Help For Asia

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent says there is no "short and easy way" to keep peace in the world. He said Wednesday night the western world must continue to build up its strength to deter aggression and tarn with generosity and understanding to 445,000,000 people in southern Asia struggling to improve their conditions. Unless security is world-wide, "we are not apt to have it for ourselves", he told The Canadian Press annual meeting dinner.

"I am convinced we must in a true spirit of equality and co-operation join in a world-wide concerted effort to help the peoples of Asia obtain greater material advantages and the hope of a better future for themselves."

The prime minister devoted most of his 3,000-word address to the problems of southern Asia where he spent 2½ weeks on his recent 26,000-mile world tour.

His audience of more than 300 represented the newspaper, radio and publishing fields. R. J. Rankin, new president of The Canadian Press, introduced the prime minister who was thanked by Walter A. MacDonald, president of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association.

GOODWILL FOR CANADA

He said his tour demonstrated there is an "abundance of goodwill" for Canada which has a special opportunity to help in the problem of achieving understanding between eastern and western peoples.

"It is important for us to realize" said Mr. St. Laurent, "that the peoples of southern Asia, because they have had so little direct experience of Russian imperialism, Communist or otherwise, are not inoculated as we are against the false ideals and illusory promises of Communist propaganda.

Blame Triple Shooting On Worker's Wine Drinking

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—A man killed a woman police called his comon-law wife and another man, then took his own life Wednesday night in a triple shooting affray believed to have climaxed a wine-drinking party.

Police said Joseph Zimmer, 53-year-old former foundry worker, shot Mrs. Elsie Zimmer, 45, and Angus Hrenchuk, about 38, with a rifle as they sat in his three-room shack in the west fort section on the outskirts of the city.

Then, police said, he shot himself through the neck with a 16-gauge shotgun after telling a friend to get out of the house.

Neighbors suggested Zimmer had become jealous of Hrenchuk's attention to the woman.

TOLD TO GET OUT

Paul (Blackie) Lazaruk, 45, who called police, said he had been drinking with the trio and was asleep in a bedroom when the two rifle shots rang out.

Lazaruk said he stepped out of the bedroom and met Zimmer, who had a gun in his hands.

"Forget what you see and get out of here," Zimmer advised him.

Lazaruk said he did as he was told.

Chief constable W. S. Brown of Fort William said in a statement the police were called to the dwelling at about 7:55 p. m. They found Zimmer, who is believed to have a son in Kenora, dead in a pool of blood on the kitchen floor with his shotgun lying beside him.

SCENE DESCRIBED

In the opposite corner of the kitchen lay the body of Hrenchuk with a bullet hole below the heart. A rifle bullet mark on the wall suggested he had been sitting in a chair when he was shot, the chief said.

"The body of Mrs. Alice Zimmer, common-law wife of Joe, was found lying face down between the chesterfield and the table in the living room. A gunshot wound was visible in her abdomen. A hole in the back of a chair against the north window of the living room would indicate she had been sitting in a chair and lunged after being shot with a rifle.

"It would appear from the position of the two bodies that Hrenchuk was shot first, then Mrs. Zimmer.

President Says Curbs Difficult

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today his flexibility in handling the Indo-Chinese problem would be hampered by any requirement that he get approval from Congress before sending troops there.

At the same time, Eisenhower told a press conference, the United States will not become involved in war except by constitutional processes. And he noted that constitution says only Congress can declare war.

Several members of Congress have outspoken against any idea of sending U.S. forces to help the French fight in Indo-China.

AMENDMENT PROPOSED

Representative Frederic Caudert (Rep. N.Y.) has proposed an amendment to the defence department appropriation bill which would prohibit the use of any of its funds to send U.S. troops into combat without congressional approval, except to uphold treaty obligations or in self-defence.

This amendment, if adopted, would have the force of law; also Representative John Bennett (Rep. Mich.) prepared for introduction a resolution which would advise the president that Congress opposes sending troops to Indo-China without prior approval by Congress.

Eisenhower said Coudert amendment could not fail to damage the president's flexibility.

He said, however, the government will go only so far as Congress has authorized in providing aid in Indo-China.

Rival Powers Still Far Apart

By ALAN HARVEY

GENEVA (CP) — Judging from speeches made Wednesday at the Geneva conference, it would appear that the rival powers are farther apart than ever on the future of Korea.

The two speakers were State Secretary John Foster Dulles of the United States and Communist China's premier and foreign minister Chou En-lai, making his first address at an international political conference.

The views they set out appeared to take both sides back approximately to the positions they held before fighting started in the summer of 1950. In the words of one Western delegate, it was hardly apparent from the speeches that a war had been fought at all.

The main points of conflict concern supervision of elections, withdrawal of foreign troops and the methods of unifying Korea.

Among other things, China is asking for a joint all-Korean commission, which might amount to a kind of coalition government, before elections take place. The Chinese also would have the elections take place without any outside "interference," which the West would call supervision.

This takes the Communist stand on Korea pretty well back to that outlined by the North Korean Constituent Assembly in June, 1950.

Seaway Law Goes For Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rules committee of the House of Representatives today sent the Senate-approved St. Lawrence seaway legislation to the House floor for a vote.

The House leadership, without making a formal commitment, indicated it hoped to bring the bill up promptly—perhaps by Tuesday or Wednesday.

The St. Lawrence proposal, before Congress for more than 20 years, is strongly supported by President Eisenhower.

The 12-member rules committee in sending the bill to the House directed that it be open to amendment. It set four hours as the limit of debate. Under that procedure the measure could be disposed of in one day.

The committee vote was unofficially reported as 7-5.

Chivalry Not Dead

DETROIT (AP)—The age of chilvalry is not dead—it just has strange manifestations. A suburban St. Clair Shores housewife was bleaching her hair Wednesday. She didn't know the city was repairing a water main and had shut the water off. Mayor Thomas S. Welsh got a frantic phone call: "Turn the water on or my hair will be gone in two hours." The mayor got the picture. He dispatched patrolman William Vaughn to the woman's house with a five gallon can of water. Vaughn took charge and rinsed the hair. The lady was bleached, but saved.

Auto Hurtles 105 Feet Onto Stones

Smash Through Gates On Span Of Roosevelt Bridge

CORNWALL (CP)—A man and a woman from Massena, N.Y., were killed early today when an automobile in which they were bound for Canada crashed through gates of the swing span of the Roosevelt international bridge and hurtled 105 feet onto stones on the bank of the Cornwall canal.

Police identified the victims as John Joseph Almond, 30, and Mrs. Shirley Tagge, 19.

They said Almond worked for the Aluminum Company of America. His widow and three young children live in Massena, 13 miles southwest of Cornwall.

Mrs. Tagge's husband is in the United States army, police said. She leaves one child.

MISSED WARNING LIGHTS

The accident occurred at 2:15 a.m. in clear weather. Bridge operator Clifford Hollister, 34, of Aultsville, Ont., had swung the span over to let the small pulp carrier Mount St. Mary pass westbound through the canal.

Hollister said that while he was standing on the span and peering down to record the name of the vessel, he heard a screech of brakes and a crash as the car hit the gates after the driver apparently missed the warning lights.

The car, which had cleared Canadian customs and was on its way into Canada, skidded 100 feet on the wooden planking leading to the barrier, smashed through the gate, then travelled another 30 feet on the bridge, police said. It dropped 105 feet straight down and landed on its roof on flat rocks arranged like huge flagstones along the canal bank. Then it burst into flames.

Cornwall firemen sped to the bridge on the city's western outskirts, and put out the fire.

CAR FLATTENED

Witnesses said the 1947-model car was pancaked to about two feet in height. Rescuers directed by police used acetylene torches for about two hours to remove the bodies.

Immediately after the crash, the bridge operator swung the span back into place and ran with his lantern to flag down another car approaching from the U. S. side.

Bridge officials said the red warning lights were in operation. Traffic lights at each end of the span automatically turn red when the bridge is swung.

The Roosevelt international bridge spans the Cornwall ship canal and the St. Lawrence river from Cornwall to Rooseveltown, N. Y. The section in which the swing span is located stretches from the Canadian mainland to Corwall Island.

Circumstaces of the crash were almost identical with one in 1938. A car carrying two men from Maxville, Ont. and two girls from Alexandria crashed through the gates and landed at practically the same spot as did the Massena car today.

Army Shortage Of $15,000

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Shortages in equipment at Ipperwash army camp—involving a reported $15,000 — were disclosed Wednesday when Brig. T. G. Gibson, western Ontario area army commander, said the losses have been reduced to a nominal sum.

Most of the missing goods were personal items of clothing issued to the 2nd Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles, under a new system of bookkeeping, Brig. Gibson said. The battalion now is in Korea.

Brig. Gibson said he is sure much of the material is missing only on the books and is in use in Korea. He said the exact amount of the loss could not be established until an audit is completed.

Meanwhile, town officials at Thedford, 35 miles north of here and near the big camp, said the RCMP has been investigating in the area. Unconfirmed reports from citizens said police took army boots off the feet of some civilians and army sheets from their beds.

Russians Leaving

PERTH, Australia (Reuters)—Two chartered planes carrying 50 Russian men, women and children who have been ordered to leave Australia arrived here today. They came non-stop from Canberra and will proceed to the nearby port of Fremantle by road. There they will board the liner New Australia for Europe.

Conciliation Board Rejects 2 of 4 Union Demands

OTTAWA (CP)—The Kellock conciliation board on rail labor today turned down some employee demands and made varying recommendations on others.

In separate reports, the three board members were unanimous in rejecting two of the four proposals of non-operating employees.

On the other two points, two members recommended differing degrees of partial acceptance while the third reported against them.

No two board members get together in a majority report.

On two of the demands, the partial acceptance was recommended individually by Mr. Justice R. L. Kelloch, chairman, and A. J. Wickens of Moose Jaw, Sask., employee nominee on the board.

M. M. Porter of Calgary, company nominee, recommended an outright turndown of all demands.

BOARD LINEUP

On the four requests of the 145,000 non-operating workers, here was the board lineup:

1. All three recommended against the big item in terms of money—18 days sick leave with pay. The companies claimed this would cost them $30,700,000 a year, or more than half their estimated total cost of all demands.

2. All recommended against higher penalty overtime pay for Sunday work.

3. Mr. Justice Kellock recommended three statutory holidays with pay per year, against eight sought by the unions. Mr. Wickens favored seven.

4. Mr. Justice Kellock recommended three weeks paid vacations per year after 25 years' service. Mr. Wickens recommended three weeks after 15 years. The maximum now is two weeks, and the employees asked three weeks after 15 years and four weeks after 25 years. Mr. Wickens rejected the four-week proposal.

BULLETIN

OTTAWA (CP)—The Emergency Powers Act will not be extended beyond its expiray date of May 31, Prime Minister St. Laurent announced today.

GENEVA (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov told the Geneva conference today he agrees entirely with the Asia-for-Asians declaration of Chinese Communist Foreign Minister Chou En-lai. Molotov, in his first policy speech before the 19-nation conference said a peaceful solution of the Korean problem can be found if the delegates proceed "from the principle that the peoples of Asia have the full right to settle their affairs themselves. Other states, the participants of the Geneva conference," he said, "are called upon to assist the Asian peoples in this respect by their friendly efforts."

Ontario Refuses To Join New Defence Plan

TORONTO (CP) — Provincial Secretary Arthur Welsh said Wednesday night Ontario does not intend at this time to join or participate in any new federal system to finance civil defence work in municipalities.

He said there has been no general agreement on a new system whereby the federal government would give direct assistance to municipalities.

Health Minister Martin said in the Commons Wednesday that he will announce later the terms of a federal-provincial agreement on financing civil defence in Canada. He said general agreement on a new financial formula was reached at a recent federal-provincial conference.

DIDN'T AGREE

Col. Welsh commented:

"Ontario and Quebec definitely did not agree to the proposal. We told the federal officials we were not interested in the scheme. We do not intend to saddle our municipalities with all kinds of new expenditures."

He added that Ontario will not enter into any such financial scheme until the province has completed its project of converting fire hose connections. The project, to be finished sometime this year, will cost more than $1,000,000.

Ground Fighting Lull Continues

HANOI (Reuters)—Thick clouds today stopped French planes from flying over the rebel-encircled Indo-China fortress of Dien Bien Phu.

A lull continued in the ground fighting there, except for shelling from the guns of the 40,000 Vietminh rebels surroundig the fortress.

Meawhile, it was learned that the growing rebel menace throughout the Red river delta has pinned all 10 American members of the United States technical aid mission to Hanoi.

The technical experts, who three months ago were roaming freely through the delta helping to improve crops and fight disease, can no longer travel safely even along the main roads.

Davis Upsets Jail Prisoners

OTTAWA (CP)—A grand jury reports that Montreal writer Raymond Arthur Davies, convicted last week of giving false information to obtain a Canadian passport, is "exerting an adverse influence" on other prisoners in Carleton county jail.

Davies is in jail awaiting transportation to Kingston penitentiary for a two-year term on the passport charge.

The grand jury of the Ontario Supreme Court's spring assizes has been examining conditions at the jail and other institutions in the capital area.

Jury foreman Ira Boyd of Carp, Ont., said in an interview after the report was presented Wednesday to Mr. Justice John L. Wilson that Davies apparently has appointed himself spokesman for the 14 prisoners in his block.

Davies apparently had "stirred up" several of the prisoners, especially the younger ones, and should be segregated, Mr. Boyd said.

Staid Victoria Votes For Liquor By Glass

VICTORIA (CP)—This capital city, which has not boasted so much as a sign advertising "licensed premises" since shortly after the First World War, voted overwhelmingly Wednesday for liquor by the drink.

The "drys" conceded the vote on all four types of licences provided by the Liquor Act.

About 60 per cent of the electorate cast ballots on the issue that was hotly debated on editorial pages and at public meetings.

Victoria has sold liquor of all types but only in the so-called proprietary clubs requiring membership.

The plebiscite was on four types of licences—cocktail bars, where all forms of drinks by the glass may be served; dining lounges, where all forms of drinks by the glass may be served with meals; dining rooms, where beer and wine may be served; and public houses, where beer may be served.

Police Halt Top Brass

Have Old Licence Plates Claxton, General Stopped

VEGREVILLE, Alta. (CP)—A four-car convoy carrying Defence Minister Claxton and Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes, general officer commanding western command, from Edmonton to Vegreville, Alta., was stopped Wednesday by two RCMP constables because two of the cars did not carry 1954 licence plates.

Constables H. Malouin and H. Jensen halted the cars about 15 miles southeast of Edmonton. Vegreville is about 55 miles southeast of Edmonton.

The two cars without plates were army vehicles. Mr. Claxton and Gen. Vokes were riding in one of them.

Gen. Vokes got out of the car and asked the constables to "please make a report" on the matter.

As he turned to get back into the car, Const. Malouin said "just a moment," holding up a finger. He asked Gen. Vokes why the cars were without 1954 plates. Gen Vokes replied the cars had not come from army ordnance.

Gen. Vokes turned once more to get into the car and again Malouin held up a finger and said "just a moment. What's your name?"

The general replied: "Vokes, General Vokes."

"How do you spell it?" asked the constable.

The general spelled the name for him and then got into the back seat of the car with Mr. Claxton, who took no part in the conversation.

Const. Malouin said it was the first time he had ever stopped a cabinet minister and a general.

Drivers of the four cars said the army provost marshal was to have notified RCMP and other police officers that two of the cars in the convoy would not be carrying 1954 plates. The deadline for obtaining plates in Alberta was April 10.

Estimates Vary On Russian Air Strength

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two new estimates are before the American people on how their air strength stacks up against Russia's.

Word from United States diplomatic sources is that there has been a "rapid increase in Soviet air potential" through the conversion of much of Russia's 20,000-plane force to modern jets.

There is also a statement by Representative Errett Scrivner (Rep, Kans.), chairman of a House appropriations subcommittee handling air force funds, that the U. S. outnumbers Russia three to two in the air and that the Soviet Union has no long-range bombers able to reach the U. S. and return to home bases.

The views were given out at the time of these events in Washington and elsewhere:

Congress was considering the annual air force appropriation. Admiral Arthur Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, had just talked with President Eisenhower after a hurried trip to Europe and a London visit with Prime Minister Churchill. The North Atlantic Treaty Organization was reassessing its own and Soviet strength in the air, on the ground and at sea.

SUMMARIZE STRENGTH

The diplomatic officials, who may not be named, made available an over-all summary of Communist military strength, 6,000,000 men under arms in Russia, Eastern Germany and the satellite countries.

They figured that 4,500,000 are in ground forces; that 22 divisions are in Germany, constituting "a ready-made spearhead" for a rapid advance into Europe; that the bulk of the 22 divisions are armored outfits.

Backing up the 22 divisions are another 60 Soviet divisions based in western Russia and eastern European satellite countries. The satellites have about 80 divisions.

Communist air strength is calculated this way by the diplomatic officials:

NEW TYPES SEEN

New types of medium and heavy bombers, including jet models, have been observed. (These presumably would include at least two new designs of long-range planes, one four-engined, another six-engined, powered with propellers driven by jet engines. The six-engine bomber obviously is intended to counter the American B-36).

The diplomats said the Soviet air force remains at a steady overall strength of about 20,000 planes but that it is the thorough-going modernization that is increasing the potential so fast.

Scrivner told the House, during debate on military appropriations, that balanced against Soviet air strength are more than 21,000 planes of the U. S. Air Force, plus 10,000 more U. S. navy and marine planes.

Warn Plant May Leave City

MONTREAL (CP)—A large firm warned the Montreal metropolitan commission Wednesday that it may suspend construction of a $2,000,000 plant and move to Brockville, Ont., if the city continues with plans for an elevated expressway in front of the building.

Gordon K. Phillips, vice-president of E. R. Squibb and Sons, Ltd., told the commission his firm had purchased land to build a plant near the proposed expressway.

He said the 18-foot elevated expressway running along the harbor front "might depress property values."

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9:30 a.m.

Synopsis: Skies are mainl clear over Northern Ontario today and are expected to change but little tonight and Friday as a very slow-moving high pressure area remains along the eastern border of the province. Skies cleared over most of southern Ontario late Wednesday afternoon and rapid cooling brought extensive fog patches this morning except in the Lake Erie region where the cloudiness of Wednesday persisted overnight and prevented the formation of fog. Skies should be generally sunny this afternoon and Friday with a few fog patches Friday morning.

Regional forecasts valid until Friday midnight:

Lake Ontario, Haliburton, northern Georgian Bay, Kirkland Lake and Timmins-Kapuskasing regions: North Bay, Sudbury and Toronto: Sunny today and Friday, little change in temperature, winds light; low tonight and high Friday at Killaloe 30 and 60, Kapuskasing, North Bay, Sudbury and Earlton 35 to 65, Toronto 40 and 60, Trenton 35 and 60. Summary for Friday: Sunny.

Finish Inquiry Into Air Crash

OTTAWA (CP)—Investigation of an air crash which killed 37 persons April 8 at Moose Jaw, Sask., is completed, Transport Minister Chevrier said Wednesday in the Commons.

He told CF Leader Coldwell he expects to receive the investigators' report later this week and will discuss it with the cabinet before making a statement to Parliament.

The air tragedy occurred when an RCAF Harvard training plane collided with a Trans-Canada Airliner.

At Moose Jaw, a coroner's jury inquiring into the collision urged that steps be taken to keep air traffic away from urban areas as much as possible. The jury also urged that officials "keep air training bases well informed as to when public passenger craft will be passing through on established air lanes, so that all aircraft will be kept a good safe distance away from the public craft."

The jury gave no opinion as to the cause of the collision.

Anti-Pollution To Be Major Objective

WATERLOO (CP)—A major activity of the newly-organized southwestern Ontario water resources committee will be anti-pollution, it was indicated here Wednesday at a meeting of the group which represents about 14 municipalities.

A preliminary policy was laid down and the committee was organized on a more permanent basis.

Pollution and water resources problems were discussed at length and it was decided to hold a meeting in Guelph June 2 further to discuss pollution. Groups from the Grand river and Thames river watersheds will be invited. Representatives will also attend an industrial wastes conference in Guelph June 16-18.

Dr. A. E. Berry of the department of health, who proposed the pollution meeting, said he would also like to see the committee meet with a government pollution board.

Anti-Red Leader Leon Jouhaux Dies

PARIS (AP) — Leon Jouhaux, veteran anti-Communist French labor leader and winner of the 1951 Nobel peace prize, died of a heart ailment Wednesday night, a few hours after he had been re-elected president of the French economic council.

Jouhaux was 74 and a life-long Socialist.

As president of the economic council, which advises the government on legislation affecting the national economy, he was outranked only by the president, and the presidents of the National Assembly and Council of the Republic.

Jouhaux played a leading role in organizing the international confederation of free trade unions in 1949. The organization opposed the Communist-sponsored World Federation of Trade Unions.

Director Dies

HALIFAX (CP)—M. B. (Dick) Zwicker, founder, manager and director of the Halifax Junior Bengal Lancers, a horse ballet with riders of five to 15 years, died in hospital today. He was 60.

Lindsay Group Gives Program

A full evening of varied and generally fine entertainment was presented by the Maple Leaf Quartette, of Lindsay, in the Queen Mary auditorium, Wednesday, under the auspices of the Trinity church boys' club. The Lindsay group, including soprano, Ruth Kingsborough, although thoroughly appreciated in the partially filled auditorium, deserved a larger audience.

The four male singers included bass, John Moore; baritone, Francis Taylor; and tenors Eric Freeborn and Robert Trotter, who individually outshone themselves, only by singing collectively. Although in almost every case their various solos were flawless, their group work contained the added quality of integrated humor.

One of the brighter lights of numerous, entertaining quartette arrangements was their rendition of the "Owl and Pussy Cat." This traditional nursery rhyme when arranged for four voices, including a solo part against three voiced string effects, made the tale much more engrossing. On the other hand, Dvorak's "Goin' Home," as sung last night with the well executed pianissimo effect this quarette is capable of, held one from the nostalgic path only because of anticipation of more such music to come.

The program was never dull, tracing its way through grand opera, comic operetta, negro spirituals to the open range ballad with the unpredictableness of a painter's brush, yet the completed picture was comfortably satisfying—the best and just enough of everything.

Miss Kingsborough's two selections, Handel's "Breathe Soft Ye Winde" and Fischer's "An Old Violin," were sung with much feeling and the audience demanded an encore. Other fine solos of the evening were, "Questa Q Quella" and "La Donna e Mobile" sung by Bob Trotter, "La Calunnia Un Venticello, sung by John Moore. "Avant de Quitter", sung by Francis Taylor, and "Little Bit of Heaven," sung by Eric Freeborn.

In all, the Maple Leaf quartette and Miss Kingsborough offered a thoroughly enjoyable, never tedious program.—J. F.

Urges Atomic Bombs Used In Indo-China

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representative Bob Sikes (Dem. Fla.) proposed today that the United States supply the French with atomic bombs for use in Indo-China to "get the war won so we won't have to send American boys there."

"We have all kinds and all sizes of A-bombs that have never been tested in convention warfare," the congressman said in an interview. "Let's see if they work."

He added that the Indo-Chinese war, in which French and native troops have been fighting Communist-led forces for more than seven years, "is becoming serious enough so that we had better use every weapon we've got to win it."

Sikes, a member of the House appropriations sub - committee which handles army funds, said he opposes sending U. S. forces to Indo-China without prior congressional approval, but would back maximum material aid to the French.

will be needed in Korea until a unified and independent government has been democratically established."

Neither east nor west are offering any compromises to unify Korea.

WANTS TROOPS OUT

Making his debut in the world forum Wednesday, China's premier-foreign minister demanded that all foreigners get their troops out of Asia and leave the continent's problems to the Asians.

Chou En-lai spoke in answer to State Secretary Dulles' declaration of the Western position earlier Wednesday. The U. S. secretary said:

"It is our task here to show such strength of honorable and non-aggressive purpose that the Communists will find it acceptable to grant unity and freedom to Korea."

WANTS FREE ELECTIONS

Dulles insisted, as South Korea had earlier, that the United Nations commission on Korea be allowed to proceed with its long-blocked plans to hold free elections in the Communist-controlled north. He rejected North Korean proposals for an election without foreign supervision, saying they were "designed to destroy the authority of the existing government and to replace it by a Communist puppet regime."

Chou as flatly backed the North Korean proposal and demanded that all foreign troops withdraw from Korea before country-wide elections to be held "without foreign interference."

The Peiping spokesman demanded an end to all foreign military bases in Asia, withdrawal of all foreign armed forces stationed in Asian countries, and a ban on the remilitarization of Japan. Presumably, in this connection, Chou would classify the Russians as Asians.

Chou called also for (1) an end to U. S. "occupation" of Formosa, (2) an end to the rearmament of Western Germany, (3) adoption of the Soviet security alliance for Europe, already rejected by the West, (4) world reduction of armaments, and (5) a ban on atomic, hydrogen and other "mass extermination" weapons.

A WELSH MINISTER, the Rev. I. D. E. Thomas, of Historic Baptist church of Caesalem, Caernarvon, will be special guest preacher for a week starting with two services Sunday during a gospel crusade at the Church of the Open Bible. May Revise PUC Pensions

Members of the Peterborough utilities commission are going to discuss a possible revision in their employees' pension plan.

At the PUC meeting Wednesday afternoon the commissioners agreed to meet 7:30 p.m. May 5 to discuss the plan. There was no discussion on it Wednesday.

At present the employees pay 2½ per cent of their salary and the commission 7½ per cent. This is the standard HEPC pension and insurance scheme.

When they retire, the employees draw anywhere from 30 to 40 per cent of their salary, depending on their age.

"On the other hand, they are apt to associate the whole western world with the former imperialism they resented so deeply and unless we can show them we really want to be their friends and to treat them as equals, we can hardly expect to enjoy their sympathy and enlist their support for the kind of peaceful world we are seeking to achieve."

The nations of southern Asia were bound to play an increasingly important part in world affairs. Every opportunity to improve goodwill and understanding should be seized.

SPECIAL OPPORTUNITY

"Canada has a special opportunity because like these nations we, too, have emerged from a colonial status to a status of equality in the Commonwealth and that common experience is itself a basis for mutual understanding."

He said an important aspect of Asian affairs is the desire of Asians for national independence and their "new sense of the dignity of the individual and the equality of all men regardless of origin or color."

"One of the most important tasks they face is to assure an adequate supply of food, clothing and shelter to meet the minimum basic needs of their many millions of human beings.

"It is by assisting them to meet this challenge and encouraging them to achieve their goals that we can demonstrate our friendship and goodwill toward them.

". . . there is not much use talking about the abstract advantages of political freedom to men and women who are perpetually hungry."

Five PMs Agree No Intervention

COLOMBO, Ceylon (Reuters)—Five Asian prime ministers agreed here today that there should be no intervention of outside powers in Indo-China, authoritative sources said.

No communique was issued at the end of the prime ministers' discussions on Indo-China this morning but the ministers of India, Pakistan, Burma, Indonesia and Ceylon were reported to have agreed in principle on this point.

They also agreed on direct discussions between the powers concerned within the framework of the current Geneva Far East conference.

Agreement on the need for an immediate cease-fire was understood to have been followed by the proposal that the United Nations should supervise it and the subsequent settlement.

Actress Dawn Addams Weds Italian Prince

ROME (Reuters) — Hollywood actress Dawn Addams, daughter of an RAF group captain, today wed Italian Prince Vittorio Massimo, director of a noodles and spaghetti company.

Charles Chaplin was present. The wedding was in a church on Capitol hill, which one of the bridegroom's ancestors defended against Hannibal in 217 B. C.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

FLOCKS OF GEESE

The largest migration of geese north to the summer breeding grounds took place this morning when at least five large flocks passed over the city around 10:30.

PUBLIC MEETING

The second of three public meetings will be held in Queen Mary auditorium at 8 p.m. tonight to hear a detailed discussion of the city's proposed zoning bylaw. The third and final meeting will be held Friday night at city hall.

CLERKS TAKE COURSE

A number of PUC employees who are constantly meeting the Peterborough public will attend a one-day course in public relations sponsored by the HEPC. The school will be in Belleville. Only transportation costs will have to be met by the PUC.

CITY HALL FIRE ALARM

A faulty signal station in the basement at city hall brought the fire department out at 6:26 p.m. Wednesday in full strength. It is the third false alarm at the city hall in recent weeks.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

The membership committee of the chamber of commerce met today to discuss plans for recruiting more members, particularly retailers. In charge of the meeting were membership chairman W. Howard Powell of the utilities commission and retail chairman Harry Cherney.

FIRE DAMAGE AT $200

Fire, cause unknown, broke out at 5 a.m. today in a tool shed at the rear of Leonard Rowley's home, 735 Young St. The flames caused $75 damage to the shed itself and damaged or destroyed $125 worth of carpenter's tools. Firemen used a booster tank on the blaze.

WATER TESTS CONTINUE

Tests to try and improve the taste of city water are continuing, W. Howard Powell, PUC general manager, reported Wednesday. A representative of a Toronto company is coming to discuss details of installing equipment to do the job; and Norman J. Howard, a Toronto specialist on water purification, will arrive sometime next week and take some water samples.

WON'T MAIL HYDRO BILLS

The PUC decided Wednesday that they will not mail away bills to people on summer holidays during July and August. They had previously passed a resolution that they would mail the bills to people who wouldn't be coming home during the holiday period, but the boost in postage rates caused them to drop the idea. An expenditure of about $750 would be required, officials estimated, and that would be too much.

TURNED GUN ON HIMSELF

"Zimmer appeared to have turned the gun on himself, as a large number of shot pellets were embedded in the ceiling above where the body was found."

One report said that two dozen empty wine bottles were found under the kitchen sink. The chief's statement did not mention them.

Police said they were having difficulty finding relatives of the Zimmers.

Neighbors and relatives blamed the shooting on drink.

They described Zimmer as a "thin, wizened-up sort of man," about 5½ feet tall, and "always needing a shave." They said he was laid off by Canada Iron Foundry several weeks ago because of his drinking and since then had undertaken to saw lumber by contract with Hrenchuk at a lumber company.

Neighbors also said Zimmer was a crack shot with a rifle. They said he used to practise his marksmanship by shooting the heads off pigeons 40 or 50 yards away.

GREGG MAKES CHOICE

In a statement accompanying the reports, Labor Minister Gregg said he would take as the majority report the recommendations of Mr. Justice Kellock and of Mr. Wickens to the extent that the Wickens recommendations "coincide with and do not go beyond the recommendations of the chairman."

This would have the effect, a labor department spokesman said, of having Mr. Justice Kellock's recommendations constitute the report.

The report is not binding on the disputants. However, if not accepted by them, it at least will serve as the basis for a renewal of the contract negotiations that broke down late last year.

The report was being delivered today to the major disputants at Montreal, two transcontinental railways and 11 Canadian and international unions repreeting the non-operating group—those who do not actually run the trains.

The 100-man negotiating committee of the unions under Frank H. Hall began a meeting at Montreal this morning to deal with the report.

ESTIMATES DIFFER

Apart from the two big companies involved are the Ontario Northland Railway and the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway.

The railways estimated that the total cost of meeting all the employee demands would be about $60,000,000.

The unions contended these figures were greatly exaggerated. Mr. Justice Kellock said their estimate was $34,000,000.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Alexandria Doctor To Wed Ex-Queen

CAIRO (AP)—Dr. Adham el Nakib, an Alexandria doctor, announced in Cairo today that he is to marry ex-queen Narriman next month.

The newspaper Al Alhbar said Narriman had obtained permission from Egypt's personal status court to marry the doctor, who is the son of one of ex-king Farouk's favorites.

Home Manager Suspended After Charges

OWEN SOUND (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn Gould, suspended as manager and matron of the Grey county Home for the Aged over charges of drunkenness and indecencies, today left the institution at Markdale.

Four other staff members—their daughter, Mrs. Isable Harvey, and Velma Fitzsimmons, Goldie Atkinson and Bob Reid—left with them.

Reeve John Davis of Artemesia township, chairman of the home's board of management, and George Mannerow, warden of Grey county, temporarily took over the administration of the home pending an investigation for which the board has asked Welfare Minister Goodfellow.

TWO STAY ON

Two cousins of Gould, Ross and Lem Gould, are staying on the farm. Ross is the home's farm manager and Lem the herdsman for its herd of prize holsteins.

Mervyn Gould and his wife, Edith, matron at the home, received notice of their suspension Wednesday. Mr. Gould said it was a "frame-up."

The suspensions were announced by the home's board of management. John W. Cook, former board chairman, said the maids resigned in a body April 19 and made sworn statements charging:

". . . instances of habitual inebriation, public indecency, bribery, falsification of reports, improper use of morphine, neglect of duty, all-night parties and carousing, misplacement of institution equipment, lack of medical care and attempted criminal assault."

INVESTIGATION PENDING

The board of management said the suspensions are in force pending an investigation by the Ontario welfare minister. Mr. Cook said the girls came to him after they left the staff.

"What they said convinced me the set-up was rotten," he added. "I advised the girls to present their charges to the crown attorney."

It was reported that a transcript of their statements, which Mr. Cook said were sworn out April 22 and 23, has been sent to the attorney-general's department in Toronto. The statements have not been released by the crown attorney.

Mr. Gould, in his 50s, said he has been in charge of the 100-room institution in Markdale, about 25 miles southeast of here, since 1944.

Until the five maids quit, the staff of six girls and one orderly looked after the 80-odd residents.

An official on the management board said Wednesday night there is no overcrowding in the home. There are two wings on the old structure.

Market Moves Ahead In All Categories

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market moved ahead in all categories in early afternoon trading today.

Industrials continued strong from the session opening and base metals, Manitouwadge and Bathurst-area issues picked up after some earlier weakness. Uraniums were steady. Volume at 1 p. m. was a moderate 1,309,000 shares.

Seven issues in the industrial group hit highs for the year. These were Great Lakes Paper, Powell River, Consumers Gas, Gypsum, Canners, Canadian Wirebound and B. A. Oil. Ford climbed $5 to $99.

In senior base metals Noranda picked up 25 cents, and Steep Rock 15 cents. Keymet was up four cents in juniors.

Western oils had some gains. Canadian Atlantic rose 20 cents and Security Freeholds 18 cents. Canadian Devonian lost 17 cents.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. dollar was at a discount of 1⅛ per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Wednesday's noon rate was 11-16 cents. Pound sterling $2.[illegible] against $2.78.

This Happens SO OFTEN . . .

A man comes in to buy a suit, and says, "Show me something good. I'm sick and tired of cheap clothes. I bought a bargain suit last year, and it doesn't keep a press, I've never felt comfortable in it, and it's starting to look shabby already."

"Yes, sir, so that in the long run, it wasn't a cheap suit, was it?" So don't let this happen to you. Good clothes are cheaper in the long run, and you will feel so much better dressed. Estimates Vary On Russian Air Strength

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two new estimates are before the American people on how their air strength stacks up against Russia's.

Word from United States diplomatic sources is that there has been a "rapid increase in Soviet air potential" through the conversion of much of Russia's 20,000-plane force to modern jets.

There is also a statement by Representative Errett Scrivner (Rep, Kans.), chairman of a House appropriations subcommittee handling air force funds, that the U. S. outnumbers Russia three to two in the air and that the Soviet Union has no long-range bombers able to reach the U. S. and return to home bases.

The views were given out at the time of these events in Washington and elsewhere:

Congress was considering the annual air force appropriation. Admiral Arthur Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, had just talked with President Eisenhower after a hurried trip to Europe and a London visit with Prime Minister Churchill. The North Atlantic Treaty Organization was reassessing its own and Soviet strength in the air, on the ground and at sea.

SUMMARIZE STRENGTH

The diplomatic officials, who may not be named, made available an over-all summary of Communist military strength, 6,000,000 men under arms in Russia, Eastern Germany and the satellite countries.

They figured that 4,500,000 are in ground forces; that 22 divisions are in Germany, constituting "a ready-made spearhead" for a rapid advance into Europe; that the bulk of the 22 divisions are armored outfits.

Backing up the 22 divisions are another 60 Soviet divisions based in western Russia and eastern European satellite countries. The satellites have about 80 divisions.

Communist air strength is calculated this way by the diplomatic officials:

NEW TYPES SEEN

New types of medium and heavy bombers, including jet models, have been observed. (These presumably would include at least two new designs of long-range planes, one four-engined, another six-engined, powered with propellers driven by jet engines. The six-engine bomber obviously is intended to counter the American B-36).

The diplomats said the Soviet air force remains at a steady over-all strength of about 20,000 planes but that it is the thorough-going modernization that is increasing the potential so fast.

Scrivner told the House, during debate on military appropriations, that balanced against Soviet air strength are more than 21,000 planes of the U. S. Air Force, plus 10,000 more U. S. navy and marine planes.

Warn Plant May Leave City

MONTREAL (CP)—A large firm warned the Montreal metropolitan commission Wednesday that it may suspend construction of a $2,000,000 plant and move to Brockville, Ont., if the city continues with plans for an elevated expressway in front of the building.

Gordon K. Phillips, vice-president of E. R. Squibb and Sons, Ltd., told the commission his firm had purchased land to build a plant near the proposed expressway.

He said the 18-foot elevated expressway running along the harbor front "might depress property values."

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office in Toronto at 9:30 a.m.

Synopsis. Skies are mainly clear over Northern Ontario today and are expected to change but little tonight and Friday as a very slow-moving high pressure area remains along the eastern border of the province. Skies cleared over most of southern Ontario late Wednesday afternoon and rapid cooling brought extensive fog patches this morning except in the Lake Erie region where the cloudiness of Wednesday persisted overnight and prevented the formation of fog. Skies should be generally sunny this afternoon and Friday with a few fog patches Friday morning.

Regional forecasts valid until Friday midnight:

Lake Ontario, Haliburton, northern Georgian Bay, Kirkland Lake and Timmins-Kapuskasing regions: North Bay, Sudbury and Toronto: Sunny today and Friday; little change in temperature; winds light; low tonight and high Friday at Killaloe 30 and 60, Kapuskasing, North Bay, Sudbury and Earlton 35 to 65, Toronto 40 and 60, Trenton 35 and 60. Summary for Friday: Sunny.

Finish Inquiry Into Air Crash

OTTAWA (CP)—Investigation of an air crash which killed 37 persons April 8 at Moose Jaw, Sask., is completed, Transport Minister Chevrier said Wednesday in the Commons.

He told CF Leader Coldwell he expects to receive the investigators' report later this week and will discuss it with the cabinet before making a statement to Parliament.

The air tragedy occurred when an RCAF Harvard training plane collided with a Trans-Canada Airliner.

At Moose Jaw, a coroner's jury inquiring into the collision urged that steps be taken to keep air traffic away from urban areas as much as possible. The jury also urged that officials "keep air training bases well informed as to when public passenger craft will be passing through on established air lanes, so that all aircraft will be kept a good safe distance away from the public craft."

The jury gave no opinion as to the cause of the collision.

Anti-Pollution To Be Major Objective

WATERLOO (CP)—A major activity of the newly-organized southwestern Ontario water resources committee will be anti-pollution, it was indicated here Wednesday at a meeting of the group which represents about 14 municipalities.

A preliminary policy was laid down and the committee was organized on a more permanent basis.

Pollution and water resources problems were discussed at length and it was decided to hold a meeting in Guelph June 2 further to discuss pollution. Groups from the Grand river and Thames river watersheds will be invited. Representatives will also attend an industrial wastes conference in Guelph June 16-18.

Dr. A. E. Berry of the department of health, who proposed the pollution meeting, said he would also like to see the committee meet with a government pollution board.

Anti-Red Leader Leon Jouhaux Dies

PARIS (AP) — Leon Jouhaux, veteran anti-Communist French labor leader and winner of the 1951 Nobel peace prize, died of a heart ailment Wednesday night, a few hours after he had been re-elected president of the French economic council.

Jouhaux was 74 and a life-long Socialist.

As president of the economic council, which advises the government on legislation affecting the national economy, he was outranked only by the president, and the presidents of the National Assembly and Council of the Republic.

Jouhaux played a leading role in organizing the international confederation of free trade unions in 1949. The organization opposed the Communist-sponsored World Federation of Trade Unions.

Director Dies

HALIFAX (CP)—M. B. (Dick) Zwicker, founder, manager and director of the Halifax Junior Bengal Lancers, a horse ballet with riders of five to 15 years, died in hospital today. He was 60.

Lindsay Group Gives Program

A full evening of varied and generally fine entertainment was presented by the Maple Leaf Quartette, of Lindsay, in the Queen Mary auditorium, Wednesday, under the auspices of the Trinity church boys' club. The Lindsay group, including soprano, Ruth Kingsborough, although thoroughly appreciated in the partially filled auditorium, deserved a larger audience.

The four male singers included bass, John Moore; baritone, Francis Taylor; and tenors Eric Freeborn and Robert Trotter, who individually outshone themselves, only by singing collectively. Although in almost every case their various solos were flawless, their group work contained the added quality of integrated humor.

One of the brighter lights of numerous, entertaining quartette arrangements was their rendition of the "Owl and Pussy Cat." This traditional nursery rhyme when arranged for four voices, including a solo part against three voiced string effects, made the tale much more engrossing. On the other hand, Dvorak's "Goin' Home," as sung last night with the well executed pianissimo effect this quarette is capable of, held one from the nostalgic path only because of anticipation of more such music to come.

The program was never dull, tracing its way through grand opera, comic operetta, negro spirituals to the open range ballad with the unpredictableness of a painter's brush, yet the completed picture was comfortably satisfying—the best and just enough of everything.

Miss Kingsborough's two selections, Handel's "Breathe Soft Ye Winde" and Fischer's "An Old Violin," were sung with much feeling and the audience demanded an encore. Other fine solos of the evening were, "Questa O Quella" and "La Donna e Mobile" sung by Bob Trotter, "La Calunnia Un Venticello, sung by John Moore. "Avant de Quitter", sung by Francis Taylor, and "Little Bit of Heaven," sung by Eric Freeborn.

In all, the Maple Leaf quartette and Miss Kingsborough offered a thoroughly enjoyable, never tedious program.—J. F.

Urges Atomic Bombs Used In Indo-China

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representative Bob Sikes (Dem. Fla.) proposed today that the United States supply the French with atomic bombs for use in Indo-China to "get the war won so we won't have to send American boys there."

"We have all kinds and all sizes of A-bombs that have never been tested in convention warfare," the congressman said in an interview. "Let's see if they work."

He added that the Indo-Chinese war, in which French and native troops have been fighting Communist-led forces for more than seven years, "is becoming serious enough so that we had better use every weapon we've got to win it."

Sikes, a member of the House appropriations sub - committee which handles army funds, said he opposes sending U. S. forces to Indo-China without prior congressional approval, but would back maximum material aid to the French.

will be needed in Korea until a unified and independent government has been democratically established."

Neither east nor west are offering any compromises to unify Korea.

WANTS TROOPS OUT

Making his debut in the world forum Wednesday, China's premier-foreign minister demanded that all foreigners get their troops out of Asia and leave the continent's problems to the Asians.

Chou En-lai spoke in answer to State Secretary Dulles' declaration of the Western position earlier Wednesday. The U. S. secretary said:

"It is our task here to show such strength of honorable and non-aggressive purpose that the Communists will find it acceptable to grant unity and freedom to Korea."

WANTS FREE ELECTIONS

Dulles insisted, as South Korea had earlier, that the United Nations commission on Korea be allowed to proceed with its long-blocked plans to hold free elections in the Communist-controlled north. He rejected North Korean proposals for an election without foreign supervision, saying they were "designed to destroy the authority of the existing government and to replace it by a Communist puppet regime."

Chou as flatly backed the North Korean proposal and demanded that all foreign troops withdraw from Korea before country-wide elections to be held "without foreign interference."

The Peiping spokesman demanded an end to all foreign military bases in Asia, withdrawal of all foreign armed forces stationed in Asian countries, and a ban on the remilitarization of Japan. Presumably, in this connection, Chou would classify the Russians as Asians.

Chou called also for (1) an end to U. S. "occupation" of Formosa, (2) an end to the rearmament of Western Germany, (3) adoption of the Soviet security alliance for Europe, already rejected by the West, (4) world reduction of armaments, and (5) a ban on atomic, hydrogen and other "mass extermination" weapons.

A WELSH MINISTER, the Rev. I. D. E. Thomas, of Historic Baptist church of Caesalem, Caernarvon, will be special guest preacher for a week starting with two services Sunday during a gospel crusade at the Church of the Open Bible. Mr. Thomas is a frequent contributor to church magaziness and is chairman of the editorial board of a well-known Welsh evangelical magazine as well as being president of the Welsh Union of National Young Life Campaign.

May Revise PUC Pensions

Members of the Peterborough utilities commission are going to discuss a possible revision in their employees' pension plan.

At the PUC meeting Wednesday afternoon the commissioners agreed to meet 7:30 p.m. May 5 to discuss the plan. There was no discussion on it Wednesday.

At present the employees pay 2½ per cent of their salary and the commission 7½ per cent. This is the standard HEPC pension and insurance scheme.

When they retire, the employees draw anywhere from 30 to 40 per cent of their salary, depending on their age.

Cyril H. Crowe Heads Concert Association

At the annual meeting of the Peterborough Community Concerts Association held in the YWCA board room Wednesday evening, Cyril H. Crowe was elected president, replacing Miss Musa Cox, who became honorary president.

Other officers elected following the presentation of nominations by Mrs. Agnes Green were: Vice-president, Hugh M. Niven; secretary, Mrs. Ross Williamson; treasurer, C. S. Browne; second vice-president and campaign chairman Mrs. Harry Cherney; campaign secretary, Miss Jean Buck.

The following directors whose three-year term expired were re-elected: Miss M. Hicks, Mrs. Ford Turner, Mrs. H. Cherney, Mrs. H. A. Mitchell, Mrs. L. R. Mitchell, C. S. Browne, Anthony de Noble, Hugh M Niven, R. L. Hale, W. A. Messervey.

Mrs. Donald Flett was appointed to fill the vacancy in the directorate ocasioned by the resignation of Donald Kennedy.

PM Urges Help

"On the other hand, they are apt to associate the whole western world with the former imperialism they resented so deeply and unless we can show them we really want to be their friends and to treat them as equals, we can hardly expect to enjoy their sympathy and enlist their support for the kind of peaceful world we are seeking to achieve."

The nations of southern Asia were bound to play an increasingly important part in world affairs. Every opportunity to improve goodwill and understanding should be seized.

SPECIAL OPPORTUNITY

"Canada has a special opportunity because like these nations we, too, have emerged from a colonial status to a status of equality in the Commonwealth and that common experience is itself a basis for mutual understanding."

He said an important aspect of Asian affairs is the desire of Asians for national independence and their "new sense of the dignity of the individual and the equality of all men regardless of origin or color."

"One of the most important tasks they face is to assure an adequate supply of food, clothing and shelter to meet the minimum basic needs of their many millions of human beings.

"It is by assisting them to meet this challenge and encouraging them to achieve their goals that we can demonstrate our friendship and goodwill toward them.

". . . there is not much use talking about the abstract advantages of political freedom to men and women who are perpetually hungry."

Five PMs Agree No Intervention

COLOMBO, Ceylon (Reuters)—Five Asian prime ministers agreed here today that there should be no intervention of outside powers in Indo-China, authoritative sources said.

No communique was issued at the end of the prime ministers' discussions on Indo-China this morning but the ministers of India, Pakistan, Burma, Indonesia and Ceylon were reported to have agreed in principle on this point.

They also agreed on direct discussions between the powers concerned within the framework of the current Geneva Far East conference.

Agreement on the need for an immediate cease-fire was understood to have been followed by the proposal that the United Nations should supervise it and the subsequent settlement.

Actress Dawn Addams Weds Italian Prince

ROME (Reuters) — Hollywood actress Dawn Addams, daughter of an RAF group captain, today wed Italian Prince Vittorio Massimo, director of a noodles and spaghetti company.

Charles Chaplin was present. The wedding was in a church on Capitol hill, which one of the bridegroom's ancestors defended against Hannibal in 217 B. C.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

FLOCKS OF GEESE

The largest migration of geese north to the summer breeding grounds took place this morning when at least five large flocks passed over the city around 10:30.

PUBLIC MEETING

The second of three public meetings will be held in Queen Mary auditorium at 8 p.m. tonight to hear a detailed discussion of the city's proposed zoning bylaw. The third and final meeting will be held Friday night at city hall.

CLERKS TAKE COURSE

A number of PUC employees who are constantly meeting the Peterborough public will attend a one-day course in public relations sponsored by the HEPC. The school will be in Belleville. Only transportation costs will have to be met by the PUC.

CITY HALL FIRE ALARM

A faulty signal station in the basement at city hall brought the fire department out at 6:26 p.m. Wednesday in full strength. It is the third false alarm at the city hall in recent weeks.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

The membership committee of the chamber of commerce met today to discuss plans for recruiting more members, particularly retailers. In charge of the meeting were membership chairman W. Howard Powell of the utilities commission and retail chairman Harry Cherney.

FIRE DAMAGE AT $200

Fire, cause unknown, broke out at 5 a.m. today in a tool shed at the rear of Leonard Rowley's home, 735 Young St. The flames caused $75 damage to the shed itself and damaged or destroyed $125 worth of carpenter's tools. Firemen used a booster tank on the blaze.

WATER TESTS CONTINUE

Tests to try and improve the taste of city water are continuing, W. Howard Powell, PUC general manager, reported Wednesday. A representative of a Toronto company is coming to discuss details of installing equipment to do the job; and Norman J. Howard, a Toronto specialist on water purification, will arrive sometime next week and take some water samples.

WON'T MAIL HYDRO BILLS

The PUC decided Wednesday that they will not mail away bills to people on summer holidays during July and August. They had previously passed a resolution that they would mail the bills to people who wouldn't be coming home during the holiday period, but the boost in postage rates caused them to drop the idea. An expenditure of about $750 would be required, officials estimated, and that would be too much.

TURNED GUN ON HIMSELF

"Zimmer appeared to have turned the gun on himself, as a large number of shot pellets were embedded in the ceiling above where the body was found."

One report said that two dozen empty wine bottles were found under the kitchen sink. The chief's statement did not mention them.

Police said they were having difficulty finding relatives of the Zimmers.

Neighbors and relatives blamed the shooting on drink.

They described Zimmer as a "thin, wizened-up sort of man," about 5½ feet tall, and "always needing a shave." They said he was laid off by Canada Iron Foundry several weeks ago because of his drinking and since then had undertaken to saw lumber by contract with Hrenchuk at a lumber company.

Neighbors also said Zimmer was a crack shot with a rifle. They said he used to practise his marksmanship by shooting the heads off pigeons 40 or 50 yards away.

GREGG MAKES CHOICE

In a statement accompanying the reports, Labor Minister Gregg said he would take as the majority report the recommendations of Mr. Justice Kellock and of Mr. Wickens to the extent that the Wickens recommendations "coincide with and do not go beyond the recommendations of the chairman."

This would have the effect, a labor department spokesman said, of having Mr. Justice Kellock's recommendations constitute the report.

The report is not binding on the disputants. However, if not accepted by them, it at least will serve as the basis for a renewal of the contract negotiations that broke down late last year.

The report was being delivered today to the major disputants at Montreal, two transcontinental railways and 11 Canadian and international unions represeting the non-operating group—those who do not actually run the trains.

The 100-man negotiating committee of the unions under Frank H. Hall began a meeting at Montreal this morning to deal with the report.

ESTIMATES DIFFER

Apart from the two big companies involved are the Ontario Northland Railway and the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway.

The railways estimated that the total cost of meeting all the employee demands would be about $60,000,000.

The unions contended these figures were greatly exaggerated. Mr. Justice Kellock said their estimate was $34,000,000.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Alexandria Doctor To Wed Ex-Queen

CAIRO (AP)—Dr. Adham el Nakib, an Alexandria doctor, announced in Cairo today that he is to marry ex-queen Narriman next month.

The newspaper Al Alhbar said Narriman had obtained permission from Egypt's personal status court to marry the doctor, who is the son of one of ex-king Farouk's favorites.

Home Manager Suspended After Charges

OWEN SOUND (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn Gould, suspended as manager and matron of the Grey county Home for the Aged over charges of drunkenness and indecencies, today left the institution at Markdale.

Four other staff members—their daughter, Mrs. Isable Harvey, and Velma Fitzsimmons, Goldie Atkinson and Bob Reid—left with them.

Reeve John Davis of Artemesia township, chairman of the home's board of management, and George Mannerow, warden of Grey county, temporarily took over the administration of the home pending an investigation for which the board has asked Welfare Minister Goodfellow.

TWO STAY ON

Two cousins of Gould, Ross and Lem Gould, are staying on the farm. Ross is the home's farm manager and Lem the herdsman for its herd of prize holsteins.

Mervyn Gould and his wife, Edith, matron at the home, received notice of their suspension Wednesday. Mr. Gould said it was a "frame-up."

The suspensions were announced by the home's board of management. John W. Cook, former board chairman, said the maids resigned in a body April 19 and made sworn statements charging:

". . . instances of habitual inebriation, public indecency, bribery, falsification of reports, improper use of morphine, neglect of duty, all-night parties and carousing, misplacement of institution equipment, lack of medical care and attempted criminal assault."

INVESTIGATION PENDING

The board of management said the suspensions are in force pending an investigation by the Ontario welfare minister. Mr. Cook said the girls came to him after they left the staff.

"What they said convinced me the set-up was rotten," he added. "I advised the girls to present their charges to the crown attorney."

It was reported that a transcript of their statements, which Mr. Cook said were sworn out April 22 and 23, has been sent to the attorney-general's department in Toronto. The statements have not been released by the crown attorney.

Mr. Gould, in his 50s, said he has been in charge of the 100-room institution in Markdale, about 25 miles southeast of here, since 1944.

Until the five maids quit, the staff of six girls and one orderly looked after the 80-odd residents.

An official on the management board said Wednesday night there is no overcrowding in the home. There are two wings on the old structure.

Market Moves Ahead In All Categories

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market moved ahead in all categories in early afternoon trading today.

Industrials continued strong from the session opening and base metals, Manitouwadge and Bathurst-area issues picked up after some earlier weakness. Uraniums were steady. Volume at 1 p. m. was a moderate 1,309,000 shares.

Seven issues in the industrial group hit highs for the year. These were Great Lakes Paper, Powell River, Consumers Gas, Gypsum, Canners, Canadian Wirebound and B. A. Oil. Ford climbed $5 to $99.

In senior base metals Noranda picked up 25 cents, and Steep Rock 15 cents. Keymet was up four cents in juniors.

Western oils had some gains. Canadian Atlantic rose 20 cents and Security Freeholds 18 cents. Canadian Devonian lost 17 cents.

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. dollar was at a discount of 1⅛ per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Wednesday's noon rate was $1. 11-16 cents. Pound sterling $2.[illegible]⅞ against $2.78.

This Happens SO OFTEN . . .

A man comes in to buy a suit, and says, "Show me something good. I'm sick and tired of cheap clothes. I bought a bargain suit last year, and it doesn't keep a press, I've never felt comfortable in it, and it's starting to look shabby already."

"Yes, sir, so that in the long run, it wasn't a cheap suit, was it?" So don't let this happen to you. Good clothes are cheaper in the long run, and you will feel so much better dressed. Let us show you the smartest, hard wearing, crease retaining range of suits we have ever had, and we have the measuring experience to go with it.

United Counties Discuss Buying Hatfield Hall For County Building

COBOURG (ENS) — Dissatisfied with accommodations provided them in the town hall by the town of Cobourg, Northumberland and Durham counties council has been shopping around for another place. The special county property committee proposed at a special session of council yesterday that the counties buy for $68,000 a building at the east end of the town to house all the offices and courts.

However, the owner, G. Loevenmark, stipulated that he must know by 11.45 p.m. the same date, if the council wanted to buy and the terms were $10,000 cash down and the balance paid in 30 days.

There were some questions which had to be answered before the counties would be in a position to make a deal, and these were: Would the building accommodate the county and supreme courts, and would the town's residential bylaw for that area permit the building to be used?

Council accordingly gave the special committee at the close of the session authority to buy it at a figure not in excess of $68,000, providing it was established first that the proposed building would be suitable for courts, etc., and if the town of Cobourg would give the green light as far as the restricted area was concerned.

COST $100,000

It was estimated that it would cost a considerable amount to make the building suitable for the counties, and this plus purchase price would add up to about $100,000.

And as Deputy-reeve J. Grimes of Brighton village put it, Where will the counties get the money?

Early this year the special county property committee conferred with the property committee of the town council to see what could be done to provide the extra accommodation demanded by the bar association, such as more room for the law library, room for lady jurors and room in which lawyers could consult with their clients. The Cobourg council told the committee that it didn't have the money to make alterations to the building, but would supply paint for redecorating of counties offices in the town hall.

Deputy-reeve Charles Johnstone of Cobourg pointed out that there was a lot beside the town hall which the town would donate to the counties free of charge if they wanted to build.

"This building is an old landmark. You pay $68,000 for the Hatfield Hall building, but it will cost you $100,000 before you are through," warned Reeve C. Burrison of Hamilton township.

Council decided to go down and look the building over and discuss it again in the afternoon. At the afternoon session, Reeve Sid Little, chairman of the special committee, informed council that the owner of the Hatfield Hall property had to know by 11.45 that night as he had other offers. It was revealed that the five-year lease with the town expired in November of next year. Reeve Little declared that a half million had been saved on schools (high school areas) and perhaps the counties could afford to pay for a counties building.

TURN DOWN APPLICATION

The consultative committee appointed earlier this month to investigate the situation in regard to Port Hope and Hope's application to pull out of the Durham High School area, unanimously recommended that the application be turned down. The council adopted the report.

This committee found that with Port Hope and Hope township out of the area, it would leave south Cavan and Millbrook isolated and there was nothing definite as to whether or not south Cavan and Millbrook could go into the Peterborough Suburban High School area. The committee was informed that if the area were to fall apart as a result of Port Hope and Hope township dropping out, this would wreck the arrangements which had been made as to grants and these grants were exceptionally favorable.

The committee further concluded that since the formation of the high school area, it had been taken for granted that modern high school facilities would be made available in Port Hope and Bowmanville, and the move to pull out on the part of Port Hope and Hope township would jeopardize the whole program. The breaking up of the area would cut the government grants on school construction by almost half a million dollars and under the circumstances the committee felt that the application to withdraw should not be entertained at the present time.

Council passed a bylaw raising the counties engineer's salary from $4,600 per annum to $4,800. A bylaw was also passed authorizing the issuing of $465,000 in debentures for the new school for the Brighton High School area, these to be paid for by the municipalities in the East Durham area. By consent of the department, first payment on the debentures is not until December of 1955 and subsequent payments will come due in December each year during the life of the debentures. Council has been informed that the market for municipal bonds is very good at present and money can be borrowed in this way cheaper than from the banks.

Dropped In For Visit

ATLANTA (AP)—"Mama, there's an alligator in the back yard," said three-year-old Mike McClain. "He's tired and hungry. Can I feed him?" Startled, Mrs. J. L. McClain ran to the window and looked out. There lay the alligator, three feet long, growling—or whatever alligators do—at the family dog. The McClains, who live in a thickly-populated section have no idea how the amphibian go there. But they know where he is going —to the zoo.

Britain Barred Aid To French Indo-China Port

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Herald Tribune says today that Britain barred an American proposal to send United States and Allied carrier planes to the aid of the French Union defenders of Dien Bien Phu in Indo-China.

In a dispatch from Washington, the paper says State Secretary Dulles made the proposal to Foreign Secretary Eden in London last week-end when the two were holding strategy talks.

An extraordinary session of Prime Minister Churchill's cabinet ruled out such intervention, the Herald Tribune says, because the British government did not view the possible fall of Dien Bien Phu to the Communist-led Vietminh as of such dire consequence as did the U. S.

The paper says the British cabinet action has thrown the Washington administration into "a state of frustration bordering on despair over the prospects of preventing the loss of French Indo-China to communism."

The Integrity of Public Servants

The Canadian public service has a very high standard of honesty; how high is realized by Canadians only when they can compare it with that of other countries, where peculation and graft are the rule, not the exception. There are so very few and infrequent deviations from absolute integrity among Canadian civil servants that when a case does arise, it shocks the public. There have been major scandals of this kind in the eighty-seven years of Canada's nationhood but they have been so few that they are all counted and remembered as real blemishes; shaming episodes which even school-children learn to look on with stupefaction, hardly believing them possible in this upright land.

* * *

The conditions of public service are very different in some other countries. There the private use of public funds and taking money without authorization, as a perquisite of office, is not uncommon. Sometimes the attitude is this: 'Consider what my services have meant to the nation. Think how it has benefited. Why, then, should I not profit to a small degree, since my contribution, my skill, my devotion to duty, has been so great?' We know of a celebrated doctor in a mid-European country whose noted institution was given a Rockefeller grant for medical research; the doctor administered the funds. He put new equipment into the institution; he paid research assistance; he did what was expected of him with the money. But he also built and furnished for his family a luxurious private home from the grants. Questioned by a young visiting Canadian doctor paying homage to the great scientist, the latter was surprised that the Canadian thought there was any misappropriation of funds. He took it as a right.

* * *

Thus, not all men have the same standards of public morality as Canadian officials. If some public servants here and abroad, having control of public money or the spending of it, must learn to alter their standards to Canadian practice, they must be taught it firmly and quickly. The integrity of the Canadian and British civil servants is the admiration of the world. Canadians expect honesty as matter of course, and can appreciate it when they see it abroad. It is one reason why many Canadians have a mild admiration for the new regime in China. From a very corrupt public service, the Chinese Reds have created one in which there is absolute honesty, from the highest to the lowest official. That is the way we like it in Canada, from coast to coast.

Our Toonerville Trolley Stations

If it is true, as a prominent railway executive officer said this week, that the railways of Canada and the United States are so important that both nations would shudder to a halt if there were any serious break in their railway service, why is this importance not recognized by either the C.P.R. or the C.N.R. as regards their Peterborough service? From time to time, of course, some improvements are made in the equipment, station accommodation and schedules. For instance, a few years ago the rocking chairs in the ladies' waiting room at the C.P.R. station were removed. This was done, we are afraid, not for the convenience of waiting passengers but to allow more space for freight. There are some deisel engines around these days, too; and some of the carriages on main runs are steel and have air conditioning. Quite often, too, the trains run on time.

One improvement that is badly needed is to blow up the two stations. Maybe some patriotic Peterburian could bribe the U.S. Department of Defence to send two of its accurate guided missiles into town, one for the C.P.R. station, the other for the C.N.R. Then both companies would have to take action and build a proper station.

What is needed is a union station but until cows fly over the moon or a guided bomb pin-points the old ones, the Aunt Sallys known as C.P. and C.N. will not budge from their cobwebs, gloom and knitting. Proof positive is that they have stuck in the same two places and in the same two buildings almost since the day they came to town around a century ago. The stations were built to serve a Peterborough of five or ten thousand people, a couple of dozen shops and a few small factories. Now, in case the railway companies have not heard, Peterborough and its environs have more than 60,000 people, the city is one of the first fifteen industrial centres of Canada, and more shippers and more travellers want to use the railways than ever before.

We are in thorough accord with Alderman Anglesey's complaint about the conditions of the two stations and his emphasis on the need for a union station rather than a patching-up of the old ones. In Peterborough's Master Plan there is a detailed recommendation for a union station. The plan is feasible. All that is required is some money and some gumption on the part of the railway companies. Come to think of it, perhaps the guided missiles could be aimed at the company headquarters more usefully than at our two stations. At least their flowers beds are good and pretty, in season.

School Problems In Russia Too

The Ontario Educational Association has been running into and out of educational problems at its recent meetings in Toronto. Teachers showered each other with advice and criticism, and outsiders poured their opinions over the drenched heads of the teachers. It is always thus. Education is everybody's business, so everybody feels he has something to say about it.

Our schools are probably no worse, and possibly much better than they were a generation or two ago. Criticism flourished then, too. We note that the current gad-fly of Canadian schools, Professor Hilda Neatby, was not among the speakers, nor, as far as we have been able to discover, did her book "So Little For The Mind," excite much discussion. Miss Neatby is not in favour with all professional educationists.

Russia has, strangely enough, its school problems, and Russian educators have been asking, even as Miss Neatby did, what the schools are educating for and how well. Apparently the old days of Party Line and regimentation in schools and lecture-rooms are waning. The great Russian educationist Makarenko has been brought back into prominence. Makarenko does not believe that the sole aim of schooling in Russia should be to turn out robot Communists; his ideal is the dignity not the discipline of man and woman. A broadcast over Radio Moscow last week on higher education repeatedly invoked the name and philosophy of Makarenko, especially his appreciation of adolescent psychology. The broadcast appealed to teachers to think of themselves as counsellors and encourage good and creative attitudes in the individual child. And here is one sentence in the broadcast which even teachers in democratic Canada should heed: "A teacher can commit no greater crime than to abuse the confidence or to divulge even indirectly a secret entrusted to him." This, mind you, in a Moscow broadcast directed to Russian teachers. It is no less than revolutionary.

Conference On Atomic Energy

Whether or not the American Atomic Energy Commission's proposal for a conference of the world's leading atomic scientists is a propaganda move—the linking of President Eisenhower's name with it is obviously political—it is a move in a good direction. The blood-red pictures of a hydrogen bomb test explosion in popular American magazines and the scaring headlines of the last several months have filled people with dread. Man-engineered heat five times the temperature of the sun's centre—this was the degree of heat produced by the test Hydrogen bomb explosion—could melt humanity off the face of the world, and destroy the world with it. There is cause for alarm. Used for destruction, hydrogen bombs recreate primeval chaos. But there are other uses for this great explosive power. Scientists could learn them if they are allowed to.

President Eisenhower will ask an American scientific organization to arrange a gathering of leading scientists to search for peaceful uses of atomic energy; "to hasten the day when the fear of the atom will begin to disappear from the minds of people and the governments of the East and of the West". Amen. But between a decision to hold a conference and the holding of it, between the reality of the awful test explosion and the finding of peaceful uses of its force, between acceptance of conference invitations and East-West agreement, lies a terrible void; such a vacuum as was created when the nuclear explosion blew the heavens into white heat and scorched the earth below. Now there is more to fear than fear itself. Is the force of atomic-Hydrogen energy great enough to force man in its fright into peaceful ways?

We expect no miracle to come out of the proposed conference. As we suggested above, one purpose of the announcement was obviously for propaganda. Yet even to sit down and talk it over, and to exchange views and information, to allow scientists to question their work together, is better than doing nothing.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Saint Of Rationalism

By BERTRAND RUSSELL

Ed. Note: This review of "The Life of John Stuart Mill" by Michael St. John Packe, just published, is written by the famed British philosopher, the Earl Russell.)

JOHN STUART MILL'S reputation, though in his own day it shone very brightly, has now suffered almost total eclipse. In his Logic, especially where it treats of deduction, hardly a hint is to be found of the problems with which modern logicians are concerned. His Political Economy, though it discusses the perennial question of Socialism versus Capitalism, is innocent of the more technical problems with which modern economists are concerned. Frege's logic and Keynes's economics would alike puzzle Mill. Nevertheless, as one of the sources of opinion in his own time, he deserves his reputation. He softened the harsh Benthamite doctrine and married it (literally as well as figuratively) to the softer creed of the Romantics. He persuaded his contemporaries that it is possible to be rational without being harsh, and consistent without being cruel. His importance was moral rather than intellectual, but he derived his moral importance largely from the belief of his contemporaries in his intellectual eminence.

* * *

MR. PACKE'S Life of Mill does not attempt to go deeply into the theoretical parts of its subject's works, but deals exhaustively and authoritatively with the personal circumstances of his life and of his antecedents. The chain of causation can be traced by the inquiring mind from any given point backward to the creation of the world, but in accounting for Mill we can be content to go no further back than 1745. The mother of James Mills belonged to a family which had been well-to-do but lost all its property by supporting the Young Pretender. She married a poor man and lived with him and their children in a tiny cottage, but she continued to think of herself as a gentlewoman and resolved that at all costs her eldest child, James, should be a gentleman. To the achievement of this end all the other members of the family were sacrificed, and the result was that formidable portent familiar to the readers of his son's autobiography. There is, however, a great deal about James Mill in Mr. Packe's book which is not hinted at in the autobiography and which, to me at least, came as a surprise. James, it seems, was deeply ashamed of his humble origin and, when compatriots who knew of it came to visit him in later years, he would not allow them to mention anything about his youth in the presence of his children. He was in fact a worthy son of his mother. He became a Minister of the Scottish Kirk, but failed to make a living out of his holy calling. He therefore took to literature and contributed to that high Tory magazine, the Anti-Jacobin. As Mr. Packe puts it:—

> What he said breathed respect for the wealthy and admiration for the great. If he mentioned the name of Malthus, it was with sentimental horror.

He remained a pillar of Tory orthodoxy until the age of thirty-five, when he acquired the friendship of Bentham, who was not only a free-thinker but also rich. Sheltered by Bentham's money, he developed into the stern apostle of austere radicalism.

* * *

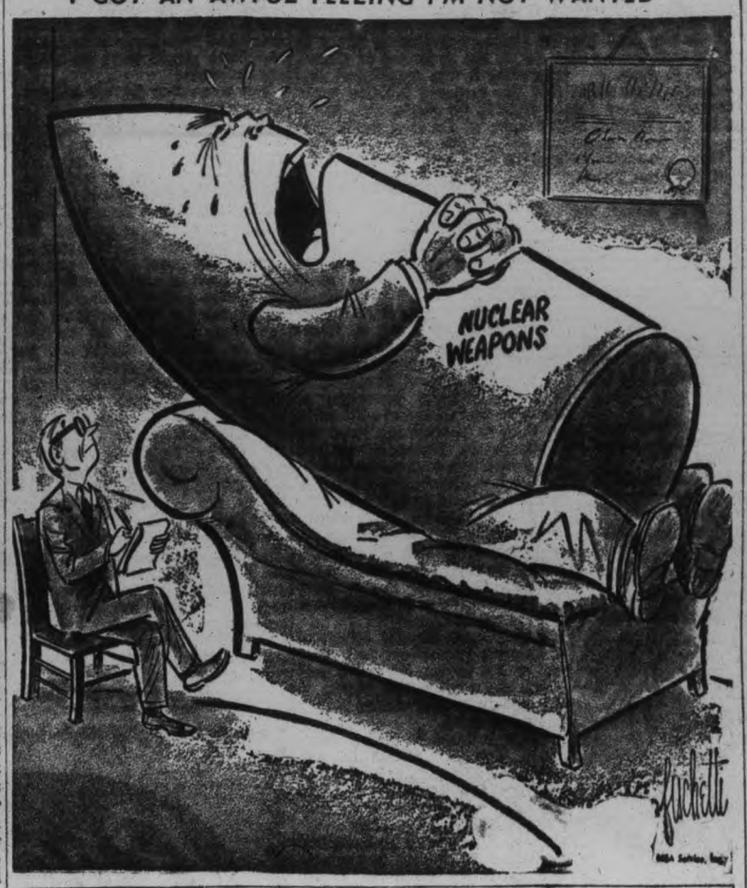
HIS SON'S inner life was a perpetual battle between the Spartan father and the enthusiastic Mrs. Taylor. John Stuart's temperament, it must be said, was such as to make some Mrs. Taylor inevitable. As he tells in his autobiography, a number of influences, such as Wordsworth and Carlyle, had already persuaded him that there were things in human life to which his father paid insufficient attention.

One of the most interesting things, to me at least, in Mr. Packe's book is that one gets, at last, a full and reliable picture of Mrs. Taylor. When I first began to be interested in Mill's life, there were two wholly irreconcilable views of her: Mill's as an incredible angel of wisdom and virtue; and everyone else's, as a tiresome emotional busybody. Each of these views made the other unbelievable, and it was impossible to form a balanced judgement of her. In Mr. Packe's book she becomes a very definite person, enthusiastic, emphatic and domineering, Mill's subservience to her is pitiful. She objected to his criticism of Socialism in the first edition of his Political Economy. As Mr. Packe states:—

> She told Mill to abolish, in the second edition, all his objections against Socialism and Communism. She demanded a complete reversal of his economic treatise in its most essential feature. And she obtained it, though the process cost him infinite pain and worry.

* * *

THE STORY of the relations of Mill and Mrs. Taylor is in some ways surprising. Mr. Taylor, a man eminent for the kind of good nature that is praised but not ardently loved, showed remarkable patience in putting up with Mill. Mrs. Taylor, though she was infinitely shocked when Mill, in a moment of discouragement, thought that he ought not to sacrifice his usefulness to humanity for the sake of private passion, nevertheless herself always circumscribed her relations to Mill within her somewhat limited conception of her duty to husband and children. Their friends speculated about the liaison and Carlyle, especially, displayed the kind of prurient curiosity conventionally attributed to old maids. But nobody made a fuss until, two years after Mr. Taylor's death, his widow finally consented to marry Mill. This, oddly enough, produced two explosions: one from Mill's family, with whom he had an irreparable quarrel; the other, from Mrs. Taylor's more emotional friends, who were shocked that the couple should submit to the degrading bonds of legal matrimony.



* * *

THEIR married life was not happy. Mr. Packe tells about it in a chapter with the ironic title, "The Hoped-for Heaven." Troubles, great and small, clouded their lives: Mill had a quarrel with a neighbour about rats; he became ill and was threatened with consumption; in the middle of well-founded anxiety about his health, she became ill and died. Her daughter Helen, who had embarked upon a career on the stage, threw it up and lived, in Mill's company, a dedicated life — dedicated to remembrance of the late-espoused saint. Nevertheless, even in his last years, Mill did much important work. He published his book on Liberty, he was for a while in Parliament, and he led the attack on Governor Eyre for his severities in suppressing the Jamaican insurrection.

* * *

MR. PACKE has written an interesting and admirable book, which is likely to remain the definite biography of its subject. Mill emerges clearly as a gentle and kindly person of the highest moral integrity, but deprived by his father of the capacity for self-direction. Like those who abandon one dogmatic creed for another, he needed, when he rebelled against his father, some other figure to guide his steps and dominate his will. It is fortunate that his Pope Joan was no worse.

An American Opinion: "I GOT AN AWFUL FEELING I'M NOT WANTED"

Letters To The Editor

DISGUSTING CLOTHES LINES

SIR. On my rare visits to Peterborough I have given up walking along George Street because of the shocks my modesty suffers at the displays of ladies' unmentionables described by "Sam" in a recent letter. But imagine my dismay while making my sedate way along a back street on a Monday morning to see line after line of not only ladies' but men's dra..... unmentionables blowing out in the wind in a most immodest way. I hope your city fathers (and mothers) will soon pass a bylaw forbidding such displays and compelling the washers of such to enclose them in pillow-slips before hanging them out to dry as was done in Victorian days. Perhaps by this means the moral tone of your city may be raised.

Yours sedately,
"ANGELINA FRUMP."

FIRST SWALLOWS SINCE 1948

SIR: You were asking about the arrival of the first swallow. I have kept records of such events for many years, and since I maintain a nesting place for swallows, I may presume that those which I first note at my place on Benson avenue are among the earliest to arrive in Peterborough.

Here is the record from my note-book of the first appearance of a swallow since 1948: 1948 - April 11th; 1949 - April 9th; 1950 - April 17th; 1951 - April 12th; 1952 - April 16th; 1953 - April 8th, and this year, April 9th.

Generally the first swallows arrive in a small flock but this year the first I noticed were only a pair. Others arrived the next day. I am referring to the tree-swallow. The large Purple Martins which nest in the eaves in the business section do not come up our way at all; they seem to stay down in the center of the city.

Yours, etc.,
ALAN T. BROWN.

WIND FROM THE ATOMIC OCEAN

SIR: Thanks for your favourable comment (editorial: "A Scientist's Decision") on Dr. Oppenheimer; the physicist who was suspended from the job on the Atomic Energy Commission because: he had associated with "Reds" and had advised, on the AEC, against making the H-bomb. In my opinion neither of these accusations should damage his character in the least.

Who Oppie, chose, or happened to associate with is of no more interest to me than the negligee of a wax dummy in the store-window. I have no respect for any "color line": North, South, East, West, or named for any other opposite set of points on the mariners compass.

If, as a scientist, Dr. Oppenheimer had not advised against making the H-bomb, I would infer that he is "slipping" morally. He could, no doubt, be charged and prosecuted if he was suspected of giving out secret data; but to me, high-level secrets are disgusting Affairs of State and, a sad state of affairs at any level.

Scientists know that there is no prospect of any sort of McGill fence, for the offing, that could protect us from radioactive ash that may be billowing in, on prevailing winds, from the Atomic Ocean.

Respectfully,
W. H. ROSEBUSH.

THE REVENGE OF THE CRADLE

SIR: Noticed a letter in The Examiner pertaining to the racial origins of Canada. Could not help recalling an article in "Le Devoir" of Montreal.

"At a given moment — it will be sometime near the census of 1971 — French-Canadians will be as numerous as the total of Canadians of British origin, and on the way to outstripping them, for then, as now, our mean birthrate will remain, without doubt relatively high. On that day — many of those who read these lines will see it, — we shall be able to hymn not merely the 'revenge' but indeed the victory, of our cradles."

May I draw your attention to the word 'revenge.' This theme seems to be a favourite of the French-speaking press, and it only serves to illustrate the problems facing that much talked about phantom, national unit. The ancient struggle for French supremacy is still being waged. It is that spirit which tends to lean towards isolationism and nationalism, and if it had the power, and the correct environment, would not hesitate to erect a separate French-speaking State.

Surely, we will have to, in the future, if not now, condemn such an attitude that threatens subjugation, for most of the population does not wish to repeat the experiment of the Middle Ages.

Yours truly,
"THINKER."

THE DUKE DIDN'T SAY IT

SIR: In an article on sportsmanship one of your contributors* refered to a comment the Duke of Wellington is alleged to have made to the effect that England's battles were won on the playing fields of Eton. It is extremely doubtful if the well-informed Duke would have made such a statement, in view of the fact that there were no playing fields at Eton in 1815 — or at any of the other great Public schools for that matter.

The period from 1750 to 1840 was of the darkest in the history of the Great Public schools of England; a period characterized by brutality, harshness and an attitude of general unenlightenment. Because of inadequate food, heat, bedclothes and supervised recreation, schoolboy riots were not at all infrequent. It would appear that the most popular pastimes were fighting and vice in its various forms.

It was not until the end of this period, *Nancy Cleaver.
when the Great Public School Revival took place under the leadership of such men as Arnold, Thring and Butler, that athletics first appeared in the schools along with a more humane atmosphere and a somewhat more realistic curriculum.

Nicholas Nickleby gives a more accurate account of the schools of the period than do some of our more subjective historians.

OUTLAW THE SPINNING REEL

SIR: Pretty soon now the fishing season will be upon us and every "Walter Mitty" from here to Schenectady will be cluttering up the landscape trying to make out like he's straight from the pages of Hemingway.

Year after year, hordes of pale-cheeked city dwellers have driven the poor, innocent fish half out of their wits with the relentless persistence of the N.K.V.D. on the trail of a code clerk turned tattle-tail.

Thank God the Department of Lands and Forests, in the interests of conservation, has tried to give the poor fish a square deal. A devoted corps of conservation officers have striven to enforce a series of regulations aimed at leaving a few specimens for the enjoyment of future generations of true sportsmen.

But one of the most devilish devices ever designed to deprive the fish of the opportunity for a fair fight has so far eluded the scrutiny of the department. I am referring, of course, to the heinous spinning reel. Any desk bound city man equipped with one of these nefarious gadgets could depopulate an entire waterway during his two week's vacation.

How many times, Mr. Editor, have we seen, day after day, some pathetic self-styled sportsman go out for a day's fishing, equipped only with the simple instruments recommended by Isaac Walton, to return empty-handed? Comes another season and this ruthless tyrant takes to the road with a spinning reel, given him at Christmas by some doting aunt.

To such as he, fishing is not a sport involving a true love of nature and respect for the fighting qualities of the proud fish, but a simple device for proving his dubious manhood. Balderdash! Better give him a barrel of shelled oysters to play with. That would show him up for what he really is — an unprincipled Coward!

Let us put a stop to this reckless waste of our natural resources, Mr. Editor.

Make the spinning reel illegal.

Sincerely,
"FISH LOVER".

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

Then answered the Lord unto Job out of the whirlwind, and said, Gird up thy loins now like a man: I will demand of thee, and declare thou unto me.

Wilt thou also disannul my judgement? wilt thou condemn me, that thou mayest be righteous? Hast thou an arm like God? or canst thou thunder with a voice like him? . . . Look on every one that is proud, and bring him low; and tread down the wicked in their place . . . Then will I also confess unto thee that thine own right hand can save thee. (Job 40:6-9, 12, 14.)

* * *

Then Job answered the Lord, and said, I know that thou canst do every thing, and that no thought can be withholden from thee. Who is he that hideth counsel without knowledge? therefore have I uttered that I understand not things too wonderful for me, which I knew not . . . I have heard of thee by the hearing of the ear: but now mine eye seeth thee. Wherefore I abhor myself, and repent in dust and ashes. (Job 42:1-3, 5, 6.)

Soviet Leaders Are Older Becoming More Conservative

These are two interesting trends in Soviet Russia: The Communist party leaders are growing older, and professional men are replacing the former revolutionists whose main interest was political theory. Bill Boss, Canadian Press Staff writer just returned to Canada from five months in Russia, says in this story—one of a series—that these trends may indicate a change in the regime's path towards its aim of a completely Communist state.

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Soviet Union's political leaders are getting older, perhaps more conservative, and certainly more impressed by the ability of the West to provide the good things of life.

There is no possibility that Communist Russia will turn capitalist. But a Western diplomat in Moscow — an avowed socialist—says Russia's ruling few now see much in the Western way of life to be incorporated, by Communist methods, into the Communist way.

"Except for Molotov, Voroshilov, Mikoyan and Kaganovitch, the people at the top all were children during the 1917 revolution," he says.

"Thirty years ago, Russia was run by men motivated solely by Communist theories. That was all they knew.

TECHNICIANS IN CHARGE

"Today it is run by technicians who know their individual jobs. They are business men operating under a system handed to them by the revolutionists. They are Communists, and working toward Communism's objectives—but the prime job is getting today's job done today.

"As administrators, they are doing better business all the time. They want to do bigger business. And they watch United States methods as if America was a magnet."

What he told me in Moscow was borne out many times during a trip I made through Soviet central Asia. For instance:

In Tashkent, the city architect spoke of housing projects growing "at an American pace."

The textile plant in Tashkent is directed by a man who spent 10 years in England studying British cotton production. An American who visited it told me it is one of the most modern in the world.

FOREIGN OFFICE IN MOSCOW—Decisions that affect the world's attitude toward the Soviet Union are made in this striking building on Smolensk square in Moscow. It is the foreign office, which also houses the ministry of foreign trade. The building was opened in 1952. All over Russia new construction goes on apace.—(CP Photo).

In Baku, an engineer spoke of the city's new industries as being set up "along the lines of American production."

Some foreign observers credit the business-man approach in government to Prime Minister Malenkov, more especially to Mme. Malenkov, a home woman said in Moscow to have held out with her husband for a better deal at last for Soviet womanhood.

Others say it was planned by Stalin and that decrees of the 19th Communist party congress in 1952, some months before he died, laid the foundation for the present program with its emphasis on a better life for the average Russian.

GOALS UNCHANGED

The goals of the government are the same as they always were. The 1952 congress put it this way: "To build a Communist society through gradual transition from socialism to communism, continuously to raise the living and cultural standards of society . . ."

It is the technique of the transition that may have been altered. The people at the top, with the exception of Malenkov, are almost the same as when Stalin was alive. But collective leadership seems to have replaced one-man dictatorship, and sound business practices seem to have replaced delusion by grandiose figures and statistics.

Some recent speeches, the drive for more consumer goods, the unprecedented frankness with which agricultural shortcomings have been discussed, strike many observers as the actions of people who have recognized that they've been kidding themselves.

MALENKOV BUSINESS MAN

Malenkov has been reported and photographed visiting farms, industries and housing developments. His reaction to a formal wecoming speech by the chairman of the enterprise is said to be:

"Comrade, your remarks sound like a report to the Central Committee. Forget it. Tell me what the situation is."

Then he makes a detailed inspection of the farm or plant. One westerner who has met Malenkov personally said he impressed him as the chairman of the board of a well-run company.

"Stalin was rather like a well-behaved tiger," he said. "Those about him behaved like a bunch of attendants who weren't sure when he was going to bite.

"Malenkov and those with him are more like practical business men together. The conversation rolls equally. He doesn't give the impression of being a man who felt himself to be in a hot seat."

DELEGATES OLDER

The socialist Western diplomat I interviewed had checked the ages of delegates to the 1939 and 1952 Communist congresses in Moscow.

In 1939, 49.5 per cent were 35 years old and under; in 1952, 5.9 per cent. In 1939, 32 per cent were between 36 to 40 years old; in 1952, 17.7 per cent. In 1939, 15.5 per cent were between 41 and 50; In 1952, 61.1 per cent. In 1939, only three per cent were over 50; in 1952, 15.3.

"Delegates who are getting older also are getting more conservative," he said.

PROFESSIONS IN LEAD

Another trend is a swing in the delegates' occupations. They used to be predominantly "workers"—it was and is still supposed to be a workers' revolution. Now they are predominantly professional men and intellectuals.

In 1952, 666 of the 1,192 party delegates were from university posts, 282 were engineers, 68 were farm technicians and only 176 had only secondary school education or less.

Part of the regime's current troubles in agriculture possibly may stem from the low representation of agricultural delegates in a country in which two-thirds of the population are peasants and other rural dwellers.

RUSSIAN SCHOOLBOYS — Schoolboys in the Soviet Union are the same as boys the world over when school is out—bubbling over with good spirits. These lads at Baku, Soviet Central Asia, are of Russian, Jewish and Azerbaijan extraction. They live in Baku's "Old City." Education in Russia has taken on new importance in recent years. Professional men and intellectuals are replacing "workers" as the predominant group in the Communist party congress. —(CP Photo).

Plan 'Satellite' Town Built For Milton

MILTON (CP) — A "satellite" town for 30,000 people the first of its kind in Ontario, is proposed for the outskirts of Milton, 20 miles west of Toronto.

Eleven thousand acres have been optioned to Douglas Henderson, Etobicoke land developer, by the Industrial Land Development Company.

Patterned after satellite towns built in Britain, around established communities, it is expected to surround Milton in 10 years. British town planners will assist in the planning.

Milton now has a population of 3,000.

Religion Dying In Soviet; Young People Lack Interest

Is there freedom of relegion in the Soviet Union under atheistic communism? Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer who has just returned to Canada from Moscow, says in this story—one of a series—that the answer is a qualified "yes." There is nothing to stop a Russian from going to church; but few go and all churches in Russia are gradually dying.

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Being religious is old-fashioned in Russia. Some people still go to church—but most Russians I spoke to just aren't interested.

In five months in the Soviet Union I attended many services: Christian, Jewish and Moslem. I visited some churches often, and at irregular intervals.

When I first went to the Baptist church and Moslem mosque in Moscow, I suspected the overflow congregations might be for my benefit. Subsequent visits indicate the services are always well attended.

RELIGION DYING

But religion in the Soviet Union is dying. The vast majority of congregations are aged. The sprinkling of children I saw will not fill a chapel 20 years from now.

"We are much more concerned about making our heaven in this world," said one student who never goes to church. "But this is a free country. If some want to go to church, they will not be prevented."

No one says Communist teaching now approves of religion, or that budding Communists may be religious. Periodically Pravda and Komsomolskaya Pravda, the young Communists' newspaper "unmask" in shocked terms party members who, while discharging their political obligations, have secretly gone to church, too. Their party organizations are urged to get them to correct their ways or summarily expel them.

Students scoff at religion. When you discover one whose grandmother goes to mass he is embarrassed. To most Russians I talked to, religion is an outmoded form of oppression favored by the ruling classes to keep the people happy with their lot.

Moscow today has only 37 churches of various denominations for its 6,000,000 inhabitants, but the Russian Orthodox faith apparently still has the support of the country peasantry.

ONE R.C. PRELATE

The Roman Catholic Church once had three archbishops and 14 bishops in what is now the Soviet Union. Now its only prelate is the Archbishop of Riga, with only 40 priests to carry on the church's work in the union. He once had 900 priests in Latvia alone.

The churches, if not the clergy, appear wealthy. Each church congregation pays a monthly tax of 40,000 rubles—$10,000 at the official rate of exchange. In the last state loan, Patriarch Alexei of Moscow and all Russia bought bonds worth 20,000,000 rubles.

The chance for state influence in religious matters is n[illegible] but it is there. Theoretically, patriarch, the Jews' chief r[illegible] and the Moslems' muftis are "independent." Most have publicly criticized Western religious leaders. All have had to support the Moscow-sponsored "peace" crusade.

Minareted St. Basil's cathedral on Red Square just outside the Kremlin, used to house an anti-religious exhibition. Now it is being restored as a cultural monument and the museum has been removed.

I saw no evidence that churchgoers are checked upon or bothered in any way. On the contrary the regime goees out of its way to stress to the foreigner the freedom of the people to worship if they want to.

IMAM SURPRISED

One day I interviewed the imam of the Moscow mosque. He said his congregation is 3,000 every Friday, 15,000 on holy days. He didn't know how many Moslems there are in Moscow.

As I ended our talk he looked confounded.

"But you have not asked about freedom of worship in the Soviet Union" he said.

"The foreign press says there is no freedom of worship in the Soviet Union. We are happy that you have come to see for yourself that there are no obstacles."

The mufti of central Asia and Kazakhstan, whom I met in Tashkent, is 93 years old. He said the Soviet Union under communism has been good for his religion.

"Before the revolution, religious leaders had too much power," he said. "Men were killed for not living according to the law is Islam, and Islam opposed the emancipation of women.

USE PERSUASION

"Today, if we feel a man is not living rightly, we try to persuade him to change his ways; but we have no authority.

"Islam attracts fewer today, but its membership is stronger. Men are better educated and when they stay with the church they give it a stronger membership. The Soviet system has been good for Islam."

I noticed that the newer generation of better educated Moslems were sparsely represented in his congregation.

Freedom of religion does not extend to religious books, all of which come from state publishing houses. They do not publish the Bible. Presumably they do not publish the Koran either.

My state-provided guide at Tashkent, a 26-year-old Russian, did not know we would meet the mufti. Afterwards he said: "It is an honor to be with such an important man."

I expressed my surprise.

"You do not understand," he said. "This is a free country. For those who believe in him and what he stands for, he is significant. They are my fellow-citizens and I respect them."

"What about the teachings of the party and the schools about a godless society?"

"That will come. All this is dying out. Some day there will be no need for a mufti and he will have no reality."

LENIN-STALIN MAUSOLEUM — Religion is dying in the Soviet Union, says Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer who recently spent five months in that Communist country. He says most Russians think being religious is old-fashioned. Materialism is more important to them. This picture shows the Lenin-Stalin mausoleum in Moscow, the country's most important materialistic shrine.—(CP Photo).

MOSLEMS PRAY—Some people in the Soviet Union still go to church, but they are a small minority of Russia's 210,000,000 citizens. Many faiths are represented in the country. Above, Moslems pray during a Friday service outside the central mosque in Tashkent, Soviet Central Asia. Branches of trees in the courtyard make handy hangers for shopping bags.—(CP Photo).

Duseks Defeated In Top Bout Of Windup Card

The hardbitten Dusek brothers, Ernie and Emil, went down to defeat at the hands of Ray Villmer and Ilio DiPaolo in the final pro wrestling match of the season last night at the Brock Arena. And they were beaten in two straight falls, before a small crowd. It was announced that wrestling would be suspended here until next autumn.

The tag team match in the top bout was a riot as long as it lasted. Two referees, Bert Maxwell and Johnny Rougeau, as well as the four grapplers were all in the ring at once frequently and all were into the scrapping, even the refs. Maxwell and Rougeau were both slugged by the Duseks, and Rougeau replied in kind with a few hard chops to the Dusek pans.

VILLMER FASTEST

There wasn't much team weight difference, Ernie going 246 and Emil 230, while DiPaolo was 246 and Villmer scaled just 228. Yet the latter was the fastest and smartest matman of the four. He won the first fall over Emil in 19 minutes with flying tackles and a slam, and he set up Ernie for the second fall, which was taken by DiPaolo in 17 minutes. Ilio and Ray had a good margin on straight grappling, and they could play it rough, too, but the villainous Duseks were bad business all the time, pulling their usual assortment of illegal stuff. They even managed at times to distract both referees for nasty work, and they used podgy Maxwell to good effect as a screen.

The main tilt's first round was a redhot sizzler, out of hand often with all four in there slugging and the refs trying vainly to keep track of the score. It was a free-for-all in the ring and had the crowd roaring throughout. The fans gave Villmer a big hand at the first fall.

ROUGH ON ILIO

Early in the second round, the brothers gave DiPaolo a real rough going-over, choking, slugging, rasping, etc. and etc. But the referees later caught up with them and kept more order. Ernie and the fast-moving Villmer collided in mid-ring on an attempted flying tackle by Ernie and leap by Ray, both going down dazed. Villmer revived in time to crawl to his corner, and DiPaolo jumped in fast to fall on the flattened Ernie for the fall. It was poetic justice, as earlier Villmer had his rival down when his brother jumped in and pulled him off in time to beat the count. The Duseks argued bitterly over this second fall, but that's the way it ended.

Pat Flanagan, at 232, and the 250-pound Lee Henning were both counted out of the ring in 24 minutes of the semi-final. The tough Lee had thrown Pat through the ropes and kept him from climbing back in. But the wily Irisher grabbed Henning by a foot and pulled him out, too, and they were slugging it out by the ringside pews when Maxwell tolled off the full count, the bout ending in a draw. Before that happened, each in turn punished the other with a hard armlock, and each had been tossed from the ring once. Henning was rougher but Pat faster, once using a flying leg scissors on a Lee tackle to down his man on his face. Pat was popular and Henning as usual riled the fans and ref.

JOHNNY GOOD

Good-looking Johnny Rougeau, weighing 224, downed 234-pound Alan Garfield in 21 minutes with a series of drop kicks and he systematically finished him up with a wide assortment of stuff. Right from the start, Rougeau tore after Garfield, who elected to wrestle in rugged fashion, and the fans pulled for Johnny. The latter was very fast and smart, often using accurate drop kicks coming off the ropes. Garfield got in some rough stuff for a spell but had to go outside the ropes later to escape vengeance. Rougeau showed a lot of smart mat tactics and easily earned the fall the way he finished it up.

EARLY FOOT—Jim Greengrass, left, of the Reds; the Yankees' Hank Bauer, centre; and the Red Sox' Billy Goodman did their part in demonstrating that the pitchers were not ahead of the hitters this spring.

OASA will continue group insurance for affiliated teams, the premium being $15 a team, regardless of the number of players on it. All signed members of the team, including players, coaches and the manager, are covered. The coverage starts from the date of signing an OASA certificate, if the coach's certificate is received by the agency within seven days. Maximum indeminity is $250 for expenses, hospital, medical, chiropractic, etc., resulting from injuries at games or practices and while travelling to same under supervision. There's more to it than that, but this will give clubs of the city and district a general idea, further info being available through your OASA representative, Harold Dormer in this area. The men's City League here was covered last season.

A bulletin from the OMHA states that 5,052 minor puckists were insured against injury last semester, with 31 claims paid for a total of $1,057.91, the average claim being $34.13. An item states in this bulletin: "The only claim refused in two years was one submitted for a boy who dropped a denture on the way from the dressing room to the ice. The insurance company did not feel this was a hockey accident." Any local players having a claim should file same at once with the OMHA office at 6 Glen Eden Crescent, Toronto 16. Lacrosse and grid players in Peterborough also are covered by insurance for injuries, these two sports and hockey being regarded as the more rugged team sports.

It's Shaping Up Well

Hugh Campbell has been working with Bill Sisler to raise enough money to ensure that four-month minor baseball school project for here this year. They have met with some success so far, and it looks like the plan will be put in operation shortly. A number of industries have promised to contribute some money, and the Mayor and Chief of Police endorse this school, as does the Recreation Commission. Film Council wants to help by working with Bill on the showing of films to public gatherings, and the chairman of a shop social and athletic club phoned us for infor on it. A workman voluntarily offered Mr. Campbell $10 toward the cost. Certainly, the proposal seems to have caught the public fancy—as being a good thing for the community—and we feel confident the necessary finances will be raised before long.

Quinte ball officials decided yesterday to climb aboard the Viaduct League baseball wagon, along with the Petes, Oshawa, Oakville and two Toronto teams, Dependables and Hoskings. They'll ante up $50 each time Toronto or Oakville visit Bella-Villa and $40 for Oshawa, though they were most reluctant to pay the Transporters a red cent. Bata Shoe Co. is sponsoring the Belleville entry and the team will be known as the Batas, with big Vern (Jumbo) Goyer playing manager. A colorful and capable husky in baseball, softball, hockey and football, Goyer should provide lots of fireworks in the coming diamond campaign. They have a fine new ball field and grandstand now in the Quinte centre.

Boys' Ball Organizing

Peterborough Boys' Baseball Association (official monicker for the former PMBA) re-organizes at a meeting Sunday aft at two in the Ashburnham Hall at Hunter and Mark streets. Open to last year's managers, coaches and sponsors, as well as any new ones interested in this setup. Bill Bennett, chairman of the recreation department sports committee, will be custodian-treasurer of the minor ball association again, and has equipment for a dozen teams and expects enough money from service clubs and the labor unions (who sponsored clubs last year) to outfit 20 teams. They're looking for that many, as they had 12 a year ago after a late start in organizing — about 180 boys playing minor ball from peewee to juvenile, inclusive. A well-run organization.

Pro wrestling finished for the season here last eve along the Rue Brock and it came about that the nasty Dusek brothers, Ernie and Emil, met defeat in two straight falls of the main bout. Ray Villmer and Ilio Dipaolo had the pleasure of flattening the rough pair to mark the last mat card up this way till next November or so. A lively scrap all the way, two refs and the four battlers reeling off a rip-snorter as confusion reigned and several hundred fans nearly raised the roof. The customers were tickled to see the downfall of Ernie and Emil. Semi-final saw unpopular Lee Henning and fast-stepping Pat Flanagan both counted out of the ring as they mixed among the onlookers. In the prelim, Johnny Rougeau took Alan Garfield into camp handily.

NEW YORK (AP) — Don Marshall of Buffalo Bisons, the highest-scoring first-year player in American Hockey League history, Wednesday was named as the league's outstanding rookie of the 1953-54 season by a unanimous vote of sports writers and broadcasters.

Marshall received the first-place votes of all six league cities for a maximum of 30 points. Larry Cahan, rugged defenceman with Pittsburgh Hornets, placed second with 10 points and Pete Wright, Buffalo defenceman, third with seven. Scoring was on a 5-3-1 basis with one ballot from each city.

Marshall, 22-year-old native of Montreal, will receive the Dudley (Red) Garrett Memorial Trophy and a $300 bonus.

A. Lucas Leads Loop

Alta Lucas rolled high three for the season this week in the Wednesday afternoon bowling league for girls with a count of 775, including games of 246, 291 and 238. Rockets had high game of 904 and top pinnage of 2568. Dinkies blanked Whizz-Bangs, as Terrors whitewashed Eager Beavers, the 2-1 triumphs going to Ramblers, Tornadoes, Cisco Kids and Rockets over Wild Cats, Bombers, Playfairs and Happy Gang in that order.

Jackson Given Suspension

NEW YORK (AP) — Hurricane Tommy Jackson Wednesday was given 30 days to reflect on his newly made decision that mother and the New York state athletic commission know best.

The commission called Tommy in for a talk about his behavior after he was defeated by Jimmy Slade Monday night in an upset that cost him any immediate chance of gunning for Rocky Marciano's heavyweight boxing crown.

The 20-year-old Hurricane was quoted in post-fight statements as saying he expected to lose and that his mother had bothered him by trying to restrict his social life.

The commission also was displeased when it learned Tommy had gone into the fight with a swelling on his right forearm without bothering to tell anyone about it.

The fighter apologized to the commission and to his mother, who was present, saying he was wrong in making his statements and blaming them on the disappointment of defeat. Commission chairman Bob Christenberry then imposed the 30-day suspension.

Burtol's Take Crown Major Bowling Loop

Burtol's won the Ostrander Trophy and the Major Bowling League title with 177 points as the long schedule ended this week. Paramount was next with 170, followed by Clapper's with 163, Patterson 156, Bartley 155, Plaza 146, Boucher 146, Sea-Horses 145, Crowley 144, Lock 130, Hewitt 127, Edwards 125, UEW 122, D & W 110, McLeod 110, Godson 104, Curtis 98, Wonder 94, Revenoors 88, Selkirk 88, Sherbrooke 77, Clements 68, E & B 67, and Silents 24.

A. Caccavella won the Cherney Trophy for high average, as J. Barnes took the Labatt Trophy for high three and M. Doris the Carling Cup for high single. Bartley's had season's high pinnage as this team and Burtol's tied for high team single.

LAST EVENING

On the final night's play, D & W rolled high pinnage of 3625, with top single of 1320. Martin's 811 led individuals and T. Eaton had best single of 346. The 7-0 wins went to Paramount, Plaza, Clapper's, D & W, and Lock over UEW, McLeod, Godson, Wonder and E & B; the 5-2 victories were taken by Silents, Clements, Sherbrooke, Crowley, Hewitt and Curtis against Boucher, Bartley, Edwards, Revenoors, Sea-Horses and Selkirks; a 4-3 split went to Patterson over Burtol's.

Good scores: M. Doris (313), 755, W. Harris (342) 716, R. Bassett 797, E. Downer 708, T. Collins 704, H. Killen 762, G. Niles 760, B. Northey 791, T. Eaton 736, A. Caccavella 723, E. Reynolds 751, R. Parnell 777, D. Brown 700, B. Noble 726, A. Whiteside 749, R. Balaam (306) 760, and A. Basciano (320) 721.

MARTELL NAMED

MONTREAL (CP)—Henry Martell, Canadian Professional Golfers Association champion from Edmonton, has been named captain of the seven-man Canadian team which will meet top American pros in the third annual Hopkins Trophy matches, it was announced Wednesday.

This year's matches will be played at the Mississauga Club, near Toronto, June 10-12.

The announcement was made jointly by the CPGA and the International Golf Association, which sponsors the tournament. The full make-up of the team will be announced in Toronto next Tuesday.

Gordon J. Stringer, IGA vice-president, said the CPGA has decided that in future its champion will automatically be named to the team and appointed captain. Martell won the CPGA title last year at Royal Quebec.

CHAMPION SUSPENDED

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Stanley Dancer, three-time driving champion of Yonkers Raceway, was suspended for three days Wednesday for an "indifferent drive" of First Dreams in Tuesday night's fourth race.

It was the first suspension for the 26-year-old harness racing driver from New Egypt, N.J., since he started in 1947. He won the Yonkers championship in 1950, 1951 and 1953.

HURRICANE DIPS

NEW YORK (AP) — Hurricane Tommy Jackson dipped to fifth place Wednesday in the latest Ring Magazine heavyweight ratings while Jimmy Slade, his conqueror, became No. 4 challenger for Rocky Marciano's title.

The Jackson upset here Monday shuffled the ratings in both the heavy and light-heavy classes for Slade had been No. 3 in the 175-pound class. As the New York State heavyweight titleholder, he was moved to the bigger division.

Ezzard Charles, the former heavyweight champion from Cincinnati who fights Marciano for the title June 17, remains the leading contender. Cuba's Nino Valdes is rated No. 2.

Bobby Brown Sure He'll Stick To Medicine

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bobby Brown, a one-time $35,000 bonus baby who used his New York Yankee pay to put himself through medical school, is back home after 19 months far eastern duty as an army doctor and determined to devote full time to his first love—medicine.

But he hopes to put in two months at his old job as a Yankee third-baseman before he quits baseball.

"If the Yankees want me until July 1 I am ready," said 29-year-old Bobby.

"But let me make something plain. This is merely for two months. On July 1, my residency begins in the San Francisco County Hospital."

Cards Edge Brooks 6-5 In 10 Innings Steal Helps Victory

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

St. Louis Cardinals are stealing their way back into the National League pennant picture.

Running bases with an abandon no Redbird team has shown since the last St. Louis flag winner in 1946, manager Eddie Stanky's club has moved to within a game of the top.

In 12 games the Cards have stolen 12 bases. They need only half a dozen more to equal their total for the entire 1953 season, but Stanky claims there is no radical difference between the base running tactics of the 1954 outfit and last year's club. "We're trying a few things and they're working," he said.

A steal figured directly in the result of Wednesday's game when the Cards edged Brooklyn 6-5 in 10 innings. Bonus baby Dick Schofield, running for Ray Jablonski who had walked with two out, stole second on pitcher Jim Hughes and rode home on Steve Bilko's single.

MUSIAL STARS

Stan Musial of the Cards collected two singles and a double, driving in two runs as he raised his average to .356.

The defeat, Brooklyn's second in a row in St. Louis, dumped the Dodgers into a third-place tie. They went west Monday in first place. Cincinnati Redlegs, who replaced the Dodgers at the top Tuesday, stayed there with Wednesday's 8-4 verdict over Pittsburgh Pirates. New York Giants moved into a tie with Brooklyn by nipping Milwaukee 3-1.

Rain and bad weather caused the other five scheduled major league games to be postponed.

Spectacular relief pitching by little Jackie Collum preserved the Cincinnati victory after the Reds rallied for five runs in the third inning to gain a 7-4 lead. Collum stopped the Pirates on one hit through the last 6 1-3 innings after they had battered starter Fred Baczewski for nine.

Ruben Gomez pitched six shutout innings and drove in the first New York run at Milwaukee before leaving the game with a wrenched back after running the bases in the seventh.

Quebec Aces Win Title; Blank Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — Quebec Aces have captured the Quebec Hockey League championship and will be the first eastern Canada representatives to compete against the Western Hockey League winner for the new Duke of Edinburgh Trophy.

Backed by the stellar net-minding of goalie Jack Gelineau, the Aces shut out Ottawa Senators 2-0 Wednesday night in the deciding game of their best-of-nine finals to capture the Thomas O'Connell Memorial Trophy.

The Aces whooped it up in the dressing room following the game and sipped champagne as they prepared for their trip home to Quebec before leaving for the West. There they will meet either Vancouver Canucks or Calgary Stampeders in the east-west final. The best-of-seven WHL series is currently tied at two games each.

GRUELLING SERIES

The Quebec win called a halt to the gruelling series in which the two teams travelled back and forth between Ottawa and Quebec to play nine games in 11 days.

The Aces won the series 5-4 in games. They upset all predictions with victories in the last three starts—two of them via the shutout route—to turn the tables on the Senators, who once held a comfortable 4-2 edge in the series.

Gelineau was the big gun for the winners, chalking up his second shutout in as many nights to bring to three the number of times the Aces humbled the Senators in this series.

Gerry Cabana scored for Aces in the second period and the other marksman was Ray Powell, who rammed home the final tally of the night in the second minute of the third period.

No Official OHA Delay Protest

KEMPTVILLE (CP) — W. B. George, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said Wednesday night he has received no official protest over the delay in completing the eastern Canada Memorial Cup final.

He had received word from J. Harper Parry of Lethbridge, Alta., secretary-manager of the Western Junior Hockey League "regretting" the delay, but little could be done about it.

George said "we are scheduling the games as soon as we can get them scheduled," but rinks in which the games must be played have previous commitments. The eastern series could be played only when the rinks concerned are available.

The eastern champions were to have been declared by April 27. St. Catharines currently is tied 1-1 with Quebec City in the best-of-seven eastern final. Edmonton Oil Kings, western finalists, meanwhile are marking time.

Sudbury Makes Second Bid For Allan Cup

SUDBURY (CP) — The hockey-mad city of Sudbury makes its second bid in history for the Allan Cup and Canadian senior hockey supremacy next week against Penticton V's.

Sudbury Frood Tigers captured the coveted trophy back in 1937 and since that time there has been a lull here in both competition and interest.

This season coach Maxie Silverman and his Wolves nosed out the strong Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds for the Northern Ontario Hockey Association's southern group's league championship, then got by Iroquois Falls Eskimos, Owen Sound Mercurys and Matane Que., Red Rocks in a series of battles to the eastern Canada title. They leave for the West and the Allan Cup final today.

STRONG IN GOAL

Strong in goaltending and forward strength and average on defence, the Wolves are confident they can win. Outside of centre Hub Beaudry, who fractured an ankle in the Matane series, the team is ship shape, well rested and ready for the big series.

For coach Silverman it will be his second bid for a national triumph. He managed Sudbury Cub Wolves to a Memorial Cup championship in 1932, beating out Winnipeg Monarchs. Three years later he took Copper Cliff Redmen to the Memorial Cup finals but was defeated by Winnipeg.

He also has a 1-1 record in world amateur championship tries. In 1928 the Wolves won the world title at Prague, Czechoslovakia, but 11 years later Silverman's Canucks lost to the same Czechs.

The Wolves will be pinning much of their hopes this time on the goaltending of Al Millar, who has been turning in brilliant performances ever since the team hit the playoffs. In case of injuries, the team has capable Lorne Anderson for a replacement.

On defence the Wolves have four ex-professionals in Orval Lavell, Yogi Kraiger, Fiori Goegan and Johnny Baby and two more speedsters in Lennie Speck and Billy Barrett.

Hint Collision In Big Auto Industry

NEW YORK (AP) — Attorney-General Herbert Brownell said Wednesday night the justice department is concerned about possible anti-trust collusion in the multi-millio dollar auto industry.

In a speech prepared for the Economic Club of New York, he added:

"We know well that increasing concentration in an important industry contains dangerous potentialities. . . we want to find out whether this pattern is nothing more than the consequence of competitive forces freely at work, or whether any one or more of the facts which amount to collusion or the suppression of competition has been at work."

His remarks followed by only a few days a disclosure by the justice department's anti-trust division that it is looking into four specific phases of the auto field.

The division expressed concern with the growing concentration of production in the hands of a few big companies with a resultant shrinkage in business among the so-called independent motor firms.

The auto industry has gradually constricted over the years until today the "big three"—Ford, General Motors and Chrysler—produce and market an overwhelming percentage of the country's cars.

Bancroft Girls Tour City

Conducting a field trip in connection with their commercial studies, nine girls from North Hastings high school in Bancroft arrived in Peterborough today.

The girls are looking forward to a future in office work and are particularly interested in court reporting. This afternoon they met with A. Douglas Vaisey, county court stenographer to learn some of the secrets of his trade.

"We hope to learn a lot on our trip," Dorothy Tinney, spokesman for the group told The Examiner. Miss Tinney is president of the students council and like each of the others girls is specializing in commercial subjects.

Upon arrival this morning the nine girls, accompanied by commercial teacher George McKelvey met assistant Chamber of Commerce manager Robert Hamilton. The Chamber of Commerce arranged the girls' tour of Peterborough offices.

This morning the girls visited the Outboard Marine offices and were shown office routine by personnel manager Alvin M. Metcalfe. After lunch they toured the CGE with Ben Smith and the Quaker Oats plant with personnel manager W. Stewart James.

With Miss Tinney and Mr. McKelvey were these eight girls: Joan Seaborn, Libbie McGillivray, Dorothy Bierworth, Phyllis Peaseau, Aileen Crosby, Norma Jean Sarginson, Heather Graham and Betty Belisle.

Soble Puts Teams On Sale For $10,000

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton Tigers and Hamilton Cubs were put on the block Wednesday by owner Ken Soble.

The asking price is "approximately" $5,000 for each.

If no one offers to buy, there will be no hockey in Hamilton next season because Soble feels "it is neither wise nor desirable that I personally continue to operate hockey clubs."

He estimated his total losses in hockey during the 1953-54 season at $45,000—$22,000 by the junior Cubs, $23,000 by the senior Tigers.

Figures indicate that over 80,000 fans paid just over $95,000 to watch the two teams play hockey this season.

LOT OF MONEY

"That's a lot of money and maybe a record for gate receipts and attendance for Hamilton hockey," Soble said.

"My chief reason for getting out of hockey isn't financial; my other interests and my general lack of hockey 'know-how' make such a move advisable."

A couple of offers have been made for the senior franchise.

Anti-Colonial Party Scores Clean Sweep

BELIZE, British Honduras (Reuters)—The anti-colonial People's United party headed today toward a clean sweep of all nine elected seats in the 15-member legislative council as results of heavy voting in this Central American British colony's first universal suffrage elections became known.

The National party, strongest opponents of the People's United, suffered a severe setback in Wednesday's polling, when Herbert Fuller, its strongest candidate, lost by 101 votes to Philip Goldson, weakest People's party candidate, in a poll of 1,855 votes.

Leigh Richardson, 30-year-old Negro leader of the People's United party, who has urged voters to "oust the British," swamped two opponents.

Tommy Gorman, after leading Chicago Black Hawks to their first Stanley Cup triumph, signed a five-year contract to manage Montreal Maroons 20 years ago today. Gorman became the only man to win the trophy two successive years with different teams when the Maroons beat Toronto Maple Leafs in the 1935 cup final.

THE ALUMNAE OF ST. JOSEPH'S HOSPITAL gave a banquet in honor of the 1954 graduates on Wednesday evening at Club Aragon. They had as guest speaker Alderman Mrs. Alene E. Holt, who is pictured here with Alumnae president Miss Joyce Ellery (at left), Mrs. Joseph Walsh, banquet convener, and at right is Miss Patricia Neville, president of the graduating class. Lady Alderman Nurses' Alumnae Speaker

Nurses, coming graduates and guests were diverted from the usual thoughts and topics with them, during St. Joseph's Nurses' Alumnae banquet Wednesday evening, while they listened to Peterborough's first lady alderman tell of her civic activities to date.

Mrs. Alene E. Holt, titled her address "Pulse of Peterborough," which is the title also of a series of radio panel discussions planned by City Council.

"I strongly urge all women, whether they are following a career or a home life, to belong to an organization or service club that is doing some work for the community," said Mrs. Holt. "A busy woman is a well and a happy woman."

Women are coming more prominently into civic affairs, politics, and the professions every day are helping to build a stronger and better place to live, Mrs. Holt remarked. "Nurses have opportunities that lay women do not have in serving the public, and I urge you to strive to do your very best. We have to have your profession to live."

"Life on council has been more than interesting, and busy, but I'm glad I was elected because I like people, a lot of people, and am happiest when I am working for them," said the speaker about her own work. "I have met some unusual instances, but in the main they have been enjoyable."

In addition to attending three or four council or committee meetings per week since January 1st, the lady alderman has attended luncheons, dinners, poured tea on numerous occasions, represented women of the city out of town, officiated at receptions for dignitaries, opened the community chest campaign, been chairman at the Salvation Army musicale, presented a hockey trophy, appeared on behalf of the mayor at functions, and has even tried to pick a winner on a radio program.

Council work also comes to her home, over the telephone, and these calls are appreciated by the alderman and other members of the council, because they are really "the pulse of Peterborough," without them civic officials are never sure if they are pleasing or displeasing their citizens, Mrs. Holt explained. Of course they are not always able to do what the caller asks them to.

She also gave a list of the standing committees of the City Council and mentioned the various boards on which there is civic representation.

Mrs. Holt was introduced by Miss Vernica O'Leary and was thanked by Miss Jean Arnott.

WELCOMES GUESTS

Welcome to the 150 guests and to the 19 special guests of the graduating class was expressed by alumnae president Miss Joyce Ellery.

The toast to the graduates was proposed by Miss Ethel Cavanagh. In replying to this gesture Miss Marion Sprackett mentioned the close relationship of this class and expressed appreciation to the parents, some of the mothers being present, the spiritual directors, Sisters and doctors and lay graduates who have helped them through the three-year course.

The graduates then complied with a request to sing their class song, the words composed by themselves, and for this they went to the Club Aragon stage giving guests an opportunity to see them in becoming evening gowns instead of the usual uniform.

GRADUATES INTRODUCED

Each graduate was introduced by Miss Adeline Bradamore. They are Barbara Connelly, Agnes Doris, Rita Healey, Ann LaPointe, Isabel Leahy and Marie Woodhouse of Peterborough, Mary Curtin and Patricia Lucas of Lindsay, Rita Doris and Anna Marie O'Toole of Otonabee, Thelma Dion of Tweed, Ellen Houlihan of Codrington, Mary McCarthy of Keene, Patricia Neville of Ottawa, Teresa O'Rourke of Campbellford, Eunice Ricketts of Mactier, Marion Sprackett of Gilmour, Noreen Stevens of Minden and Madeline Young of Ennismore.

Entertainment was provided by a dancing class from Lindsay, directed by Miss Marjorie Walsh. This included tap and soft shoe routines by a group of 8 to 10 year old boys and girls, and a group of teen age girls.

Chairman for the dinner was Mrs. William Larocque. The arrangements for the evening were in charge of Mrs. Joseph Walsh.

Home and School Association News

ARMOUR HEIGHTS SCHOOL

President Mrs. Fred Shaw gave the Armour Heights Home and School Asociation members a most interesting though concise report of the recent convention in Toronto .

Dr. T. E. Currier spoke on mental health week, May 2nd to 8th, and stated "If we create an atmosphere of mental health in the Home and School, it will create mentally healthy children."

Harold Dinesen who recently competed in the Kiwanis Festival favored with two piano selections.

An electric tea kettle for use of the teachers was presented to principal Mr. W. L. McNeil by Mrs. Stuart Laing.

The Rev. Dr. N. D Patterson was guest speaker and spoke of work in connection with religious education in the schools He recomended "Jesus and the Kingdom" by Ernest Hays for grade 6 study.

He said this education is not so much to emphasize dates, but to try to give children a better knowledge of social periods or moments in history of the Bible. He outlined some differences in religious leadership which they have.

"Influence of the home, school and church working together will have our children become greater citizens of Canada," the minister concluded.

Refreshments were served with Mrs. Lang and comittee in charge.

10-Man Crew Safe As Vessel Burns

BOSTON (AP)—Fire swept the 116-foot Gloucester, Mass., beam trawler Brookline on the Grand Banks early today.

United States coast guard headquarters was advised in messages relayed by other fishing craft that the Brookline's 10-man crew is safe aboard the Boston fishing dragger Columbia.

The U. S. coast guard cutter Humboldt was sent from the Argentia, Nfld. base.

French Ignore Strike Call

PARIS (Reuters)—The French trade union movement Wednesday suffered one of its worst setbacks when the bulk of the country's workers ignored a call for a 24-hour general strike.

The strike order came from the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor, France's most powerful labor group, and the Catholic unions, after months of intensive preparation.

The Socialist Workers Force and the independent unions, though supporting a campaign to raise minimum wages from the equivalent of about $64 a month to $70, abstained from the strike. They considered it was being used by the Communists to embarrass the government at the opening of the Geneva talks.

Reports from all parts of the country showed that even in traditional Communist strongholds such as the railways and the nationalized car factories the stoppage was only partial. No public services were completely disrupted.

COLONEL AGNES NEILL CHAPTER

The Colonel Agnes Neill Chapter IODE met Tuesday evening in the YWCA with regent Mrs. R. Ardern preisding.

Instead of holding monthly work meetings, the members agreed to take work home from the regular meetings, each member being responsible for a certain amount of work each year.

An article by Mrs. Cecil Brown, entitled, "Our Way of Life", was read by Empire and World Affairs convener Mrs Betty Marshall.

Mrs. A. Gertley gave the report prepared by Mrs. G. Barns on the provincial meeting in Hamilton.

It was decided to hold the picnic the second week in June this year.

Mrs. William Cuppy announced final plans for the Spring Tea to to be held this Saturday at the YWCA.

Following the business meeting, the members were entertained by an interesting and informative film entitled "Refreshment Through the Years" shown by local representatives of Coca-Cola Company. Free samples of their product were enjoyed at lunch which was served by Mrs A. Lacey's group.

HUGE OWL

Largest species of Canadian owl, the horned owl is nearly two feet in length.

Seeding Patchy Across Province

Peach blossoms should be out in Welland county next week; early potatoes were planted in Brant last week; most of the early sweet corn is underground in Middlesex; sap buckets are stored away until the spring of 1955.

"Exceptional" and "excellent" are repeated in the references to Ontario's fields of fall wheat, pastures and new seedings. Also recurring in the county reports is the comment that more top dressing of wheat and meadows with nitrogen has been included in the new season's farm program.

Demand for commercial No. 1 grain has been keen in Perth county; dairy cattle prices at district sales in Middlesex have been disappointing, but Waterloo county reports $250 to $300 average at recent sales. Lambton says "new clover fields are looking 'immense'."

There has been an increase in sales of commercial fertilizer, forage crop seeds such as brome, orchard grass, ladino clover and so on.

Seeding has been patchy across the province, and only on the higher land. This work will be in full swing next week in Haldimand. The soil has firmed particularly fast in Huron and moisture conditions are not as hindering as might have been expected. In the Guelph district a lot of lighter cattle will likely be carried over on grass.

OBITUARIES

MRS. FRANK KENNEALLY

The death of Mrs. Frank Kenneally, 33 Tenth St., New Toronto, occured suddenly at her home Tuesday. Her maiden name was Margaret Egan of Toronto where she met and married her husband, formerly of Peterborough.

Mrs. Kenneally was the aunt of Frances and Helen Murphy; Camilla, Lorraine, Beryl and John Egan, Toronto; and sister-in-law of Misses Mae and Cecile Kenneally, 225 Sherbrooke St., Peterborough. The funeral will be Friday at 9:15 a.m. from the F. Rosar funeral home, 467 Sherbourne St., Toronto, to St. Theresa's church, New Toronto for requiem mass at 10 o'clock. Burial will be at Mount Hope cemetery.

MRS. THOMAS S. WOOD

Mrs. Thomas Samuel Wood, formerly Lily Etta Wilson, 69, died today while travelling on a train near Kingston. She was returning to her home in Buckhorn after a vacation in Nova Scotia.

Born in Lindsay, daughter of the late William H. Wilson and Mary Anne Welsh, Mrs. Wood taught in public schools in Bobcaygeon, Oshawa and Whitby, before settling in Buckhorn with her husband in 1913. She was an active member and secretary-treasurer of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church in Buckhorn for many years. Mrs. Wood also taught Sunday school and played the church organ in Buckhorn.

Besides her husband she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Everett Graham (Helen) of Buckhorn, and a son, Ted, of Grand Rapids, Mich.; sisters and brothers, Mrs. Thomas Endicott (Laura), Mrs. Gordon Byrnell (Pearl), Mrs. Edna Ford, Jack and George, all of Lindsay; and Mrs. Robert McBurney (Mildred) of Kenora, and Mrs. Morley Gilroy (Ruby) of Enniskillen. There are two grandchildren also.

Funeral service will be on Saturday, at 2:00 p.m., from the Hendren funeral home, Lakefield, for burial in Lakehurst cemetery. The Rev. M. Heslip anud the Rev. J. Cathcart will officiate.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

J. McGOVARIN, Scribe

2nd ARMOUR SCOUT GROUP

The annual father and son banquet was held in St. Luke's parish hall on Friday evening with about 120 present.

Seated at the head table were the Rev. Canon Walter Gilling, Prof. F. Halbus, Mr. Parker, chairman Ed McDonald, rector's warden Gordon Maniece, C M Bill King, ACMs Harry Willis, Miss Diane Pearse, Miss Elizabeth Cutmore, Keith Stewart, district commissioner Ed Cotton, scouter Don Barclay and Vern Orr. Canon Gilling said Grace.

Immediately following the dinner, a sing song was held with Miss Pearse at the piano and Bill Hepburn song leader.

Canon Gilling welcomed all present and wished the leaders continued success. Ross Greenley moved a vote of appreciation to the Ladies' Auxiliary under president Mrs. Bob Miller for the meal and to C. Phyllis Braund of East City Flower Shop for the centrepiece of cut flowers at the head table.

In a toast to Scouting, Skipper G. reported that St. Luke's could claim to be the oldest active group in the city as the first report shows than an Ashburnham troop met in St. Luke's church back in 1911-12 and that the scoutmaster was district commissioner in 1912-13. The first registration now on file is of 1924 at which time V. Sedgewick was scouter and reported that the troop had been in existence from 1919. Two registered members of that troop were present at the banquet in the person of H. Nokes and Morgen Perry.

Former Scouter Hank Nokes replied to the toast.

District commissioner Ed Cotton outlined some of the future activities of Scouting in this district and urged the boys to first class work in order to try for a place on the membership for the 1955 World Jamboree at Niagara Falls, Ont. Commissioner Ed then presented buttonhole badges to assistant cubmasters. Diane Pearse and Elizabeth Cutmore. Collector's badge went to Doug Price, swimmer to Bob Duder and 2nd year service to Doug Pammett. The sixer competition prize went to Bob Kent and his six, Bob Asselstine, Art McNab, Dale Walker, Brian Neck and David Pilley.

Former Scouter H. Nokes presented the following Scout awards:

Peter Sanderson, shield for best all round scout; Don Morrison and Alan Roberts, fire-lighting kits as runners-up.

Patrol competition shield went to the Beavers, P. L. Don Morrison, APL Gord Starr, Lynn Walker, Don Price, Ray Baptie, Garry McFaul, Peter Salonius. Camp badges to Gary Roberts, Darrell Greenley, Garry Barclay and Gord Starr.

In the introduction of the guest speaker, Mr. Parker stated that Prof. F. Halbus, physical educator of OCE Toronto, proved to be a violinist of repute at the age of nine and became an athlete of renown, being sprint champion at the Coronation of 1911 for ¼-mile and also Dominion sprint champion, British Empire, for the same distance.

Prof. Halbus spoke on St. George, the patron saint of England and the history behind the emblem, touching on the Boys Brigade and the starting of Scouting under General Baden Powell. The professor pointed out to the dads the value of being a pal to their lads, that the secret of building real fellows is in the ground work, partly through the hero worship of the lad for his dad, in the teacher at school, in the home influence, up through higher education and then into the world in general, summing up "Know your lad".

Mr. Balfour Duder moved a vote of thanks to Prof. Halbus for his message.

SACRED HEART PACK

At our last meeting, Bert Bailey was successful in passing his first star. Jimmy Devlin has only one test to pass and then he will have his one eye open. Jim is on the "sick list" right now, but we hope that he will be back with us soon. Jackie Meagher is another lad who has almost completed his first star.

Last week, Brian Yonge left the pack "waiting list" and became a new chum. Our new chums are progressing. It looks as though Ron Collins, Peter Coughlin and Johnny and Jimmy Cunningham will be invested very shortly. I am sure the rest of the new chums will not be too long behind these four.

At present, Billy Harrington is the only cub in our pack who can boast of having both his eyes open. But I am sure it won't be long now until Art Carey, Ron Harding, Bob DeNoble and Terry Boyle will be right up to him.

Edward Morin was recently appointed acting second of the red six. He was formerly a member of the brown six, but was transferred for this promotion.

We think the 4th Peterborough scout group must have set some kind of record. It is our honest belief that our group contains more brothers than any other boy scout group of its size in Peterborough.

Bob DeNoble, Jimmy Collins and Peter Seabrook all have brothers in the troop. As for brothers within the pack, we have Albert and Billy Hatton, Jimmy and Johnny Cunningham and Jack and Ron Harding. The next two names on the pack "waiting list" are Leonard DeNoble and Grant Collins. Leonard has a brother in the troop and Grant has a brother in both the pack and the troop. If we were to go further into the "waiting list" (which has now grown to 13 names), we would find the names of four more lads who have a brother in the pack or troop, or both.

At present our pack consists of 30 cubs and four leaders. Both the cubs and leaders come from every part of Peterborough, although the majority come from Sacred Heart parish, three from St. John the Baptist parish, two from the Immaculate Conception parish, two from St. Peter's parish, two from St. Alphonsus' parish, and one lad comes in every week from the Warsaw road. Two of our leaders

8-Man Team Aids Pakistan

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Harvard University announced Wednesday night the graduate school of public administration is sending an eight-man team of Canadian and American experts to Pakistan to aid that country's planning board draw up a comprehensive program for economic development.

The project, made possible by a Ford Foundation grant, calls for the eight advisers to remain in Pakistan for 18 months.

The eight-man team will include experts in general economics, finance, water and power development, agricultural economics, international trade and industrial development.

LIFE NOT WORTH LIVING?

Then wake up the liver!

You know that sour, sunk, constipated feeling? It may be caused by the liver. If your liver doesn't pour out up to two pints of bile a day your food may not digest properly, gas bloats up your stomach and you feel that life's just not worth living. That's when the liver needs mild gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills. These famous vegetable pills help stimulate the flow of liver bile. Soon your digestion starts functioning properly and you feel that happy days are here again! Don't ever stay sunk. Always keep Carter's Little Liver Pills on hand. Only 37c.

Gems Stolen

NEW YORK (AP)—Two bandits trussed and robbed a jeweler of more than $190,000 worth of gems and $1,050 in cash Wednesday night, police said. Joseph Goldblatt reported he was accosted by the men as he entered his 16th-floor office in a Manhattan building. They grabbed the cash and then scooped unset stones and gold and platinum settings into a pouch, ignoring a handful of gems which slipped through their fingers and scattered about the floor.

A HAT SHOW was the entertainment feature of a most delightful luncheon party held by Trinity church WA groups on Wednesday. Winning topper was the "Vitamin Hat" modelled by Mrs. J. L. Thompson (front left. Showing in the picture are carrots, banana, pineapple and parsley but there were other fruits and vegetables on it too. Mrs. R. J. Allen (front right) wears the true "Easter Hat"—a nest full of baby bunnies. Mrs. H. A. Mitchell, who is checking on the vitamins, is wearing "The Old Grey Bonnet" and her part in the program was to sing the old favorite song. Mrs. N. D. Seaton (centre) was the commentator and decked herself in a gay nineties model with huge feather. The hat worn by Mrs. S. L. Smoke (at right) was a bride's hat about 40 years ago and in it the lady made her first calls. From the back it looked something like a tea-cosy but the front brim is extravagantly flower-trimmed.

Hat Show Feature Of WA Luncheon

Original creations and hats designed some years ago by famous name designers were modelled in a hat show presented by Trinity church WA groups to entertain their more than 100 guests at a delightful luncheon Wednesday.

The luncheon was actually the money-making project of group B and group D. The WA as a whole has embarked on an ambitious re-decorating program and each group is asked to put forth effort to increase the funds.

President Mrs. R. J. Allen extended a warm welcome to the guests who were from other groups and organizations of the church and from churches of the city.

Leaders of the two groups, Mrs. Norman Hamley and Mrs. W. A. Davern, were responsible for the luncheon arrangements and Mrs. N. D. Seaton was co-ordinator and commentator of the program.

Doll-size spring hats in all of the best-loved styles as table decorations were in keeping with the entertainment feature — a hat show. It was not, however, a style show, but sort of a memory show. Hats ranging from half a century in age and one fringed jacket type garment worn 100 years ago were on the "sublime" side, and all very lovely, while the "ridiculous" was expressed in two different ways and one of them won the only prize.

Commentator Mrs. N. D. Seaton remarked that "head coverings have been very important for centuries. They have sometimes meant honor to the wearer and at other times amusement to her friends."

Mrs. H. A. Kearns modelled the "doll hat" with beautiful roses on the brim, especially designed for garden parties. Mrs. S. L. Smoke displayed an unusual model said to have been a bride's hat 40 years ago and Mrs. C. H. Crowe was wearing a bonnet type hat with side feather also about that age.

The more modern "suit hat" modelled by Mrs. J. W. Fortner was called a "bird hat" because of its appearance of wings. Mrs. Chas. Huffman showed an unbecoming but beautifully hand-made sailor. Mrs. W. R. Philp was in a crownless garden party hat of 1913. Mrs. Gordon Maxwell appeared "dressed for calling" as in about 1890 wearing a handsome black cape and bonnet. Mrs. Paterson was the lady modelling the very old jacket and well kept black velvet broad-brimmed hat.

The "walking hat" displayed by Mrs. Maude Dunford was selected by the judges for its beauty. It was of taupe velevet, turned up at the sides with a large feather on top. Mrs. Hamley wore the "elevated", a modern style wide-Morton's hat was an example wide brimmed straw juantily trimmed up Mrs. J. Morton's hat was an example of the sharp turn to the side usually noticed in each decade.

Mrs. J. L. Thompson's was the "vitamin hat" that won the prize for originality. Judges were Mrs. Lyda Telford and Miss Elsie Bennett. Also in this class was the "bunny hat" worn by Mrs. R. J. Allen. This was actually a nest full of toys with movable heads that bobbed as she walked. Such a creation certainly should have been in the recent Easter parade.

Before the models appeared there was most pleasing entertainment by pianist Mrs. G. N. Moncrief who selected a group of three entirely different numbers. Mrs. Moncrief also played for the hat parade.

Mrs. H. A. Mitchell put the crowning touch to the event when she appeared in bonnet and shawl and sang "Put on your old gray bonnet" with all the guests joining her in the chorus. She received "special mention" from the judges "for bringing back memories."

Cheap Haircuts End

SMYRNA, N. Y. (AP)—Two-bit haircuts ended here Wednesday night. John Widger, who claimed to be the only barber in New York State with a 25-cent shop, retired after half a century in the business. He gave his last haircut and locked the shop that he said had given him a comfortable living at a quarter a customer.

Designer Goes To U.S.

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. (CP)—M. J. Brennan, flying-boat designer, sailed Wednesday night for talks with American aircraft firms about Britain's three 140-ton Princess flying boats. Work on the flying boats, which have cost more than £10,000,000, has been suspended while tests are made on powerful airscrew-turbine engines for them.

Must Observe Rental Limits

HAMILTON (CP)—One cardinal principle in the administration of rental housing under the National Housing Act is strict observance of the rental-income limits set down by the housing authorities, D. B. Mansur, president of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation said Wednesday.

He stressed this point during a discussion at the second annual conference of housing authorities.

Representatives of 23 local housing authorities, from all parts of the province, are taking part in the two-day conference.

Representatives of various housing authorities agreed with a proposal by Mr. Mansur that incomes be reviewed every six months, that families having incomes above the maximum be given six months' notice to leave.

Planning Minister W. K. Warrender said it is the responsibility of municipal governments to approach federal and provincial governments if housing is needed.

Of Broadcast News Elected President

TORONTO (CP)—R. J. Rankin of the Halifax Chronicle-Herald Wednesday was elected President of Broadcast News Limited, the company through which Canadian Press news is supplied to Canada's private radio and television stations.

Mr. Rankin succeeds Roy Thomson as president. Gordon Love of radio station CFCF Calgary was re-elected vice-president.

Other Broadcast News directors are Donald Jamieson of CJON St. John's, Nfld.; A. F. Mercier, Quebec L'Evenement - Journal; Paul Lepage, CKCV Quebec; Philip S. Fisher, Southam Company, Montreal; K. D. Soble, CHML Hamilton; W. J. Blackburn, London Free Press; and D. B. Rogers, Regina Leader-Post.

Little Change In Taxes

EDMONTON (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton indicated Wednesday that there will be little if any change in taxes for years to come.

He told the Canadian Club that despite existence of the hydrogen and atomic bombs, the need for conventional weapons is just as great.

He noted that Canada is nearing the end of the big volume of defence construction—$700,000,000 in the last four years—and said the money saved now could be poured into new equipment, especially aircraft. New planes had to be planned seven or eight years ahead.

Writer's Defence Struck Out By Justice

VANCOUVER (CP) — Ottawa writer Blair Fraser's defence in a libel suit brought by Gordon S. Wismer was struck out Tuesday by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane because the writer refused to obey a court order.

Unless the decision is appealed, Mr. Wismer now may enter an interlocutory judgment against Mr. Fraser and apply for assessment of damages against him.

The suit for libel damages against Maclean-Hunter Publishing Company, would remain to be tried by judge and jury.

A court order, made last August by Mr. Justice Norman Whittaker, required Mr. Fraser to disclose the sources of information on which he based a 1952 article in Maclean's magazine titled "B.C. Coalition Commits Suicide."

A majority of the Court of Appeal upheld the order and the Supreme Court of Canada refused leave to appeal to that tribunal.

ORDER UPHELD

Pre-trial examination of Mr. Fraser was resumed in Toronto early this month by Senator J. W. de B. Farris, counsel with T. G. Norris, for Mr. Wismer, attorney-general in the 1952 coalition government in British Columbia.

Senator Farris, in the hearing before Mr. Justice Whittaker Tuesday, quoted Mr. Fraser as saying in the Toronto examination:

"I feel I am under a moral obligation to my sources of information not to disclose them; the information was confidential."

He also quoted Mr. Fraser as saying that he wrote nothing in his article that reflected on the honesty of Mr. Wismer.

D. N. Hossie, counsel for Mr. Fraser, said "the punishment they seek is out of all proportion to the crime, if it is one, to refuse to give this information."

He said that Mr. Justice Whittaker should not penalize the writer by striking out his whole defence because he would not answer three questions which he claimed involve the freedom of the press.

"His contempt of a court order was 100 per cent, nevertheless," Senator Farris said.

Mr. Justice Macfarlane granted the application to have the defence struck out, saying if Mr. Fraser chose to disobey an order of the court, he must abide by the consequences.

Hastings WA Group Plans Bake Sale

HASTINGS (ENS) — Mrs. Wilcot Way opened her home to Group 2 of the Women's Association of Trinity United church. There were 25 present.

The president, Mrs. Arthur Beamish opened the meeting with a reading. Mrs. D. H. Anderson, Mrs. W. Orr and Mrs. Virgil Oliver were in charge of the devotional.

Cards of thanks were read from Mrs. Little and the mission band for candy donated for their bale.

A bake sale is planned for May 22. Each member is to bring a potted slip to sell.

A program was enjoyed and a contest was won by Mrs. Foster. The hostess served refreshments, assisted by the committee.

Pharmacy Act Changes

TORONTO (CP)—Health Minister Phillips said Wednesday amendments to the Pharmacy Act go into effect May 15. New clauses confine to drug stores the sale of all preparations involving barbituric acid drugs, commonly used as sedatives.

Criticizes Reserves

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Canon Alford Abraham said Wednesday that Indian reserves are "places of derelict economic stagnation." The rector of St. Andrew's Anglican church here said "I really believe we can never be content until our Indian brethren have all the privileges of the white man and at the same time the responsibilities."

From One Cook to Another

by Mary Blake

Carnation Home Service Director

TROPICAL TREATS FOR "UP-NORTH" MEALS

THERE'S SOMETHING VERY GLAMOROUS about Southern cooking, isn't there? Just tell the family that there's Southern-Fried Chicken for Sunday dinner . . . and see if you can keep them from haunting the kitchen! Promise a Hawaiian or South American dish — and excitement runs high. That's why I occasionally like to give you recipes with a southern accent. Such recipes as my Hawaiian Custard Pie, for instance — Hawaiian, because you spread it with crushed pineapple at serving time. As for the filling itself — well, it's smooth and rich-tasting beyond describing . . . because it's made with Carnation Evaporated Milk. You'll be amazed at the wonderful things that double-rich, heat-refined Carnation does for custards. Gives them the wonderful consistency and rich flavor you'd expect if you made them with cream.

HAWAIIAN CUSTARD PIE
(Makes a 9-inch pie)

4 eggs
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 large can undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk
1 cup water
½ cup sugar
Unbaked 9-inch pie shell
1 small can crushed pineapple, drained

Combine first six ingredients; beat with rotary beater until smoothly blended. Pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake 15 minutes in hot oven (425 deg. F.); Lower to moderate (350 deg. F.); bake until set so that a knife inserted in the centre comes out clean (about 30 minutes longer). Cool. Just before serving, spread with the well drained pineapple.

FOR MORE TEMPTING COLOR, for more delicious flavor, for economy, "cream" your coffee with undiluted Carnation Milk. Millions of critical coffee lovers do. They prefer Carnation to any other brand of evaporated milk — even prefer it to cream in coffee. Try it! You'll love it.

LISTEN to the delightful Saturday radio show, "Stars Over Hollywood". A complete half-hour play every week — featuring in person top dramatic stars of screen and radio. See your newspaper for time and station.

FREE . . . my NEW booklet, "Desserts — Plain and Fancy". Delicious desserts you'll love. Write Carnation Company Limited, Toronto, Ontario.

I MENTIONED Southern-Fried Chicken. One thing is a "must", if you like delicious golden crust on your chicken . . . and gravy that's silky-smooth and rich flavored and delightfully creamy colored. That's the Carnation Milk that's used to dip the chicken pieces, and the Carnation that's used in the gravy.

SOUTHERN-FRIED CHICKEN
(Makes 4 servings)

Cut a frying chicken in serving pieces. Dip in ½ cup undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk, then in ½ cup seasoned cornmeal. Brown in frying pan in ½ cup shortening. Top with ¼ cup (each) chopped green onions and pimiento. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 30 to 40 minutes, until chicken is tender. Remove to hot platter.

CREAM GRAVY

2 tbsps. chicken drippings
2 tbsps. seasoned flour
1 cup undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk
1 cup water

Blend chicken drippings and flour over low heat. Mix Carnation and water, and stir slowly into flour mixture. Stir and cook until mixture reaches the boil.

MARRIED 50 YEARS SUNDAY, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Woodhouse, 209 McGill St., will celebrate the occasion Saturday with many of their relatives and friends. —(Examiner Staff Photo).

Mr. And Mrs. Wm. Wooodhouse 50 Years Married

A young man named Bill Woodhouse had a thankless and unenviable task. He spent nearly three years keeping a wary eye on high-graders at the Cobalt mines in the early 1900's. It was an age when high-grading, stealing high quality ore from the mines and re-selling it, was almost as profitable as cattle-rustling.

Today William S. Woodhouse is living with his wife and daughter at 209 McGill St. and looking forward to his 50th wedding anniversary Sunday. It's been a crowded half-century, but, say the Woodhouses, a rewarding one.

Mr. Woodhouse was one of ten children born at Yarker, a small town on the CPR line northeast of Napanee. The town lived breathed and had its being in the Benjamin Manufacturing Company, where Mr. Woodhouse's father worked and where young William took his first job.

The Benjamin concern folded many years ago as cars became more popular. Mr. Woodhouse started as a boy of nine, spent several years with the firm and at one time was earning up to $1.25 a day.

Not so far from Yarker, west towards Tweed, another family of ten was growing up. Second youngest of eight boys and two girls was Maria Trudeau, later Mrs. William S. Woodhouse.

It was an interesting courtship, featuring buggy rides to church and concerts by the Yarker civic band. Maria Trudeau was particularly fascinated by the lad who played the sousaphone, now known as the euphonium. He was Mr. Woodhouse, and the two were married on May 2, 1904, serenaded later by the band.

Busy years followed, and some lonesome ones for Mrs. Woodhouse when her husband was in Cobalt. They moved to Peterborough in 1911 where for 34 years Mr. Woodhouse was with the DeLaval company. He spent 26 years as a polisher and buffer, then rounded out his career as an inspector.

Mr. Woodhouse still spends much of his time gardening, and particularly enjoys running the electric lawnmower ("Some things have improved in 50 years.")

The Woodhouses have particularly good reason to be proud of their family of four. Two of the daughters became nuns, and are now at the St. Mary's convent in Ottawa. Frances, who has not had a meal at home since she took orders 29 years ago, became Sister Hilda while Estella combined her name and that of a third sister to become Sister Stella Marie.

This third sister, Marie, lives at home with her parents. She is a registered nurse. One of her patients is the father of assistant fire chief Verg Carr, and Mr. Carr, a widower, has become almost one of the family at the Woodhouses.

The Woodhouse family line continues through son Eddie of Peterborough who has six children. Eldest of these, Bob, is married but the Woodhouses as yet have no grandchildren. Second eldest, Marie Blanche, is following in the footsteps of her aunt and namesake, and will be graduating as a nurse from St. Joseph's Hospital this spring.

Times are more comfortable but also more confusing than they were 50 years ago, says Mr. Woodhouse. "Half the people in hospitals are there because the world is living too fast." He feels that this is a nervous and high-strung age which could take some lessons in non-neurotic living from the past.

The Woodhouses will celebrate their 50th milestone Saturday with a large crowd of friends and relatives on hand. The day will begin with mass at St. John the Baptist church, where they are parishioners. (They formerly were members of Sacred Heart). After a turkey dinner for the family there will be a reception.

Of the ten Trudeau children only Mrs. Woodhouse and a brother in Winnipeg survive. Mr. Woodhouse has sisters in Yarker and Kingston and brothers in Marmora and Seattle, Washington.

St. Andrew's WMS Discuss China Problem

HASTINGS (ENS).— Mrs. John E. Taylor was hostess to the WMS of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. President Mrs. C. Dodd opened the meeting with call to worship and a hymn. Mrs. William Brooks read the scripture. Mrs. T. E. Kennedy led in prayer. Mrs. J. C Taylor gave the secretary's report and correspondence. Mrs. Reta Johnson sang, accompanied by Mrs. H. B. Wilson.

The Christian Church in China was discussed by Mrs. J. A. Brown showing the rise and fall of the Christian church through the ages and the present growth of Communism in China.

Mrs. W. S. Fife spoke on the annual Synodical held at St. Andrew's in Barrie.

The hostess for May will be Mrs. William Whitred.

Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Taylor joined the ladies for refreshments served by the hostess. Mrs. W. S. Fife moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Taylor.

Senators Seeking Ways To Speed McCarthy-Army Investigation After 6-Day Hearing

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators sought ways to speed up their investigation of the McCarthy-army dispute before turning again today to the question whether Army Secretary Stevens "threatened reprisals" against a general for praising Senator McCarthy.

This was the sixth day of televised hearings before the Senate investigations sub-committee and the sixth day for Stevens in the witness chair.

Official estimates originally were that the hearings would require about two weeks. Wednesday some members expressed concern lest they stretch out all summer.

Senator Karl Mundt (Rep. S. D.), presiding at the inquiry since McCarthy, a Wisconsin Republican, stepped down for the hearings, called the sub-committee to a private session before today's hearing to talk over "problems, policies, procedure and plans." One likely topic was the identity of the witness to follow Stevens.

MAY CALL RADAR HEAD

There was advance notice that it might be a Maj.-Gen. Kirke B. Lawton, commanding officer at Fort Monmouth, N. J., a radar research centre.

The hearing recessed late Wednesday with the sub-committee's special counsel, Ray H. Jenkins, proposing to read aloud excerpts from some previously secret testimony he said Lawton had given the McCarthy sub-committee while it was investigating conditions at Fort Monmouth.

He said the reading would help him in questioning Stevens and others to determine whether the army secretary had threatened reprisals against Lawton bcause the latter co-operated with the McCarthy group and complimented it.

Stevens had just said, in answer to a previous question, that he knew Lawton had co-operated with the McCarthy sub-committee and in fact "I had ordered him to do so."

This topped off a day marked by a number of heated exchanges among McCarthy, Stevens, members of the sub-committee and others.

ORIGINAL CHARGES

McCarthy stepped out as chairman for this inquiry into (a) charges by Stevens and some of his aides that McCarthy and two staff aides sought to win favors for Pte. G. David Schine, a sub-committee consultant until drafted last November, and (b) counter-charges by McCarthy that Stevens and John G. Adams, army counselor, sought by "blackmail" tactics to halt or divert a search for Reds in the army. Both sides have denied the others' charges.

Stevens was questioned on his attitude toward Lawton Wednesday by both Jenkins and McCarthy. The secretary said he had been "agitated" and "disturbed" but not "angered" by some of Lawton's speeches, particularly by one to staff officers at Fort Monmouth, which "pointed out at what particular universities most of the suspended people got their education."

No specific schools were mentioned, but Stevens said he thought the general's remarks were "ill-advised and would be outside the scope of a commanding general of a post."

Earlier, the hearing was enlivened when H. Struve Hensel, assistant secretary of defence, demanded but did not receive an apology from McCarthy. The senator suggested that two beribboned army officers should move from seats near Hensel because "I don't like to have men with the combat record that they obviously have to be sitting here lending dignity to Mr. Hensel."

Hensel, reddening, said the remark was "uncalled for" and demanded an apology. Mundt said he had no way to force one. Hensel said Mundt might at least suggest it to McCarthy.

Board Tangles With Legion About Hiring

TORONTO (CP)—Board of control Wednesday recommended that the veterans' preference clause be abolished from city hiring regulations.

The move brought immediate criticism and charges of "ingratitude" from Canadian Legion officials.

The clause, in effect since the First World War, gives the edge to veterans over civilians with similar qualifications.

Maj. Patrick Biggs of the Legion said "perhaps the board has forgotten that thousands of men from the Greater Toronto area gave their lives in the two world wars."

TO BE THRESHED OUT

He said "the matter will be threshed out" at a May 16 meeting. "I hope they send along a controller to address us. He'll get his ears pinned back."

Controller David Balfour said the clause "is no longer necessary—we have to give young fellows in their early 20s a chance."

A veterans' preference clause should be in effect for only six months after the end of a war, said controller Leslie Saunders.

Approve $700,000 For New Schools

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario municipal board Wednesday approved expenditure of more than $700,000 for new schools and sites in Ontario municipalities. Funds for new school construction total $668,400 and for school sites $52,-750.

Requests granted include: Belleville $215,000 for construction and equipment of Sir Winston Churchill public school; Owen Sound, $38,-400 for construction and equipment of an addition to Alexandra public school.

WA Groups Guests Of Stirling Branch

STIRLING (ENS)—St. John's WA, Stirling, entertained neighboring WA groups on Tuesday afternoon.

In spite of rainy weather, about 60 ladies were present. St. Andrew's, Stirling, River Valley WA, St. Thomas' of Rawdon, Bonarlaw, Madoc, Belleville and Roslin were represented.

The program consisted of a solo by Mrs. B. Woodbeck, a piano solo by Mrs. Boyce and a duet by Marjorie McCarton and Barbara Woodbeck.

Mrs. Kent introduced Mrs. G. G. Wright of Belleville, who gave a talk on her trip to England and Norway at the time of the Coronation.

Lunch, which had been prepared by Mrs. Woodbeck and Mrs. Kent, was served by the junior WA.

Mrs. H. Rodgers expressed thanks to the hostess group on behalf of the guests.

Gregg Urges Move Ease Unemployment

QUEBEC (CP)—Labor Minister Gregg Wednesday called on all groups of Canadians to take steps to curtail seasonal unemployment.

He said year-around employment can be stepped up through co-operation of governments, employers, unions and consumers.

Mr. Gregg, in an address prepared for delivery before the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, spoke in the light of a 1953-54 winter that saw the highest seasonal unemployment since the Second World War. The labor department last week reported 570,-000 persons looking for work at Feb. 18.

Eisenhower Tariff Plan In For Bad Congressional Slugging

By HAROLD MORISON

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Eisenhower's trade-expanding, tariff-reducing program is in for a bad congressional slugging. The protectionist forces are edging up on all sides.

The view, expressed by some United States authorities, is that the American tariff structure is low enough. There is no need to lower it still further.

There are many business men represented here who are backing the administration's trade-boosting moves. But their forces are relatively weak and their political alliances uncertain.

SAYS TARIFF LOW

As one aspect of the American view, Edgar Brossard, chairman of the U.S. tariff commission, says small industries are clamoring for more tariff protection. He believes the U.S. tariff now is even lower than that of Canada.

Senator Alexander Wiley, Wisconsin Republican, says he believes his country's tariff is the lowest in the world.

Thus the best exporters of Canada and other countries can hope for is that the U.S. will hold the tariff line and not impose any higher tolls on imports.

Even this is no certainty. The U.S. already has asked Canada to restrict shipments of oats and rye and soon may seek action on lead and zinc.

OTHER MOVES

However, the administration has a few other moves up its sleeve. It may not be able to get any large concessions from Congress, but it may get a few small ones.

It will ask for congressional authority to revise the tariff classification that is about 30 years old. Tariff chairman Brossard says a classification may take a full year; but it may be helpful.

And the administration in a separate bill plans to ask for revision of the Buy American Act. This act specifies that domestic industry must get preference in bids on government contracts.

The revision would allow foreign industries to get equal treatment with domestic competitors on government bids providing the governments of these foreign bidders give American bidders equal treatment.

Rep. Daniel Reed, New York Republican and outspoken protectionist, says the U.S. cannot afford to give its markets away. Foreign trade is a "dog fight" and American industry is being hurt. As chairman of the House ways and means committee, he is in a particularly strategic spot to give voice and power to his views.

The bill to give the president power to cut tariffs by five per cent a year during the next three years must get approval of this committee before it can proceed further through the congressional mill.

TO STUDY BILL

The corresponding senate committee is chaired by Senator Eugene Millikin, Colorado Republican who already has expressed criticism of trade-expanding proposals. But he says he will not prejudge the bill and give it a fair hearing when he receives it.

Rep. Reed says his committee is overworked and has a backlog of legislation. And even when the tariff-reducing measure comes up, there will have to be long hearings so that all interested parties may be heard. That will take time and congress plans to close next July or August for the November congressional elections.

For countries who do not discriminate against foreign bidders, this latter move, if approved, may prove to be a valuable concession.

AMONG THE FIRST—Seven-year-old Robert Henninger, of McLean, Va., is one of the first children to get "shot" as a U.S.-wide test of a new polio vaccine gets underway at McLean. Before the week is out more than a million children in 26 states will also take part in the $7,500,000-test.

Coudert Seeks To Tie Hands Of President

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representative Frederic Coudert, a New York Republican, Thursday advanced a proposal to deny President Eisenhower authority to send United States troops to Indo-China without prior approval from Congress.

Coudert told reporters he had discussed the move with a number of colleagues, "and I haven't found anyone who is against it."

"But there's no telling how they will vote if the pressure is put on them," he added. "On a secret roll-call I know I could win."

His move would apply also to the dispatch of troops to any other country unless it had a mutual defence pact with the United States.

Vice - President Richard Nixon has said that in the unlikely event of France withdrawing her forces from the fight against the Communist-led rebels in Indo-China, the U.S. might be obliged to send troops. Republican leaders in Congress have voiced doubt that Eisenhower would make such a move consulting Congress.

LIMITATION OF FUNDS

Coudert's plan to tie the president's hands with respect to foreign use of U.S. military personnel was drafted as an amendment to a $28,680,706,500 defence appropriation bill. His proposal is in the form of a limitation on use of funds the bill provides for the army, the navy, the air force and the marine corps for the fiscal year starting July 1.

It says none of the money can be used to finance the sending of troops into combat outside the U.S., its territories or possessions except with the consent of Congress, a formal declaration of war, or an enemy attack on a foreign power whose defence the U.S. is obligated to assist by treaty.

There is no mutual defence treaty between the U.S. and Indo-China.

Washington concern over the military situation in Indo-China was reflected too in a defence department spokesman's disclosure that the U.S. Air Force is studying proposals for increased airlift aid to the French and native forces.

Mrs. Coons In Chair For Meeting

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Mrs. Ralph Jackman was in charge of the devotional period when the Missionary and Service Club of the United church met at the home of Mrs. J. Keller. Mrs. W. W. Leonard led in prayer and the study book was taken by Mrs. George Tanner.

The president Mrs. C. V. Coons presided for the business and the treasurer, Miss Merle Crawford reported the Easter thankoffering had amounted to $39.85 and there was a balance of $405.

Literature secretary, Miss Irene Madill briefly reviewed the new books purchased by the club and they were distributed to the members. She reported 53 books read during the first quarter of the year by members.

The sum of $16 was voted to send two CGIT girls to Camp Quin-Mo-Lac this summer.

Arangements were made for the CGIT mother and daughter banquet for which the club will cater. Those in charge are Mrs. A. W. Newson, Mrs. Theo Down, Mrs. G. E. Renwick, Mrs. Clare Chittick and Mrs. George Graham.

Mrs. H. C. Wolfraim spoke regarding the Missionary Sunday service at Sunday school and told of plans for the next one which will be May 30.

Assisting the hostess with the refreshments were Mrs. Chittick, Mrs. Down and Mrs. Hunter.

NEW LOOK IN CITY HALLS — This picture of the proposed new city hall at Edmonton was made by superimposing a photograph of a model of the building on a picture of the area where the building will be located. The picture was made by Max Dewar, an architect who helped design the building. The model shows 10 storeys, but the city hall, when completed, will have only nine storeys. Proposed location of the building is on 100th street, midway between the CNR station ad Jasper Avenue in the heart of downtown Edmonton. Plans for the $2,500,000 project are approved. Construction is expected to start this year. Corner building in foreground is city-owned office building.—(CP Photo).

Moscow State Dancers Given Rousing Ovation

LONDON (Reuters)—The Moscow state dance company, first theatrical company from Russia to appear in Britain since the 1917 revolution, was given an enthusiastic reception Wednesday night when it opened a three-week season of Russian traditional dances.

A packed audience in the huge theatre cheered the 45 women dancers and singers and the five male accordion and balalaika players at the end of their program.

The Soviet national anthem was played, probably for the first time in a London theatre, at the beginning of the performance, after "God Save The Queen."

The dancers were applauded throughout the evening from their first appearance in poppy-red dresses carrying birch-tree branches to the last swirl of multi-colored costumes in a brilliant finale.

Artistic director and choreographer was Nadezdha Nadezdhina, who founded the company, known also as the Beryozka ensemble.

Main Street Topics

WATER MAIN COSTS LESS

Cost of putting 900 feet of water main down Erskine Ave., south of Lansdowne St. to serve Simpson-Sears and the city's industral land is now estimated at $10,945. W. Howard Powell, PUC general manager, told the commissioners Wednesday that this was the total cost. Previously he had given a tentative estimate of $12,000.

FORM INSURANCE COMPANY

Vincent M. Eastwood, Robert S. Allin and Allan Heideman have formed a limited company engaging in general insurance beginning Saturday, May 1. Their office is at 385 Water St. where Mr. Eastwood has been in business for himself. The name of the company is Allin, Eastwood and Heideman Limited. Their range of business is all branches of insurance except life.

POLICE DANCE

The Peterborough Police Athletic Association plans to stage its annual dance at the Brock ballroom on May 14. Proceeds from the dance will be used in the promotion of juvenile sports and the entertainment of the city's aged persons. The association depends on funds from this event to assist in the sponsoring of the midget hockey team, the Police Shamrocks.

BURROWS ST.

At the suggestion of Ald. Stan McBride, the board of works recommended changing the name of St. Thomas St. to Burrows St., after this year's chairman of the board of works, Ald. Art Burrows. A change of name was recommended by city solicitor W. F. Huycke, QC, owing to its similarity to Thomas St.

ORDER EQUIPMENT

The board of works has authorized the city engineer to purchase a new electric motor starter for the city's asphalt plant at an estimated cost of $525 to $600, including installation, as the present one is reported no longer safe to operate. The engineer was also authorized to obtain prices on a sewer-cleaning machine.

JAYCEE FORUM

Members of the Peterborough junior chamber of commerce plan to stage an open Jaycee Forum at the Public Library on Monday evening, May 3. More than 60 young Peterborough men are expected to attend and will hear addresses by former Jaycee members. There will also be a review of the organization's activities and details of proposed projects and leadership training programs. Any young man between the ages of 18 and 35 is welcome to attend.

CHILDREN START FIRES

Two fires started by children playing with matches had to be put out by firemen Wednesday afternoon. At 1:30 p.m. the dry grass on Armour Hill was set alight by mischievous youngsters and a handpump was used to put the fire out. Then, at 3:45 p.m., other children with matches started a pile of rubbish burning inside a garage at the rear of 182 Reid St. Again a handpump was used to put out the blaze that threatened to spread to the garage walls.

Businessmen Attack Zoning Bylaw

Expert Denies Plan Aimed At Small Owners

Small in number, but energetic in their objections to many and varied phases of the proposed city zoning bylaw, 29 Peterborough citizens attended the first of three public meetings Wednesday night.

The meeting, organized by the planning board, was held in the gymnasium of Kenner Collegiate. With planning board chairman Hubert Sills in the chair and zoning expert Gordon Culham answering questions, it proved a lively meeting.

The main theme of objection seemed to originate from owners, or prospective owners, of small commercial enterprises, who thought that the new zoning proposal was especially designed to cut them away from gaining a livelihood. One man even suggested that the markings on the zoning map, represented favoritism.

This view was quickly squashed by Mr. Culham, who did his best to explain that certain measures had to be taken in order to cater for the future of Peterborough in an industrial city.

PROPOSAL NOT FINAL

From the outset, Mr. Culham, who said he had had considerable experience in city planning in Canada, made it clear that the proposal was by no means final. Only after the views of residents had been heard, examined and judged, could the city make any decisions.

He assured those who objected that their counter-proposals would receive ful consideration from the planning board and city council. It was the city's aim to give everyone the best possible treatment.

"A zoning bylaw is never intended to be final, it is always open to changes," he said, adding that a three-man committee would deal with these changes if and when the bylaw was passed.

"A zoning bylaw is really a stop look and listen sign. Very little change can be effected from what exists now, but it can prevent illogical planning in the future.

GIVES PROTECTION

"It must be remembered that zoning protects residential, industrial and business areas. In this way, city authorities can prevent one section encroaching on another.

"Zoning cannot provide an acceptable solution to everyone's problems. It is just a case of doing what you can to help the people and businesses of any city."

Mr. Culham told of other things that had to be considered by planning boards. Of great importance was the elimination of fire hazards, traffic bottlenecks, and especially street parking.

Speaking about downtown businesses, Mr. Culham said parking lots rather than street parking were becoming the vogue today. Parking on the streets was coming to an end. The downtown shopping area would be the attraction for outlying consumers, and it was therefore necessary to provide them with the best parking facilities and to keep roads clear of parked cars and unloading vehicles in thoroughfares leading to the city.

NON-CONFORMING USERS

One of the main worries aired by the property owners was the presumption that the new bylaw would prevent a non-conforming user from rebuilding his premises if destroyed by fire or by an "act of God." A commercial enterprise owner zoned in a residential section would find himself out of business.

Mr. Culham advised these people that their interpretation of the bylaw was wrong. As far as he knew, there was no law in Ontario which could stop a man from rebuilding his premises if they were destroyed in a fire.

YOUNG AND OLD ENJOYED a fine display at Queen Alexandra school Wednesday night when the home and school association sponsored the third annual hobby exhibition. Third Annual Hobby Show Held At Queen Alexandra

The third annual children's hobby show, sponsored by the Queen Alexandra home and school association attracted a record crowd of some 1,500 visitors, Wednesday night. President, Mrs. Arthur Black and principal Kenneth McKee welcomed the guests who inspected numerous displays of baking, art, sewing, photography, construction work, and various displays, presented by the children of the school.

In addition to the displays, demonstrations were given by experts in various handicrafts.

DEMONSTRATORS

Adult demonstrators included J. K. Riedel (pottery), Mrs. J. Sharpe and Mrs. J. Kerchar (weaving), Mrs. J. Wharry and Mrs. J. Whyte (metal craft) Mrs. R. Stacey (leather craft), L. Ash (fly-tying), J. Fraser (driftwood).

In the children's department, handicrafts were being demonstrated by Nigel Parks, Paul Ross, Annabeth Batten, Jane Hamilton, Billy Rose, Gale Olmstead, Margaret Lowry, Mary Jane Simmers, George Boucher, Angus Mc-

English Company Building Bank

Taylor Woodrow, Canada, Ltd., an English construction company, has the contract for the building of the branch of the Bank of Commerce on Monaghan road. This is one of the units of the shopping centre that is developing around the Simpsons-Sears project at Monaghan road and Lansdowne street.

It is one of the company's first contracts since their coming to Canada late last year. They have two other jobs under way in the Toronto area, James Brown, superintendent of the work, told The Examiner today. Taylor Woodrow company have a long record of building in Britain, the Far East and Middle East, Australia, the United States and other parts of the world.

The bank building on Monaghan Road is to be of brick and granite construction. Work was begun April 8, the footings are completed and the pouring of the basement wall was begun last Friday.

"Our subcontracts are being let in Peterborough," Mr. Brown said.

Woman Suffers Severe Injuries

Mrs. Dorothy Kilpatrick, 236 Euclid Ave., was fairly severely injured about 9:30 p.m. Wednesday evening when she was struck down by a car driven by Vincent Gatt, 21, of 284 Rogers St.

The accident occurred at Hunter and Mark streets. It is understood that Gatt was driving east on Hunter and was making a turn on to Mark when his car collided with Mrs. Kilpatrick, throwing her back to the pavement.

Mrs. Kilpatrick suffered a fractured pelvis and severe bruising. She was admitted to St. Joseph's hospital and her condition was reported today as being satisfactory.

In the only other accident reported to city police Wednesday, two cars sustained heavy damage. Drivers of the cars were James E. Bayes, 536 Charlotte St. and Vaughn Tucker, 709 Aylmer St. The collision occurred at Aylmer and Dublin streets. The Bayes' vehicle suffered $425 damage and the Tucker car $135 damage.

Constable Wilfred Perry investigated both accidents.

Invasion Repulsed

Seven members of the Peterborough Revolver and Pistol Club invaded Toronto Wednesday night but the invasion was repulsed by the Toronto club. John Wolff, Peterborough club president, Murray Metcalfe, John Lenni, Willis Cunningham, Kay Bleakley, Don Board and Bert McClennan, met Canada's best in the Toronto club's shots and were edged in a slow fire match.

All Lots Sold In Subdivision For $157,075

Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation have now sold the 98 lots in the Manor Heights property for a total of $157,075.

The last of the lots was sold Tuesday. The largest buyer was C. McCullough, an Oshawa contractor, who bought 18.

A breakdown shows that 63 lots were sold to individuals and the other 35 went to contractors who bought groups of anywhere from three to 18 lots. They ranged in price from $1,050 to $1,825, with average frontages ranging from 60 to 70 feet.

The Manor Heights subdivision is the old Hatton property where the wartime houses were built. These houses were cleared off the property to make way for substantial residential houses in a properly planned subdivision.

SELLING POINTS

Manor Heights is on the west end of Charlotte St. overlooking the city. The scenic view was one selling point for the lots; another was the fact that the subdivision is already serviced with streets, sewers and water.

Building of six houses has already begun. The construction and materials used must comply with the National Housing Act and plans and specifications must be approved by the CMHC before construction begins.

The corporation has stipulated that lot buyers must begin work on their houses within six months; and the houses must be finished within 18 months. If this is not complied with the sale will be nullified.

Planning of the subdivision gives ample parking space and a central playing area for children.

Arnold Steele Awarded PUC Contract

The general contracting firm of Arnold Steele, Peterborough, on Wednesday had their tender accepted for building the residence-type house for the 4,000-kilowatt transformer station on Bellevue St.

Their bid of $9,820 was the lowest of three and was accepted unanimously by the utilities commission.

Other bids were Mortlock Construction Ltd. $11,878.80, and Gray and Banks Ltd. of Bailieboro $12,527.98.

Total cost of the new substation, which is beside the Bellevue St. fire substation, is estimated at approximately $90,000. To date $77,000 has been spent on substation and cost of the building will bring the total up to $86,820.

LOWER ESTIMATE

W. Howard Powell, PUC general manager, originally estimated that the total cost would be $94,475; but this was scaled down when they changed their plans to have an indoor metalclad switchgear installation instead of an outdoor installation.

The new substation will be housed in a residence-type building for the sake of appearances. Thus it will harmonize architecturally with the surrounding buildings and will not be an eyesore. The house has been designed by the architectural firm of Blackwell and Craig.

One of the principal items of cost in erecting the building is a concrete foundation heavy enough to bear the weight of the switchgear equipment.

Mr. Powell furnished the commissioners with a breakdown of expenditures to date on the substation: Land, $1,000; foundation, $800; switch, structure, $8,540; transformer and metalclad switchgear, $60,500; temporary station, $750; terminal poles, cables, conduits and potheads, $5,200; miscellaneous, $500; a total of $77,000; plus the cost of the building, $9,820, bringing the grand total to $86,820.

"I think we'll have a very good installation," predicted Mr. Powell.

Ornamental Swimmers Assured Of Trip To British Empire Games

Rufus C. Gibbs, Old Peterborough Boy Now Living In Vancouver Offers $3,500 Donation To Travel Fund

A former Peterborough boy has become the Peterborough Ornamental Swimming Club's benefactor.

Rufus C. Gibbs, Vancouver businessman, has offered the club a $3,500 donation towards their fund to take them to the Canadian synchronized swimming championships and the British Empire games this summer in Vancouver.

Mr. Gibbs, who now heads a large deep sea fishing tackle firm, Gibbs Tool and Stamping Works, is known throughout the west for his philanthrophy.

Two years ago a little church, St. John the Divine at Yale, B.C., was in a deplorable state. He stepped in and restored the 84-year-old "Miner's Church." This work was completed recently.

WORK AMONG YOUTH

He is also known for his work among Vancouver's youth. He built several years ago and still maintains the Rufus Gibbs' Recreation centre in the poorer section of Vancouver.

Son of the late John Gibbs, carriage painter and brother of Al Gibbs, city realtor, Mr. Gibbs has been following the activities of the Mrs. Pansy Forbes' swimming club.

Recently he wrote his friend, Mayor Norman Graham, about the synchronized swimming girls, and knowing they planned the trip west to the championships, wanted to know what plans they had made.

The club answered with photographs and clippings on recent activities as well as what projects they had to raise funds for the Vancouver trip.

In reply Mr. Gibbs offered a donation towards their expenses, also asking how much the club had raised through their own efforts.

On Tuesday night Mayor Graham telephoned Mr. Gibbs and had Coach Forbes explain how the girls were travelling and how much money they had.

ESTABLISH FUND

Mr. Gibbs then offered to cover the team's expenses, to the extent of $3,500 at least, and has suggested that they establish a travelling fund with the money already collected and to be collected on future projects.

This travelling fund will probably be used next March to help send the club's team to the Pan-American games in Mexico; that's providing Peterborough wins the Canadian championship in Vancouver.

U.S. Man Seeks Site For New Industry

An oversight in the arrangements for hotel accommodation might have been responsible for Peterborough not even having an opportunity to put in a bid for a new industry here. An American firm representative and his wife arrived Wednesday to look at industrial site—at the invitation of the city. They disapproved at first glance of the hotel chosen for them, but believing it must be the best accommodation the city offered went inside, only to be shown to a dark and uninviting room which had no bathroom. These people were accustomed to modern, good living conditions, even when travelling, as they do a lot. So, they turned on their heels and left the establishment, intending to drive to Toronto for the night. By chance, they stopped in at a motel on the outskirts of the city of Peterborough, and there secured a suitable room. This morning they were at city hall inquiring about the city's resources, and also about summer hotels and lodges within commuting distance.

Dramatic Club Of All Saints' Presents Play

One of Noel Coward's lighter comedies, "I'll Leave it to You" was deftly handled by the All Saints' Dramatic club Thursday. It was the beginning of a three-day run for popular British comedy.

The action takes place at Mulberry Manor, a comfortable British home, where members of the family are seeking to win the favor of an uncle who is supposed to be retiring. This lead role was well handled by Douglas Weir.

Others in the cast were: Barbara Outram, Florence Townsend, Arthur Dixon, Eleanor Carroll, Grace Webb, Don Ketchabaw, Frank Booth, Edith Abraham and Marilyn Galbraith.

Cast members Frank Booth and Eleanor Carrol also handled direction and stage management respectively. Miss Carrol also designed the sets.

A good crowd was on hand for the play's opening night. The cast responded to a receptive audience by playing their roles with verve and spontanaiety.

Queen Opens Uganda Dam

JINJA, Uganda (CP) — Queen Elizabeth today opened the new £20,000,000 Owen Falls dam near here at the head waters of the Nile river.

"Not only will this dam produce power for Uganda, it is also designed to store water for Egypt," the Quene said, noting Egypt's co-operation in its building. She said she was particularly pleased to see representatives of Egypt and the Sudan at the ceremony. Egypt and Britain have been in a long dispute over the future of the Sudan and the Suez canal zone.

"This part of the scheme, which is an example of practical co-operation between nations, is of broad scope and of the greatest importance to the future welfare of all dwellers in the Nile valley," the Queen said.

RECIPES FOR MEATLESS MENUS

By Elsie the Borden Cow

CHATEAU-AND-EGG-GRILL

Just centre a poached egg on hot toast, top the egg with slices of Borden's Chateau. Then pop under the grill until the Chateau melts. If this doesn't cause a sensation at mealtime, nothing will! The mellow-mild flavor of Borden's Chateau Cheese makes a terrific hit with children and men alike. Chateau is so versatile for meatless dishes. See what a difference it makes with macaroni, with rice-and-tomato. Keep a good supply on hand all the time.

BAUMERT CHEESE PARTY

Here's how to prepare an oh-so-tasty party snack your guests will really go for. Leave 4 pkgs. Borden's fresh-tasting, creamy Baumert Cheese at room temperature for an hour to soften. Then add ½ cup milk, ¼tsp. salt, 1 tbsp. salad dressing, ½ tsp. onion juice, ½ tsp. mustard and beat until smooth. Serve on tray surrounded by potato chips or crackers. Ask your guests to "dip in"—and watch it disappear!

LUNCHES ON THE DOUBLE

With double-length Borden Cheese Slices. If your man carries his lunch to work, he'll love you if you use Borden's Cheese Slices in his sandwiches. They have that mellow-mild zip that men go for. And those double-length slices mean fresher flavor in every slice. You see, you usually don't use the whole package for one lunch, so you just cut the package in half, across. Use half, and the remainder stays wrapped and fresh tilbyou need it. And always remember—it's easier to separate King-size Borden Cheese Slices from the cut edges.

IF GUESTS DROP IN:

It's like waving a magic wand the way you can come up with a snack for surprise visitors . . . if you keep Borden's Elsie Roll on hand. It slices into circles just the size for those dandy round crackers. Try Elsie Roll with salads too, and with apple pie.

SOUPED-UP SOUP

You can add extra zest to soup by sprinkling on a little Borden's Grated Cheese. A natural for spaghetti! Keeps for weeks in its handy canister.

Rankin Elected President Canadian Press

TORONTO (CP)—R. J. Rankin, managing editor of the Halifax Chronicle-Herald and Mail-Star, Wednesday was elected president of The Canadian Press, Canada's co-operative news service. He succeeds Roy Thomson, president for the last two years.

Herve Major of Montreal La Presse was re-elected honorary president.

D. B. Rogers of the Regina Leader-Post was elected first vice-president and Philip S. Fisher of the Winnipeg Tribune second vice-president.

Mr. Rankin, who succeeds to the CP presidency after terms as first and second vice-president, first broke into newspaper work in Chatham, Ont., and joined the Halifax Herald as a reporter in 1921 after serving as a signals officer in the First World War. He was appointed managing editor of the Herald and the Mail in 1925, and is a director of the Halifax Herald, Ltd., which operates the two newspapers.

MEMBER SINCE 1938

He has been a member of CP since 1938 and a director since 1946.

Officers of the association were chosen by the board of directors after the annual general meeting of members at which Mr. Thomson reported on the co-operative's operating position and Gillis Purcell, general manager, on details of the news service.

The annual meeting elected the following 19-man board of directors:

Atlantic: Ralph B. Herder, St. John's, Nfld., Telegram; Roy D. Duchemin, Sydney Post-Record; R. . Rankin, Halifax, Mail-Star.

Quebec: A. J. West, Montreal Star;

French-Language: A.-F. Mercier, Quebec l'Evenement - Journal; Herve Major, Montreal La Presse; Aurele Gratton, Ottawa Le Droit;

Ontario: Robert W. Southam, Ottawa Citizen; Arthur L. Davies, Kingston; John Bassett, Jr., Toronto Telegram; John E. Motz, Kitchener-Waterloo Record; Arthur R. Ford, London Free Press; Roy Thomson, Timmins Press;

Prairie: Philip S. Fisher, Winnipeg Tribune; R. S. Malone, Winnipeg Free Press; D. B. Rogers, Regina Leader-Post; R. M. Cantlon, Saskatoon Star-Phoenix;

British Columbia: Donald Cromie, Vancouver Sun; Stuart Keate, Victoria Times.

Alberta Brewers Work Toward Production Peak

CALGARY (CP)—Alberta brewers are working toward another production peak.

Last year six Alberta breweries turned out 574,000 barrels, or 14,500,000 gallons, of beer. With large increases in population forecast, the figure is expected to climb rapidly.

Albertans are not heavy beer drinkers, compared to a per capita yearly consumption of 22.6 gallons in Britain and 15.4 gallons in the United States. The Canadian figure, based on 1946 statistics, is 11.36 gallons yearly, and the Alberta figure is considered only slightly higher.

Brewers say there is no practical difference in alcoholic content of beer made in eastern Canada and that from the west. The Canadian figure is about 3.75 per cent alcohol by weight, compared with a percentage of 3.63 in the United States and 3.5 per cent in Britain, where it was down as low as 2.3 per cent during the Second World War.

MALT MAIN INGREDIENT

The main ingredient in Canadian beer is barley malt, which is made only from special strains of malting barley, most of Alberta's supply coming from heavy soils in the Peace river block.

Malt is simply barley which has been steeped, allowed to sprout slightly, then kiln-dried at high temperatures. This process breaks down the starch content in barley, making it readily convertible for brewing purposes.

In Alberta, most malt is supplied by the Canada Malting Co., Calgary. Maltsters pay farmers a special incentive premium of five cents a bushel for suitable barley. In addition, barley growers now have the additional advantage of marketing malting barley over and above Canadian wheat board quotations.

In making beer, the malt is ground, mashed with water at certain temperatures, and the resulting extract, called wort, run off to the brewing kettle.

HOPS ADDED

There, the hops are added. Most of these are grown in British Columbia and are blended with imported hops from Washington and Oregon to provide tang and flavor.

The wort is cooled rapidly and placed in glass-lined or stainless steel fermenters. Here the yeast is added and when fermentation is complete the beer is removed to storage tanks and kept at near-freezing temperatures for about a month's aging.

It is in the fermentation process that the difference is created between ale and lager beer, which accounts for 90 per cent of Alberta output.

Brewers say the distinction, now not as wide as several years ago, is merely that lager beer is made with bottom-fermenting yeast, while ale is made with yeast that ferments at the top of the vat. In both cases, carbon dioxide given off during the process is saved and later added to the beer under pressure.

Annual Service

STIRLING (ENS)—St. John's church was filled to capacity Sunday morning for the annual service for the Scouts, Guides, Cubs and Brownies.

The rector, the Rev. H. C. Seeker, gave a special address.

The choir sang a suitable anthem, Mrs. Woodbeck taking the solo part.

EVANGELIST BILLY GRAHAM stands alone before a microphone on a football field at Chelsea, Eng., and addresses the crowd of soccer fans in the stadium to see the match between Chelsea and Newcastle.

Leathercraft To Go On Show

The second travelling exhibition prepared by members of the Canadian society of creative leathercraft and containing 90 articles by 33 leading craftsmen, will be on public display from 7.00 to 9.30 p.m., at the Dixon house, Friday evening. The exhibit has been brought here for display at the ORA conference Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Illustrated educational projects offer practical help to the leathercraftsman. There is a layout by Robert Muma, which in itself, is a short course on tooling and coloring techniques. Carving techniques are illustrated by Don MacKinnon; purse linings and pockets, by Margaret Richardson; gusset construction by Irene Surgenor; wallet interiors, by the London leather carvers' guild; and, belt techniques, by D. H. Russell.

The exhibition has already been displayed in various Ontario centres and will be at the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver, in August.

Fast Method

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Federal fisheries inspectors in Newfoundland will make their trips by helicopter with a $100,000 machine leased by the department for a one-year test period. It can also be used for patrol service offshore.

Bethel WA Propose To Decorate Church

HALLS GLEN (ENS)—The WA of Bethel church met at the home of Mrs. Lawrence McCracken. Mrs. Chester McCracken presided.

The lesson was read by Mrs. Chester Hamilton. Mrs. Ernie Garbutt and Mrs. Harry Garbutt gave readings. Mrs. Hamilton led in prayer.

It was decided to have the church decorated, to be completed by June 1. The ladies offered to decorate the Sunday school room themselves.

A crokinole party will be held in the Sunday school room on May 6. Refreshments will be served.

The roll call was answered by 10 members.

The meeting closed with a hymn and prayer. Lunch hostesses were Mrs. L. McCracken, Mrs. Fred Martin and Mrs. E. Batten.

HAVELOCK (ENS)—Mrs. William Harris was re-elected president of the Belmont Women's Institute at a meeting in the township hall.

Other officers are: 1st vice-president, Mrs. George Wright; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Horace King; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Arnold Dafoe; pianists, Mrs. William Anderson and Mrs. Charles Jones.

Press reporter, Mrs. Clarence King; district director, Mrs. George Hartin; alternate, Mrs. Gardner Gawley; directors, Mrs. Horace King, Mrs. Randal Vansickle and Mrs. Charles Ellis; auditors, Mrs. H. L. Scott and Mrs. G. Gawley.

COMMITTEES

Lunch committee, Mrs. Alex. Keene, Mrs. Donald Elmhirst, Mrs. Horace King; sick and visiting committee, Mrs. W. Anderson, Mrs. R. Vansickle.

Mrs. G. Hartin was appointed caretaker of the township hall for Institute meetings and events sponsored by that organization. Mrs. H. L. Scott conducted the election.

Mrs. Harris thanked the members for re-electing her and for their co-operation in the past. She also reviewed the year's work.

A report was presented by the secretary-treasurer. Activities included children's day, grandmother's day, a special Christmas meeting with the exchange of gifts, cheer boxes for the aged and sick, not only at Christmas but throughout the year, the care of the lawn at the township hall, renovations to the hall and donation to the Havelock oratorical contest.

This year there is to be a contest for the township in the fall. The finances were raised through bake sales, a pie social, two "Seth Parker" nights, bingos and quilting.

Arrow Hunters

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Bow-and-arrow hunters from the United States are expected here for the next moose-hunting season, says Harry Walters, chief game warden. This type of moose-hunting was made legal last year but too late for the big bow-and-arrow clubs of the United States, which had made prior arrangements.

You owe yourself a change—
try the whole-egg mayonnaise!

Do you ever get a little bored with salads that taste the same, year in, year out?

You can change all that, you know, with a different dressing. Of course, we mean "Switch to Hellmann's Mayonnaise." This rich, smooth mayonnaise is made with whole eggs, freshly broken. Whole eggs, for better flavor and smoother texture.

You'll find this real mayonnaise isn't strong and mustardy tasting like an average salad-dressing. It's mild, the way a mayonnaise should be. Hellmann's doesn't overwhelm your other salad ingredients.

Another reason you'll like Hellmann's... it goes farther! An ordinary salad dressing has a starch filler... but not Hellmann's! This means you can blend Hellmann's with other ingredients (fruit juice, cream, etc.) and still have a rich result.

Give yourself a change... try Hellmann's. Then you'll know why so many women are glad to pay a little more (and get a whole lot more) for the whole-egg mayonnaise!

Union Official Charges Mayor Used Influence

TORONTO (CP)—A union official charged Wednesday that Mayor Lawrence Feick of Stratford influenced employees at Canadian Fabricated Products Limited to join a rival union to keep the United Automobile Workers Union (CIO-CCL) out of the plant.

John Eldon, international representative of the UAW, testified at an Ontario labor relations board hearing here. Mayor Feick is personnel manager of Canadian Fabricated Products Limited, a Stratford auto parts firm.

The UAW is trying to have the other union, a local of the Trades and Labor Congress, decertified and the certification given to the UAW.

Mr. Eldon accused Mayor Feick of asking employees to name workers who attended a CIO meeting and of telling them "it's all right to join the TLC, and tell your friends it's all right too."

"ONLY ANSWER"

Stanley E. Dinsdale, company lawyer, said: "Mr. Feick told them to 'use their own good sense,' which is the only answer any personnel manager could give his employees."

The TLC presented evidence in hearings at Stratford that union workers at the Studebaker factory in Hamilton had turned back car seats because they "wouldn't stand" for employees in the feeder plant belonging to the rival TLC. Mr. Dinsdale said it was significant that this evidence had not been denied by the Auto Workers' Union.

Mr. Eldon said the seats were turned back because of poor workmanship by women doing men's work. "The Studebaker plant was on the verge of closing down because of rotten work from this (Stratford) plant," he added.

Work Out Formula For Highway Control

OTTAWA (CP)—A formula for giving the provinces control of all highway traffic was worked out Wednesday at the federal-provincial highway conference.

It involves an unusual federal-to-provinces switch of jurisdiction over road transport crossing interprovincial and international boundaries. The federal government now owns—but does not exercise—this control.

Under the legislation, Parliament would give to provincial highways boards the control of cross-border traffic that is vested in the central government under the British North America Act. For this purpose, the boards would be designated as federal agencies.

However, informants said, the provincial control of border-crossing traffic would be administered under the laws of the various provinces.

Mother Badly Injures Child With Beating

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Five criminal charges against the pregnant mother of seven children were filed Wednesday as the result of an aggravated child-beating case.

Complaints charging mayhem, assault with a deadly weapon and three counts of "assault likely to produce great bodily injury" were filed against the mother, Mrs. Trinidad Vera, 28. Unable to post $5,000 bail, she was jailed pending a hearing May 6.

Authorities said Celia Sanchez, 9, Mrs. Vera's daughter by a previous marriage, was the victim of one of the most brutal instances of child-beating in years.

BOTH ARMS BROKEN

The child was blinded in one eye, for which mayhem is charged; both her arms were broken by being twisted, her nose was broken and her body was covered with welts from beatings with a rubber hose, inflicted repeatedly over a period of 18 months, juvenile officers reported.

Police said many letters have been received from physicians who offered to treat the child, but that her blind eye is beyond restoration.

MONTREAL, April 29th—No matter where you put it in a meal, soup can be the tastiest dish of all. Particularly when it's one of the delicious HEINZ SOUPS. Here's one served in a main course dish...

FRICATELLI

3 cups cooked rice
1 lb. sausage meat, browned and drained
1 medium onion, finely chopped
1 10-oz. tin Heinz Condensed Cream of Tomato Soup, undiluted
2 tablespoons grated cheese

Arrange rice and sausage meat in alternate layers in a greased casserole. Sprinkle each layer with chopped onion. Pour in soup and sprinkle top with grated cheese. Bake in a moderate oven (375 deg. F.) for 30 minutes. Serves 4 to 6.

This recipe is from Heinz' booklet, "57 Ways to Use Heinz Condensed Soups". Simply write to Confidentially Yours, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, for your free copy.

Nothing Lovelier than the shining beauty of a well-waxed floor. . . . Don't you feel it "sets off" the charm of a home? (Rugs and furniture all look so much better when they're set on the lustrous gleam of well-cared-for floors.) That's why CHAN paste wax has won thousands of friends over the years. Chan scientists have perfected the blending of its rich waxes—that's why it polishes so easily—and keeps its polish. You'll find a brighter, longer-lasting shine with CHAN. . . . Remember: "One sweep across—and there's your gloss!" . . . How rich, and satisfying that gloss is . . . when you give your floors the protection and shine of CHAN, the harder, more durable wax.

Daffodils Budding in the Garden outside . . . and my family cheery as bob-o-links inside — enjoying a cup of INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE. We're cheery because, for one thing, the coffee's so good! And then — we bought it at savings up to 20c a pound over ground coffee. (Just think what that means in these days of sky-high coffee prices!) You can serve Instant Chase & Sanborn to your family "Custom-Made" just as each one wants it, mild, medium or strong. (No fuss or bother either!) So serve this 100% real coffee to your family. Enjoy its heart-warming lift when friends drop in. Or give yourself a "pick-me-up" in the midst of your day's work!

D'You Think Mops Are Dull, awkward things? Then you're in for a big surprise m'lady! Will you make a point of asking to see the exciting 4-WAY ZIPPERMOP. Feel how silky-smooth the handle turns in its exclusive 4-way ball socket — swings super-wide for large areas; long and narrow for those awkward spots between furniture and walls. See how quickly the canvas pad zips off for easy laundering. Feel the finest quality mop yarn that picks up and holds the dust. And remember, the 4-WAY ZIPPERMOP is unconditionally guaranteed against mechanical defects for five years by its maker, O-CEDAR of Canada Ltd. I'll wager you'll want a 4-WAY ZIPPERMOP for your very own.

Science Has Proved most women can see more shades of colour than men. But even women can be deceived by the amount of whiteness in sheets and shirts. For instance, how long is it since you used Laundry Blue in your wash? Here's something to remember: Soaps and detergents take out dirt, bleach takes out stain, but only Laundry Blue puts white in. If you have been forgetting Laundry Blue in your wash, try it next time. You'll see that even the most thoroughly washed clothes need Laundry Blue to make them white. Laundry Blue costs less than two cents for an entire white wash.

For a whiter wash, buy RECKITT'S BLUE.

Happiness, It Seems To Me . . . is as essential as Bread! And that's why I, and many thousands like me, are grateful to the friendly, helpful, economical services of the I A C MERIT PLAN. For this Merit Plan enables my family to know the thrill of having a good automobile—and pay for it, thriftily, month by month, out of earnings. Thousands of young wives, too, know the help and satisfaction of a fine washing machine; a good stove; an ironer through the Merit Plan. They know that buying out of income is actually a sound, thrifty way of saving. Ask your dealer to tell you about I A C—Industrial Acceptance Corporation.

This Spring, I've Discovered Two Wonderfully Easy Ways to moth proof winter woolens. If the woolens are washable pour a few spoonfuls of REX EQ-53 in tub or washing machine. REX EQ-53 is an amazing liquid chemical which moth proofs woolens while they're in the wash! It leaves no odour or oily residue, yet protects sweaters, blankets, etc., for a year or more. If the woolens aren't washable, I use that handy, push-button aerosol — the FLY-TOX MOTH PROOFER. A touch of my finger covers furs, overcoats, etc., with a long-lasting protective vapour which is absolutely harmless to fabrics. Both products are made by the maker of FLY-TOX and available now at drug and department stores.

Lawyer Says Police Beat Up Veteran

TORONTO (CP) — Lawyer Thomas Horkins Wednesday accused Toronto police of beating up a one-legged veteran of the Korean war.

Mr. Horkins appeared as counsel for Thomas J. McKay, 22, charged with obstructing police and with driving with ability impaired. No plea was entered. McKay was remanded to May 5 on bail of $200.

The lawyer indicated a large cut on the top of his client's head and said:

"That was done by a police 'billy' and nine stitches were needed to close it."

Boy, Girl Share Quarters With Insane

MONTREAL (CP) — A Quebec prison chaplain told Wednesday of instances he had witnessed where a young boy and a 17-year-old girl shared jail quarters with insane prisoners.

The Rev. John Peacock, visiting chaplain at district of Bedford jail, Sweetsburg, Que., mentioned the two cases in an address to the Anglican syno of Montreal diocese to stress "the vital need for prison reform."

Mr. Peacock said the boy, whom he did not identify, had been imprisoned for trying to set fire to a church.

"He remained for nine days in the same cell as an insane man and at the end of the time he was ready for psychiatric treatment."

NOT TO BLAME

The girl—also unnamed—shared quarters with a woman, "so hopelessly insane that she had to have a special attendant to care for her."

Mr. Peacock said the local jail attendants were not responsible for the situation. They were "kind an competent."

"The combination of the m chinery of law and the circu stances of the neighborhood mal it impossible for them to give t kind of treatment prisoners shou have."

27 High-Ranking Officers Attend Mobile School

By RON EVANS

LONDON (CP) — Twenty-seven high-ranking military and government officials from the student body of what must be Canada's most exclusive and mobile school.

All pupils of Canada's National Defence College, they now are roaming Europe and the Middle East on the last leg of an 11-month course. The crop flew into London at the beginning of April, having completed seven months of lectures at historic Fort Frontenac in Kingston, Ont.

Another month of lectures from leading British government and military officials, including Opposition leader Clement Attlee, followed, and then the party split in two to continue the tour.

Half headed for Malta, Egypt, Jordan, Iraq, Behrein, Turkey and Greece while the rest made for Holland, Belgium, Germany and Austria. Later they meet in Rome and, after touring France together, sail for home in July aboard the Canadian cruiser Quebec.

LEADER NOVA SCOTIAN

Headmaster of the brass-bound cruising college is dark, stocky Air Vice-Marshal C. R. Dunlap, 45, of Sydney Mines, N.S. His staff of instructors is made up of Group Capt. M. D. Lister, 42, RCAF, Calgary; Capt D. W. Piers, 40, RCN, Halifax; Col. E. D. Danby, 37, army, Vancouver, and Alfred Rive, 55, department of external affairs, Ottawa.

Dunlap's administrative officer is Sqdn. Ldr. Arthur Green, 36, of Alberton, P.E.I.

The National Defence College was set up in 1948 to instruct military and government officials of Canada, Britain and the United States in all phases of Canadian defence.

This year's student body includes six army officers, all colonels, four naval officers, all captains and three air force officers, all group captains. Superintendent Malcolm F. Lindsay, 44, of Winnipeg, represents the RCMP.

Civilians are drawn from the Canadian departments of transport, defence production, resources and development, trade and commerce, external affairs and the defence research board.

Drop Course

TORONTO (CP)—The suburban Lakeview Golf Club has been dropped as the site of the annual A. V. Roe Canada Ltd. golf tournament planned for Saturday because it barred a Negro employee of the company from its course.

Hotel Men Strike

EDMONTON (CP) — More Edmonton hotel employees are expected to strike today to back up union demands for higher wages and other benefits. There now are 337 hotel strikers in Alberta's four major cities.

Ottawa Plans More Direct Civil Defence Aid For Municipalities

OTTAWA (CP) — Increased and more direct aid to municipalities for civil defence is understood to be planned by the federal government.

Since 1952 the government has made available a total sum of $1,400,000 annually which provinces may draw upon, according to their populations, for civil defence projects, if they match the federal money dollar-for-dollar. In turn, the provinces could assist their municipalities.

It is understood the new plan is to increase the total amount to about $2,000,000 under a formula which would permit direct federal assistance to municipalities.

So far only the four western provinces, Nova Scotia and Newfoundland have drawn on the dollar-for-dollar fund. The planned formula, it is understood, would enable federal assistance to municipalities in provinces which do not themselves draw upon the fund.

Total planned federal civil defence appropriation this year is understood to be about $8,000,000.

HUGE PYRAMI

The Great Pyramid of Cheops in Egypt contains about 2,300,000 stone blocks each righing 2½ tons.

Hees Requests Seaway Action

OTTAWA (CP)—George Hees appealed to the government Wednesday night to get on with the St. Lawrence seaway and to reduce sales taxes and down payments on homes to alleviate the country's gradually worsening unemployment situation.

The president of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada said the government also should continue paying unemployment insurance benefits to those who have used up their credits and, through no fault of their own, cannot find jobs.

Unemployment has increased by 40 per cent in a year to 570,000 from 408,000, the Toronto member of Parliament and manufacturer said in a speech prepared for delivery before the PC Associations of Ottawa West and South.

The government could create more jobs by reducing the sales tax. Canada was facing strong competition from the United States, Germany and Japan. The only way to keep factories going was to cut prices.

Loans Increase

HAMILTON (CP)—Housing loans have been increasing since Parliament recently uthorized the chartered banks to lend mortgage money, Works Minister Winters said Wednesday night.

Eastern Star Holds Dance In Warkworth

WARKWORTH (ENS)— Warkworth town hall which was nicely decorated in panels of blue with silver stars was the setting for the dance Friday night sponsored by the Warkworth Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Mrs. D. S. Thompson, Wor. Mistress welcomed the guests who were present from Bobcaygeon, Peterborough, Wooler, Campbellford, Brighton and Fenella. The winner of the draw was Miss Doris Cook of Colborne and the draw was made by Earl Nelson, Wor. Patron.

Ray Archer of Goldolphin was in charge of the special dance prizes which were won as follows: birthday dance, won by Miss Margaret Lockhart of Dartford and her partner Miss Lois Duncan; spot dance, won by Mr. and Mrs. Carman Nelson of Warkworth; highest combined ages dance, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Baker, Warkworth; latest couple married in 1953, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ewing, Warkworth.

MPs Discuss Quebec Tax In Commons

OTTAWA (CP)—The controversy over Quebec's 15-per-cent income tax, and whether it should be deductible from federal taxes, continues to hold the floor in the closing stages of the Commons budget debate.

Donald Fleming (PC — Toronto Eglinton) said Wednesday that the government's attitude is endangering national unity.

Raymond Bruneau (L — Glengarry-Prescott) said the Quebec tax only tends to separate that province from the rest of the country.

Maurice Breton (L — Joliette-l'Assomption-Montcalm) said there are some in Quebec, and even in the Commons, who dream of the day when Quebec will become a separate state.

The debate with only a few members left to speak, is expected to end next week. Other business will come before the House the rest of this week.

GOVERNMENT BELLIGERENT

Mr. Fleming said the government was belligerent in its rejection of Quebec's request for full deduction of its new income tax.

"We see the wells of Canadian unity being poisoned by statements by members opposite," he said, referring to speeches on the issue by Liberals.

Prime Minister St. Laurent should not remain silent on Opposition Leader Drew's request that he call a federal-provincial conference on taxation and constitutional matters.

"I challenge the prime minister to enter this debate and make a statement on this subject of Dominion-provincial relations," Mr. Fleming said.

UNFAIR ARGUMENT

It was unfair for Liberals to argue that the provinces had an equal right to levy income taxes when the federal government was taxing that field to the limit. The government apparently was determined to force Quebec to come to Ottawa, cap in hand, seeking a tax agreement.

Mr. Bruneau said double taxation in Quebec may have a devastating effect on national unity. As a bilingual member from eastern Ontario, he said Quebec has no power to act for French-Canadians in other provinces.

Mr. Breton said the federal government has made tax agreements with the provinces because it recognizes the joint rights of both levels of government to levy direct taxes.

Declines Comment

OTTAWA (CP)—Health Minister Martin declined to comment when asked in the Commons Wednesday by Wallace Nesbitt (PC—Oxford) whether he could report on the mystery of what is causing pock-marked automobile windshields across Canada and the U.S.

Want Clearer Lottery Laws

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's police chiefs believe the public is confused by lottery laws and ask Parliament to clarify and put some teeth in them.

The claim was made Wednesday by chief Walter H. Mulligan of Vancouver, president of the Chief Constables' Association of Canada, who headed a five-man delegation appearing before a Commons-Senate committee.

He said some people favor broader lottery laws; others tighter laws. The police were in the middle, a position they did not relish. The association should not take sides in the controversy.

However, chief J. A. Robert of Hull, Que., said his personal opinion is that all forms of gambling, except lotteries conducted by recognized religious and charitable organizations, should be banned.

Fenella WA To Cater For Ladies' Night

FENELLA ENS) — The United Church Women's Association of Fenella met in the hall with Mrs. Hugh Sherwin hostess, Mrs. Frank George, president, presided.

Mrs. Jim Waldie had charge of the devotional period. The scripture reading was given by Mrs. Clifton Rogers.

Mrs. Frank Down, treasurer, reported a balance on hand of $151.96. Mrs. Erric Sandercock, good cheer convener, had sent out two cards since the March meeting. The stainless steel tablespoons, purchased for use in the hall, were on display.

It was dcided to cater for the Roseneath men's club ladies' night banquet, May 5, in the hall, and committees were appointed.

Mrs. Gordon Jewell, program convener, introduced a reading by Mrs. Marcus Lonsberry and a piano solo by Mrs. Percy Macklin.

Mrs. Jewell moved a vote of thanks to the hostess. The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction. Lunch was served by Mrs. Sherwin and the lunch committee.

Mrs. N. C. Leach, publicity chairman of the TB survey for this district announced it to be in Roseneath, Thursday afternoon, May 20.

Says Smelts Killed Huron Lake Trout

GORE BAY, Ont. (CP)—An old-time commercial fisherman says smelts, and not lampreys, killed lake trout in Lake Huron's north channel and are reducing their numbers in Georgian bay and Lake Superior.

John H. Merrylees, 86, in retirement in this Manitoulin island community, fished the north channel for lake trout for more than 50 years until they died out about 10 years ago. He said the smelt became numerous, contracted a disease and poisoned trout, sturgeon and seagulls.

"Eels never kill healthy, mature fish," he said. "Why, I saw more eels when I was 14 than I've ever seen since. The trout used to eat the eels."

Mr. Mrrylees, whose hobby is taxidermy, said he mounted a big lake trout two years ago that had 30 lamprey marks on it. All the marks were healed and "it was as healthy a fish as you'll see."

DOROTHY DIX

Regrets She Divorced Alcoholic Mate

DEAR MISS DIX: I am writing this with the hope that someone will benefit from it. We hear of so many young women divorcing husbands who drink, stay out nights, etc. They think they will be better off working to support their children, but they are so very wrong.

I divorced my husband thinking I could do so much—yes! He drank heavily, and when I was sure I had taken all I could, I left. Now if I could only turn back, I would never make the same decision. My child has suffered not only the absence of her father, but also the loss of many hours of companionship with me. No mother can work away from home and give her children the care they need. I have made every possible sacrifice, giving up the companionship of friends to be at home whenever I'm not at work. But still it's not enough. I come home too tired to do the things that should be done. Young children need a mother at home, not rushing around at a job. Living with a heavy drinker isn't nearly as hard as trying to make a living and worrying all day if the children are all right. Fortunately for me, my daughter is sweet and understanding. I just regret that I can't give her music or dancing lessons, the pretty clothes, the happy family life she deserves.

M. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

MANY ALCOHOLICS HAVE BEEN CURED

ANSWER: Your long letter, which I have shortened, spares no hard truths; perhaps it will help some young mother who is undecided about divorce or separation. While it's true that the conduct of some men under the influence of alcohol is more than any woman could stand, it's equally true that many wives lack the courage to tackle the difficult job of compromising with such a situation.

Many, many men have been rescued from alcoholism through the fortitude of loyal wives. Certainly, it's a situation that requires every bit of a woman's patience, faith, the help of God, and the assistance of that splendid organization, Alcoholics Anonymous, before it can be given up as hopeless. Who knows how many happily married couples of middle age went through heartbreaking experience at the beginning of their wedded lives that almost ended in divorce or separation? It's better to stick with an unhappy situation, giving it a real chance to improve, than to look back with regret on a broken marriage. M. S. gives sound advice.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIG: I'm married to a soldier who is now in Korea, and my problem is loneliness. Since I'm 17, and have gone only through the tenth grade, I can't get a job. I hate to say this, but I'm so lonely that I've started going out with my husband's friend. What can a girl my age do to pass the time?

JACKIE L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Since lack of training is the reason you can't get work, take a business course, or some special training, and get a job. Then, if you still have too much time on your hands, take more courses—this time in homemaking. Any spare hours could be put to use at your local Red Cross, serving the double purpose of keeping you busy and doing something constructive for your guy and all the other boys in service.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a widow with two sons, one in school and one about to leave for the other side of the continent on a job. I have become quite interested in a man who works with me, and he likes me, too. We've gone out several times in the past year and he has asked to marry him. The obstacle is age — he's 12 years younger than I am.

MAG

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: There are few — if any—instances of age differences between a man and a woman that have not been circumvented to make a good marriage. While some differences seem rather risky, no one can say for sure that they will be insurmountable obstacles for, at some time or other, they have proved immaterial in the happiness of two people. Other factors are more important. Weigh your compatibility, the man's willingness to be a father to your child, your economic future against the years, then make your choice.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Eggs As A Stand-In For Meat Dish

To Barb, my poultry-fancier chum, I pay 50 cents per dozen for the biggest, freshest eggs available. As I have told you, before she leaves for town to bring me my eggs, she goes out to the chicken house, gives the hens a little pressure pep-talk, and presto! they produce a few more eggs "just for Mary".

To be worthy of all of this friendly and henly devotion to duty I should produce more wonderful egg recipes for you. I can and I have—without pressure too.

At times like this I wish this newspaper were a magazine with colored pictures, for the picture of the Scrambled Eggs in a Basket would be beautiful indeed. Use your imaginations and try to picture it: Golden Scrambled egg nestling in two toasted cases made of hollowed-out halves of a whole loaf of bread. Halved slices of sauted bologna lines the sides of the cases to make a colorful garnish. You servie these for supper, or much more effectively, for a buffet lunch or Sunday Brunch.

SCRAMBLED EGGS IN A BASKET

For the two baskets (to hold a whole dozen scrambled eggs) cut a loaf of white bread in halves horizontally. Slice a piece off the rounded top half so that it will lie flat. Remove most of the crumb from the inside of each half, leaving 2 shells about ½-inch thick. Snip the sides about ¾ inch down to facilitate serving later. Brush each bread shell with melted butter. Place them in the oven with top oven turned on, but cases about 8 inches from burner, to heat through and toast edges gold.

Into a large bowl break 12 fresh eggs and add 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper, 2-3 cup milk and 1 (or 2) packages of white cream cheese masded and crumbled. Beat these with a fork just long enough to blend. In a 10-inch frying pan melt ¼ cup butter, tilting it so bottom and sides are covered. When this is hot enough for a drop of water to sizzle in it, pour in the egg mixture. Turn heat lower and cook eggs, gently and slowly scraping sides and bottom of pan

Mrs. James Peel, who will celebrate her 90th birthday on Saturday, May 1, is planning to receive her friends at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wilbert Howson, 564 Aylmer St., from three to five o'clock in the afternoon and seven to nine in the evening.

✧ ✧ ✧

Junior group members led the games at the Mark Street CGIT meeting this week. It was decided that the girls will have a day of typical camp life this year and Arlene Clysdale was able to offer the use of her parent's cottage for this. The mother and daughter social evening was set for May 11th at 7:30 p.m. It was announced that the senior groups are putting on a variety show on the evening of May 14th. Worship services were held in the groups and the girls continued their sewing for missionary work in Korea.

Presidents All Attend

Presidents of the Home and School Associations and the Parent-Teacher Associations of Peterborough all attended a meeting Wednesday afternon at the YWCA, at the invitation of leadership training convener of the Home and School Council Mrs. Frank Gray, who was their chairman. The meeting was to allow Mrs. C. J. Ray, blood door service chairman of Peterborough Red Cross Society, an opportunity to outline the necessity for and the details of the clinic to be held May 18 to secure blood for gamma globulin to combat polio this summer. It is hoped to secure 300 new donors for this purpose and to recruit them among the parents of Peterborough. Regular donors contribute blood for use at the hospitals, which is very necessary at all times.

Stresses Bible Reading

All Saints' church Mothers' Group met in the WA room Monday evening. Miss Isabel Connolly addresed them on the topic "Religious guidance for children in the home, at school and through church Sunday school," and illustrated her remarks through use of a flannelgraph. She stressed particularly family Bible reading periods. Another guest was Master Brian Dunford who favoured with two selections, "The Lord's Prayer" and "My Task." He was accompanied by Mrs. G. Hardill. Introductions were made by Mrs. M. Hartley and Mrs. T. M. Fowler and thanks were expressed by Mrs. H. Cockerill and Mrs. W. E. Tuck. Devotions were in charge of Mrs. H. S. Rye and pianist Mrs. Gordon Millen assisted. President Mrs. Cockerill presided for business when it was decided to hold a pot luck supper for members an prospective members at the May meeting, which will mark the close of this season. A large bale of new articles was packed by members for the Anglican mission hospital at Aklavik, N.W.T., it was reported. Mrs. L. Mason and her committee served lunch during the closing social hour.

Paying Off Debt

The WA of Murray St. Baptist church had an interesting meeting Tuesday afternoon. President Mrs. Earl McNabb presided and Mrs. H. Sellon took the devotions with Mrs. P. Johnston pianist for the hymns. Talent money was brought in and a good sum realized toward paying off the debt incurred in remodelling the church kitchen. It is hoped to finish payment by the end of May. Money-making projects on hand are a rummage sale this Saturday, May 1, in the church basement, which Mrs. A. Smedmor and Mrs. R. Matthews are convening, and a bake sale to be held May 14 in the Simpsons-Sears office with Mrs. Gordon Duncan convening. The cent-a-day collection was taken and dedicated by Mrs. R. G. Gavine. A letter of resignation as house convener was received from Mrs. L. Horning who will be moving out of the city, and in her place Mrs. O. J. Hayward and Mrs. Lou Ingram were appointed house conveners. Guest speaker was Mrs. E. Chambers who told of the new School for Retarded Children. She was introduced by Mrs. Duncan and thanked by Mrs. Ida Beeler. A social half-hour followed with Mrs. Max Middleton as hostess.

Supper Club Girls Give Afternoon Tea

Friday Night Supper Club girls entertained their mothers and special guests for afternoon tea at the YWCA on Wednesday. This yearly event was held earlier this year because these busy PCVS students are also involved in school social events which come in May.

They could not have chosen a nicer day, however, although they are usually favored with fine weather at the later date.

Their huge butterfly decorations may have been rushing things a bit, but they were very attractive. The spring flowers on the tea table were beautifully arranged with tall pink snapdragons, daffodils, iris and deep pink tulips filled in at the base with white 'mums and daises, set on a bed of deep green leaves.

Yellow tapers and a very pale yellow chinese linen embroidered cloth complemented the flowers, and the table setting was completed with large silver urns and silver tea things.

Tea convener was Miss Oryce McIlraith and the decorations were done by Miss Carol Wood who also assisted by playing soft piano music during the tea. Other pianists were Miss Betty Thomson and Miss Margaret Munro.

President Miss Millie Hayward was at the door to receive guests, assisted by club director Miss Orra Henan.

Mrs. O. J. Hayward poured tea the first hour in company with Mrs. G. W. Poole, mother of the immediate past president of the Club, Miss Sally Poole. They were followed by Mrs. C. A. Craig and Miss Leta Brownscombe.

Refreshments and serving were in charge of Miss Carol Hughson and her assistants were Misses Jane Myers, Judy Hardill, Wynne Whyte, Caryll Lang, Bev. Bell, Helen Zakos, Eleanor Everett, Margaret and Shirley Dobson, Margaret Young, Margaret Purdon, Jane Buckland, Marilyn Lister, Penny Brown and Hilary Powell.

Formerly the new executive has been announced on this occasion but now it will not be chosen until June.

President Millie Hayward has been assisted this year by vice-president Elizabeth Myles, secretary Joan Naish and treasurer June Adams.

Doctor Spends 25 Years In N. Alberta

KEG RIVER, Alta. (CP) — Dr. Mary Percy Jackson arrived in 1929 for one year's medical experience in the wilds of northwestern Alberta. She's still here.

Dr. Jackson was living in Birmingham, England, when she saw an advertisement in a British medical journal requesting well-qualified British doctors who were physically strong and capable of taking complete charge of any type of emergency without hospital facilities.

So she left England's industrial Midlands and a few weeks later found herself in a rugged land 100 miles from the nearest town and the railway and two miles from her next-door neighbor.

NORTHERN ASIGNMENT

Dr. Jackson was assigned to the Battle River prairie district on the Notikewin river. From Peace River Town, 327 miles northwest of Edmonton, she travelled 100 miles up the Peace river by boat then jolted the last 20 miles to her post by wagon.

The 14-by-20 foot shack which was her headquarters was divided into a living room, a bedroom and a dispensary. The living room also served as a kitchen and a waiting room while the dispensary did double service as a consulting room.

There were no roads and no telephone or telegraphic communication. Even the Notikewin river, her only water supply in warm weather, had to be forded if Dr. Jackson visited patients living on the other side.

By horse in summer and by sleigh in winter, she covered an area of more than 1,200 square miles. Without a helper, she prescribed medicine, performed minor surgery and pulled teeth. The district's scattered population admired and loved their travelling doctor.

ROUGH JOURNEY

Once, during eight days of April 1939, with less than two nights' sleep, she rode 180 miles on horseback and was hauled 100 miles by a caterpillar tractor to bring an appendix case to hospital.

Dr. Jackson married Frank Jackson of nearby Keg River Post, in 1931. Now she has a small but well-equipped dispensary here. Her services are available to anyone, free of charge.

Her marriage brought Dr. Jackson additional responsibilities in its early days. She helped her husband to market his grain and bring in supplies.

The wagon trail to Peace River was a hard one at any season. Dr. Jackson recalls swimming cold rivers to snub a rope around a tree so a team could winch the wagon to the other side.

Life is quieter, but no less busy, now.

REMOVES RUST

You can remove rust from the corners of well-used cake tins by dipping a raw potato in a pot cleanser and scouring them with it.

EASIER TO REMOVE

After boiling eggs, quickly rinse them in cold water to facilitate removal of the shells.

BB Mothers Have Floral Demonstration

A pot luck supper was held by the Baby Band Mothers at George Street United church Wednesday evening so that new members could get better acquainted. Several ladies invited to join the group were present, and also the nursery church teachers. A special guest was Mrs. Ken. Ferguson, Presbyterial Baby Band secretary.

Worship service was led by Mrs. Don Donguas who read a poem titled "April". Scripture was read by Mrs. W. Ward and prayer offered by Mrs. M. Nelson.

Miss Phyllis Braund was the guest speaker and she gave a very interesting demonstration of how floral arrangements and corsages are created. The care of these was also discussed and several helpful suggestions of how to order flowers given.

The flowers were donated by Miss Braund for draw prizes and were won by Mrs. C. Helmes, Mrs. B. H. Martin, Mrs. D. Chambers, Mrs. C. McKenzie and Mrs. I. Ellicott. The head table centrepiece was also done by Miss Braund and this was presented to Mrs. Ferguson.

Mrs. L. Edwards expressed appreciation for the group for the demonstration and gifts.

President Mrs. Stuart James held a short business session when final plans for a home baking sale on May 22nd in the Metropolitan store, under convenership of Mrs. Gerald Powell, were made.

Date of the pictnic for the baby band children was set for June 9th and will be convened by Mrs. Art. Long. May meeting will be a birthday night. Mrs. James also announced a baptismal on Mothers' Day, May 9th.

A solution of vinegar and water will remove paint from windows.

Spring Tea Held By Omemee Group

OMEMEE ENS) — Trinity United church WA Spring Tea was well attended despite the heavy rain. Mrs. Geo. Overholt and Mrs. Bradburn poured tea while Mrs. I. Pogue and her committee: Mrs. Lloyd Hill, Mrs. Wm. Fisher served the tables. Decorations were yellow candles and spring flowers on the tea table with branches of haw tree thick with jelly beans to stimulate spring throughout the room. Plants were sold by Mrs. Moyer, Mrs. A. Rutherford; baking by Mrs. H. Lang, Mrs. V. Lang, Mrs. H. McKee; country store, Mrs Jas. Brooks, Mrs. S. Northey; fancy goods, Mrs. Zufelt, Mrs. A. Tully and mystery parcels, Mrs. D. Hicks. The kitchen was staffed by Mrs. Russell Brooks, Mrs. Wm. Weir, Mrs. V. Gray.

Omemee Guild Plans Spring Tea

OMEMEE (ENS)—The women's guild of Christ church (Anglican) met in the church basement, Tuesday eveining, Mrs. N. Ruttle presiding. Arrangements were made for the May tea to be held in the basement Friday, May 7, 3 to 5 p.m. Home cooking and plants will be sold. In charge of tables are Mrs. H. Laidley, Mrs. W. Rehill, Mrs. P. Goddard, Mrs. A. W. Stephenson; plants, Mrs. H. W. Hill, Mrs. V. Cornwall; home baking, Mrs. H. Bent, Mrs. John Joyce; the kitchen, Mrs. F. Bent, Mrs. J. Magee, Mrs. S. Nurse, Mrs. I. Bailey.

Mrs. F. Bent reported 12 shut-ins remembered with flowers at Easter. Mrs. Hill for the landscaping committee said trees were ordered for the foundation planting. Mrs. A. Bent for the property committee asked that a screen door, blinds and paint be bought for the rectory and a motion to purchase same carried.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Harvey Laidley on Thursday, June 3.

Mrs. T. L. Nickle Named Delegate

MARMORA —(ENS)—The St. Paul's Women's Auxiliary met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. R. G. Winters.

The meeting opened with the members prayer followed by scripture reading by the lay reader, W. J. Cottrell. Mrs. T. L. Nickle was appointed delegate to the dioeesan annual in Kingston May 6—7. Mrs. R. G. Winters will also be attending as well as Mrs. P. Gray senior and Mrs. E. Hewitt. Mrs. R. Frost gave the Dorcas report and exhibited garments brought in for the bale.

Mrs. T. L. Nickle continued with the study book "Africa steps out" Mrs. Winters closed the meeting with prayer. Refreshments were served.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Russian Women Deserve Better Beauty Parlor Deal

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Russia's women deserve a better deal from the state beauty parlors.

They're hefty and they work hard. Few have nice clothes, and a dress must last a long time. But they remain feminine, even those at heavy work.

They have clear complexions, abundant hair which is usually worn long, and good capable hands.

You wish someone would show them how to dress their hair, teach beauty operators how to set soft instead of frizzy waves, and devise becoming styles for long tresses.

PRIMITIVE HAIRDRESSERS

There are plenty of "pareek-makker-skayas" (hairdressers) in Russia. The word comes from the Old English "peruke maker." The staffs would hardly qualify for jobs in the West.

Cosmetics, if any, are usually limited to a touch of lipstick. Few women carry compacts although beauty-aids like powder and rouge are sold. They like nail polish, though not in brilliant colors, but chipped polish is seldom removed and their nails appear "flecked" rather than coated.

Perfumes are expensive and inferior. The top brand is "Kremlin," at 72 rubles—three to five days' pay. Personal soaps are highly aromatic, too, and a newly-bathed Russian in the next theatre seat is as distinguishable as those who don't wash often enough.

Not many wear jewelry. Novelty ornaments are scarce, and the real stuff is costly.

STAID CLOTHING

Soviet women would like more attractive clothes. Those they have are adequate and have kept in style for years. Suits are worn to the office, dresses reserved for evening wear. Most are long sleeved, and it is a daring woman who appears in a Moscow restaurant with a low neckline.

Clothes are available ready-made. Moscow and other large cities have a "House of Fashions" where mannequins display the latest creations. Each dress is numbered. After the show, most shoppers go to another floor and buy patterns which can be made up at home or in a state-operated dressmaker's shop.

One Moscow dress designer happened on an American fashion magazine and lifted a few ideas. His styles were rejected as "too advanced."

While was in Moscow, my mother sent me the Easter number of another fashion magazine. In three days it was dog-eared. The women raved but didn't think they'd dare.

Mary Moore Col.

as the mixture sets, allowing the still-liquid part to flow to bottom of pan. If you stir or scrape too fast the eggs will have a curdled appearance, instead of a soft custardy look. Cook until just set and still moist. While these eggs are cooking you are toasting the bread cases as described above.

Gently saute 6 halved slices of bologna in another frying pan in a little butter until pale golden. Line the sides of each bread basket with these slices. Spoon the hot scrambled eggs into the centre. Garnish with parsley in the scallops between the bologna slices.

Note: If desired, sauteed mushrooms may be added to the scrambled eggs if you want to make this a little more flavorful. But if you do add mushrooms omit the cheese and increase milk to 1 cup.

EGGS MORNAY

This is a favorite of my dear Pete's. That ought to be recommendation enough.

First you make a cheese sauce by melting 2 tablespoons butter, stirring in 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, shake of pepper, ½ ½ teaspoons) process cheese until ¼ teaspoon Worcestershire suace, 1½ teaspoons prepared mustard. When this is blended stir in 2 cups milk until thick. Stir in ¼ cup (4 tablespoons) process cheese until mixture is smooth over low heat. Have ready a medium-sized casserole (shallow preferred), buttered. Into it pour a thin layer of the cheese sauce. Carefully break 6 eggs into it. Pour the remainder of the sauce around the eggs, to leave the yolks partially uncovered. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for 15 or 20 minutes, or until whites are set, and yolks have thin film over top.

TINY BIRDS

Humming - birds, confined to North America and the West Indies, include species only 2⅜ inches long.

6—In Memoriam

ORR—In loving memory of my son, Roger Orr, who passed away April 29, 1950. (Asleep in Lakefield Cemetery).
Some day we hope to meet again,
Some day, we know not when;
To clasp his hand in the Better Land,
Never to part again.
—Ever remembered by mother, father, brothers and sisters and Aunt Jennie Nichols.

ORR—In loving memory of Roger Orr, who passed away April 29, 1950.
God takes away the best for reasons divine,
But memories last till the end of time.
—Sadly missed by Aunt Reta and family.

7—Card of Thanks

I wish to thank my attending doctors, sisters and nurses of St. Joseph Hospital, many kind friends who sent flowers, fruit, cards and gifts during my recent illness.—Doreen Buller.

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to the Reverend Arnold Mathews, our many relatives, friends and neighbours for their kindness and expressions of of sympathy. Also for the beautiful floral tributes received during our sade bereavement of a loving husband and father. — Mrs. Francis J. Kelcey and family.

Australia Urges Consideration For Proposal

GENEVA (Reuters) — Australia today urged the Far East conference here to give "careful consideration" to North Korea's proposal for reunifying Korea.

Richard Casey, Australian external affairs minister, also expressed the hope that the South Korean government would accept Korea-wide elections "if they were in the interests of a final settlement."

State Secretary Dulles of the United States Wednesday called for elections in North Korea only.

Gen Nam Il, North Korean foreign minister, had proposed Tuesday that the North and South Korean legislatures set up a joint commission to arrange and supervise all-Korea elections. He also demanded the withdrawal of all foreign troops in six months.

OUTLINES INAEDQUACIES

Casey said the North Korean plan appears "inadequate on a number of important points."

"Neverthless, these proposals require careful consideration," he said, in asking clarification.

He asked whether the number of members of both legislatures on the proposed commission would be proportionate to the number of inhabitants in the different parts of Korea or, if not, on what basis they would be represented.

He raised the point—"How, in the present circumstances, can free elections in Korea be assured without international supervision"

"To argue that the Korean people can decide this among themselves seems unrealistic in view of the major issues involved and the bitter feelings that have been aroused in recent years.

"Withdrawal of Chinese forces means a withdrawal of maybe only five miles, whereas the withdrawal of UN forces from the south could mean a withdrawal of 5,000 miles.

"It may be that some UN forces will be needed in Korea until a unified and independent government has been democratically established."

come from the Sacred Heart parish, one from Immaculate Conception parish and one from St. Peter's.

A word of advice to group committees who are having trouble locating cubmasters and assistant cubmasters: cub mothers make excellent leaders. We at the 4th Peterborough know first hand because two of our ACM's have sons in the pack.

ALL SAINTS' SCOUT GROUP

In preparation for our part in the fun night which is being run by St. Alban's on April 30, the Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite rover scout crew spent the early part of the evening practicing in the home of Citizen Rover George Brook. After the practice, the crew went up to the rover den and played table tennis. "Mrs." Bill Murphy provided coffee, sandwiches and cookies.

Every member of the crew who could have possibly been out at Tuesday's paper drive was on hand. All those members who did not attend this drive were working on the night shift this week.

Squire Bill Logan took his sponsor, Dave Hatton, on a squire's overnight hike Thursday and Friday. This is one of the requirements which a squire must accomplish before he can be invested as a rover. They walked out to Stewart's Heights on Lake Chemong, carrying all their equipment on their backs.

After reaching their destination, it was the squire's duty to look after all the needs of his sponsor and himself, from then until camp was broken. This test is equivalent, in many respects, to the scout 1st class hike, except that the minimum distance is longer and bicycles cannot be used.

Ladies, don't forget to get that citizen rover husband of yours or that rover husband or boy friend, or that lowly squire, to take you to the June breakfast of the crew. It's free for the ladies. It's the third Sunday in June.

SALVATION ARMY SCOUTS

The 15th Peterborough troop opened their meeting Wednesday night with a prayer and the flag-break. The game "Hot Rice" was played.

We are glad to announce that we now have three second class Scouts. They are Admiral Lowes, Jack Parsons and Hugh Smith. Hugh Smith and Jack Parsons, who are both on their way to become first class scouts, finished some of their second class repass tests.

Winner of the week was the wolf patrol. They were presented with the honor patrol flag at the closing ceremonies. The lion patrol was announced the winner of the quarterly point system and each member was awarded a gold compass.

Our Tenderfoot Scouts are learning fast and many of them are passing their tests quickly. One of these boys is Jerry Park of the new beaver patrol. Jerry passed his laws and promises last week.

The money we hope to receive from the paper drive will go toward the purchase of five or six new tents. We now have approximately 25 scouts, since starting in December. Any new boys will be welcome.

NASSAU CAMP

Cub Camps have been planned for every weekend during the summer except July 24-25, July 31-August 1, August 14-15, August 21-22 and August 28-29.

Do not miss this opportunity of getting your boys into the outdoors. Contact Jim Houghton. Phone 6428 and reserve a weekend for your pack.

TRAINING COURSES

The local association will pay one half the cost to reimburse the leaders for lost time (not to exceed $25) provided the camp is registered and an application sent by the group committee to the district commissioner in writing is approved. The group committee is expected to pay the other half of the cost). All leaders must be registered.

Any A.D.C. taking a Gilwell course or conducting a camp who is not connected with any group committee and association will pay 66 2/3 of his take home pay for the period of the camp up to $40. Registered and travelling expenses for Gilwell courses are also paid by the Association.

SILVER ARROW COURSE

A silver arrow course for those who have completed a bronze arrow course will be held at Petewawa, August 23 to 28. See D. C. Ed Cotton for details.

WORLD SCOUT JAMBOREE

The 8th World Scout Jamboree will be held at Niagara on the Lake, August 18 to 28, 1955. The quota from Canada is 3,500 Scouts. Peterborough District has been allotted a total of four Scouts who must be age 14 and first class by June, 1955.

Reduce Charge Man Fined $100

About 10 o'clock on the night of April 14, cars driven by Douglas Fowler, 195 Rubidge St., and John J. McGuire, 372 Queen St., collided at Bethune and Hunter Sts. When police arrived they arrested McGuire and charged him with drunk driving.

Before Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, today, McGuire, represented by Donald Bark, pleaded not guilty. After hearing the evidence the magistrate reduced the charge to impaired and entered a fine of $100, cost $5.50.

Youthful Douglas Fowler, who testified for the Crown, raised the ire of Crown attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, who told Magistrate Philp that he completely discredited Fowler's testimony.

STORIES DIFFER

According to allegations made by McGuire, Fowler had visited him two nights previously and had told him that if he did not pay for the damages to his car, he "would make it nasty for me in court".

Fowler admitted visiting McGuire, but alleged that he had told McGuire it would be easier for him if he could say in court that the damages had been paid. McGuire maintained that he had not caused the collision and refused to pay.

Mr. Bradshaw: "If he threatened to make it nasty for you wouldn't it have been better to have paid up?"

McGuire: No, I figured I was not in the wrong."

Mr. Bradshaw: "So you weren't going to put up with blackmail . . . is that it?"

McGuire: "That's right."

SUGGEST BLACKMAIL

Mr. Bradshaw told the magistrate that he was not pressing any case on Fowler's evidence, which he regarded as being entirely discredited. Also he thought Fowler apparently had come very close to committing the serious offence of blackmail.

Testimony by three police officers, Sergeant Claire McGillen, and constables Don Erskine and Thomas Emmons, alleged that McGuire was not in a fit condition to drive. However, Magistrate Philp considered their evidence contained some discrepancies.

Several witnesses for the defence, including a waiter from a city hotel, said that McGuire had only consumed three pints of beer over a three-hour period. They considered him quite capable of driving a car, and so did McGuire himself.

Businessmen

(There still seems to be a difference of opinion on this matter. Some city officials are known to have expressed an opposite view to Mr. Culham on this point. Their interpretation is said to be based on the provisions of the original Master Plan.)

Several Lansdowne St. E. residents objected to their area being zonel "heavy industrial." Many were considering building more houses. They also maintained the area was a residential one and the introduction of heavy industry would constitute a nuisance.

"It doesn't look like a future residential area to me," said Mr. Culham. "Remember we have to provide some place for industry —light and heavy. My feeling about this piece of land is that it is excellent for industry. But industry won't come if there are houses there."

ASK CHANGE

The residents could not agree with Mr. Culham and asked that the planning board consider changing the area to light industrial.

The same change was asked by a resident who lives on Highway 7, near the Club Aragon. This area, which at present includes some light industry and commercial buildings, has been zoned as heavy industrial.

At the close of the meeting, Mr. Sills assured everyone that their petitions had been noted and would receive full consideration of the planning board.

A further public hearing will be held tonight at Queen Mary auditorium, and the final meeting at city hall Friday night.

Lindsay Hydro $48,500 Surplus

LINDSAY (ENS) — The Hydro Commission had a surplus of $48,510 in 1953, according to the manager's annual report submitted this week by J. H. Lightbody.

During the year a new substation was put into operation and rapidly took over a large share of the power load. Additions were also made to the first sub-station owned by the commission and land was optioned for the building of a third station in the East ward. A water heater control put in service in April, 1953, received such good reception from customers that the power saving for the year amounted to some $10,000.

Pierrie Powers

The funeral was held Wednesday for the late Pierrie Powers, who died Sunday, aged 87, at his residence, RR 8, Peterborough.

The funeral was held from his late residence to Our Lady of Assumption church, Otonabee, for requiem mass at 10 a.m., celebrated by the Rev. W. C. McCarney.

In attendance at the church were the Rt. Rev. J. V. McAuley, the Rt. Rev. P. P. Butler, the Very Rev. J. J. Garvey, the Very Rev. V. J. Corkery, the Rev. J. O'Sullivan, the Rev. F. Mihelic and the Rev. G. F. Sullivan

Pallbearers were Frank Heffernan, Jack Fitzgerald, Ray Fitzgerald, Jerome O'Toole, Jack Michaels and Richard Crowley

Burial was in St Peter's cemetery. The Rev. W. C. McCarney read the graveside prayers.

90,000 Japanese Greet Emperor

TOKYO (AP) — Ninety thousand Japanese swarmed around the imperial palace today to shout "banzai" to Emperor Hirohito on his 53rd birthday.

Eight hundred police, reinforced by 3,000 members of the imperial household staff, were on hand to prevent a recurrence of the tragic crush which killed 16 persons on New Year's day.

Hirohito appeared on a specially built platform outside the palace six times today to greet his shouting, singing subjects.

The girls had planned to stay in a railway coach on a siding while in Vancouver. But Mr. Gibbs wants the team to stay at the YWCA where they'll have better living facilities during their visit.

"Mr. Gibbs wants the girls to have all the comforts possible," said Mrs. Forbes today.

Rigid amateur rules prevail throughout swimming in North American and therefore Mr. Gibbs has stipulated there will be no advertising for him or his company. The money is strictly a donation, similar to those already received by the club.

AID GAMES' FUND

To help repay Mr. Gibbs for his generosity, the Peterborough team will perform a special two-hour show, along with Beulah Gundling, the United States outdoor and indoor synchronized swimming champion. The proceeds for this show, probably to be held during the Empire games, will go to Vancouver's British Empire games fund.

The Canadian championships are tentatively set for July 27, 28 and 29 in Vancouver, just preceding the BE games. After the championship the Peterborough team, along with other solo and duet champions, will demonstrate synchronized swimming at the games. This demonstration is part of a movement to have the new swimming sport included in the 1958 games.

Cheaper A-Stations Within 10 Years

LONDON (AP)—A top British atomic energy chief, Sir Christopher Hinton, forecast today British nuclear power stations will produce electricity at "reasonably competing" prices within the next 10 years.

He calculated atomic piles being built in Britain can produce electricity to sell at about one penny a unit. This is about half as much again as "conventional" electricity costs.

Reaume Plans Retire As MPP

WINDSOR (CP)—Mayor Arthur J. Reaume said Wednesday he will not seek re-election to the Ontario legislature at the next provincial election but has no intention of resigning his seat before that time.

The mayor, Liberal member for North Essex, said he would not put the province to the expense of a by-election. He said, in reply to criticism that he is too often absent from the House, that he had written Liberal Leader Farquhar Oliver stating he had extra-heavy duties as mayor because it is a centennial year and would not be able to be present in the House as often as he would like.

Plan To Keep Policy Of One TV Station

OTTAWA (CP)—The government plans to retain its policy of one television station in any one area, which includes a single bilingual station for the Ottawa-Hull area, it was learned authoritatively Wednesday.

Retention of this policy means that applications from private broadcasters to build television stations in areas reserved by government policy to the publicly-owned CBC — Montreal, Halifax, Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver—will not be accepted.

It also means that private broadcasters will have exclusive use of all other centres of populations. Private stations have been approved for Sudbury, London, Kitchener, Kingston, Windsor and Port Arthur in Ontario.

Says Highways Useless In Attack

EDMONTON (CP) — Defence Minister Claxton said Wednesday an east-west artery like the Trans-Canada highway is of no use for defence purposes.

He said any attack on Canada would be made by air-borne troops on a small scale and would be met by the army's mobile striking force of paratroops. Highways would be useless.

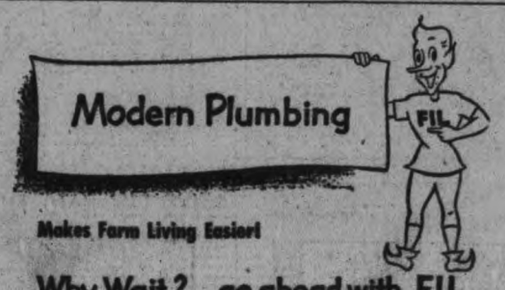
For this reason, the minister said in an interview, his department does not plan to build defence highways.

Protest Plan To Tax Insurance Surpluses

OTTAWA (CP)—A Liberal backbencher Wednesday opposed a government budget proposal to tax the surpluses of mutual fire insurance companies.

Raymond Bruneau, Glengarry-Prescott, speaking in the Commons budget debate, described the proposal as dangerous and urged members from rural constituencies to scrutinize it closely when it comes before the House.

He said that practically every farmer in his constituency has fire insurance in two mutual companies, organized on a county basis. The companies made no profits and any surplus they accumulated was solely to meet legal requirements.



"There is no doubt that, if these two companies have to pay taxes along the suggested lines, the additional cost would have to be charged to the insured farmers who, in my estimation, are already charged heavily enough."

13 Cars Derailed

MALONE, N. Y. (AP)—Thirteen cars of a New York Central freight train bound from here to Utica, N. Y., were derailed Wednesday night near Stony Wold, about 20 miles south of here on the road's single-track Adirondack division. No injuries were reported. Telephone service was disrupted when one or more of the derailed cars struck and toppled a pole near the tracks.

$2,000,000 Fire Destroys RCAF Hangar, 6 Planes

VANCOUVER (CP)—A giant RCAF hangar and the six aircraft it contained were destroyed in a spectacular, gasoline-fed fire at the Sea island base near here Thursday night. Damage is estimated at close to $2,000,000.

The 180-foot-square frame building was a total loss. No one was in the hangar when the fire broke out.

Cause of the fire is not known. An air force investigation was to begin today.

Wing Cmdr. D. S. C. McDonald said the damage would run to "at least $1,000,000," but other air force officials set the figure at approximately $2,000,000.

Base firefighters had no chance to save the hangar as exploding oxygen tanks and gasoline in the aircraft sent the blaze roaring out of control. Two nearby hangars also were threatened for a time.

First reports said a number of jet aircraft were housed in the razed No. 3 hangar but this was later denied by RCAF officials. None of the five $500,000 Vampire jets on the base was endangered, they said.

Two crews from Vancouver fire department, eight miles away, aided RCAF firemen.

Most of the aircraft destroyed belonged to the air, sea, search and rescue squadron. They included two Expediter Beechcrafts, one Lancaster bomber, two Otters and one helicopter. There were 2,000 gallons of gasoline in the Lancaster's tanks.

Three Cansos, sitting in the hangar doorway when the fire broke out, were hauled to safety by airmen who rushed to the scene. Airmen also succeeded in rolling out 900 gallons of oil stored in barrels in the hangar. They tried to save the Lancaster bomber but the tail caught fire as they neared the door and the plane had to be abandoned.

Many airmen lost all their private equipment in the fire.

Russia Asks India Be Invited To Geneva Talks

GENEVA (Reuters)—British Foreign Secretary Eden today sounded out Chou En-lai on an Indo-China settlement in his first private meeting with the Chinese Communist premier and foreign minister.

Eden conferred for half an hour with U.S. State Secretary Dulles before driving to the luncheon meeting with Chou at Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's closely-guarded villa.

It was understood Dulles and Eden discussed the best way to sound out Chou on Communist China's attitude toward getting the Indo-China debate going here as soon as possible.

ROUSES SPECULATION

News of Eden's meeting with Chou roused much speculation. Britain is the only big Western power that recogn zed Communist China, and diplomatic quarters suggested that Eden would raise the question of China's failure to reciprocate Britain's move in establishing a diplomatic mission in Peiping.

Molotov suggested the luncheon, saying "Mr. Eden might like to make the personal acquaintance of Mr. Chou."

Eden was accompanied to the luncheon by three of his closest foreign office advisers.

Russia has requested that India be invited to participate in the Geneva conference when it reaches the question of Indo-China. This followed a British move to get India, Pakistan and Ceylon to help guarantee any settlement that might be reached at Geneva.

The fifth session of the conference today ended abruptly after only 40 minutes. No further sessions are expected before Monday.

Thailand and Turkey held the floor today on the Korean problem. Both voiced opposition to Communist proposals for Korean reunification.

Asian Leaders To Extend Colombo Parley

COLOMBO, Ceylon (Reuters)—Five Asian prime ministers meeting here for the last three days decided today to extend their talks until Saturday because of divided views on Indo-China and communism.

They will, however, make their scheduled trip to Kandy in central Ceylong Saturday and continue their conference on the train—and even after their arrival there, if necessary.

The prime ministers of India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Burma and Indonesia are seeking to draft resolutions showing a maximum of agreement on the Indo-China war and the spread of communism in Asia. If the train conference succeeds, an announcement will be issued Saturday night.

It was understood a bitter clash erupted Thursday over Pakistan's effort to brand communism as the greatest potential danger to democracy in Asia. Prime Minister Ali of Pakistan maintained communism was a greater evil than colonialism.

NEHRU IN OPPOSITION

Prime Minister Nehru of India refused to support Pakistan's proposal on grounds it was not consistent with his nation's policy of non-alignment with the world's two big power blocs.

The leaders also clashed over Nehru's call for non-intervention by the United States, Britain, Russia or Communist China in France's war against Vietminh rebels in Indo-China. Burma and Indonesia were reported to have supported Nehru.

General agreement was reached, however, on three of Nehru's six points on the Indo-China war. The prime ministers, it was understood, agreed on the creation of "a climate of peace" in Indo-China, a cease-fire and a declaration of independence for Indo-China as soon as possible.

French Raids Take Rebel Gun Positions

HANOI (AP) — French Union commandos in daring daylight raids struck again today at Communist-led Vietminh troops edging their way inch by inch towards the heart of Dien Bien Phu.

Five swift attacks were launched northwest, north, south and east of the main French defence complex, netting 20 Vietminh killed and the smashing of rebel gun positions and arms depots right on the rim of the fortress.

At some points, the French said, their commandos had charged with bayonets into Vietminh trenches, routing rebels and destroying a string of fortifications.

This also resulted in the commandos taking a number of prisoners for questioning about Vietminh strength and plans for their next big attack.

ENCROACHING SLOWLY

These commando raids obviously were disconcerting the Vietminh but they were not preventing the rebels from going on with digging more foxholes and trenches as close as possible to French barbed-wire barricades.

Rebel progress in encroaching slowly upon French defences was confined to gains of feet or yards and often these were being lost in light but swift attacks by the French defenders.

It was still 1,800 feet to the heart of the main French defence complex.

Other than comparatively light attempts at infiltrating key French defence bulwarks, the Vietminh are for the moment confining themselves to plastering the French strong points with intense mortar and artillery fire.

Answering fire from French guns was centred upon the Communist-led Vietminh troop concentrations in the jungle-covered hills encircling the bastion, and on truck convoys arriving from Red China with fresh ammunition and war materiel.

Jet Mechanism Being Changed

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto paper says today that the escape mechanism on all RCAF CF-100 jet fighter planes has been modified to give the crewmen a better chance to escape in an emergency.

The newspaper says new release gear has been installed so that the radar - navigator need no longer reach overhead to trip the explosive charge which blows the crew men free from a crippled aircraft.

The newspaper says after a crippled plane's canopy had been exploded fliers were struck by a torrent of rushing air caused by the plane's speed and virtually pinned down, unable to reach the overhead lever.

The story says new release handles have been placed low in the cockpit.

Fear Fraser River Flood Threatens Again

VANCOUVER (CP) — The slumbering Fraser river, which has twice risen to tear the economic heart from the farmers lining its banks, again looms as a threat this year.

And 250 miles east, the Columbia, also rolling south, lies as a silent menace as flood season approaches.

The key lies in the snow covering the mountains of central British Columbia—snow heavy with an unusually high water content.

One of the coolest west-coast Aprils in years has hindered the run-off which must come gradually to allow for normal drainage of the snow fields.

John Nelson, who has lived 47 years near a lake at Arrowhead, B.C., looked at a field flooded by the Columbia during "the big one" of 1948.

"It was flooded in '48," he said, "and it's going to be flooded again this year."

MAY BE TROUBLE

Mayor E. G. Fletcher of the smaller city of Trail, B.C., said: "If it rains during the run-off period or temperatures climb exceptionally high, there's going to be trouble. If it's dry during the run-off period, with temperatures moderate to cool, then outside of shivers of excitement from watching the water rise, everything should be okay."

Last week, when the old stern-wheeler SS. Minto made her final trip down the Arrow lakes, her flat bottom skimmed through the shallowest water since 1948.

The story is much the same along the Fraser, which boiled over its banks and tore through dikes both in 1854 and 1948.

May Merge Boards, Groups To Run Recreation Programs

Parks boards, community centre boards and recreation committees may merge responsibilities and form one centralized organization K. L. Young acting director of the community programs branch, department of education, said today.

Speaking to the ninth annual conference of the Ontario Recreational Association, Mr. Young said new legislation allows municipalities to have these activities administered by boards of not less than three and not more than seven members. In the event there are five or more citizens on the board, two must be from the municipal council.

This enabling legislation was included in amendments to both the Parks and Municipal Acts. The government is thus taking the initiative in encouraging greater centralization of parks and of community recreation.

Some communities have already had special legislation passed to effect a similar arrangement Mr. Young told The Examiner. But these amendments create a uniform attitude on recreation and are designed to encourage municipal mergers of responsibilities.

More than 400 delegates, representing 80 communities, attended opening sessions of the conference this morning. At an annual meeting of the Ontario Recreation Association today nominations for new officers were brought in, but election results will not be known until Saturday.

PRESIDING

Presiding over the annual meeting was Mrs. Hubert Hawley of Orillia, president of the ORA. Mrs. Hawley is sister-in-law of Peterborough postmaster Claire Stuart, and was the first woman alderman in St. Catharines.

The three-day conference on recreation is especially significant, said Mrs. Hawley, because recreation is a "vital facet of community living." The conference is more than just a convention she told the Examiner, but an "educational meeting" at which ideas will be

McCarthy Investigator Printed 'Cropped' Photo

WASHINGTON (AP)—James Juliana, an investigator for the McCarthy sub-committee, testified today he ordered the printing of a controversial "cropped" photograph showing Army Secretary Robert Stevens and Pte. G. David Schine alone.

He acknowledged the print was from a more extensive picture showing also Col. Jack T. Bradley.

Juliana said he delivered the photograph showing Schine and Stevens alone to the Senate subcommittee investigating the McCarthy-army row, because he thought that was what the sub-committee wanted.

Juliana insisted he made the cropping decision himself.

McCARTHY TELLS WHO

Juliana was called to the witness chair after Senator Joseph McCarthy had spoken up at the hearings to declare that Juliana had altered the picture.

McCarthy's announcement came dramatically after army counsel Joseph Welch had announced that he would try to have McCarthy called as the next major witness after Stevens completes his testimony. The army secretary left the stand Thursday when the committee decided to pursue the matter of the "cropped" photograph.

George Anastos and Mrs. Francis Mims, two members of the McCarthy staff, had testified they knew nothing about any "cropping" of the picture, but they gave conflicting versions of its handling.

Hold 2 Suspect Safe Crackers

SUDBURY (CP)—Two of three men police said are sought by Michigan state authorities in connection with a safe cracking at Marquette were arrested here Thursday night.

Police said a bottle of nitro-glycerine was found in possession of Laurie Scown, 38, and William Smith, 46, no given address.

The arrests were made after an alert had been received to watch for a car bearing Alberta plates, said police. Search for the third man is continuing.

The two were charged with vagrancy and will be held pending action by police across the border.

Say Nothing Unusual Damaged Windshields

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. said today its research laboratory has found "no unusual phenomenon" associated with damaged windshields shipped here from areas reporting an epidemic of pock-marked glass.

The company said its top research officials have completed examination of numerous damaged windshields flown here from widely scattered areas and "all marks on the various types of windshields had been caused by impact with gravel, cinders, limestone or similar materials."

Pittsburgh Plate, one of the country's largest producers of windshield safety glass, ordered mass tests after getting reports about auto glass suddenly cracking and becoming pock-marked.

Rail Union Cancels New York Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Central Railroad said today the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (Ind.) has postponed a strike call against its line east of Buffalo, N. Y.

The railroad said the information came from the national mediation board.

The union had called for a walkout at 9 a. m. EDT Monday of 6,000 trainmen and yard workers.

The railroad said mediator Ross Foran would be in Syracuse, N. Y., Monday to assist the union and railroad in settling the grievances.

James Anderson, union vice-president, said the grievances involved questions of seniority and application of rules, but not wages.

Judge Jails Hayes 25 Years

OTTAWA (CP)—Hugh Conrad Hayes, 25, Ottawa dime-store clerk convicted of manslaughter in the fatal shooting of Miss Grace Currie, his landlady, today was sentenced to 25 years in penitentiary.

Mr. Justice John L. Wilson pronounced sentence which was the longest ever imposed in an Ottawa court for manslaughter.

Hayes told a confused story of the killing. He said that on the afternoon of Feb. 10, the day Miss Currie, 55-year-old Ottawa nurse, was slain, he had intended to commit suicide.

In passing sentence, Mr. Justice Wilson said he had the duty of protecting society from such persons as Hayes, who, physchiatric evidence indicated, is a "phscopathic personality," not able to control himself when faced with frustration.

Photographer "Manhandled"

VANCOUVER (CP)—A newspaper photographer said today that RCAF police "manhandled" him and tried to seize his camera after he had taken pictures of the $2,000,000 RCAF hangar fire here Thursday night.

Photographer John McGinnis of the Vancouver News-Herald said the only reason he wasn't put in the guardhouse was that it "was locked and they apparently didn't have the key."

"But they handled me more roughly than I've been handled by anyone during seven years of taking news pictures."

McGinnis' charges were contained in a front-page story in today's News-Herald.

CBC GIVEN PREFERENCE

Photographers from other newspapers were "furious" at being kept outside the main gate of the RCAF station while the fire was in progress, he said.

A CBC television camera truck was "waved straight through the gate when it arrived," McGinnis said.

McGinnis said he and two other News-Herald reporters climbed over a six-foot barbed-wire fence to get near the fire.

Jail Breaker Decides It's Time To Give Up When Fighter Planes Bomb His Hideout

DARWIN, Australia (Reuters) —An Australian jail breaker decided this week that when the long arm of the law closes in with droves of fighter planes blazing away with machine-guns and flights of bombers showering high explosives, it's time to give up.

An aborigine killer, a fugitive from justice for two years, is back in jail here because he got mixed up in an air force exercise which he mistook for the greatest manhunt in the nation's history.

Jackie Brilayang, sentenced to 12 years in jail for a killing during a reservation fight in 1951, thought the police were getting too tough when his hiding place in the remote wilds of northern Australia was attacked by the air force, using this apparently deserted stretch of country as a target. Jackie ran and kept running until he reached the main north-south road across Australia, and sent a message to the police to come and get him.

Diplomats See Australians Off

CANBERRA (Reuters) — The Russian embassy staff sailed for Moscow from a silent and darkened pier at Fremantle Thursday night aboard the immigrant ship New Australia.

Hours later, and half the world away, their Australian counterparts left Moscow by train amid the shouted good-byes of almost the entire diplomatic corps.

Russia broke off diplomatic relations with Australia last week following the defection of Vladimir Petrov, third secretary at the Soviet embassy at Canberra, and his blonde wife, Evokiya. Russia protested against the granting of political asylum to Petrov, whom she said was a "criminal," and claimed Mrs. Petrov was "kidnapped."

Three hundred diplomats and members of their families thronged the railroad station at Moscow for more than an hour before the Australian embassy staff left, reports from Moscow said. As the train steamed out, British and Commonwealth staffs sang "Waltzing Matilda," Australia's rousing national song. Some of the diplomats' wives burst into tears on the platform.

The Australians handed over the keys of their embassy to British embassy officials, who will look after Australia's affairs in Moscow.

Plan To Beat Britain At Game

BELIZE, British Honduras (Reuters) — The anti-colonial People's united party, flushed with victory in this Central American British colony's first general elections, today made plans to carry out its victory pledge "to beat the British at their own game."

The party won eight of the nine elected seats in the 15-member legislative council (lower house). Final results of the colony's first universal suffrage elections under a new constitution were announced Thursday night.

Victory gives the party "power of the purse strings" over the colony's legislative program, but not the whole say over the colony's affairs.

Six non-elected seats in the legislative council are filled by colonial officials and nominated members. In addition, the executive council (upper house) has the final say, and a majority of it consists of officials and nominated members.

The party claims its one losing candidate, George Gardiner, lost out in Toledo constituency, home of the Maya Indians in the south, because the administration refused to allow proxy votes for seasonal workers.

George Price, party secretary, promised voters: "We are going to change this country."

Army Isn't Taking Any More Chances

CALGARY (CP)—The army isn't taking any more chances on having its officers halted on the highways because army vehicles are not equipped with 1954 Alberta licence plates.

Wednesday a convoy in which Defence Minister Claxton and Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes were riding was halted by two RCMP constables because two cars did not have 1954 plates.

All units of western command received telegraphic instructions Thursday that vehicles lacking 1954 plates will remain "grounded" until plates are installed.

15 Horses Trampled To Death In Box Cars

KITCHENER (CP) — Fifteen horses were trampled to death in two derailed box cars on a Kitchener siding during the night. Two others were badly hurt.

The cars, holding 34 horses, were derailed in a switching mishap. It was over 12 hours before the maddened animals could be released, and during that time they fought to gain footing in the cars, which lay at a 45-degree angle. The less fortunate died.

Inspector Wallace Koegler of the local humane society, said today he would have found some way to release the animals if he had realized how long the rescue would take. A wrecking crew was rushed from Stratford to right the cars, and worked at the job most of the night.

Forgets To Turn Off Mike CBC Man Shocks Audience

TORONTO (CP)—A burst of bad language startled listeners to the CBC's Toronto radio station CBL Thursday night when an announcer "working under considerable strain" forgot to turn off his microphone during a program break.

The CBC said the bad language, "s.o.b", originated in Toronto a few seconds before a tape recording of a western program was cut in. The announcer was not identified.

The incident happened at 8:30 p.m. after the announcer had signed off the jazz program "Popular Artists in America" on the CBC's Trans-Canada network.

MAKES STATEMENT

Ira Dilworth, CBC director for Ontario, said in a statement to the press:

"The incident which occurred on CBL this evening when an anfortunate phrase was heard on the air during a station break was a regrettable occurrence for which the CBC apologizes to its listeners.

"The words were uttered by a CBC employee who was under considerable strain at the time. The circumstances which made this incident possible are being investigated most carefully by the CBC."

Massey To Address Joint Congress Session

OTTAWA (C) — Governor-General Massey will address a joint session of the United States Congress in Washington at noon next Tuesday, it was announced today.

Mr. Massey will leave Ottawa Monday on an official visit to the White House, returning May 5.

He will spend Monday night as guest of President Eisenhower in the executive mansion.

Invitations to address Congress are fairly rare, the last time a Canadian governor-general enjoyed the privilege was in 1937 when Lord Tweedsmuir was a guest of the then president Roosevelt.

The governor - general will be given a civic reception and then receive the key to the city. He will go to the White House to be received by the President and Mrs. Eisnhower.

Casey Plan Endorsed By Canada

Pearson Prepared To Agree On Korean Elections

GENEVA (CP) — Canada's external affairs minister L. B. Pearson says the Canadian delegation endorses the proposals on Korea outlined Thursday before the Geneva conference by Richard Casey, Australia's minister of external affairs.

One of Casey's key statements concerned the question of elections. He said he hopes that if necessary South Korea will agree to elections throughout Korea, not just in the north.

This represents a modification of the Western view as outlined Thursday by John Foster Dulles, United States secretary of state. Dulles, probably in an effort to placate the South Koreans, proposed that elections should be held only in the north, as elections had previously taken place in the south under United Nations supervision.

"Generally speaking we would subscribe to what Mr. Casey said, Pearson told reporters. "If necessary, we would agree that elections should be held in the whole of Korea."

TO START NEGOTIATING

The speeches Thursday by Casey and Russia's Vyacheslav Molotov marked the end of general declarations on Korea, and delegates will shortly start negotiating in earnest to see whether there is some compromise acceptable to both sides.

The Canadian delegation fears that if the Communists will not accept international supervision of elections there will be no agreement here on unification of Korea.

The resulting necessity of keeping United Nations troops in Korea would be unwelcome to Canada, which is reluctant to keep her forces in the country indefinitely.

The real work on Korea will probably start Monday. The 16 United Nations countries who fought there have been meeting regularly this week in an effort to iron out any differences in their own views on the subject. But the 16-country body is considered too unwieldy, and a decision will probably be taken to set up a working group of five, seven or nine countries, representing both East and West.

Police Hunt Spreads To Town Houses

THEDFORD, Ont. (CP)—Fred Molloy, justice of the peace, said Thursday RCMP officers looking for army equipment said stolen from Camp Ipperwash stopped a civilian on the street here and forced him to hand over a pair of boots he was wearing.

Molloy said that, in their search, the police officers "have hardly missed a home in the Thedford district."

Police officers who visited civilian homes in this district are reported to have taken back socks, shirts, and other articles believed stolen, as well as army sheets and blankets.

Residents of this town 35 miles north of London said thefts by soldiers from the nearby camp and sales of the goods to civilians have been common knowledge here for two years. Some citizens said soldiers trying to raise beer money offered to sell gloves and other items of clothing and the townsfolk, unaware the soldiers were not entitled to sell them, bought them at bargain prices.

May Day Precautions

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Heeding reports of possible trouble on May Day, the Mexican government today prohibited all plane flights over the city from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. The measure is aimed at private planes which might drop subversive handbills. However, the prohibition applies to all flights, commercial as well as private.

Labor Merger Being Hinted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The presidents of the three major United States labor unions planned to meet here today to discuss ways their organizations "can be of assistance to each other."

Announcement of the meeting by Dave Beck of the AFL teamsters in Chicago Thursday night brought speculation that a big labor merger is in the works.

Beck said he would meet with John L. Lewis of the independent United Mine Workers and David J. McDonald of the CIO Steel Workers' Union.

Beck, before leaving for Washington, declined to discuss the subject matter of today's meeting. Neither Lewis nor McDonald was immediately available for comment.

Beck told a reporter he has no authority from the AFL council to invite Lewis and McDonald to join the American Federation of Labor. However, in an address Thursday at a conference of his union, the teamsters' chief said:

"I not only want the CIO to join the AFL in a common labor organization, I also want the United Mine Workers and other independent organizations. . . . and I would utilize every resource at my command to aid and assist in bringing that about."

Martin Can Clear Up Defence Mix-up

OTTAWA (CP)—Health Minister Martin said Thursday he is sure he can clear up any misunderstanding with Ontario involving a new plan to finance civil defence.

Mr. Martin, the cabinet minister responsible for civil defence, told the Commons Wednesday there was general agreement among the provinces on a new financial formula at a recent conference on civil defence.

Thursday Opposition Leader Drew asked him to clarify his statement in view of a Toronto report Wednesday night quoting Ontario Provincial Secretary Welsh that both Ontario and Quebec had said they were not interested in the plan.

Mr. Martin replied: "I believe the record will indicate that what I said represented the situation at that time."

It was true that Quebec had not agreed with the general proposal and that Ontario had said it wanted to complete its program of standardizing fire hose couplings before considering the new plan.

"If there has been any error, I am sure it is an error in good faith on both sides."

Strong Industrials Feature Market

TORONTO (CP)—Strong industrials continued to feature the stock market today in light early afternoon trading.

Base metals were strong. Uraniums slipped and Bathurst area issues had four losses and no gains. Senior golds were down, juniors up. Manitouwadge area issues and western oils were weaker.

Strongest industrial groupings were steels, agriculture, liquors, financial institutions and manufacturing. Papers, foods and utilities were fairly strong. Constructions were steady.

Quemont led the base metal rise with $1 gain on favorable drilling reports. Changes in uraniums and Bathurst area issues were small, except for Brunswick which dropped 15 cents.

Hollinger led the senior gold issues with a 25-cent drop.

Denies Knowing Who Cropped Stevens Photo

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Anastos, an aide of Senator Joseph McCarthy swore today he did not know who "cropped" the controversial photograph of Army Secretary Robert Stevens and Pte. G. David Schine.

Called to the witness chair at Senate hearings on the row between McCarthy and army officials, Anastos said it was correct, as Schine had testified, that he received the picture from Schine.

Anastos said Schine gave him the picture at the Washington airport last Thursday, immediately after Schine brought it from New York.

Anastos said he took the picture to room 101 in the Senate office building—the office of the McCarthy staff—and put it on the desk of Francis Carr, staff director for the investigations sub-committee.

He said the picture was wrapped and he did not see it.

THIRD MAN IN ORIGINAL

Schine, wealthy New Yorker and former consultant to the McCarthy sub-committee, testified Thursday that the picture, as he brought it from New York, showed him, Stevens and Col. Jack T. Bradley.

An enlargement turned over to the investigations committee by the McCarthy camp, showed only Schine and Stevens. Bradley had been cut out.

The army has denounced this as "trickery" and called the picture "shamefully doctored."

Schine came back to the witness chair today, but was excused for the time being.

Several senators said they had further questions they wanted to ask him, but would wait until he decided whether he wanted to have a lawyer.

Schine had been called to the witness chair with the understanding he would be questioned now only about the "cropped" picture. He is to be a general witness later.

Schine testified Thursday that he was asked by Stevens to pose for the original picture at McGuire air force base last Nov. 17.

Russia Asks Indies

The Russian move to invite India to the Indo-China talks was considered likely to meet opposition from the United States delegation.

French and Indian circles ex-

WON'T PRESS MATTER

pressed belief, however, that the Russians will not press for India's inclusion. French officials were understood to feel that the Soviet delegation will finally settle for a nine-party list also acceptable to the Western powers.

Indian informants said they feel Russia will not make the inclusion of India a condition for convening of the Indo-China parley. They hinted Russia might prefer to omit India so she would be eligible for some supervisory role in Indo-China, similar to the role India played in Korea.

The United States is understood to be firmly opposed to including India in the talks on the grounds that the conference should be held to as small a circle of interested powers as possible.

India's Prime Minister Nehru recently announced to his parliament in New Delhi a program for an end to the seven-year-old Indo-China war, including an immediate cease-fire, a non-intervention pact by the big powers and direct negotiations between the French and the Communist-led Vietminh.

ONE OBSTACLE REMOVED

The report of Russia's move to bring India to Geneva came shortly after it was revealed that Viet Nam's chief of state, Bao Dai, had agreed to sit down at the conference table here with representatives of the Vietminh.

Until the reported new Russian demand, Bao Dai's previous opposition to rebel participation had been the major obstacle preventing organization of the Indo-China talks after the conclusion of the present debate on Korea.

It was reported earlier that the East and West were virtually agreed on including nine parties at the Indo-China talks. These would be the U. S., Russia, Britain, France, Red China, representatives of the Vietminh and the three French-sponsored Indo-China governments of Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos.

Agreement on the composition of the talks would make it possible for invitations to be sent out at once to the three Indo-China states and to the Vietminh regime. The other proposed participants already are in Geneva.

AGREEMENT IMPORTANT

The importance of early agreement became apparent Thursday when Thailand's prince Wan Waithayakon, one of the three chairmen of the general Far Eastern conference, said the debate on Korea probably will be completed by the end of the week.

The discussion may be transferred then to working groups assigned to consider the details of various proposals made so far.

Most observers already have written off any chances of a Korean settlement as hopeless. The proposals of the Communists and the West are as far apart as they were in 1948 when the United Nations first approved its plan for unification of the divided peninsula by UN-supervised elections.

There appears to be a bit more optimism on the Indo-China question, perhaps because Russia so far has raised no demand which the French have been disposed to fight. The main Soviet demand to date on the Indo-China conference has been that the Vietminh must be included.

Although Bao Dai had threatened earlier to boycott the conference if Vietminh representatives were present, most western diplomats felt there was no sound reason for opposing Russia's demand.

Village commissioners at Mission city have urged B.C. dike commissioner Jock MacDonald to take all possible precautionary measures.

Ballasting of 4,000 feet of river bank on Nicomen island at Dewdney, B.C., will be completed within a week with up to 1,500 cubic yards of rock being dumped daily by 21 trucks rolling on 12-hour shifts.

Under normal conditions, the Fraser would be rising and muddy with grey silt—but it isn't. It's rolling low and green and the snow still sits white upon the mountains.

Lands Minister Robert Sommers, visiting Trail, said the provincial government is aware of the threat and all assistance would be at the city's command should the flooding occur—even to calling out the army which fought on the dikes in 1948.

Obituary

MRS. MARY ELLEN CLANCEY

Widow of a man who ran a dairy on Park St., for many years, Mrs. Mary Ellen Clancey of 460 Sherbrooke St., died suddenly at her home Friday. She was born near Lindsay, daughter of the late Peter O'Connor and Mary Jane Piggott and, except for the past two years, lived most of her life in Otonabee township. Her husband, Leonard J. Clancey, predeceased her in 1951.

Mrs. Clancey leaves one daughter, Mrs. Harry Rutherford (Bernadine) of Otonabee and ten sons: they are Edward of Detroit; Peter of Paw Paw, Mich.; Mark of Battle Creek, Mich.; Elmer of Rochester; Fergus, Ambrose and Stephen of Otonabee township, and Michael, William and Joseph of Peterborough. One brother, Owen O'Connor, lives in Rathdrum, Idaho. There are 27 grandchildren.

Mrs. Clancey was a member of St. Peter's cathedral, of its Catholic Women's League and of St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary.

The funeral will be held from her home on Monday to St. Peter's Cathedral where requiem mass will be said at 9 a.m. Burial will be at St. Peter's Cemetery.

15,000 Homeless In Earthquake

ATHENS (AP)—At least 15,000 were made homeless by an earthquake which tumbled houses like packs of cards near Athens this afternoon, Interior Minister John Nikolitsas said tonight.

He said the calamity was "comparable only to the catastrophic earthquake which laid waste the Ionian islands last August."

Nikolitsas told a reporter that in Sophades, near Karditsa, 98 per cent of the houses collapsed. Six persons were killed, several injured and about 4,000 people became homeless, he said.

In Karditsa 75 per cent of the houses collapsed and about 10,000 lost their homes.

In Pharsala 80 per cent of the houses collapsed and there was an unspecified number of dead and wounded.

shared and resolutions passed to plan community recreation more effectively.

The secretary of the ORA, Mrs. C. J. Lynch of Weston, also predicted that the conference would produce concrete results. She mentioned this afternoon's symposium of experts, and said it was a "real privilege" to meet and talk with recreation experts. Mrs. Lynch also predicted that some of these experts would drop "bombshells" at the symposium.

Chairman of the symposium was K. L. Young, who made the announcement about legislative changes in the recreation field. Taking the theme "How Are We Doing" Mr. Young began a summary of recreation developments in Ontario, and pointed up some trends.

SPEAKERS

Others slated to speak at the symposium were T. A. Leishman of the community programs branch department of education; William Pillsworth, assistant recreation director in London; Dr. E. Zeigler, head of physical education at the University of Western Ontario; T. W. Thompson, Port Arthur parks superintendent; D. A. Garvie, Niagara representative of the government's community programs branch; Miss Florence Philpott, executive secretary of the Toronto Welfare Council; Norman F. Cragg, recreation director of this group; Arnold Ward, young adult secretary of the National Council of the YMCA.

The conference chairman is E. K. Ogg, immediate past chairman of the Leaside recreation committee. He is working in co-operation with Ken Robinson, Peterborough recreation director, Jim McLeod of Waterloo who is manning the registration desk, and a host of volunteer workers.

As delegates registered at the Empress this morning, they drifted to various displays of recreation equipment in the lobby. These were set up by enterprising manufacturers including a former deputy minister of municipal affairs, now a businessman.

Included in the displays were stadium floodlights from the CGE, playground equipment, audio-visual aids, art supplies, occupational therapy equipment, books on recreation, handicrafts, leather-working kits and many others. Displays were not only in the lobby, but upstairs as well, crowding the reception room.

Tonight delegates will hear Prof. C. E. Hendry, director of the school of social work at the University of Toronto. Prof. Hendry, author of "The Role of Groups in World Reconstruction" will take as his theme "Where Do We Go From Here?"

Discussions continue tomorrow and Sunday, with election of officers Saturday morning. Ken Robinson will chair Saturday's luncheon at which Bill McFarlane, local YMCA boys' work secretary will speak. Richard McDonald of the metropolitan Toronto YMCA will speak Sunday after a devotional period conducted by the Rev. F. G. Ongley.

Allow Emergency Act Expire

OTTAWA (CP)—The government's power to legislate without parliamentary approval ends Monday, May 31, which the expiry of the Emergency Powers Act.

Prime Minister St. Laurent informed the Commons Thursday it will not be asked to extend the act beyond that date.

Twenty-five orders-in-council, with the effect of law, have been made by the cabinet since the legislation was passed in 1951 to meet emergency conditions after the outbreak of the Korean war.

The legislation gives the government wide power to control Canada's economy and national security without reference to Parliament.

It was strongly attacked by all opposition parties, especially the Progressive Conservatives, when it was given annual renewals in 1952 and 1953. Five weeks ago a PC motion describing the power as repugnant to responsible government was defeated 134 to 68.

SAID AUTHORITY NEEDED

The Government's reply to criticisms was that the legislative authority was needed to meet possible emergencies as the world passed through critical days.

Mr. St. Laurent said Thursday the Government had a grave decision to make in allowing the act to expire "because there is a pretty explosive situation in the world."

He said he hopes future situations will not develop requiring anything more than normal powers of order-in-council. If the interests of Canada's safety called for powers not normally provided under existing legislation, "we would have to resort to the War Measures Act."

The War Measures Act, now dormant, was passed in 1914 and invoked again in 1939 to give the government absolute powers during both world wars. Between 1945 and the passing of the Emergency Powers Act in 1951, certain powers were retained under emergency transitional powers acts.

HIGHLIGHT OF DAY

The prime minister's announcement was the highlight of a day's sitting that was devoted largely to consideration of budget estimates of the works and northern affairs departments.

Of the 25 orders approved under the Emergency Powers Act, 12 still are in effect and the prime minister is expected to announce today whether they will be continued. The other 13 either lapsed, were cancelled or were written into subsequent legislation passed by Parliament.

The nature of one order-in-council remains a secret. In passing it, the cabinet approved another order excusing it from disclosing the order's terms.

Mr. St. Laurent said last month, in a debate on emergency powers, that it may be possible to allow the secret order to expire. The Criminal Code or the Official Secrets Act might be found to provide sufficient safeguard to meet the conditions involved.

Coffee Price Jumps Highest For Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Coffee prices have taken another upward flip in the last week and now are the highest in Toronto's history, city retailers said today.

Independent grocers are charging from $1.37 to $1.53—up approximately five cents from last week. Larger chain stores are charging around $1.40. Increased wholesale prices are blamed for retail markups.

Coffee still cost 10 cents a cup in most restaurants, with some charging 12 cents for take-out orders.

Denies Club Bars Negroes

TORONTO (CP)—A. W. Purtle, owner of the suburban Lakeview Golf Club, today denied that his club discriminates against Negroes.

James Marshall said last week he was prevented from practising on the course for the A. V. Roe (Canada) Limited golf tournament on the grounds that he is a Negro. Sponsors have cancelled the tournament which had been scheduled for Saturday at Lakeview.

Purtle said Marshall was refused permission to play because he did not comply with membership or guest rules and was by himself.

Marshall said he sought to join two other Roe company employees at the first tee but was refused permission by a course employee.

Purtle said he has investigated the Marshall incident thoroughly and is convinced that no one told Marshall Negroes are not allowed to play.

Must Find Out Hatfield Hall Be Acceptable

COBOURG (ENS)—Unless the building is bought by others while the Northumberland and Durham Counties special property committee is dickering for it, the Hatfield Hall building may be purchased by the counties as its new counties headquarters and the present offices, which have been rented in the town hall since it was built almost one hundred years ago, will be vacated.

The owner told the counties property committee on Wednesday that he would not hold it exclusively for the counties after 11.45 that Wednesday night but it is understood that negotiations are still going on although the counties do not have an option. The owner has offered the building to the counties for $68,000 and the committee has been authorized to pay up to that amount, subject to some other conditions which have to be met.

The committee has to find out from the inspector of legal offices or someone else in authority, if the Hatfield Hall building can be converted for use of court officials and if a court room there will be satisfactory. The committee will also see an architect to learn what structural changes can be made.

The biggest stumbling block will be whether the town council will let their tenants use Hatfield Hall. There are restrictions on use of the property. The present owner, an advertising firm, uses the building for that purpose only because the town council in 1952 passed a bylaw exempting the owner from the restrictions of the residential area bylaw. It is felt that the town council may be reluctant to afford the same privileges as granted the present owner.

He served during the Second World War with the Canadian Navy from 1941 to 1945 and was discharged with the rank of lieutenant.—(CP from National Film Board).

Well Contamination Problem For Richvale

TORONTO (CP)—The suburban community of Richvale has been hit by a contamination of wells and officials already have condemned 107 of 118 wells in the area.

Officials of the York County health unit warned the 1,000-odd residents Thursday night that use of the contaminated water could cause a serious outbreak of typhoid fever or dysentery. The condemned wells show traces of nitrate poisoning, officials said.

Boiling water will kill the bacteria but will not render it safe from nitrate poisoning, which can be fatal, especially to children. Septic tanks installed too close to the surface and wells of insufficient depth have been blamed for the contamination.

Health officials said the only solution to the problem is to dig wells deeper.

Unit Will Get Two New Guns

COBOURG (ENS)—Annual inspection of the 33rd Medium Regiment of Cobourg will be held here on Monday evening. This year it is to be held on King St. in front of the town hall where Brigadier M. S. Dunn, of Kingston, will conduct the inspection. For many years past it has been the custom to hold the inspection at the armouries but it was felt that the public would have a better view of the proceedings if they were held on the main street in front of the town hall. However, if it rains, the inspection will be in the armouries.

The occasion will be highlighted by the formal presentation to the unit of new guns, American 155 mm. howitzers, by Brigadier Dunn. Lt. Col. Robert Lucas, commander of the unit, will be in charge of the inspection details.

Liquor Beneath Trees Brings Two To Court

A lovely spring day and the attractions of shade and quiet beneath the leafy bower in Jackson Park, proved too much of a temptation for three Peterborough men Thursday.

However, the weather was not enough for these three, so they took a bottle along with them. City police disapproved of what was (or had been) in the bottle and the men were arrested.

In court today Patrick Jordon, 379 Bethune St., Kenneth McLeod, 332 Rubidge St. and Fred Lusty, 313 Louis St, appeared before Magistrate W. E. Philp, QC. Lusty pleaded guilty to consuming liquor in a place other than his residence, Jordon having liquor in a place other than his residence and McLeod to being drank.

Jordon received a $15 fine, costs $2.50 and McLeod was fined a similar amount. Lusty's fine was $10, costs $2.50.

Leaflet Barrage

MUNICH (AP)—Millions of anti-Communist leaflets began to shower Czechoslovakia Thursday from high - altitude balloons launched by the American "Crusade for Freedom" from secret border sites, Radio Free Europe reported. At the same time, RFE transmitters supported the crusade by Czechoslovak - beamed broadcasts, marking the start of a co-ordinated campaign called "Operation Veto."

Deputy Resigns

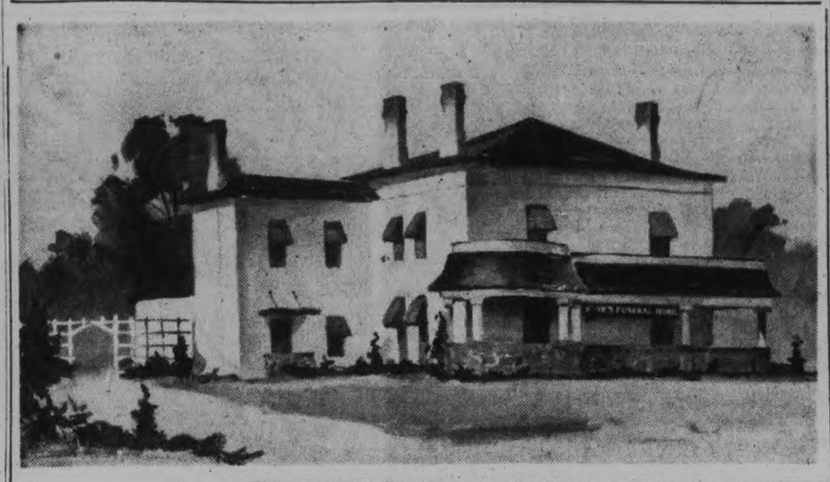
HAMILTON (CP)—Harry Moses assistant deputy fire chief here, resigned Thursday night for what he said was the decision of the fire and jail committees to post the position of deputy chief. He is the second deputy chief to resign. Jerry O'Connor quit in March charging there was political interference in administration of the fire department.

Aircraft Factory Moving To Perth

PERTH, Ont. (CP) — R. W. R. Hughes, president of the Perth Chamber of Commerce, announced Thursday that the Toronto aircraft firm, Inaerco Limited, will move its factory and offices to a new plant which is to be built here.

The building is to have a total floor area of 17,000 square feet and the contract for the construction has been awarded to R. T. Parks and Son of Perth. Construction is expected to start within the next 10 days.

A small number of key personnel will be brought from Toronto but the balance of employees will be local residents. Perth is 35 miles northwest of Brockville.



Fire In Town Dump

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Firemen were called to the town dump about 8 p.m. on Thursday to extinguish a fire that was sending dense clouds of smoke rolling over the area..

The fire had been smouldering since 5:30 pm, and when it began to bother nearby residents, it was decided to turn in an alarm and have the fire department extinguish it. It was not definitely established just how the fire was started, but needless to say, no damage resulted.

City Business

In early years when Peterborough had fifteen thousand people, the towns' affairs could be conducted in an easy-going way, with all the aldermen having lots of time to discuss every detail, down to the placing of a hydrant and the removal of a hitching-post. Now Peterborough is nearly three times as large and therefore city business has grown three times as big. The increase in the population is not the only element increasing the complexity and size of municipal affairs. Because of modern concern about social welfare, the Council and administrative staff of the city have to deal with all manner of things besides matters affecting property like taxes, sidewalks, drinking water and street cleaning. There is a Public Health department, there is Planning Board, a Recreation Commission, a Parks Committee, a Welfare Department, an Industrial Committee, and so on. Further, old established offices have taken on more complicated processes. The City Assessor, for instance, does work far beyond the imaginings of the part-time assessor of half a century ago, and must have a specilized staff.

* * *

Owing, then, to the increased population and the enlarged responsibilities imposed on municipal councils by the Municipal Act and the proliferation of public services demanded and required, the affairs of Peterborough have grown out of all recognition to cracker-barrel days. Yet, in some ways, the procedures for dealing with the city's affairs belong to those days, and the Council bogs down like a loaded bus on a corduroy road. Committees of the whole Council have wearisome sessions perhaps lasting five or six hours, trying to cope with masses of details and administrative problems when really they should be concerned with broad policy and planning.

* * *

Piecemeal reforms in procedure are made from time to time. For instance, this week's decision to form a three-man sub-committee of the Board of Works should speed the Board of Works' job and also make it more intelligible. The Board of Works, a committee of the whole Council, cannot possibly deal with all the details, requests, complaints and problems which arise in a city of Peterborough's size and growth. The aldermen do not have time for them, nor time to acquire sufficient information to arrive at detailed decisions adequately. The sub-committee of three will be able to sift the problems and present recommendations to the whole Board from prior examination. Time will be saved and the city engineer's work eased.

* * *

This is a good change, but such measures can only postpone, and not avoid the time when municipal government must be revolutionized. The fabric is too cumbersome for the complexities of modern times and Ontario's great industrial and urban growth.

You Need Some Geography To Be Cheerful

One of the penalties of the increasing Canadian commitments abroad is that Canadians at home have to know more geography.

It used to be that only during wars did Canadians give a hoot above foreign place-names, other than the capitals and countries they had to learn by rote at school (if they wanted to get any Jography marks). And during wars soldiers abroad could be content to know the name "Wipers" without realizing in what country Ypres was, and people at home were happy enough to learn that Ortona is on the Adriatic and across the Apennines from Rome. Wartime geography is extremely localized; villages formerly unknown beyond their fifty-miles radius become as big in the public eye as Calcutta or Paris. Soldiers in foreign camps or in trenches hardly care where, geographically, they are, and sometimes really do not know much more than that they are in Belgium, Italy or Holland. For they take their environment with them and transform Ortona into a "Western Canadian Town" (as the road sign read following its capture.) All they require of local place-names is the situation of the nearest place which has a shop and a bistro.

We seem to be wandering far from our thesis. We return to our mutons by remarking, really, that peace-time now makes more demands on geographical knowledge than war-time, upon Canadians, anyway. One has to know of remote places like Dien Bien Phu (even if one cannot pronounce it) as one did Wipers. But one also must be familiar with names of more important places geographically: Colombo, Thailand, Kashmir, Seoul, Canberra, British Honduras, Hanoi, Taipeh. They are all on the first two pages of any newspaper these days, with common names like Geneva and Paris.

Why must one know these far-flung names? Because Canadians have fought in, for or about them, or may have to do so in the future. Because Canadian money is being spent there. Because a war starting in the Antipodes may spread with the speed of an A-bomb to Toronto, Peterborough or Buckhorn. And they should be known because Canadians are becoming an international people, with international economic and moral responsibilities, and because any intelligent people should be well informed about the world at large, the One World of today for their security if not for their happiness.

Actually, today's geography should bring a little hope and pleasure to us. The discussions at Geneva, studded by geographical names and representatives of far-off countries, began very well. The very complexity of today's geography and the impingment of one place upon another owing to the connections caused by nuclear weapons, seems to be forcing hope on a hapless world. So it may be that the more geography we learn the happier we will be—and not because the teacher says so. Today, you need some geography to be cheerful; otherwise, the whole messy mass of international hodge-podge is a phantasmagoria of space without time and time without a resting-point, only an end.

A Thousand Jets

Lastweek the 1,000th F-86 Sabre jet plane passed out of the Canadair factory in Montreal and was ceremoniously handed over to Air Marshal Slemon of the R.C.A.F. by the Minister of National Defence, Mr. Brooke Claxton. The thousand Sabres have been made for the R.C.A.F. and the ceremony meant that now the Canadian Air Force at home and abroad is equipped with 1,000 of these powerful jet planes, along with other craft and jets it gets from other sources. It is an indication of Canada's industrial skill, engineering capacity and productive ability that its own military forces can be equipped with its own goods, designed and manufactured in Canada by Canadians. This is a matter of pride, particularly when one remembers that the Sabre jet is among the best military planes in the world.

Mr. Claxton remarked that "with Sabre jets produced by our Canadian industry, highly-trained R.C.A.F. pilots now have the best possible equipment to defend the bastions of the free world." He said that there can be no means of massive retaliation unless the country has the "massive" capacity to produce these air weapons like the F-86 Sabre jet and the CF-100. The H-bomb is in existence, and the U.S. has it. Mr. Claxton remarked — and was there a hint of grimness? — "It makes aircraft like these more vitally important then ever before because our air force is geared to air defence."

Canadians cannot help but count the costs. Canadair's contract to produce these thousand Sabres cost Canadian taxpayers $250,000,000 — an average of a quarter of a million dollars a machine.

Fame Is The Spur, Spurned

Britain has its own species of public pollsters. It is called "Mass Observation". This asked a thousand Britons, selected as representative of public knowledge and opinion, what they associated with the following five names:

Senator McCarthy,
Sir Edmund Hillary,
Dr. Kinsey,
Gordon Pirie,
John Reginald Halliday Christie.

We hasten to inform our readers that Gordon Pirie—who, we thought, must be a cricketer—is the six-mile world champion. We looked it up. As for the other four names, here is what Britons knew of them. Christie was the best-known of the five. He was identified by 820 out of the 1,000 as the Notting Hill murderer. runner-up was Sir Edmund Hillary, known to about 750 of the 1,000, but one person said that Hillary was the man "who got to the top of that high hill with a black man called Sing-Sing".

One person identified Dr. Kinsey as the Anglican parson who wrote "The Water Babies". Westward ho! Charles Kingsley, the land is bright. People on this side of the water at least are not at sexes and sevens about Dr. Kinsey's name and fame.

A Good Time To Donate

The Cancer Society's compaign for funds closes tonight. We offer a last-minute reminder because the work of the society is so useful and important. Its funds help, in Peterborough and the Province, to provide for diagnosis, treatment, home care, and research. Cancer is the last remaining big scourge afflicting Canadian people, and unfortunately, the incidence of the disease is increasing. Therefore any way it can be combatted should be promoted; the Canadian Cancer Society through its local branches, is an excellent agent in this fight. The Peterborough Branch is hoping to raise $8,000. There is still time to send in your donation. It will be counted thankfully.

Television In Italy

By TOM HARRISON

THERE is nothing in TV itself which requires that it must become a process of cumulative mediocrity. Some European countries are slowly proving the potentialities of the medium — most notably Italy. While I was there, for instance, there was a superb original TV production of "Crime and Punishment." One of the fine Milan studios was divided into twelve sets, each complete down to the smallest detail of the production's mood. The producer bubbled over with ideas. He was expected to think and use his own mind; to synthesise techniques; to direct performers, cameramen, sound, lighting and make-up to an extent inconceivable in the divided, confused controls of the B.B.C.'s Lime Grove — yet he was not regarded as a big shot. In Italy producers are called regisseurs; the term describes their status. They rely on their own brains and new skills, not on position and local tradition. Also, they are on short-term contract, and cannot become the virtually immovable and slowly fossilising accretions of B.B.C. "establishment."

✧ ✧ ✧

EVERY WEEK R.A.I. (Italy's B.B.C. equivalent) put on at least one major play, treated strictly as TV. Hard thinking and bold execution show through all their programmes. For example, basketball seems a silly game to me, but on the Italian TV cameras and commentator somehow made it come through the screen to enthral.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE ATMOSPHERE of the new and still-growing R.A.I. building in Milan is as impressive and sympathetic as its structure—unlike the labyrinth of London's studios and offices in their seemingly senseless maldistribution. The entire personnel, from the director, Serge Pugliese, to the door-men, seem relaxed and yet alert. In a sunlit, high-up room eight young men wander about chatting and joking in between preparing set models and blue-prints. Any programme involving studio complications is blue-printed in advance, with copies to all concerned. Camera angles, shot sequences, entrances and exits are planned long before production. These are not diagrams of diktat, only indications of potential. These are the limits of technical control.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE NEXT Italian phase is from blue-print to rehearsal room. On one of the floors there are rooms identical in dimensions with the studios below. The only furniture is a central table. On the floor chalk-marks repeat to scale the scenery and camera angles of the agreed blue-prints. R.A.I. make TV rehearsal rooms more important than studios. I saw ballet, cabaret, comedy, Crime and Punishment all being rehearsed at once. In London we rehearse in billiard saloons, boys' clubs, pubs and disused gymnasiums, up to an hour away from W.12. There is not one rehearsal room in London's huge new TV buildings.

R.A.I.'s TV budget this year is just under 51 million dollars, of this over half is to be spent on extending the service area. Revenue comes from the commercials which sound radio is allowed to sell. TV in Italy — as in every other major European country — will not permit advertising. All over Western Europe I found amazement, bordering on incredulity, at the British scheme for commercialism.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE is no idea in Italy of immediately relating TV income to expenditures. There are only 35,000 licences so far. Sets still cost over $300; cheap ones, officially sponsored, will be mass-marketed in 1955. R.A.I. have decided to push TV to the hilt, and are setting their standards from the start. TV will not be gradually watered down into insipidity to meet an expanding and less demanding audience than the present critical few. Anyway, that is the intention. I believe it will succeed.

✧ ✧ ✧

PROGRAMMES run about thirty-four hours a week at present. There is caution about increasing time without increasing talent. The Italians do not subscribe to the heresy that more programme time is necessarily a good thing. They start by assuming that viewers are eager for intelligent fare; that if they are not, good pictures will still hold many of them; and that those who cannot take "Crime and Punishment" can simply turn off and wait for the soccer.

Revenge

(The Ottawa Journal)

We should like to think good will come from a short piece printed on this page the other day telling how the town of State College in Pennsylvania rid itself of a plague of starlings. They caught a starling, shook it until it protested sharply, caught the angry protest on a record, amplified it and extended it and played it back to the bird's roosting places. The starlings stuck it out for three nights and then departed for a more congenial environment.

This may be the idea the world has been waiting for, to rid society of some of its lesser troubles — punish the pests with their own noises, recorded and amplified. The Milwaukee Journal puts it neatly:

"Bombard comedians with their own jokes, politicians with their own speeches, Communists with their own propaganda, juke box manufacturers with their own juke boxes, cocktail-party bores with their own stories."

And there are others who never would be missed. Persons who talk at the movies could be shut in with the film of an enchantress and subjected to their own amplified inanities. Fellows who whistle in street cars could be shut up in a tram with their own whistles built into a terrible screech. And so on — everybody will have his own pests to offer: it might be the noisy gum-chewer, people who talk of private matters in loud voices at lunch counters, the horn-tooters coming on, will be playing radios at top capacity with their windows open.

There's plenty of room.

Costly Egg

(New York Herald-Tribune)

In Cairo, Egypt, a New York art dealer bought an egg for $18,500.

It was an Easter egg which Czar Nicholas II gave to Empress Alexandra Feodorovna in 1906. The mauve enamel shell is decorated with strips of diamonds. Inside is a large aquamarine, representing a lake, with gold water lillies and a gold swan.

Someone smuggled the egg out of Russia at the time of the Bolshevik revolution. In recent years it has been in the collection of the deposed King Farouk of Egypt. His confiscated riches were sold by auction.

Letters To The Editor

TREE-SWALLOW

SIR: In a recent Examiner I noticed that someone said although we are interested in the first robin, crocus and daffodil no one reported about the first swallow and would like to know when it arrives. I saw a tree-swallow in my back yard about two weeks ago although I do not remember the exact date.

Yours truly,
A Bird Lover,
MRS. T. H. BIRCH.

SUMMER DRAWERS ON

Honoured Sir:

Salaam! and Seasonable Greetings. Humble self sincerely hoping purveyors of female bloomers, etc., do not cease exposing said adornments in store windows, leering at such untouchables being part of genuine free male entertainments.

In esteemed home country suchlike female garmentry exposed for sale mainly in Bell Tent and pot lid department, causing much hilarity but no great interest to unimaginative self.

Spring being now arrived, so summer draws on.

Allah and the profits be with you.

"YOHO HAMA."

SCHOOL BOYS AT CORNER

SIR: I wonder if something could be done to keep the "School Boys" in better order while waiting to cross the road at the corner of Lock and Lansdowne Sts.? These boys every morning and noon are running over people's lawns and jumping over fences and on people's verandahs and creating a regular nuisance. Particularly boys from Morrow and Montgomery Sts. Some of the boys actually try to get the money out of the paper holder on the corner of the street. They also fool around in the telephone booth on the opposite corner.

These boys have a play-ground at school and instead of being held up until a gang accumulates at the corner waiting to cross the street, let the "Patrol" let them cross more often and then the boys can go to the playground instead of annoying people. Maybe if some of the teachers or principals read this they will draw the pupils' attention to it.

Yours sincerely,
"REASON."

TOOK COURSE, UNQUALIFIED

SIR: Completed the four-day course April 21-24 for instructors of swimming and water safety at Albert College Belleville, sponsored by the Red Cross.

They were not able to qualify me as an instructor of water safety and swimming—Reason given—Have not a Bronze Medallion or equivalent.

At the beginning of the course we were told of a teacher, being one of the best, who himself could not swim a stroke.

It's beyond me how he could ever qualify. He would be in an awful predicament if called upon to make a rescue.

I have had 45 years swimming experience. Have made two actual rescues from near drownings in the past two years and one in 1930 in the St. John River, N.B. Have taught many to become good swimmers.

I think this calls for more merit than a rescue demonstration in a class of swimmers. This being a real test of swimming and life saving. Guess I should have applied for medals at the time, then possibly I would have qualified as a Red Cross Instructor. Maybe they hold my age against me. I am 53, but like the song, "Young at Heart."

Well at least the course was a very good training, though I do not feel there is anything additional to learn regarding swimming and water safety. I did learn how to apply artificial respiration and how to break various holds in life saving and enjoyed the course.

Yours truly,
(Mrs.) DOROTHY TREMBLAY.
Campbellford, Ontario.

AGAINST MONDAY CLOSING

SIR: I wonder how the grocers feel about the Monday closing now! Do you feel a guilty pang when your valued customer comes in Tuesday morning and tells you she didn't have bread for supper, or only had a tin of sardines left in the house because company came on Sunday and cleaned them out of eats, so went on a diet all Monday?

I for one feel we played into big hands when we gave up our good day which was Monday. Moreover so many customers have not facilities or space to store enough food for two days, every week.

I feel the independent grocer can give a service that can far offset the odd cents folks might gain by buying in chain stores.

When one hears so many complaints aired about the inconvenience of Monday closing I, for one, feel it is time to consider these complaints and, either grant us the privilege of serving a customer when he needs service, or close one day instead of two.

In a general survey by conversation, almost every customer is more than agreeable to a single day, namely Wednesday, for all-day closing, if we must close all day. But two days, Sunday and Monday together — No.

Does the grocer not like a weekend holiday? It is wonderful — but not to the detriment of business.

What can one do with a weekend holiday if he suffers financially, or is losing business by doing so?

We believe in giving service second to none. Let's consider the good people who give us our bread with butter on it. Can't we close on Wednesday and also give ourselves a break in the middle of the week? A statutory holiday would then be appreciated when it comes along, too.

AN INDEPENDENT GROCER.

HILLBILLIES ALL OVER ONTARIO

SIR: I noticed through the columns of the Press considerable agitation in connection with the uncalled-for remark made by Mr. Bradshaw about the hillbillies that are supposed to reside down in the eastern end of this county. I don't think that a gentleman in Mr. Bradshaw's position should have made such a remark, but what amuses me is the three indignant gentlemen out of 21 County Members that waited on our good friend Mr. Scott with their trifling tale of woe, and I was pleased to note that our popular member had no comment to make which he deserves credit for.

I wonder if the same three gentlemen sometime through life have ever made a statement or remark that would have been better not said, if they haven't, I judge that they are saints. It looks to me a lot like being able to see the mote in their brother's eye, but unable to detect as large a one in their own eye.

I am inclined to think that we have many hillbillies in our fair Province, judging from the reports that we hear over radio and in the press, but there appears to be one indignant gentleman that claims that the rural people are hot under the collar about Mr. Bradshaw's sneery remark. If they are perturbed it's a wonder that the representatives of this particular rural district are not voicing their indignation, or is this indignant gentleman of urban centre dictating the tune that the rural council must play.

It looks to many since the first of January that our rural representatives have been more or less guided by the requests of the urban centre, and have finally became the collecting agents for that body. The indignant gentleman that is so hurt about Mr. Bradshaw's remarks about the hilly billies in the rural district; but he doesn't seem to worry about the thieving billys that have been plaguing the urban centre for the last couple of years, and I have no knowledge of any of our rural hillbillies ever being taken into custody for this petty thieving.

Sincerely yours,
THE COMMONER.

Havelock, Ontario.

Bible Message

(From The Authorized Version)

And the child Samuel ministered unto the Lord before Eli. And the word of the Lord was precious in those days; there was no open vision.

And it came to pass at that time, when Eli was laid down in his place, and his eyes began to wax dim, that he could not see; and ere the lamp of God went out in the temple of the Lord, where the ark of God was, and Samuel was laid down to sleep; that the Lord called Samuel: and he answered, Here am I. And he ran unto Eli, and said Here am I, for thou calledst me. After he said, I called not; lie down again. And he went and lay down.

And the Lord called yet again, Samuel. And Samuel arose and went to Eli, and said, Here am I; for thou didst call me. And he answered, I called not, my son; lie down again. Now Samuel did not yet know the Lord, neither was the word of the Lord yet revealed unto him.

And the Lord called Samuel again the third time. And he arose and went to Eli, and said. Here am I; for thou didst call me. And Eli perceived that the Lord had called the child. Therefore Eli said unto Samuel, Go lie down: and it shall be, if he call thee, that thou shalt say, Speak, Lord; for thy servant heareth. So Samuel went and lay down in his place.

And the Lord came, and stood, and called as at other times, Samuel, Samuel. Then Samuel answered, Speak; for they servant heareth . . .

And Samuel grew, and the Lord was with him, and did let none of his words fall to the ground. (I Sam. 3:1-10, 19.)

NO JAILS FOUND IN RUSSIA THEY'RE LABOR CAMPS INSTEAD

Methods Of Secret Police In Exacting Confessions Closely Kept Red Secret

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Jails as we know them were banned some years ago in Russia. The death penalty was abolished except for treason and espionage.

Instead of going to jail, those in ordinary trouble with the law now suffer "loss of freedom"—which means service in a labor camp.

You can have the doubtful pleasure for three years by pulling the emergency crank on a subway train in Moscow. Purse snatching or shoplifting is good for five years, or more likely 10 or 15.

UNKNOWN TOTAL

How many Russians are held in labor camps is unknown. The International Labor Office in Geneva says millions. Western sources also claim that more than 1,000,000 German, Japanese, Italian and Spanish prisoners of the Second World War and earlier are in similar camps through the Soviet Union. The Soviet government has kept figures secret.

To get an idea of legal procedure, I asked permission to attend court sessions, legal consultation clinics run by the state, and places of correction such as labor camps. No such facility was given me.

But it is obvious to any visitor to Russia that the people have no more fear of the ordinary police than we have for a traffic officer. I saw no indication that the ordinary Russian has any fear of apprehension by the state's secret police—the MVD, as the old NKVD is known today.

The word "policeman" in Russia is "go-ro-do-voy." It is archaic. There's a state "militia man" on every corner, and often mid-block too. They stand outside public buildings, and check the identity of all seeking admission. They "guard" the entrance of every building where foreigners live and are on subway platforms.

Russians give them no more deferential treatment than they receive, and the citizen is always saluted when an interview is over.

I never saw a Soviet militia man behave officiously or rudely. Even a street brawl doesn't excite them. They stroll over leisurely, as though not wanting to interfere until the participants have worked off steam.

They control traffic strictly and whistle drivers to the curb for every slight infraction. Pedestrians aren't bothered unless they try to joy-walk.

They take no notice of beggars who often stand near stores or main intersections. Russians seem to think that beggars bring good luck.

I was arrested 20 times in my five months in Russia, always for taking photographs. Without exception I was treated most correctly and given a polite apology when I proved my right to use a camera.

One Western diplomat, a former minister of justice in his own country, said Russian criminal law is up-to-date and has been copied by Switzerland. He said a lawyer who can forget the vitriolic Communist tongue of UN Delegate Andrei Vishinsky will find Vishinsky's text of "Legal Evidence," handbook in all Soviet courts, sets high standards for the conduct of trials.

SINISTER SIDE

But he acknowledged no Westerner in Moscow knows anything about the special law applying to political offences — except that those considered to have "betrayed" the regime invariably confess and, after a form of trial, are shot.

Soviet double-talk in official announcements and the brown-grey walls of Lubianka, MVD headquarters around the corner from my Moscow hotel, keep hidden the methods used by the secret police.

Only a handful of Russia's 210,000,000 people rise to the eminence which carries risk of MVD attention, my informant said.

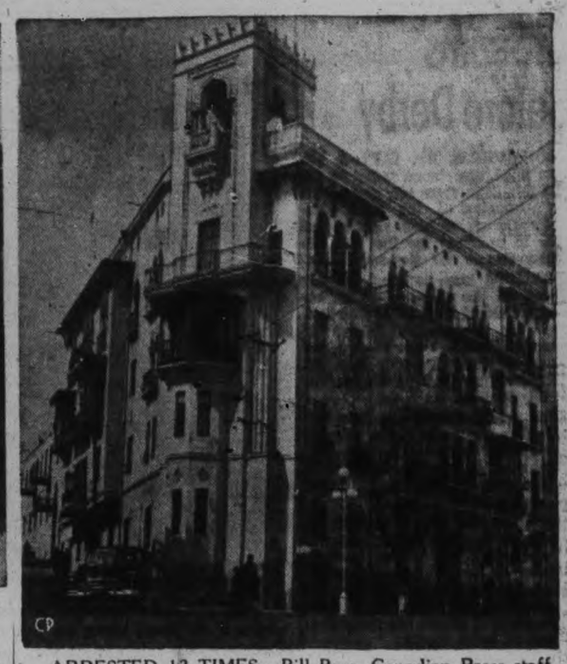
My diplomatic informant — considered by other Western embassies to be the expert on Russian jurisprudence—said justice for the average Russian is simple, fast and free of legal mumbo-jumbo. Most minor cases are dealt with in half an hour.

TOUGH ON CULPRITS

But Russian law is tough on the undisciplined. For instance:

The law says a Russian may be 20 minutes late for work not more than once a month; five minutes late not more than four times in three months. A first offence usually draws a warning. A second puts the worker's name on a factory blackboard. A third brings him before a tribunal, the president of which is usually another worker. Vishinsky's rules of evidence apply.

One conviction brings a fine by salary deduction and loss of certain privileges. Another means transfer to work under surveillance in some other city. The third brings "loss of liberty." He goes to labor camp from one to three years. His salary from the state continues: The worker gets one-third, his wife two-thirds while he is in custody.



Lawyers are civil servants, as are doctors, teachers and barbers, and their services are free. They hold legal clinics where citizens may ask for advice. Rulings by peoples' tribunals, as the courts are known, go automatically to courts of appeal where the proceedings and findings are reviewed. Appeal courts may disallow rulings, order new trials or alter sentences.

MOSCOW APARTMENT HOUSE—The Soviet Union is a country of sharp contrasts. The mass of the people have living conditions far below Western standards. But government officials, directors and high officers of important state enterprises live well. This photograph is of a typical Moscow skyscraper apartment house, on Kotelnitchky embankment of the Moscow river, where such people may live.

RUSSIANS CAMERA-SHY — Restrictions on use of cameras by foreigners have been eased by the Soviet Union, but most Russians don't know it and dislike being photographed. The three Moscow boys in this picture taken by Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer just home from Russia, weren't sure they could trust the foreigner but said almost defiantly: "Sure, go ahead." The little girl didn't go along with the idea, and subsequently burst into tears.

ARRESTED 12 TIMES—Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer just returned from the Soviet Union, says no one can get the full Soviet story because censorship and control of information are too tough. Boss took this picture of a new upper-class apartment in Baku, Soviet Central Asia. Seconds later he was taken into custody by a militia man (seen standing at the corner of the building). During a 6,000-mile trip in Russia, Boss was arrested 12 times by these state police, who did not know restrictions on use of cameras had been eased. But Boss says the treatment he got was always courteous.—(CP Photo).

Kremlin Decides What Can Be Printed In The Controlled Russian Press

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Censorship and strict control of information keep safe most of the Kremlin's secrets.

Censorship applies only to stories sent from Moscow. Lack of detailed information affects even stories written outside the country.

Reporting about Russia can be honest and objective. It cannot be complete.

No Westerner will write the full Soviet story until the silent handful in the Kremlin decide to tell 200,000,000 Russians. There is too tight a rein on facts about life under communism.

FIVE MONTHS IN RUSSIA

I was five months inside the Soviet Union. When I arrived I told the foreign office what I wanted to see and who I wished to interview. I prodded constantly.

Only a handful of the projects in my program were arranged. I looked at schools and hospitals, but did not see a factory or a collective farm. I interviewed some Russians and talked casually to others, but not many. I got inside only one Russian home.

The controlled Communist press, which I can read, publishes few facts, buried in columns of propaganda. Nothing is printed without a purpose: to tell the Russian people something the party bosses in the Kremlin want them to know.

Requests for further information usually are side-tracked:

"When there is an announcement, Mr. Boss, it will appear in the official press."

KREMLIN'S SECRETS

Significantly, the things the censor wouldn't let me write from Moscow—and the things the regime would have liked me not to learn—are the Kremlin's secrets from the Russian people, the things the controlled press never prints.

What sort of facts are kept from Russians in their own country?

Well, here are some typical rulings by the censor:

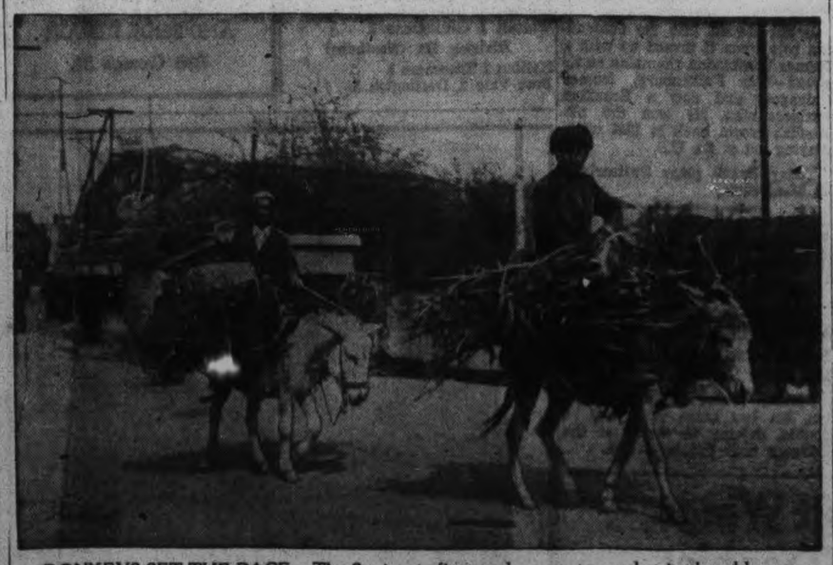
Censorship—I couldn't say my stories had to be approved before being sent to Canada. But I always knew what had been deleted and threw away the stories that seemed misleading after censorship. Often a censored fact could be rephrased and passed for publication.

The Iron Curtain—Mention of the Iron Curtain, the Communist bloc or "satellite nations" is taboo. The Communist countries tied to Russia's apron strings must be presented as wholly sovereign states and "people's democracies."

The Ruble—Value of the ruble must be given as the official rate of exchange, 25 Canadian cents. I could not say its value to me in Russia was not more than six or seven cents.

Comparisons — Comparison of Russian average income, living conditions, prices or quality of goods with those in Canada or other countries is pencilled out. I could not write that Russia's living standard is far below Canada's that prices are comparatively high in terms of average income, that many things sold in Russian stores are shoddy and would be out-of-date here.

CROWDED QUARTERS



Housing—The censor never let me say that millions live three or four in one room. He lets through references to old, inadequate housing if they are in stories about Russia's extensive housing program.

Women at work—Everywhere in Russia there are women doing jobs we think too heavy for them: laying bricks, riveting steel in new buildings, fixing roads, driving steam-rollers and tractors. I never was allowed to write a paragraph about them.

Hidden Taxes—Income taxation is low in Russia and can be mentioned; but the censor frowns at reference to the hidden taxes on everything you buy—main source of revenue for the Soviet state.

State Loans—Government loans are in effect compulsory in Russia. In 1953 the state announced the subscription would be two weeks' pay. The censor let me say that Soviet workers put two weeks' pay into the loan as a "patriotic gesture." He would not let me say anything indicating Western countries have no compulsory loans. I could not intimate that failure to subscribe would brand any individual a slacker.

Defence—I could send out only what appeared in the controlled press about the military. I could not mention the troops and army vehicles that mass in downtown Moscow on every state occasion—including the opening of a department store—or the small detachments seen occasionally marching through the streets, for some fathomless reason, I could not even say that I saw Soviet dignitaries drive through the streets in "cars with drawn curtains."

DONKEYS SET THE PACE—The Soviet Union has made big strides in industrial development since the Second World War, but the peasants still live and work much as they have for centuries. In Soviet Central Asia, firewood comes to market in the old way—on donkeys. These patient animals seem to set the pace in this part of the world. Even the express trains out of Tashkent, capital of the Uzbek Republic, average only 20 miles an hour.—(CP Photo).

Police Catch Second Prisoner

SUDBURY (CP)—The second of the five men who escaped from Burwash industrial farm a week ago was captured today by Ontario provincial police near Renfrew in the Ottawa valley but two others with him eluded capture.

Caught was Antonio Robert, 21, of Ottawa who police said will be charged with the theft of a car belonging to Harvey Daoust of Noelville. The car was found abandoned near Renfrew and provincial police spotted the trio as they were attempting to hitch-hike to Ottawa.

A police dragnet is now out for the two others, one of whom has been identified by Robert as Leo Bedard, 22, of Hawkesbury, who were able to escape into the woods along the roadside.

The other man may be either Arminas la Pierre, 37, of Cornwall, or Clarence McRitchie, 37, of Toronto.

These four escaped together from their cell block in the central section of the prison farm.

Former Missionaries Guest Lakefield WA

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—The Rev. George Nicholson and Mrs. Nicholson of Blackstock were guests of the women's auxiliary of St. John the Baptist church on Tuesday afternoon at a special meeting in connection with the centennial celebrations which the church will have from time to time this year. Guests were present from Apsley, Stony Lake mission and Warsaw.

During the afternoon Mrs. Nicholson showed pictures taken when she and her husband had recently re-visited England. The pictures were of various parts of the British Isles, but were mostly of Yorkshire and Northern England where Mrs. Nicholson was born.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson were former missionaries in the Arctic and have been in Blackstock for several years.

The meeting was in charge of the president Mrs. F. Dainton and following it tea was served.

The tea table was centred with a bowl of daffodils and yellow tapers. Tea was poured by Miss Florence Atwood and Mrs. C. C. Stenner.

Of particular interest were two displays, one of a wardrobe for an Indian girl who is being clothed by the Auxiliary and a Red Cross layette made by them.

A special display, in connection with the 100th anniversary of the church, is being arranged by Mrs. Hugh Ketchum and members of the Auxiliary. It consists of photographs, press clippings and documents relating to the early days of the church and will be added to as the items are collected. It is on display now and will be for several months in the parish hall.

Investigate Planes Over Scandinavia

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Denmark, Sweden and Norway today investigated mysterious flights over their territory by unidentified foreign planes.

The Danish naval coastal command said its radar tracked a formation of four planes flying northward Wednesday night from the sound separating Denmark and Sweden. They circled over Copenhagen before disappearing over the Baltic.

The aircraft flashed their landing lights and manoeuvred as if they were going to land at Kastrup airport on Amager island, south of the capital. Emergency personnel went into action, and landing flares were set out.

The planes vanished without answering radio or light signals.

In Stockholm, the Swedish air force said it was investigating flights by three unidentified planes.

City Bulging At Seams Before Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A human flood threatened today to engulf this Ohio river city for Saturday's running of the 80th Kentucky Derby, with a near-record field in prospect for the $100,000-added classic for three-year-olds.

Louisville was bulging at the seams as the trainers of an expected field of at least 20 marched into the secretary's office at Churchill Downs today to drop the names of their hopefuls into the entry box for perhaps the richest of all Derbies.

The racing fans came from far and near by automobile, regular and special trains and airplanes. Hotel men said there wouldn't be an available room within 100 miles of Louisville by nightfall.

Few sporting events can match the Derby in color, and this year is no exception. The Downs itself is a thing of beauty with its multi-colored flowers and plants and closely cropped grass.

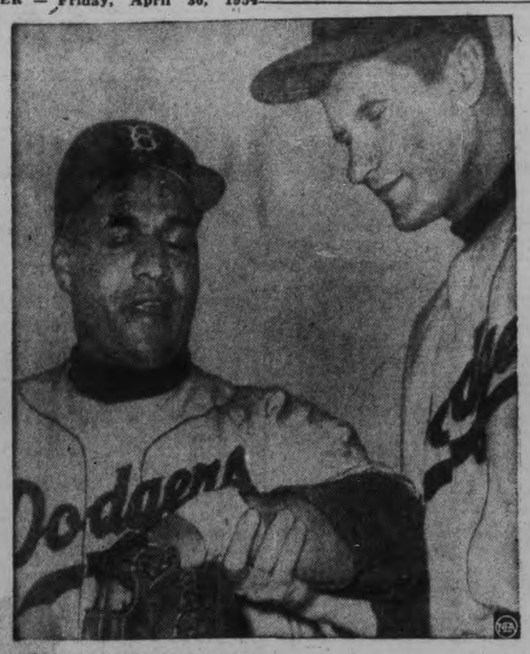
Streets and stores are gaily decorated in horse motifs.

Penticton Hopes To Grab Title

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP) — The green-and-white-clad Penticton V's who play host to Sudbury Wolves when the race to the Allan Cup opens here Monday will be trying for the title which slipped through this group last year.

V's came close last season, making it to the finals where they lost out to Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen.

This year they led the Okanagan Senior Amateur Hockey League most of the regular season. However, Nelson Maple Leafs had them by the throat during their playoff with the Western International League champions for the British Columbia title. Penticton had to come from behind to win in eight games.



Penticton and Winnipeg Maroons turned a best-of-seven western final into a sudden-death affair when both clubs won two and tied the other three—all by a 4-4 score. Again, Penticton won the crucial eighth game.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Some news shortly on the site of the proposed Memorial Community Centre in Morrow Park. We hear that the Morrow Trust and the Exhibition Board are in agreement with the spot selected by the site committee, but no official statement as to that spot has been made yet. It might be when a meeting of this committee is held tomorrow, and perhaps we'll know the score by Monday. Once the site is okayed and announced it'll then be up to the building committee, under Chairman Lionel Browne, to start drawing up plans for the auditorium. The site committee is headed by City Clerk E. A. Outram and includes: Ald. Gordon Powell, Ald. Stan McBride, Mrs. James McClenaghan, Miss Margaret White, John Kitney, Harold Dormer and Hurrell Dodds.

Quinte columnist remarked the other day: "The Viaduct League seems to be the last link for baseball for both Peterborough and Belleville, and it is hoped satisfactory arrangements can be made. And it is to be hoped the Toronto entries are cast in a somewhat different mould to those of other years when the city crews sent down skeleton clubs with a 'we can lick the hicks from the sticks' attitude. They usually went home with the traditional tail between their legs." Yes, that has happened, but with four Toronto teams boiled down to two entries they should be stronger this year. Also, there are fines for teams arriving late for games this season.

An Odd Oshawa Angle

Oshawa writer defends the financial guarantees imposed on the Petes and Belleville in this loop. As it concerns the odd Oshawa demand for dough. He says: "The league extended their propositions as a package deal. Knowing how well Oshawa should draw in Peterborough and Belleville—with Transporters making separate trips to these places for midweek games—then it's obvious the Transporters are not getting too much. Certainly they cannot take a ball team to Belleville and fed the players for $40 nor to Peterborough for $25. At anyrate, that's the deal." We might point out that it costs Petes and Belleville money to go to Oshawa, too, where they also draw well. Motor City teams never before got money to travel up this way.

Seems just and fitting that the re-organization meeting of the local boys' baseball association should be held in Ashburnham. It's at two Sunday after in the hall there at the southeast corner of Mark and Hunter streets upstairs. Open to former and new sponsors, coaches, managers and others interested, with Bill Bennett conducting the huddle. It is fitting inasmuch as Ashburnham over the years has proven the best part of the city in developing baseball players from school kids and peewees right up to senior ranks. Southend at one time was a diamond hotbed but in recent years it's been a job getting several minor teams from that vast section. Westend and northend don't develop too many lads, either. Ashburnham leads by far.

Flourishes Over East

Perhaps it is the fact that Riverside Park is located east of the river. And that the former big diamond was on the spot where Cricket Place is now, running east from Driscoll Terrace, across the Otonabee from the Quaker plant. It was the popular ball spot away back in the days of one-armed Dan McCabe and other starry diamondeers of yesteryear. We've played ball in the Oval, in Leahy's field, in the space at the foot of Armour Hill, in Riverside and assorted other corner lots in Ashburnham. The boys do it today, and the game flourishes. However, this new organization is gradually spreading the gospel of the diamond game again to other parts of the city, as well.

Nip O'Hearn has gone to Victoria to play lacrosse this season, as expected. However, the Petes are getting George Masters, last year with the Yorks, and have husky young Doug Powell—former junior OLA-er and a pro puckist—on deck now. Ike Hildebrand's leg is mending and he may be ready to play by the middle of June. He'll be back here from the West Coast on May 24, Bob Pierson tells us. Harry Wipper is expected up from McGill in a couple of more weeks, and Jerry Fitzgerald will play all Petes' games, though teaching at Scarboro till out in June. Two fine ex-juniors of Lou Vitarelli's team, Bob Allen and Bobby Curtis, are coming out with the Trailermen, too, and Bob Thorpe is on the trail of a couple of more good experienced players. The team should be strong again.

Buffalo Beats Ottawa 7-2, Leading League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The International League baseball season is only 10 days old but already the teams are feeling the satisfaction of success, and none as much as the Buffalo Bisons.

The Bisons have a winning streak going which now has stretched to five games. They haven't been beaten since opening day, and lead the league with a 5-1 record.

The league on the whole is enjoying the best crowds in six years and the second-day openers followed the opening theme down south, despite a disappointing turnout at chilly Ottawa.

Only 1,433 turned out there to watch Buffalo take its fifth straight with a 7-2 triumph over the Athletics.

But the other three second-round inaugurals drew more than 10,000 at each spot with the high crowd of 18,012 at Toronto, where the Maple Leafs scored a 6-5 victory over Havana Sugar Kings.

WINGS BEAT RICHMOND

At Rochester, a crowd of 10,375 saw the Red Wings whip Richmond 5-0 on the four-hit pitching of Jack Faszholz. There were 11,089 at Montreal where the Royals won over Syracuse Chiefs 8-7, in the 10th inning.

In all, the four games drew 40,809, not bad considering the spring chill. The southern openers last week attracted more than 60,000.

Frank Lary was the winning pitcher for Buffalo while Ottawa's loser was Bob Cain, who had to be carried from the field in the bottom of the third when he was hit on the leg by a line drive.

Pitcher Ken Lehman singled home the winning run in the extra inning for Montreal. Eighteen hits, including three Leaf home runs, were recorded at Toronto.

Simcoe, Oshawa Fight To 3-3 Overtime Tie

SIMCOE (CP)—Simcoe Gunners and Oshawa Truckmen fought to a 3-3 overtime tie Thursday night in the fourth game of their best-of-seven Ontario Hockey Association senior B finals.

The Truckmen lead the series 2-1 with one game tied. Next game will be played here Saturday.

Simcoe took a 1-0 lead in the first period but was held at a 2-2 tie in the second. Each team scored once in the third before going into the scoreless overtime session.

Gord Astles, Raggy Smith and Gerry Goodwin each scored a goal for the Gunners. George Samalenko, Harry Sinden and Jack Thaylor were the Oshawa snipers.

The Gunners were tagged with six of the 11 minor penalties.

Who'll Win the Derby?

Roberts Breaks Deadlock To Spark St. Catharines To 5-3 Win Over Quebec

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Wimpy Roberts' second goal of the game, with less than eight minutes remaining in the game, broke a 3-3 deadlock and sparked St. Catharines TeePees to a 5-3 victory over Quebec Frontenacs here Thursday night.

A packed house of 4,067 watched the victory that gave TeePees a 2-1 jump in the best-of-seven finals for the Eastern Canada junior hockey championship. The winner of the series will also earn a berth in the Memorial Cup finals against Edmonton Oil Kings.

The score was tied three times before Roberts fired the winner. Frontenacs went ahead 1-0 before the game was two minutes old but St. Catharines scored two in a row for a 2-1 lead. Quebec deadlocked the count 2-2 before the period ended. Each team counted once in the second.

TEEPEE SCORERS

Barry Cullen, Brian Cullen and Don McLean scored the other TeePee markers. Mike Ratchford bagged a pair for the Frontenacs and Gui Rousseau notched the other one.

Early in the game Rousseau rounded a St. Catharines defenceman and passed to Ratchford who tipped the puck in for the first goal of the game. The TeePees tied the score while Quebec was playing one man short. Brian Cullen rifled a low shot at the net and brother Barry, standing in front, deflected it in.

Brian made it 2-1 for St. Catharines at 10:39 when he took Barry's pass from behind the net and back-handed it at the goal. Frontenac goaltender Jacques Marcotte, screened by one of his defencemen, didn't see the shot. Rousseau knotted the count at 15:08 while Pete Koval of the TeePees was in the penalty box. He took Stan Parker's goal-mouth pass and lifted it into the net.

Roberts scored his first goal of the night at 5:17 of the third period to send the Ontario Hockey Association winners in front again. It came at the height of a St. Catharines attack after Marcote had stopped successive shots off Koval, McLean and Bullock, Ches Warchal tipped Bullock's shot at the goalkeeper but he stopped that one too. Roberts got the rebound and fired it in.

Ratchford rounded out Quebec's scoring with about a minute left in the second period. It came on a pass from Rousseau and sailed into the far side of the net past TeePee netminder Marv Edwards.

Hank Ciesla, behind the Quebec net, shot out a pass to Roberts at 12:24 of the third period. Roberts tipped it in for the winning goal. McLean notched the insurance marker two minutes later when he regained his own rebound and lifted it over Marcotte who was sprawled on the ice.

Marcotte had almost twice as many saves to make in the Quebec nets as had Edwards at the other end of the ice. The fiery little netminder turned aside 33 St. Catharines drives. Edwards was called on for only 18 stops.

14 Countries Play Cup Opening Matches

LONDON (AP)—The yearly Davis Cup tennis merry-go-round got under way again today with 14 countries playing opening matches in the European zone eliminations.

There are 23 countries in the European zone, which has little geographic significance, with the winner expected to come from three teams—Brazil, Denmark or Belgium.

Brazil leaped into the contending role when it turned up with a former Wimbledon champion on its squad—Bob Falkenburg, former Chicagoan and now a Brazilian business man. He won the all-English crown back in 1948 while playing out of the U.S.

Today Brazil plays Switzerland at Montreaux.

Kelly Of Detroit Wings Awarded Two Trophies

MONTREAL (CP)—Red Kelly of Detroit Red Wings won two trophies and hit the National Hockey League award jackpot for a total of $6,000, the league announced Thursday night.

The perennial all-star is the first winner of the James Norris Memorial Trophy as the best all-round defenceman, and also copped the Lady Byng Memorial Trophy for exhibiting "the best type of sportsmanship and gentlemanly conduct combined with a high standard of playing ability."

Red, who was christened Leonard Patrick and owns a farm at Simcoe, Ont., is the only player to win two trophies in the NHL's 1953-54 season. He won the Byng trophy last year as well and three times in four years.

EARNED 6$,000 BONUS

The league's announcement said that not counting his basic salary or any bonus arrangements he may have had with Red Wings, Kelly earned $6,000 in extra bonuses.

As a member of the Stanley Cup winning team Kelly pocketed $3,000. By capturing a place on defence on the first all-star team he acquired $1,000 and the Norris and Byng trophies each carry $1,000 in cash.

The NHL commented in a statement it is fitting that a member of Red Wings should be the first winner of the Norris Trophy. Mr. Norris bought the team in 1933 and built it into one of the strongest clubs in the history of the circuit.

Kelly, 27-year-old bachelor, won the Norris silverware in a breeze, winning 162 points out of a perfect 180, compared to 57 points for Doug Harvey of Montreal Canadiens, in runner-up position. Bill Gadsby, captain of Chicago Black Hawks, finished third with 38 points.

Scotty Hal Wins Both Detroit Dashes

DETROIT (CP) — Scotty Hal helped owner Leo Metz of Pontiac, Mich., celebrate opening night at Hazel Park harness raceway Thursday night by taking both dashes for the feature Ville Detroit $5,000 pace.

The four-year-old gelding, fresh from the spring campaign at Santa Anita, won the first dash sixth race in 2:08 2-5 and came back to take the ninth race in 2:09 1-5. At the reins for both trips was Jac Williams, Sr.

A crowd of 10,253 turned out to wager $353,300 which set sta opening night records of both attendance and mutuel handle.

Thousands Pour Into London For Soccer Final

LONDON (Reuters)—Thousands of fans from all over Britain are pouring into London for Saturday's soccer cup final between West Bromwich Albion and Preston North End.

Many of them are hoping to get a ticket for the classic contest, even though all tickets for Wembley Stadium with a capacity of 93,000, were sold days ago. So ticket scalpers who hang around the approaches to the stadium should do a brisk business on the big day.

The hundreds of unlucky West Bromwich and Preston supporters who don't get tickets will spend the day painting London red before catching buses or trains back to the north Saturday night.

ANYBODY'S GUESS

It is still anybody's guess which team will win.

At one time the boys of West Bromwich Albion, bidding for the league championship as well, were favored to take the cup. But they were hit by injuries in recent league games and have already been robbed of the league championship.

Now Preston are cup favorites. But West Bromwich, whose trainer has oxygen as a pick-me-up among his equipment are still determined to try to take the cup back to the Midlands.

Roberts In Form Topples Braves 4-0 On One Hit

By BEN PHLEGAR, Associated Press Sports Writer

Hitters beware! Philadelphia's Robin Roberts is back in form.

The tireless Phillie righthander has been mowing down the National League opposition with amazing regularity for 5½ seasons. But he hit the skids in the last six weeks of the 1953 campaign, losing eight while winning only three. Then, after showing next to nothing in spring training, he was kayoed by the upstart Pittsburgh Pirates on opening day.

But that's all over and forgiven now. He toppled the Pirates the next time out with a four-hit shut-out, lost a 1-0 heartbreaker to New York Giants last week and then Thursday stopped Milwaukee Braves 4-0 on one lonesome hit.

Del Crandall's third-inning double put the only dent in one of Roberts' best performances. The 27-year-old ex-Michigan State star faced 30 batters, walked two and struck out six. Three of the strikeouts were registered against home-run king Eddie Mathews.

ROBERT'S FIRST

The one-hitter was Roberts' first anywhere. Twice before he had given just two hits.

In other major league action Thursday, Brooklyn Dodgers pounded five home runs in beating Cincinnati Redlegs 7-5, but the Reds held on to first place in the National League as Pittsburgh nipped St. Louis Cardinals 4-3. In the American League, Baltimore edged Washington 2-1, Cleveland defeated Boston 6-3 and New York Yankees evened matters with Chicago White Sox, 5-4. The other clubs weren't scheduled.

LEADS BARRAGE

Junior Gilliam led the Dodger home-run barrage in Cincinnati with a pair, and added a double to the 10-hit attack against Harry Perkowski.

The Yankees' Casey Stengel, who rewrites the rules of baseball strategy almost daily, brought in left-handed Enos Slaughter to pinch-hit against lefty Billy Pierce in the sixth inning in New York, and the former Cardinal star delivered a single that tied the game.

Eddie Robinson, another pinch-hitter, followed with another single that meant another run.

Cleveland warmed up for a two-game series with the Yankees by pounding four Red Sox pitchers for nine hits at Boston.

Find Radiation Affects Babies' Births

CHICAGO (AP)—The awesome effects of atomic radiation on unborn babies were detailed today by three physicians.

The doctors made a study of women who were pregnant when the atomic bomb exploded over Nagasaki, Japan, in 1945, and the case histories of their children.

Thirty of the women showed major signs of radiation injury. This is what happened to their infants:

There were three miscarriages and four still-births. Three babies died within the first month of life, three died within their first year and one died at the age of 2½ years.

Four of the 16 surviving children are retarded mentally.

The doctors also found that the babies borne by these mothers were retarded in growth and development. They reported the children significantly smaller in height and head circumference than children born to mothers who were outside of the bomb's radiation area.

Another group of 68 mothers-to-be were inside the radiation area, but showed no signs of major radiation injury. Their offspring fared much better. Among them there was only one miscarriage and two still - births. Three babies died within their first month of life. There was only one case of mental retardation.

STUDY PUBLISHED

The study was made by Drs. James N. Yamazaki, Stanley W. Wright and Phyllis M. Wright of Los Angeles. Their report is in the American Journal of Diseases of Children, published by the American Medical Association.

"It is difficult to evaluate the effect of radiation on this mortality and morbidity," they wrote, "since other factors, such as trauma, burns, infection, etc., may have a deleterious effect. . . .

"The evidence strongly suggests, however, that radiation, either directly or indirectly to the fetus or indirectly as a result of its effect on the maternal tissues, was of considerable importance in determining the outcome of these pregnancies."

Traffic Deaths Drop

CHICAGO (AP) — There were fewer deaths from traffic accidents in the United States in March and in the first three months of this year than in comparative periods in 1953, the National Safety Council says. The death toll in March was 2,550, or nine per cent under March, 1953. During the first quarter of 1954 there were 7,920 deaths, down four per cent from the 8,220 total for the period last year.

Ship Radio-Active

TOKYO (AP) — Another Japanese tuna boat has been found radio-active and some of its catch has been condemned, Kyodo news agency reported today. The ship is the 100-ton Koyu Maru. Kyodo said it was operating about 500 miles southeast of Bikini March 26 when the United States touched off its second hydrogen blast.

Israel Remembers

JERUSALEM (AP)—A tree "in memory of the unknown Jewish martyr" was planted Thursday by Israeli State President Izhak Ben-Zvi at the annual Judean hill ceremony commemorating 6,000,000 Jews killed during the Hitler regime. Representatives of 21 Jewish communities destroyed by the Nazis were among 2,000 attending the service.

Strikes Post-War Low

WASHINGTON (AP)—The number of labor strikes in the United States reached a post-war low during the first quarter of this year, the bureau of labor statistics said today. The 800 strikes and 3,050,000 man-days lost because of the stoppages from January through March was lower than any corresponding post-war quarter.

TOM C. McCALL, whose appointment as director of public relations, Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Limited, is announced by E. C. Row, president and general manager. A veteran of more than 25 years' experience in the newspaper and public relations fields, Mr. McCall was for seven years deputy minister of the Ontario travel and publicity department.

Investigation Request Not Yet Considered

TORONTO (CP)—A request for an investigation into running of the Grey county Home for the Aged at Markdale near Owen Sound reached the office of Welfare Minister Goodfellow Thursday.

However, it has not been considered because Mr. Goodfellow is out of town.

Members of his staff said they expect to be in touch with him about it.

Mervyn and Edith Gould were suspended this week as manager and matron respectively after five maids and a male visitor to the home made sworn statements alleging drunkenness and indecencies at the home.

Sell Lamprey Eels To Cities At $1.25 Lb.

SOUTHAMPTON, Ont. (CP) — Lamprey eels to fishermen are a scourge blamed for destroying lake trout, but to three Latvian Canadians here, the eels are just business.

They catch and cook the eels and send them to the cities for sale at about $1.25 a pound.

Robert Roze, his sister and Robert Tenis net the eels in the Saugeen river near this Lake Huron town 20 miles west of Owen Sound. They roat the eels in a Dutch oven they built for the purpose, then pack them in ice for shipment.

The eels are sold in Toronto, Hamilton, London, Niagara Falls, St. Catharines and Kitchener.

The three eel-processors say that if the catch continues good they will set up a canning plant.

Bullets Halt Refugees

LEUBECK, Germany (Reuters) East German police machine-gun fire pinned down two persons who tried to sneak across the closely guarded East-West German border near here Thursday. West German police who watched the incident, powerless to intervene, said two men were seized by the East German police before they reached the barbed wire entanglement which divided them from the West.

LIFE NOT WORTH LIVING?

Then wake up the liver!

You know that sour, sunk, constipated feeling? It may be caused by the liver. If your liver doesn't pour out up to two pints of bile a day your food may not digest properly, gas bloats up your stomach and you feel that life's just not worth living. That's when the liver needs mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills. These famous vegetable pills help stimulate the flow of liver bile. Soon your digestion starts functioning properly and you feel that happy, step-ans here again! Don't ever stay sunk! Always keep Carter's Little Liver Pills on hand. Only 37c.

REJECT INQUIRY

LONDON (Reuters)—The government Thursday night rejected suggestions that an inquiry should be held into the running of the Grand National—the world's greatest and toughest steeplechase—in which four of the 29 starters this year had to be killed.

The question whether there is cruelty to horses in steeplechasing—particularly the Grand National—was raised by Conservative Howard Johnson. He said he had traced the names of 53 horses killed or destroyed in the Grand National.

"Can you wonder that the people of this country are irate at this wicked massacre and slaughter of dumb animals?" he asked.

Sir Hugh Lucas-Tooth, undersecretary for home affairs, replied for the government that an inquiry would "serve no useful purpose as the facts are known."

He assured Johnson that the facts would be brought to the notice of the authorities concerned.

Urge Government To Expedite Bridge

OTTAWA (CP)—Frank E. Lennard (PC—Wentworth) Thursday urged the Ontario government to expedite construction of a high-level four-lane bridge over the Burlington canal at Hamilton.

He made his plea in the Commons after Works Minister Winters told him the federal government is prepared to pay one-third of the cost of the $13,300,000 bridge.

Mr. Winters said he informed Ontario Highways Minister Doucett of the government's decision April 5, but had not received a reply.

"Well, I think it is about time you did. . . because this is the biggest bottleneck in Canada and possibly the biggest on the North American continent," Mr. Lennard said.

Men Who Control Airways Have Problems Of Railway Despatchers

By JOE MacSWEEN

MONTREAL (CP) — The men who control Canada's radio airways have the problems of railway despatchers and the hearts of traffic cops.

It's their job to see that traffic flies safely and smoothly along the airways—radio-range courses commonly referred to as "beams"—and to get aircraft to landings when the weather is foul.

Norman Demeza, senior area controller for the transport department here, compares his job with that of a railway despatcher whose chief responsibility is to prevent collision. He explained how aircraft, seeking to land quickly in heavy weather, are kept to a strict "first come, first served" basis.

Mr. Demeza, in charge of the Montreal area control centre at nearby Airport Montreal, better known as Dorval, stressed the team-work factor "within a ground station, between ground stations, and between ground and aircraft."

INVOLVES MANY WORKERS

"No one man twirls a dial and solves all problems," he said. "Many may be involved."

The radio airways operate between large centres of heavy traffic, mostly in an east-west direction in Canada. There now are seven control centres manned by aerial traffic cops across Canada—at Vancouver, Edmonton, Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal, Moncton, N.B., and Gander, Nfld.

Each zone is clearly defined, and despite the high development of radio, the telephone still is "basic" in relaying information between centres. The controller explained the operation this way:

"A plane leaves Gander on a flight to Vancouver. Its progress is checked by the Gander centre and all pertinent information must be telephoned to Moncton 30 minutes before the plane enters that zone.

"The Moncton controller then knows exactly when he becomes responsible for the plane, and is ready to receive or transmit information in an instant. The pilot doesn't necessarily know when he passes the air boundary—all liaison work is done on the ground.

"The same procedure is followed between Moncton and Montreal, and so on.

KEEP CLOSE CHECK

"Should the plane develop trouble near, for instance, Quebec City, we would immediately telephone our tower operator there, who would relay instructions to the pilot. We would not attempt to make contact with him directly from here, as the distance might interfere with transmission.

"Each centre has direct telephone lines to our airport towers, radio offices and operations offices in the whole area. We have some 25 direct lines in our centre. Thus a plane on the system is always within talking distance of a ground operator.

"Where there is no telephone service, there can be no fast control. Such a blank spot exists outside the radio range of Goose Bay, Labrador, where the land is inhabited only by roaming trappers and perhaps a few Eskimos.

"On isolated air routes where we cannot provide fast clearance, we don't attempt it at all, and a pilot is best left to his own resourcefulness under those circumstances."

Control centres and control towers have different functions, although there is close liaison between them. Under normal conditions, tower personel handle aircraft in the immediate area of the field, but this varies according to weather.

SAFETY MARGIN

The time of greatest tension—"when our hair grows grey"—is when several planes simultaneously want to land. Then the "stacking" process begins.

"The basic safety margin is 1,000 vertical feet between aircraft, but there are many minor rules—a whole manual of them," said Mr. Demeza. "And planes must be at 10-minute intervals at the same altitude, provided they're moving at the same speed.

"If 10 planes are waiting to get in, they'll be stacked up to 11,000 feet. If the bottom plane fails in his attempt to land, up to the top he goes again, and waits while the others have their try.

"Of course, if any plane is having trouble, it gets priority."

"We look forward to the day when we'll have radar control at dense traffic areas, as they already have in a few United States centres. The Americans claim they can handle just as many planes with radar in bad weather as in clear conditions."

NEED COOL HEAD

A controller's job—there usually are two on duty at Dorval—requires about five years' training and a cool head. Demeza, 38, said few of the controllers are more than 40 years of age since it still is a young business. The first Canadian controllers were trained in Detroit in 1941.

Pilots swear by the system. Trans-Canada Air Lines use the radio airways even when the weather is clear as a safety precaution.

Fred Giguere, chief pilot for Canadian Pacific Airline's eastern district, said:

"If we didn't have this system, we wouldn't be flying."

AIR CONTROLLER — Norman Demeza (standing), senior air controller for the department of transport at Airport Montreal, is one of the men who control Canada's radio airways. He compares his job with that of a railway dispatcher whose chief responsibility is to prevent collision. Airliners probing through the clouds and storms are heavily dependent on the guidance of Canada's radio airways—sky "beam" highways which stretch from coast to coast. Demeza is shown receiving information and plotting the course of an aircraft which is flying on instruments.—(CP Photo).

Fear Canadian Farmers Swindled Under Social Credit Wheat Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—A prairie Liberal suggested Thursday that under the Social Credit money theory some "benevolent dictator" would have the power to decide which Canadian industry should live and which should die.

Walter Tucker, member for Rosthern in Saskatchewan, added that the Social Credit wheat export plan would mean that Canadian farmers might be "swindled" out of production, getting in return money that would diminish in value.

Lucien Maynard, Alberta's attorney-general, quickly denied the validity of those suggestions. The Social Credit party did not want dictatorship, he said before the Commons banking committee.

NOT A SWINDLE

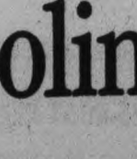
As for the Social Credit plan of financing exports of surplus wheat, it would be no more of a swindle than the $1,000,000,000 aid Canada provided to the United Kingdom during the Second World War.

It would not be any more of a swindle than Prime Minister St. Laurent's suggestion that Canada must help feed the hungry people of Asia.

(Mr. St. Laurent said in a speech in Toronto Wednesday night that one of the most important tasks Asians face is to assure an adequate supply of food, clothing and shelter to meet the minimum basic needs of their many millions of human beings.)

Under the Social Credit export plan, the Bank of Canada would provide money which would be turned over to a foreign customer. Canada could either take goods from that country in return, or if she did not want those goods, eventually cancel the money debt.

Only 50% Of Blind Receiving Allowance



ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Less than half of the blind in Ontario receive the blind allowance, John Hoskins of Ottawa, convener of the legislative committee of the Ontario division of the Canadian Council of the Blind, said Thursday.

Mr. Hoskins was addressing the annual convention of the division. Some 45 delegates, representing 25 clubs throughout the province, attended. The council is pressing for elimination of the means test for the blind.

ANNOUNCEMENT

To fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of the late Barney Traviss, Pilon Marine Ltd. announces the appointment of Doug Mortimer as sales manager.

Doug is well known in Peterborough and the firm feels that its record of expert service in the field of boats, outboard motors and marine equipment will be better than ever with Doug on the staff.

Arrangements are being made for Mr. Mortimer to take over a substantial interest in the company and the change will allow the employees' ownership scheme (in effect from Oct. 1, 1953) to be gradually expanded.

The company believes that it is almost alone in Peterborough in the adoption of this plan, and while it will take some years for the full effect to be gauged, the results so far have been encouraging.

Nature Study Camp Shifted To Haliburton

TORONTO (CP) — Camp Billie Bear, a unique nature study camp, is being moved this year from its site at Bellow lake near Huntsville in the Muskoka district, to Bark lake in the Haliburton area, 40 miles north of Peterborough.

The camp, designed to teach people recognition of native plants and animals in their natural surroundings, has been operated by the Federation of Ontario Naturalists for 16 years.

G. Marshal Bartman, executive secretary of the federation, said shift of the camp will permit it to work more closely with the provincial department of education in Toronto.

PRISON POPULATION

Prisoners in Canadian penitentiaries, jails, reformatories and training schools reached a record 16,383 at the end of 1953.

YMCA Veteran Volleyballers Play In Ottawa

YMCA veterans' and intermediate teams travelled to Ottawa today to participate in the Canadian volleyball championship tournament to be held there Friday and Saturday.

The veterans, who have already won the semi-finals against the western division, will compete against the Ottawa and Montreal YMCA teams Saturday, and the intermediate team will play a qualifying game with Ottawa tonight. Included will be an open, veterans, ladies' and YMCA series, with the YMCA title, presently held by Toronto Estonians, at stake.

Peterborough veterans' team is composed of Cliff Cadd, Howard David, Ken Kingston, Jim McClenaghan, Albert Dryland, Errol Handbridge and Jack Wolstenholme; the intermediate team of Bill Edgar, Roy Westropp, Barney Dundas, Dave Walks, Bill Prest and Fraser Wade.

McCarthy Reports Rumors Army Shadows His Staff

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator McCarthy today said he has "persistent reports, tips and rumors" that the army is shadowing his staff and witnesses in his controversy with high army officials.

Backed in this by Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel to his investigations sub-committee, the Wisconsin Republican senator said in an interview in advance of today's televised hearings into the row that he wants the sub-committee, which he has stepped off temporarily, to find out whether these rumors are true. They were discounted by two of the army principals in the case.

Pte. G. David Schine, former McCarthy aide about whom has swirled a raging dispute over charges by Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens that McCarthy and Cohn sought favored treatment for him, was recalled to the witness chair today.

Schine's initial appearance at the week-long hearings Thursday produced considerable heat but little light. McCarthy accused the special sub - committee counsel, Ray H. Jenkins, of badgering Schine. Schine himself told Jenkins, "if you are abusing me, it doesn't bother me."

PHOTOGRAPH TESTIMONY

He was called to testify now only about a photograph of him and Stevens, introduced at the hearings earlier. The McCarthy side contended that this photograph helped back up its claim that Stevens was friendly with Schine at the very time that Stevens now says McCarthy and his aides were improperly putting pressure on him in Schine's behalf.

McCarthy and Cohn in turn have accused Stevens and his aides of seeking to get the senator's sub-committee to halt or divert a search for subversives in the army. There have been denials on both sides.

The army contends that the Stevens-Schine photo was "doctored" by removing at least one person originally in the picture. Schine said that was true, but he didn't know who had done it.

He was advised to consider overnight whether he wanted to be represented by counsel, after questions were raised about another photograph he was reportedly to have given to McCarthy aides a few days ago.

McCarthy said he brought the question of possible shadowing out in the open at Thursday's hearing after it was disclosed that committee members knew about a dinner meeting of McCarthy aides with Schine.

CHARGES CIO SAYING

Addressing chairman Karl Mundt (Rep. S. D.) McCarthy roared:

"I will ask the chair to call upon Mr. Stevens and those in the military who have the information to give the chair under oath information as to whether or not Pte. Schine and others connected with this investigation have been under CID surveillance; if so, who authorized it and how many individuals are involved in that surveillance."

The Initials CID stand for the Criminal Investigation Division of the army.

Mundt told McCarthy that was a matter Stevens and other army officials could be questioned about later, but McCarthy told reporters he wants an investigation now.

"The reports, tips and rumors that we are being spied upon are so persistent and so convincing that I felt that I had no choice but to ask for an investigation," the Wisconsin senator said.

Cohn said he had "the same type of persistent reports and strong indications that my individual life, which has nothing to do with this inquiry, has been under investigation by army intelligence units."

Asked whether the army has undertaken any such surveillance, John G. Adams, army counsellor and one of McCarthy's chief targets in the Wisconsin senator's "improper" pressure charges, replied:

"Don't be silly."

2 Killed, 9 Hurt In Plane Crash

CALCUTTA (Reuters) — An Indian cargo-passenger plane burst into flames and crashed just after taking off here today, killing the co-pilot and one passenger. Nine others were seriously injured.

The plane nose-dived and caught fire as it was starting a flight to the East Pakistan border.

The crew and passengers were rescued from the burning wreckage by airport staff.

Ask World-Wide Censorship Survey

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The UN economic and social council Thursday asked Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to make a world-wide survey of censorship of foreign correspondents' dispatches.

It did so despite his warning that the international and impartial nature of his job limited his ability to "make such a survey which would be in any way complete."

A resolution including a provision for such a study passed 16 to 2 with only the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia against it. The provision speaks of "a world-wide survey of current principles and practices involved in the censorship of outgoing news dispatches."

Withdraw Claims

OTTAWA (CP)—The health department says some dentifrice manufacturers have voluntarily withdrawn advertising found to be misleading. A return tabled in the Commons said the claims proved misleading after various dentifrices were analyzed by the food and drug division.

Chamber Plans Prayer Day

LANCASTER, N.B. (CP) — The Junior Chamber of Commerce of Canada Saturday will launch a country-wide counter-assault on the May Day propaganda tactics of the Communists.

Under the slogan "May Day—Pray Day", Canadian Jaycees will join sister organizations in the United States, Mexico, the Philippines and other countries in a drive to make May 1 an international day of prayer for world peace.

The program for 270 Canadian junior chambers and junior boards of trade has been arranged by a national committee headed by members of the Lancaster branch.

The committee says all churches and synagogues in Canada have been asked to hold services for world peace in support of the program on the first Sabbath in May. The 25,000 members of the national organization will pray "that God bring together in spirit the Communist leaders and the leaders of the free world so that they may establish a firm and lasting basis for world peace."

The observance also launches Come to Church Month.

Suggests Park On Erie Sandbar

OTTAWA (CP) — A wooded, swampy, snake-infested sandbar jutting 14 miles into Lake Erie was proposed Thursday night as a site for a new national park.

Wallace Nesbitt (PC — Oxford) described the spot, Long Point island, as "a veritable paradise." He said in the Commons it should be taken over from a private company, largely owned by wealthy Americans, which now controls most of the island.

Northern Affairs Minister Lesage, who administers national parks, replied that any land for national parks must be offered by provincial governments free of all encumbrances.

Mr. Nesbitt said the private company has preserved the wildlife of Long Point as it was years ago. The public should be allowed to visit it and see nature unspoiled. The present holders need not be disturbed.

3 Years For Fraud

MONTREAL (CP) — Gerard Tremblay, 42, former Montreal unemployment insurance commission clerk, Thursday was sentenced to three additional years in penitentiary for obtaining $500 in government funds by fraud. He is serving a three-year term for heading a forgery ring that deprived the UIC of several thousand dollars.

House Makes 1st Cut Government Budget

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons Thursday night made the first cut in the government's $4,500,000,000 budget for 1954-55—a $250,000 reduction in advances to the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

Works Minister Winters, questioned by Donald Fleming (PC—Toronto Eglinton), said the money is not required.

The $250,000 was cut from a $300,000 loan to CMHC to provide homes at Fredericton for servicemen's families at the army's new Camp Gagetown.

Mr. Winters said that after the amount was put in the estimates, it was decided not to build the houses in Fredericton.

Plead Not Guilty To Selling Liquor

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto firm, Luscoe Products Limited, Thursday pleaded not guilty to a charge of keeping and selling liquor in the form of cough medicine.

Alcoholic content of the cough medicine, authorities said, was 56.4 per cent. The province's liquor control board chief chemical expert, E. Clark, said alcoholic content of liquors sold through the board was 40 per cent.

Police seized 2,428 bottles of the medicine in various phases of manufacture.

The case is continuing.

List Transfer Of Agricultural Staff Members

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario department of agriculture Thursday announced the following transfers of staff members and the appointment of new assistant agricultural representatives and fieldmen, under the agricultural representative branch.

E. S. Marr, agricultural representative in the Rainy River district since 1936, will be transferred to Kenora district with headquarters in Dryden taking up his new duties in June. He succeeds D. E. Macrae who is retiring at the end of June after 33 years of service with the department of agriculture. Prior to his appointment at Kenora, Mr. Macrae served as agricultural representative in Glengarry.

TAKES OVER POST

F. H. Cotton, agricultural representative in Manitoulin, with headquarters at Gore Bay since 1943, will take over the post vacated by Mr. Marr in Rainy River district.

W. T. Abraham, agricultural representative in Middlesex county since 1949, will take over the Manitoulin district post vacated by Mr. Cotton.

Assistant representatives are transferred as follows:

J. R. Steele, transferred from Victoria county to Leeds and Grenville with headquarters at Brockville.

A. G. Preston, serving as assistant representative in Frontenac and Leeds for two years, transferred to Brant county as of May 10.

A new appointment is:

Glen M. Johnston, as assistant representative in Middlesex county.

Request Removal Of Editor From Inquiry

TORONTO (CP)—C. H. Millard, Canadian director of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL), Thursday requested the removal of H. R. Rice, editor of the Canadian Mining Journal, from the committee appointed by the provincial government to enquire into the Ontario gold mining industry.

In a letter to Premier Frost and made public by the USW office here, Mr. Millard quoted from a series of editorials in the Canadian Mining Journal and charged that Mr. Rice has "shown bias against labor before and even after his appointment."

Prisoner Wins His Appeal

TORONTO (CP)—A 36-year-old prisoner at Burwash industrial farm Thursday won his appeal against conviction and sentence for breaking into a Toronto typewriter factory but was ordered to face another charge on the same offence.

The Ontario Court of Appeal quashed the conviction against Harvey Martin, serving a 15-month sentence at the farm south of Sudbury. However, police issued a warrant charging him with receiving or retaining.

Martin was one of four men convicted last Feb. 4.

The court found there was not sufficient evidence against Martin on the breaking and entering count.

Postie Has Carried Mails Bearing Stamps 4 Monarchs

The oldest member of the Peterborough Post Office letter-carrying staff, Frank Smith of 602 Charlotte St., completed 30 years of service Wednesday. On April 28, 1924, he joined the staff as a letter carrier and he is still doing the same job today. He has not thought seriously about retiring as yet.

Residents in the west end will remember Frank the postman. He delivered mail in that area for 18 years. On that route he reckons everybody knows him and he knows them. Nowadays, in fact for the last seven years, Frank Smith has been working on the business route. It does not entail quite as much footwork as did the west end tramp.

While on the west end run, Frank had another friend, in the form of an outsize Newfoundland dog, which was owned by Gus White, proprietor of the old White's Hotel.

Every morning, Moose, as the dog was called, would be waiting at the post office for the letter carrier. The dog would follow him round the route. Of course Moose had an ulterior motive. He was quite a pet with west end residents and could be sure of collecting quite a handsome thing in tid-bits.

Th dog knew which houses produced the goods and which did not. If any of his "regulars" happened to have a closed door then Moose would go scratch on the door until he received attention.

However, Moose is no more these days and the once familiar figure of Frank Smith with his mail bag, is not seen on the west end beat either.

BORN IN ENGLAND

Born in England, Frank arrived in Canada at the age of 15. After four years on a farm, he signed up with the post office. He served with the Canadian army for four years during the First World War and later returned to Europe for a visit in 1936. He was present when Edward VIII unveiled the Vimy Ridge memorial in France.

Although he has been with the post office for only 30 years, Frank Smith has carried letters with stamps bearing the likenesses of four monarchs—King George V, Edward VIII, George VI and more recently, Elizabeth II.

He has also served under four different postmasters. When he first started work, the late J. R. Corkery was postmaster. Then came the late Charles Lacheur who was followed by Harry White. The fourth in line is the present postmaster, Clare Stuart.

For a man who walks all day for a living, Frank evidently does not get enough of it. Weekends he plays golf . . . the game where a person hits the little ball and then hikes out after it.

"But I don't play golf to get exercise," says Frank Smith. "I play because I like it." He also devotes some time to growing roses.

Although time is fast marching on, there is at least one thing this mail-carrier welcomes in the future. That is the new post office on Charlotte St. which will put the post office staff right up in front of Peterborough's race for expansion.

Mission Abroad Accomplished

Fourteen months and 30,000 miles ago a unique collection of 52 paintings of 22 Canadian Cities, took to the air for a two-continent, 15-country international goodwill tour.

Painted especially for The House of Seagram by distinguished Canadian artists, these original canvases were on an unusual mission—to stimulate a deeper interest in things Canadian, and to earn increased friendliness and broader understanding for Canada by showing the peoples of other lands the impressive aspect of our urban centres from coast to coast.

This mission has now been accomplished. Everywhere it has been shown — in San Juan, Havana, Mexico City, Caracas, Rio de Janeiro, Sao Paulo, Buenos Aires, Montevideo, Rome, London, Paris, Geneva, Stockholm, The Hague, Madrid—the Seagram Collection of Paintings of Canadian Cities has made new friends for Canada and has left behind it vivid impressions of our land in the minds of the more than 215,000 people who visited this colourful collection on exhibition.

This widespread public attention stimulated by the Seagram Collection has created a mounting interest in Canada and Canadians by bringing to people of other lands a realization that ours is a vital, growing land—a land of tremendous natural resources, and remarkable human achievement.

Now back in Canada, the Seagram Collection of Paintings of Canadian Cities will shortly embark on the second phase of its tour—a twelve-thousand mile, two-year cross-country visit to the cities of Canada.

Thus Canadians will have the opportunity of seeing at first hand these 52 colourful Canadian ambassadors of goodwill.

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CVII. No. 102 FRIDAY, APRIL 30, 1954

DETECTIVE DOUG FARTHING of the city force examines pieces of a plate glass window which thieves smashed in the early hours of Friday morning to gain entrance to the McNaughton service station, Water St. north. About $50 in cash and a quantity of cigarets were stolen. (Examiner Staff Photo)

Thieves Smash Window Rob Service Station Of $50

Thieves smashed a plate glass window to gain entrance to McNaughton's service station, Water St. north, in the early hours of this morning. In an apparently hurried job, they made off with about $50 in cash and a quantity of cigarets.

The service station and an adjoining garage is owned by Neil McNaughton. His brother, Ross, leases the front part of the building which was burgled.

Neil McNaughton told The Examiner today that goods in the office were valued at about $1,500. He considered the thieves must have been in a hurry, because they had left a number of batteries, a car radio and other valuable gods untouched.

Glass from the 8 by 6-foot window was scattered about on the ground outside the office. Inside things were scattered about and the empty till drawer was lying on the counter. The burglars left by the window they had broken.

Another smaller window leading into the garage was also broken, but nothing appeared to be missing from there.

HEARD CRASH

Neil McNaughton said that two young women who were staying in a nearby house alone Thursday night, told him of hearing the crash of breaking glass. They had also seen a flickering light in the office. However, they had no telephone and were "too scared" to venture outside. They also heard a car racing away into the night shortly afterwards.

Ross McNaughton, who lives across the road from the service station, did not lock up until 11 o'clock Thursday night. A city police patrol checked the station at 2 a.m. and found everything in order.

Neil McNaughton said that this was the first break-in he had experienced in four years of business on Water St. Last week, however, someone had connected ignition wiring on a car in the yard and made off with it. The car was recovered shortly afterwards.

Detective Sergeant John Stevenson and Detective Doug Farthing were investigating the scene of the break-in early today.

TWEED FORESTRY SHIFTS

District forester A. W. Lemman, Tweed office, will be transferred to Maple, Ont., Lake Simcoe district, and will be replaced with James Ruxton, Forest Ranger School, Dorset, in the same capacity. Both transfers are effective on May 1.

SPRING IS HERE

At least 4,700 geese passed over Peterborough early this morning. An energetic bird-watcher, Barry Hollingsworth of the Chemong road, counted 15 groups of ducks with 10 to 15 ducks per group in addition to the 4,700 geese. The geese were travelling north-east, the ducks north-west between 6:20 and 8:10 this morning.

SUNDAY, NOT SATURDAY

Gues's and relatives planning to attend the 50th anniversary party for Mr. and Mrs. William S. Woodhouse are reminded that the banquet will be held Sunday. A story in The Examiner Thursday indicated both dates. The day will begin with Mass, later there will be a family dinner, followed by the reception.

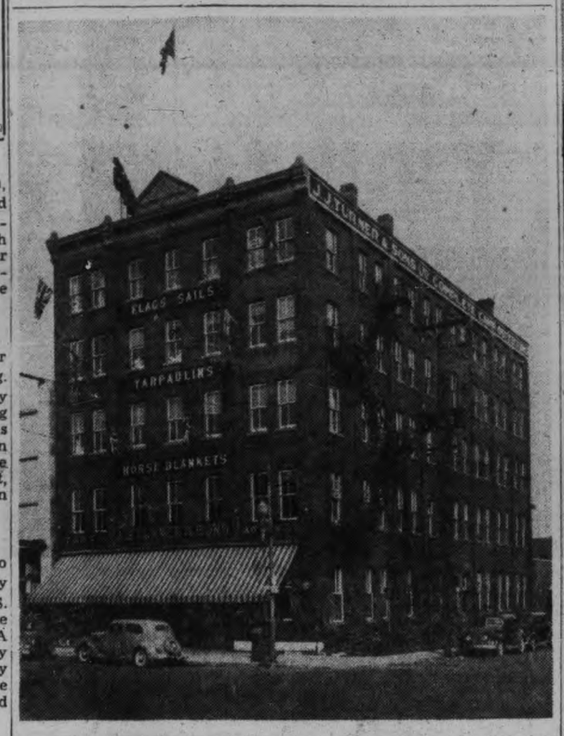
ORGANIZE SAFETY CLUB

The Peterborough truck drivers' safety association will hold its first regular meeting at Queen Mary auditorium Wednesday, May 12. An executive committee will be elected and the meeting will discuss plans for future safety campaigns.

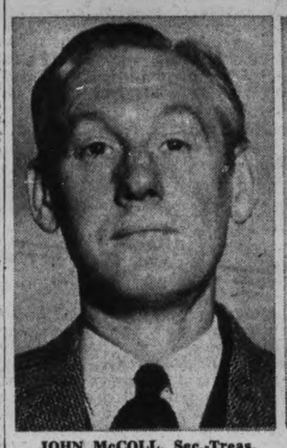
TWO MOONS FOR MAY

The calendar credits May with two new moons, the first on Sunday, 2nd, and the other on the last day of the month, Monday, 31. That's not exactly a lunar phenomenon, but it doesn't occur often.

HIT PARKED CAR



John S. Trotter, 105 Lock St., was driving down Engleburn Ave. Thursday evening when his car collided with a vehicle parked outside house No. 263. The parked vehicle was owned by Gordon Williams of that address. Damage to both cars totalled about $100. Constable Harold Andrew investigated.



TO RENOVATE KITCHEN

Though well at sea on what can be done, the property committee of the board of education on Thursday night agreed to renovate the PCVS kitchen. They are cramped for space at the school and nobody can suggest an alternative location in the building. It was suggested that—as a first step, at any rate—some draining boards and heavy duty electric plugs should be installed. The matter will be left in the hands of Harry Hamley and Bernard Chambers of the board's staff.

JAMES KING, General Manager

Ernest Craig New President In J. J. Turner Co. Changes

Changes in company control and management of the J. J. Turner Company were announced at the annual meeting Wednesday night, conducted under chairmanship of Percy S. Dallin.

Vice-president and general manager of American Nepheline Mines, Ernest Craig, has acquired a major stock participation and was elected to the presidency of the company. President of Quaker Oats Company Reginald Faryon is vice-president and John McColl, C.A., partner of the accounting firm of McColl and Turner, secretary-treasurer.

Other company directors are James M. King, John Mather, Herbert T. Bradburn and Robert Cathcart of Millbrook.

Mr. Craig brings the experience of many years of mine management and private business to the position of head man of the Turner company. He has been associated with Ventures Limited for many years, and was also the founder of the Craig Bit Company, North Bay.

GENERAL MANAGER

Mr. King was appointed general manager by the directors. A graduate engineer of the University of Toronto, he has been engaged in a series of manufacturing and engineering projects with the Canadian General Electric since 1940. He is member of the council of the Association of Professional Engineers of Ontario and past-chairman of the Peterborough branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada.

One of Mr. King's duties as general manager will be the commencement of research and development work for the future manufacturing of filtering and dust-collection canvasses for mining and industry. Such products are substantially being imported from the United States at the present time.

Careful study of new materials and their application to diversified installations will be launched. The program will require a long-term research plan. The manufacture of present lines will be continued.

Robert J. Allen will conduct important special research assignments for the company. There are no other changes anticipated in personnel, officials say.

The Turner Company was founded 80 years ago by J. J. Turner Sr. At his death in 1916 the company passed to his four sons, John Jr., Achilles W., Reginald H. and Webster F. Turner. In 1949 control of the company passed from family hands and has been operated by a group of city businessmen headed by Percy S. Dallin as president and general manager.

Rangers On Alert For Fires As Fishing Opens

All trout fishermen in the Kawarthas may be as happy as clams this weekend with the season opening on Saturday but they have the department of lands and forests officials biting their nails in anxiety.

It is one of the most hazardous season of the year for the touching off of bush fires and the department is loaded with statistics to prove it. In 1953 during April and May in the Lindsay district there were 19 forest fires, 75 per cent of them set by smokers and campers. In the Tweed area there were 25 fires set, 65 per cent of them in the same classifications of carelessness.

Medium fire conditions exist at the present time which, with warming winds and mild weather today and Saturday, could raise the hazard to "High" within 48 hours.

The department is doing everything in their power and placing the most modern equipment it has to keep watch on happy fisherman and prospectors this weekend. A float-equipped aircraft, piloted by veteran "Happy" Hoare has been assigned to Linsay-Tweeed a is. He will fly from Minden to Tweed on constant patrol and wherever he spots gatherings of sports or miners in the bush, will ask them by a powerful-loud-hailer to watch their fires.

Further than this all the fires towers in Peterborough, Victoria, North Hastings and Haliburton are already manned to watch for telltale blue pencils of smoke.

Regional forester W. B. Greenwood warns that fishermen who would like their sport to continue in the Kawarthas would be smart to watch their campfires and cigaret butts.

"Sportsmen can have their fling once, he said, "or be smart and use caution all the time and have fun for years to come.

Great Organist Returning To Give Concert

Currently filming his own 39-week color, coast-to-coast television show, one of America's foremost recital organists, Richard Ellsasser will fly direct from Hollywood to appear in Peterborough, Wednesday evening, May 5.

The world-renowned organ virtuoso-composer will present his recital at the console in St. Paul's Presbyterian church. Last year, Ellsasser attracted a near capacity audience at the church. Except for two items, his program will consist of request numbers.

The first part of the program will be devoted to compositions of the 17th and 18th Centuries, including works by Vivaldi, Stamitz and Bull. By request, Ellsasser will also repeat his performance of the charming "Le Coucou (the Cockoo) by Louis Daquin, which he played here last year.

The second group is devoted to three works by the Bach family. Also included are the Leipzig master's chorale prelude on the hymn tune "O Sacred Head Now Wounded", and the fabulous "Toccata in F", with its pedal solos.

As a finale Ellsasser will play an improvisations on a theme submitted by Aubrey Bland, ARCO, AAGO, LRAM. The nature of the theme will not be known to the organist until he is ready to improvise.

Born in 1926, this phenomenal musician has already carved a career of notable achievement. He is the youngest person in history to have memorized and performed the 250 organ works of Bach, including the monumental "Liturgy". For three consecutive years, 800 radio and television editors have voted Ellsasser one of the three most popular organists in the world.

Tickets for his Peterborough performance are available at TEM travel agency, the Bank of Commerce, the Examiner or from any Kiwanian.

This presentation is being sponsored by the Peterborough Kiwanis Club.

Planning Expert Clears Problem Of Non-Conformers

What had become one of the most controversial aspects of the city's proposed zoning bylaw was cleared up by Peterborough's planning consultant Gordon Culham Thursday night in the second of three public meetings in the Queen Mary auditorium.. The final meeting will be held tonight at city hall.

In regard to what he termed a "tremendous variation of opinion" about the rights of so-called "nonconforming users," Mr. Culham said apparently a lot of people had not read clause 14 of section 11 of the bylaw.

The clause stated categorically that the bylaw "shall not apply to any land, building or structure which, on the day of the passing of this bylaw, is used or erected for any purpose prohibited by the bylaw, so long as it continues to be used for that purpose, nor shall this bylaw apply to any building or structure the plans for which have, prior to the day of the passing of this bylaw, been approved by the municipal architect or building inspector, so long as the building or structure when erected is used for the purpose for which it was erected."

COMPLETE IMMUNITY

"This clause gives complete immunity from the provisions of the bylaw to every existing use," Mr. Culham stated flatly.

"For example, if I own a service station which occupies half a lot in a residential area, I still have rights over the rest of that parcel of land."

Further clarification of the point was given by the speaker in his answers to the questions of many of the audience of 35 people. If a non-conforming user owned adjacent property, the committee of adjustment could give him permission to expand onto that property, or even to sell it.

"The bylaw does not fix continuity of the use of such property," was the way Mr. Culham expressed it.

Moreover, the property of a non-conforming user would not have to conform to the set-back provisions of the bylaw in order for him to get permission to expand. But in the case of land of which the use is restricted by a provision of the registered deed, the deed overrules the bylaw.

PROTECT BUSINESS

"The zoning bylaw is intended to protect business as well as to permit the city to develop in an orderly fashion," he said. "The committee of adjustment may grant an extension of a non-conforming use onto adjacent properties owned by the user or they may permit it to be used for a higher category after they have taken account of its relationship to other property in the neighborhood.

"After that, the matter can go to the municipal board. I might say that the general attitude of the municipal board has been to protect the owner's interests; but there's no need for one man to go in and ruin an area.

"You always have your day in court. In the United States, the local boards have almost as much power as our local committees of adjustment. That should never be, because the local group is subject to local influences. The Americans think our system is better."

Mr. Culham spoke of the tendency in expanding cities for stores to string out along the main thoroughfares until the cities were forced to seek new thoroughfares outside.

"The main thoroughfares no longer serve as channels of communication and there is a growing pressure for parking space in the business district," he said. "Now the whole pattern of retail development is changing. For one thing, everybody insists the stores be set back far enough for parking.

"You can see this happening everywhere. But remember the zoning requirements are minimums. Both commercial and industrial firms set back their new buildings more than twice as far as we require them to. We think of set-back as valuable for off-street parking. Industries use it to dress up their buildings—to advertise.

MUST GET CARS OFF

"We have to get the cars off the street and we must preserve our main thoroughfares as never before with the tremendous increase in vehicular traffic," he summed up.

"You have an example right here in Peterborough," he said, pointing to the Lansdowne St.—Monaghan Rd. area on the map, where a new shopping area has been promoted by the Simpsons-Sears store.

"They are drawing the shoppers out of the centre of the city and the little businessmen are going to lose out. That's not your concern or mine; it's the way people want to shop. We must maintain our thoroughfares. We have to protect the small businesses that already exist but no-one should be allowed to choke up the channels of transportation."

In reference to the new shopping area, Gordon Munroe, pointed out that the Peterborough Lumber Company, on the diagonally opposite corner, was zoned as heavy industrial. He wanted to know if this precluded them from disposing of it for any other than heavy industrial purposes.

MORE CONSIDERATION

Mr. Munroe felt greater consideration should have been given to light industrial zoning. Approximately 450 acres were zoned for heavy industry but only 120 for light industry. He felt the labor force was unlikely to increase sufficiently in this area for heavy industry to expand further. But there was room for the expansion of light industry, particularly that which employed women.

Mr. Culham answered that the planning board was considering a recommendation to permit the inclusion of every category except residential in heavy industrial areas.

"You are free to use your land for anything except residential use," he said.

Mr. Munroe said there still seemed to be some difference of opinion as to whether a non-conforming user could rebuild his premises if they were destroyed by fire.

"I ask you to accept my state-

By HARRY THEOBALD

Import Christmas Turkeys "Befoul" Poultry Market .... Coughlin Bros. Cow Exceeds 100,000 Lbs. Milk.... Considerable Late Buying of Fertilizer Expected.... Lakefield 4-H Forestry Club Planting Wed., May 5.

George Tully of Co-Op Services says more farmers than usual are putting off their purchases of fertilizer till the last minute.

"It looks as if they're holding off as long as they can," he said yesterday. "I think there are a lot who'll come along at that last minute, and likely they'll want everything in a rush. We'll likely have enough for all their demand, but with the season getting a little on the late side I'd like to see more of that postponed buying moving right now."

With other farmers, the fertilizer investment has become so established that it is part of the routine. Its ordering was placed long ago, and arriving deliveries were packed up under cover at home.

Reports from various quarters suggest that farmers are more cautious than usual in their buying this year because income prospects are unsettled. Probably the belated fertilizer orders is evidence of that disposition.

Junior Executive May 4

Jack Matchett has called a meeting of the Junior Farmers' executive for Tuesday, May 4, at the office of the Department of Agriculture.

One of the topics will be the Peterborough Memorial Centre and its provision of accommodation for agricultural interests. Others will be plans for the annual church service, the proposed soils testing enterprise, other summer activities, and nomination of candidates for the Dairy Maid and Dairy Man for the big Dairy Day demonstration at the farm of William J. Murphy near Lindsay in June.

Surplus Yule Turkeys

The poultry industry is still affected by a hangover from the Christmas market.

One of the big chain stores is said to have brought in 40 cars of turkeys for the festal dinners, and is still reported to have quite a lot of them on their hands. Their policy is to keep on trying to get rid of that frozen stock, meanwhile giving fresh fowl, turkeys and capons, the bypass.

According to one source of information the Yule fowl is selling at 6 to 7 cents a pound less than they cost, and that surplus "fouling up" the market, as one man remarked.

Heavy capons of six to eight pounds that brought 55 cents live weight at the farms last year are more like 35c, and eviscerated birds that should be 65 to 68 cents are mentioned at 57-58 cents. Opinion is uncertain as to whether the precise cause was the seasonal splurge for Christmas or whether there is excess production across the border.

Apparently the Ontario producer is confronted with the surplus of frozen stuff at a price that he can't meet for fresh offerings. Some poultry is still coming into the country, it is said, suggesting that there is a continuing surplus production to the south.

Advises More Reading

If they don't attend college, they should educate themselves by reading and observing the methods of others, G. L. Warlow, head of the publicity department of OAC told Madoc Junior farmers at their annual dinner last week.

Courses in agriculture could only point the way,—young people must keep themselves in step with the modern trends in agriculture, Mr. Warlow said. "Junior Farmers should be prepared to respond to their obligations and opportunities to themselves and to their communities. The more fully developed you are, the greater your value to your comunity."

Arnold Empey chairman of the Madoc Junior Farmers was chairman of the dinner. Among those who spoke was Warden of Hastings, Reeve Fred Mitchell of Thurlow.

At Junior Conference

Peterborough Junior Farmers were represented at the annual conference of Ontario Juniors at Guelph by Miss Gaye Hancock, Miss Mary Wood, Howard Johnston, Langdon Gardner and Gordon Bradfield.

"One advantage of attending the annual meeting," Miss Wood said yesterday, "was the opportunity of seeing the scope of the work that is being done by juniors of the province and comparing it with our own activities."

Ontario county Junior Farmers Choir assisted in the religious service last Sunday night, and Ken Best suggested that Peterborough Juniors could probably do as well. He suggested that they might consider making a bid for the 1955 annual meeting at OAC.

Hydro Farm Broadcast

Irrigation on farms will be the topic of the Hydro-Electric radio broadcast Monday, May 10 over CHEX. The subject on June 16 will be "future uses for electricity in agriculture." The series continues monthly in July and August, and is specially planned for farmers. CHEX broadcast time is from 12:05 to 12:15 p.m.

Clare Burt of HEPC information department is taking part in these broadcasts. He is remembered here as former secretary-manager of Ontario Farm Forums, succeeded by Cliff Waite who is now retiring and is being replaced by Jack McPherson.

4-H Club Dates Next Week

Ken Best, associate agricultural representative, has the following meetings listed for next week:

Monday, May 3 — Peterborough 4-H grain club at the office of the Department of Agriculture. It is expected that William Weir of Omemee will be present to help in the program.

Tuesday, May 4—West 4-H Dairy Calf Club at the home of John Edmison, Smith.

Wednesday, May 5 — Lakefield Forestry Club planting of seedling pines at Nassau.

Thursday, May 6—Garden Club Leaders training school, 10 a.m. at the Department of Agriculture office.

Friday, May 7—Meeting of 4-H Clubs at Norwood Town Hall.

Miss Leslie Wall, home economist for Norfolk and Oxford counties will be in charge of the home garden sessions here Thursday.

Kerry English President

The 4-H dairy calf club at Norwood was organized Wednesday night with Kerry English elected president; Margaret Clark vice-president; and Sylvia Bolton, secretary-treasurer.

With more than 40 Holstein calves recently distributed among boys and girls of the Norwood area, Ken Best, of the department of agriculture, said he was hoping that more than the fourteen young people attending this week would be present for the next meeting Wednesday, May 19. Mr. Best said he was glad to see the number of parents who came along to the meeting Wednesday.

To Plant Test Rows Of Grain At Norwood

John Auckland, teacher of agriculture at Norwood High School, and Ken Best are going to do some seeding Saturday afternoon within range of the school property.

They are going to plant test plots of oats and barley in rod rows for demonstration purpoes. Each row will be replicated four times for expanding the practical element of test.

The varieties of oats are: Abegweit, Ajax, Beaver, Clinton, Simcoe, Garry, Rodney and Shefford.

Simcoe has been mentioned before, and there is only a limited quantity of it around here. Among those with some on hand are Clarence Mann, Robt. Armstrong, Walter Clark of Norwood, and Ernest McWilliam who was prominent in its generation.

The barley varieties are: OAC-21, Moore, Montcalm, Fort, G.B. 11; Brant, Galore and Husky.

Mr. Best says Moore is a new variety which is considered to be promising. He suspects that a few of these varieties may have previously been identifed only by numbers.

4-H Club members have been invited to help, but possibly for most of them there will be pressing work at home.

JACK McPHERSON has been appointed provincial secretary-manager for Ontario Farm Radio Forum, as announced recently by James Bird of Codrington, chairman of the Ontario Farm Radio Forum council. He will succeed Cliff Waite (right) now leaving the Forums to take post-graduate work in theology, continuing his study for the ministry of the United Church of Canada.

Mr. McPherson is no stranger to Farm Forum members. He was a member of the farm department of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation for seven years. In addition to his regular work as farm commentator, he acted as chairman on several Farm Forum broadcasts and attended many agricultural events. From CBC, he went to the Ontario Department of Agriculture where he was in charge of publicity. Most recently he has been engaged in agricultural advertising, public relations work for McKim Advertising Limited. He will take over his new duties on June 1st.

Elmcroft Pasture Mixture, A Reasoned Choice, And "Fine, Firm Seed Bed"

The pasture mixture chosen by George R. McLaughlin in 1947 consisted of: 6 lbs. alfalfa; 5 pounds of brome grass;; 4 lbs. orchard grass and one pound of ladino clover.

His forage story is included in the report of addresses and proceedings at the annual convention of the Ontario soil and crop improvement association convention. Copies of this booklekt are obtainable at the office of F. C. Paterson. It comprises 150 pages some of them dealing with specific topics such as "Does Farm Planning Pay?", "Corn", "Soybeans", "Chemical Weed Control in Pastures", and other practical subjects.

"Alfalfa, we knew from experience, produced a most luxuriant growth on our farm, but seemed to last only about two season. After much research on the subject, our final conclusions were that our past management was more at fault than was the alfalfa. We believed, that with the liberal use of fertilizers, and by removing the herd early enough in the fall, we could build up alfalfa's vitality sufficiently to carry it through the winter, and at the same time enable it to compete better with the grasses during the following season. Phosphorus and potash were the answer, which seemed to be sort of obvious because we knew our soils to be seriously deficient in both."

Mr. McLaughlin continued his explanation of the reasons guiding his decision of mixture components.

"Brome grass we also knew from experience would grow well for us, and, despite advice to the contrary, would produce a good yield the first year if sowed shallow enough. Our cows seemed to like it. It was deep-rooted enough and ought to be able to withstand dry spells if fed properly.

Orchard grass came in the same category as brome. It had one disadvantage. We found Orchard to be a poor hay crop because it grew so luxuriantly and matured so early that in no time at all everything else in the mixture was displaced by it.

QUICK IN RECOVERY

However, we reasoned that in a closely controlled rotational program it would be a decided advantage to include a grass which had a quick come-back after being pastured.

Finally, but certainly not least important ladino clover. Our experience with it at that time was practically nil. We included it mostly because of the praise we were receiving from farmers in the New England States. It has been a standout performer for us, not only in rotational pasture, but in all of our hay and pasture programs."

As to field preparation: "the finer the seed bed for the germination of forage seeds, the better the results. In our expereince "the mere plowing of the field in the fall is not satisfactory."

FIELD PREPARATION

"If more work is done on the soil in the fall, it leaves the job easier in the spring when everything else is rushed, and gives you more time to work the seed bed down and germinate more seeds before the time comes for sowing.

"We have seeded permanent pasture with and without a cover crop. It is our observation that you get pasture from the field for from six to eight weeks during the first season if no cover crop is used, and that the next season's yield is higher. However, there are advantages to using a cover crop, in that the value of that crop may be higher than the value of the forage produced the first year and the subsequent higher production of the third season.

Another advantage is that it keeps weed growth to a minimum, where it will probably be necessary to mow the weeds during July if no cover crop is used.

SHALLOW SEEDING

I cannot stress too strongly the shallow seeding of forage crops in a firm seed bed. Our acreage warrants the investment in a Brillion seeder, and, since it arrived at our farm, we have seeded forage seeds at a rate heavier than 12 lbs. per acre.

In my opinion, the cyclone seeder and a set of packers will do almost the same job, except that the hand seeder does not sow so uniformly.

Compare our 12 lbs. per acre with the rates which all of us have been recommended of from 20 to 30 lbs. Besides that we have never had a seeding failure since this method was employed, and few of us at Elmcroft can remember any better catches of seed than we have had during the last few years.

The shallow seeding of your mixture in a fine firm seed bed is every bit as important to the success of your pasture as your Agricultural Representative has said it is."

Pound Of Honey Work Of About 556 Bees

Mineral content of honey declines with its blanching of color. That assertion has been noticed in print recently, and repeated in different sources.

A booklet entitled "The Story of Honey" says that the darker the honey the more its mineral constituent.

Preference tends toward the light honey for its blander flavor, but apparently there is less of nutrient.

In simple phrasing this booklet says that in its entire lifetime a "worker" bee gathers .0288 ounces of honey...that it requires about 556 workers to gather a full pound, and that the bees would fly approximately 35,584 miles, or more than once around the world, in doing that work.

According to this account of the bee, the average life of a worker is about six weeks. Three weeks of that time is spent on work within the hive, and three weeks as a field bee gathering nectar and pollen.

EVAPORATED BY WINGS

The nectar as gathered by the bee contains about 70 per cent water, and about 17 per cent honey. The excess moisture is removed by rapid fanning of the bee's wings over the open cells of the hive, and is carried out of the hive by the bees' own system of ventilation or air-conditioning.

Pollinating the flowers of fruits, vegetables and legumes is estimated at many times the value of the honey produced.

Natural pollinating insects are disappearing rapidly, and each year there will likely be increasing dependence on the honey bee for its function in impregnating flowers.

One of the factual claims which highly recomend honey is that it is one of the safest of foods. Most harmful germs cannot live in honey for any length of time.

One point the booklet appears to emphasize is the comparative food value of the darker honey which usually gets a subordinate rating with those who would rather buy the amber grades and some that are even lighter.

Meeting Of 4-H Norwood Clubs

Parents are invited to a meeting at Norwood Town Hall, Friday, May 7, 8.30 p.m., that is being arranged particularly for the members of the 4-H Clubs that are being planned for East Peterborough this season.

The clubs in prospect, some of them already under way, are Forestry, Grain, Dairy and Beef calf clubs, and Swine clubs.

The program will include several films of general interest to farmers, with a special film on the Calgary Stampede. Refreshments will be served. Activities and the significance of 4-H Clubs will be discussed. Interest of parents is essential to the success of the 4-H Club purposes.

Corn Requires Soil Warmth

Soil temperature for the germination of corn should be at least 49 degrees, as advised by G. F. H. Buckley of Harrow Experimental Station.

"For each crop there is a critical temperature below which little or no growth or seed germination will take place. If corn is planted in soil which has a temperature below 49 degrees at planting depth, little or no germination will occur, but the seed will lie in the ground until the temptrature and moisture conditions are satisfactory for germination.

"On the other hand, if the ground is wet as well as cold, much of the seed will rot, and a poor stand is the result. When soil temperature and moisture are adequate, the germination will be rapid, and young plants get off to a good start.

"The best date for planting corn cannot be definitely set. Too many factors are involved. The season, soil type, drainage and location have a great influence on time of planting. But, the safest guide is soil temperature. In Essex county, satisfactory temperatures likely occur as early as May 5 and as late as May 25."

300 Blood Donors Wanted In Fight Against Polio

Gama globulin versus polio. The two will join in battle this summer, with the groundwork for the expected bitter war laid May 18. On that Tuesday, in the Legion Hall, the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Red Cross society will take blood from an estimated 300 new donors to make gamma globulin for the polio war.

This new polio deterrent is not a vaccine, or even a treatment for polio. It is a protein derived from human blood plasma which will produce polio immunity for from five to six weeks.

Although the degree of protection of gamma globulin is still debatable, officials say the substance is the best weapon now available to fight the dread crippler.

Since gamma globulin is operative only for a relatively short time, each child must be given several shots. This means more donors than might otherwise be required, up to 150,000 additional blood donations per year.

Gamma globulin is intended primarily to prevent polio and infectious hepatitis. The average dose requires the processed gamma globulin from one pint of whole blood, and averages about seven cubic centimetres a dose.

COLLECTING AGENT

In Peterborough, Mrs. Charles Ray will be the Red Cross official directing the drive, while Claire Collins will handle publicity. The Red Cross will act solely as collecting agent. Processing will be done at the Connaught medical research laboratories at the University of Toronto, while distribution will be handled by department of national health and welfare.

All blood collected in Peterborough will thus go into a central pool and will be distributed according to need. A large bank of blood must be built up to ensure enough in whatever areas may be affected in the summer. Summer, says Mrs. Ray "is the most dangerous time for polio and we must be prepared." Allocation and distribution will be strictly controlled by public health authorities.

The May 18 blitz is independent of regular Red Cross blood donor services. Blood must be collected in addition to that required for hospital patients and for the armed forces.

Bevan's Wife Blasts McCarthyism In U.S.

TORONTO (CP) — Jennie Lee, British Labor member of Parliament and wife of Aneurin Bevan, said Thursday night that McCarthyism is a "primitive form of political obscenity."

She said in an interview on her arrival for a speaking engagement here that she finds "it hard to believe that intelligent people can be so fascinated by this McCarthy business." Miss Lee will speak here Monday night under the auspices of the Toronto and District CCF party.

In reference to Joseph McCarthy, the Communist-hunting senator from Wisconsin, Miss Lee commented:

"It is an extraordinary thing. I refuse to accept what I have read and heard as being the real mind and heart of the American People. When the decent people of the United States get moving, that will be the end of McCarthy."

Turning to the British scene, Miss Lee predicted the British Labor party soon would be called to office again. The Conservatives, she said, have been in power long enough for their policies to hurt too many people.

Hi-Y Members Discuss Problems

Four local Hi-Y members and YMCA boys' work secretary Bill McFarlane are this week assessing the results of a conference held last weekend in Windsor. More than 225 boys and girls from central and western Ontario were on hand at the conclave.

Conference discussion group themes ranged from love and marriage to Canada as a 49th state of the U.S. It was suggested that it might be more realistic to consider the United States as a potential 11th province.

The status of modern Christianitly, the problem of mixed marriages, teen relationships and relations with parents and teachers were among other themes discussed at the first day of the conference.

That night (Friday) the delegates heard an address from the Rev. Dr. Walton Cole of Detroit. Dr. Cole spoke on the meaning of Hi-Y.

Saturday the delegates discussed the more functional aspects of Hi-Y programs, with especial stress on projects, money making ideas, programming, world service and organization of leasure time. There also were discussions on the possible detrimental effects of radio and television on teenagers.

Guest speaker at the Saturday noon session was Roy Hurd, recreation director of the Ford Motor Co. Mr. Hurd spoke on the prospects of industry for high school graduates.

FORD VILLAGE

A tour of Henry Ford's famed Greenfield Village near Detroit occupied most of Saturday afternoon. About 50 delegates also attended a ball game in Detroit as guests of Simpson-Sears.

After hearing a dinner speech that night from federal health and welfare minister Paul Martin, the delegates spent a social evening dancing. There was also some fraternization with delegates to the regional conferenec of Key Clubs, held near Windsor at the same time.

Sunday saw delegates continuing discussions begin Friday. Arnold Fraser, executive secretary of the Toronto High Park YMCA, also spoke on the place of the Y in contemporary Europe.

The central and western Ontario conference of Hi-Ys will be held in St. Catharines in 1955.

To Honor Ministers

STIRLING (ENS).—All the living ministers who have served at the Olde Davenport United church, Toronto, will be honored next Sunday when a feature of the church anniversary will be the placing of their names on the endowment memorial directory through special gifts of the congregation. The Rev. A. E. Baker, minister of St. Paul's, Stirling, will be one of those honored.

Key Clubbers Report On Windsor Trip

Since "150 girls were just waiting for us," PCVS and St. Peter's delegates to the recent conclave of Key clubs in Windsor "had a most enjoyable time". Albert Eastwood reported to Thursday's meeting of the Kiwanis club. Mr. Eastwood is president-elect of the PCVS Key club.

"We attended many panel discussions and learned how to be better Key clubbers." Key clubs are the high school adjunct of Kiwanis.

More than 175 delegates from the Maritimes to northern Ontario were on hand at the convention, held in Riverside, a suburb of Windsor. In addition to Key club delegates, district lieutenant governor Walter Howell and Frank Patterson, chairman of the Key club committee were on hand from the Peterborough Kiwanis club.

SPONSORS OTHER CLUBS

Discussions on the best way to integrate Kiwanis ideals into schools was a theme of one panel discussion, Mr. Eastwood reported. There were also discussions on expansion work and the suggestion was put forth that local Key clubs sponsor similar groups in Lindsay, Port Hope and Lakefield high schools.

Among the speakers addressing the boys were Paul Martin, federal minister of health and welfare whose home riding is in Windsor; Bert Coulter, district Kiwanis governor and Richard Van Sickle of Ottawa, vice president of Key clubs International.

A feature of the conference was an oratorical contest in which John Martin, treasurer of the St. Peter's Key club competed. Mr. Martin was also inducted as district Key club lieutenant governor.

During one free afternoon, Mr. Eastwood recalled, most of the boys crossed to Detroit to tour, see a ball game or go to the theatre.

Later John Martin repeated his oratical address, given in Windsor.

He used an architectural analogy to show that Key clubbers must build for the future, and must cleave to the Kiwanis ideals of faith, loyalty and service.

Mr. Martin illustrated this theme by recalling the story of three masons working on a building. When asked what they were doing, one said he was hewing rock, another said he was working for $10 a day and the third said he was helping build a temple to God. Key club ideals are exemplified in the third attitude.

A reaffirmation of faith will help keep the world sane, Mr. Martin continued. He said that faith "the only unifying force we have", should be combined with loyalty to one's fellow man and service to the community in order to build a happier tomorrow. A tomorrow, he added, in which discrimination because of race or religion would be obsolete.

The meeting was presided over by Bill Collins, president of the St. Peter's club. He also recalled that PCVS had placed third in the achievment class at the Windsor parley, while St. Peter's was third in the travel section.

Garson Discusses Price-Fixing

WINNIPEG (CP) — Justice Minister Garson maintained Thursday night that consumers would demand government price controls if laws against price-fixing were eliminated.

"Not only would the determination of prices, I am afraid, become a government function but all the other aspects of business, which affect prices, would fall under government regulation," he said in a speech prepared for delivery before the Manitoba branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

He said there has been a lot of discussion about Canada's anti-combines laws and some complaints that they are too rigid.

But he would seriously question whether the average citizen would allow a system whereby prices of the goods he purchased were fixed among suppliers "in whose councils the consumer had no voice."

He feared the average citizen would say that the government should step in and take a hand in determining such prices.

Prorogation Target Set For Mid-June

OTTAWA (CP) — The government has set mid-June as the target for prorogation of Parliament, it was learned Thursday. The session opened last Nov. 12.

Informants said the government is shooting at Friday, June 11, but that a more likely date would be Tuesday, June 15.

However, the session could spill over some days beyond those dates. It was understood that as yet no agreement has been reached among the various parliamentary parties on a prorogation date.

Alberta Drinkers Find Strike Slight Hardship

EDMONTON (CP)—Where would a man whet his whistle if they stopped serving the "suds" in every beer parlor in town?

It has come to that in some parts of Alberta, where unions have pulled beverage room employees out on strike in 40 hotels in Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat in a dispute with hotel owners over wages and hours.

In Edmonton, the man without a car would be lost, so far as public drinking is concerned. The closest taverns would be at St. Albert, a French-speaking settlement five miles out of the city, and at Spruce Grove, an 18-mile drive. However, 15 of Edmonton's 23 hotels have not yet been affected by the strike and there is no immediate shortage of drinking places.

Pickets are shuffling through unseasonal snow in front of eight beer parlors now. The strike began in Edmonton with four closures. Now there are eight, and the strike committee of the union was expected to close at least another one today.

BUY FROM STORE

Apart from a long drive, the only alternative would be to buy beer from the government liquor store. But even at Medicine Hat, where all but one of five strike-bound parlors opened Thursday after a 10-week shutdown, it was surprising, says a government official, how many people apparently didn't care to carry cases of beer.

"There was only a slight increase in liquor store sales in Medicine Hat," said A. J. Mason, chairman of the Alberta liquor control board. "It certainly wasn't as much as one would anticipate."

Sales slips showed the same situation in Lethbridge and Calgary.

Total Circulation

PARIS (Reuters)—Total circulation of the world's 7,520 daily newspapers in 1952 was more than 217,000,000 a day, according to a press survey published Thursday. The report, issued by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, shows Britain had the highest circulation a head in the world, with 611 newspaper copies sold for every 1,000 inhabitants.

TORONTO (CP)—Mayor Arthur Reaume of Windsor said Thursday the Ontario government is shirking its duty in not agreeing to contribute financially to a new civil defence plan proposed by the federal government.

India Regains Foothold In Tibet

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — India Thursday regained her trade footholds in the Chinese Communist state of Tibet, and eased the passage of pilgrims to and from the holy monastery land.

In exchange, Communist China will establish trading agencies in three Indian cities: New Delhi, Calcutta, and Kalimpong, the end of the Tibetan trade route.

The trade and travel benefits were covered by an eight-year pact signed Thursday in Peiping, China.

Jail Policeman For Perjury

MONTREAL (CP) — Albert Villeneuve, Montreal north police officer, Thursday was sentenced to six months in jail at hard labor when found guilty of perjury.

Judge Eugene Lafontaine said Villeneuve had deliberately not told the truth when he testified that he had found a loaded revolver on Pacifique (Pax) Plante, known as Montreal's racket buster.

The charge arose after Plante was arrested Feb. 1, 1952, while a municipal election was in progress in neighboring Ville St. Michel.

Plante testified that he was arrested and searched twice by police who found nothing. Later, he said he was searched by Villeneuve who pulled a loaded revolver, wrapped in a handkerchief, from Plante's overcoat pocket.

Judge Lafontaine said Villeneuve's behavior "was not only criminal it was diabolic."

Round Up Natives

NAIROBI (Reuters)—More than 2,000 British troops and police Thursday raided Nairobi's industrial area, rounding up nearly 2,000 tribesmen suspected of Mau Mau terrorist activities.

Repairs Planned In City Schools

The board of education's property committee are going ahead with a number of projects. Among these are:

Installation of strip lighting for the trophy case on the landing at PCVS. Estimated cost $150.

Repair of leaking cement walls in the girls' and boys' basements at King Edward school. Estimated cost according to the bid of B. Harvey of the Thoroseal system, $242.

Materials and labor for the repair of the parapet wall at PCVS, $385.

Tenders to be called for installing a new asphalt tile floor in two basement classrooms at Prince of Wales; also light fixtures.

Work to begin on removing the brick columns at Queen Alexandra school and facing up with a brick and cement filling. (The committee will inspect this project and may make some modifications in plans.)

Tenders will be called for a new asphalt shingle roof for Queen Alexandra school.

Twelve caretakers jackets will be bought for PCVS janitors. They will be used only for dress occasions.

Tenders will be called for a new boiler at Central school. The unit —a square sectional cast-iron boiler—will be installed in sections.

Phelps Chairman Of Farm Council

WINNIPEG (CP)—J. L. Phelps, president of the Saskatchewan Farmers' Union, was elected chairman of the Canadian Farmer-Labor Economic Council at the conclusion of its first conference here Thursday night.

Co-chairman elected were A. R. Mosher of Ottawa, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor; and Percy Bengough of Ottawa, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Mrs. Bernice Norman, executive member of the SFU, was named secretary.

The council will comprise 12 members, three each from the TLC and CCL; two from the Interprovincial Farmer Union Council; and four representing the farm unions on a one-member basis for Alberta Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario unions.

No TV Charge

OTTAWA (CP) — Revenue Minister McCann Thursday said the government contemplates no change in its policy of permitting only one television station to be established in any one area.

Should Use Chiang

MONTREAL (CP) — Lt.-Gen. A. C. Wedemeyer, who commanded United States forces in China during the critical years of 1944 and 1945 Thursday suggested Nationalist China's 300,000 combat troops should be thrown into the battle for Indo-China.

Many Use Church For 'Respectability'

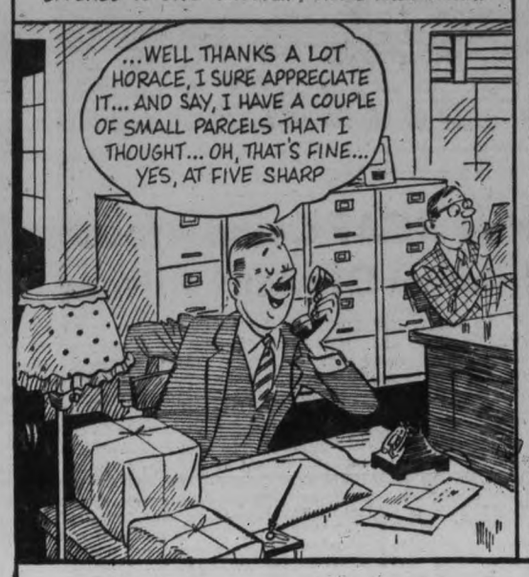
LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Archdeacon J. N. H. Mills said Thursday many "so-called Anglicans" just make use of the church "to have a little bit of respectability."

Speaking to the annual meeting of the Huron diocesan board of the women's auxiliary of the Church of England he said some people just go to church to be married, buried or to have their children baptized.

The population of Canada had doubled during the last 25 years but there were now 32,000 fewer children attending Sunday school.

"The income of the whole Canadian church in 1927 was $6,482,000," he said. "One would expect it to be nearly $13,000,000 now just to keep the purchasing ability of the dollar on an even keel. But instead of being $13,000,000 it is $8,000,000.

"With that the Canadian church is being asked to do twice the work it did in 1927, which is just an impossibility."



Mrs. A. C. Calder of London was re-elected president.

Hayden Defends Temperamental Film Actors

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Sterling Hayden today came to the defence of a much-maligned breed in Hollywood—temperamental actors.

Hayden himself is as even-tempered as a British diplomat. Proof of his co-operativeness is the fact that he has made 11 pictures in the last 2½ years.

Having worked at every studio in town, he has seen his share of temperament. Some of it he likes, some he doesn't.

"The word 'temperamental' has acquired a bad connotation in Hollywood," he remarked. "I don't think it is necessarily bad. I always remember a foreword Clifton Fadiman wrote for 'Moby Dick.' He said that Herman Melville had been considered something of an eccentric in his lifetime. He added that perhaps we should not apply normal standards of behavior to someone with the genius to write a 'Moby Dick.'

NOW TAKE THAT BRANDO

"And I think that applies to all creative people. Take Marlon Brando. I don't care if he has a raccoon for a pet or is going through analysis. To me he's a great actor. He can take a part and act the heck out of it. For my dough, he can be as eccentric as he wants.

"Bette Davis is another. She says exactly what she feels. If she gets mad enough, she'll blow her cork. But she's a wonderful gal, and she has great integrity as an actress.

"The first time I heard Mario Lanza sing, I said 'This guy has got it.' I didn't care how he acted in his private life; that great voice made up for it.

"Then there's Frank Sinatra. He's supposed to be temperamental, but I'm on his side. He has a mind like a steel trap. And there's a certain sincerity about the guy that comes through.

MORE HUSTONS NEEDED

"John Huston is certainly considered a temperamental director by Hollywood. But when he gets down to business, nobody can create like that man. He's got the kind of temperament we need more of."

These examples are okay in Hayden's book. Then there are others. He told of working with one glamor queen.

"She's the kind who thrives on crisis. She isn't happy unless she's creating some kind of turmoil, generally over some stupid issue. Every afternoon about five, things would be going too well. So she'd start hitting at somebody.

"That's the stupid kind of temperament. So is the kind, practised by a few directors, who pick on the little people on a movie set. I'm against such people."

No Government Policy Decided On Future Taxes

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said Thursday it is a matter of opinion whether a policy of maintaining the present size of Canada's forces will mean little, if any, tax changes for years to come.

He added: "There has been no government policy determined with respect to taxes for future years."

The prime minister was asked in the Commons by J. M. Macdonnell (PC—Toronto Greenwood) about a report by The Canadian Press of a speech Wednesday in Edmonton by Defence Minister Claxton.

The story quoted Mr. Claxton as saying the existence of the hydrogen bomb has not lessened the need for conventional weapons and that there was still a need for a navy, army and air force of about the present size as the minimum force necessary.

DEFENCE COSTS UP

The story noted that defence expenditures are at least 40 per cent of the national budget and said Mr. Claxton's speech indicated there will be little, if any, change in taxes for years to come.

Mr. Macdonnell asked whether that represented government policy.

Mr. St. Laurent replied:

"That seems to have been the impression made upon those who heard the speech, that there was not likely to be a change in taxes for years to come.

CONCLUSION DRAWN

"There seems to have been no such statement made by the minister, and it may or may not be an accurate conclusion to draw from the statement of the minister that the situation seemed to require the maintenance of as large forces as we have at the present time. . . ."

The statement on taxes appeared to have been a conclusion drawn by the reporter.

"Whether or not that is an inaccurate conclusion to draw from the assertion of that fact is a matter of opinion."

Final Card Party

FRASERVILLE — (ENS) — The final card party for this season, run by the Fraserville LOL 46 each Saturday night during the past winter months, was held this week. Six tables of progressive euchre were played.

Prize winners were: Mrs. R. Davis, Miss Leona Moffatt, John Dew and Melville Morrison. Lunch was served.

Repairs To Parsonage

HALLS GLEN (ENS)—The parsonage board of the Warsaw circuit, held their annual meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Dyson with a full attendance from Carmel, Zion, Bethel and Warsaw. It was decided to insulate the parsonage attic. Selling an unused building on the parsonage property and the money used toward repairing the furnace was discussed and a committee named to make inquiries. Mrs. Dyson served refreshments.

ARE YOU BUYING COFFEE BY FLAVOR OR BY HABIT?

Read these facts: MAXWELL HOUSE buys more "Prime Flavor" coffees than any other brand—more than twice as much as the next largest buyer!

What are "Prime Flavor" coffees? They're the choice, flavorful coffees that contribute most of the richness to a good blend. Only three of the world's coffee-growing regions produce substantial amounts of these premium-priced coffees. Maxwell House not only buys more of these fine coffees than anyone else in the world . . . it's a fact that . . .

Maxwell House buys twice as much "Prime Flavor" coffee as the next largest buyer! Naturally Maxwell House Coffee tastes far richer—it is far richer in these wonderful coffees. Many brands contain just a "pinch" . . . some contain none! Maxwell House, on the other hand, is predominantly made from "Prime Flavor" coffees. Furthermore . . .

The traditional Maxwell House skill is added to these fine coffees. They're blended by master craftsmen, expert coffee-tasters. Then they're "Radiant Roasted" to the flavor-peak . . . vacuum-packed roaster-fresh to protect that flavor. No wonder Maxwell House is the one and only coffee that's Good to the Last Drop. No wonder . . .

It's Canada's favorite coffee. People know a good thing when they taste it. That's why, year-in, year-out, more people buy and enjoy Maxwell House than any other brand of coffee in the world at any price. Treat yourself now to "Prime Flavor" Maxwell House . . . taste that wonderful difference!

Churchill Kept A-Bomb Secret

LONDON (AP)—A Labor member of Parliament said Thursday night President Roosevelt wanted to tell Russia in 1943 about the development of the atomic bomb but was talked out of doing so by Prime Minister Churchill.

Frank Beswick made the statement in the House of Commons. He gave no indication of the source of the information he claimed to have.

Churchill himself did not intervene in the debate. Conservative members of parliament—their interest focused on the wider framework of the debate then in progress—let the remark pass unchallenged.

The debate grew out of Beswick's attempt to amend the atomic energy authority bill to prevent Britain from producing a hydrogen bomb unless specific authority was given by both houses of Parliament.

The Commons defeated Beswick's amendment 219 to 63.

Low Rental Housing Soon In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Metropolitan area chairman F. G. Gardiner said Thursday a proposed plan for a $15,000,000 low rental housing scheme resulting from the dominion-provincial housing partnership is expected in a month or two.

The city's 7½ per cent share will be $1,000,000, the remainder to be paid 17½ per cent by the province, and 75 per cent by the federal government.

He said the project may start next year.

Rent for the estimated 1,200 units would be about $65 for single bedroom apartments and $85 for two.

Kremlin Lifts Marriage Ban

LONDON (AP)—The Kremlin today formally lifted its seven-year-old ban on the marriage of Soviet citizens to foreigners.

Moscow radio, in a broadcast heard here, announced that the Supreme Soviet (parliament), has approved a decree issued last November permitting such unions. At the same time, the parliament put back on the law books a clause forbidding any change of citizenship as a result of such a marriage.

The action is not expected to make any difference in Soviet relations with the Western world.

A foreign office spokesman here said "all it does, in effect, is allow Russians to marry citizens from the satellite states."

New RCAF Camp Arouses Interest Of Many Airmen

By DAVE McINTOSH

COLD LAKE, Alta. (CP)—The word is getting around about Cold Lake and airmen are already applying to be posted here, as remote as it is.

Defence Minister Claxton Thursday inspected the RCAF's new $30,000,000 weapons range in the Alberta hinterland 150 miles northwest of Edmonton.

Cold Lake is as good an example as there is of what the armed forces are trying to do to persuade servicemen to make a career in the forces rather than go back to Civvy street after a limited engagement.

On his week-long tour of western Canada military establishments the first thing Mr. Claxton has wanted to see at various posts are the married quarters, schools and churches.

The camp takes in 4,600 acres of prairie, scrub and muskeg. The firing ranges, where CF-100 all-weather jet interceptors will test rockets and probably air-to-air guided missiles, are 25 miles north of the main encampment.

The station is ready for use now but so far only a 50-man advance party under Wing Cmdr. Jack Watts, an armament expert, has moved in. The inflow of airmen will pick up gradually and the aircraft are expected this summer.

The $6,000,000 recreational centre is the eye-delight of the camp. It has a basketball court unequalled in Canada, bowling alleys, grocery store, beauty parlor, library, theatre and so on. A swimming pool is to be added later.

The airmen's mess makes most officers' in Canada look shabby. Most big hotels would be envious of the kitchen equipment.

Great Lakes Seamen Have Bad Year

MONTREAL (CP)—Great Lakes seamen are having their worst season in years, with few jobs either available or in prospect.

Fifty per cent of Montreal's lake seamen are unemployed and those on ships are wondering whether they'll see the season through, a survey showed Thursday.

Normally, about one-quarter of the total lake seamen force of 6,000 comes from here. At present, some 700 men are waiting for jobs.

Reason for the situation is slow movement of grain from the Lakehead. Harbor-opening at Montreal found some 13,000,000 bushels of unsold grain stored here, with no large export sales in immediate prospect.

This resulted in lake shipping operators putting only about half their fleets into service.

Home Life Disruption Major Problem

HAVELOCK (ENS) — "The city of Hope to the city of Mammon" was the topic of the study, given by Mrs. George Wiggins, Tuesday afternoon, at a meeting of the WA of St. John's Anglican church, held in the Sunday school auditorium.

The topic dealt with present conditions in Africa, especially the exodus of the men from the small communities to the towns and cities to work in European industry and its effect on community life.

MIGRATORY LABOR

What soil erosion is to the land, migrant labor is to African society for it takes a large portion of the males out of their village communities for the greater part of the year and the absence of men means that family life is disrupted and the restraints of tribal customs are broken.

Africa needs the wealth which it seems only the addition of industrial development can supply.

Thus, said the speaker, for good or evil, the African is caught up in the modern world of commerce. He has a right to be in it, to take his place within it, to share in whatever benefits it can bring, but neither the town or country feel, entirely responsible for the the African worker.

Mrs. Wiggins then showed how the church is making a valiant attempt to soften the worst evils; how it is trying to "mould the shape of the unborn tomorrow." She asked: "Has the church as a whole really produced the effect which the size of the problem requires?"

CHURCH LAGGING?

Has it responded to the challenge of the new Africa in which men find it so hard to be aware of God, or has it, only half opened its eyes to what is happening and given but minimum resources to the redemption of the City of Mammon?

Mrs. Wiggins also gave a brief outline of the work of the early missionaries to Africa — Robert Moffat, David Livingstone, Henry M. Stanley, Mary Slessor.

The president, Mrs. H. W. Roche presided and offered prayer. The scripture reading was given by Mrs. R. Young.

Arrangements were made to hold a tulip tea, May 15, with the following committee in charge: Mrs. H. W. Roche, Mrs. W. Campbell, Mrs. L. H. Cooke, Mrs. W. Woodbeck, Mrs. J. Seabrook.

The WA quilted a quilt for Mrs. Jane Melville of Campellford, a former member, whose premises were destroyed by fire recently.

The president closed the meeting with prayer.

A WIDE TULLE STOLE of yellow completes this evening gown of Pedro Rodriguez, of Madrid. White tulle and gold lame in tiny pleats form the bodice, and diamond shapes in full skirt.

Glee Club Meets

MARMORA (ENS)—St. Andrew's Glee Club met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Christena Connor. In the absence of the president, Mrs. A. Lowery, the chair was taken by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Charles Sopha. Readings were given by Mesdames C. Sopha, F. R. Wells, F. Litt and R. E. Neal.

Rev. K. J. Crawford showed some films of scenes in the Marmora and Morton areas. It was decided to hold the next meeting at the home of the president.

Rev. K. J. Crawford closed the meeting with prayer following which refreshments were served.

Fraserville YPU Makes Donation

FRASERVILE (ENS)—Fraserville YPU met at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. H. Yarr with 14 members present.

The meeting was in charge of George Cardwell, who opened the meeting with a prayer. Two choruses from the song sheet were sung, after which Doris Moore gave a reading. The scripture was read by John Cook.

The topic was given by Leona Moffat, after which George Cardwell led in prayer. More choruses from the song sheet were sung and Irene McElroy entertained with a solo.

It was decided to meet only every two weeks during the summer. It was also decided to make a donation from the treasury for the "Hungry of the World."

Following the recreation, conducted by Janet Larmer, lunch was served.

Plan For Convention

Plans for the WA convention to be held at Mount Pleasant next Thursday, May 6th, were made at the meeting of Mount Pleasant WA at the home of Mrs. E. Lawson this week. Committees were formed to oversee the work. It was decided to buy one dozen tablespoons for the kitchen cupboard. President Mrs. J. Fee presided. Mrs. G. McLean read scripture from Mark and Mrs. Henry Lowes gave a talk about Jesus' untiring devotion and prayer. The program consisted of a contest on the 12 disciples which was directed by Mrs. H. Jamieson. A reading titled "Wanted a messenger" was by Mrs. Lowes and "The Gospel according to you" was by Mrs. Walker. Mrs. I. Graham also gave a reading. A social hour was also enjoyed and the hostess was assisted with lunch by Mrs. McLean, Mrs. M. Best, Mrs. Walker and Mrs. K. Morden.

THIS IS HOW, GIRLS—County court stenographer, A. Douglas Vaisey, shows Dorothy Bierworth, Libbie McGillivray, Dorothy Tinney, Joan Seaborn, North Hastings high school Bancroft students, and their teachers, G. F. McKelvey, how he practises shorthand. They were part of a group of 10 who were on a field trip in connection with their commercial studies and they toured through the Quaker Oats and Outboard Marine during their visit to the city Thursday. (Examiner Staff Photo)

Rev. & Mrs. Smith Of Gilmour Hold "At Home"

Easter flowers, tulips and daffodils, were pleasingly combined to make the setting for-an "at home" at the parsonage of Gilmour Baptist church, Tuesday afternoon and evening. This was given by the Rev. Smith and Mrs. E. C. Smith to welcome and get acquainted with members of both Gilmour and Reaboro churches of which he is new pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith came in January from First Baptist church, Smiths Falls. Many new friends from Murray St. Baptist, Bridgenorth, Fairview and district were among those who called. Assisting to receive the guests were Mrs. A. B. Mann, Mrs. Wm. Veals, Mrs. A. Edmison and Mrs. C. Moore. Mr. R. McMullen and Mrs. M. Archer attended the door.

The tea table was beautifully laid with a white madiera luncheon cloth. Mauve and pink tulips and daffodils made up the floral centrepiece flanked with white candles in silver holders.

Presiding over silver tea services in the afternoon were Mrs. Grattan Telford, Mrs. A. McGregor, Mrs. H. Burke and Mrs. H. Veals. In the evening Mrs. A. B. Mann, Mrs. J. Mann, Mrs. Hammond and Mrs. Gordon Mann.

Mrs. Clayton Telford of Brigenorth favored with piano selections both afternoon and evening. The guests were shown into the dining room by Mrs. Bruce Bell, Miss Phyllis Moore and Mrs. Roland Scott.

Mrs. G. McGregor and Mrs. H. Sanderson were conveners for the tea-room, assisted in the afternoon by Miss Gertrude Scott, Mrs. Ralph Scott, Miss Gladys Blewett. Miss Marion Edmison, Miss Marion McMullen, Mrs. Mildred Reeds, Mrs. M. Telford, Mrs. E. Bulmer, Mrs. B. Irwin and Mrs. M. Anderson and in the evening by Miss Lilian McGregor, Mrs. Russell Kidd, Miss Marilyn Scott, Miss Dianne Rowland Miss Nancy Archer, Miss Barbara Bulmer, Miss Mary Raddon, Miss Leila Sanderson, Mrs. S. Young, Mrs. D. Raddon, Mrs. J. Edison, Mrs. M. Stewart and Mrs. E. Telford.

Mrs. Fred Rowland and Mrs. L. Reynolds were in charge of the tour through the parsonage which has been newly decorated throughout. Credit is due the ladies in their choice of colours, and artistic touches and for many hours of labor spent on this work through the winter months. The men also deserve credit for assisting the ladies and in renovating the exterior.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Smith expressed their appreciation and graciously thanked the ladies of their congregation for co-operation in helping with the reception.

H. & S. News

NORWOOD SCHOOL

NORWOOD (ENS).—Norwood Home and School Association met this week.

It was reported that work is progressing favorably as to the enlarging and redecorating of the teachers' room, and it was decided to buy some more furniture for the room.

The new Home and School banner made by W. Goodsman and Mr. S. Fisher was on display and was won again by Mr. Sinclair's class. It was decided to send two delegates, the new president and the present president, if possible, to the Leadership Training Course at Lake Couchiching in June.

Mrs. Ken Pakenham, as program convenor, called on Mrs. Sid Jennings who rendered two very pleasing solos, accompanied by Mrs. J. Cronin on the piano.

Dr. A. R. Atkinson introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Ross Matthews of Peterborough, who is a noted pediatrician and child specialist. Dr. Matthews chose as his subject, "The Mental Health of Children," as next week is Mental Health Week in Canada.

He pointed out that no control or too much control over our children can have a similar effect on their mental health and the great benefit nursery school and a pleasant home environment can have on children. Mrs. S. Flett thanked the speaker and the musicians who contribtued to the program. Lunch was served and a social half hour was enjoyed.

MARMORA PUBLIC SCHOOL

MARMORA (ENS).—Marmora Home and School Association met in the Public School Wednesday evening for a Men's Night.

Roy Frost acted as chairman and James Trombley was secretary.

The chairman reported that the swings for the school grounds were in process of being made and it was hoped they would be ready for use by next month. The attendance of parents and grandparents taken by Principal E. C. Prentice showed his room and that of Mrs. James Heath tied for honors.

The chairman drew attention to the art exhibit to be held next week at which 17 paintings by famous artists will be on view. Male members of the association were asked to assist with the unpacking and display of the pictures on Saturday.

James Sproul, for the nominations committee, said that whereas 52 nomination papers had been sent out to members, only 12 at the moment had been returned.

The chairman then brought up the matter of the Chamber of Commerce having sent a deputation to the school board about improvements at the school.

The school board had in mind the erection of a fence along the highway to the south of the school grounds and beautifying and landscaping of the school grounds. It was suggested that a deputation from the Home and School Association meet the deputation from the Chamber of Comn erce and the property committee of Marmora school board headed by Vaughan Glover to give further support to the project. The following were appointed as the deputation from the association: E. C. Prentice, J. Sproul and Mrs. R. Frost.

Entertainment took the form of three films on the oil industry which were shown by Mrs. A. F. Fraser The gentlemen served refreshments to the ladies.

Would Stress Education More

TORONTO (CP) — Margaret P. Morgan, educational director of the Hamilton General Hospital, said Thursday that a school of nursing should exist for the purpose of providing an education experience for its students. Most Canadian schools, she added, are not educational institutions.

She said that schools which lack administrative and financial independence can not perform fully their function as educational institutions. A powerful curriculum can not be evolved in such schools, she said.

Miss Morgan spoke on a panel on research in nursing at the annual meeting of the Registered Nurses Association. About 1,000 nurses are attending the sessions.

WAX YOUR TOOLS

Keep your garden implements and household tools from rusting by coating them liberally with paste wax. Allow to dry thoroughly before polishing.

Paper is a fire hazard, so while you're doing your spring cleaning be sure to throw out old letters and other paper items that store up over the winter.

DOROTHY DIX

Daughter Thinks Mother Old-Fashioned

DEAR MISS DIX: There's considerable friction between me and my sixteen-year-old daughter because I disapprove of her dating boys I don't know. There is a rather fast crowd at her school and all I want is the assurance that the boys she dates aren't from this group.

She claims the mothers of other girls don't supervise their dates, so why should I set myself up as a watchdog over her. This isn't the point at all. I just want to meet the boy who is taking her out. She is free to invite friends to the house at all times — for an evening of dancing and light refreshments, for supper, lunch or any other occasion that calls for a gathering. Her friends have always seemed to find me a pleasant hostess. Why my daughter should suddenly decide that my attitude is old-fashioned, I don't know. Perhaps you could enlighten me. — — — Mrs. W.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Young people do reach that certain age when they feel capable of deciding everything for themselves. They want to select their own clothes, arrange their own dates, in fact, do anything and everything away from parental supervision. This is a phase that passes quickly, but can be most distressing while it lasts. What these young people don't realize is that a good family background, with parents who take an interest in their children and their children's friends, is the best social security an adolescent can have.

YOUNG PERSON'S VIEWPOINT

They see only their own concern, without realizing that every boy and girl they know has (or certainly should have) the same sort of supervision, the same parental interest, the same necessity to satisfy family requirements. One of the chief requirements in practically every family is that young people bring home the boys and girls with whom they are most friendly. In the case of a boy friend this should not be a difficult request to meet, since any young man of manners will call for his date and bring her home.

While you definitely should stick to your guns about knowing your daughter's friends, don't give her the impression that you don't trust her judgement. Remember, she isn't a child any longer; at this critical point in her development she needs the assurance that you consider her trustworthy. Be generous with praise of her choice of friends and subtle in whatever criticism you feel it is absolutely necessary to make.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been engaged for a year, and we expect to wait another year before we are in a position to marry. Although I have explained all this to my friends, they keep asking when we are getting married. They seem to think we're foolish to wait. Perhaps they are well meaning, but their concentration on one subject is becoming annoying. M. L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Although you and your fiance reached what you consider a sensible agreement on your marital plans, you are probably not entirely satisfied with the arrangement. It would have been wiser to hold off the engagement to a time closer to the planned wedding date. Friends, family and acquaintances will continue asking pertinent questions, partly because they are really interested and partly as a conversational topic. Brush their inquiries off with a casual answer; don't feel it necessary to go into complete details about the situation every time they bring it up.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a governess much in love with a gardener employed on the same estate. We've been seeing each other secretly since our employers may object to the relationship. We would like to marry without jeopardizing our jobs, which we like very much.

Flo and Jake.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The only thing you can do is to go to your employer and tell them of the budding romance. Certainly they should appreciate the fact that happy, contented employees are far better than those who feel frustrated.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Lakefield News

Miss Muereta Hull returned to Oshawa on Sunday after spending the Easter holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hull.

Those from the village attending the scout rally held recently in Trenton were Miss Bette Millage, Kenneth Jakins, T. E. M. Last, T. Payton and Mel Kingdon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bell and family moved to Peterborough this week where they will make their home.

Lakefield pupils of Mrs. Christina Hinde's dancing class are busy preparing for their first recital which will take place in Memorial Hall on May 7. The village pupils wil be joined by Mrs. Hinde's pupils from Havelock.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Savery of Oshawa were Sunday guests with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hull.

The sympathy of the village is extended to Mrs. G. Weaver in the loss of her father, Franklin Findlay who passed away recently at Unionville.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Wilson and family of Hamilton spent several days in the district last week with friends and relatives.

Readers' Friday Column By Mary Moore

QUESTION: My mother and I follow you rcooking column all the time. Do you have a recipe for potato cakes... and Fairy Buns? We used to make these buns years ago. They were made with milk and a little sugar and 1 egg and flour. We have lost the recipe for the yeast that we put in the buns. If you have a recipe for oysters or oyster soup we would be glad to get it.—I. M.

ANSWER: Potato Cakes as I know them are merely fluffy mashed potatoes which are leftover and cold shaped into 3-inch cakes ¾ inch thick, dipped in flour and sauteed in hot butter or fat until golden brown and crispy. Is that what you want, or is it

POTATO PANCAKES

Three medium-sized raw potatoes, 1 tablespoon each flour and cream, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon salt. Grate potatoes directly into the other ingredients (to prevent browning). Stir well. Cook by spoonfuls in heavy frying pan in hot fat, turning about 4 times. These are fairly waxy when done.

I cannot locate a recipe called Fairy Buns. I have Butterfly Buns and Fan Tans. I have a vague recollection of someone referring to Butterfly Buns as Fairy Buns, but am not sure. Would you please be more specific. Maybe there are readers who would recognize what I.M. wants. If so I would be grateful if they would send in the recipe.

OYSTER BISQUE

Through a sieve drain the liquor from ½ pint of oysters. To the liquid add 1 cup water, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ½ teaspoon grated onion, 2 teaspoons very finely minced parsley. Stir these then add 2 cups whole milk and heat to scalding point in top of double boiler. Meanwhile mix together 2 tablespoons melted butter and 1 tablespoon flour. When milk is hot stir this roux into it until thick. Chop the oysters into quarters and add them and let this heat, covered, until the oysters are plump and hot.

NOTE: If desired, when you melt the butter for the roux, add 2 tablespons very finely chopped celery and stir over low heat until celery is transparent before you stir in the 1 tablespoon flour, then proceed as above.

OYSTER STEW

In top of double boiler heat to scalding point 2½ cups whole milk (or 2 cups whole milk and ½ cup cream). Just about 5 minutes before serving time melt ¼ cup butter in a saucepan, then add 1 pint of oysters including their liquor, and cook gently just until the edges of the oysters curl. Then add them to the hot milk with 1 teaspoon salt and shake of pepper.

NOTE: If desired add ¼ cup very fine sifted cracker crumbs when you add the cooked oysters to the milk.

QUESTION: I wonder if you could provide me with a recipe for potato chips, of the dry type, such as Saratoga Potato Chips.—Mrs. M. R. A.

ANSWER: Unless you are an expert cook you may not be entirely successful on your first attempt but try again.

SARATOGA CHIPS
(French Fried Potato Slices)

Slice pared potatoes as thinly as possible and soak in ice water 1 hour. Drain and dry. Drop into hot good quality fat at 395 deg. Fahr.—adding only the number of potatoes that will not lower the temperature below 375 deg. Skim out as soon as they are a delicate gold and drain on unglazed paper.

NOTE: For puffed Saratoga chips fry potaoes only until pale biscuit color, then drain and dry and chill. When ready to use, fry again in fat of 395 deg. Fahr. until delicate gold. Drain and salt.

STRIKE CUTS CELEBRATION

TOKYO (AP)—Millions of Japanese who planned picnics to celebrate the emperor's 53rd birthday were stranded at home or in the country today when employees of 37 railroads struck for 24 hours. The walkout was the second in five days by rail workers demanding wage increases. Last Sunday employees of 59 lines left their jobs for the day.

Tobacco, $10 Stolen From Grocery Store

Thieves early Thursday stole $25 in small change and tobacco from the Stop-A-While grocery store on River Road N.

After ripping off a screen and pushing in a back window they took some $2 in coppers and $8 in nickels as well as about $15 in tobacco. OPP Constable Wallace Mohns is investigating.

The theft was discovered by the proprietor, John Sullivan, when he went to the store at daybreak.

The theft is believed to have occurred sometime between 2.30 a.m. and daybreak before Mr. Sullivan arrived.

In Apartment Drinking, Fined

The owner of a George St. apartment house laid information against Keith Welsh, 297 Bethune St. and Clifford Comerford, 310 Rubidge St., in the magistrate's court this morning. They were charged with having liquor in a place other than their residence.

Joseph Henderson, owner of the apartments, said that the two men had been found in an unoccupied flat. They were drinking and had messed up the place, but had not caused any wilful damage.

He said that Welsh had been employed by him as caretaker for about three or four years, but was not working for him at present. Welsh had no permission to go into the apartment.

Comerford told Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, that he understood Welsh was allowed in the apartment—at least he had a key to it.

Crown attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, said that Welsh had once had a key to the cellar, but was not supposed to have an apartment key.

The magistrate fined each man $20, costs $2.50, and in default one month in the county jail.

ment that there's no mention made in this bylaw about a building being burned down, blown down or anything else," Mr. Culham answered. "It doesn't say you can't replace it, so it must mean you can."

"I suggest you include it," said Mr. Munroe.

"It can be put in, but I can't see that it's necessary," Mr. Culham said.

W. R. Gillies of 725 Sherbrooke asked if it would be possible for residents of the R1 zone bounded by Clonsilla, Sherbrooke and Maryland and Third avenues, to duplex their houses.

"This is one of those border-line cases where we want to find out what the people want. That's why we called these meetings," Mr. Culham said. "We're prepared to recommend that the whole area be made a two-family one."

WANT CHANGE

Noel Rishor said he was authorized to speak for all the property-owners on both sides of George St., between McDonnel and Dublin streets, who wished to have the zone changed from RM to CC.

In answer to another question, Mr. Culham stated there had been no provision made for a green belt as there had been in the original master plan.

"You can't tell a man you're going to zone his land for parks and playgrounds and then leave it undeveloped," he said. "Parks are purchased or given and that's the way they have to develop.

"I can think of a lot of beautiful places that might be kept for parks in Peterborough. One thing that has impressed me is that you have so much river frontage in residential use."

Joe Marino spoke on behalf of a group of proprietors in the Parkhill Rd.-Water St. area, and asked to have it change to a commercial zone.

"That's what we're here for," Mr. Culham said. "But my personal opinion is that the department of highways may not always regard that as an entrance and you should have your eye on future developments. I also suggest you apply to have the neighboring properties rezoned."

MAKE PROTEST

Don Emery registered a protest on behalf of the Peterborough Horticultural Society against the zoning of properties along the river as heavy industrial. He recommended that these properties should be designated for parks and playgrounds.

"I don't care to comment on the amount of industrial land you have in the city for future development," Mr. Culham said. "Actually, the city has acquired industrial land outside the city.

"It is not the province of the planning board to tell the city to buy land. The land you refer to is already owned by one of the oldest industries in the city and it would not be fair to zone it otherwise. I've no doubt that if the proper representation was made to the owners, they would be only too glad to co-operate in a scheme of beautification.

"Some land has been designated agricultural land. But it is low-lying and the cost of reclaiming it and developing it would probably be too great for building purposes."

Sir Frederick W. G. Haultain's Silk Hat Turns Up In Regina Second-Hand Store

The gentleman's silk hat that once upon a time heightened the distinguished appearance of Sir W. G. Haultain turned up recently in a Regina second-hand store.

Sir Frederick was a member of a Peterborough family prominent in the years before the turn of the century, and representing this riding as member of Parliament in the stunt of his act, was getting ation.

Gordon Wilson, an amateur magician in Saskatoon, related his discovery to a reporter of The Star-Phoenix of that city.

"The stately 'topper' of the late Sir Frederick Haultain, which was doffed to many noted dignitaries and ladies in the west, probably never expected to wind up as a magician's prop for the mystifying appearance of rabbits, pigeons and perhaps other paraphernalia. But that is likely to be its fate."

It seems that Mr. Wilson's stock of silk hats, essentials in one of the stunts of his act, was getting low, and when he chanced to notice a pair of glossy toppers he bought them and their leather boxes for a mere three dollars, after some haggling about the price.

He saw them in the window of the second-hand store in Regina. Mr. Wilson is a CNR brakeman. He put his purchase in the caboose, and on the run to Saskatoon his mates decided to have a look at the attractive leather boxes.

DISCOVERED INITIALS

Inscribed on the silk lining of one hat was the name F. W. G. Haultain, and embossed in gold lettering on the outside of the case was "F.W.G.H."

"The other hat bore the signature of W G. Haultain, which was probably that of Wilmot Gordon Sir Frederick's brother, and registrar of the Regina land registration district for 25 years."

"Sir Frederick, of course, was one of the most renowned of Saskatchewan's pioneers. He was Premier of the Northwest Territories before Saskatchewan was carved out of that expanse of wilderness. He was also leader of the Conservative opposition in Saskatchewan's first legislature, the first Chancellor of the University of Saskatchewan, and the Chief Justice of the Saskatchewan Court of Appeal.

"Wilmot Gordon Haultain was registrar at Regina, Master of Titles for Saskatchewan. Mr. Wilson says it was only by chance that he came into possession of the silk hats of these dignitaries of other years, and he doesn't mean any disrespect to their memories. However, he will doubtless be using the silk accessories of apparel for receptacles in his rabbit illusion. That is, unless some devotee of history wishes to preserve this relic of Saskatchewan's colorful past."

One of the sons of the Haultain family was Col. Fred W. Haultain, who was registrar of Peterborough county, one of the predecessors of John R. Corkery, QC, whose grave is in Little Lake Cemetery.

Jury Finds Hayes Guilty Of Manslaughter

OTTAWA (CP)—An all-male assizes jury Thursday found Hugh Conrad Hayes, 25, of Ottawa, guilty of manslaughter in the shooting of Miss Grace Currie last Feb. 10.

The jury was directed to return the manslaughter verdict by Mr. Justice John L. Wilson. It retired for only a few minutes and then returned to bring in its finding.

Decision on the sentence was reserved.

Two psychiatrists were heard in court after the jury returned. They testified Hayes is a psychopathic case.

The judge directed the manslaughter verdict after the crown had completed its evidence and Hayes' lawyer, John Mirsky, argued the prosecution had proved only that Hayes shot his landlady to death. He said the crown had not shown intent.
